Here is related the story of a conversion of remarkable quickness: "When I was in Manchester I went into the gallery one Sunday night to have a talk with a few inquirers, and while I was talking a business man came in and took his seat on the outskirts of the audience. I think at first he had come merely to criticise, and that he was a little skeptical. At last I saw he was in tears. I turned to him and said: 'My friend, what is your difficulty?' 'Well,' he said, 'Mr. Moody, the fact is I cannot tell." I said: 'Do you believe you are a sinner?' He said: 'Yes, I know that.' I said: 'Christ is able to save you;' and I used one illustration after another, but he did not see it. At last I used the ark, and I said: 'Was it Noah's feelings that saved him? Was it Noah's righteousness that saved him, or was it the ark?' 'Mr. Moody,' said he, 'I see it.' He got up and shook hands with me, and said: 'Good-night; I have to go. I have to go away on the train to night, but I was determined to be saved before I went. I see it now.' I confess it seemed almost too sudden for me, and I was almost afraid it could not live. A few days after he came and touched me on the shoulder, and said: 'Do you know me?' I said 'I know your face, but do not remember where I have seen you.' He said: 'Do not you remember the illustration of the ark?' I said: 'Yes.' He said: 'It has been all light ever since. I understand it now. Christ is the ark; he saves me; and I must get inside him.' When I went down to Manchester again and talked to the young friends there I found he was the brightest light among them."

The experience of the Scotch lassie is of a similar kind: "A friend of mine up in Scotland told me of a Scotch lassie who came to the inquiry-room, and the minister talked with her, and he said: 'Young woman, you go home and read the fifty third chapter of Isaiah.' And the Scotch girl threw up her hands and said: 'I cannot read. I cannot pray; Jesus, take me as I am.' She had got it. Sinner, just give yourself to Christ to-night. Ask him to take you as you are, and he will take you now. My friends, will you not while I am speaking, just put your trust in Christ? Will you not this night receive the acceptable gifts? Christ will take every sin upon him and just receive him as your Lord and Savior."

A DYING CHILD'S MESSAGE.

Speaking to parents, Mr. Moody related an incident of a precious word of a dying child:

"There was a man living in New York city, an elder in one of the Presbyterian churches there. His little boy had been sick some time, but he had not considered it dangerous. He came home one day, and his wife was in great trouble. When he came into the house he found her weeping. "What is troubling you?" he said. "Why," she said, 'there has been a great change in our boy since you left this morning: I am afraid he is dying. I wish you would go in and see him, and, if he is, tell him so.' The father went in and took his seat at the head of the bed; he placed his hands on the forehead of the little boy, and he could see that death was stealing over him. He said to his boy: 'My son, do you know you are dying?" and the little fellow looked surprised, and he said: 'Am I, father? Is this death that I feel?' 'Yes, my son you are dying.' 'Shall I die to-day?' 'Yes, you cannot live until the night.' And the little boy smiled and said: 'I will be with Jesus to night, won't I?' 'Yes, my son, you will be with the Savior to night: and the father turned away to conceal a tear; and when the little fellow saw the tears rolling down his father's cheeks he said: 'Don't you weep for me, father; when I get to heaven I will go right straight to Jesus, and tell him that ever since I could remember you tried to lead me to him."—Methodist.

Why is a newspaper like a tooth brush? Because every one should have one of his own, and not be borrowing his neighbor's.

When Not to Laugh.

Unless you would be set down as vulgar, don't laugh at people's mistakes or misfortunes. There's a time to laugh; but when your schoolmate has slipped down on the ice, and is hurt, perhaps; or by accident the fruit stand at the corner is overturned, and the poor old man's oranges and apples are scattered in the mud; or some lover of a very low quality of fun has pinned a ticket for sale on a person's back as he walks the street; or an absent-minded lady, thinking more of the poor she is going to visit than herself, has gone out with one boot and one slipper on; or a near-sighted person, whom you never saw before, addresses you as Jane or John, and cordially inquires after your grandma, when you haven't any; or the new boarder next-door, in a block of a dozen houses all precisely alike, walks familiarly into your hall and comes to a dead stop on the stairs; or the bashful student comes awkwardly upon the platform, and breaks down in an attempt to declaim; or the same sort of sensitive youth, through extreme diffidence, commits in company the very error he was trying to avoid; or whenever anything trying or humble happens to any person—that is not the time to laugh, if you do by others as you would be done by. If you are the person laughed at in any such case, consider that, at least, you are a great deal better than those who laugh at you. The too bashful girl or boy almost always turns out better than the too bold. The people who are always right side out in looks and dress and style, are not necessarily by any means the best or the brightest. Nothing more surely indicates good breeding and a large heart than not seeming to notice a blunder, whether of friend or stranger—unless it is by a word or simple act of kindness to show sympathy or render assistance, when this can spare the feelings or lighten a misfortune.—Christian Era.

Curing a Hypochondriac.

The only way to cure a hypochondriac, or one who fancies himself with a disease which he really has not, is to humor the patient. Many amusing instances are told of successful treatment by this method:

Dr. Crawford, a Baltimore physician, had a troublesome patient, a man who had taken it into his head that he was slowly dying of a liver complaint' when he had nothing at all the matter with him, barring the delusion. The doctor sent him traveling, and he soon forgot his disease altogether; but, unfortunately, he had no sooner returned home in the best of health, than news came of the death of his twin-brother, of schirrous liver. He was thereupon seized with the fancy that he, too, was dead, like his brother, of liver-complaint. Dr Crawford was sent for, and after hearing the story, merely remarked: "Oh yes; he is dead, sure enough, and probably his liver was the death of him, as he expected it would be. However, I will soon ascertain that by opening the body before putrefaction sets in. Bring me a carving knife." The knife was soon in the doctor's hands, and he stepped towards the hypochondriac; but before he could commence his postmortem examination, the dead-alive man jumped up, shouting "Murder!" dashed out of the room, and out of the house, and made across the country; he ran till he ran himself out, and fell from exhaustion. Finding nobody followed him, as soon as he was able he returned to the house, and thought he lived a score of years longer, he was never heard to complain of liver again.

The Folly of Pride.

The very witty and sarcastic Rev. Sydney Smith thus discourseth on the folly of pride in such a creature as man:

"After all, take some quiet, sober moment of life, and add together the two ideas of pride and of man; behold him, creature of a span high, stalking through infinite space in all the grandeur of littleness. Perched on a speck of the universe, every wind of heaven strikes into his blood the coldness of death; his soul floats from his body like melody from the string; day and night, as dust on the wheel, he is rolled along the heavens, through a labyrinth of worlds, and all the creations of God are flaming above and beneath. Is this a creature to make himself a crown of glory, to deny his own flesh, to mock at his fellow, sprung from that dust to which both will soon return? Does the proud man not err? Does he not suffer? Does he not die? When he reasons is he never stopped by difficulties? When he acts, is he never tempted by pleasure? When he lives, is he free from pain? When he dies can he escape the common grave?—Pride is not the heritage of man; humility should dwell with frailty, and atone for ignorance, error and imperfection.

Religious Influences.

A nation's intellectual progress has always followed—not preceded—some moral impulse. The history of the fine arts shows that some form of religion gave them their earliest impulse. There has never been a great genius but has been inspired in some sense by religion. The thoughts of the intellect are lofty in proportion as the sentiments of the heart are profound. If we begin the attempt to improve men with the intellect we end where we began. Education will not remove corruption. It may gild vice as in ancient Rome and Athens, but will not uproot it. A godless education has no power to purify. Instruction in morality also has failed to regenerate. No man does his duty simply because he knows it, unless he loves it; nor are political and social changes effective. Social evil has its root in the individual heart, and cannot be removed except by influences operating within it. This fountain of man's corruption must be purified to correct social vice.—Prof. Steelye.

CHURCH MANNERS.—There are parlor manners. There are dining-room manners. There are street manners. There are car manners. We have a word to say about teaching our children—Church manners.

1. It is improper (impolite is too weak a word here) to sit in church, gazing about studying people's appearance, recognizing and nodding at friends, looking to see who is come in, etc.

2. It is improper to whisper in church.

3. It is improper to remain seated while the congregation stands or bows.

4. It is improper to be reading a book, tract, or paper while the minister is reading or preaching.

5. It is improper to smile at any little impropriety of the preacher.

6. It is improper to put on rubbers, coat, shawl, or gloves during the singing of the doxology or during the benediction.

There are other "bad manners" to be rebuked in church goers, but we shall not notice them now. We inquire: Who shall teach the children church manners?

1. Parents should do it.
2. Ministers should publicly do it.
3. Sunday-school teachers should do it.
4. The superintendent should frequently call the attention of his school to the subject.
5. The cultivation of attention and reverence and system in the Sunday school itself will tend to insure these things in the sanctuary.—Sunday-school Journal

"If I Only Had Leisure."

Before complaining of want of leisure, account should be made of the time wasted. Many people squander money on bad habits who never think themselves able to give a cent in charity, or lay one by for honest gain; and it is just so with wasted time. The New England Farmer brings this sort of folly home to complainers in the following fashion:

"If I had leisure I would repair that weak place in my fence," said a farmer. He had none however, and while drinking cider with a neighbor the cows broke in and injured a prime piece of corn.

"If I had leisure," said a wheelwright last winter. "I would altar my stove pipe, for I know it is not safe." But he did not find time, and when his shop caught fire and burned down he found time to build another.

"If I had leisure," said a mechanic, "I should have my work done in season." The man thinks his time has been all occupied but he was not at work till after sunrise; he quit work at five o'clock, smoked a cigar after dinner, and spent two hours on the street talking nonsense with an idler.

"If I had leisure," said a merchant, "I would pay more attention to my accounts, and try and collect my bills more promptly." The chance is, my friend, if you had leisure you would probably pay less attention to the matter than you do now.

A Beautiful Lesson.

"I have learned," said an aged mother in Israel, "to go directly to God with trouble and every joy. He has invited me to cast my care upon him, and why should I, then, try to bear it all myself?" Beautiful lesson—the lesson of child-like trust in the love and tender solicitude of our Heavenly Fathey. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust." Happy would it be for all, mothers and fathers, sons and daughters in Israel, if this beautiful lesson should be fully learned. We should cease to carry needless burdens, and life would indeed be lightened.

Among the seventeen students that graduated recently at Drew Theological Seminary we see the name of John D. Hammond, a member of the M. E. Church, South and a resident of Atlanta.

Moody's Illustrations.

An illustration used by Mr. Moody, to show that the law after it has created the consciousness of sin cannot cleanse the sinner, is pronounced by a writer in the English Independent very effective. He had promised his boy a ride in a carriage, but the little fellow, after having been suitably dressed, had soiled his clothes frightfully. "When Mr. Moody arrived," says the narrator, "he found his son 'not fit to be seen,' and although the little fellow clapped his hands with delight in expectation of his ride, his father said, 'Why, my boy, I can't take you in that state; you're so dirty!' 'Oh, no, I's not. Mamma has washed me, and put on all my nice clean things, and you p'omised to take me!' Mr. Moody told us that he 'just hitched up his horse,' took the little boy into the house, and held him up before a looking-glass. 'That stopped his mouth,' and he didn't say he was clean any more. 'But,' said the speaker, 'I'll tell you what I did n't do—I didn't take the looking-glass to wash his face with!"

Laughing Stock.

The Maiden's Prayer—"papa, buy me a new spring suit."

To remove dandruff—go to Arizona and interview the Apaches.

An itch for office does not always lead to a niche in the temple of fame. This is a humorous remark.

A man boasting of his pedigree to another said that his father was elevated above the common herd of men. He was hanged.

"That beet's all" as the man said when he sat down to his first dinner in the new house, on moving day, and found the supply short.

"Oh! my friends," exclaimed a temperance orator, "that I had a window in my heart, that you might all look in and see the truth of what I tell you!" Wouldn't a pain in your stomach do just as well!" asked a small boy.

Athletic sports for ladies: Jumping at conclusions: walking round a subject; running through a novel; skipping full descriptions; throwing the hatchet; and, during the holidays, boxing the ears of troublesome young brothers—Punch.

Mrs. Rose, of Connecticut, said she would hang herself if Rose wasn't home at eight o'clock. When he came in at night she was suspended to a beam, cold and dead, and he rubbed his hands and whispered: "There's a woman who couldn't tell a lie!"

"We read in de good book," says a colored Baptist brother down South, "of John de Baptist—nebber of John de Methodist." And that, says a Charleston correspondent of the New York Observer, is the reason most of the colored Southern people are Baptists.

"You wring my bosom," said a despairing Baltimore lover to a coquettish girl whom he had long sought in marriage. His burst of grief decided her, and, putting ont her hand, she softly murmured, "Well! ring my finger, if you will be happier for it; I will vex yon no longer."

"It's well enough for you to name your boy Elias," said Aunt Hepzibah, "but for gracious goodness' sake don't name him Alias, 'cause the Aliases are always a'cuttin' up bad. Here's Alias Jones, Alias Brown, Alias Thompson, Alias One-Eyed Jack, all been took up for robbin' and stealin."

It was 12 o'clock at night when Mr. Berger, of Macon, Ga., discovered a colored preacher in his stable untying a horse, and the preacher only observed—"Jess what I said all de time Mistah Berger, your horse is bay sure enuff, and dat' spute between me an' Brudder Jackson is settled."

A Broad Street, Newark, Physician was called upon last week to attend a seamstress who felt indisposed. He inqured as to her health, and she responded, very appropriately, "Well, it's about sew, sew. Doctor, but seams worse to-day, and I have frequent stitches in the side. The doctor hemmed, as he felt her pulse, said she would mend soon, and left a prescription.

While riding in a stage coach from Kinderhook to Albany, New York, many years since, John Van Buren, who was smoking, asked a stranger in the stage if smoking was agreeable to him. The stranger answered: "Yes, it is agreeable. Smoke away. I have often thought if ever I was rich enough I would hire some loafer to smoke in my face. Mr. Van Buren threw his cigar ont of the window.

In defiance of the U. S. authority, gold seeking expeditions have been pressing into the Black Hills country since the discovery of the precious metal in that region. The country belongs to the Indians. Troops have been sent after the would-be-miners, and a large expedition was destroyed last week by soldiers, leaving them only food enough to get back to civilization.

A Madrid dispatch says that a Papal nuncio has made a formal demand on Spain for the restoration of Catholic unity, and the government has replied that it is resolved to maintain liberty of worship. The Pope is certainly becoming imbecile rapidly.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, } Editors.
T. P. Gray, Esq.. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

PER ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
IN MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JUNE 16, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Dedication of Person Street Church.

Last Sabbath was a season of spiritual feasting that will long be held in recollection by the people of Person Street Church. The Church building whose peculiar form Bishop Marvin says will ever be a memorial of one of the most remarkable revivals on the American Continent, had been completed and neatly carpeted and furnished. It is the opinion of all who have seen it that it is one of the neatest churches in the city and does credit to those who supervised its erection. A large and very handsome Bible and Hymn Book and an elegant silver communion-service were presented to the church by the ladies of the congregation.

As announced, Bishop Marvin conducted the dedicatory services on last Sabbath. The seating capacity of the church is about six or seven hundred, and at an early hour the seats were all taken and, in the aisles and altar, all available space occupied with chairs and benches. A great many anxious to hear the great preacher and godly man stood at the doorway and at the windows during the long services and apparently felt no fatigue. Rev. J. P. Moore read the morning lesson, and Rev. J. R. Brooks offered the opening prayer. Bishop Marvin selected for his text St. John 12th ch. 24th verse: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit." In the space allotted to us at present, we can not give a synopsis of the sermon upon whose every word the large congregation hung in almost breathless attention. The subject was Christ's suffering and death and how they atoned for the sins of men and kept back the sword of divine justice. The exposition of the text and its connections was clear, full and powerful, abounding in the happiest illustrations, and enforced with potent logic and adorned with the highest order of eloquence. At the beginning of the sermon, by some pathetic and eloquent touches, the distinguished Bishop obtained control of the heart-strings of the congregation and for an hour or more swayed the people as he willed. The sermon was powerful and beautiful beyond description and its effect most gratifying. Some sobbed and wept aloud—and tears stood in almost every eye.

At the conclusion of the sermon the Bishop announced that he was about to proceed to formally make an offering of the new church building to God, but that as he was not accustomed to dedicate a church over which there hung a debt, he would proceed to remove the indebtedness of $1,300. He called for the names of seven persons who would give $100 each. In less than ten minutes seven had responded, and in less than half an hour over fifteen hundred dollars had been pledged. The church was then dedicated according to the simple and unpretending forms of the Methodist service.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, the Bishop baptized an infant, and the Sabbath being embraced by the quarterly meeting, the communion services were held by Rev. J. P. Moore.

At night the church was again crowded to its utmost capacity and Bishop Marvin preached another grand sermon from 1 Cor. 16. 22. "If any man love not the Lord Jesus Christ, let him be Anathema, Maranatha" It is impossible to describe the impression that Bishop Marvin has made upon the people of Raleigh and of North Carolina. His presence at the last session of the Annual Conference, at Carthage District Conference, at Trinity College last week, and again at Raleigh last Sabbath, has in each instance attracted throngs of people and been the occasion of the greatest spiritual refreshing.

When the people hear him preach and see the godliness and piety of the man, they are ready to cry 'Great is Marvin of the Methodists!'

The Bishop left on Monday morning for his home in St. Louis, followed by the loving prayers of our people for his long life, good health and continued usefulness, with the fondly cherished hope that he may in the future be with us again. God bless our noble Bishop!

The Daily News of this city says that the sermon preached by Bishop Marvin at Trinity College last week "was the finest and most powerful sermon ever delivered in North Carolina."

Now is the time to subscribe for the ADVOCATE. Terms, $2.20 per annum, postage paid.

✝ Trinity College Commencement.

The commencement exercises of this institution, the past week, was an occasion of unusual interest. Visitors were present from all sections of the Conference. The sermon by Bishop Marvin from the second verse of the 18th Psalm, "The Lord is my Rock," was the finest Commencement sermon we have ever listened to. It abounded in rich thought, and in earnest, touching pathos. The lesson of the hour, so forcibly and eloquently delivered, will never be forgotten by the young gentlemen of the graduating class and the large audience who were present. Thursday was Commencement day. The crowd was immense. The new chapel was crowded to its utmost capacity. The orations by the young men of the graduating class were of the highest order. There were fourteen graduates and all of them received first distinction except three. Dr. Munsey, who had been invited to deliver the literary address, failed to put in his appearance, but Bishop Marvin was introduced to the vast audience, and delivered one of the most brilliant addresses it has ever been our good fortune to hear. The new chapel, of which our readers have heard much, is said to be the largest and handsomest in the State. It is the opinion of all who saw it that it is most admirably constructed. Dr. Craven, the architect, who planned the entire building, is certainly entitled to the hearty congratulations of the Methodists of North Carolina. A collection was taken by Bishop Marvin to liquidate the debt incurred in the erection of the new chapel, Wednesday and Thursday, amounting to the gratifying sum of $5,000. Bro. Sharpe, the agent, is hopeful of raising the entire amount needed to pay off the indebtedness of the College during the present year.

The Theological Sermon was preached by Rev. E. A. Yates. Those who heard it say it was a most excellent discourse.

The Alumni address was delivered by Mr. J. R. Webster on Wednesday evening. Mr. Webster is a graduate of the class of 1869. A large number of the Alumni were present, and the address did credit alike to Mr. Webster and to the College. At the close of his address, Mr. George Everett a graduate of the institution, was called out, and made a most capital impromtu speech. He was followed by Maj. W. M. Robbins and then by the Bishop, who gave us short but brilliant speeches.

We mention in connection with this brief and imperfect notice of the Commencement one very pleasant feature. It is that of the marriage of Dr. J. L. Craven to Miss Bulla of High Point, and Professor W. H. Pegram to Miss Emma L. Craven, a notice of which appears in another column. The marriage ceremony was most impressively performed by Bishop Marvin. May great peace and happiness be theirs through life!

In our next we hope to give a more complete and satisfactory account of this, the most brilliant Commencement ever witnessed at this cherished institution of learning.

Editorial Notes.

Rev. J. J. Lafferty, of the Richmond Advocate, from whose pen there is a constant drip of the most sparkling humor, and whose style we consider infinitely superior to that of Talmage, has been mistaken for ex-Gov. Wells, of Virginia, and retains his cheerfulness. We saw Wells once on his campaign at Charlottesville, were not much in love with his looks, but could not suppress a kind of admiration for the man as he stood undaunted on the stump and hurled hot shot into a crowd of two or three hundred fiery University Students whose taunts and jeers fell upon Wells like mustard seed shot upon an alligator's skin. Bro. Lafferty confesses to "a rather tough facial vellum:" has he the "check" of Wells?

In a private letter from Rev. R. L. Abernethy, he tells us that Rev. S. Pool and himself will soon start on a Northern tour for the purpose of soliciting funds to complete the new college building at Rutherford college. They will be in Raleigh on the 15th and 16th inst., on the evenings of which Bro. Pool will lecture upon some special subjects in behalf of the college. There were at Rutherford college dnring the past session 175 pupils—30 more than in any former session. There were 10 regular graduates—seven young men and three young ladies. The honorary degree of A. M. was conferred on Prof. J. King, of Suffolk Collegiate Institute, and on Dr. Oterlong, of Louisville (Ky.) Medical College. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon Rev. A. W. Lineberry of the M. P. Church, in N. C.

Rev. B. Craven, D.D., L. L. D, has been nominated by the Conservatives of Randolph as a delegate for the Constitutional Convention which meets in September. Dr. J. M. Worth, a brother of Gov. Worth, deceased, has been nominated as his colleague. Randolph will be well represented if she sends those men to the Convention. Both have large and sound views upon every subject and if Dr. Barker, or any other phrenologist, were employed to thump the heads of the delegates, he would not find a bigger brain among them than that of Dr. Craven. We were never his student, but have noted his work and heard him talk and preach.

To some ministers, a summer vacation is indispensable to their health and efficiency in their labors. When a congregation sees that its minister is growing dull and weary from overwork, it ought to relieve him for a few weeks and send him to the mountains or sea-side to recuperate. There is no need, though, of a total cessation from work. The United Presbyterian consults the good of both pastor and people when it makes the following suggestion:

"As for ministers, perhaps no better method can be thought of than that of judicious exchange—the country pastor going to the city and the city one taking his place in the country. This would be good for both pastors, and for all the people interested, while it would avoid the trouble growing out of churches shut up and communities left without the gospel."

Bro. Graves, of the Baptist, having stated that twenty years ago he was the only editor in the South who protested against the acceptance of Pedobaptist immersions, the Christian Index brings out the record and shows that this is a mistake. It is a bit of Baptist history and is not without interest. We quote the following:

"Thirty years ago said incorrect the Christian Index not only opposed Pedobaptist immersions, but contended in a series of articles that Pedobaptist churches were not entitled to be recognized as Christian churches. The Tennessee Baptist endorsed them, by copying from them in defense of its old landmarkism."—Biblical Recorder.

(Italics ours.) So much the worse for the Christian Index, that, after thirty years in which its christian liberality ought to have been improved, it has learned no more than to glory in its shame. The Episcopal, Presbyterian Methodist churches "not entitled to be recognized as christian churches!" Cool self sufficiency which would put the boasting Pharisee to the blush! Bros. Rodd and Huffham will hardly go that far, we take pleasure in thinking.

Bro. D. Matt Thompson, Principal of Rock Spring Seminary, in a private note to us, says: "As announced, the closing exercises of our session came off on 2nd and 3rd inst. Bro. Carraway preached a good sermon. Dr. Phillips' address was a capital thing. The people for miles around, turned out en masse. The attendance, indeed, was very large, and the occasion was pleasant and I consider encouraging."

Oaky Grove Church, 14 miles South East of Raleigh.

By referring to the Presiding Elder's appointments published in the Advocate, it will be seen that the third Quarterly meeting for Rolesville circuit is set down by Brother Moore, to be held at Oaky Grove, on the 17th and 18th July.

The membership at Oaky Grove is not large, but their hearts and houses are open large enough to entertain all the members of the Quarterly Conference and as many of their friends as they may bring with them

With some degree of feeling I take the liberty to invite several ministers who, more recently, have had the pastoral charge of the circuit, to visit Oaky Grove once more, and be present on the above occasion. Bros. Thompson, Betts, and Renn, come over and help us; not omitting the Senior editor who was our pastor in former days.

Bro Gray, the Junior, knows we would be glad to see him at Oaky Grove at any time.

June 2nd. B. BLAKE.

MESSRS EDITORS: I notice that our week of prayer will begin the present year on the 8th of August. Would it not be a good idea to establish a specified hour, say five o'clock, P. M., so as at that particular time we may know and feel that our brethren throughout the jurisdiction of the North Carolina Conference, and if possible throughout the entire bounds of Southern Methodism, are engaged in prayer to Almighty God for His blessings upon us? Think of the blessings spiritually that must accrue to a whole church engaged in prayer at the same hour!

Cannot our clergy who have charge of circuits make arrangements with some local preacher, exhorter, leader, or layman to conduct services at those places of worship from which he must necessarily be absent dnring the week of prayer so as that God may be honored and worshipped in all of our churches, communities and neighborhoods at the same hour, 5 P. M.?

What think you, Messrs. Editors, of the proposition?

Yours truly,

PAUL.

Newbern District Sabbath School Convention.

The Newbern District Conference lately held at Mount Olive, by resolution, directed the Presiding Elder to call, at his own selection of time and place, a Sabbath school Convention. Said convention to be constituted of one delegate from each Sabbath-school in the bounds of the several circuits, and two or more from each station—the preachers, both traveling and local, being members.—I hereby give notice that said convention will meet in Beanfort on Thursday morning before the second Sabbath in July. Brethren will please elect the delegates immediately, and let us have no failure.

E. A. YATES, P. E.

Letter from Bishop Marvin.

MESSRS EDITORS: Having been in attendance at the session of the District Conference of the Fayetteville District last week, I feel disposed to say a word or two, suggested by what I saw and heard.

As to the incidents of the trip I might say several things of interest to myself, if to no one else. But it is not of that that I propose to write, unless it may be to venture the general remark that the whole trip was in the highest degree pleasant to me.

The Conference was well attended—very well, considering that it was in the busiest season of the planter. The traveling preachers were all present but one, who was prevented by sickness. The sickness, however, was not of a serious character. Some of the charges were well represented by laymen, but there were several from which there were no laymen present.

In the main the church was reported in a hopeful condition. In the financial interests of the church there is believed to be a slow but steady advance. Missionary collections were in excess of former years, but this was the result of special efforts made in response to urgent calls in behalf of the Parent Board. There is a good tone of feeling on that subject, and I do not doubt that the District will meet its full assessment for Missions, and, perhaps, raise something in excess.

In regard to the support of the preachers one thing prevails on several of the circuits which I find to be a very prevalent evil. But little is done early in the year. By far the greater part of the salary is paid in within the last two quarters, a very large part of it in the last quarter.—This reduces the preacher to the necessity of making debts for actual subsistence. Out of this many evils grow, sometimes very grievous ones. How much better it would be if every quarter could be made to meet its own demands!

The church conference is in vigorous operation in only a few places.—Most of the preachers complain that they cannot get them to work successfully. But on one point I got the same testimony here as I have everywhere else. It is that wherever the church conference is well attended, and the membership take hold of it, it is a most potent agency in bringing out the finances of the church. It brings all the members face to face with the needs of the church. The consequence is that they become interested on the subject, and when the members generally feel a lively interest in the matter there is no trouble. I am more and more convinced that there are greater possibilities in the church conference than most of us perceive. How can it be brought into general efficiency? He who can answer that question will do a great work.

But two or three other facts were brought to light which are the occasion of no little solicitude. The morning and evening sacrifices are offered in only a few houses of our people in this District. Prayer meetings are regularly kept up in only here and there a society. A smaller proportion of the members pray in public than in any part of the church I have visited. One pastor reported that out of a membership of some five hundred, there were not more than twelve persons who would lead the public prayer when called on.

But what gave me the greatest concern was the reported decadence of the love-feast. In many places it is almost impracticable to hold them.—Even in some large societies they have been abandoned because the members have ceased to speak in them. The younger people rarely participate. The women take no part. In a good many instances the effort to hold them has resulted in failure, and so they are abandoned.

What is the cause of this? May it not be, in part, at least, that the doors are thrown open and a promiscuous crowd of spectators admitted? In such an unfriendly presence timid young people and shrinking ladies can hardly be expected to say a word. But when the love feast is held at nine o'clock, and especially if the weather is unfavorable, it requires no little firmness to keep the door closed against the assembling congregation.

May not another cause be found in the fact that some speak so long that three or four consume about all the time, and so the young and backward fall into the habit of taking it for granted that there is no occasion for them to say a word?

There cannot be a doubt that the church will suffer great loss of power if this institution shall cease to be a living fact. But I cannot offer reflections on the subject now. I hope to offer some suggestions next week on the general subject of lay activity in the church.

It affords me great satisfaction to find that there is a large number of Sunday-schools in the District, and that they are generally in a healthy condition, though our lesson papers are not so generally used as one could desire. But a great work is being done in this department.

The Presiding Elder and the preachers generally seemed to be very earnestly engaged in their high calling. They seem to be men of prayer. I cannot doubt that a blessing from God will rest upon them.

Personally I have rarely, if ever, had deeper communion with God and His people than I had at Carthage. I shall long remember the occasion with gratitude.

May the peace of God abide with the brethren!

E. M. MARVIN.

Raleigh, June 7, 1875.

Wilmington District Conference.

MESSRS EDITORS: The tenth session of the Wilmington District Conference was held at Magnolia, commencing the 26th of May, 1875.

The P. E. being in the chair, Conference was opened with religious services, and Rev. J. T. Bagwell was elected secretary. All the charges of the District were represented, some of them with a large delegation.

The usual committees were appointed, and in due time offered their several reports.

The reports from the various charges developed the following facts: 1st there is, in most cases, an improvement in the spiritual state of the church within the District. Several charges have been blessed with special revival seasons, resulting in a number of conversions and accessions to the church. Among others may be specially noted the revival of Front Street, Wilmington.

That church, under the auspices of Rev. J. E. Mann, its faithful and zealous pastor, has enjoyed a special season of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. And it ought to be noted, that one very efficient auxiliary in the revival there, was their daily prayer meetings. Smithville Circuit, Whiteville, and other charges have witnessed very gracious displays of the saving power of the gospel. Class meetings are held at various appointments on several charges with very encouraging results. Altogether the spiritual outlook is cheering.

2nd. The financial state of the church is not so encouraging. One or two appointments have paid nearly one half of their assessments, while others range from one fourth to one fourteenth.

Very little comparatively has been raised for the collections ordered by the annual Conference yet, but we think this matter will be faithfully and successfully attended to.

Wilmington District comprises a territory more immediately and vitally affected by the financial depression than almost any other section of the State. At the same time, this does not exonerate or excuse unfaithful stewards and parsimonious people who are so egregiously recreant to duty.

3rd. The Sabbath School interest is very encouraging. Hitherto latent energies have been roused into action, and a new impetus given to Sunday School force.

New Sabbath Schools are being organized, old ones revived, and almost effete ones resuscitated. Our Sabbath School literature is not so fully and systematically employed as it should be.

Union Sabbath Schools are almost obsolete. We hope the time is not far distant when the Sabbath School cause will assume its proper place of prominence in the estimation of every one, and command that engagement of talents and energies which the interest of the church so imperatively demands. The Committee on Education promptly brought forward in their reports and commended to the patronage of the people, the different institutions of learning connected with the N. C Conference, and the Conference pledged itself to support them.

Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, agent of Greensboro Female College, visited the Conference and advocated the interest of the College. The Conference then adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we heartily approve the plan of the Trustees of Greensboro Female College to relieve that institution of its indebtedness, and we will earnestly and practically co-operate with our P. E. and the agent in carrying it out.

The committee on Books and Periodicals, in connection with other publications, specially commended the Raleigh Christian Advocate to the liberal patronage of of the people.

Other matters came before the Conference which I will not mention.

The Conference was indeed a pleasant one, and we hope not without profit. Matters pertaining to the church were discussed in a name becoming the representatives of the church of Christ.

While some of the speeches were animated and very efficient, they were free from all acerbity and caustic allusion. Our Presiding officer, Rev. W. S. Black, filled his position with ease and ability; demonstrating that he is equally at home whether preaching the gospel of Christ or supervising the work and business of His Church.

Without indulging in more laudation or invidious distinction, it may be stated that the preaching of the Conference was uniformly good, aiming not so much at display as to accomplish immediate results.—It was clear, pointed and evangelical.

We were favored by a very excellent sermon from Rev. Jno. R. Brooks, of Goldsboro. The hospitality of the citizens was generous in entertaining the Conference. Other denominations opened their doors to us as welcome guests, and certainty extended to us the right hand of social fellowship.

The Baptists evinced their christian comity in kindly tendering us their church in which to minister in word and doctrine. May the head of the church confer upon them spiritual grace and benediction, and direct all our eyes to this great central truth: "One Lord, one faith, one baptism: One God and father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in all."

The next session of the Wilmington District Conference will be held at Bethany Church, Cokesbury Circuit

The following are the delegates elected to the annual Conference: W. J. Parker, K. K. Council, J. E. Leggett, and Dr. J. W. McGee I have not the names of the alternates before me.

J. T. BAGWELL, Sec'y.

Elizabethtown, N. C., June 3rd 1875.

Washington District Conference.

MESSRS EDITORS:—With your permisson I will give your readers a word or so concerning the Washington District Conference, held at Plymouth, 27th 30th ult., Rev. Dr. Closs, P. E., in the chair. We had a very good attendance of ministers and lay representatives from the various pastoral charges, and a large number of visitors. It was an exceedingly pleasant occasion; and indeed I may say, a complete success in every respect—nothing transpiring to mar our enjoyment save the temporary illness of our beloved presiding officer, which occurred during the first session; thus depriving us of his valuable services in the chair the balance of that day, and part of next, and of his able pulpit ministrations altogether. He was suffering from nervous prostration, brought on by excessive mental and physical labors. He needs rest, and his physician says he must have it. We were all very uneasy about him for awhile. He had improved very much, however, at the close of the Conference, and insisted on going forward with his work, against the earnest and affectionate protest of us all. Faithful, indefatigable man of God! If it be possible, may he long be spared to share the trials and triumphs of the Church of God, and to lead his brethren, whom he so much loves (and who love him no less,) to glorious victory!

I never heard better preaching. I don't mean brilliant, or even intelectual preaching merely, but pure, evangelical, unadulterated, sublime Gospel! Jesus and Him crucified was its burden and its beauty, and that too, so sweet, and full of the Holy Ghost that every heart seemed to feel it. A fine feeling was left among the people, and quite a revival interest; some penitents were at the altar, and the meeting is being protracted.

Prominence was given to the blessed cause of Missions. It fell to my lot to preach the Missionary sermon on Sunday night, which I did from the text, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." "How shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher? and how shall they preach except they be sent?—Mark xvi; 15, 16; Romans x: 14, 15. I preached the same doctrine that Dr. Closs and President Robey have been promulgating recently in the famous "Curse of Blood" discussion. Indeed, I don't see how I could have preached any other, with such a text, if I had been so disposed. (I preached the same sermon here in Washington, however, last year, before that discussion commenced, with fine results, as you know; and this year also, with still better success.) We realized between $65 and $70, for Foreign Missions at the District Conference.

The good people of Plymouth vied with each other in making our visit to their historic town a pleasant one; and they were eminently successful. No Conference was ever more elegantly entertained.

The Secretary will doubtless furnish you with a synopsis of the interesting proceedings, or I would add more.

A. R. RAVEN.

Washington, N. C.

To the Ministers of the N. C. Conference, M. E. Church, South—DEAR BRETHREN: Have you read the "Life, Sermons and Speeches of Rev. Dr. Reid?" If you have, I am sure you will agree with me that it is a most valuable contribution to the religious and doctrinal literature of our church. It should be placed in all the Methodist families within the bounds of the N. C. Conference. The proceeds realized from the sale of the work, are to be applied to the education of our dear departed brother's younger children. The object is a commendable one. Will you not at once order the book, and use diligent efforts to sell it?

W. H. BOBBITT.

June 8th, 1875.

The District Conference for the Raleigh District will be held at Oxford, N. C., commencing July 22nd, 1875. Rev. J. C. Thompson will preach the introductory sermon.—Ministerial and lay brethren from other Districts are cordially invited to attend, and it is confidently expected that all on the Raleigh District will be present.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.

Rev J. B. Bailey, writing to us under date of June 8th says: "We have had three accessions to the church at Whiteville, one at Fair Bluff, eight at Pleasant Savannah, and fourteen at Abbottsburg. To God be all the praise!"

The Mountain College.

MESSRS EDITORS: Our good brother Jordan has written beautifully of Davenport Female College Commencement; but with characteristic modesty, left out one of the most important elements of the pleasure and profit of the occasion. It was in some respects the play of Hamlet with the part of Hamlet omitted. Justice demands that somebody supply his lack of service.

I propose to say a word. Henry T. Jordan, Esq. of Roxboro, deliver the Annual Address before the graduating class. His theme was "Seize the Day," and he proceeded to seize the audience, and made them listen and think, laugh and resolve, in a way that could not fail to benefit mind and heart, digestion and religion. He has a way of striking a subject where no one else ever hit it before; and if any one proposes to sleep while he is speaking, such an one will find Jordan a hard road to travel.

Well, the truth is, we had a fine time at Davenport, and whenever I start off to hear a singer, and the crowd turns in the direction of Lind or Nilsson, I shall go to Davenport, and, sitting among its groves, where wind the paths of the mountain breezes as they play from the summit of Brighton to Table Rock, listen to "that same song" from one of the fair daughters of Western North Carolina. Pres. Robey and his able corps of teachers constitute a working body of educators that is not only valuable and powerful, but that ought to be sustained. Surely there is a necessity for this institution. Western North Carolina cannot afford to do without it. The East ought not!

A WELL WISHER.

Religious Brevities.

LONDON, June 10.—The San Francisco steamship City of Tokio, from Hong Kong, brings the following: An attack was made May 1st upon an American Methodist Episcopal Church in Kui-Kiang in consequence of a superstitious belief among the natives that their children were maltreated by the missionaries.

The one hundreth birthday of Father Henry Boehm, of Newark (N. J.) Methodist Episcopal Conference, and seventy-sixth of his ministry, was celebrated last week in Trinity M. E. Church, of Jersey City. The Church was crowded, including many ministers. The venerable Father arrived some time after the commencement of services, and remained until the close. Addresses were made by Bishop Simpson and others. Fathers Boehm is said to be the oldest minister in the United States He was born in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania.

There have been in attendance during the past session at Randolph Macon College 215 students:

From Virginia, 134; North Carolina, 22; Maryland, 20; West Virginia, 11; Texas, 6; Louisiana, 5; Mississippi, 5; Pennsyvania, 3; Georgia, 2; and the remainder from other Southern States and New York. The Latin school has had 155 students; Greek, 113; Mathematics, 181; English, 168; Applied Mathematics, 8; Natural Science, 71; Chemistry, 23; Moral and Mental Philosophy, 21; Biblical Literature, 14; French, 15; German, 40. The Commencement exercises will take place June 23 24.

NORTH CAROLINA.

A kissing bee is the latest Weldon sensation.

A new post office has been established at River Hill, Iredell county.

Mr. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, has given $500 to the University fund.

The merchants of Wilmington close their stores at 7½ o'clock, P. M.

The Grangers of Wayne propose to have a co-operation store at Goldsboro.

A telegraph line is soon to be built from Shelby to Charlotte.

The Centennial Gaslight Company is Charlotte's last.

Work on the Catholic church at Greensboro has commenced.

Hatteras, Dare county, has produced Irish potatoes this season averaging nine ounces each.

A sea captain had his watch, valued at $75, stolen a few days ago in Wilmington.

The Wadesboro Herald has appeared in new, clean type of a smaller size than heretofore.

Quite a number of Charlotteans will spend a short season in Beaufort this summer.

John Norfleet and W. S. Battle, Esqs., of Tarboro, have each given $500 to the University fund.

The Duplin Record has commenced the publication of an original story by L. T. Carroll, of Columbus county.

Beaufort, with 2,500 population, has 36 men and 36 ladies with an average of 70 years.

Seven patents to North Carolinians were granted last month for machinery.

An encampment of Knight Templars is forming at Charlotte. It will be the only one in the State.

A river steam flat is now running on the Tar between Washington and Tarboro.

The Blackwell tobacco factory at Durham pays from five to ten thousand dollars per week for revenue stamps.

Mr. Joel F. Hill, of Stokes County, has been nominated as a candidate for the Convention in that county.

A monster sea-turtle was captured near Morehead City on Friday last, said to weigh 500 pounds, more or less.

Mrs. Mary Wiley, mother of ex-Sheriff F. A. Wiley, of Caswell county, is the oldest person in Caswell, being 94 years of age.

The Fayetteville Gazette has this to say of the Florence Railroad: "We have not had time to say much about this important work lately, but it sheepeth well, the enterprise is going forward, and nearly twenty miles are now graded."

The farmers in this vicinity and surrounding country availed themselves of the late season and planted a good deal of tobacco. Plants in this section are plentiful, except in a few instances where we hear of the ravages of the fly.—Reidsville News.

We have before us now a truly valuable document in the shape of a decoration, etc., delivered at Newton (the original name of the settlement at Wilmington) on the 22nd day of February, 1737, and during the administration of Gabriel Johnston, the Royal Governor of the Province.—Mercury Journal.

The Salisbury Watchman says a merchant in that town sells annually three thousand dollars worth of snuff but takes care to qualify the statement by adding that a great deal more of the article is used in Maine than in North Carolina.

Salisbury Watchman: As the mail train from the South on the N. C. Railroad approached within a mile of the city last night, it was thrown into by some scoundrels, one rock striking Capt. Ligon, the Conductor, on the leg. A lady from Goldsboro was also cut about the head and face with fractured glass. This is the second time the train has been thrown into recently.

MASONIC.—The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons met in this city on Monday, 7th inst., Grand High Priest H. H. Munson, of Wilmington, presiding. The body was welcomed by the Grand Secretary, D. W. Bain, Esq., of Raleigh. Representatives were present from South Carolina and Mississippi. The order is reported to be in a flourishing condition.

The Charlotte Observer says: Two ladies, represented as belonging to the elite of Boston, have been spending some time in Morganton. Some of the ladies of the town called on them and paid them some attention, till one of them remarked that, if she loved him, she had just as soon marry a negro as a white man.

A REMARKABLE CASE.—The 19th Century is prolific in wonders. In Oxford there is a colored man who says he does not require more than 30 or 40 minutes sleep out of the twenty-four hours. He is now acting as night watch at the Factory of Cooper, Williams & Bryan, and by way of verifying the fact that he is not asleep on his post, he rings a large bell at short intervals during the night and until daybreak in the morning. Old Martin has been engaged in this occupation for month, and has discharged his duty as far as we know with great fidelity and to the entire satisfaction of his employers. LEADER.

The Rockingham Spirit says: About a month ago in Wolf Pit township, in this county, a colored man by the name of Sandy McCormick, got into a domestic broil with his wife, which ended by the woman drawing a jack-knife and plunging it into Sandy's back, breaking off the blade in he wound. Dr. Covington was called, and after considerable difficulty succeeded in extracting the piece of knife blade, and the wound, although quite severe, the doctor did not think would prove fatal. But it seems that the wound has not healed properly, and it was reported on our streets this week that the man had died of his injuries.

The officers of the Orphan Asylum at Oxford edit and three orphans print the Orphan's Friend, started a few months since, and it has paid for the press, types and fixtures, supported itself and contributed something besides to the support of the institution.

Edgecombe has subscribed over $2,000 to aid the University, and expects to raise her subscription to $4,000.

The Moravian congregation at Friedland, near Salem, celebrated the centennial of their church on the 29th ult.

GOOD WHEAT.—Mr. John H. Hughes of Cedar Grove, last Monday handed us a few heads of wheat gathered from his field that are as fine as we ever saw. In each mesh were four grains and we counted twenty meshes to the head. Without some serious accident the yield will be a tremendous one for this country. In most sections the wheat is said to be very fine.—DURHAM TOBACCO PLANT.

The Newbern Times says that the Newbern firemen were the finest looking body of firemen at the Centennial and that the Silver Cornet Band of that place was acknowledged on all hands to be superior to any musical organization in attendance, or in the State. The Wilmington Star, bristling up for the Wilmington boys, says the Times tells something that's not so.

Hons. Burton Craige and Frank E. Shober, and John S. Henderson and Luke Blackmer, Esqs., are named prominently in Rowan for Convention delegates.

Mr. J. L. Labiaux, of Ridgeway, so well known in connection with the growing of fruit in this State, designs removing from the State.

The escaped penitentiary convicts robbed a little negro boy of some provisions, near Rocky Mount, Monday, and again eluded capture.

The commissioners appointed by the Legislature to investigate the affairs of the Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal have made an examination and effected an arrangement which, however, will have to be submitted to the next Legislature.

The Conservatives of Johnston county have nominated as delegates to the Constitutional Convention Willis Saunders and Jesse Hinnant, Esqs. The News learns that a good feeling prevails and there is no doubt of Johnston going all right.

Any good man wishing to engage in the newspaper business can, with small capital, secure press, type, fixturns and good will of the Concord Sun. For full particulars apply to John R. Harris, Concord, N. C. State papers please notice.

The Oxford Leader says it was resolved by a meeting held last Friday night to build an iron narrow gauge railroad from Oxford to Henderson. The sum necessary to be raised before work should be commenced was fixed at $60.000. The right of way has been secured.

The Supreme Court has licensed the following gentlemen to practice law in the courts of the State: Richard Stokes Andrews, Randolph county; Samuel Thos. Ashe, Anson; Benjamin Edward Blount, Pitt; John Henry Collins, Halifax; David Anderson Covington, Union; George Guilford Eaves, Rutherford; Ephraim Lash Gaither, Davie; Joseph Whitfield Glenn, Guilford; Thomas Hamlin, Rockingham; William Martin, Pasquotank; William Columbus Maxwell, Mecklenburg; Samuel Fox Mordecai, Wake; Francis Erwin Osborne, Mecklenburg; Frank Powell, Edgecombe; Henry Shepherd Puryear, Yadkin; Bartlett Yancy Rayle, Forsyth; Oscar Samuel Spears, Harnett; Isaac Anderson Sugg, Pitt; George Tate Wasson, Chowan; Adolphus Richard Wortham, Warren.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written on one side of the sheet. All letters to us should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

Remittances of money, all articles should be sent in a registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post office order can be deducted from the bill. Bills will be sent otherwise than registered (only at the sender's risk.

General News.

A [illegible] has this to [illegible]: "We have [illegible] this im[illegible] sheepish not; [illegible] onward and near[illegible] ended."

[illegible] and stre[illegible] themselves of [illegible] a good deal of [illegible] often use plen[illegible] sheets where we [illegible] Bridesville

[illegible] a mer[illegible] Cool da[illegible] the 20th [illegible] during the [illegible] Boston, the [illegible] Prov[illegible]e.—Wit.

[illegible] says one [illegible] sells annually [illegible] worth of small [illegible] the statement [illegible] more of the [illegible] than in North

A [illegible] mail train [illegible] N. C. Railroad ap[illegible] at the city last [illegible] a seven seconds [illegible] began, the [illegible] head [illegible] Grass. This is [illegible] been thrown [illegible] of Roy[illegible] ony on Mon[illegible] Priest H. H. [illegible]ding. The [illegible] Gerald Scrive[illegible], Repres[illegible] South Caro[illegible]r is re[illegible] condition.

[illegible]s: Two la[illegible] to the elite [illegible] some time [illegible] ladies of the [illegible] them some [illegible] stated that, [illegible] soon [illegible] office.

[illegible] York book statement for June [illegible] specie decrease 7½ millions; [illegible] decrease in one week, loans an[illegible] increase of receipts over [illegible]

[illegible] account of Archbishop Henri[illegible] the Pope, [illegible] Bryan, and [illegible] he is [illegible] a large [illegible] the night [illegible]. Old [illegible] accompa[illegible] used his [illegible] fidelity [illegible] his ch[illegible]

[illegible] colored sheriff of Vicksburg, Miss. was shot in the street by a negro [illegible], and is supposed to be mortally [illegible]

A vessel sailed from New York to Liverpool on [illegible], with 9,150 bales of cotton, said to be the largest cargo ever taken from one port, ever taken by United States port.

[illegible] of letters in the wrecked [illegible] have been received at the [illegible] Post Office Department, with all [illegible] by safe water. Most of the [illegible] Washington.

[illegible] morning of March last, for [illegible] the loss of Acton Steele, in [illegible] the other [illegible] Wales, both [illegible] Steele [illegible] escaped [illegible] Steele [illegible] Acton [illegible] Wales.

[illegible] appointed Richard M [illegible] manager of the Philadelphia [illegible] from Alabama.

[illegible] boasts of having a Greek [illegible] service according [illegible] and a Russian bishop.

[illegible] Easter has been returned to [illegible] in Milwaukee who buy [illegible] the contents of the revenue oil [illegible]

[illegible] prevailed at Raymond on [illegible] the heat during which [illegible] killed by lightning.

[illegible] coach is preparing for [illegible] to cook over fifty [illegible] office.

[illegible] York [illegible]

Children's Column.

For the Children's Column.

MY DEAR LITTLE GIRLS: With the editors' permission, I want to say I have been delighted to see the interest manifested by you in the study of the Bible and I do hope and believe that the searching out of remarkable events, incidents and facts in general that may be found by reference to a concordance, or Concordance, will ere-long, in very many of you a thirst for deeper knowledge, a thirst that will begin on until slaked at the Living Fountain. But what about the boys? I did not mean to exclude them. Oh! no. My heart is too full of that dear bright little fellow who sat for the first time in my class this morning.

Some of the boys do send questions and answers to the ADVOCATE showing that they, too, think and read; but, boys, the girls seem to take the lead in this matter. Now how is this?—Haven't all the boys minds to improve, hearts to cultivate, souls to save? Wake up, boys. You must not be laggards in the race for spiritual honors. God says: "Him that honoreth me I will honor." Think of that and remember God is honored in the study of his Word.

I sat down to say something in connection with one of the last answers—the one about the "bundle of myrrh," but I'm afraid the editors will think me too lengthy. However, if you would like, I may have another Sunday evening chat with you some day.

COUSIN NANNIE.

The New Hat and the Sunday School Visitor.

Little Bettie had taken the "Visitor" one year. Her time was out.—She saw her brother hand the preacher $2 20 for the Advocate, and heard her mother intimate they could do without the Visitor.

Bettie turned quickly into her mother's room in tears and said:—Well, I'll send my new hat back, which came from the store to day, and I'll have that Sunday school Visitor."

Bettie's parents ought to feel thankful for such a child

Before the preacher left, she gave him the money for the Visitor. I reckon she kept the new hat too.

A. D. BETTS.

Answers.

Tertullus was the orator who appeared before Felix against Paul. 24th ch. 1st verse of Acts of the Apostles. Maggie McCoy, F. B. Jones.

Agabus was the prophet who foretold how Paul should be bound. 21st ch. 11th verse of the Acts.—Maggie McCoy, F. B. Jones.

Simon, the Cyrinian, helped Christ carry his cross. F. B. Jones.

Answer to Enigma proposed by R. C. Clayton is "Mehta" the Island where Paul was wrecked. F. B. Jones, W. A. Betts.

Benhadad had 32 kings with him where he beseiged Samaria, Jas Howard, J. W. Howard.

Solomon was 22 years old when he began to build the Temple, and was seven years in building it. Jas Howard.

Lamech was the man who died a natural death before his father. J. W. Howard.

The verse containing 'my son" four times is the 33d v. 18th ch. of 2d Samuel.—Theodore C. W. Boshamer.

"The Lord will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughter of Zion" is found in Isaiah 3d chap. 17th verse The cause for which the Lord will "smite &c." is found in 2d Isaiah 2d chap. 16th verse. Theo. C. W. Boshamer.

The 136th Psalm has 26 verse all of which end alike. Viola Boddie, Cora V. Lyon, James R. Howard, J. W. Howard.

It was God that David remembered on his bed. Viola Boddie.

It was Solomon whom David remembered on his bed.—Cora V. Lyon.

Answer to Bible Enigma proposed by J. W. L. Cornelly is "Nebuchadnezzar" Cora V. Lyon.

Answer to Bible Enigma proposed by J. R Howard is "Padanarum" Cora V. Lyon.

Questions.

Where in the Bible is found "skin for skin,' asks Viola Boddie. Also what king had an iron bedstead?

Jas. Howard asks what was the name of the servant whose ear was cutten off by one that was with Christ, and who it was that smote him?

J. W. Howard asks who was the father of Elijah.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY CORA V. LYON.

My 1st begins the name of Joseph's father.
" 2nd " the name of the father of Shemaiah.
" 3rd " the name of the daughter of Bethuel.
" 4th " the name of the king of Persia.
" 5th " the name of Shubael.
" 6th " the name of the first son of Aaron.

My whole is the name of a river which is mentioned 17 times in one chapter of the Bible.

ENIGMA BY F. B. JONES.

1st the son of Lot by his eldest daughter.

2nd the principal receiver of King Solomon's tribute.

3rd where the widow lived that persuaded David to recall Absalom.

4th the tenth Judge of Israel.

5th the man who succeeded Nahash as king of the Ammonites.

6th the man who had 30 sons and 30 daughters all of whom married in his lifetime.

7th the father of James and Jude.

8th the person who begged Christ that her two sons might have principal posts in his temporal kingdom.

The initial letters of the above names form the name of the disciple chosen in Judas' stead.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY J. W. HOWARD.

My first begins the name of the man whose rod budded, blossomed and yielded ammons.

My second begins the name of the city between Joppa and Jerusalem.

My third begins the name of one of the sons of Shem.

My fourth begins the name of a man who was killed on a rock by the same name.

My fifth begins the name of the city where Paul is supposed to have spent the last winter of his life.

My sixth begins the name of the last king of the Chaldees at Babylon.

My seventh begins the name of the king who was willing to give up his silver, gold, children and wives for the safety of his people.

My eighth one of the Hebrew months.

My ninth the king who slew Pekah.

My tenth the first son of Eshek

My eleventh the city where Paul was born.

My twelfth a river that flows into the Euphrates.

My whole is the name of the oak under which Deborah was buried.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY W. A. BETTS.

My 1st is a thin cake made of flour, used in Jewish offerings.

My 2nd is a rod or staff, used as an ensign of royal authority.

My 3rd a mode of salutation and respect, common in eastern countries.

My 4th a precious stone of a brilliant green colour.

My 5th the seventh month of the civil, and first of the sacred year.

My 6th an agreeable and refreshing fruit of the palm tree.

My 7th an ornamental stone worn in the breast-plate of the high priest.

My 8th a common electric phenomenon.

My 9th a Hebrew liquid measure containing about five sixths of a pint.

My whole is the name of the superintendent of Ansonville Sabbath School

Indian Post Carriers

In the East Indies the postmen are known as tappal runners. In general they are an honest, humble class of people. Their pay is small, and labor and fatigue often great, especially in those districts where there are wide jungles, and where the heavy falls of rain, during one part of the year render traveling not only toilsome but full of danger.

Nor is the weather the only enemy these poor people have to encounter; swollen streams with strong rapids, venomous serpents and fierce wild beasts—these are an every-day occurrence with those who carry the letter bags in the districts that lie near the Malabar coast. Armed with a long pole, at one end of which are suspended the sealed bags, while the other has a number of brass rings, which, tinkling together, serve to alarm serpents and other unwelcome neighbors, these tapple-runners, usually two or three in number set out at all hours of the night and face sometimes the most fearful storms. This, in a dense jungle or wood is anything but a desirable position; for although they are always accompanied by torch-hearers, one going before and the other following them and although the whole company assist in raising a continued unearthly yell, which is intended to terrify the fierce beasts of the forest, it often happens that some sudden winding among the hills brings these poor tappel runners into the midst of trumpering elephants bellowing bisons, half-frightened tigers, or hissing cobra di capellos.

In this state of affairs the torch-bearer who closes in the rear gives the alarm, and the flaming torches are the only safe-guard. The tapple runners continue in motion, running all the faster in consequence of what they have just witnessed. The jung'e is got through, the moon bursts forth from a heavy ridge of storm clouds, and they reach their journey's end just as the day is breaking in the east. Having delivered over the letter bags to those appointed to receive them, they gladly turn in, weary and wet, for a few hours' refreshing nap. To-morrow night the letters going in at opposite direction will arrive, and then they will return home again, and have a week's rest from the toil and perils of tappal carrying in the jungle. —Child's Companion.

Rural and Domestic.

Receipts.

Charcoal, pulverized and mixed with water, is now highly recommended as an agent for relieving cattle suffering any derangement of the stomach, such as bloat or hoven, etc. This should be remembered. There is no doubt of its efficacy, if abundance of testimony can be relied on.

SUGAR SNAPS—One cup of butter; two cups of sugar; four cups of flour; one egg; stir sugar and buttor to a cream; add the egg well beaten, and a small teacupful of soda dissolved in it; stir half a spoonful cream tartar into the flour; roll out very thin and bake in a moderate oven.

CLEANING STOVES.—Stove luster, when mixed with turpentine and applied in the usual manner, is blacker and more glossy and more durable than when mixed with any other liquid. The turpentine prevents rust, and when put on an old rusty stove will make it look as well as new.

BROWN GEMS.—One pint sour milk, two table spoonfuls of brown sugar stir in middlings or shorts until quite stiff; drop in hot gem pans, previously greased, and bake quick; an egg is an improvement. Gems made from white flour, in the same way, are very nice.

HAM DRESSED IN CLARET.—Take a glass of claret, a tea spoonful of sugar, and one of chopped onion; place in a frying-pan; when the claret boils place in the rashers of ham, not cut very thick; cool well, and serve with the sauce. This is a most appetizing dish.

HOW TO BANISH RATS AND MICE.—A French paper says that petroleum destroys all insects, and banishes rats and mice. Water sligtly impregnated with petroleum applied to plants infected with insects will. it is said, destroy the latter at once.

VEGETABLE MARROW SOUP.—One quart of milk, one and three-quarter pounds of vegetable marrow, two large onions, pepper and salt to taste. Boil till the marrow is quite soft, then pass through a sieve. Add half a glass of sherry before serving.

PLAIN PUDDING.—One pint of milk; four eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately; two cups of flour; one small pinch of soda. Bake in a buttered dish three quarters of an hour. Serve in the pudding-dish as soon as drawn from the oven.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.

Change of climate, water or diet is apt to induce harrassing and often dangerous diseases. The three changes combined are said to thousands of emigrants every year. It is, therefore, of the last importance to know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are an absolute preventive of the hurtful consequences arising from these causes? Travelers, voyagers, and emigrants to new countries cannot be too often reminded of the fact that this agreeable vegetable tonic is the most reliable safeguard against disorders to which they are more liable than the habitual denizens of every region. The principal effect of a newly-commenced draught produces what are called malarious fevers, is to depress and debilitate the system. The body then becomes an easy prey to the malignant principles in the air. It is manifest, therefore, that the surest way to avoid all epidemic and endemic maladies of an intermittent type, is to counteract the weakening tendencies of miasma by artificial invigoration. The Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the surest remedial tonic of healing virtue, is a fact which is best appreciated where fever prevails. Inimical to health exist. But it is not alone against malaria that they protect the system. They so toughen it to endure with impunity extremes of heat and cold to which travelers are often subjected, and they neutralize those elements in unconstituted water or diet which otherwise beget disorders of the stomach and bowels The forecastle water with which voyagers by sea are often compelled to quench their thirst, is apt to provoke dysentery and other serious complaints, but when the bitters are mixed with it, it becomes harmless. Truly this great protective is an invaluable traveling companion.

June 2 1-m

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,
FOR THE CURE OF
Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weakness and debility; he is easily startled, feels cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to state their order distinctly, and take none but Dr. C. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to try them a trial, we will forward per mail, postpaid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Store keepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be HEALTHY, STRONG, and WOMEN'S MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

Be BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full took of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to transfer their favors to Mr. Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who favor him.

I will still keep my office, as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS

march1 6 m

WANTED.

AGENTS, male and female to sell Pictures everywhere. Fourteen thousand retailed by one. Another writes: "I can make more money in this business than I can on a thousand farm, all stocked."

WHITNEY & CO.,

Norwich, Conn.

april 7-3 m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Perfect illness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring. 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Rambling or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmi, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages or Imperfect recovery from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Amaurosis, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesia—seeing specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataract Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are to lowed. or will refund the money.

2,000 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from nonest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1868: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unaided eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old."

Truly yours,

PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Allis, the Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1868: "I have tested the IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their addresses to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLS TREATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA OR NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

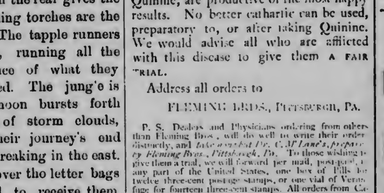
AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge o any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN
CABINET ORGANS.
UNEQUALED in quality, UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded
THREE HIGHEST MEDALS
AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT
VIENNA; 1873; PARIS, 1867.
ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.
ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at International Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.
BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).
INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER COMMISSIONS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.
NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Stagers and other Cases of new designs.
PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN. An entire combination of these instruments.
EASY PAYMENTS. Organs sold for cash; or on monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.
CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St. CHICAGO.
apl 14-1 year.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing;

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

☞ PRICE, $3 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to a parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

86 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 21-1y

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

May 26 1 y

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w.

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, June 6th, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9.24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9.32 "	6.03 "
" Salisbury.....	11.08 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'.....	3.09 A. M	10.55 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond.	2.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.58 P. M.	5.08 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.51 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.39 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro'..	2.45 A. M	3.58 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	6.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte.	8.08 A M	8.31 "

STATIONS	GOING EAST. Mail.	GOING WEST Mail.
Leave Greensboro'..	3.09 A. M	Arrive 2.10 A. M
" Co. Shops.....	4.41 "	Leave 12.11 "
" Raleigh.....	9.30 "	" 7.20 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	12.15 P. M	Leave 4.40 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.15 "
Leave Salem..... 8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro'..... 10.30 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 7.20 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern Express train, making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sunday's Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.30 A. M., arrive at Richmond 8.30 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN

Leave Raleigh,	2.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.25 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City. Also and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Raymond and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, (to-day) 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.30 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.00 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Supt Superintendent.

OFFICE SUPT OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12.00 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4.00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached

Steamer for Ellenton, Plymouth and Landings on Shackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.40 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays

S. G. GILMO,
Supt. Transportation.

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and are among the best now made. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as the excellence of the very best materials and the most thorough workmanship will permit. The principal in and re pects, and the piano-going public of the south may safely, confide in the unanimous verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. The DURABILITY of our instruments is fully established by our many years' experience in the south, using over 350 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufacturers of Cabinet and Parlor Organs; prices from $50 to $299. A liberal discount to Ch'rches and Sabbath schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $50 to $150. Call or send for list.

Send for illustrated catalogue, containing testimonials from over 500 Southerners who have bought and are using the Stieff Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF,
Warerooms, No. 9 South Liberty street,
Baltimore, Md.
Factories, 84 & 86 Camden st, and 45 & 47 Perry st.
Dec 16-1mo.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown

The SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the sufferings and triumphs of His followers. A thrilling, sweet and more enthralling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated and bound in the best manner, and splendidly bound in the latest and finest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive work ever offered to Agents For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

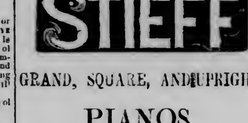
March 16-6m

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metallic Burial Cases, Self Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

apr 18-1f

$250 A MONTH.—Agents wanted every where. Business honorable and first class. Particulars sent free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

Sept 16-6m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of work people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 16-12m

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in morocco, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth. 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price

Address, REV F. L. REID, Lockburg, N. C. or JAS W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SQUARE, RALEIGH N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card for their very liberal patronage during the past few years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and intend giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Groceries and Rarely bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Hhds. A Sugar,
10 Hhds Ex C Sugar,
10 Hhds. B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Hhds Demerara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
1,000 lbs. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Oysters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
9 " " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W. F. and G. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer especial inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock daily competition

Oct 7 12 m LEACH BROS

L. B. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock o

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamanco Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

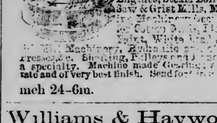
is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES, SALT and NAILS always on hand and offered at the lowest market prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 20-1f

THE JAS. LEFFEL
Double Turbine Water Wheel,
Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
7,000 NOW IN USE!
Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.



Manufacturers also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mill Gearing, Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers. Machine made Gearing a specialty. Machine made Gearing a specialty. Send for circular and price list. Send for circular and price list.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec. 23 1-1

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, &c., &c. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.

102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Ladies' and Gruff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled

Respectfully,

JOSEPH P. GULLEY,

Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.

oct 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK. President.
D. P. FACKLER. Actuary.

WM. B. OGLE, Secretary
DANIEL AYRES M.D., LL.D., Med. Dir.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOK

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 25. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, June 23, 1875. | Whole No. 1,063.

Selected Poetry.

The First Birthday in Heaven.

"What shall we give him?" the children said
"His birthday is now so near;
Some glad surprise we must have for him,
To show him he still is dear."
And he, lest they should forget the day,
Had many a hint to give;
And no one thought that our fair-haired boy
Had only a month to live.

But days are the hoop or the skates were bought,
Or the book with the gilded page,
And before he could say, with a boy's bright glee,
"I am now twelve years of age,"
There came a message to us below,
And we knew it was one of love,
That our boy must go from his earthly home
To the Father's house above.

So we keep the day with o'er-saddened hearts,
For how can we help but miss
The joy of seeing his brightening eyes
At the birthday gift and kiss?
And will not the sound of the merry bells,
And the voice of the children's play,
Remind us aye of our pain and loss,
And the dear boy passed away?

But we think again of the greater joy
He has in the better land,
Perhaps his birthday will there be kept
With joy by the children band;
He will not weep for the absent ones
Where the tears are wiped away;
And we know in the street of Jernsalem
There are boys and girls at play.

Will he get our message? We cannot tell.
Will he know that we love him still?
Oh, yes; for nothing is wanting there,
His spirit with bliss to fill;
And One is with him who died for him,
And He will attend our boy,
And the golden harp and the crown of gold
Will perfect his birthday joy.

And so we leave him. The Lord is good,
And we know that He doeth well:
Though why He summoned the lad so soon
It is not for us to tell;
But we know that soon, when the years no more
Are the heralds of grief and pain,
The Father will gladden the parent-hearts
With the sight of their boy again.

—MARIANNE FARNINGHAM, in CHRISTIAN WORLD.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Earth, Heaven and Hell in Contrast.

MESSRS EDITORS: To the thoughtless, careless observer the above heading may seem of small import; but to the considerate and prayerful, who regard this world as only a state of probation, and who expect sooner or later to exchange this life of turmoil for a home of perpetual rest it becomes a matter of the gravest concern. On earth we find many things attractive, and others that even command our highest admiration. Some persons and things are pleasant, some happy, some beautiful and others again attain even to a high degree of loveliness; and were we to judge from a worldly standpoint there would be many things to "court our stay." We have only to look forth in the morning of spring and behold the various buds and flowers, shrubs and trees, emitting their aromatic sweets and variegated colors to prove our assertion. These things themselves are beautiful to look at, are pleasant to the touch, and of an agreeable odor; and are well calculated to smooth the billows on the sea of life. Then again we review the works of art and find many specimens of artistic skill; touching with the finger so gentle, and yet so grand the beautiful landscape, the magnificent public edifice, the lovely flower and evergreen, that decorate our fruitful soil, and the "human form divine that is made to look still diviner" that nature could scarcely outrivalled in its gorgeous splendor, by these brilliant displays of consummate art.

These things exert a charming influence upon our minds, and we are lost in admiration of their grandeur, as they pass in review. But at the head of all animate creation and infinitely beyond the reach of art we find man the greatest of all earthly beings. To him was given the finishing touch and to him belongs the right of way: to direct, control, and subject to obedience is the province of man. And when we look upon man as "created after the image of God" and endowed with faculties so numerous and so diversified and with a form so noble and manly, we are tempted to exclaim 'Oh! man, what a wonderful machinery art thou, for what mighty purposes wert thou made! But in contemplating the amazing structure of man we inadvertently turn to his counterpart and contrast woman, and find ourselves almost amazed at the divine display of wisdom, power and goodness in her, "the mother of all living." Gems, trees, flowers and evergreens all possess their transcendent beauties, but where in all the works of nature or in the progress of art do we find such a specimen of rare beauty as is to be found in woman? Added to this her gentle love, her meek and quiet spirit of devotion and her every christian grace, she becomes the chief stone of all attractions, the shrine at which the sterner sex doth willingly bow. Then as her sphere is so important,—not inferior to man—and is the centre of attraction and the admiration of all, what a power she hath for good or evil!

And when we meditate upon these beauties of nature and art lavished upon us with the munificent hand of God, and when we [illegible] the numberless blessings and social pleasures of society by which we are surrounded, we have no desire to quit the shores of mortal life. But this is the bright side of the picture only; beyond or behind the curtain is a scene altogether different from the one described. Amid all the fragrance of flowers and shrubs we find a canker worm, and amid the joys, pleasures, beauties and happiness of society we find misery, shame, poverty and wretchedness, and a "sea of corruption" from which we instinctively turn away. This then we find to be nothing but earth, a "transitory state" a "fleeting shadow" a "vain delusion" and finding no rest for our souls we seek a haven for repose. Heaven then, with its bright mansions looms up before us; Heaven, yes, that eternal abode, that everlasting rest, that land of peace, joy, and unalloyed happiness, no clouds, no storms no sorrow, no sickness and no death can enter there, but unutterable love, undisturbed peace and universal happiness shall rule and reign supreme. There we shall see the holy prophets and martyrs of old robed in regal splendor, chanting the praises of God forever and forever. What a home of delight for the finally faithful.

Such then we conceive to be a dim outline, a faint shadow of Heaven, and of the joys that are to come. But oh! how different a description of Hell. Who can fathom the meaning of that awful word! Who can bear the idea of being shut up in the flames of Hell, there to writhe in awful agony? how long? forever? yes forever, while eternal ages roll. Is there a hell? yes, let infidels scoff, and universalists deride, but Hell remains the same. And could a Tom Paine, a Voltaire, or a David Hume come to life they would only corroborate our statement. Young man, young woman to which place are you tending? 'Have you rocked yourself asleep in the cradle of sin unconscious of the yawning gulph? the turbid billows that rage beneath your feet?' if so "awake! thou that sleepest" "put thy armour on" ere thou launch into that fearful abyss.

INO. W. ELKINS.

Concord N. C., June 9th, 1875.

For the Advocate.

Letter from Bishop Marvin.

MESSRS EDITORS: As nearly as I could learn there is only one class of church work in which the laymen of the Fayetteville District are largely active—that is the department of Sunday-schools. That is, indeed, a great field. Perhaps no one field of christian effort is larger or promises a greater harvest.

But there are other departments which cannot be neglected without guilt and damage. Religion can never be prevalent in the world until all the forces of life and society are brought into its service. All the personal influence of God's people ought to be made actively subservient to His cause. All the social power and brain-force of every child of God ought to be brought into active play in favor of religion.

One great secret of the rapid growth of the early Methodist societies was the amazing activity of all the members. Both the men and women were workers in the vineyard. There were no drones in the hive. In every society of a hundred members there would be six or eight classes with a leader for each class. Each class met once a week. Each had its leader.—Nearly every man and woman would pray if called upon. In addition to the class-meetings there was the weekly prayer meeting. No preacher was required to hold the prayer meeting. Any man of good common sense would lead if necessary.

There was no church in the world in which there was so much work done by laymen as was done in the Methodist societies one hundred years ago. The Methodist people were a wonder to their neighbors for prayer and activity.

But in many places now, and especially in country places, almost everything is left to the preacher.—There are no prayer meetings, even, unless he is present to lead them. In some churches not even one man can be found to lead in public or social prayer. There is no heart for class-meetings, and no one thinks of such a thing as having one. Even the love-feast drags because few, if any, are ready to appear as witnesses of Christ.

I know communities where other churches are active, and do a great work for the Master, while the Methodists are lying on their oars. Of course where such is the case, we must expect to see another take our crown. Alas! we have seen the "candlestick removed from his place" in some communities. Disintegration and decay follow upon the heels of inanition.

Where there is no prayer or class meeting it will be found that there is no worship of God in families, and where that is the case there will be found to be no conversation on the things of God in social circles—none in the domestic circle. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Where God is ignored in social life, His love has perished out of individual life. There can be no other explanation of it.

A presiding elder of the N. C. Conference told me the other day that on some circuits of his District he had even instructed the preachers to take the matter of their own support in hand. He affirmed that he had been driven to this by the want of any interested effort to bring up the finances by the officers in charge of that department.

In North Carolina the membership of the Methodist Church forms a large per cent of the whole population.—There is a vast amount of brain and muscle, of means and influence in the church. But alas! a large part of it is dormant. If it were all brought out by active consecration, and utilized for spiritual ends, it would constitute an aggressive power before which nothing could stand.

E. M. MARVIN.

Raleigh, June 11, 1875.

For the Advocate.

Facts for the Laymen of the N. C. Conference to Read.

1. Ont of one hundred and thirty stations and circuits composing our Conference, only thirty paid their preachers the full amount of their promised salaries.

2. The deficiences of the preachers' salaries amount in the aggregate to fourteen thousand, nine hundred and forty nine dollars and sixty cents.—We had about one hundred and forty-four preachers employed last year.—Distribute this, and each preacher is deficient over one hundred dollars. Some were more, some less. In a few instances, our preachers did not receive more than half their dues.

3. Is the arrangement of a preacher's salary a stipulation, or is it a contingent promise on the part of the Stewards? If it be a contingent promise to pay, on what sort of a contingency is it suspended? And if it be such, why is a contingency made of legal effect when the Quarterly Conference takes cognizance of all the monies received and disbursed for the support of the preachers? We hold that it is a stipulation on the part of the Stewards to pay a certain amount for the labors and talents of their minister. Not that ministers are hirelings. They are ordained employees of the Head of the Church, who has ordained their support as well as their calling; and who has commanded that they should be provided for according to their wants. "The laborer is worthy of his hire"—"the workman is worthy of his meat"—"thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn." The Board of Stewards in a circuit or station agree to pay their pastor for services that he shall render. Their contract is a stipulation. There are no contingencies involved only such as are incident to all vocations. If they do not pay him they fail to meet a legal and a moral obligation. It is worse than useless for a Board of Stewards to make a contract with a pastor, and then nullify said agreement, for reasons which may be the result of their own want of interest in the pastor, or for the sake of having another sent in his place at the next Conference.—This is sometimes done, but always at the hazard of bringing moral blight and spiritual death upon the people of such a charge.

4. How easy it would have been for the members of our church to have paid their pastors' salaries the past year, if they had levied a tax of one cent on every hundred dollars of their property, and stuck up to the conscientious payment of the self-imposed duty! This would have made up a deficiency so hard to be borne by those who, in some instances, had to sell their houses and their furniture to pay their way with their merchants, and from one charge to another. Is not our allegiance to Heaven of sufficient bindingness to make us feed and clothe our pastors and their families?

One hundred dollars is a small deficit with a well stocked layman. But not so with an almost ragged pastor and a stinted family. Some stewards and laymen are quite complacent, and talk facetiously even over their having paid their pastor all they were due him except about one hundred dollars; and that too after they had fixed his salary at the first so low that he could not live equally with the stewards who provided it—or who engaged to pay it. How many a poor pastor has gone away from a people with an aching mind and heart, because the Board of Stewards did not perform their part of the stipulated agreement between pastors and themselves. At the last when the year is ended—the work is done, then the stewards hide themselves behind a legal screen to justify their failure or to save their purse.

These are facts worthy the notice of our people. We hope every layman whose eye falls on this will read it carefully and ponder it as well as

EXAMINER.

For the Advocate.

Fayetteville District Conference.

This body met at Carthage, N. C., June 3rd, continuing three days. All the traveling ministers were present, save one, and about 20 laymen. Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Rev. H. H. Gibbons, Rev. Henry Gray and Rev. Hiram P. Cole, members of the N. C. Conference, were also present. Rev. T. A. Boone preached the opening sermon on Thursday at 11 A. M. The Conference was opened at 3. Rev. S. D. Adams, P. E., in the chair. Joseph Wheeler was elected Sec'ty. H. C. Wall, Ass't. On Friday Bishop Marvin arrived and took the chair. This was the first District Conference he ever held in N. C. We opine he is now largely acquainted with Methodism within this District. All the interests of the church were brought under review—his inquiries extending not only to the subjects usually brought up, but also to the personal, religious experience of the pastors, and the piety and usefulness of the local ministry. The reports of the pastors were not, in all particulars, satisfactory, yet enough was elicited to show that the general condition of the District was hopeful.

The attendance at church and the Lord's Supper is good. Prayer meetings are generally held—attendance pretty good. Class meetings are still held on some of the charges. Love feasts have fallen into disuse—a fact much deplored by the Bishop, and largely differentiating the church in the East from the church in the West. Church Conferences are not working well. There is a wholesome state of discipline within the District. There is considerable financial embarrassment, though the charges will, it is thought, meet, for the most part, their obligations. There was reported an average of $\frac{1}{3}$ paid on salaries.

The Sunday school interest is one of the most hopeful. There are schools on all the charges and at most of the churches. There is a general use of our literature—few Union books—few Union schools. The cause of education, literary, religious and denominational, was made a subject of special inquiry and debate.—The Conference passed resolutions endorsing Trinity College, Greensboro and Davenport Female Colleges, and heartily recommending them to the patronage of our people. Rev. V. A. Sharpe, agent for Trinity, presented the claims of this College and secured over $200. The Conference inaugurated measures looking to the establishment of Male and Female High Schools within this District. Rev. Ira T. Wyche, Rev. T. W. Guthrie and John W. Leak, Esq., were appointed a committee to carry out the wishes of the Conference.

The interests of Missions claimed special attention. A mass meeting was held on Saturday night. Bishop Marvin made an address. Rev. T. W. Guthrie followed, took the collection amounting to $50 and upward. The religious exercises of the Conference were prominent and profitable. The preaching was "good to the use of edifying." The sermons of Bishop Marvin were eminently practical, profound in thought and intensely spiritual. His congregations were instructed, delighted and benefited. A love feast on Sunday Morning, at 9, was an occasion of great spiritual enjoyment.

The conference resolved to observe the week of prayer, beginning the 8th of August. The Pastors pledged themselves to see that services were held in all their churches.

The Conference gave its endorsements to the volumes of sermons of Rev. N. F. Reid, recommending it to our people.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate was not forgotten. The following resolution was offered by Rev. T. A. Boone, and adopted:

Resolved, That the Raleigh Christian Advocate merits our endorsements, that it is an invaluable auxiliary to the work of the ministry, and that we will make a more earnest effort to increase its circulation among our people.

The usual resolutions of thanks were adopted.

The following laymen were elected delegates to the Annual Conference. L. Phillips, Geo. S. Cole, E. J. Lilly, and John W. Leak—Geo. W. Pegram and F. E. Asbury alternates.

The next District Conference will be held at Rockingham.

JOSEPH WHEELER, Sec'y.

Jesus Lover of my Soul.

Were you ever in "love?" Then you remember how the image of one filled the whole horizon of your thought. You remember the exquisite thrill which vibrated through your whole being, when you "caught the eye" or touched the hand. You remember the intensity of the desire to possess the object of your love—to say mine, mine only, and forever mine—and the absolute certainty that no other could satisfy your heart, or fill your life with joy, create for you a home.

You knew the meaning of surrender, and consecration, you were certain that your highest happiness consisted in giving and receiving, just this full surrender and entire consecration to each other; and when, before the world, you gave yourself and took another, to be one and inseparable, till death should divide, you thought heaven had nothing more to give; and as years rolled away, and days of separation came, you remember the restless, unsatisfied, longing for the return, and the cry in the heart, Oh, come home, come home! All the delights of society were nothing, till the one should again be near And when again at hand, how the sun seemed to increase his light, and the birds to sing with new joy. We never forget this experience, and nobody can persuade us that it is only a figment of the brain."

Can we love our divine Saviour with such an absorbing love? Yes, this is just what he asks. "Jesus the very thought of thee, with gladness fills my heart," should be the spontaneous language of our souls. Why is it not? Because we have not given all. If we would receive, we must give. When the soul will not be satisfied with anything less, then the "One altogether lovely" bestows himself, and joy and rejoicing become the habit of the soul and we have heaven begun below—and are able to sing daily and hourly:

I am thine own O Christ;
Henceforth entirely thine;
And in life from this glad hour;
New life is mine.

No earthly joy can lure
My quiet soul from thee;
This deep delight so pure,
Is heaven to me.

I cannot tell the art
By which such bliss is given,
I know thou hast a heart,
And I—have heaven.

—Congregationalist.

Good By.

Good-by! good-by! It is the sweetest blessing
That falls from mortal lips on mortal ear,
The weakness of our human love confessing,
The promise that a love more strong is near—
May God be with you!
Why do we say it when he tears are starting?
Why must a word so sweet bring only pain?
Our love seems all sufficient till the parting
And then we feel it impotent and vain—
May God be with you!
Oh! may He guide and bless and keep you ever.
He who is strong to battle with your foes;
Whoever falls, His love can fail you never,
And all you need He in His wisdom knows
May God be with you!
Better than earthly presence, e'en the dearest,
Is the great blessing that our partings bring;
For in the lonliest moments God is nearest.
And from our sorrows heavenly comforts spring,
If God be with us.
Good-by! good-by! with latest breath we say it,
A legacy of hope and faith and love,
Parting must come, we cannot long delay it,
But one in Him, we hope to meet above,
If God be with us.
Good-by! 'Tis all we have for one another;
Our love, more strong than death, is helpless still;
For none can take the burden from his brother,
Or shield, except by prayer, from any ill—
May God be with you!

—Sunday Magazine.

The Domestic Growler.

Look at him! he is a curiosity. He was pleasant enough an hour ago, as he sat in his office talking to Jones. With his chair tilted back, the toes of his boots resting against the mantel-piece, his mouth extended, into a guffaw in reply to one of Jones' yarns, you would have said he was one of the jolliest fellows in the world. But he does not look so now. He considers it bad domestic policy to come home looking smiling and cheerful; it would not only lower his dignity as master of the house, but it would encourage his wife and children to the asking of all sorts of favors and the running into goodness knows what extravagances. The only way he believes to keep up a proper system of household authority, and reduce expenditures to its certain limits, is to always find fault and never relax for a moment the system of domestic snubbing. Of course, the coming of the growler is not looked for with joy. All pleasant influences take wing. The very atmosphere becomes charged with depressing or explosive influences.

DYING EMPTY-HANDED.—Alexander the Great, being upon his deathbed, commanded that when he was carried forth to his grave his hands should not be wrapped, as was usual, in cerecloth, but should be left outside the bier, that all men might see them, and might see that they were empty.—Archbishop Trench.

The Origin of the Sunday School.

At a recent session of the M. E. Sunday School Institute in Harrisburg, Pa., Dr. S. M. Frost, formerly of the N. C. Conference and at present an eminent minister in the M. E. Church, read a very interesting paper on the History of Sabbath Schools, which was published entire in the Harrisburg Daily Telegraph. We may at some time publish the essay in full. At present we have only space for a paragraph in which, without doing injustice to the memory of Robert Raikes, he attributes the establishment of the first Sunday-school to Hannah Ball, a member of Mr. Wesley's society.

Mr Tyerman, in his "Life and Times of John Wesley," Vol. 1. page 10, accords the same honor to Miss Ball and mentions the further fact, which Dr. Frost omits, that "Sophia Cooke, another Methodist, who afterwards became the wife of Samuel Bradburn, was the first who suggested to Raikes the Sunday-school idea, and actually marched with him, at the head of his troop of ragged urchins, the first Sunday they were taken to the parish church." Doctor Frost, in his essay, says:

"The first instance on record, so far as we are informed, of a school kept on Sunday for the instruction of children, was a school kept by Miss Hannah Ball, High Wycombe, Oxford, England. This was opened in 1769, at least twelve years before Robert Raikes commenced his school at Gloucester. This Miss Ball was a member of Mr. Wesley's society in Wycombe and become one of his regular and favorite corresdondents. When Mr. Wesley first visited Wycombe in 1765, he found Miss B., then in the 22d year of her age earnestly seeking salvation. She was subsequently converted to God, and became one of the most zealous and useful members of the Methodist society at Wycombe. After her conversion, she became deeply concerned for the few ignorant children of the place, and prompted by a desire to benefit them, she opened a school for the gratuitous instruction of all who would attend, she devoted most of her time every Sunday to their instruction; but fearing lest they would forget what they had learned before the next Sunday, she invited all that could be spared from their work to come again on Monday and review what they had learned the day previous After her school had been in operation several months, she wrote to Mr. Wesley and gave him an account of its character and success. Her letter, written in 1770, contains this language: "The children meet twice a week, every Sunday and Monday. They are a wild little company, but seem willing to be instructed. I labor among them earnestly desiring to promote the interest of the Church of Christ." Here then we find the beginning of Sunday schools. While we do not wish to detract one iota from the glory of Raikes or any other philanthropist, yet we would here record the name of Miss Hannah Ball as the first who ever taught poor children in Sunday school. So far, as we know, she labored alone at first; no one joined with her in her benevolent enterprise. There she labored Sunday after Sunday, striving to instruct those poor children, giving a portion of Monday also to hearing their lessons; and mark the motive which prompted her in this work, "earnestly desiring to promote the interest of the Church of Christ." Let the name of Hannah Ball be written in letters of gold and cherished in everlasting remembrance. To her belongs the honor of teaching the first Sunday school."

A DARWINIAN SUGGESTION.—Max Adeler, in the Boston Courier, remarks: "We are engaged now in developing a scheme for growing kid gloves upon the original animal. Our old friend Darwin teaches us that you can do almost anything with breeds by judicious 'selection,' and we are convinced that, with a little care it will be possible to produce a beast whose skin, when stripped off, will make a seamless kid glove. Our first experiments are with lizards. A lizard has four legs and a tail. Now, we believe that eventually the off fore leg can be developed into a thumb, while the three other legs and tail can be arranged as fingers. We are crossing lizards with short tails with those with long legs; and we are now looking around for a variety of lizard with a buttton or two on his neck, for the purpose of breeding it in with the others, whose eyes will answer for buttonholes. The ultimate result promises to be startling. It will break up the old glove trade, and drive Jouvine to suicide. Thus it is that human ingenuity advances human civilization."

EVIL REPORTS.—The longer I live, the more I feel the importance of,—1 hearing as little as possible of whatever is to the prejudice of others; 2, believing nothing of the kind till absolutely forced to it; 3, never drinking in the spirit of one who circulates an ill report; 4, always moderating as far as I can, the unkindness expressed towards others; 5, always believing that if the other side were heard, a very different account will be given of the matter.—Simeon

Several Roman papers discern a miracle in the Pope's unprecedented vitality.

Couldn't Afford it.

After leaving Pine Ridge church I turned my face homeward. Sabbath evening I spent with a brother who had been a member of the Church for 17 years. He had five children—all grown but one. After supper I asked if he would let me see the last Advocate. He replied, "No, I have never taken it." Said I, "Do you take any Church paper?" "I do not," was the reply; "I take the——News and the New York Mercury, and they are about as many as I am able to take." Said I to myself, What will this brother or his family know of the doings of his Church and the religious world at large as long as he pursues this course? Is he not telling his children that religious knowledge is of secondary importance, when he takes two worldly papers and no religious journal? This brother seemed concerned about the souls of his children, he greatly desires that they should become useful members of the Church, and demonstrates his concern by refusing them one religious paper and furnishing them two secular ones. It seems that in his estimation Sylvanus Cobb's stories of hairbreadth escapes and backwoods adventures, are ahead of the Old Richmond in interest. I was sorry to see that the sawdust and shavings of literature was so popular at this good brother's house. As a result, his second son can give you all the particulars of a wonderfully exciting bear-hunt in the Rocky mountains. He waded through, on a Sunday afternoon a twenty-nine column story of Bartholomew Templeton's courtship and marriage, but he is as ignorant of our Church affairs as he is of the man in the moon. And his father says he can't afford to take a religious paper. It occurred to me that he couldn't afford not to take one—CLINTON CLYDE IN Richmond Christian Advocate.

FIFTY YEARS.—A tidal wave, rich with germinal life, visited the American churches in 1825. That was the birth year of two great institutions, the Tract Society, and Sunday School Union, which have been overflowing wells, sending forth the water of life to the millions ever since. The Bible Society, nine years older, was born of the same divine impulse, and these three chosen vessels have done fifty years of glorious service in a warfare against darkness, degradation, corruption, and woe. The Tract Society has received and disbursed $13,597, 589,63, converting money into morals, material substance into soul wealth. The Bible Society has sent out 31,-893,332 copies of the Bible. The Sunday school Union has founded thousands of schools and instructed hundreds of thousands of children in the sweet mysteries of the gospel. Would it not have been an immense calamity to the churches and the States to have missed the service of these three societies? What would have been our condition without them? They have ministered to the poor, the emigrant on our Western borders, the children that lack home instruction, the benighted who must be sought and compelled to "come in," if saved at all. They are union societies, exalting Christ above sect, magnifying the essentials of the gospel above the accidents of interpretation and preference, and steadily, quietly, sweetly, effectively repeating the prayer of our Lord. "That they all may be one." From the depths of our hearts, we bless God for these three powerful agencies, now past fifty years of age, and rich in fruitage.—Baptist Union.

Darwinism.

Now suppose I should tell you that in some distant country I had seen a tree on which were growing apples, peaches, plums, cabbages, melons, and grapes, and strawberries, and fish, and birds, and horses, and oxen, and beasts of prey, and monkeys, and on the topmost branch a young baby just sprouting out, the crown of all, and I should persist in declaring it to be true. If you should deem me a lunatic or a fool, would you be wide of the mark? But this is nothing to the theory of Darwin. Here is this earth covered with all forms of life on the plains, hills, mountains, in the air, and waters, the species even, without number, bearing no resemblance to each other, and yet Mr. Darwin shows us one or more pouch-like little creatures without any head or shells, and says these are the primordial germs out of which all this living creation grew, and then he adds, as another element of his system, that this creation has grown to its present form and order haphazard, as we say without any creative power, and without any guiding intelligence. Is the Bible far from the truth when it says, "The fool hath said in his heart, there is no God?"—C. B. Boynton.

Josh Billings has taken mortal offense at the spelling matches as in open violation of his theory, and calculated to throw discredit upon his system.

Immortality.

Immortality, as glorious as it is endless is the goal toward which the father and mother are bound to point through later life those of whom in the dawn of life Jesus says "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." And if the parent pleads lack of time, or absorption in business, or the inexorable demands of society, or anything else, as a reason for failing in teaching, encouraging, rebuking, inspiring, governing, and, in short, wholly moulding after a Christ-like ideal the little inmates of his dwelling—let him seriously consider whether after all, he has either the time or the right to live in God's world, neglecting what are among his highest, as they ought also to be his sweetest, tasks. The voice of God to him is "Whoso offends one of these little ones which believe, in Me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea."—Christian at Work

Foreign Religious Notes.

Garibaldi is said to have arranged his Tiber matters, and leaves Rome for Velletri, where preparations are being made to give him a hearty reception.

The Pope has resolved to convoke another meeting of the Vatican Council at an early date, to discuss ecclesiastical reforms in general, and particularly the cannonical existence of the regular orders

The Papal Nuncio has formally required the restoration of Catholic unity in Spain, but King Alfonso's Government is said to be firmly resolved to maintain liberty of worship, and has informed the Nuncio of its intention.

The Bible Society of Paris has distributed during the year 1873 10,581 copies of the Scriptures. Its expenditure has been 29,862 frances, or a little more than its receipts. It is about to publish a translation of the Old Testament by Professor Second.

At the late meeting of the London Religious Tract Socity, its chairman said that he owed a great deal to a tract. It was a narrative tract which a relative had placed in a box of novels and sent out to him in the Crimea. He had read the novels through more than once, and was at last compelled to turn to the tract. This, aided by the prayers of many, began a good work in him, which he was persuaded God would perform, until the day of Jesus Christ.

Dr. Mullens, returned from Madagascar, testifies that there, in a spot which had never previously been visited by a missionary, and which was unknown to geographers, he had found Christian Churches, with all the signs of true Christian vitality, which had grown up solely through the reading and study of the Bible by those simple people. A year or two ago Sir Bartle Frere bore similar testimony. Such evidence is of the deepest interest and greatest value and must be taken into account in all discussion with those who reject the Book which we regard the word of God.

A recent telegram from Rome to the Univers announces that the Pope received in one day more than 1,000 French pilgrims. In reply to an address which assured him that France wished to atone for the past by a greater affection, the Pope said: "How can I help counting upon France? It has given me a thousand proofs of love. The more we are threatened, the more it is necessary to show that love by all possible means. Pius V. had armies and fleets which fought against the Mohammedans, and he made pilgrimages; and when Colonna said to him, "Rest, and preserve a life which is precious," Pius refused to rest, and he saw the Turk defeated. We are without armies and fleets. The Governments which reign are deaf to our voice. I myself am a prisoner in this palace, deprived of the consolation of going out to bathe the holy stairs with my tears; but in spirit I am with you."

THE Interior makes the centre shot in defence of the fold: "We presume to say the number of additions to the church from the Sunday school measures with tolerable accuracy the shepherd care of the church over its lambs. A pastor who devotes himself to the audience room and neglects the school-room will presently find himself in the midst of a company of young people who are strangers to him. Or, sadder still, he will find they have strayed altogether beyond his influence. A closer union between church and school, a more practical, organized, and constant care by the officers of the church over the lambs of the flock would result in a steady progress from the school to the church, the class-room to the communion table."

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

R. S. F. Bobbitt, } Editors.
H. P. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
SIX MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JUNE 23, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Just as we go to press we receive the sad intelligence of the death of Rev. W. F. Clegg of the N. C. Conference. He died on the 16th instant at his home in Chatham county. A notice of his death from Bro. Dodson will appear in our next.

The brethren on Hillsboro District will please note this, that Bro. Hendren P. E. in his announcement last week of the time of holding the District Conference at Pittsboro, inadvertently gave the date of its commencement as the 29th of July. It should be the 22d of July, as Bro. Hendren hastens to inform his District. The brethren will take due notice hereof and govern themselves accordingly.

Rev. J. M. Lumly writing to us from Ocrocoke, under date of June 10th, says: "We have just closed a protracted meeting at Ocrocoke where we had a gracious revival of religion. There were over 20 conversions, and 25 accessions to the church. Several backsliders were reclaimed, and the church greatly blessed. May God continue to help and save. To his name be all the glory!

The Guilford county Bible Society held its annual meeting at Greensboro on the 13th inst, in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. W. H. Bobbitt presiding. The reports was gratifying. Over 1200 families were visited by the colporteurs, R. P. Troy and Mr. Ross, and Bibles and Testaments supplied to the destitute. Of the above number only 169 families, half of which were colored, were found without the Scriptures. A collection of over $60 was taken up to defray the expenses of the colporteurs this summer

Rev. A. W. Mangum.

As will be seen in our notice of the proceedings of the Board of the University Trustees, our esteemed brother, Rev A. W. Mangum, now in chargo of Edenton St. Church, has been elected to the chair of Professor in the College of Philosophy at the University. We regret to lose him from the pastoral work but believe that he will find a wide field for the accomplishment of good in the new work to which he is called. The selection is an excellent one and will, we believe, give general satisfaction to the people of our State. We learn that he received every vote cast by the trustees in selecting an occupant for the chair to which he has been appointed, except perhaps, that of one trustee who felt a special obligation to vote for another person.

Trinity College.

Trinity is now prepared in a style in all essential particulars, inferior to nothing, North or South, for the accommodation of two hundred students. The dormitories, lecture rooms and all other matters of accommodation, are of the best character. The College and grounds make a fine appearance, attractive to the eye and pleasant every way.

The old and the new building are under one roof, in the form of a cross, making an edifice 160 feet long, and 90 feet wide at the top of the cross. The whole is finished in the Ionic order. The columns, cornice and gallery are said by judges, to be the best specimen of correct architecture in this State. The new apartments for Natural Science and also for Mathematics, are large, and finished with all necessary arrangements.

We now have a college prepared at all points to educate our sons; equal in appearance to the best, and in the language of the Bishop, "with such solid, growing vitality as to render failure impossible, and success certain."

The next session commences Sept. 2nd, and we understand the entire expense for every thing will be $90 per session. This is remarkably cheap, when we remember that the board is excellent, the rooms well finished and furnished; the Literary Societies splendid in halls and libraries, and a full Faculty with ability and ripe experience.

We are glad to learn from the Piedmont Press that Rev. B. York of Rutherford College, who has been blind for many years, is gradually regaining his sight. He can easily distinguish the form of a man from other objects and can also distinguish colors—though his sight is not strong enough to be of much advantage. Dr. York has been and is a valuable educator, a man of untiring energy and work, and a pious christian. We trust that his sight may be fully restored and his usefulness increased.

Trinity Commencement.

The Commencement this year, from June 5 to 10, was far larger and every way more interesting than on any former occasion. The attendance from nearly all parts of the State, and from many other States, was estimated to be over three thousand, and yet the accommodation was decidedly good.—Visitors were crowded of course, but all were made reasonably comfortable.

The exercises commenced Saturday evening, June 5th, with the following programme:

Declamation by members of the Freshman Class.

1. The Lexington Centennial, by G. W. Wright, of S. C.
2. Passing Away, by J. P. Gibson, of Bennettsville, S. C.
3. Defense of the Press, by M. Bradshaw, of Trinity.
4. Prospect of Affairs in the East, by J. M. Phillips, of Yadkinville.
5. Poetic Elements of Nature, by J. E. Thompson, of Alamance county.
6. Temper and Spirit of the South, by J. P. Everheart, of Texas.
7. Robert E. Lee, by J. E. Field, of Leaksville.
8. Masonry, by J. F Beckwith, of Chatham county.

The declamation was good, showing good taste in selection and neatness of elocution. Messrs Field, Everheart and Beckwith were much applauded.

SUNDAY, June 6th.

The sermon before the Theological Society was preached by Rev. E. A. Yates. The sermon was in every way a fine success, well constructed, rich in thought, ornamented, not too much, with well conceived and happily expressed illustrations, fervent in Christian pathos, and impressive in spiritual power.

MONDAY EVENING, June 7th, had entertainments as follows:

Declamation by members of the Sophomore Class.

1. The Teachings of War, by W. L. Cunninggim, of Beaufort Co.
2. Eulogy upon John Mitchell, by J. H. Small, of Washington.
3. Plundering the South, by W. P. Mercer, of Edgecombe Co.
4. Vindication of the South, by W. C. Barringer, of Greensboro'.
5. Daniel Webster, by A. P. Tyer, of Tennessee.
6. The South not Degenerate, by D. B. Parker, of Sampson Co.
7. Truth, by P. L. Groom, of Rockingham Co.
8. God's glory in the Heavens, by Owen Parker, of Sampson Co.

The speaking of this class was rather marked for high finish. Not much declamation, but real speaking. Every speaker did well, but D. B. Parker elicited high praise, with a general desire to hear him again.

TUESDAY EVENING, June 8th. Oration by members of the Junior Class.

1. Defense of Beauty, by J. W. Coltrane, of Randolph Co.
2. Liberty is real, by J. F. Tanner, of Georgia.
3. A home in North Carolina, by N. E. Coltrane, of Trinity.
4. Supremacy of Thought, by L. S. Gaither, of Tennessee.
5. Poetic elements of the South, by G. S. Bradshaw, of Trinity.
6. Genius, by C. L. Heitman, Lexington.

The orations were strictly original, and were superior productions. N. E. Coltrane and L. S. Gaither obtained unusual favor.

WEDNESDAY, June 9th.

At 11 o'clock, A. M., the Annual Sermon before the graduating class was preached by Bishop Marvin, from 18th Ps. 2 v, "The Lord is my Rock." A verbatim report of the sermon would convey to the reader a very inadequate idea of it. He would find a world of grandest thought, conceptions new and beautiful, rich figures, sentences surpassed by no writer, and scarcely a redundant word in the whole discourse, but he must hear for himself to know the wonderful power of the Bishop. He is truly a prince in Israel. Seldom in a lifetime do we hear such a sermon. At the conclusion of the service, the Bishop raised $4600, since raised to $5.000 to aid in paying off the debt. Then the Chapel was presented by Dr. Craven, and was solemnly dedicated to the service of God by the Bishop. At 8½ o'clock, P. M., the Address to the Alumni was delivered by J. R. Webster, Esq., of Reidsville. The attendance of the Alumni was large, and the address was an elegant, highly finished production, delivered in a felicitous manner, and did great credit to the speaker. After the regular oration, G. B. Everett of Concord, Hon. W. M. Robbins of Statesville, and the Bishop were successively called. Each of the impromptu speakers seemed to be in the mood, and thrilled the audience with delight.

COMMENCEMENT. JUNE 10TH, 1875.

Anthem.

I. Prayer by Rev. W. H. Bobbitt.

Music.

II. Salutatory Oration. Latin.—By Thomas Taylor, Granville County.

III. Distinction Marks. By John Long Brower, Randolph County.

Music.

IV. True Manhood, the Demand of the Age. By Wm. Robert Odell, Greensboro.

V. Higher Statesmanship. By Julius Lucien Holmes, Davidson County.

Music.

VI. Party Spirit By Archibald Donald Brooks, Chatham County.

VII. Every Man in His Place. By Henry Wesley Spinks, Randolph County.

Music.

VIII. The Maximum Point of Culture. By Wyatt Alpha Wilborn, Trinity.

IX. Ideals. By Bascom Headen Palmer, Randolph County.

Music.

X. The Pulpit. By James Manly Rhodes, Wayne Co.

XI. Huzzas. By James Milton Brown, Randolph Co.

Music.

XII. Self Assertion By Benjamin Robinson Hull, Fayetteville.

XIII. Executive Strength. By David Bascom Nicholson, Magnolia.

Music.

XIV. Free Thought. By Marshal Albert Gray, Kinston.

XV. Degrees Conferred.

XVI. Bibles Presented.

XVII. Society Medals. By E. C. Hackney, Columbian. W. D. Turner, Hesperian.

Music.

XX. Valedictory. By Ethelred Jasper Kennedy, Aiken, S. C.

Few Senior Classes have so universally won high commendation, and few have more deserved it Every speech contained so much thought, and was expressed in such good style, that everybody was interested. Such absorbed attention is rarely seen.

After the valedictory, Dr. Craven said he regretted the absence of Dr. Munsey who had promised to be present; but that he had the very best substitute, and was happy to introduce Bishop Marvin. The Bishop then crowded into the space of twenty five minutes, more truth profound in character, brilliant in finish, and eloquent in utterance than we ever heard in the same length of time.

The graduating class, fourteen in number, being all the speakers on the above programme, received the degree of A. B.

A. M. was conferred upon the following Alumni of the College, viz: J A Monroe, of Duplin; H W Norris, Wake; W C Norman, N C Conference; J R Webster, Reidsville; S W Brown, Va.; J T LeGrand, Richmond; A H Stokes, Orange; S Simpson, Pres. Yadkin College; J L Craven, Trinity.

The number of Trustees in attendance was large. W H Pegram, Tutor for the past two years, was elected Professor of Natural Science.

The following are the class honors and distinctions:

SENIOR CLASS.

First Honor: Messrs Brown, Brower, Gray, Holmes, Kennedy, Nicholson, Palmer, Rhodes, Spinks, Taylor, Wellborn.

Second, Messrs Brooks and Hall.

Third, W. R. Odell.

Kennedy received first distinction; Taylor, second, Spinks, third.

JUNIOR CLASS.

First distinction was awarded to Heitman of Lexington; second, to Ivy of Lenoir; third, to Kernodle of Guilford.

SOPHOMORE CLASS.

Groom of Rockingham, first; Cunninggim of Beaufort co. second; Koonce of Onslow, third.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

Thompson of Alamance, first; Mason of Carteret, second; Phillips of Yadkinville, third.

The weather was perfect, and every thing conspired to make the occasion pleasant. The Salisbury Band furnished the music in superb style; there certainly can be no better band in the country.

The party Thursday evening was large and elegant; such a large reunion of young people is worth much for even older folk to see.

THE UNIVERSITY.—The Board of Trustees of the University of N. C. met in this city on last Wednesday, for the purpose of appointing professors to the different schools into which the University has been divided.

A large number of Trustees were present and the sessions of their meeting occupied three days. The University has been divided into six colleges, and the following gentlemen were elected to occupy the chairs.

College of Agriculture: Pro. John Kimberly, of Ashville.

College of Engineering: Ralph H. Graves, Jr., of Hillsboro.

College of Mathematics: Charles Phillips, D.D. of Davidson College.

College of Languages: J. De B. Hooper, of Wilson.

College of Philosophy: Rev. A. W. Mangum, of Raleigh.

College of Natural Science, Rev. A. F. Redd, of Raleigh.

Adjunct Professor in the college of Language: Geo. Winston of Burtie.

The question of the election of a President, or the appointment of a chairman of the Faculty, was discussed at length, but no determination reached. The question was left open until the next meeting of the Board which occurs on the 1st of August next. Much interest is manifested in the revival of the University and clothing it with its old timed prosperity and renown. It is a subject which lies near the heart of all patriotic North Carolinians, while sectarians need not fear that the success of the University will interfere with the progress of their respective denominational colleges

New Berne District Sabbath-School Convention.

The members who expect to attend the convention, will please inform me at the earliest practicable moment, that I may act accordingly in making arrangements for their accommodation.

J. H. WHEELER.

Beaufort, N. C., 17th June, 1875.

Report of Board of Missions.

We have received from the Southern Methodist Publishing House at Nashville, the annual report of the Board of Missions. The Secretaries rejoice with the Church that the Divine favor has rested on our Mission-work. "In those Conferences to which the board made appropriations, at its last meeting, to aid them in their work, there has been a good degree of prosperity; while our foreign work proper is very small. God has blessed the little we have attempted to do." The Secretaries cannot shut their eyes to the fact that the Church has been remiss in its duties toward the support of the Mission work: that there has been too little preaching of the Bible doctrine of Missions; that there has been a lack of information in regard to the facts of Missionary work, lack of prayer for the blessing of God, and lack of system in gathering Missionary funds. They are greatly encouraged however that there is improvement in all these particulars.

From the Treasurer's report, which accompanies the report of the Secretaries, we see that the receipts of the Board from April 25 1874 to May 31 1875 were $56.721.03: expenditures $48.265.47, leaving a balance in the hands of the Treasurer of $8.455.56.

From the North Carolina Conference we note the following items:

Oct. 12, 1874,	by R. P. Howell for China		$1
Dec 11,	"	N. C. Conf. by J. B. McFerrin,	$1.965.50
" 16,	"	N. C. Conf. by J. B. McFerrin,	35.00
Jan. 2, 1875,	R. P. Howell,		10.00
Feb. 8,	"	W S. Chaffin, Buck Horn circuit,	3.82
" 19,	"	J. F. Craven, Randolph circuit,	23.25
Mch. 1,	"	I. T. Wyche, Robeson ct	18.00
" 2,	"	J. F. Craven, Randolph circuit,	7.75
" 10,	"	I T. Wyche, Robeson circuit,	10.00
" 23,	"	Mrs. C. G. Kennedy, Wilmington,	10.00
" 23,	"	A. D. Betts, Ansonville circuit,	7.55
Apl. 2,	"	I T Wyche, Robeson circuit,	10.00
" 17,	"	G W Ivy for R Shields	5 00
" 22,	"	J F Heitman, Winston st.,	15 50
May 10	"	A D Betts, Ansonville circuit,	5.05
" 12,	"	Jos Willson, Kinston station,	22.05
" 12,	"	I T Wyche, Robeson circuit,	10.00
" 14,	"	I T Wyche, Robeson circuit,	8.00
" 24,	"	R S Webb, Alamance circuit,	15.00
" 27,	"	L Shell Mocksville st	30.00

Feeling and Believing.

The Christian Weekly has an excellent article on the subject from which we make the following extract:

'But I do not feel enough.' When, where has it ever been said, 'Feel for Christ, and feeling will find him?' The bridge to be crossed is faith, not feeling. God does not bid you bring to him a certain set of emotions as the reason of his accepting you, nor does he ask you to come full of good works, or to spend weeks and months testing the strength of his bridge by putting one foot on it and then shrinking back. What he requires of you is simply to believe on his only begotten Son Jesus Christ, as one who died for our sins and rose again for our justification.—Christ himself is the eternal rock of our salvation, and trusting in him is the way to be saved.

"In my hand no price I bring.
Simply to thy cross I cling."

This is the very essence of the Gospel. And while God invites you to put your whole trust in Christ and to embrace him as your Redeemer at once, without any delay, he also offers to give you the Holy Spirit to enable you to do so. What more could you desire?

SAD AND SUDDEN DEATH.—Our community was shocked on Monday morning by intelligence of the sudden death of Wm. Mills, Esq., on Sunday evening. He was sitting on the verandah, at the residence of Mrs. Evans, his mother-in-law, engaged in social intercourse with some friends, when he was seized with a severe hemorrhage and, falling forward, died before his friends could convey him to his chamber. Mr. Mills was well and favorably known to the people of our city, having been for many years the efficient and polite assistant in the jewelry establishment of John Palmer Esq. He was formerly of Salisbury. He married Miss Bettie Evans, the daughter of Mrs. Lucy Evans, of this city, whom he leaves with one child to mourn their great bereavement. How true it is that "in the midst of life we are in death!"

Bishop McQuaid said in his Cincinnati speech: "The Catholics are now lying under the platform, and every body else is standing on it. When we get strong enough to get up, what will become of the platform?" Here are two planks of the platform that they are under: "Fourth. We stand by free education, our public school system, the taxation of all for its support, and no division of the school fund. Fifth. Under our republican system of government there should be no connection, direct or indirect, between Church and State, and we oppose all legislation in the interest of any particular sect."

Vanderbilt Announcement.

MANY inquiries are made as to the time of opening, the course of study, the plan of organization, the terms of admission, etc., of Vanderbilt University. The Circular or Announcement is now in press, and a copy can be obtained by addressing the undersigned.

R. A. YOUNG,
Nashville, Tenn. Agent and Secretary.

"Cum Grano"

SOME DOCTORS DO NOT DANCE. SOME EDITORS DO NOT DRINK WINE.

MESSRS EDITORS: You have the largest circulation in the State, and I trust you are doing more than any other paper to create a sound public sentiment in our country.

I desire to thank you publicly for the editorial on Lotteries, a few weeks before good Bro. Mills struck his famous blow. Such a man as J. H. Mills is worth more to the world than secres of such men as I know some editors to be.

Some expressions in sundry papers of our State are calculated to make people believe that most of Doctors attend Balls and most of Editors dance and drink wine. Who tries to work a Ball into a Medical Association? Some body got it up.

"The Society (convened at Wilson) was invited to a Ball—which was universally accepted." Did all the Doctors go? Surely not. I have no idea that the President went. I know many Doctors, who are very far from going. The reporter very dextrously introduced the venerable Dr. Hooper as delivering an address of welcome, and the Rev. Mr. Wood as praying in the Convention &c—and then the invitation to the Ball "was universally accepted."

"Press Ball." A Ball given to the Press Convention in Wilmington. "The Ball was a most perfect success." "The elegance and beauty of the Cape Fear region were gathered at the Opera House on the night of the Ball."

"Wine and Champagne." "Attended the Grand Ball." "Winings and dinings." These and such like are expressions used by sundry editors. There is many an editor in N. C. who does not attend Balls or drink wine. There is much "elegance and beauty" in Wilmington, that did not go to the "Press Ball."

Yours, &c.,

A. D. BETTS.

Ansonville N. C., June, 1875.

DEAR BRO. BOBBITT: You will please say to the lovers of Zion, that the good Lord is still reviving His work on the Dallas Circuit. I began a meeting at Bethesda on last Saturday, and continued until Tuesday night following.

On Saturday night the Lord poured out His spirit upon the people, and the shouting of saints, and crying of penitents, were the result. A number of penitents were at the altar seeking mercy, but no conversions. On Sunday a large congregation assembled in the church early in the morning to hear the word. The house was filled to its utmost capacity. Not more than half the people were able to get in the church. I preached from Isaiah 3rd chap. 10th and 11th verses. I am happy to say the word had its desired effect. At the close of the sermon, I raised by subscription, seventy five dollars for our new church at that place. A short recess, and then preaching again, by your humble servant. Text Ecclesiastes 9th chap. 10th verse. The congregation felt the power of God's word. I never saw better attention. We then dismissed, stating that there would be services at night.

Sabbath night—large congregation—house filled, and great seriousness manifested At the close of the sermon I called for penitents, and a great many came to the altar for prayer. The result of this night's service was 1 conversion, and 5 accessions to the church.

Monday night—a number of penitents at the altar—10 conversions, and 5 accessions to the church.

Tuesday night—church full—several penitents—3 conversions, and 7 accessions In all 17 accessions to our church, and 14 conversions. The Lord be praised! The meeting ought to have continued, but having no ministerial help, I was compelled to bring it to a close. We still look for revivals at other points on this circuit. The Lord grant that we may have them. Our lay and official brethren worked faithfully. They aided greatly with their songs and prayers. Our Presbyterian brethren seemed to take great interest.

Oh how kind they are to me! I wish to say that my congregations are very large at every appointment. At several points they are increasing. Dear Brethren pray for me.

P. F. W. STAMEY.

Dallas N. C., June 10th, 1875.

The District Conference for the Raleigh District will be held at Oxford, N. C., commencing July 22nd, 1875. Rev. J. E. Thompson will preach the introductory sermon.—Ministerial and lay brethren from other Districts are cordially invited to attend, and it is confidently expected that all on the Raleigh District will be present.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.

North Carolina Behind.

"Our Missionary" for June reports collections for Foreign Missions in last month $3.239.02. Only 60.60 from our Conference, and that from 4 pastoral charges. Robeson reports every month. S. C. Conference sent up $185.00 in last month. "Go or send!"

Yours, &c.,

June 1875. A. D. BETTS.

We have received an interesting Nashville (Tenn.) letter from Rev. R. S. Webb, who recently took a vacation of three weeks, and heard and saw many interesting things at our Southern Headquarters. The letter will appear next week.

Bishop's Fund.

Warrenton,	$15 00
Warren,	25 00
Roanoke,	30 00
Tarboro,	25 00
Williamston,	25 00
Plymouth and Jamesville,	15 00
Columbia,	15 00
Bath,	15 00
Mattamuskeet,	25 00
Washington and Greenville,	20 00

WIDOW'S AND ORPHAN'S AND SUPERANNUATED PREACHER'S FUND.

Warrenton,	$ 35 00
Warren,	100 00
Roanoke,	125 00
Tarboro,	50 00
Williamston,	40 00
Plymouth & Jamesville,	40 00
Columbia,	30 00
Bath,	25 00
Mattamuskeet,	55 00
Washington & Greenville,	50 00
Portsmouth and Ocracoke,	10 00
Hatteras,	10 00

FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

Washington and Greenville,	$40 00
Warrenton,	25 00
Warren,	80 00
Roanoke,	100 00
Tarboro,	40 00
Williamston,	30 00
Plymouth and Jamesville.	25 00
Columbia,	20 00
Bath,	20 00
Mattamuskeet,	50 00

FOR DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

Washington and Greenville,	$25 00
Warrenton,	15 00
Warren,	50 00
Roanoke,	65 00
Tarboro,	25 00
Williamston,	20 00
Plymouth and Jamesville,	15 00
Columbia	10 00
Bath,	10 00
Mattamuskeet,	25 00

The above are the assessments made by the District Stewards of the Washington District.

WM. CLOSS, P. E.

Character.

What is character? It is the moral mark by which we distinguish one man from another. A man's character lies within him. It is true, his reputation may, may does, depend upon public opinion, but the formation of his character, depends upon himself.

Youth, therefore, is the proper period for the formation of one's character. Maturity simply perfects and adds to it that stability, with which, if it be a good character that he has formed, he cannot but command a good reputation; whereas, a man may possess a good reputation, when, in reality, he has a bad character; or, in other words, our character is our moral standard, our reputation the world's. As it is principally our morality that affects both the hereafter of ourselves and that of our fellow-beings, too much care cannot be bestowed upon the formation of so important an essential.

Without a wholesome morality, knowledge availeth naught; but, guided and directed by it, knowledge is effectual in the promotion of the general good and welfare of mankind

It has been said, I believe by Macaulay, that "the difference between one man and another is not so great as the superstitious crowd supposes," there may not be, between the mere men themselves, but that there is a difference, and that a great difference, between the character of one man and another, is indisputable.

The influence of each is totally different, particularly if the one be good and the other bad, for, the bad character serves for a bad incentive, whilst the good serves for a good one. Parents cannot too deeply impress this fact upon the minds of their children, and not only impress upon them its importance, but assist them in the formation of their characters. For this, their aid is of an incalculable kind. Parents can remedy that in their children which they failed to discover, until too late an hour, in themselves; thus would they be adding to the impetus of the world's progression in its broadest sense, for much, in fact, all, depends on our children, the rising generation.

Then boys—and not only boys, but girls—remember that, as the successes of almost every enterprise depends on the degree to which those engaged upon it tax their powers, so the successful formation of a good character depends upon the degree or the amount of exertion to which those forming it tax their powers and energies; and he who exerts himself the strongest, he it is who will eventually possess the best character, and it is of a surety well worth the striving; for, as Tom Paine truthfully remarks, "our reputation is what men and women think of us; our character what God and the angels know of us."

H. J. G.

MESSRS EDITORS: It was my privilege to attend the closing exercises of the Carolina High School, near Ormand's Chapel in the county of Greene; and which was under the conduct of brother J. S. Midyett and his accomplished wife.

The compositions read by Messrs Corrinnle Patrick, Mary Hardy, and Ida and Mittie Edwards evinced good culture and good taste.

The select readings by the younger girls were well performed; while the speeches of the younger gentlemen, Yancy Ormand, Grandison Edwards, Joseph McLawhorne, Willie Ormand, John C. Edwards, and H. Clay Edwards, were well delivered and gave evidence of some careful preparation, and good scholarship for their years.

The Music under the conduct of Mrs. Midyett was delicious and entertaining.

We regret that brother and sister Midyett have parted company with our school, and our people; and we bespeak for them a warm reception at Kinston, to which place they have gone to prosecute their noble calling.

SIZE AND HEAT OF THE SUN.

The diameter of the sun is 853,830 miles. A train which travels the earth's circumference in a month, would require nine years to do so on the sun. Let a cannon ball represent the earth and it will take one million four hundred thousand such balls to represent the sun, but it would require only three hundred thousand earths to equal the sun in weight. This gives him an excess of mass over all the known planets of the system taken together of 674 times, and therefore he is the great controling centre of every attendant world.

The intensity of the solar light can not be adequately grasped. One hundred and forty-six balls of lime as large as the sun, intensely luminous as the lime light, would only equal his brilliance, while a calculation of his heat as represented by terrestrial combustion, in a given time, may be computed, but can not be understood. Of the intense activities thus begotton this earth, despite the enormous energies which animate it, receives but the two hundred and twenty-seven millionth part.

Standard.

LET infidels and skeptics talk about the "gloom of Christianity" as they may and do; it only shows their ignorance of its great underlying principles, and of the philosophy of its adaptation to the needs of the soul. They have failed to learn from the experience of millions that faith is a reality; that the anticipation of a future and blessed immortality is not the mere day-dream of a delusive hope. What the world was before Christianity came, a dreary waste of human passion, it would become again if those who would overthrow it could have their way. We hold the infidel who would take away the world's hope, based upon Christianity, as the greatest foe to the happiness of the human race.

CORRUPT COMPANIONS.—Those who willingly associate with the sinful are like men strolling with some trivial object through a district infested with fever, heedless of the invisible arrows of disease spreading through the air; or they may be compared to a river, which is a sweet and pretty river near its source; but in the great city it has kept company with the drains and sewers, under the belief that its current was too powerful and pure to be injured by them. It was meant that the river should purify the sewers; but, instead of that, the sewers have corrupted the river.

MESSRS EDITORS: Our neighborhood was visited on the 12th inst., by the most terrible hail storm that has ever been witnessed in this county. The hail commenced 1½ miles below Allenton's Ferry on the Pee Dee River. The hail storm seemed to pass down the river to the mouth of Rocky River where the two rivers run together, covering a belt of country about one mile and a half wide on the west side of said river. I do not know to what extent it reached on the east side of the river. In the fork of those two rivers is the most fertile portion of Stanly county. There are several thousand acres of the finest grade of bottom lands, also fine cotton uplands. The wheat crop and oats crop that was not cut is entirely destroyed, also the corn-cotton, and watermellon crops I think are entirely ruined. The timber is almost entirely stripped of leaves; I think the pine timber is probably ruined, and will die—a great deal of it. Providentially their were no lives lost that I have heard of. It seemed to so happen that no person was caught in it. The hail fell in perfect torrents from the size of a man's fist down to the size of a musket ball. There seemed to be no small hail at all, killing chickens and birds, and destroying gardens, splitting the shingles, and destroying all the window lights on the north side of the house.

The principal sufferers are S.K. Colson, Jacob Shankle, B. F. Ivy, Miss Nannie Watkins, C. R. Watkins, J. W. Smith, T. A. Lowder, J. M. Palmer, R. M. Wall, E. Almond and George S. Dunlop. A great many others have lost their entire crops but they are tenants of both white and black. A great many have lost their entire wheat crop, and their corn crop. Their old corn is about all used up and they will be hard run to get along. I have seen several of the neighbors this morning. They seem to think that the picture is a great deal worse than I have represented it and think that our brother readers ought to hear of our suffering circumstances. I am informed that the terrible storm continued down the Pee Dee through the lower part of Montgomery and Richmond destroying almost every thing in the way of crops and vegetation as it went.

Messrs. Editors. I drop you these lines that you may know our suffering circumstances and publish it in your paper, if you think it worth the attention of your readers and it suits your convenience.

T. A. LOWDER.

June 14, 1875.

Personal.

We had the pleasure of a visit from Col. Walter L. Steele, of Rockingham, who was in the city last week in attendance upon the meeting of the Board of Trustees. He is a gentleman of talent and culture and is enthusiastic in his devotion to the interests of the University.

Col R. L. Patterson, of Salem, was in the city last week with his excellent and accomplished lady, both of whom we had the pleasure of meeting. Col. Patterson is Mayor of Salem, and a member of the Board of Trustees of the University. His cultivated intellect and manners give him prominence and influence in any assemblage of men.

A negro was killed last week in Wilmington. One Burgess and a comrade are charged with the crime.

A rod or two of the iron roof of the Benbow House, in Greensboro', was torn off by the wind last week.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The Daily Eagle, Charlotte, has ceased to exist.

The Grangers of Alamance county purpose having a pic-nic on the 6th of July.

Dr. J. J. Mott, who has been quite ill at his home in Statesville, is recovering.

A Charlotte young lady has a Texas horned frog.

A horse and mule were killed by lightning, near Greensboro, last week.

The whooping cough prevails in Rowan county.

Scarlet fever is prevailing in parts of Wilson county.

Corn is selling in New Berne at 75 cents.

Mad dogs have made their appearance in Charlotte.

At Statesville a female prisoner scrambled under and got out of the guard house.

The assessors on Monday last reported the value of the real estate of Tarboro to be $510,000.

The dwelling and furniture of Mr. Mitchell Hill, in Jackson county, were recently burned.

Sheriff A. A. Wiseman, of Mitchell county, was recently thrown from his horse and very painfully injured.

The Greensboro Daily Register will appear about the 1st of July. Mr. B. D. Sinclair is to be its editor.

A Wilson county man proposes to be one of ten persons to subscribe $500 each towards the University fund.

Rev. Jacob Sheek, of Davie county, a local preacher, is eighty years old and regularly walks 4 miles and preaches.

In a voting population of 5,000, the colored people of Edgecombe have a majority of 2,000.

Rev. L. A. Bikle has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Lutheran Church in Concord.

The cotton crop is two weeks later than usual in Northampton county.

St. John's Day will be celebrated by the Masons of Granville county at the Orphan Asylum in Oxford. Several good speakers will be in attendance.

Julius P. Alexander, Esq., recently sold some land within two and a half miles of Charlotte, at forty-two dollars an acre.

Wilmington sent to foreign ports on Tuesday, 1928 casks spirits of Turpentine, 5,031 barrels rosin, 386,000 feet of lumber, 226,000 shingles, and 2,050 railroad ties.

The Danville News and the Charlotte (N. C.) Tobacco Leaf have consolidated, and the latter will consequently change its stand point and hereafter be issued daily from Danville in connection with the former.

Several days ago the body of a man was found in South River, near Baker's Bridge, in Sampson county. The Jury of inquest were unable to decide how the deceased came to his death, but thought that he had probably been murdered.

The person reported as having been run over on the Carolina Central Road, a short time since, was Edward Wilkinson, of Robeson county. He was engaged in selling books, and is supposed to have fallen asleep on the track.

A new mail route has at last been established from Monroe to Olive Branch, Union county, with Postoffices at Col. J. Trull's, Josiah Hamilton's and G. S. Hamilton's. The new offices will be opened on the first of July. This route will supply a portion of Union county that has been entirely destitute heretofore of mail facilities.

Newton correspondence Hickory Press: Not long since a gentleman of our town went to see Mr. John Barnes, said to be the oldest man in N. C. He says he is one hundred and twenty years of age. He is quite blind and very helpless though he still hears tolerably well. He has a heavy head of hair. He seems almost anxious to die and wonders why the Almighty permits him to live so long. Our informant says Mr. Barnes is still a fine looking man.

Asheville Pioneer: When William H. Hall, who is now under sentence of death for the murder of his father-in-law, John Gillespie, was informed of the death of Mr. N. W. Woodfin, he was affected to tears, and remarked to those around him: "There is no hope for me now; my best friend is gone." It is even so. Mr. Woodfin, as the senior member of the law firm employed by the prisoner, labored unceasingly for his client, and the immediate cause of his death is attributed to the mental and physical work he performed during the trial, and the exposure incident thereto.

Elijah Gibson was killed by his son at Laurel Hill, Richmond co., N. C. The Wilmington STAR states that Gibson, senior, was a dissipated character, and on Thursday came home in an intoxicated condition He beat one of his daughters in a fearful manner. The son was sent for to restrain the father's cruelty and was attacked by his father with a drawn knife. The son retreated, threw down a gun that he had in his hand and attempted to keep off his father by a rake which he picked up. A blow from the rake upon the head of Gibson, senior, caused his immediate death. The affair is much regretted.

The address of J. R. Webster, of the Reidsville News, before the Alumni of Trinity, at the commencement, is highly complimented.

There is a rumor that the management of the R. & D. R. R. may lease the Atlantic road and establish a line of steamers from Morehead to New York.

Mr. J. A. Robinson, associate Editor of the Torch-Light was married in Oxford recently, to Miss Nellie W. Paschall, daughter of Dr. Z. M. Paschall, of Granville county.

The farmers about Raleigh are hiring hands out of the penitentiary, paying the State sixty cents a day for them.

The Commencement exercises of Peace Institute will take place on Wednesday, the 30th June. The Rev. M. D. Hoge, D. D., of Richmond, Va., will deliver the annual address.

A little son of Mrs. Thacker in Greensboro', was accidentally shot while handling a loaded pistol. The wound was not a serious one.

A musical entertainment will be given at an early day in Greensboro' to aid in purchasing an organ for the Branch Orphan Asylum at Mar's Hill. It would take many dollars, more than Greensboro' has, to equal the gift she has already made to the Branch Asylum at Mar's Hill. (This remark is from a married man).

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.—TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the travelling and local preachers in the bounds of the Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In remitting money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of a registered letter or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount to be remitted. If money is sent otherwise than as directed it will be at the sender's risk.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We failed last week to direct attention to the advertisement of Bingham School. Even as Saul outmeasured by a head the men of his race, so does Bingham School overtop all other preparatory schools.

The advertisement of the Cary Cotton Gin, W. M. Sorrell, Esq., Manufacturer, will be found in our advertising columns. We have seen a list of testimonials from prominent persons who have used the gin, and who all announce it a success in every particular.

Rev. S. R. Trawick, our esteemed brother formerly of Raleigh, now at Shelby, advertises his Seminary at the same place. Bro. Trawick is an educator of long experience and the Shelby people are delighted with him and his lady and their school.

We direct attention to the important notice from the city authorities in regard to an election to be held next month.

We invite attention to the card of Wynne Yancey & Co., giving notice of the dissolution of copartnership. Geo. W. Wynne, Esq., continues the livery business at the old stand. Mr. Wynne is a clever gentleman and we commend him to our readers. He justly has the reputation of fair dealings with his customers.

General News.

Gen. Duff Green, in former years a member of Congress from Washington, died a few days since at his residence in Dalton, Ga.

Hopewood and Pierrepont are the only members of the cabinet in Washington, the latter being off on Summer trips.

The 9th cavalry, which has been for the past four years on duty in New Mexico, has been ordered to relieve the 9th regiment in Texas.

Bishop Haven, of Georgia, has been selected as one of the Commissioners to treat with the Sioux Indians for the Black Hills.

Terrible earthquakes have taken place in Central and South America, and a fearful loss of life and property is reported.

An excursion from Greensboro to New York is on the tapis.

Marriages.

In Chatham co. on the 15th inst., by Rev. R. G. Bason, Dr. W. W. Lineham and Miss Jane C. Bason.

In Moore co. at the residence of D. Dowd, on the 15th inst., by Rev. Jacob Sheek, Mr. Alexander Dowd to Miss Mary Call.

In Moore co. at the residence of Wm. Sanders, on the 15th inst., by Rev. M. Call and Miss Sarah Sanders.

In Moore co. at the residence of I. W. Eden, 6th May, by Rev. H. Slee, A. B. Taylor and Miss C. Eden.

In Moore co. at the residence of J. Sneed on the 16th inst., by Rev. J. Phillips, James to Miss Laura V. Hall.

In Moore co. at the residence of J. Smith, by Rev. A. Wilson, Mr. Alfred E. Small and Miss Sarah E. Smith.

Deaths.

Obituaries of twenty lines are inserted free of charge. Those over twenty lines in length will be charged for at the rate of 5 cents per line. Count the lines and send the money with the notice. In this way you always know the amount to enclose in letters of respect are subject to the same rule.

Died at the residence of Wm. Sanders, in Moore county, N. C., May 16th, 1875, Mrs. Mary C. Gillespie wife of Mr. Wm. A. Gillespie was born Feb. 3rd 1835, and died near Gowan's Ford, Mecklenburg co. N. C. Oct. 14, 1874.

Mrs. Gillespie changed herself with the age of 20, about the year 1855, from that time until the day of her death she lived a consistent christian life, adorning in all things the doctrine of God our Saviour. She possessed the "ornament of a meek and quiet spirit," and the affections of her husband did safely trust in her. Her many christian virtues, that of wife, mother, friend, neighbor, shone beautified and adorned with much lustre, in his providence, which led to his providence, which led to the exercise of those graces of mind and heart will be cherished by those who have been favored to know her, was to love her. Her sickness was severe and protracted, but she bowed as seeing him who is invisible.

She has left a bereaved husband, five children and many friends to mourn their loss, but their loss is heaven's gain. May we be happy as out of them all, when the days of their pilgrimage are accomplished meet her on the glorified shore.

Thos. A. Coon.

Mr. Frank Petty died at his home near Yorkville on Thursday morning, May 6th 1875. He was only a short time suffering, no tongue can express, ascribing it all to a mysterious but merciful and unerring Providence.

His agony was made the more intense by confinement in one position, being as he was a man of very active habit, and nervous temperament.

He had the treatment of two experienced physicians, Dr. Hackett and Dr Galloway, and tender hands gently nursed him with some hope that he would recover but what human efforts, though they alleviated his pains proved unavailing in the end, the angel of death was triumphant, and he fell asleep.

On the evening previous to his death he appeared to be much better, conversed cheerfully with friends, and read some in his Bible and his newspaper; but about 2 o'clock in the night he commenced growing worse, had the family called up against early dawn, and it was soon seen that the hour of his departure was at hand. A few minutes before the spirit took its flight, the fever was very high and he had difficulty in breathing. That was succeeded by a chill which terminated in death. As one falls asleep, so he breathed his last.

He leaves nine children to mourn his loss, three of whom were living with him; may the Father of the fatherless, comfort them in their great bereavement.

J. C. Smith.

At a regular communication of Prospect Lodge No. 311 held May 15th, A. L. 5875, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted.

Whereas, God in his inscrutable providence, has seen fit to dissolve by death the relation existing between surviving members of this Lodge and Echix D. Underhill, who was called from labor A. of 25, A. L. 5875.

Therefore, Resolved That, while we greatly deplore the early removal of one whose attachment to the principles of Masonry, and whose devotion to the cause of truth in general, gave promise of much happiness and usefulness in the future, we regard the Dispensation of Providence by which he was called hence, as a stroke of mercy, kiss the rod that smites, and bow in humble submission to the will of God.

Resolved, That we cover with the mantle of charity whatever defects may have been discoverable in the life and character of our deceased brother, and endeavor to imitate his virtues.

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Underhill the Masonic Fraternity has lost a worthy member, and the community in which he lived a kind friend and neighbor.

Resolved, That we tender to the bereaved wife and departed brother, our deepest sympathies, and that we commend his orphan child to the gracious care and protection of him who is a "father of the fatherless."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished the wife of our deceased brother, and that copies be sent to the Salisbury Watchman and Raleigh Christian Advocate with request to publish.

Thos. A. Coon,
J. F. McLean,
J. H. C. Sherrod } Com

Letters and Funds

A Graham, S Gattis paper continued. Rev S D Peeler for A J S Elliott 2 20, A R Anders, Rev J W Wheeler for Jno S anton 2 20, Rev J S Erwin for T C McGibsey 2 20, T H Hollyburton 1 00, other papers continued. Rev W P Ricaud paper continued Rev E Howland for postage 20 cents paper continued. Rev W H Watkins for M A J Russell 2 20, C G Montgomery sell 2 20 A J K Rhodes sell 2 20, Rev B B Culbreth for S S Shepard 2 20, Uriah Ingram 2 20, J A Avett 2 20 H L Taylor 2 20, Miss L. Lawson 2 20, Rev W M Robey for Mr. Prof R J R 2. Rev W S Black for A Owen 2 20, T B Ellis 2 20, Rev C M Pepper for J M Thornton 2 20, Rev W C Norman for Miss A Meadows 2 20, Mrs M L Harrison 1 00 Jabez H Leach sell 2 20 Rev J R Brooks for subscribers 13 20, Rev E W Thompson for Mrs J H Hall 2 20 Rev L E Story for Dr B F Foy 2 20, J W Moore 2 20, F Harris 2 20, Rev P F W Stamey, G F Bowen A Co J C Smith 25 cents, J Smith, S E Allen, Rev R H Skewes, D G Harris, Rev J J Carden papers sent. Rev J B Alford paper sent Rev Joseph Wheeler, Thos N Steele, J C White sell 2 20, J W Howard, W M Sorrell, Col Walter A Steele sell 2 20, D P Stoudman sell 2.

(Balance of Letters and Funds next week.)

Geize's School for the Parlor Organ—The acknowledged instructor—has attained a remarkable popularity from its inherent merit. Teachers everywhere are using and recommending the work. Sent by mail for $2.50, by book and music stores. Lee & Walker, publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

Appointments.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND.

Jones, Cypress Creek,	July	3- 4
Kinston, Monday,	"	- 5
Beaufort S School Convention,	"	8-11
Carteret, Morehead city, F. night,	"	-16
Wayne, Thompson's,	"	17-18
Newbern,	"	24-25
Straits, Wednesday,	"	-28
Lenoir, Woodington,	July 31 &	Aug. 1
Snow Hill, Bethel,	Aug.	7- 8
Quarterly, Indian Springs, Friday,	"	13
Goldsboro,	"	14-15
Nease & S. Creek, Upper S Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. Yates, P. E.
Beaufort N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Warrenton,	June	19-20
Roanoke, at New Hope,	"	23-27
Tarboro, at Noble's	July	3- 4
Williamston at Palmegra.	"	10-11
Washington and Greenville, at Shady Grove,	"	17-18
Plymouth & Jamesville at Jamesville	"	24-25
Cape Hatteras, at Chickacomicko	"	31 and August 1st.
Upper Kinston,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15
Portsmouth,	" 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22
Columbia at Gums Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4- 5
Warren,	"	11-12

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND.

Hillsboro sta	June	26- 27
Alamance ct. Univers Garden,	July	3- 4
C. Hill & H. River, Cedar Grove,	"	10-11
Durham, Orange Church,	"	17-18
Pittsboro, District Conference,	"	24-25
Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7- 8
Leasburg, Union,	"	14-15
Yanceyville, New Hope,	"	21-22
Flat River,	"	28 29

Our District Conference will be held at Pittsboro, commencing Thursday the 22d of July. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. J. Renn. We cordially invite brethren from other districts to be with us. We, certainly, expect one or both the Editors to be with us.

L. L. Hendren, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

Temperance please copy.

A. W. S.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND—IN PART.

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	July	3- 4
Pee Dee, Zion,	"	10-11
Rockingham Mt. Pleasant,	"	17 18

S. D. Adams, P. E.
Carthage, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND IN PART.

North Guilford, at center,	June	5- 6
Thomasville, High Point and	"	12-13
Trinity College, at Thomasville,	"	12-13
Wentworth at Wentworth,	"	19-20
Winston,	"	26-27
Greensboro,	July	3- 4

N. H. D. Wilson, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
THIRD ROUND IN PART.

Statesville station,	June	19-20
Salisbury,	"	26-27
Mooresville ct. Mt Zion,	July	3- 4
Mocksville ct Concord,	"	10-11
Yadkinville ct. Zion Chapel.	"	17-18
Surry ct. Rockford,	"	24-25
Mt. Airy station,	July 31 August	1

The District Conference will be held at Mt. Airy, commencing on Wednesday night July 28th, Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren out of the District are invited to attend.

The preachers on the District are hereby notified to send to Rev. S. a. Davis, at Mt. Airy, the names of all their delegates and local preachers, and also state the probable number of horses that will be carried up. Attention to this request is absolutely necessary in order to prevent confusion.

D. R. Burton, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Pleasant Grove ct at Bethlehem,	June	12-13
Monroe Sta.	"	-17
Monroe ct at Liberty Chapel.	"	19-20
South Charlotte at Mill Grove,	"	26-27
Wadesboro sta.	July	- 2
Lilesville ct at Shiloh.	"	3- 4
Pineville ct at Hebron.	"	10-11
Wadesboro ct at Bethel	"	17-18
Concord sta. and Concord ct.	"	24-25
Tryon st. and Calvary Miss	Aug	1- 2
Mt. Pleasant, Albemarle and Stanley	"	7- 8
Ansonville, ct	"	14 15
	"	21 22

J. S. Nelson, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT
3RD ROUND.

Kenansville at Charity Chapel,	June	20 21
Wilmington, 5th St.,	"	27-28
Clinton at Goshen.	July	18-19
Cokesbury at Bethel,	"	25 26
Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. }	at Center,	" 15-16
Topsail	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville.	"	12-13

W. S. Black, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND, IN PART.

Cherry Mountain, Hopewell,	June	19 20
Shelby ct. Sulphur Springs,	"	26 27
Dallas, Sander's Chapel,	July	3- 4
Rutherford, Pleasant Grove,	"	10 11
Lincoln Ebenezer.	"	17-18
Shelby District Conference,	"	22-25

L. S. Burkhead, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND, Q. M.

Granville at Bullocks,	June	5- 6
Raleigh at Person st.	"	12-13
Louisburg station,	"	19-20
Raleigh at Edenton st.	"	26-27
Tar River at Trinity,	July	3- 4
Henderson at Zion,	"	10-11
Robesville at Oaky Grove,	"	17-18
District Conference at Oxford, inclusive.	"	22-25
Nashville and Rocky Mount,	August	7- 8
Gary,	"	14-15
Smithfield,	"	21-22
Youngsville,	"	28-29

The introductory sermon at the District Conference will be preached by Rev. J. E. Thompson.

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Oxford on Saturday July 24th.

J. P. Moore, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C.

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of Christian Advocate, June 22, 1875.

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm and dull.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light Low middling 11 1-4

General Market.

BAGGING, Domestic 2¼ @ yd. 13 -12@14.
COTTON TIES, 7s8.
FLOUR, North Carolina $7.50 @
CORN by @1 10
CORN MEAL—$1.00
BACON, N. C. sog round, 18.
" hams 14 1-2
HULK C. R. sides, 13 1-2
" shoulders, 11 1-2
LARD, North Carolina, none
" Western tierces, 11 1-2@
" " kegs, 12 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 20 1-2
" Fair Rio, 22 1-2.
SYRUP, common, 45.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.20.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on hand for 10d, $4.00.
SUGAR A, 11 1-2.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 8@10 1-2.
LEATHER, sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@8.
" dry, 14 1-2
TALLOW, 10@8
POTATOES, sweet nice, Irish, $1.@@1.25.
OATS, shelled, 85. @90
" sheaf, $1.25.
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N. C. baled, good, $1.25. 1.50
CHICKENS, grown, 25 @30
EGGS, 12 1-2@12 1-2
BUTTER country, 22 1-2@25.
FISH, Mackerel, $12.50.
" Cut Herrings, none.
" Mackerel, new family, $12.50
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 2@3
BEEF, on foot, 4@3.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

By virtue of an ordinance of the Board of Aldermen passed Jan 14, there will be an election held on JULY 15TH, 1875, to determine whether the Board of Aldermen shall have authority to issue ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR OF THE CITY BONDS. Those oppo...ving the said issue of bonds shall vote "Opposed"; those opposing "Not Approved." The said bonds will not be sold or in any manner used to increase the city debt, but shall be used to fund the present indebtedness of the city. The polls will be opened at the polling places used in the late election.

The Books of Registration for all the wards will be found at the Mayor's office, and those not already registered can have an opportunity of registering

By order of

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

June 23 1-d

ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained, That the question of issuing $100 000 in bonds of the city of Raleigh, payable ... said in twenty years [illegible] and one half in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum payable semi annually, be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the city on the 15th day of July next. Those approving the said issue of bonds shall deposit a ballot with the word "approved," and those opposing, a ballot with the words "not approved."

Be it further ordained, That the said bonds shall be of the denominations of one hundred, five hundred and one thousand dollars, with coupons which shall be receivable in payment of taxes and debts due to the city, they shall be signed by the Mayor and Clerk, and countersigned by Chief Treasurer and Auditor, and when perfected shall be deposited with the Treasurer. They shall not be sold or in any manner used to increase the debt of the city, but shall be loaned to the holders of such of the past due bonds, coupons and city orders or scrip, as shall be approved by the Board of Aldermen and the Auditor, in lieu of the same; and the said bonds, coupons and scrip shall be delivered to, the Treasurer for cancellation.

Be it further ordained, That to carry into effect the provisions of this ordinance the polls be opened at the polling places used in the late municipal election, on the said 15th day of July 1875, under the same restrictions as were applicable to the late election for Aldermen; provided, that all returns of the result of the said election shall be made to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, and that the Chief of Police shall preserve order at the polls.

Be it further ordained, That George H. Williams, Clerk, be instructed to procure the Books of Registration used in the late election, and that he act as Registrar to revise said books and to receive the names of all persons entitled to registration in the city, not appearing thereon.

Be it further ordained, That notice of the election be published in one or more of the city papers and that notice be also given by posters, and that the Board of Aldermen publish an address to the electors of the city giving their reasons for asking an approval of the issue of bonds.

June 23-1t.

SHELBY SEMINARY.

SHELBY, N. C.

REV. S. R. TRAWICK, A. M. PRINCIPAL.
Mrs. R. Y. Trawick, Music and Ornamentals,
Miss Janie G. Dobbin, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 22 WEEKS.

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic,	15 00
Latin, Greek and French each,	5 00
Incidental fee each	1.00
Music on piano-forte,	20.00
Use of instrument	3.00

Board in the school with the principal, per term $60.00

The next term will begin July 12th. For circular address the principal. The low rates, the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.

June 23 2w.

AGENTS WANTED FOR PATHWAYS OF
THE HOLY LAND

Being a Full Description of Palestine, its History Antiquities, Inhabitants and Customs, according to the great Discoveries recently made by the Palestine Exploring Expeditions. Just out. Sells at sight. Send for our extra terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book.

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia Pa.

June 23 2.t

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO'S BELLS.

Fine toned, low priced, warranted against breakage. Catalogues containing full particulars, prices, etc., sent free.

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO., Cincinnati, O.

June 23-1y. e o w.

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

GEO. W. WYNNE,
T. B. YANCEY,
J. W. LEE.

Raleigh, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest an assuming the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payment.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-1f GEO. W. WYNNE

Books of Bound Music.

Containing the Creme de la Creme of all Vocal and Instrumental Music

PAGES FULL SHEET MUSIC SIZE!

Price of each book in Boards $2.50; in Cloth, $3: Gilt, $4.

Gems of German Song, 216 pages	Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Gems of Sacred Song, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Wreath of Gems, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Gems of Strauss, 256 pages.	Instrumental.
Operatic Pearls, 240 pages.	Vocal Duets
Shower of Pearls, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Silver Chord, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Home Circle, Vol. I. 216 pages.	Instrumental.
Home Circle, Vol. II. 256 pages.	Instrumental.
Piano at Home, 250 pages.	Piano Duets.
Musical Treasure, 225 pages.	Vocal & Inst.
Pianoforte Gems, 220 pages.	Instrumental.
Pianists Album, 224 pages.	Instrumental.
Organ at Home, 240 pieces.	For Reed Organs.

The above books are uniform in style and binding, are wonderfully cheap for the contents, are sold by all principal music dealers, and will be sent to any address for retail prices.

All books sent post-paid, for Retail Price

OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & Co.
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.

June 23 tf

Bingham School.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

The 163rd session will begin 28th July, '75, in new buildings in all respects equal, and in some important respects superior, to any others in the State.

June 16-4m.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

Forestall Summer Fevers and all the complaints generated by excessive heat, by keeping the blood cool and the bowels free with at once a most refreshing draught and the best of all regulating medicines.

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient,

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

June 16-2t

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf.

GREAT BARGAINS

AT

W. H. & R. S. Tucker.

JUST ARRIVED!

A full assortment of Ladies' Corsets, French-woven and American, from 50 cents to $2.50.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

ANOTHER CASE OF THOSE

Extraordinary low priced Striped Piques at 10 cents.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

LINEN LAWNS! LINEN LAWNS!

We have this day received a beautiful lot of Linen Lawns, which we are selling at 15¾ cents. No remnants.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

TO ARRIVE PER EXPRESS!

The fashionable and much sought after Mackinaw Straw Hats for gentlemen.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER

WE ARE DAILY IN RECEIPT OF

Goods in all the lines of our business, which always enables us to have fresh goods and low cash prices to offer our customers, which accounts for the patronage a liberal public has bestowed on us.

June 9-tf. W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

BARGAINS.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Just received 3,000 yards Pacific Lawns at A. CREECH'S in short lengths at 12 1-2 cents per yard.

A Great Job,

These lawns are new and good styles, and are worth 20 cents per yard everywhere. See the customers daily going to CREECH'S to buy goods. They are sensible to the last.

LOOK AT THE PRICES!

Just arrived 3,000 yards 4-4 Bleached domestics at 10 and 12 cents per yard.

A. CREECH.

IN TIME AGAIN.

Just received, 10 pcs. Imperial White Straw Matting at 30 cts, 10 pc's Checked Matting at 35 cents.

A. CREECH.

DUNSTON & VALENTINE,

Fashionable Barbers,

Under the Raleigh National Bank. LIGHT HAND ROAD as you enter the basement, and the neatest shop in the city.

N. O. Dunston, C. H. Dunston. J. P. Valentine

June 9-tf.

THE WILMINGTON

EYE AND EAR INSTITUTE,

WILMINGTON, N. C.

THIS INSTITUTE HAS BEEN IN SUCCESSFUL operation for the past year, and being the pioneer and only one South of Baltimore specially and exclusively devoted to the treatment of diseases of the EYE and EAR, merits the support of the profession and people of the Southern States.

The number of patients applying for relief is large and constantly increasing, and it is the power of the profession to maintain a HOME INSTITUTION where speedy relief may be had, particularly in those cases of disease of the Eye when delay of any admit of any DELAY in operating.

The accommodations are first-class, and the Surgeon in Charge resides in the Institution with his family and is assisted by skilled nurses in his care of patients.

Board from one to two dollars a day, including medicines and nursing. Additional charges for professional services and operations in accordance with the standard fee table.

Address

DR. M. J. DeROSSETT,
Surgeon in Charge.
P. O Box

June 2-tf.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N. Y.

June 10-13a

PRICE THIS DAY REDUCED TO 40 Cents Per Gallon,

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL

— WILL NOT EXPLODE.—

Now used in nearly

600,000 Families.

Never an accident directly or indirectly. BURNS IN ANY LAMP.

Beware of SO CALLED safety oils.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, &C.,

At Rock-Bottom Prices.

LARGEST STOCK IN THE STATE.

AND THE GOODS THOROUGHLY SEASONED.

Write for prices.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C.

HARDWARE OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

WINDOW GLASS, PUTTY, OILS, PAINTS, &c.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, ----- N. C.,

This Company has closed its third year in a condition of GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home Institution.
It has ample Capital and Reserves
It pays its losses promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand and in Bank,	$ 8 421 53
Cash in hands of Agents,	4,994 00
Stock Notes,	45,670 00
Real Estates Mortgage,	59,938 59
Loaned on Collaterals,	7,647 68
Due for premiums,	3,720 63
Interest due and accrued,	944 58
	$130,297 19

LIABILITIES:

All liabilities including full re-Insurance Reserved,	$18,480 81
Surplus,	111,816 38
	$130,297 .9

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
B. F. LONG, Secretary.

Gospel Singer

BY

PHILIP PHILLIPS.

The Singing Book for Sabbath Schools; JUST ISSUED.

$30 per 100 copies. Sample copy, by mail, 35 cts.

Lee & Walker, 922 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Jan. 16-4t.

STUDY YOUR INTERESTS!

We strive to increase our trade by giving our customers the best bargains to be had in the city.

PETTY & JONES.

LATEST STYLES AND NOVELTIES of FANS, including Centennial, Thermometer, Turkish, Morocco and Silk, just opened and offered at lowest prices, by

PETTY & JONES.

PRINTS! PRINTS!! PRINTS!!!

Large quantities latest patterns, at

PETTY & JONES.

REAL LISLE THREAD UNDERSHIRTS for Gentlemen and Silk Mitts for Ladies, just opened at

PETTY & JONES.

5000 YARDS BEST AMERICAN LAWN, solid and figured—large variety—this season's patterns, this day opened; worth 25 cents, but rapidly selling at 12 1-2 cents, by

PETTY & JONES.

COTTONADES! COTTONADES!

COTTONADES!!!

Several new cases handsome assortment of patterns and variety, lower than at any time of the season, at

PETTY & JONES.

BELDING BROTHERS SPOOL SILK—best in the market—all colors wanted as represented or money refunded at

PETTY & JONES.

ANOTHER LARGE LOT OF those elegant Grass Cloths, 36. 38 and 40 inches wide. Latest shades in plain and cords, at prices which make them cheaper than calicos. Offered this day at

PETTY & JONES.

WE DO NOT HESITATE TO say that all who examine our stock and prices will be convinced that we keep only new and desirable goods, and sell at lowest prices.

PETTY & JONES.
No. 39 Fayetteville Street.

may 26-tf.

Philo Alcott. Wayne Alcott.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Venison Hams, Onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, White, Black-eye, Stock and Black Peas, Waltz-ed Mixed Beans, &c. We will make FINE MOUNTAIN MEAL a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We have made the necessary arrangements with our Norfolk house to furnish the finest oysters that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12.n

A. G. Lee. Ed. H Lee. Cle R. Lee.

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

We give our entire attention to handling goods on COMMISSION, and therefore can handle to advantage consignments of Corn, Meal, Hay, Fodder, Sheek, Oats, Peas, Corn Meal, N. C. Flour, Bacon, or Green Pork, Beef, N. C. Hams, Chickens, Eggs, and all the products of the farm or garden.

All of which we sell for cash, and are therefore able to make prompt returns. We solicit consignments from Western North Carolina, and the State generally.

We call attention to our friends in the city and neighboring country to the fact that we have made arrangements with shippers to have a constant supply of CORN on hand, and almost always have consignments of the other articles mentioned above. We have to sell for cash but will give you good goods.—Try us.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their lots to the market to try us. We can load New York in the nett proceeds of your cotton. When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the year mouser market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The ORCHILLA GUANO and The SOUTH SEA GUANO.

The SCHOFIELD COTTON PRESS, the best invented.

The DIAMOND COTTON CHOPPER—Every one warranted.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

march 3-tf

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves. Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Bows and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the Season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cashs' Ruffings, and Flutings, Ladies Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas,

Corded Jackanets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Pique, Mull Muslins, Checked Muslins, Nainsook and Linen Lawns, Corsett Jeans, Cambrics and Linens.

HATS, HATS, HATS.

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Our Stock is complete in this line. Mites and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we sell such goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
54 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N.

mch 17-tf.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and I invite to this FACT to prove the real value of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency that will pay would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HEPTINSTALL,
Enfield, N. C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. H.

may 19-tf

J. M. ROSENBAUM,

At Kline's old stand on the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets,

Has received his Spring supply of Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, and everything usually looked for in a Gent's Furnishing Store.

His stock of

Ready-Made Clothing

(of which he makes a specialty.)

For Men and Boys' Wear,

is large and complete, of the latest styles, selected and bought by Mr. Rosenbaum in person, who from long experience, knows what is suited to the Raleigh market. He has also a full supply of the BEST MAKE OF SHIRTS and UNDERCLOTHING. Customers will find whatever they want in the clothing line at and at prices of which they will not find it in their hearts to complain.

ROSENBAUM'S,

Thanking my customers for their past kind and liberal patronage, I trust that they will continue to favor me with their calls and purchases, assuring them that they will get as good bargains from me as they will obtain in any other store in the city.

apl 28-3m

1875 . 1875

GRAND SPRING OPENING.

NEW MILLINERY STORE.

ENTIRE NEW STOCK!!

Having just arrived from the North with a New and Fashionable assortment of MILLINERY GOODS, of all the latest Parisian modes, I take great pleasure in announcing to the public that I will open my new and elegant stock for inspection, at my new store,

No. 57 Fayetteville Street,

OPPOSITE THE MARKET.

ON SATURDAY, 17th APRIL, 1875.

Trusting that a generous public will bestow their patronage on my efforts to please one and all, both in cheapness, style and quality of goods.

I remain, Very Respectfully,

Mrs. E. LEOPOLD,
Leader of Low Prices.

Cheapest Millinery Establishment in the City!

A. BAUM,

Professional Butcher,

Ilmington St., Opposite East End Market.

Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stunted beef to be seen in his shop. Orders from Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first class style, are sold you at apl 28-tf BAUM'S.

THE HOPE ENGINE,

Children's Column.

Remember, Boys make Men

When you see a ragged urchin
Standing wistful in the street,
With torn hat and kneeless trowers,
Dirty face and bare red fe t,
Pass not by the child unheeding;
Smile upon him. Mark me, when
I've grown up he'll not forget it;
For, remember, boys make men.

When the buoyant youthful spirits
Overflow in boyi-h frenk,
Chide your child in gentle accents,
Do not in your anger speak.
You must sow in youthful bosoms
Seed of tender mercy; then
Plants will grow and bear good fruitage,
When the erring boys are men,

Have you never seen a grandsire,
With his eyes aglow with joy,
Bring to mind some act of kindness
Something said to him, a boy?
Or relate some slight or coldness,
With a brow all clouded, when
He said they were too thoughtless
To remember, boys make men?

Let us try to add some pleasure
To the life of every boy,
For each child needs tender interest
In its sorrow and its joy.
Call your boys home by its brightness;
They avoid a gloomy den;
Seeking elsewhere joy and comfort;
And, remember, boys make men!

One little girl and one little boy have sent us subscribers for the ADVOCATE on our proposition. We will send our (the Seniors) photograph to them promptly. We hear of a number of others who are at work on this proposition.

Questions.

J. R. Howard asks what two Kings were only 8 years old when they began to reign.

Cora Harrison asks who was let down by the wall in a basket?

Little Wilma Harrison asks what chapter in the New Testament contains seven parables.

Mattie L. Harrison asks what was the birth place of Paul.

Bettie Harrison asks at the touch of whose bones was the dead man brought to life.

A. M. Prince asks what was the name of Moses' father and mother, and what relation was the mother to the father.

Willie H. McKay asks what became of the golden calf that Aaron made.

J. W. Howard asks what Chapter in the Bible contains the word king 33 times. Also, in what verse occur the following words "a time to weep, and a time to laugh; and a time to mourn and a time to dance." Also, who caused sun and moon to stand still.

ENIGMA, BY F. B. JONES

1st was the father of Miriam
2nd was one of the first converts to Christianity at Corinth, 3rd was the place where Absalom first set himself up for king.
4th was the native place of Balaam.
5th was the man who restored the Sidonian widow's son to life.
6th was the grandfather of Jezer.
7th was the place to which the captive ark of God was first carried.
8th was the foot of the mountain where Abijah's troops killed 500,000 of Jeroboam's army.

My whole is the name of the Governor of Nebuchadnezzar's Eunuchs, who changed the names of Daniel and his 3 companions to such as imported relation to the Chaldean idols.

"My son" is found 5 times in 33d verse 18th chap. 2nd Sam. Willie H. McKay, A. M. Prince.

Answer to Enigma proposed by Kate McKenzie, is: 1st is 'Well;' 2d 'Aaron' 3d Tabitha; 4th Carmel; 5th Hagar; 6th Absalom; 7th Nebo; 8th Didymus; 9th Peniel, 10th Rebecca; 11th Athaliah; 12th Elymas. Its whole is a command given by our Savior; "Watch and pray." Willie H. McKay.

Simon, a Cyrene, helped Christ bear the cross. J. W. Howard.

Answer to Enigma proposed by Bessie Herndon, is: 1st Joel; 2d Obadiah; 3d Simon; 4th Ichabod; 5th Abiah; 6th Havilah; the whole is Josiah. J. W. Howard.

MESSRS EDITORS: The Hebrews, or Jews, "transgressed very much after all the abominations of the heathen: and polluted the temple of the Lord," and "mocked the messengers" which God had sent unto them, and "misused his prophets" until his "wrath rose against this people" and he "brought upon them the king of the Chaldees," Nebuchadnezzar, who brought them bound to Babylon where they remained three score and ten years, according to the prophecy of Jeremiah, 2nd Chronicles, 37th chapter 14th to 23d verses.

J. R. HOWARD.

In Isaiah 3d chapter 16th and 17th verses, it is said that the Lord will smite with a "scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion." J. R. Howard.

Teach the Lambs.

"What should mamma do without her little boy?"

"You would have Frankie."

"But mamma would want Eddie, too."

The bright haired three-year old, lying snugly tucked in his warm bed, thought a few moments in silence, and then, as if thinking of former instruction, said: "We can all go to heaven," Another little pause, and then the boy added: "And Aunt Annie, too."

"Yes, darling; God can see Aunt Annie, if we cannot."

'Yes,' echoed the little prattler: 'He can see her way over there; over the water God is werry near her.'

The warm hearted child would not leave out of the heavenly fold the dear aunt who had recently gone far over the water to Africa—the auntie for whom, night and morning, he had prayed: 'God bless Aunt Annie on the ocean.' He felt that God was near her, and could take care of her, as well as of the dear circle at home.

Do not such things as these lay an imperative duty and give a sweet encouragement to parents to begin the religious teaching of their children with the beginning of their life?—Congregationalist.

WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?—In faith, a believer. "He that believeth shall be saved." Mark xvi, 16.

In knowledge, a disciple. "If ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed." John viii, 31.

In character, a saint. "Beloved of God, called to be saints." Romans i, 7.

In influence, a light. "Ye are the light of the world.' Matthew v, 14.

In conflict, a soldier. 'Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ." 2 Tim. ii, 3.

In communion, a friend. "Henceforth I call you not servants, but I have called you friends." John xv, 15.

In progress, a pilgrim. These all "confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth." Heb. xi, 13.

In relationship, a child. "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God." Rom. viii, 16.

In expectation, an heir. "And if children, then heirs—heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ." Rom. viii, 17.

Rural and Domestic.

Thoughts for the Month.

This is the critical month on a Southern farm. The May grass must be killed now or never. It ought to have been destroyed before. Just as it reared its first little blade above the earth the unrelenting plow or hoe should have buried it forever out of sight. From the earliest moment a crop can be worked, cultivation should be very rapid. The true method of saving labor is never to permit grass or weeds to get a start. Instead of one lick saving nine, it will save ninety nine. This is repeated for the benefit of young farmers—all old ones know it well enough, though they may sometime be caught napping, or, what is worse, with empty cribs, and therefore with insufficient motive to "speed the plow."

Early corn will be laid by this month, and peas ought, by all means, to be broadcasted at the last plowing. They will be early enough to mature, but a more important consideration is the improvement of the land. One bushel of seed per acre is too little—one and a half to two bushels will answer. Let the peas be thick enough to smother crab grass. Our corn fields are the nurseries in which this plant perfects its seed and fills our lands with them. If the crop has been properly cultivated, and the last plowing is thorough (not deep,) and a thick crop of peas grown on the land, it will be in elegant order for a succeeding crop—clean, mellow, and filled with an abundance of nitrogen.

COTTON.

Give it every opportunity to push forward and make weed now. Bring to a stand at once, if not already done, and plow as often as practicable, with sweep or cultivator where the land is sandy or soft, with shovel where it is hard and stiff. When cotton gets full under way developing fruit the workings may be at longer intervals and increasingly shallow, as it will then be desirable to moderate the growth of the plant.

HARVEST.

Wheat and oats should be cut before they are dead ripe; portions, however, intended for seed may be allowed to ripen fully. The wheat then makes more and better flour, and the oats are more easily digested by stock. Leave as high a stubble as possible; the lower portion of the straw is worth very little as forage, and ought to be returned to the land. The greener it is cut the smaller the bundles in which grain should be tied, and the smaller and more open the shocks in which it is put up; rapid curing and housing are the points to be kept in view. The last remark applies equally to grass and clover hay; house them at the earliest possible moment it can be done with safety. We tried once the plan of storing clover hay, rather green, with salt sprinkled through it, but could not discover that it kept any better than that packed away without the salt. Let it heat once, then tear down and expose to the air, and clover may be packed away without danger. Never let clover get wet after it is partially cured. In this connection, we invite attention to the method of preserving green forage by packing it in pits. It seems to be gaining ground in Europe, and must, there fore, give satisfactory results. The pits are dug in high, well-drained spots, and green stuff, not cured at all, packed closely away in them, and then covered with earth to exclude air—Southern Cultivator.

IN THE Rural New Yorker "Daily Rural Notes" has some valuable observations about the improvement of the hickory nut. He says: "Any one who has paid any attention to our native nut bearing trees is well aware that there are a vast number of natural wild varieties of the same species, some possessing unusual qualities and others quite inferior. The pecan nut of the South and West and our common shell-bark hickory, being the only two species remarkable for the superiority of the nuts, in an edible point of view, it is among these we should look for natural varieties for preservation and propagation. I presume that many choice varieties belonging to both species could be found, if they are not at present known, by searching the forests where these trees abound; in fact I know of several sorts which have a great local reputation, and among the shell barks (Carya alba) none better than Hale's Papershell. There is another quiter similar variety still growing on Snake Hill, in New Jersey, near New York city. At least the tree was standing two years ago, the last time I visited that wellknown Mecca of botanists." Improved trees must be sought by sowing the best nuts. Grafting has been tried, and may be made to succeed, but it is an uncertain dependence.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.

Change of climate, water or diet is apt to induce harrassing and often dangerous diseases. The three changes combined are fatal to thousands of emigrants every year. Is it not, then, of the last importance to know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are an absolute preventive of the hurtful consequences arising from these causes? Travelers, voyagers, and emigrants to new countries cannot be too often reminded of the fact that this agreeable vegetable tonic is the most reliable safeguard against disorders to which they are far more liable than the habitual denizens of healty regions. The pelmil effect of the unwholesome atmosphere which produces what are called miasmatous fevers, is to depress and debilitate the system. The body then becomes an easy prey to the malignant principle in the air. It is manifest, therefore, that the surest way to avoid all epidemic and endemic maladies of an intermittent type, is to counteract the weakening tendencies of miasmas by artificial invigoration. Tnn. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the surest resuscitant of flagging vigor, is a fact which is best appreciated where our fellow-citizens inhimal to health exist. That it is not alone against malaria that they protect the system They are toughen it to endure with impunity extremes of heat and cold to which travelers are often subjected, and they neutralize those elements in unconstrained water or diet which would otherwise beget disorders of the stomach and bowels The brackish water with which voyagers by sea are often compelled to quench their thirst, is apt to provoke dysentery and other serious complaints, but when the Bitters are mixed with it, it becomes harmless. Truly this great protective is an invaluable traveling companion.

June 24-1m

DR. C. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder-blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for a rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his features cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrasts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. M'LANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

Address all orders to

FLEMING BROS., PITTSBURGH, PA.

P. S. Dealers and Physicians ordering from others than Fleming Bros., will do well to write their orders distinctly, and take none but Dr. C. M'Lane's, prepared by Fleming Bros., Pittsburgh, Pa. To those wishing to give them a trial, we will forward per mail, post-paid, to any part of the United States, one box of Pills for twelve three-cent postage stamps, or one vial of Vermifuge for fourteen three-cent stamps. All orders from Canada must be accompanied by twenty cents extra.

Sold by all respectable Druggists and Country Storekeepers generally.

Dr. C. M'Lane's Vermifuge

Should be kept in every nursery. If you would have your children grow up to be HEALTHY, STRONG, and VIGOROUS MEN and WOMEN, give them a few doses of

M'LANE'S VERMIFUGE,

TO EXPEL THE WORMS.

☞ BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

☞ PRICE, SI CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

561 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free. Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine. May 26 1 y

CAUTION.—NOTICE.—The GENUINE EDITION. LIFE AND LABORS OF LIVINGSTONE, (Including the "LAST JOURNAL," unfolds vividly his 31 years' strange adventures, also the curiosities, Wonders and wealth of that marvelous country, and is work House 148-Big just think 12,000 first 7 weeks. Agents like wild fire 85 pages 100 rare ILL's. only $3 50. Agents wanted. Send for Terms and proof of above.

ABSOLUTELY THE ONLY NEW, COMPLETE

HUBBARD BROS. Pubs. 723 Sansom St. Phila,

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best endeavorts in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE

feb 17-6m

I respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to patronize Mr. Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who call on him.

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS

march 17-6 m

WANTED.

AGENTS, male and female, to sell Pictures everywhere. Four hundred retailed by one. Another writes: "I can make more money in this business than I can on a farm, all stocked."

WHITNEY & CO.,

Norwich, Conn.

april 7-3 m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight defects, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, streaming or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the Sea of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles or, if using now, to lay them aside forever We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from nearest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 9 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 9th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IV RY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Pants' blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. G. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently a few minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLS TRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE(one of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENT, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $20 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,

NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,

P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y

Sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.

PALMAM QUI MERUIT FERAT

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED in quality UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which presents such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand, (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER commissions for selling inferior organs, and for the reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Mirrors and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES sent free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14-1 year.

NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Western N. C., and for sale especially for A. G. LEE & SONS.

A from table use by A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w,

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Sunday, June 6th, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9.32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury.....	11.18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.00 A. M.	10.55 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond...	7.22 A. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M.	5.08 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.36 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.50 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	2.45 A. M.	3.58 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	6.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.50 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte..	8.08 A. M	8.33 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'..	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2 10 A. M
" Co. Shops.....	4.40 "	Leave 12.17 "
" Raleigh.....	9.05 "	" 7.20 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	12.15 P. M	Leave 4 00 "

WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.31 p. m.
Arrive at Salem.....	6.13 "
Leave Salem.....	8.44 a.m.
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	10.26 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 7.30 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways,

On Saturdays Lunenburg Accommodation leave Richmond 1.38 P.M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.53 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.20 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows.

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.35 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.04 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup't Superintendent.

OFFICE SUPT. OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., June 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.40 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and are among the best now made. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as is consistent with one of the very best materials and the most thorough workmanship will permit. The principal planists and professors, and the piano-playing public of the south-east, testify, unite in the universal verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. DOR-BALL Y of our stock seems to be fully established by over sixty sound and reliable judges from the South, having over 300 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufacturers of Cabinet and Parlor Organs, prices from $55 to $600. A liberal discount to Clergymen and public schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $50 to $200, always on hand.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 500 purchasers, who have bought and are using the STIEFF Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF,
Warerooms, No. 9 North Liberty street,
Baltimore, Md.

Factories, 81 & 83 Camden st. and 45 & 47 Perry st.
Dec 16-1y.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Sufferings and Triumphs of His followers. A richer, sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Martin and Illman, and splendidly bound in the richest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

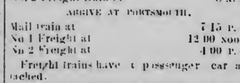
March 10-6m

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fish's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

apr 29-1y

$250 A MONTH—Agents wanted every where. Business honorable and first class. Particulars sent free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St Louis, Mo.

Sept 16-6m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

Sept 16-12m

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in sheep, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F. L. REID, Lenoir, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET SQUARE, Raleigh, N. C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past ten years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very low and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and intend giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffee,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Hhds. A Sugar,
10 Hhds Ex C Sugar,
10 Hhds B Yellow Sugar,
20 Hhds Demerara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
100 lbs. G. D. Soft Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
500 Cases O sters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
30 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
9 " Soda Crackers,
Monitor Factory and Dairy Cheese,
1,000 W. P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
4 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps,

We offer especial inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and prices, daily competition

Oct 7-12 m LEACH BROS

L. R. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING AND TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest market prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 20-1f

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,

Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Also, Steam Engines, Portable and Stationary, always reliable and satisfactory.

Manufacturers also, of Portable Stationary Engines, Grain Boilers, Shafting, Gearing, Mill Machinery, Bookings for Corn Mills, Corn and Cob Crushers, Belting, Lace Leather, Paint, White Lead and Colors, Oil Mill Machinery a specialty. Circulars and price lists furnished on application. Please mention this paper. Send for Circular.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Tine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's oil, Window Glass, Varnishes, &c., &c.

Dec 24-1y

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS AND CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING AND TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest market prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 20-1f

J. G. WILLIAMS, Pres. S. C. WHITE, Cashier.
W. S. PRIMROSE, Asst't Cashier.

NORTH CAROLINA State National Bank,

RALEIGH.

Deposits Received

SPECIAL CARE AND ATTENTION GIVEN TO

COLLECTIONS:

COLLECTIONS MADE IN THIS, AND

ALL THE SOUTHERN STATES

At Cost, and remitted for in Eastern Exchange, at the Lowest Market Rates.

dec 8-12

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

65 NORTH HOWARD ST., BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC DRY GOODS,

would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery, the best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All orders amounting to $30.00 or over, will be sent free of freight charge by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of the money.

J. C. S. LUMSDEN,

Manufacturer and Dealer in

TIN AND SHEET IRON WARE,

Stoves, &c., in Great Variety.

THE STONEWALL is the Largest, Heaviest and Best Cook Stove in the Market.

Tin Roofing, Guttering & Piping a Specialty,

Fayetteville St., opposite the Market Pump, oct 14 12m RALEIGH, N. C.

FURNITURE

W. H. Morris & Co

No. 8 Fayetteville Street.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

keeps constantly on hand and make to order all kind of Mattresses, such

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 26. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, June 30, 1875. | Whole No. 1,064.

Selected Poetry.

Going Home.

Where are you going so fast, old man?
Where are you going so fast?
There's a valley to cross and a river to ford;
There's a clasp of the hand a parting word,
And a tremulous sigh for the past, old man,
The beautiful vanished past.

The road has been rugged and rough, old man;
To your feet it is rugged and rough;
But you see a dear being with gentle eyes
Has shared in your labor and sacrifice;
And that had been sunshine enough, o'd man,
For you and me—sunshine enough.

How long since you passed o'er the hill, old man,
Or life, o'er the top of the hill?
Were there beautiful valleys on t'other side?
Were there flowers and trees, with their branches wide,
To shut out the heat of the sun, old man,
The heat of the fer id sun?

And how did you cross the waves, old man,
Or sorrow? the fearful waves!
Did you lay your dear treasures up one by one
With an aching heart and "God's will be done,"
Under the wayside dust, old man,
In the graves, 'neath the wayside dust?

There are sorrows and labors for all, old man,
Alas! there are sorrows for all.
And you, perchance, have had your share,
For eighty long winters have whitened your hair,
And they have whitened your heart as well, old man,
Thank God, your heart as well.

You are now at the foot of the hill, old man,
At last at the foot of the hill.
The sun has gone down in a golden glow
And the heavenly city lies just below.
Pass through the pearly gate, old man,
Pass through the pearly gate.

UNKNOWN.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Commencement at Murfreesborough.

(Special Correspondence of the Christian Advocate.)

MURFREESBOROUGH, N. C., June 17th, 1875.

This town, located within the bounds of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is usually quiet and with little to remind the visitor of the restless and busy character of this active age. Fifty years ago, as the diaries of Dr. Thomas O'Dwyer, still preserved, attest it was a place of considerable business, and enjoyed a large trade with the West Indies, and with New England, being a distributing point for the surrounding county. But these relentless revolutionists, the railroads, while they transform hamlets into cities, and create great commercial centres in localities for which nature has done comparatively little, at the same time take away their importance from places, flourishing be they, to which they give the go-by.—They are Warwicks who not only make kings, but dethrone them.—Such it is, that this village is now chiefly known as the site of two Female Schools, the Wesleyan Female College and the Baptist Institute.—The town is noted for the refinement of its citizens, and for the elevated moral and religious tone of its society. Its healthfulness, too, is exceptional for eastern North Carolina.

The Commencement of the Wesleyan Female College was inaugurated on Sunday, June 13th, at the Methodist Church, by the Annual Sermon before the graduating class. Dr. Granberry was unable to be present, but his place was well supplied by Rev. L. S. Reed, Presiding Elder of the Murfreesborough District. His text was taken from the first Epistle to the Corinthians, sixth chapter, 19th and 20th verses. It was plain, impressive and vigorous; and its solemn admonitions and appeals will be long remembered by those present.

The Board of Corporators held their regular annual meeting on Monday 14th, at 10 A. M. Hon. Wm. N. H. Smith, of Raleigh, is one of the members of the Board, having formerly resided here. I learn that important additions to the already commodious buildings, along with other improvements, were decided on.

On Monday night the Annual Address before the M. P. S. Society was delivered by Rev. John Hannon, Pastor of Emanuel Church, Baltimore, upon "Self Development." It was an exceedingly able effort, at once highly suggestive and strongly logical, and was very eloquently pronounced.

On Monday, 15th, at 11 A. M., Hon. A. M. Waddell, of Wilmington, N. C., delivered, as the regular Annual Address, his famous lecture, "America before Columbus."

At night, before the Theta Delta Society, whose appointed orator, Geo. A. Armistead, Esq., failed to appear, Mr. Waddell repeated his finely written oration on "The Great Deep."

Yesterday, the 16th, occurred the commencement exercises proper.—They were opened with prayer by Rev. Morris J. Laughorne, of the Methodist Protestant Church. The Essays of the graduates, eleven in number, were then read, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music. They were, without exception, elegantly written, and evidenced a high degree of culture. Perhaps the most remarkable was that of Miss Nannie L. Whitehurst, of Norfolk, Virginia: "A Catholic Convent is not the right place for the daughter of a Protestant." This young lady was converted during the recent great revival here, and united with our Church.—She was for some time a pupil in a Catholic school before coming here, and she speaks from experience.—Her theme was selected by herself, and its treatment was notably original and forcible, evincing singular maturity of thought in one so young. Its independent spirit and bold expression and denunciation of the insidious proselyting arts of Romanism created a profound sensation. After the delivery of the diplomas, the worthy President, Rev. W. G. Starr, was presented by the graduating class, through Rev. F. C. Woodward, with a splendid bound copy of the Holy Bible, which he acknowledged very feelingly.

The grand Concert at night, which was attended by an immense audience, concluded the exercises. The College has had 187 matriculates during the session just ended, and its prospects are most favorable for a large increase. It is doing a great and beneficent work for Methodism and for society. It is, emphatically, a College of the people.

F.

For the Advocate.

Revivals No 5.

(CONCLUDED.)

A very influential paper in the city of New York recently remarked that no man could be suddenly changed from a bad man, to a good man, and the writer then proceeded to furnish the world with a recipe for making the desired change. Men were to be educated into a knowledge of right and wrong, and to be made sensible, by such instructions, of the advantages of honor and emolument, arising from a life of integrity, and the disadvantages attendant upon a life of dishonor and general sinful habits. This might do if men always did as well as they knew how. But unfortunately men know the truth often without loving it—they even hate it. Hence it is clear that a mere knowledge of the truth does not save a man from error. The heart has to be brought into the work. When once the heart embraces the proper motive it requires no great length of time to abandon old purposes and form new ones. In revivals men often, very often, change their purposes in a few months, and by following the new purpose they are led directly into the work of religion, where they grow stronger in their powers of resistance to evil, in proportion to their humility and a deep sense of their dependence upon God. A sudden change of purpose, is followed by a sudden cessation of evil practices, and time only fixes the habits of piety which have been suddenly adopted The Scriptures abound in instances of these sudden changes, of which the conversion of Saul of Tarsus is a notable instance. The three thousand conversions at the Pentecost were probably a more notable case.

In spite of these occasional flings at the philosophy involved in "revival meetings" the work goes on, and facts are constantly arising in contradiction of theories advanced in the interest of scepticism and formalism.—Strong efforts are made to prove that religious revivals are aiming at impossibility—turning men suddenly from a life of sin to a life of righteousness, and yet every day men are being thus turned, and making full proof of the rottenness of such theories.

Those people that have the greatest amount of spiritual life among them witness the greatest number of sudden and powerful conversions, while those people who are without revivals are without spiritual life. Where there is a high degree of spiritual life there is a constant moving on heavenward, and many will be seized with a sudden desire to join the procession that is marching upward, while some will become indolent and forsake those whose energies become to them a source of annoyance—they would rather sit around the fleshpots of Egypt than to march towards the promised land.

So we may easily make up a little bundle of conclusions as follows:

A church without revivals is a church without spiritual life of the higher type.

A church without backsliders is a church without a high degree of spiritual life.

A church that is loose in its discipline is a church without backsliders. Those who have not advanced have no back ground—no room to backslide.

Grand, intellectual, metaphysical, star preaching, is not the preaching that is fruitful of revivals. It sounds well but hits nothing.

The greatest revivals, in all parts of christendom, spring up under the preaching of plain, but very earnest men—men full of the higher spiritual life.

While the church is laboring to bring out an educated ministry, it should also labor to bring forward a spiritual ministry—"full of faith and of the Holy Ghost." Such a ministry will keep the church alive, and under the constant influence of revivals, the only state in which a church can healthfully exist.

E. L. P.

Notes of Travel.

MESSRS EDITORS: For the first time during my connection with the Conference I have taken a vacation of three weeks, during which time I saw and heard a great deal. I propose to write a few items that may be of interest to your readers.

Taking Charlotte in the way during the Centennial Celebration, I visited Nashville Tenn. where I have a sister and many other relatives residing.

I reached this city just after the departure of the lay evangelists, Whittle and Bliss, who by their preaching and singing, backed by the united efforts of so many pastors, had awakened a great religious interest. The church was still at work. Through an invitation from the Young Men's Christian Association, the pastors were holding union meetings.

Judging from appearances the revival was pretty well spent, the feast was over and they were gathering up the fragments that nothing should be lost. I know not the number, but several hundred were added to the different churches during the revival. Dr. Hargrove received seven into McKendree church during the morning service I attended there.

I was present at a delightful communion service at Elm street church. What added to the interest was that so many parents and children, husbands and wives, brothers and sisters communed together for the first time. I here met and was introduced to sister Lambuth and children, just from China.

Of course while in Nashville I visited the Publishing House, and was kindly taken through its several departments by Dr. Summers. I found its officials hard at work. The building is a magnificent one, well adapted to the purposes for which it was built. There is room enough in it to greatly enlarge the business, and all they need is more patronage.

I also visited the Vanderbuilt, found the workmen busily engaged on the internal work of the main building. The professors houses are now ready to be occupied.

Dr. R. A. Young, the financial agent of the University told me he had procured endowment notes to the Biblical department to the amount of ninety seven thousand dollars. Methodism is a power in the land. Its forces are concentrated at Nashville.

Where will all the able ministers, the General Conference officials and professors of the Vanderbilt find an opportunity of exercising their ministerial functions? Isn't there danger of their swords rusting for the want of use?

I also attended the commencement exercise of Calleoka Institute, located in Maury county, presided over by my brothers Wm. R. and J. M. Webb. The past session has been one of great success, 96 Matriculates. Among them there were students from six States. There were six licensed ministers in the school, some of them assisted by the Tennessee Conference Educational Aid Society. Bishop Marvin attended the examination and preached a most excellent sermon to the young men.

Several prominent members of the Tennessee Conference were present. Dr. Hargrove, who had two sons in the Institute, took some part in examining the pupils.

Judge R. F. Simmons of Mississippi delivered the literary address. The next session of the Institute will open the 8th of August. I was very fortunate in the time I made my visit to my brothers. I attended the dedication of a church at Hurricane Switch, where is located a camp ground for Columbia District. Bishop Marvin preached the dedication sermon.

I was also fortunate enough to attend the Columbia District Conference, held at Olive church, presided over by Bishop Marvin. This District is very compact, all of it lying within the two fertile and beautiful counties of Maury and Giles. The Conference was one of unusual interest. I saw evidence that both wealth and talent were consecrated to the service of God. The Conference was conducted without committees. The Bishop preached twice during the Conference. I heard him only once, the eleven o'clock sermon Sunday morning. He was just out of an old fashioned mellow love feast, conducted by Gholmon Green, one of the old patriarchs of Tennessee Methodism, who is noted for stirring the souls of men; and Oh, such a sermon he did preach! I thought then that I never heard such it would have done you good to have been there. At the close of this sermon about forty ministers, besides scores of members took together the emblems of the broken body and shed blood of Jesus Christ.

Our Missionary Secretary Dr. J. B. McFerrin was present a part of the session and preached Saturday morning from the text, "Why stand ye here all the day idle."

And be assured no idler escaped "the scourge of his "small cords" which he twisted several times harder for his own people than when he comes among us. In the Tennessee Conference all the official members are entitled to a seat in the District Conference.

This District has a new feature in it, it publishes quarterly a Directory, edited by its active P. E., Wettborn Morney, which contains a quarterly report from each pastoral charge, giving the names of all the churches, official members with full statistics and other items of interest. I enclose you a copy to you.

Yours truly,

R. S. WEBB.

June 16th, 1875.

For the Advocate.

The Grasshopper Plague.

MESS. EDITORS: Tninking, perhaps, it might be of interest to some of the readers of the Advocate to hear from the grasshopper region in Missouri, I write you, for the benefit of all North Carolinians who may think of emigrating to this country, which you can publish should you think proper to do so. Last season we had the hardest drought that has visited this country in many years, on account of which, together with the chintz bugs, the corn and hay crops were almost a failure in parts of ten counties on the south of the Missouri River. The grass was all dry by the 20th of Aug., at which time we had to commence to feed stock. About the 1st of September the grasshoppers came in clouds, taking everything they found that was green, and literally filled the earth with their eggs. The eggs were deposited in sacks, from 30 to 40 in a sack. They commenced to come out of the egg in April, and are hatching yet, the ground in many places being black with them. They began to eat garden stuff about the 1st, and have, up to the present writing, eaten all the oats, flax, wheat, rye, barley, grass and corn. We have some of us planted corn the 3rd time, and they are still eating it to the root. Everybody has become discouraged, and a number of farmers have stopped ploughing, waiting to see what may transpire. I never saw so many long faces in all my life before. Our State Bugist, Professor Riley, told us that the locusts would do us no harm this spring, and the scarcity of food prompted us to get in early gardens and corn: now all of our seed is gone and we are left almost hopeless.—Everything in the way of food is about exhausted. Some have lost all, and many families are living on charity, which is a very scarce article in this world at present. Hundreds of stock have died, and are dying, for want of grass, and I fear some will lose all the stock they have. We had the presumption to hope that the Legislature would provide some means to render us assistance, but have learned with sorrow that they who feed at the public crib follow the advice of Æsop: "Don't drive away the full lest the hungry take the more food."

The Patrons of Husbandry are acting nobly, having shipped a great deal of corn from Iowa to this country.—They borrowed money, bought corn and sold it out at cost, on eight months credit. Many have mortgaged their farms to get just money enough to buy feed, seed and supplies to raise a crop. Some have borrowed all they could to help their neighbors. Now all is gone; there is no money now in the country to lend. What the people are to do, God only knows. Seed corn is now being sold at $2.00 per bushel; feed corn $1.00 and on the rise; potatoes, 90 cts.; beans, $3.60; bacon, 15 cts.; flour is very high. No hay in the country; no rain to raise the water in springs or wells since last June. The hoppers have been here since 1st April. If they stay 20 days longer, there will not be a green leaf or even a bud left. The meadows and grain fields are as bare as if just ploughed. I am aware that many of my old friends in N. C. think that the grasshopper is a small thing to bring famine on a land; but so it is, and we are a ruined people and have been ruined by "so small an insect as a grasshopper." They are sent as a scourge on proud, rebellious man.—Would to God I could think differently! But I believe the Great Ruler has stretched forth His hand to humble this people, and that it is just.—Alas! what a fate awaits us! . . . . . I have already trespassed on your time.

Yours, &c.,

H. P. LOVELL.

Centreville, Mo., June 12th, 1875.

The M. E. Church, South, in China.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, reports the following returns of her mission work in China: American missionaries, two—Rev. J. W. Lambeth and Rev. Young J. Allen; native missionaries, five; native teachers, three; Bible women, three; schools, four; pupils, sixty-four; mission stations, five—Shanghai, Soochow, Karding Naziang, Qumsaw; churches, three, and one rented house; Church members, eighty-six, (not including probationers;) periodical published, one—Chinese Globe Magazine; books and tracts, indefinite; whole amount appropriated for the work for 1875-76, $7,500, including Church building, repairs, etc.

Mr. Lambeth has general charge of the mission work. Mr. Allen is a professor in a Government college, receiving his pay from the Chinese Government. In addition to his work in translating and teaching for the Chinese Government, he preaches every Sabbath, or oftener in connection with the mission work. has a day-school under his supervision, and is editor of the magazine. The officers of the Mission Board are now calling for additional funds for the purpose of sending out three other American missionaries, who are now offering themselves for the same field. They announce that a single man can be supported on a yearly salary of $750.

The Witchery of Manner.

Almost every man can recall scores of cases, within his knowledge, where pleasing manners have made the fortunes of lawyers, doctors, divines, merchants, and, in short, men in every walk of life. RALEIGH flung down his laced coat into the mud for ELIZABETH to walk on, and got for his reward a proud queen's favor. The politician who has this advantage easily distances all rival candidates, for every voter he speaks with becomes instantly his friend. The very tones in which he asks for a pinch are more potent than the logic of a WEBSTER or a CLAY. Polished manners have often made scoundrels successful, while the best of men, by their hardness and coldness, have done themselves incalculable injury; the shell being so rough that the world could not believe there was precious kernel within. Civility is to a man what beauty is to a woman. It creates an instantaneous impression in his behalf, while the opposite quality excites as quick a prejudice against him. It is a real ornament, the most beautiful dress that man or woman can wear, and worth more as a means of winning favor than the finest clothes and jewels ever worn. The gruffest man loves to be appreciated, and it is oftener the sweet smile of a woman, which we think intended for us alone, than a pair of Juno-like eyes, or "lips that seem on roses fed," that bewitch es our heart, and lays us low at the feet of her whom we afterward marry. —Home Guardian.

The Origin of Newspapers.

Who thought of the newspaper first? It seems to have had its birth in that land of vivid gesture and grave gossip, Italy, and the first paper of which we have any record was a monthly, published in Venice by order of the government, in manuscript, as printing had not then been invented. It was called a Gazetta, which word is a derivative Gazzera, the name of a magpie or chatterer. In the Magliabechian Library, at Florence, are now to be seen thirty volumes of Venetian gazettes, in manuscript, the last of which is dated in the sixteenth century. The Venetian conservatives clung to their script after printing was an accomplished fact.

The epoch of the Spanish Armada, in England, was the epoch of the first English newspaper. In the British Museum are preserved several newspapers which were printed in 1588, while the Spanish fleet lay in the British Channel. The earliest of these is entitled The English Mercurie, which by authority "was imprinted at London by her Highness' printer, 1588." So to the sagacious forethought of the great Queen Bess, and the wise policy of the great minister Burleigh, the English speaking peoples of the world are indepted for the model of our present necessity, the newspaper. Deprive us—ye sweet cherubs who sit up aloft, ye weird sisters three who preside over our fates—deprive us of our boots, our breakfasts, our funds in bank, but take not from us our morning papers! In this early journal are the news of the day, and a well written article, designed to arouse and stiffen timid loyalty, tells of the discovery of a Spanish plot to murder the queen. There is a heroic poem, too, called "Elizabethe Triumphans," by one James Asker; a critical article on an unfortunate author, entitled "Father Parson's Coat Well Dusted," and various witty sayings, all printed in Roman letter.—Exchange.

Praying Machines.

BY REV. N. CYR.

The writer has in his possession, the fac simile of a praying machine that was on exhibition at the Missinary Museum, a section of the last great Paris Exposition. The original was brought from Thibet, where it had been used by some of the inhabitants. It is a tin cylinder about six inches in length and three in diameter, having a tightly fitting cover at one end, while the other end is closed, but has a handle eight inches long, connected in such a way as to allow the cylinder to revolve. On the side of the cylinder is affixed a small tin loop, through which a cord is passed, and to the end of this cord an iron weight is attached, the object of which is to facilitate the revolutions of the little machine.

When the natives, heathen of course, desire to pray, they write prayers on slips of paper and removing the cover of the instrument, at the end opposite the handle, drop these slips into the hollow cylinder and replace the cover. The machine is then made to revolve rapidly, the weight setting it and keeping it in motion, and at every revolution the prayers are supposed to be said. These heathens, it seems, think with the Romanists, that in order to be heard, men must repeat the same prayers over again, but having more ingenuity than the adherents of the Pope, they have invented a labor-saving machine, with which they can turn in a minute as many prayers as the Catholics can repeat in an hour.

Some of these machines are much larger than the one described; and placed near a running stream they are operated by water They are set up for the accommodation of the public, receiving and turning, we might say grinding, for a consideration, the prayers brought to them; a fairsized one can do the praying of a whole village, the owner getting thereby an honest living.

To come nearer home, is there not much mechanical praying in our churches? Are there not people still who think they shall be heard for their much speaking? And, finally, not to multiply questions, are there not Christians who are more ready to pray than to do? It is not discouraging prayer to say that we need us well a practical Christianity, a religion that attends to business and a "higher life," that ministers to the lowly.

Guard Your Conversation.

If you say anything about a neighbor or friend, or even a stranger, say nothing ill. It is a Christian and brotherly charity to suppress knowledge of evil of one another, unless our higher duty compels us to bear accusing witness; and if it be true charity to keep our knowledge to ourselves, much more should we refuse to spread evil reports of another. Discreditable as the fact is, it is by far the commonest tendency to suppress the good we know of our neighbors and friends We act in this matter as though we felt that by pushing our fellows up or forward, we are jealous of commendation unless we get the larger share.

Social conversation, as known to every observer, is largely made up of what is best understood by the term scandal. It would be difficult to find a talkative group of either sex who could spend an hour together without evil speech of somebody. "Blessed are the peacemakers," is not the maxim by which we are chiefly governed in our treatment of personalities. Better a thousand times sit dumb than to open our lips ever so eloquently in the disparagement of others. What we should do in this as in all other human relations, is to practice the golden rule. If we do unto others as we would that others should do unto us, we shall be exceedingly careful not to volunteer ill words about them. Where other than a good word is to be spoken, let it be spoken to the person concerned, that he may know your motive is not idle, cowardly and sinister, and that he may have a chance to defend himself.

HOW TO KEEP A SITUATION.—An observing correspondent gives the following hints on the above subject:

Be ready to throw in an odd half hour or an hour's time when it will be an accommodation, and don't seem to make a merit of it. Do it heartily.—Though not a word be said, your employer will make a note of it. Make yourself indispensable to him, and he will lose many of the opposite kind before he will part with you.

Those young men who watch the clock to see the very second their working hour is up—who leave, no matter what state the work may be in, at precisely the instant—who calculate the extra amount they can slight their work, and yet not get reproved—who are lavish of their employer's goods—will always be the first to receive notice, when times are dull, that their services are no longer required.

Accurate Reporting.

[From General Husted's speech at the Banquet in Irving Hall.]

To science she has given a Fulton and a Morse; to art, a Palmer, a Bierstadt, and a Church; to poetry and song, a Bryant, a Morris, and a Street; to the church, a Beecher, a Chapin, and a Nott; to the bench, a Livingston, a Walworth, and a Jay; to the press a Greely, a Raymond, a Bennett, and a Weed; to the bar, a Hoffman, a Spencer, an O'Conor, and an Evarts; to the forum, a Seward, a Marcy, and a Wright; to romance, an Irving, a Paulding, and a Cooper; to the world, a Hamilton, a Clinton, and a Kent.

[The same as reported in the New York Tribune.]

* * * To the bench, a Walworth to the press, a Greeley, Raymond, a Bennett, and a Reid to the bar, a Hoffman, an O'Conor, and an Evarts; to the forum, a Seward, a Marcy, and a Wright; to romance, an Irving and a Cooper.

General Husted, upon being interviewed, stated that his reference was to Thurlow Weed, and that he did not meution the young editor Reid at all; whereupon the World perpetrated the following:

THE YOUNG EDITOR: OR, ON THE TOWER.

Tribune-Ben-Whitelaw (be his list unroofed!)
Sat on his spire upon a night of fear,
When, some six stories nearer to the roof,
He saw a "devil" climbing with a proof.
The hours wore on, at last the "devil" came,
With panting breath, pearled brow, and face all one;
To whom Ben-Whitelaw: "Quick, mine errand teach."
To whom the "devil": "'Tis El Husted's speech,
Wherein, among the sons of Gotham famed,
Some six or seven journalists are named."
"And is mine there?" Nay, never scant thy words."
"It is," the "devil" answered, "but not first;
Nor am I sure yours is the name I see,
Unless, indeed, you spell it with a 'we.'"
"Then," quoth Ben. Whitelaw, in a tone severe
"Leave me that proof, and walk off on thine ear."
But when next morning's Tribune did appear
He found the names of journalists famed best,
And, lo! Ben Whitelaw's name shone 'mid the rest,
Shone 'mid them, like a bright particular star,
And, strange to say, they spelled it with an R.

Reproduction of Old Thoughts.

Nothing is more strange than the incessant reproduction of old thoughts under the guise of new and advanced opinions. It would seem as if the human mind, with all its restless activity, were destined to revolve in an endless circle. Its progress is marked by many changes and discoveries, it sees and understands far more clearly the facts that lie along the line of its route, and the modes or laws under which these facts occur; but this route in its higher levels always returns upon itself. Nature and all its secrets become better known, and the powers of nature are brought more under human control; but the sources of nature, and life, and thought—all the ultimate problems of being—never become more clearly intelligible. Not only so, but the last efforts of human reasoning on these subjects are even as the first. Differing in form, and even sometimes not greatly in form, they are in substance the same. Bold as the course of scientific adventure has seemed for a time, it ends very much as it began; and men of the nineteenth century look over the same abysses of speculation as did their forefathers thousands of years before. No philosophy of theism can be said to have advanced beyond the book of Job; and Prof. Tyndall, addressing the world from the throne of modern science—which the chair of the British Association ought to be—repeats the thoughts of Democritus and Epicurus, as the last guesses of the modern scientific mind. —Blackwood.

Wasted Powers.

Among the numberless marvels at which nobody marvels, few are more marvelous than the recklessness with which priceless gifts, intellectual and moral, are squandered. Often have I gazed with wonder at the prodigality displayed by nature in the cistus, which unfolds hundreds or thousands of its starry blossoms, morning after morning, to shine in the light of the sun for an hour or two, and then fall to the ground. But who among the sons and daughters of men,—gifted with thoughts which wander through eternity, and with powers which have the Godlike privilege of working good and giving happiness,—who does not daily let thousands of these thoughts drop to the ground and rot? who does not continually leave his powers to draggle in the mold of their own leaves? The imagination can hardly conceive the heights of greatness and glory to which mankind would be raised, if all their thoughts and energies were to be animated with a living purpose. But, as in a forest of oaks, among the millions of acorns that fall every Autumn, there may, perhaps, be one in a million that will grow on into a tree,—somewhat in like manner fares it with the thoughts and feelings of man. What, then, must be our confusion when we see all these wasted thoughts and feelings rise up in the judgment and bear witness against us! —Julian Hare.

A Great Blessing.

Oh! what a blessing is a merry, cheerful woman in a household! One whose spirits are not affected by wet days, or little disappointments, or whose milk of human kindness does not sour in the sunshine of prosperity. Such a woman in the darkest hours brightens the house like a little piece of sunshine weather. The magnetism of her smile, the electrical brightness of her looks and movements, infect every one. The children go to school with a sense of something great to be achieved; her husband goes into the world in a conqueror's spirit. No matter how people worry and annoy him all day, far off her presence shines, and he whispers to himself. "At home I shall find rest." So day by day she literally renews his strength and energy, and if you know a man with a beaming face, a kind heart, and a prosperous business, in nine cases out of ten you will find he has a wife of this kind. For nothing is more certain than the man who is married must ask his wife for permission to be happy and wealthy.

Just for Fun.

TEN PERFUMED CENTS.—"ARE these soaps all one scent?" inquired a lady of a juvenile salesman. "No, ma'am, they 're all ten cents," replied the innocent youngster.

TOO MUCH AT ONCE.—AN exchange suggests that if you want to see a man struggling to do several things at once, just watch him trying to put on his overcoat and rubbers, and yet keep his head bowed while the minister is pronouncing the benediction.

MIXED TRAINS.—ENGLISH tourist (in Ireland): "Tell me, waiter, at what hour does the first train leave for Clonmel?" Waiter: "Is it the furrst thrain, sor? I'm not rightly sure. The noine thrain up used to lave at ha'f past noine, but fatx it goes at tin now, and there's no furrst thrain now at all. But I'll ax at the barr, so!"

WANTS A LETTER.—"Ish der some ledder here for me?" inquired a German at the general delivery window of the Post-office, on Saturday. "No, none here," was the reply. "Vhell, dot ish queer," he continued, getting his head into the window; "my neighbor gets sometimes dree ledders in one day, und I get none. I bays more daxes as he does, und I haf never got one ledder yet. How comes dose dings?"—Detroit Free Press.

CHECK YOUR TRUNK.—"They tell a tough story about a new baggage man on one of our local trains," says the Los Angeles Star. He was told to pile up the trunks in a baggage car, and be sure to hang the checks on the outside. The literal-minded youth piled up the trunks, and then took off the checks, with the leather straps attached, and hung them up on the outside of the car. The baggage-master at the depot was driven nearly frantic by the passengers per the Orizaba attempting to identify their boxes.

FOOL.—A boy once asked of his father who it was that lived next door to him, and when he heard the name, inquired if he was a fool. "No, my little one, he is not a fool, but a very sensible man; but why did you ask the question?" "Because," replied the boy, "mother said the other day that you were next door to a fool."

FOND OF MUSIC.—A Utica householder got rid of an organ grinder by pointing to the elegant hennery, and informing him that the family occupying that domicile were exceedingly fond of organ music. The organ man stopped playing before the hennery when the aroused roosters began to crow. He got no pennies from them.

Long Words.

"Bob," said Tom, "which is the most dangerous word to pronounce in the English language?"

"Don't know," said Bob, "unless it's a swearing word."

"Pooh!" said Tom, "it's stumbled, because you are sure to get a tumble between the first and last letter."

"Ha! ha!" said Bob. "Now I've one for you. I found it one day in the paper. Which is the longest word in the English language?"

"Valetudinarianism," said Tom, promptly.

"No, sir; it's smiles, because there's a whole mile between the first and last letter."

"Ho! ho!" cried Tom, "that's nothing. I know one that has over three miles between its beginning and ending."

"What's that?" asked Bob, faintly.

"Beleaguered," said Tom.

In beginning the world, if you don't wish to get chafed at every turn, fold up your pride carefully, put it under lock and key, and only let it out to air upon grand occasions. Pride is a garment all stiff brocade outside, all grating sackcloth on the side next the skin. Even kings don't wear the dalmaticum except at a coronation.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

PAYABLE YEARLY, IN ADVANCE—POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
IN MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JUNE 30, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

The Duty of Prayer.

There is no duty more clearly taught in the word of God than earnest, humble and importunate prayer. The voice of the Psalmist is—"Call upon me in the day of trouble, I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify me." The direction given to the disciples by the blessed Saviour is both striking and comprehensive: "Thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and, when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret." Again, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you." In perfect harmony with this is the exhortation of the Apostle: "Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God." In another place the apostle gives us a striking unfolding of the true nature of prayer: "Praying always with all prayer and supplication in the spirit, and watching thereunto, with all perseverance and supplication for all saints." The apostle James bears the same testimony: "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally and upbraideth not, and it shall be given him."

The citations of Scripture given, not only establishes unmistakably the duty of prayer, but also that its neglect on the part of any believer will dry up the fountain of spiritual life in the soul. It is evidence conclusive of the perpetual tendency to spiritual birth, that the child of God requires repeated exhortations to the sweet and precious privilege of communion with his heavenly Father: that he needs to be urged by the strongest arguments and the most persuasive motives to avail himself of the most glorious privilege this side of glory. It is like pleading with a man to live—reminding him that he must respirate if he would maintain life. Without the exercise of prayer, we are taught that the child of God cannot live. It is the drawing in of the Divine life, and the breathing of it forth again. The spiritual nature requires constant supplies of spiritual nourishment, and the only satisfactory evidence of its healthy existence is, its constant rising towards God. Let the christian cease to pray, and all his grace withers, all his vigor decays, all his comfort dies, and he becomes a moral wreck.

It was a striking definition of true prayer as well as a beautiful remark of a converted heathen when he said: "I open my Bible, and God talks with me; I close my Bible, and then I talk with God." A talking with God as a child talketh with his father, as a friend converseth with his friend:—"And the Lord talked with Moses." Prayer then is the aspiration of the soul towards God; it is the breathing of the Divine life, sometimes in the accents of sorrow—sometimes as the expression of want, and always as the acknowledgment of dependence. It is the looking up of a renewed, afflicted, necessitous and dependent child to its own loving Father, in all the consciousness of utter weakness, and in all the sweetness of filial trust. If in prayer the professing christian realizes no evidence of nearness to the throne—no touching of the sceptre—no fellowship with God—calls him "Father," without the sense of adoption,—confesses sin in a general way, without any looking up to God through the cross,—has no consciousness of possessing the ear and the heart of God, the evidence is clear that he has no spiritual life and enjoyment. He has the "form without the power of godliness."

True prayer can only be addressed to God, the only object of all spiritual worship. He only hath an ear to hear our expressions of sorrow—an arm that can succor in time of need, and a heart that can sympathise with our deep necessity. The high and lofty one that inhabiteth eternity, whose name is holy, who is the Creator and Governor of all worlds—who bears up the pillars of the universe, to whom all the powers in heaven, in earth and in hell, are subject, he is indeed the glorious object to whom we may successfully address our petitions. But in coming to a gracious loving Father, our prayers will all avail nothing only as they touch his heart through his own dear Son. The teachings of the Scriptures are multiplied and explicit, that prayer finds acceptance within the vail, only as it is presented in the name of Jesus. The voice that speaks in behalf of the humble supplicant is the voice of Immanuel's blood,—this is the "new and living way"—this is the plea that prevails,—this is the argument that moves Omnipotence itself. Truthfully it may be said that he who pleads the blood, the atonement of Jesus in prayer, may have ten thousand tongues all pleading against him, but "the blood of Jesus speaks better things."—His name will prevail. Thus the christian has access to the Father through Christ, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit: "Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities; for we know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us, with groanings which cannot be uttered." Thus the Holy Ghost creates the desire in the heart, indites the petition and breathes it forth in prayer through Christ to the Father. Thus we see the blessed Trinity in Unity is engaged in the great work of our approach unto God. May the spirit of prayer be kindled anew in every heart throughout the whole church!

Christian Recognition.

In our issue of the 16th inst., we published an extract from the Christian Index (Baptist) which claimed that pedobaptist churches ought not to be recognized as christian churches by Baptists. We called it 'a self-sufficiency that would put the boasting Pharisee to the blush.' The Recorder of last week flounders through a half column of space to prove something about Paul's rebuking certain strange doctrines among the churches, and closes with a syllogism (based on an assumption) to prove that a church which does not administer baptism by immersion does not administer a valid baptism. We have no idea that Paul ever rebuked a Pedobaptist, or, if he had been an immersionist, that he would have anathematized those who baptised by sprinkling or pouring, or withheld from them the recognition of christians, if otherwise entitled to it.

The mere mode in which baptism is administered is not an essential to salvation. We expect to find men in Heaven who were "put under the water," but we do not expect to walk the golden streets ungraciously sneering at redeemed people who were received into the church by immersion. We have no idea, either, that our esteemed brethren of the Recorder will in the triumphant day, when the saved are all gathered about the great Communion Table in Heaven, move that we Methodists, Episcopalians, Presbyterians and others be expelled from the "feast of the soul" because in this life we were sprinkled.

As we expect Heaven to be free of such bigotry, we think we would do well to cast off bigotry and self-sufficiency in this life. What we intended to rebuke by our comment on the remark of the Christian Index was that conceit of doctrine, in nonessentials, which has no place in the coming life. If Episcopalians, Presbyterians and Methodists and others live godly lives and do good, we do not want them to be unceremoniously kicked out of the pale of the church by our Baptist friends who have gone under the water, whether of swift rolling Jordan itself, a creek, mill-pond or the quiet and warm waters of a baptistry.

In regard to the allusion that certain members of the Methodist Church in this city were received into the Second Baptist Church, and were immersed by Bro. Huffham, we are not aware of the alleged fact. The Senior only knows that one contemplated withdrawing from one of the Methodist Churches for the purpose of joining the Second Baptist Church and that he, for satisfactory reasons, advised him to do so.

We acknowledge an invitation to be present at the Annual Concert of the Raleigh Baptist Female Seminary, which took place on the evening of the 21st instant. The attendance was unusually large, and the music was exquisitely rendered. The names of the young ladies deserve special mention, but invidious distinctions should be avoided in noticing such occasions. We learn this school under the direction of Prof. Hobgood is enjoying a liberal patronage.

Rev. F. L. Reid of Louisburg Station, has been spending a few days in Raleigh. He preached two excellent sermons at Person Street church last Sabbath. A large congregation was present both morning and evening and all hearts were touched by the earnest, simple truths of the Gospel.

Rev. A. W. Mangum who delivered the Alumni address at the Commencement of Randolph Macon College last week, brings a flattering account of the commencement exercises, and of the prosperity of the college.

The third quarterly meeting for Edenton street church was held last Saturday and Sunday. Rev. J. P. Moore, the Presiding Elder, was present and preached morning and evening on Sabbath. Rev. F. L. Reid preached on Saturday.

Rev. A. W. Mangum, of this city, has accepted the appointment as professor in the College of Philosophy, in the University of North Carolina.

Notice.

Shelby District Conference will convene in Shelby on the 22nd of July 1875. The preachers and lay delegates will report, when they arrive, at the store of Miller Brothers, where the Committee will meet them and conduct them to their homes. The Local preachers, who expect to attend, will please give me notice of the fact as soon as possible.

H. T. HUDSON.
Shelby N. C., June 22, 1875.

Death of Rev. W. F. Clegg.

BRO'S BOBBITT AND GRAY: I write to inform you of the death of Rev. W. F. Cagg, which occurred at his home near this place June 16th 1875. Bro. Clegg had been a great sufferer for some time, but bore all patiently feeling that the grace of God was sufficient. I was not permitted to witness his death, but from those who did I learn that it was peaceful, if not triumphant. He was in full possession of all his faculties to the very last moment. He lived right and of course he died well. In an interview with him not long since he told me frankly he had no hopes of recovery;—then said, with a face all aglow, "the gospel I have preached to others is all I have proclaimed it to be and more (to my own soul)." said if he had any desire to live it was "to preach Jesus to dying men."

Bro. Clegg joined the Conference in 1852, has been true to his trust and thought a man of no pretentions, he had good success. God approved his ministry. Bro. W. H Moore preached his funeral yesterday at his late residence, assisted by Bro. Moses and the writer of this notice. Text Eph. 2nd chap. and 8th verse, Bro. Cs. selection. A large and weeping audience gave some attest of his worth. Bro. Clegg was forced to take a superannuated relation a year and a half ago, but still his heart was in the work. A chronic affection of nearly fifteen years standing at last has broken down the walls of his tent, but his soul rests now beyond life's stormy river. Bro. Clegg had been twice married, left a wife and eight children, all sons, to mourn his departure. May God heal their sorrowing soul with balm of love. Bro. Clegg was not quite forty eight years old. His work is done and well done—and he rests from his labors and from his works which do follow him. Let the church pray for the comforting and sustaining grace of God to come upon the afflicted family of our departed brother. I could write more of our Bro but the Conference in its official capacity will do justice to his name and memory.

Yours Fraternally,
C. C. DODSON.
Thomasville N. C., June 18th 1875.

Pleasant Garden, N. C.

Pleasant Garden School, Church and Campground, are in the midst of a pleasant portion of Guilford county. The tall forest trees, the well cultivated farms, with their dwellings, the hills and dales around, afford a pleasing variety of handsome scenery.—But, we regard as more attractive, the industry, sobriety and honesty which insure plenty, peace and security to the community.

It is usual for the farmers to store away their annual provisions of grain and meat for their families, close their doors and rest securely, without a lock on the dwelling house or any other, and washerwomen leave their clothes on the line while they sleep.

Why such security? The gospel has long been preached there. More than a score of years since, we attended camp meetings there, when the sainted Doub, Bumpass and others, now at rest, preached there, and it was Old Pleasant Garden then. Our honored divine, Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, was converted there, and scores in the more private walks of life were there introduced into the King's Highway; some of whom now shout in glory, while others are journeying on to greet them.

The confusion attending and following the late war, caused camp-meetings to be discontinued, for some years, at Pleasant Garden; and the deaths and removals of numbers of good christians caused a decline in the Sabbath school and other religious interests; but more recently there are families who annually pitch their tents near the new church at that place and enjoy the "Feast of Tabernacles."—The Sabbath school has revived, and there is much religious interest awakened.

The neighbors have erected a neat, commodious academy, near the camp ground, and a flourishing school is conducted there by Capt. R. P. Troy. The patrons regard this school a great blessing to the community - a nursery of piety as well as of learning. Few who enter the school continue there long, ere they are aroused to attend to their souls' best interests. Numbers were converted during the past session—three, the closing week of the session, during the busy preparations for the Commencement. The annual commencements are very interesting occasions, largely attended.

Such is the interest awakened by this school that buildings are arising around, and there is a fair prospect of a village springing up there. May the blessing of the Lord continue to descend on the school, the church, and all who promote these interests!

M.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Greensboro' Female College which appears this week. It is needless to commend that College to the Methodists of the State. Its merits are too well and widely known to need any recommendation from us.—The prices have been reduced to a point at which none can complain, and for good society, moral influences and healthy climate, Greensboro' is not surpassed by any locality in the State.

'My dear,' said a husband, in startled tones, after waking his wife in the middle of the night, 'I have swallowed a dose of strychnine.' 'Well, then, do for goodness sake lie still, or it may come up.'

One Week's Work.

It is a little amusing to hear some ministers talk of their abundant labors and self sacrificing toil, when they only preach once or perhaps twice a week, and perchance do a little pastoral work.

Well, it is natural for one to think his lot the hardest and his labors the most arduous. That impression can be eradicated only by comparing ourselves with others. Well, for the benefit of those who are disposed to complain and think that the lines have fallen to them in evil places, I propose to give an account of one week's work on a mountain circuit.

Monday morning: In order to illustrate that honest labor is not disreputable, and also actuated somewhat by the consideration of the results, the mountain itinerant may have been seen ploughing his lot, and cultivating his garden, thus carrying out the original design of man's creation. Thus was the forenoon spent, and the remainder in visiting among the flock. Tuesday, a sick sister was visited, and the remainder of the day was occupied in preparing a missionary sermon. Wednesday—mounts his faithful Charlie, and rides 11 miles to B; preaches the word of life: reads the rules; makes a talk about the importance of having a new parsonage for the preacher; raises a subscription for that purpose; goes home with Bro. H. and gets dinner; in the evening, rides 4 miles to Bro. S's and spends the night. Thursday—a ride of 3 miles brings him to R. Mt. one of the oldest preaching places in this country; after preaching, holds a church conference; the committee appointed at a previous meeting to assess the members makes its report, which is adopted by a rising vote; brings the parsonage question before them, and obtains several subscriptions; goes home with uncle S. Friday morning—goes to see sister P. who has been sick for several months; then to P. and there held forth the word of life; the rules were read; dined with Dr. F. rode 4 miles to Bro. L's. and spent the night Saturday morning—a ride of 4 miles to see Bro. H. who is near the end, but finds him perfectly resigned to the will of God; after religious services with him, went to S. and found a good week day congregation; preached, and 2 made application for membership; looked a little into the finances, and received $10.50 in money.

Messrs Editors, in this country, money is very scarce, and the reception of that much money, at one time, is a rare treat; the truth is, the sight of a dollar in green back appears nearly as large as Ezekiel's flying roll. Then went home with sister W. and then went 4 miles to see sister B. who was sick, spent some hours with her, and then spent the balance of the night at Bro. B's.

Sunday morning dawned lovely and bright, a ride of 7 miles brought me to Bro. F's. whose wife has been near death's door, but found her a little better; conversed with her on religion, prayed and had a melting time; rode 1 mile to church; 2 applied for membership; read the rules; went to Bro. D's. where man and beast were refreshed; then, rode 6 miles to the poor-house, where I had an appointment for the benefit of the inmates, but a large congregation had assembled, to which we presented some thoughts on the subject of sanctified affliction; after preaching, one good old Baptist Bro. complained, because I did not preach longer. I thought three quarters plenty long to preach to a congregation seated on the ground; a ride of 3 miles more brought me home, and I found my child, that I left sick, a little improved.

Now, Messrs Editors, I have given you an outline of one week's work. I have made this narration, not by way of boasting or complaining; for, I do neither; I do nothing to boast of, and I never could make any thing by complaining, but I thought it might silence some good Bro. who thought his lot was hard, and furthermore, some of our good people would see that it was not such easy work, after all, to be a circuit preacher.

MOUNTAIN ITINERANT.

The Work at Black reek.

Messrs Editors: In the month of January last, we organized a church at Black Creek with 15 members. Steps were immediately taken to erect a house of worship. Upon my arrival there on the 4th Sunday in May to fill my regular appointment, I found that arrangements had been made for services to be conducted in the new, but unfinished church. That night there were such marked indications of the revival spirit in the congregation that it was deemed advisable to protract the meeting, which we did for more than two weeks. The result was 36 accessions to the church and a remarkably fine impression for Methodism in that community. Nearly all of the converts were grown people and many of them heads of families. Rev. F. H. Wood was with us two nights and rendered valuable assistance.

It is proper to say that this work of grace is thought to be, in a large measure, attributable to the Sunday school which had been in operation at that place for sometime.

R. A. WILLIS.

June 18th.

The Bible is now printed in not fewer than two hundred and ten languages. In 1855, it was printed in only fifty.

Dedication of Harris' Chapel.

Harris' Chapel, formerly known as Mt. Harmony, on Salisbury circuit, was dedicated to Almighty God last Sabbath, the 13th instant. This Church was built wholy by Wm. Richard Harris of China Grove, one of the principal pillars of Methodism in the Salisbury circuit. Such an act deserves notice in all the papers of the land. The house is 50 feet by 36 well proportioned, 10 windows and 2 doors; finished in good style, in and out; has a beautiful pulpit and altar neatly trimmed and carpeted; cost about $2 000.

A vast assembly were in attendance to witness the dedication of this precious gift by Father Harris.

A very appropriate and heart-searching sermon was preached by the Presiding Elder, Rev. D. R. Bruton of the Salisbury District; after which the Church was presented for dedication by Rev. T. L. Triplett, Richard Harris, the donor, Franklin Harris, his brother and Philip Owens. These 3 old patriarchs, their heads white as wool, ripe for the eternal world of glory, standing before the altar with their pastor, presented the church for dedication, was a scene sufficiently imposing to excite the admiration of angels. Long live the memory of this christian and heaven inspiring act of Father Harris!

Salisbury circuit is rapidly improving. Peace and harmony pervades the entire circuit. A new church is now in building at Lebanon, will be completed in 4 weeks.

Onward and upward is the motto of Salisbury circuit.

DIDYMUS.

Person Street Church.

The following will show the amounts which I received in New York City in cash and donations for Person St. Church:

Belcher, Park & Co.,	$10 00
F. W. Smith, with Benedict Hall & Co.,	10.00
Benedict Hall & Co,	10.00
A. Swanzy, of Bartlett Reed & Co	10.00
J. A. Knapp,	10.00
A. J. Wood & Co., Cash,	10.00
J. C. Cooper, Jr.,	2.50
Waltrons, Lewis & Co.,	10.00
A. Claflin & Co.,	5.00
Henry Welsh,	10.00
Ivinson, Blakeman & Co., Cash,	10.00
Edward S. Jaffray,	5.00
W. A Ransom & Co.,	20.00
Roberson, Lord & Co,	10.00
Robt Tannerhill & Co.,	5.00
Lewis Webb,	10.00
L. M. Bates & Co.,	10.00
J. B. Van Wagener, Cash,	5.00
Fellows, Hoffman & Co., deducted from retail price of gas fixtures,	10.00
J. M. Demick on carpets,	56.00
	19.00
Total,	$262.50

All these gentlemen treated me very kindly and expressed a desire to do more, if it were possible. I shall ever feel very grateful and thankful to Mr. Swanzy and Smith for their kindness, not only in giving themselves, but showing every attention possible, and introducing me to their friends—who also helped me;—in fact, they helped me to raise at least one third of all that I received. I hope that my friends who are in the shoe business will remember Mr. Smith when they go to New York—and those in the dry-goods will remember Mr. Swanzy. And if they wish to be treated well and sleep sound, let them stop with Messrs Caddagan & Hasbrouck, Proprietors of the Tremont House, on Broadway. They were kind enough to sleep me while in New York free of charge.

Our church is completed and dedicated. It is one of the neatest and most comfortable churches in the State.

N. M. JURNEY.

Raleigh, June 22d, 1875.

Subscribe for the Advocate. Price, $2.20 per annum, in advance.

Anniversary Celebration of the Methodist Sunday School

[From the Goldsboro Messenger.]

We referred briefly to the exercises connected with the above celebration in our Monday's issue, but the occasion was so exceedingly interesting and entertaining that we do not deem a somewhat more minute description out of place.

Never, perhaps, has an anniversary occasion been celebrated with such becoming and impressive ceremonies as that which characterized that of the above Sabbath school on Sunday last. The congregation was large and appreciative. The other Sunday schools of the place had been invited to be present, and all of them, we believe, were more or less largely represented.

After the school had met in the Church yard and marched into the Church, each class under its banner, the exercises were opened with singing by the school and congregation, and prayer by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Brooks. Then each class, fifteen in number, as it was called out, brought its anniversary offerings. A word or two descriptive will here be in order.

The Church, back of the pulpit, was prettily decorated, and over the pulpit was a large arch. Among the mottoes on the several beautiful banners and the symbols and emblems presented, beginning with the infant class and ending with the senior Bible class, were the following:

The banner of the first class had the appropriate motto: "Suffer little children to come unto me."

The second class presented a yoke with the motto on the banner, "My yoke is easy and my burden is light."

"Gather them in," was inscribed on the banner of the third class and a small sickle accompanied the banner.

"In the morning sow thy seed," was displayed on the banner of the fourth class.

The fifth banner had a large hand nicely painted on it with this inscription: "He leadeth me."

Class six presented a Bible with banner carrying the motto: "Holy Bible, Book Divine."

A large gilt star with banner motto: "We have seen His Star in the East," was presented by class seven.

Class eight had an all seeing eye painted on banner, with the inscription: "Thou God, seest me."

Class nine presented a helmet, accompanied with banner inscribed: "The Helmet of Salvation."

A large Cross, with banner bearing the motto: "Simply to thy Cross I Cling," was offered by class ten.

Class eleven presented a banner bearing a gilt shield and the inscription: "By Faith the unseen to the seen is linked."

Class twelve offered an anchor and bore the banner of the School as a reward for the largest contribution during the year of any class in the school, proper—nay besides the Bible classes.

Class thirteen—first Bible class—presented a full-rigged ship with banner inscription: "Homeward bound."

Class fourteen brought a sword, with appropriate banner motto: "Fight the Good Fight of Faith."

Class fifteen, which was the prize Bible class, presented a large crown and a ladder, with banner inscribed: "Nearer, my God, to Thee."

The classes presented also a number of large evergreen letters, which, when placed on the large arch, spanning the pulpit, made the sentence: "CROWN HIM LORD OF ALL." The letters were purposely put on, as they were presented, with such irregularity as to keep the audience constantly on the qui vive, trying to divine what the sentence would be.

A separate short address was delivered to each class as it came forward with its offering. Rev. Mr. Graves, of the Presbyterian Church Rev J. R. Brooks, and Maj. Slocumb performed this part of the exercise. Major S. also gave a short practical address bearing on the history and good results of the school. All the class offerings and addresses were interspersed with good music by the school, led by their choir and organ.

Next came an earnest, well written and practical address from H. F. Grainger, Esq., one of the most devoted and faithful workers in the school.

The very interesting exercises were then closed by placing the large crown, presented by Mr. Grainger's class, on the arch that was inscribed "Crown Him Lord of All," while the choir and congregation sang: "All hail the power of Jesus' name," etc., to the tune of Coronation, Rev. Mr. Graves pronouncing the benediction.

The ceremonies are doubtless deeply inscribed in the hearts of the children present, and older ones too. The scene around the pulpit presented a most impresive and yet brilliant display of handsome banners and other decorations, and entire programme was well carried out Great credit is due Mr. W. F. Kornegay, the efficient and zealous Superintendent, who planned, and his excellent corps of teachers and others, who assisted him in giving this very impressive and instructive entertainment. It is thought by those whom we have heard speak of it to have been the most unique and interesting exhibition of the kind they ever witnessed May Goldsboro have many more such.

[The above is republished by request from the Messenger. After it was in type, in our office, we received a special and well written communication from a friend in Goldsboro' giving an account of the same celebration. It came too late, however, for this week's Advocate. We may publish it in our next issue. Eds. of Advocate.]

Messrs Editors: Please say to the lovers of Zion that the good Lord is still with us I am now holding a protracted meeting at our new church, near Liddy's paper mills. I began services last Saturday night, and am still continuing Last night 5 joined the church, and 2 professed faith in Christ. Since the meeting began, 7 have made a profession of religion. We still look for greater results. Great seriousness is manifested. Several penitents still are at the altar crying for mercy. Dear Brethren I ask an interest in your prayers. I want to circulate the Advocate among these people. The name I now send you is a member of this new church. First Methodist Church ever built in this neighborhood.

Your Bro. in Christ.
P. F. W. STAMEY.

Notice.

All the ministers and delegates who expect to attend the Raleigh District Conference to be held at Oxford will please notify me by letter at once. All who reach Henderson on Wednesday will be provided with a conveyance to Oxford free of charge.

J. R. GRIFFITH P. C
Oxford N. C.

Sunday-School Missionary Societies.

A short time since we published in the Church-papers, and sent in the packages of missionary blanks, some suggestions as to the form of a Constitution for Sunday-school Missionary Societies. In what may be considered a preamble to those suggestions we quoted from what proposed to be Article XVIII. of the Constitution of the Board of Missions. A letter to-day from the Rev. M. H. Neely, Presiding Elder, in Texas, reminds us that the clause we quote is not in the Constitution—and sure enough he is right. The mistake occurred on this wise: We had lying on our table, when we began to write, the report of the Board of Missions side by side with the Journal of the last General Conference; the latter we had just been using in reference to another matter, we easily made the mistake of referring to Article XVIII. of the Constitution of the Board of Missions, as it appears in the Journal in the original draft. The letters on our table asking for a Constitution for Sunday-School Societies led us to suppose that the clause was retained, and we did not examine farther. The whole fault lies at the door of the Associate Secretary. But after all, is it not rather a happy providence than a hurtful mistake? Again and again Sunday-school Missionary Societies have been recommended by almost every department of the Church, from Bishops down. All recognize their importance, and the Secretaries join heartily in commending them to the earnest efforts of pastors and Churches. The suggestions as to the form of Constitution will be none the less valuable because the duty is optional instead of imperative. Let us hope that the good work begun in this direction will be continued throughout the breadth of the Church. Begging pardon for our oversight, we are yours in the bonds of a common cause,

D. C. KELLEY,
Associate Secretary B. M., M. E. C., S.

Constitution of Sunday-School Missionary Societies.

Quite a number of inquires come to the Secretaries in reference to a form of constitution for such societies.

We would commend that the whole school be considered members of the society—the teachers a Board of Managers. Let the society elect, say, the pastor President, the Superintendent Vice president, one of the members Secretary, another Treasurer. Place one of our juvenile cards, or one ruled to suit the views of the Board of Managers, in the hand of a member of each class elected by the class; let the collector so elected get a subscription from each member of the class, and anyother friends not members of the Church, collections to be made monthly. Say once a quarter hold a meeting of the society; let the collector from each class, as the class is called by the Secretary, advance to the Treasurer's table, hand in the card, with names attached. Let the money collected accompany the card—that from the infant class in a box, from the other classes in envelopes. Let the Treasurer keep a record of the names and amounts in a well-bound book. After the cards and money have been handed in, let there be singing and speeches from juvenile and adult members previously selected, followed, if the audience justifies, by a collection. This is simple, and, if earnestly worked, will be found effective.

J. B. McFERRIN,
D. C. KELLEY,
Secretaries.

Religious Brevities.

The salaries of the Bishops of the Southern M. E. Church are now paid by voluntary contribution from the members of Churches. Their treasurer reports them fully paid up.

All the Methodist bodies in the United States and Canada will be represented at the "Fraternal Camp Meeting," which will be held at Round Lake, New York, July 1—11.

The union of the Presbyterian Church and the Church of Scotland has been consummated. The united church is to be designated the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

Bishop Simpson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has gone to Germany to hold the Germany and Switzerland Conference, which meets July 15.

According to statistics by the London Methodist, during the last half century Methodism in the agricultural districts of England is gaining on the population, and in almost a stagnant population, so far as increase goes, it has doubled its membership in fifty years. It says: "These facts should forever dissipate any fears that any one may have felt that we are losing our hold on country districts."

A London dispatch of June 9, says: "Children's meeting, in connection with the revival movement, was held to-day, in Bow Hall. The services were conducted by Major Cole, of Chicago. Fully 10,000 children were present. The meeting is said to have been most picturesque, and the singing is described as wonderful. Similar smaller meetings were held in Victoria Theater and other places.

The Presbytery of Holston (Tenn.) Northern Presbyterians, at its late session, voted to spend their Summer vacation in an active campaign among the destitute in the mountains of North Carolina. They start on the 16th of August, on horseback, with two days' cooked rations in their haversacks, which, with what they will be able to forage, will enable them to reach Buncombe county, their base of operations. Then, two by two, with as many elders as can be induced to join the expedition, they will commence protracted meetings at different points. These will be continued till the 26th, when the Presbytery will hold its semi annual meeting at the Reems Creek church, Buncombe county.

Madison, Indiana, is in the midst of a revival that is said to have no parallel in its past history. Over seven hundred and fifty souls have professed conversion, the great majority of them young men and young women. Some two weeks ago, a few young men of the Young Men's Christian Association went to that city to hold a convention, expecting to remain about three days. The work commenced at once, and has been growing in interest from day to day. Open air meetings are held two or three times each day, as no church can contain the multitudes that assemble.

PROGRESS.—The Rev. B. Helm gives some striking instances of the success of the gospel in China, of which we only quote two: "Canton has long been noted as one of the most difficult fields in China. Whether or not this arises from that most unrighteous opium war of Great Britain, it is hard to say. But the naturally rugged disposition of the Cantonese has been long arrayed against foreigners and their religion. After thirty years' labor the Presbyterians only had a membership of forty eight. But last year, in answer, in part no doubt, to special prayer, the Spirit was poured out and fifty two were gathered in. A part of this blessing is owing to the faithful labors of a number of ladies among the women. In Fat Shan, a large market town west of Canton, a station was established a few years since by the native churches of Canton and Hong Kong. After a few rumors were started about Christians dropping magic pills in the wells, and a mob tore down the chapel. As they attacked it during the time of service, some of the Christians barely escaped with their lives. The heathen then piled rubbish on the lot, as they do on one where a fire has originated and burned down other houses, to prevent the owners rebuilding. If they were obliged eventually to indemnify the sufferers, who leveled off the heap and erected a chapel on a more conspicuous elevation. The church now numbers fifty members.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Charlotte proposes to sell her fair grounds.

The Jefferson Messenger has been discontinued.

Last week Mr. Osborne Perkins, of Burke, fell dead from his horse.

Yadkin has nominated John A. Stephenson, Esq., for the Convention.

Concord Register says the wheat crop will not be much short in Cabarrus county.

A storm scattered a dancing party at the Central Hotel, Hickory, when the lightning split the roof.

Judge Bynum on Friday filed in the Supreme Court, a dissenting opinion in the R. & D. R. R. Gauge case.

Dr. Gleitsmann, of Baltimore, has established a mountain sanitarium for persons suffering with pulmonary diseases at Ashville.

Messenger: It pains us to hear that Robert, a young son of our old friend S. P. Cox, Esq., of Speight's Bridge, Greene county, was accidentally drowned in the Contentnea on Friday last.

Rockingham Spirit of the South: A few days ago in the neighborhood of Cole's Hundred, in this county, James Norris shot Thomas Bass. We have not learned the cause of the difficulty or the extent of the damage done, but suppose it is not serious.

We learn by the Rockingham Courier that several weeks ago a fight took place between Sandy McCormac and his wife in Wolf Pit township, and during the scuffle the wife stabbed Sandy under the left shoulder blade On last Tuesday Sandy died, The wife has been arrested.

A few days ago Hon. H. M. Pelk, of Bolivar, Tenn., in the name of the Central Executive Committee of the Centennial Celebration of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, of Tennessee, sent through Governor Porter, a national flag one of four used on the great occasion.

Judge Shenck has decided that the usufy law is constitutional and applies to National Banks as well as to individuals.

There was great rejoicing in Chapel Hill when the election of the corps of Professors was made known. The old college bell and the church bells of the town were rung in honor of the joyful tidings of the returning glory of the place. The repairs on the college buildings are going steadily on, and by the first of September everything will be in readiness.

John M. Brower of Surry has planted 250 acres in tobacco requiring 1,250,000 plants.

St. John's Day was celebrated at the Oxford Orphan Asylum by Tuscarora Lodge and other Lodges of Granville county. Dr. Eugene Grissom of the Insane Asylum, and Mr. Blount, the Grand Master of Masons, delivered addresses on the occasion.

We learn that the proceeds of the ... ture of Gov. Vance last week amounted for the benefit of Messrs. William ... Bingham, amounted to $225.

The Democrats of Martin have nominated Jacob S. Waldo to represent them in the State Constitutional Convention.

The Democrats of ... Wm. Allen for Governor, for Lieutenant Governor ...

The Sentinel says Tom Huske, of Hillsboro, carelessly left his gun cocked and was standing with his right hand on the muzzle, when the gun fired off, blowing his hand to pieces.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.—TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

[illegible] and local preachers in the bounds [illegible] Conference are our authorized [illegible] any person sending us ten subscribers, for [illegible] will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

[illegible] communication should be carefully [illegible] on one side of the sheet. All letters [illegible] should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

[illegible] money, all amounts should be sent in [illegible] Register, postoffice or express check. The cost [illegible] of Post Office order can be deducted [illegible] when received. If money is sent otherwise [illegible] connected it will be at the sender's risk.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We direct attention to the following new advertisements:

Situation wanted by an experienced [illegible] E. P. He can give good references.

Samuel H. Hughes advertises his [illegible] school in Orange county. He is a teacher of long experience and [illegible] prepared by him stand well [illegible] Colleges where they matriculate.

W. R. & R. S. Tucker advertise [illegible] their stock of goods, full and [illegible]

Petty and Jones, No 20 Fayetteville [illegible] are in receipt of daily invoices [illegible] fall goods, latest styles, attractive and cheap.

General News

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Gentlemen in [illegible] opposition are apprehensive that, [illegible] prompt measures be taken with regard to the continued raids on the Texas border, the United States and Mexico may become involved in serious difficulties. There is no doubt that the Mexican [illegible] is, as it has repeatedly in [illegible] in our own, in reply to frequent protests and [illegible] for the removal of all [illegible] that could possibly produce a conflict of arms between the two countries, [illegible] border being far from the Capital, [illegible] exercise its desired control over the Northern States of that Republic. Two years ago the Mexican Government protested against the invasion of its soil by Gen. McKenzie, in pursuit of Mexican raiders, but our Government could make no amends, and did not censure that officer considering that the pursuit was justified by circumstances. The army will now act promptly in protecting American citizens, assisted by such naval appliances as necessity may demand. The steamer Plymouth, Captain Russel, has been ordered to the mouth of the Rio Grande, whence the crew will proceed in armed launches to the points where their services will be required. The command of the border is entrusted to Gen. Ord, in which the Government has entire confidence, both as to his discretion and efficiency.

A press cablegram of the Western Advocate writing to that paper under date of May 28th from Missouri gives us some idea of the multitudes of grasshoppers which at that time were devouring the country, in the following incident. Yesterday morning I went to the city of Independence, of this (Jackson) county, and as we passed a one-hundred-acre rye field of a neighbor, we noticed the pests had entered in force, and on our return in the evening we found they had held a "barbecue" on it during the day, and the one hundred acres of rye was completely destroyed. Day before yesterday there was [illegible] around the court-house yard [illegible] Independence, by two men in forty-five minutes, fifteen barrels of them, which weighed two hundred and twenty pounds to the barrel."

Tom McGregan, a notorious desperado, [illegible] by the tragic end of his counsel, Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, who lost his life in explaining some points in the trial of McGregan for the murder of [illegible] named Myers, was assassinated in his office at Hampton last week.

[illegible] to be sent over the Fifth or Sixth Avenue cars on the largest in [illegible] These cars will be 150 feet, and [illegible] 60 feet apart, nearly 100. The largest [illegible] in existence is one 1,500 feet, or [illegible] of a mile in length, and the [illegible] 150 feet. It will cost about [illegible]

The police census of New York city, shows [illegible] in the city, 107,057 children between the ages of 5 and 14 years. Of [illegible] are in attendance at public [illegible] private schools 65,395; parish [illegible] 15,856; German schools, 3,276; corporation schools, 2,001; taught at home, 1,295; [illegible] school, 5,607.

The annual Commercial says that the [illegible] that are established their [illegible] of the line of the Cincinnati [illegible] Railroad in Grant County, Kentucky are making efforts by threats and other [illegible] to induce away the [illegible] now on the road, for the [illegible] a very decent good persons of their [illegible] Cincinnati.

Bankruptcy Jones21 —It is learned on good authority that a search of the conference [illegible] in Philadelphia, between the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania ticket [illegible] agents, rates on western bound [illegible] will be advanced to-day in Philadelphia [illegible] It is rumored, and that the rates will be further advanced in a few days. There [illegible] no change in passenger rates for a day or two.

Twenty workmen strikers are now in course [illegible] at locomotive shop in Philadelphia, [illegible] for South American railroads.

The Legislature of Williams has conferred the [illegible] Civil Rights on Hon. George Bancroft, [illegible] and Henry W. Longfellow, [illegible]

[illegible] that 350,000 quarts of strawberries [illegible] been shipped from Charleston, [illegible] the present season for which over $100 [illegible] realized.

Louisville, Ky., has voted an appropriation of $2,500 to the Catholic school of that place. The report that tax payers have refused the collection."

South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Connecticut, all participated through their military representatives in Bunker Hill celebration.

Foreign prospects in Kansas are better [illegible] and crops are hard [illegible] the crops will be so large that fears [illegible] that not enough men can be [illegible] to secure them.

[illegible] seems to believe that the French [illegible] has decided that a general election [illegible] be held this year, and there is no [illegible] that the Assembly will vote for a final [illegible] as to the government assents to it.

The long strike of the coal miners in Pennsylvania is ended by their going to work at [illegible] cents from the 60 cents and Wilkesbarre Dispatch employed about 11,000 men [illegible] work.

[illegible] that the honey product of San [illegible] County this year will be fully 600 [illegible] gallons, two hundred thousand [illegible] more than a single county is producing in the whole country only about three years [illegible]

Mr. Tennyson's charge for the little poem [illegible] amounts in $500.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railway and the [illegible] Company have at last compromised [illegible] difficulties.

[illegible] weighing fourteen tons will be [illegible] the contributions from Ohio to the [illegible] Centennial.

Democrats of Ohio have nominated [illegible] for Governor and Samuel F. Cary [illegible] Governor.

[illegible] nearly 28,000 miles of submarine [illegible] on the globe's surface.

[illegible] years wears on us watchguard the [illegible] of his deceased grandmother.

Foreign News.

A deputation from the English Anti Slavery Society recently waited on Lord Derby with a request that the English government offer its services as mediator between Spain and Cuba. Lord Derby answered that the government would be glad to assist in pacifying the Island, but that any move in that way would not be looked upon favorably by either Spain or the United States

Under priestly pressure the Spanish government is apparently receding from the ground it recently took in favor of religious freedom when asked by the Papal Nuncio to suppress every form of worship but the Catholic. It has issued a decree in which it promises to do "justice to the Church." That evidently means its intention to try to satisfy the Pope and at the same time not offend it European neighbors.

For seven years Spain has waged war against the Cuban rebels, and they are as defiant and as hopeful now as ever. It is said that the Captain General, only recently appointed, has sent in his resignation, declaring his inability to suppress the rebellion, and to furnish the vast sums of money that the home government demands from Cuba in order to carry on the Carlist war. Appeals have been made to the volunteers to take matters into their own hands and make peace with the rebels, for it is believed that Spain will soon offer the independence of the Island for a sum of money.

The Catholics of Italy who reject the Vatican decrees sent a large number of representatives to Naples on the first of May, who there laid the foundation of a national church by electing a Bishop, Bishop Coadjutor, and Vicar General.—This is the newest of the Old Catholic churches, but it is said to be the result of several years' preparation. Among its members are Deputies of the National Parliament, members of the bar, priests, literary men, and numerous representatives of the working classes. As yet the movement is confined to Southern Italy, where it has reached Naples, Salerno, Foggia, Bari, Palermo, Messina, and Syracuse, and many of the small communes. Some Romans have also promised to join it.

The chairman of the "committee of five" appointed by the Trustees of the University at their recent meeting, to take steps to reopen the University, has determined to call a joint meeting of the committee and the Faculty elect in this city on Wednesday the 30th instant.

The committee is as follows: Messrs. Kemp P. Battle, Chairman, B F. Moore, P. C. Cameron, Rev. J. V. McKoy, D. M. Carter, John Manning, W. L. Saunders, John A. Gilmer, John E. Duggar.

A correspondent of the Wilmington Journal writing to that paper from Lilesville, Anson co., says concerning a disastrous storm of rain, wind and hail which passed over the Northeastern portion of Anson on Saturday 15th inst: "From a mile North of Lilesville to Duma's and Standback's ferries an immense amount of damage was done to the crops, several fields of oats, wheat, corn and cotton being utterly ruined. . Up to this time the crops were generally very promising and in good condition."

Appreciating his lecture in Raleigh, the Jewish element of Raleigh presented Gov. Vance, on Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. Theodore Joseph with a handsome gold watch. The presentation was made by Mr. M. Grausman in an elegant manner, and the gift was received by the Governor in his usual felicitous style. Gov. Vance, by this lecture, is winning to him the Jewish element of the land.

As an evidence of the effect of the usury law, we append the following from the Charlotte Observer: 'We stepped into one of the Charlotte Banks yesterday and saw immense piles of greensback packed up in nice little bundles of one hundred dollar packages, as if ready for shipment. Upon inquiry we learned that the amount in dollars was fifty thousand, and that its destination was Columbia, S. C. Upon further inquiry we learned that all the surplus cash that could be spared was being sent North or South where there are no usury laws. The constant drain has now been going on for some time, and has produced a stringency in trade and business, which is alarming.'

Publishing a daily paper is expensive business. The entire cost of the New York Herald is said to average $2,500 daily, or $952,500 a year. The Tribune and Times are published at a cost of $1,500 daily, and the World at $700 to $800.

The Secretary of State has received official information from Russia, Germany and Portugal, that vessels from America loaded with potatoes will not be allowed to discharge their cargo. This precaution is taken to prevent the introduction of the potato bug into those countries.

Marriages.

Married at Brooklyn Chapel, near Raleigh, by Rev J. H. Cobbitt, on the evening of the 24th instant, Mr. M. F. Rogers and Miss Cornelia P. Rogers.

Married at the residence of the bride's father on 20th May by Rev. Ira T. Wyche, Mr Daniel Jones to Miss Helen S. Oliver of Robeson county N. C.

Deaths.

☞Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of four words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow four words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.☜

Harriet D. Beasley, daughter of Isaac and Harriet Webb, and wife of Wm. H. Beasley, was born in Person, N. C., Oct. 1826, converted and united with the M. E. Church in '44, moved to Tennessee in '46, and died April '75. She maintained a remarkably unselfish christian character—was meek and patient during a long protracted illness, as well as amidst life's perplexities, and triumphant in death.

F. M. B.

Died in Charlotte N. C. May the 4th, Cyrus Edgar son of W. A. and Nannie C. Ross, aged 5 years 5 months and 22 days.

Also on May the 19th, Ola Lee daughter of the same, aged 2 years 3 months and 28 days.

Two sweet little flowers have thus been transplanted in a more genial clime, to bloom to fade no more. God bless the bereaved parents!

P. J. CARRAWAY.

Mrs. Mary L. Canaday, wife of Bro. Needham Canaday, died on the 25th May 1875, near Morehead City N. C. Sister Canaday was the daughter of John A. and Elizabeth Coston of Onslow co. N. C. and the grand daughter of that blessed old servant of God—the Rev. James Coston dec'd. She was about 30 years of age—had lived an exemplary christian life for about sixteen years, showing to the church and the world by an upright walk and a godly conversation, that she had been with Jesus. In all the relations of life, as wife, mother and daughter, she was affectionate and true.

She leaves an afflicted husband, 3 children, father, mother and sisters, and many others to mourn their loss, but not like those who have no hope.

L. W. PITTOTT, Pastor.

Mr. Alford Raoul was born at Mt. Meigs, Montgomery co. Ala. July 18th 1811 and died in Hickory N. C. May 26th 1875.

Mr. Raoul was married to Miss Ella N Neal, daughter of Col Jasper Neal of Marion N. C. May 10th 1868, since which time he has made his home in N. C. He had not long resided in his new home when he gained many warm friends and soon become a most welcome citizen. He was a gentleman of worth and culture. Naturally of a modest disposition and retiring manners his real excellence was known only to those who knew him best, and by these he was much admired and loved. Mr Raoul was a model gentleman, friend, husband, father and though he never connected himself with the visible church his life was of the most chaste and christian character and gave evidence that he had the life of righteousness within. Three years ago his hopes of a long life were blighted by signs of pulmonary consumption yet his condition was not alarming until six weeks before his death. Thinking he might derive benefit he left his home in Marion to go to the Mineral Springs, but when he reached Hickory his strength gave way and in a few days he died. He frequently expressed himself as ready to lay at his Lord and as having no fear of death. He leaves a sorrowing wife and three children. Among his papers after his decease was found a most beautiful and consoling poem, from which the following couplet is taken:

"Weep not for him, who thus hath died,
Who kept the faith and stemmed the tide,
And by the power of God's own grace,
Hath gained the land of perfect bliss

He dwells with angels bright and fair,
In happiness with them to share,
Among the saints of God he stands,
He sees Jesus at God's right hand."

May wife and children rest with him there.

J. T. HARRISS.

Walter L. Skeen son of James C. and Emily M. Skeen, aged 24 years died in Randolph county, May 11 h 1875. He seemed to be conscious from the moment in which that dread question of so many stout young men, Typhoid Fever, had hold upon his strong form that he would not recover, hence bore his affliction without a murmur.

Nine months before his death, he joined the Methodist Church

He said, while sick, "I love Jesus"—who can do more? Resigning his peace upon earth amid friends, and reclining his head upon Jesus' breast, is no loss to him.

As a child depending upon an earthly father, he was dutiful as a student none surpassed him; as a man, he was philanthropy having the right and defending his companions

As manhood ripened in anticipate beauty, his parents and friends soon to have rejoiced could he have realized all, but God knows best, and hein his affliction seeing this met his end as calmly as man ever died, without a struggle.

A FRIEND.

At a regular communication of Prospect Lodge No. 211, held May 15th A. L. 5875, the following preambles and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Supreme Grand Master of the Universe, has seen fit in His mysterious providence to call from labor to rest, from the sublime by lodge to the celestial Lodge above, our esteemed friend and brother J. W. Goodman, who fell asleep calmly and peacefully April 26 A. L. 5875 Therefore,

Resolved That while we lament the death of him whose place in our midst can not be filled, but whose exemplary life and character enabled him to transmit to surviving friends a rich legacy so that, "being dead he yet speaketh." that while our affection for him, could not stay the progress of his disease, nor arrest the blow of the fell destroyer, we bow in humble submission to the will of him who "doeth all things well."

Resolved, That, we cherish in our hearts the memory of his all tingal had worth, that we be admonished by this dispensation of Providence of the uncertainty of life, and endeavor so to live that the sweetness of his piety and the brightness of his example may fall like a mantle upon us.

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Goodman the Masonic Fraternity has lost one of its brightest ornaments, the church (Presbyterian) a consistent member, the community, a wise counselor, and the State a useful and highly esteemed citizen.

Resolved That we offer to the bereaved wife and children of our deceased brother our sincere condolence that we commend them in our prayers to him who is a "father of the fatherless and a judge of the widow."

Resolved That, a copy of these resolutions be furnished the family of our departed brother, and that copies be sent to the North Carolina Presbyterian and Raleigh Christian Advocate with request to publish.

THOS. A. COOKE,
T. N. CROCKER,
S. A. D. HART, } Com.

Letters and Funds.

Rev T A Coon for J H Johnston $2 20 A J Moore sell 2.20 J A Arthur Rev J F Smoot paper continued. G J Kittle. self 2.20. W Harris paper continued. T H Lowder Rev S Y Brown paper changed Geo D H Hill Miss E J Brodie J A Monroe H Haley. sell 2.20. J Daniel Rev A D Betts paper sent. Rev J Sandford papers changed and continued. Rev J H Martin for J Atwater 2 20. T A Long 1 10 S M Barbee 2.20. W J Herring corrected Rev J W Shackford for Mrs M M Kearney 2.20. J Draper 2.20. Mrs M E Williams 2.20. Rev J J Carden paper continued J N Dunlap paper changed. J A Tyson Rev J F Craven paper sent. Rev L L Hendren Rev R S Webb W H Cloyd sell 2 20 Rev J M Lumly Rev E A Yates Rev W Roy for L S Mildrett 2.20 Mrs N E Simmons 2 20 Mrs Mary Middlett 2.20. H C Carter 2 20. J N Brown sell 2 20 J C Burgham all right. Rev R A Wills Miss Jane B Miller Rev N A Hooker for T Wilcox 2 20 Miss Olivia Scott 2.20. Rev S R Trawick Rev J D Alford for L E Parker 2 20. Mrs M W Williams 2.20. other papers sent. Rev J H Wheeler N W Ayer & Son S E Allen E J Hale & Son Rev T L Triplett Rev C C Dodson J A Monroe C H Foster Mrs R Gibbs Rev F L Reid N Barnes, self 2. Rev G Farrar paper continued. B F Lunn sell 2.20. R C Pattillo Rev P J Carraway for D B Rigler 2.20 Rev P F W Stamey paper sent. Rev J T Harris J M Seidman self 2.20. Rev J J Carden papers sent Rev L W Pigott E W Taylor sell 2.20. W A Mitchell self 2.20. kind words appreciated. T C W Busbamer J W Hower E H Hughes for adv. 2. E Alden Thos H Fee self 50cts. Rev W C Norman for subscribers 4.33, Mrs J A Henly self 2 20. Mrs M A Tucker sell 2.20 J S Joyner self 2 Z H Burnett self 2.20 K H Worthy sell 2 20 Rev T A Boone, papers sent. W A Darden for Mrs R Hoye 2.20. L Overman Lz J T Ross 2 20. Rev Jas Willson for F G Griffin 2.20, L Harvey 2.20. R C Hay 1 10, other papers sent Dr J F Latham paper changed. M C Latham paper changed. Rev W S Black paper continued. Rev H T Hudson L J Hoyle sell 2.20 C A Gault paper sent. Rev T M Jones W K Stanly paper sent. M M Pugh sell 1 30. Rev G W Ivy for J A Watts 2 20. Miss M Earnest 2 00 other papers continued Rev S D Adams Mrs S D Twitty Rev B T Blake Rev J R Brooks paper continued. Rev L E Stacey paper changed. S M Peebles sell 1.10. Mrs F M Bumpass Rev W G Starr sell 2,20 Rev H H Moore paper sent T W Smith papers continued. Rev F L Reid for Mrs W K Davis 2.20. E L Stegall 1.10. J L Cardwell 2 20. Rev W Harris sell 2.20. 2 80 applied as requested. Rev L E Stacey next week. N H Kayler sell 2 20 Rev R A Willis papers sent. Rev T P Rleand paper continued.

Appointments.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	July	3- 4
Pee Dee, Zion.	"	10-11
Fayetteville.	"	17-18
Laurinburg, Laurinburg,	"	24-25
Robeson, Salem, July 31.	Aug.	- 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Uwharie, Concord.	"	14-15
Montgomery, Eleazer,	"	21-22
Buckhorn, Apex,	"	28-29

Campmeetings will be held in connection with the Quarterly Meetings for Uwharrie and Monigomery circuits commencing on Saturday evening. Brethren in the ministry are invited to be with us.

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

THIRD ROUND IN PART.

Mocksville et Mt Zion,	July	3- 4
Mocksville et Concord,	"	10-11
Yadkinville ct. Zion Chapel,	"	17-18
Surry ct. Rockford,	"	24-25
Mt. Airy station,	July 31.	August 1

The District Conference will be held at Mt. Airy, commencing on Wednesday night July 28th, Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren out of the District are invited to attend.

The preachers on the District are hereby notified to send to Rev. S. M. Davis, at Mt. Airy, the names of all their delegates and local preachers, and also state the probable number of horses that will be carried up. Attention to this request is absolutely necessary in order to prevent confusion.

D. R. BURTON, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Tarboro, at Noble's	July	3- 4
Williamston at Palmegra,	"	10 11
Washington and Greenville, at Shady Grove,	"	17-18
Plymouth & Jamesville, at Jamesville	"	24-25
Cape Hatteras, at Chickscomicko	"	31 and August 1st.
Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trenl.	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug.	11, 12 13 14. 15
Portsmouth,	"	17, 18, 19, 20 21, 22
Columbia at Gume Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4 - 5
Warren,		11-12

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Hillsboro ct.	June	26- 27
Alamance ct. Chavers Garden,	July	3 - 4
C hill & H. River, Cedar Grove,	"	10-11
Durham, Orange Church,	"	17 18
Pittsboro, District Conference,	"	24-25
Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	- 1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7 - 8
Leasburg, Union,	"	14-15
Yanceyville, New Hope,	"	21-22
Flat River.	"	28 29

Our District Conference will be held at Pittsboro, commencing Thursday the 22d of July. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. J. Reun We cordially invite brethren from other Districts to be with us. We certainly expect one or both the Editors to be with us.

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND IN PART.

Greensboro,	July	3- 4

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jones, Cypress Creek,	July	3- 4
Elusion, Monday,	"	- 5
Beaufort S. School Convention,	"	8 11
Carteret, Morehead city, Fr. night,	"	- 16
Wayne, Thompson's,	"	17-18
Newbern	"	24 25
Straits, Wednesday,	"	-28
Lenoir, Woodington,	July 31 &	Aug 1
Snow Hill Bethel,	Aug	7- 8
Mt Olive, Indian Springs, Friday,	"	13
Goldsboro.	"	14-15
Neuse & S Creek Upper B. Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson,	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. YATES, P. E
Beaufort N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Pleasant Grove ct. at Bethlehem	June	12 13
Monroe S s.	"	-17
Monroe ct at Liberty Chapel.	"	19 20
South Charlotte at Mill Grove.	"	26-27
Wadesboro sta.	July	- 2
Wilsville ct at Shiloh.	"	3- 4
Pineville ct at Hebron	"	10-11
Wadesboro ct at Bethel	"	17- 18
Concord sta. and Concord ct	"	24 25
Tryon st. and Calvary Miss	Aug	1 - 2
Mt Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Albemarle and Stanley	"	14 15
Ansonville, ct	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Kenansville at Charity Chapel,	June	20 21
Wilmington, 5th St.,	"	27-28
Clinton at Goshen.	July	18-19
Cokesbury at Bethel,	"	25 26
Whiteville at Abbottsburg.	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. }	at Center,	" 15-16
Topsail.		" 22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,		" 29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville.	"	12-13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND, IN PART.

Cherry Mountain, Hopewell,	June	19 20
Shelby ct. Sulphur Springs,	"	26 27
Dallas, Sander's Chapel,	July	3- 4
Rutherford, Pleasant Grove,	"	10 11
Lincoln Ebenezer,	"	17-18
Shelby District Conference,	"	22-25

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND, Q. M.

Granville at Bullocks,	June	5- 6
Raleigh at Person st.	"	12-13
Louisburg station,	"	19-20
Raleigh at Edenton st.	"	26-27
Tar River at Trinity.	July	3- 4
Henderson at Zion,	"	10-11
Rotherville at Oaky Grove.	"	17-18
District Conference at Oxford, inclusive.	"	22-25
Nashville and Rocky Mount,	August	7- 8
Cary,	"	14-15
Smithfield,	"	21-22
Youngsville,	"	28-29

The introductory sermon at the District Conference will be preached by Rev. J. E. Thompson.

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Oxford on Saturday July 24th.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.
June 29, 1875.

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm and dull.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light Low middlings 14¼ 4

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7.50 @
CORN 90@1 10
CORN MEAL.—$1.00
BACON, N. C. sog round, 18.
" hams 16 1-2
BULK G. R. sides, 13 1-2
" shoulders, 10 1-2
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western tierces, 17½ 2-20
" kegs, 17½ 4
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 24 1-2
" Fair Rio, 22 1-2.
SYRUP, common, 40.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00.
SUGAR, A 11 1-2.
" Extra C. 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 9@10 1-2.
LEATHER, Sole, 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 6@8.
" dry, 15. 1-2
TALLOW, 7@8
POTATOES, sweet none.
" Irish. $1.00@$1.25.
OATS, shelled, 85. @90
" sheaf, $1.25.
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N. C. baled, good, $1.25. 1.50
CHICKENS, grown, 25 @30
EGGS, 12 1-2@22 1-2
BUTTER, country, 22 1-2@25.
FISH, Mullets, $7.50.
" Cut Herrings, none.
" Mackerel, new family. $17.50
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 2½ 3
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

Greensboro, N. C.

The Fall Session will begin on the 19th of August.

TERMS REDUCED.

Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights).....$75 00
Tuition in regular English course, ... 25 00

Charges for Extra studies, moderate.

For catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev T. M. JONES, President.

N. H. D. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees

June 30 2m

HUGHES'S ACADEMY.

The sixty-fifth session of my school will commence Monday, July 19th, 1875.

Circulars forwarded on application.

SAMUEL H. HUGHES,
Cedar Grove, Orange co., N. C.

June 30-3w

SITUATION WANTED,

In some College, High School or Academy by a gentleman who is a graduat and who has had the long drag with its latest improvements his best can and study for all he is worth. The best of testimonials furnished. Address, E. P., June 30-tf. Boykin's Depot Va.

NEW GOODS STILL

ARRIVING!

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER!

One of our firm having just returned from the North, where he has been purchasing goods in all the different styles and qualities belonging to our business, in order to repair the broken lines in the various departments, we are again enabled to offer to our customers and the public at large greater inducements than heretofore in Ladies Dress Goods!

Black and Colored Silks,
Summer Silks, Grenadines,
Figured Lawns, and Muslins,
Mohair Suitings,
Ballsic Suitings,
Linen Suitings,
Zebra Suitings.

Plain, Printed and Corded GRASS CLOTHS AND LINEN LAWNS.

BLEACHED GOODS;

Irish Linens, Victoria Lawns, Jaconets,

in better qualities and cheaper than ever offered.

It is useless for us to mention particularly prices to our goods, as it only requires one trial to convince customers themselves that the "TUCKER" cannot and will not be surpassed in low prices by any house in this city or elsewhere, being always up to the "times."

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER

June 30-tf

PETTY & JONES,

DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods.

BOOTS, SHOES,

Hats, Notions, &c., & c.

We are offering select lines of Victoria Lawns, Plain and Checked, Plain and Striped Jaconets, Swiss and Organdies, Black Grenadines, Spring and Summer Dress Goods, Sash and Housekeeping Linens, Printed Linens and Lawns, Plain, Striped, Corded and Checked Grass Cloths, at prices that will enable us to sell all who wish to buy and will give us a call.

Also, together with an extensive line of Hamburg Edgings, and Insertions, Plain and Fancy lines for Ladies and Children. Full lines of Half Hose for Gentlemen and Boys—all grades.

Gloves, Fans, Parasols, Umbrellas

in a great variety and at our prices.

A large assortment of Cashell's hand-made Calf Congress Gaiters. Continental Union and Strap Shoes, just received today. The superiority of this make of Shoes for gentlemen is too well-known by our customers throughout the State to require any praise from us.

Ballou's French Yoke Shirts.

We guarantee a fit or no sale. Directions for measurement sent and Shirts made to order on application.

Our goods are all new and lately received so that we had the advantage of decline in prices in making our purchases.

Our prices are as low as any house can sell good GOODS for. Customers will do well to call and look at our late arrivals before buying.

PETTY & JONES,
No 20 Fayetteville st.

June 30-1f

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

By virtue of an ordinance of the Board of Aldermen passed June 14, there will be an election held on JULY 15TH, 1875, to determine whether the Board of Aldermen shall have authority to issue ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR OF THE CITY BONDS. Those approving the said issue of bonds shall vote "Approved"; those opposing, "Not Approved." The said bonds will not be sold or in any manner used to increase the city debt, but shall be used to fund the present indebtedness of the city. The polls will be opened at the polling places used in the late election.

The Books of Registration for all the wards will be found at the Mayor's office, and those not already registered can have an opportunity of registering.

By order of
THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

June 23 td

SHELBY SEMINARY.

SHELBY N. C.

REV. S. R. TRAWICK, A. M. PRINCIPAL.
Mrs. B. V. TRAWICK, Music and Ornamentals.
Miss JANIA G. DUPANT, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 21 WEEKS.

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic.	15 00
Latin, Greek and French each.	5 00
Incidental fee each	1.00
Music on piano-forte	20.00
Use of instrument	3 00
Board in the school with the principal, per term	$60 00

The next term will begin July 12th. For circular address the principal The low rates, the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.

June 23 2m.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

PATHWAYS OF THE HOLY LAND

Being a Full Description of Palestine. Its History Antiquities, Inhabitants and Customs, according to the Great Discoveries recently made by the Palestine Exploring Expeditions. It sells at sight. Send for our extra terms to Agents, as we sell it cheaper than any other book.

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia Pa.

June 23 2t

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO'S BELLS.

Price toned, low priced, warranted against breakage. Catalogues containing full particulars, prices, etc, sent free.

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO., Cincinnati, O.

june 23-17. 6 p w.

Gospel Singer

BY PHILIP PHILLIPS.

The Singing Book for Sabbath Schools.
JUST ISSUED.

$35. per 100 copies. Sample copy, by mail, 35 cts.

Lee & Walker, 922 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Jan. 16-tf.

PRICE THIS DAY REDUCED TO

40 Cents Per a Bbl,

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL

— WILL NOT EXPLODE.—

Now used in nearly

600,000 Families.

Never an accident directly or indirectly. BURLS IN ANY LAMP.
Beware of SO CALLED safety oils.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

HARDWARE OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

WINDOW GLASS,
PUTTY, OILS, PAINTS,
&c.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.

A. G. LEE. En. H. LEE. CLE R. LEE.

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

We give our entire attention to handling goods on COMMISSION, and therefore can handle to advantage consignments of

Corn,	Corn Meal.	Chickens,
Hay,	N. C. Flour,	Eggs,
Fodder,	Bacon,	and all the
Shuck.	or Green Pork,	products of
Oats,	Beef,	the farm
Peas,	N. C. Hams,	or garden.

All of which we sell for cash, and are therefore able to make prompt returns. We solicit consignments from Western North Carolina, and the State generally.

We call attention to our friends in the city and neighboring country to the fact that we have made arrangements with shippers to leave a constant supply of CORN on hand, and also that always have consignments of the other articles mentioned above. We have to sell for cash but will give you good goods — Try us.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their lots to the market to ship us. We can beat New York if the nett proceeds of your cotton.

When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the VERY HIGHEST market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The ORCHILLA GUANO and The SOUTH SEA GUANO

The SCHOFIELD COTTON PRESS, the best invented.

The DIAMOND COTTON CHOPPER—Every one warranted.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

march 8-tf

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED.

D. S. WAIT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Coats and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchiefs, Neckties, Bows and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the Season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cashe Ruffings, and Fineings, Ladies' Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Tidies and Bands, &c

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jackanets, Striped and Figured Lawns. White Piques, Mul Muslins, Checked Muslins, Nansook and Lin'n Lawns, Corsett Jeans, Cambrics and Linens.

HATS. HATS. HATS.

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Our Stock is complete in this line. Miles and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAIT & BRO.,
54 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N.

mch 17-tf.

J. M. ROSENBAUM,

At Kline's old stand on the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets,

Has received his Spring supply of

Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, and everything usually looked for in a

Gent's Furnishing Store.

His stock of

Ready-Made Clothing

(of which he makes a special

Children's Column.

Answers.

Simon helped Jesus bear the cross. Hunter Potter.

The Babylonish captivity lasted 70 years, because the Israelites had forsaken the Lord and had burned incense unto other gods. Rachel E. Claytor, George E. Prince.

The servant whose ear was smitten off one who was with Christ (Simon Peter) was named Malchus. St. John 18th chap. 10th verse. T. C. W. Boshamer.

"Addie," who must hereafter give her full name, says that the first words of Jesus' public ministry were "Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness."

"Skin for skin" is found in Job 2d chap. 4th v. J. R. Howard.

King of Oz had an iron bedstead.—J. R. Howard, J. W. Howard.

Rachel E. Claytor sends the following answer to Bible Enigma proposed by Kate McKenzie:

It's first is "Well."
" second is Aaron.
" third is Tubilha.
" fourth is Carmel.
" fifth is Hagar.
" sixth is Absalom.
" seventh is Nebo.
" eighth is Didymas.
" ninth is Peniel.
" tenth is Ruth.
" eleventh is Athalias.
" twelfth is Elymas.

The initials of the foregoing words form the whole, a command given by our Saviour, "Watch and pray."

J. W. Howard and J. R. Howard send answer to Cora V. Lyon's Enigma. Jacob, Obed-edom, Rebekah, Darius, Nahab: whole Jordan.

Questions.

George E. Prince asks "whom did the king of Babylon roast in the fire and where is anaccount of the fact given?

Rachel E. Claytor asks of what king and his three sons were the dead bodies burned. This is the only instance of cremation given in the Bible. Rachel E. Claytor.

Cora L. Claytor asks by whom was St. John banished and to what island was he sent. Also who introduced vocal and instrumental music in to the public worship of God.

J. W. Howard asks who called Shimei a "dead dog."

Josephus Daniel asks where the following passage occur in the Scriptures:

"Whither I go ye cannot come" "Ye shall seek me and shall not find me."

"For he that hath, to him shall be given, and he that hath not from him shall be taken even that which he hath."

"Keep yourself in the love of God." The last is one from which says, our little friend, he heard a sermon from Dr. Rosser, which he will never forget.

BIBLE ENIGMA BY J. A. ARTHUR.

My 1st is the city of which Paul claimed to be a citizen.

My 2nd was the mother of John the Baptist.

My 3rd was the man who was struck dead for lying.

My 4th the woman disciple whom Peter raised from the dead at Joppa

My 5th the man who knew the Scriptures from a child.

My 6th the king who slew all the children from two years old and under.

My 7th the direction to which the wise men came to worship Christ.

My 8th the brother of Peter whom Jesus called to follow him while he was casting nets in the sea.

My 9th the place in which the man who lived in the tombs, published what things Jesus had done for him.

My 10th the plant to which Jesus in a parable compared himself and disciple.

My 11th the mountain on which Jesus wept over Jernsalem.

My 12th the centurion who sent to Joppa for Peter.

My 13th the father of Levi.

My 14th the kind of money demand ed of Jesus at Capurnaum.

My 15th the name of the man whom Peter healed who had kept his bed eight years.

My whole is what every little boy and girl should learn to do.

Joe Black.

The first time in my life that I ever saw Joe Black he was out on the side walk in front of the house where he lived. It was a sharp winter morning. He had a coat on, but not a hat. A boy who goes out of a winter morning without any hat on, will be almost sure to catch a cold, get a sore throat, and perhaps have the croup, and be very sick indeed.

There were a number of boys out on the sidewalk, too, and Joe was looking on to see them play, rather than playing with them. Some of them were sliding along on the ice in the gutter, others were snow-balling, and all seemed to be having a fine time.

Pretty soon a man came along. Joe was busy watching the boys, and did not see or hear the man until he was close upon him. The man had a heavy bundle upon his shoulder, and called out rather angrily to Joe, "get out of the way!"

Joe was not a little frightened at the harsh tone in which the man spoke to him, and got out of the way as quickly as he could.

Some boys would have answered this rude man rudely back, and perhaps told him to get out of the way himself; but Joe took the roughness very meekly.

The next morning Joe was out again; only this time he had not got as far as the sidewalk, but was standing on the doorsteps, looking up and down the street, and wondering what he should do. While he was so standing and wondering, the same man came along who had spoken to him so unkindly the day before. He had what looked like the same bundle on his shoulder. The man did not see Joe, but Joe saw him and recognized him. But he kept perfectly still, and watched him go by.

Presently the man, as he walked along, put one hand into his side pocket, and pulled out his handkerchief. In so doing he pulled out one of his mittens, too. It fell, unseen by its owner, upon the sidewalk. When he put his handkerchief back in his pocket he did not miss the mitten. There it lay, just where it fell, the man walking faster and faster away.

Some boys in Joe's place would have been glad that such a cross man had lost his mitten, and would hope that he might never find it.

Not so Joe Black. He saw what had happened—the handkerchief taken out, the mitten fallen and left lying on the walk, the man unconscious even that he had dropped it. I don't know that he so much as thought of the cross way the man had spoken to him the day before. It he did, he did not cherish any resentment. So off he started down the steps and along the walk until he came to the mitten Picking it up, he ran on after the man as fast as his legs could carry him. Instead of calling out to him he waited until he got close behind him, and then gently touched his hand.

The man turned around to see who touched him, and there stood Joe, holding up the mitten.

"Well done," said the man, recognizing the mitten, and feeling in his pocket at the same time. "Well done! Where did you find that?" And he took the mitten, and put it back in his pocket.

Joe only wagged his tail—for he was nothing but a great Newfoundland dog, Joe Black, and he could n't speak a word. But I have sometimes thought that he was more of a gentlemen than the man who dropped the mitten. At any rate, he knew to return good for evil. Do you?—EDWARD ABBOTT, in the Independent.

Rural and Domestic.

HASTENING THE RIPENING OF FRUIT.—Acting upon the principle that renewal of the earth immediately surrounding the roots increases their activity, and accelerates the maturing of all parts of the plant, including the fruit, Mr. Stall removed the earth about an early pear-tree, eight weeks before the normal period of ripening, for a space thirteen to fifteen feet in diameter, and to such an extent as to leave a depth of earth over the roots of only about two and one half inches, which would be thoroughly warmed by the sun. He was surprised not only by the ripening of the fruit in the middle of July, but also by its superior juiciness and flavor. In another experiment the removal of the earth from the north side of the tree alone caused the fruit on that side to ripen several days earlier than on the south side. Frequent watering was, of course, necessary in the above experiments.

A NEW GRASS.—After Gen. Sherman made his march to the sea, all in the wide track of waste and desolation that he made with the tramp of his footmen and the iron feet of his cavalry, there sprung up a new and unknown grass from the soil, which the farmers called "Sherman clover." It would grow up in the most unexpected places, and it is said would root out Bermuda grass; and, as a strange similarity, we now hear that after the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 71 in many districts of France a new vegetation sprang up, evidently the result of the invasion. It was believed that this vegetation would become acclimatized, but very few of the species introduced in this way appear likely to flourish In the departments of Loir and Loir-et-Cher, of one hundred and sixty three German species, at least one half have already disappeared, and the surviving species diminish in vigor each year. Scarcely five or six species appear to manifest any tendency to become acclimatized. Can any of our naturalists account for it?—Savannah Advertiser.

An Invaluable Traveling Companion.

Change of climate, water or diet is apt to induce harrassing and often dangerous diseases. The three changes combined are fatal to thousands of emigrants every year. It is not, then of the last importance to know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are an absolute preventive of the hurtful consequences arising from these causes? Travelers, voyagers, and emigrants to new countries cannot be too often reminded of the fact that this agreeable vegetable tonic is the most reliable safeguard against disorders to which they are far more liable than the habitual denizens of healthy regions. The primal effect of the unwholesome atmosphere which produces what are called malarious fevers, is to depress and debilitate the system. The body then becomes an easy prey to the malignant principle in the air. It is manifest, therefore, that the surest way to avoid all epidemic and endemic maladies of an intermittent type, is to counteract the weakening tendencies of miasma by artificial invigoration. That Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the surest remedial agent of flagging vigor, is a fact which is best appreciated wherever influences inimical to health exist. But it is not alone against malaria that they protect the system They so toughen it to endure with impunity extremes of heat and cold to which travelers are often subjected, and they neutralize those elements in unaccustomed water or diet which would otherwise beget disorders of the stomach and bowels The invalids water with which voyagers by sea are often compelled to quench their thirst, is apt to provoke dysentery and other severe complaints, but when the bitters are mixed with it, it becomes harmless. Truly this great protective is an invaluable traveling companion.

June 21-m

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL, Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf.

Bottled Bliss. It is impossible to conceive of a more refreshing draught than is afforded by Arrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient, which combines the advantages of a luxury with those of the purest, safest and most genial alterative and tonic ever administered as a cure for dyspepsia and bilious affections.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

June 16-3t

Bingham School.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MEBANEVILLE, N. C

The 164rd session will begin 28th July, '75, in new buildings in all respects equal, and in some important respects superior, to any others in the State.

June 16-2m.

THE TOLEDO BLADE

Of National Reputation as a Family Paper The largest and best Weekly in the country Contains all the desirable features of News, Choice Stories, Domestic, agricultural and Horticultural matter Price one year, $1 by mail Jan 1st, 1875 $1.00; Five Blades 3 months, $2.25, Sample Blade (containing, 24 pages $1.50, (40 pages 1.75 illustrated) and Blade one year, $1.75, 64 pages $2.00. Address J. P. JONES Publisher, Toledo O.

June 1-6w

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased Mr Thompson's interest in the late firm I shall continue to keep a

LA GE AND

FULL STORE

of goods belonging to a first class Grocery Store, at the old Stand,

NO. 4 MARTIN STREET, where I shall be pleased to receive many friends and patrons, promising such accommodations as always as they can be had in this market.

Grateful for past patronage, I solicit a continuance of the same.

Yours, respectfully,

J. D. WHITAKER

Raleigh, Feb 23, '57.

mar 12-tf.

THE REPEAL OF THE USURY LAW will doubtless be the first question that will attract the attention of the next Legislative Assembly, but as that is a long way ahead it becomes necessary to learn something for present use Hence we announce the fact that has just received from the North with a stock of

Weikel, The Irrepressible Merchant Tailor,

FINE FRENCH AND ENGLISH CLOTHS, DIAGONALS, STRIPES, CHECKED AND PLAIN CASSIMERES, SPRING AND SUMMER SUITINGS

OF EVERY DESCRIPTON.

LIGHT CASSIMERES FOR PANTS VESTINGS, &c.

the like of which is creating even more excitement on Fayetteville street than did in the line of the North Carolina Rail Road.

THE CHANGE OF GAUGE

He has in Store and is now receiving the largest and most attractive stock ever offered to the before and all to want would do well to call early, as the rush has already commenced.

RALEIGH PUBLIC

The Manufacturing Department is complete in all its branches, with the best workmen in the State on the bench.

Orders from the country respectfully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 14-3m

Books of Bound Music.

Containing the Cream de la Creme of all

Vocal and Instrumental Music.

PAGES FULL SHEET MUSIC SIZE!

Price of each book in Boards $2.50; in Cloth, $3; Gilt, $4.

Gems of German Song, 216 pages	Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song, 216 pages.	Vocal.
Gems of Sacred Song, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Wreath of Pearls, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Wreath of Strauss, 240 pages.	Instrumental.
Operatic Pearls, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Shower of Pearls, 240 pages.	Vocal Duets.
Silver Chord, 216 pages.	Vocal.
Home Circle, Vol. I. 216 pages.	Instrumental.
Home Circle, Vol. II 240 pages.	Instrumental.
Parlor Music, 256 pages.	Piano Duets.
Musical Treasure, 256 pages.	Vocal & Instl.
Pianoforte Gems, 224 pages.	Instrumental.
Gift Album, 224 pages.	Instrumental.
Organ at Home, 240 pages.	For Reed Organ.

The above books are uniform in style and binding are wonderfully cheap for the contents, are sold by all principal music dealers, and will be sent to any address for retail prices.

All books sent post-paid, or by rail Price

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston. C. H. DITSON & CO. 711 B'dway, New York.

June 21-tf.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, $1 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and will only be by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

561 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or have tered one, and I nerve to rest to prove the real value of the articles offered. Your men stroking an agency that will pay would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HARTSFIELD, Enfield, N.C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 50 cts postpaid. G. W. H.

may 19-tf

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE

I would most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to transfer Mr Temple my successor, with the same confidence, they have so liberally bestowed upon him

I will still keep my office in Union Factor in the same building

LYNN ADAMS

march 17 6 m

WANTED.

AGENTS, male and female to sell Pictures every where. Fourteen thousand retailed by one Another writes "I can make more money in this business than I can on a thousand farms all stocked."

WHITNEY & CO.,

Norwich, Conn.

april 7-3 m.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

BE FITTED TO SUIT, THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and freed of the following diseases.

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight ness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, bounding or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Opthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8 Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9 Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, at our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Paul W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky. wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I can put into type, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS fifteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy four old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Major of Dayton, Ohio writes us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I can pass at will them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salem Ky., writing: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE, of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC A PACHMETA, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. Twelve Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to DR. J. BALL & CO. NO 91 LIBERTY STREET, NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 957 Sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED and UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER commissions for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS. Organs sold for cash; or $5, $6, $7, $8, $9, $10, $12, $15, $20, $25, $30, $40, $50, $60, $75, $100, $125, $150, $200, $250, $300, $400, $500, $600, $700, $800, $900, $1000, $1200, $1500, $1800, $2000, $2500, $3000, $3500, $4000, $4500, $5000, $5500, $6000, $6500, $7000, $7500, $8000, $8500, $9000, $9500, $10000, $10500, $11000, $11500, $12000, $12500, $13000, $13500, $14000, $14500, $15000, $15500, $16000, $16500, $17000, $17500, $18000, $18500, $19000, $19500, $20000, $20500, $21000, $21500,

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 27. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, July 7, 1875. | Whole No. 1,065.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

Earth and Death.

BY E. L. PERKINS.

[illegible] death with g swi g linger
[illegible]
[illegible] ive for that his stomach
[illegible] gain from world to world he [illegible]—from star to star he speel—
[illegible] plane with the tears he shed,
[illegible] old pleadings were all vain;
[illegible] Earth's children join
[illegible] charms around her youthful [illegible] and dance—enchanting maze rare.
[illegible] sparkle, in sunlight's glare
[illegible] and Earth's children join
[illegible] with a graceful
[illegible] make me a solemn, lasting vow,
[illegible] my stomach oil may fill,
[illegible] horrid thrill,"
[illegible] warning laugh and quickly
[illegible] my hungry stomach shall be fed"
[illegible] the trumpet ended
[illegible] corrected his instant tare.
[illegible] on earth her children again,
[illegible] now recall again.
[illegible] her lovely love,
[illegible] bear her cross.
[illegible] rich in declining years.
[illegible] and weeping bitter tears.
[illegible] paint the pages orange,
[illegible] all her thoughts engage.
[illegible] her aged brow
[illegible] mentioned in the vow;
[illegible] lamp that lights the future
[illegible] may live through fish must all de-

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

The Anniversary Celebration of the Goldsboro Methodist Sunday-School.

Inasmuch as the anniversary month of the Goldsboro' Methodist Sunday-school, and the 20th inst. was the occasion of the celebration commemorative of the annual return of this month. Many teachers, leaving their foot prints in the moral sands, have "crossed over," and are waiting for the pupils to bring in the sheaves. The history of the school does not differ materially from that of similar institutions. It has had its seasons of adversity and prosperity, and by patiently toiling through the former, now enjoys much of the latter. Teachers and pupils had looked forward with pleasure to the day when ceremonial honors were to be paid to the natal month of their school.

The Superintendent, in unwonted manifestations of energy, worked mysteriously. He was compiling a book of revelation. The date of issue had been announced, but the contents of the volume were unknown except to a few of the teachers and the compiler. What would the breaking of the seal reveal? Perhaps the imagination of the older ones wrought much that was ponderous and grotesque, while Mrs. Galloway's infant constituents alternated from pigmean fairies to diminutive ponies—at times ready to accept either, and then fearful that neither would be the result of the strange movements of the Superintendent.

The Baptist and Presbyterian schools, in response to invitations, were present. Excepting the seats reserved for our school, the church was filled to its utmost seating capacity long before the services were formally opened. The Methodist school formed a procession without the church. Each class, having a banner and symbol, had also been furnished a large evergreen letter. Thus equipped, the line moved into the church and up the centre aisle, when the classes filed into their respectively assigned seats.

Let us turn to the classes and briefly examine the banners and symbols.—A bright-eyed little fellow clasped the ensign of the infant class. The motto is: "Suffer little children to come unto me." Another class, with gilt star, and banner inscribed: "We have seen His Star in the East." A group of children hold a large Bible and the appropriate words: "Holy Bible, book divine," are seen on this banner. One of the rear classes has a full-rigged ship and the standard says: "Homeward bound." "Nearer, my God, to thee," I read from white folds and discover that this class has a representation of Jacob's ladder. "Tho God seest me," in gilt letters, and an emblematic eye, artistically executed, midway the inscription, renders this a beautiful banner.—"Simply to thy cross I cling," suggests, as a substantial expression of this sentiment, a cross, which we find.

It is not to the disparagement of any that we fail to notice the parapherna display of some of the classes, but this sketch will not admit of more minutiæ under this head. Suffice it to say, that in design, execution and ornamentation, both banners and symbols were creditable to the painters brush and the deft fingers of maiden and matron. Within the balustrade was a white arch, measuring from keystone to floor twelve feet, and eight feet in width. The monotony of white was pleasingly interrupted by a line of verdure on the upper and nether surfaces, passing up the alettes and over the curvature.—To give the relievo of a base, two evergreen lines, starting at the pedestals and crossing each other at oblique angles, ran up the column about three feet. This piece of architectural symmetry was soon to be rendered more attractive in a novel and imposing manner.

A voluntary by the choir was followed with prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Jno. R. Brooks, after which remarks introductory to the anniversary services were made by the superintendent. The classes were separately called, and in response appeared before the arch and delivering banner, symbol and evergreen letter, remained standing until after the singing of a stanza—selected because of its consonance, in sentiment with the spirit of the motto and symbol. The pastor and the Rev. N. Z. Graves, of the Presbyterian church, alternately addressing the classes, commenting on the mottoes and explaining the moral significance of the symbols.

The manner of arranging the evergreen letters quickened the guessing faculties of the audience. When a letter was presented, it was immediately placed on the arch, but seemingly without relation to any other letter. This apparent confusion of the elementary representatives of our literature might have passed for an untranslated maxim of Confucius.—But not until C. was placed before the inexplicable "r-o-w-n" was ther an intelligible solution of this sentence. When the last class had contributed its letter and adjustment of the same had been made, the spanning arch bore the inscription: "Crown Him Lord of all." At this juncture, H. F. Grainger, Esq., a lawyer of distinction in eastern North Carolina, and an efficient instructor in our school, was introduced as the orator of the occasion. He did not lay on the weight of a stately oration, but it was one of the most felicitous speeches of fifteen minutes continuance I ever heard. The style was pleasant and easy. The perouration, a charmingly expressed tribute to the Sabbath school cause, showed our speaker capable of sentences of grace and beauty.

Let us make a casual observation of the arch which was now attracting attention and admiration. It was adorned with the beautiful and striking devices which had been presented by the classes. Behind and on either side were tastefully arranged banners. A cross, rising from an altar in front, supports a ladder, which reaches a star, pendent from the keystone. The scene has approached the sublime—The choir began, "All hail the power of Jesus' name." While the rapturous melodies of the grand old coronation hymn rose as if aspiring to mingle with the supernal strains of the immortals, a beautiful young lady, bearing a golden crown, trimmed with emerald, approached the arch. At the words, "Crown Him Lord of all," the crown was placed over the keystone of the arch. The man of God stretched forth his hand. The almost entranced audience inclined toward the arch as if before a mighty symbol of Jehovah. The benediction was pronounced. The anniversary ceremonies were ended.

The superior and unique manner of celebrating this anniversary occasion is due to the skill and energy of Mr. W. F. Kornegay, the superintendent. The novel plan and successful execution display a degree of virtu creditable, to an extent, to a professional in the field of esthetics. Not only has he won golden opinions by this, his last effort, to give interest to the Sunday-school cause, but his usual success is acknowledged by all who are acquainted with his administration.

While the singing by the school and congregation was good, yet the choir, for the manner in which the pieces selected were rendered, deserves special notice. We believe this choir acknowledges the leadership of Miss M. D., a young lady of decided musical genius. Nature's rich endowment of vocal powers has not been neglected. For a tone of high culture is manifest. Possession of a full, clear voice, under control of a critical mind, gives her enviable rank among female vocalists. The mercenary cantatrice, whose vocal balderdash has no nearer resemblance to song than brick-dust to star-dust, is often the musical heroine of our secular papers, and no encomium is too extravagant for bestowal. I trust, Messrs. Editors, that you will not object to my tribute to one who offers her sweetest sacrifice of pure song in the sanctuary of God.

B. K.

June 25th, 1875.

If you know anything that will make a brother's heart glad, run quick and tell it; but if it is anything that will cause a sigh, bottle it up.

For the Advocate.

MESSRS EDITORS: Please let me through your columns, get the ear of your readers, and more than that. Many of them have made subscriptions to Trinity College, and otherwise bound themselves to pay to the erection of the new building. The chapel is done, and all agree that it is well done; but the Agent has not been able to collect money fast enough to meet current expenses. Will brethren whose notes and subscriptions are now due, make arrangements at once to put into our hands the money? It is absolutely necessary to have money, and to have it soon. You can pay 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 50, and 100 dollars, much easier than one man can carry five hundred or a thousand, and that in a work where you are equally interested with him.

Brethren make an effort! Do not allow this call to pass unheeded. It would not be made if it were not necessary.

And then there are many to whom the Agents have not had access who are certainly not willing that this work should be completed without their having a brick in it.

Others too there are, who were caught without money when the Agent came, who promised to do something. Surely we shall hear from them soon. Do brethren, remember, we have your names, and are expecting good news from you. Don't disappoint us. Times are thought by many to be "hard," and some would have us suspend all such work until they get easy. But the truth is "hard times" are superinduced by a neglect of duty to God and the church. Even in these times, much money is spent for that which is not bread, and much labor for that which satisfieth not." Let church people who talk much of hard times, and heavy burdens, make a note of this, that in these U. S. all the churches pay to support the Gospel $6.000,000 per year; and that in the same territory $10,000,000 are spent on dogs, $610,000,000 for tobacco and cigars, and $2,200,000,000 for liquor. Now if these figures give any light, they show that if times are hard, the operations of the churches do not make them so, only in so far as they are powerless to correct these evils—some of them terrible evils—eating out the very vitals of the country.

Let the church wake up to the fact, that the dram-drinkers in the land, are expending much more money for grog, than they are to build up the institutions of the church.

These reflections are indulged simply to show that there is money in the country, and that it is going into wrong channels.

Let us resolve that more of it—a little at least—shall go into the Lord's treasury. Then may we hope to have "hard times made easy," and to avoid blasting and mildew.

Let money—plenty of it—be sent to me at Thomasville N. C. by express, check or post office order. If not this way, by registered letter.

V. A. SHARPE, Ag't.
Trinity College.

Selected for the Advocate.

Sinful Habits.

It is the most terrible punishment of sin that, by a law of our nature, each act of wickedness leaves an effect on our souls which predisposes us to another. It is the reward of innocence that a very great guarantee against sin, is the never having committed it; while on the contrary, sin is punished by the fact that its repeated acts produce a fatal facility in guilt, which at last approaches to an impossibility of doing otherwise. While the wild beast within us has never tasted blood, he is comparatively quiet; but when once he has imbrued his lips in it there arises a thirst that grows into a furious craving. All sin partakes of the nature of opium eating.

Here again let us not accuse our nature or its God. The law of habit tells in favor of virtue as well as of vice. It enables us to be set in good as well as evil. We acquire a dexterity in all that is good, so that we act well unconsciously as a good musician plays beautiful music without an effort.

Chastity, gentleness and temperance become part of ourselves, instead of costing us struggles beneath which, on the long run, our feeble natures would succumb. We need not murmur then if the same law takes effect in us in the case of guilt, and if acts of sin as well as of virtue produce habits which become second nature.

Woe to him who contravenes the laws of God's universe! Woe to him who by an act of mutual sin makes self the centre instead of God! In that very self there lies an infinite capacity for evil, beyond what we suspect, and whenever the sleeping demon within us is aroused, we have unchained a power, the results of which none can prophecy.

Take the case of a passion for drink. Who has not known instances of men who would give anything to get rid of the habit and, yet humanly speaking cannot. A man knows himself to be on the high road to ruin; health reputation, employment, all are going; wife, children, nay, he himself, are starving. He has had delirium tremens and is threatened with it again. He knows that all hell will soon be visibly about his bed. He has created within him an imperative craving, a preternatural void boundless and insatiable.

There are times when he would immolate all he holds dearest on earth on the altar of this terrible self. Like every other sinner he has been expending his own life, burning away his powers of body and soul and when the artificial excitement is gone, then there comes on the awful tedium and the infinite ennui which make life intolerable till the passion is satisfied again. His physical organization helps to rivet his chains; he has been overtasking and over exciting some of his organs, and wants external galvanic shocks and artificial fires to rouse them. Nay they suck up vital power from other portions of his frame, so that all his powers go into commission to some set of organs which cry out for incessant satisfaction, and domineer over the whole. Miserable power that we have to spoil our own being. It is over excitement that kills us, says a wise physician. It is excitement rather than the love of sin that leads us to do wrong, says the moralist. Sin once indulged grows into a passion, and passion into a habit and men are slaves. The whole equilibrium of their being is destroyed: they become an incarnation of one vice. They have made themselves after their own image, and must take the consequences.

DALGAIRNS.

Moss.

Strange tapestry, by Nature spun
On viewless looms, aloof from sun,
And spread through lonely nooks and grots
Where shadows reign, and leafy rest,—
O moss, of all your dwelling-spots,
In which one are you loveliest?

Is it when near grim roots that coil
Their snaky black through humid soil?
Or when you wrap, in woodland glooms
The great prone pine-trunks, rotted red?
Or when you dim, on sombre tombs,
The requiescats of the dead?

Or is it when your lot is cast
In some quaint garden of the past,
On some gray, crumbled basin's brim,
With conchs that mildewed Tritons blow,
While yonder, through the poplars prim,
Looms up the turreted chateau?

Nay, loveliest are you when time wea
Your emerald films on low, dark cr
Above where pink porch-roses pe
And woodbines break in fragran
And children laugh, . . . and hear
The beatings of the heart of H
[EDGAR FAWCETT, in July

TIDES OF GRACE.—Tides of of opportunity, are to be tak flood. The Pentecost sun w on a church born in a day.
lies the wonder, but in th that we think it wonderful;
see so few times of rapid in and large God-ward mov men which can at all compar
Some, thank God, have been Would you have more?
these two things—that ten steadfast, expectant prayer, every believing soul took p ded Pentecost; and that it the church had first been heavenly assurance, joy, a that the testimony of her fir er won the hearts of the Lessons! These are the
The Spirit works when w to work; and the ingatherin church holds over a strict to the life of the church.
are the fountain, fed from of which dead sonls around quickened; but not till they
As we would have the world
ed, let us seek for the Chu running life.—J. O. Dye, D. D.

GOOD-MORNING.—Don't fo say, "Good-Morning!" Sa your parents, your brothers ters, your schoolmates, your —and say it cheerfully and smile; it will do you good an friends good. There's a kin spiration in every "good-mo heartily and smilingly spoke helps to make hope fresher and lighter. It seems, really seem make the morning good, and t prophecy of a good day to com
it. And if this be true of the morning," it is also of all kind, some greetings. They cheer th couraged, rest the tired one, somehow make the wheels of lif smoothly.

The receipts of the American Society for March reached the su
$99,297.97; and the volumes is were 63, 399. The total receipts the fiscal year ending March 31
$577,509.80. The whole number volumes issued for the year from Bible House, not including issued abroad, was 727, 537.

The Higher and Highest Life.

We are discussing the questions of holiness and consecration. Some of us use one class of terms and similes, and others a different phrascology. The most common is called the "higher life." There are two kinds of "higher life" people—the one we like, and the other we dislike. Those who boast much of the possession of it, who run about with a Bible conspicuously in their hand, forcing their ecstatic experiences upon people on all occasions, ever on the search for meetings and Bible-readings, impatient with ordinary Christians, are to us more and more, distasteful. We do not find them engaged in Sabbath-schools, or regular at prayer-meetings, or to be depended on for help in Church movements. It is their religion to feel good and to tell others how good they feel. We would not give the shoes of one of the old fashioned Christians for fifty of these religious gad-abouts. For the most part their head is as soft as their heart. Their coming is to us a grief, and their departure a rapture.

The "higher life" which we admire is that which, putting full trust in God, goes out to work for him; does not talk much about itself, but a great deal about Christ and the attractiveness of his religion. We know scores of them, hard at work. You may always depend on them. They are always to be found at the devotional meetings. They contribute liberally of their money, instead of taking their service out in talk and prayer. The enthusiasm and perpetuity of their Christian doing tells their elevated experience more than though their lips announced it. That is the kind of "higher life" that we admire—yes, that is the highest. We have but little interest in Christian people who go about telling how much they have of the love of God, yet doing nothing or little to evidence that fact. We have heard of half grown school boys who boast of how many slices of bread they have eaten—some of them ten, some of them twenty-four. We have more admiration for a man who will eat two or three slices, and put the strength derived therefrom into practical effectiveness. There are many persons in this day advocating what they call the "higher life." We advocate the highest. —Dr. Talmage. in Chistian at Work.

Sleeping [illegible] CLOTHS AND Mr Mood- [illegible] ACHED GOODS:
Irish Linens, Victoria Lawns, Jaconets,
in better qualities and cheaper than ever offered.
It is useless for us to mention particularly prices to our goods, as it only requires one trial to customers to convince themselves that the "TUCKERS" cannot and will not be surpassed in low prices by any house in this city or elsewhere, being always up to the "times."
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.
June 30-tf

PETTY & JONES,
DEALERS IN
Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,
BOOTS, SHOES,
Hats, Notions &c., & c.
We are offering select lines of Victoria Lawns, Plain and Checked, Plain and Striped Jaconets, Swiss and Organdies, Black Grenadines, Spring and Summer Dress Goods, Suit and Housekeeping Linens, Printed Linens and Lawns, Plain, Striped, Corded and Check ed Grass Cloths, at prices that will enables us to sell all who wish to buy and will give us a call.
Also, together with an extensive line of Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Plain and Fancy Hose for Ladies and Children Full lines of Half Hose for Gentlemen and Boys—all grades.
Gloves. Fans, Parasols. Umbrellas to a great variety and at ow prices.
A large assortment of Caubell's hard-made Calf Congress Gaiters Continental Ladies and Strap Shoes, just received today. The superiority of this make of Shoes for gentlemen is too well-known by cipients customers throughout the State to require any [illegible] from us.
How many [illegible]allou's French Yoke Shirts many Christia[illegible] fit or no sale. Directions for while their children Shirts made to order on aptterrible precipice a[illegible] and lately received so that the bottomless pit of [illegible]line in prices in making worse than that precipi[illegible] house can tell good where is your boy to night? [illegible] JONES, be just out here in some plum[illegible] the street house; it may be reeling through the streets of London, drunk: it may be pressing on down to a drunkard's grave. How many fathers and mothers are there in London—yes, praying Christians too—whose children are wandering away while they are slumbering and sleeping? Is it not time that the Church of God should wake up and come to the help of the Lord as one man, and strive to beat back those dark waves of death that roll through our streets, bearing upon their bosom the noblest young men we have? O my God, wake up the Church! And let us trim our lights and go forth and work for the kingdom of God."

There is enormous industrial power in heathen lands. Much of it needs intelligent direction The labor expended on the great wall of China, the grand canal, the walls of the cities, and the network of canals throughout the south and middle of the empire, would have been enough to construct all the railways of the world, tunnels, bridges and all.

Blinds, Paints &c.
CLK R. LEE MISSION SONS.
sands.
SSONS:—
beg him to the portion Christians rist, out re to be n over.
onverted over-
Bible
of ied for re
of se
Having purchased Mr. Thompson's interest in the business I shall continue to keep a Saddlery,
LARGE AND FULL STORE
of Goods belonging to a first-class Grocery Store,
the old Stand,
NO. 4 MARTIN STREET, where I shall be pleased to see my many friends and patrons, promising them goods always as cheap they can be had in this market.
Grateful for past patronage, and hoping to merit continuance of the same,
I am, respectfully,
J. D. WHITAKER.
Raleigh, Feb 22, '75.
mar 17-tf.
A. BAUM,
Professional Butcher,
Hillsboro St., Opposite East End Market.
Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stocked beef to be seen in his shop. Orders on Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market be cheerful in first class style, are sold you at apl 28 tf HAUM'S.
NOTICE OF ELECTION
By virtue of an ordinance of the Board of Aldermen passed June 14, there will be an election held JULY 15TH, 1875, to determine whether the Board of Aldermen shall have authority to issue ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR OF THE CITY BONDS. Those approving the said issue of bonds shall vote "Approved"; those opposing, "Not Approved." The said bonds will not be sold or in manner used to increase the city debt, but shall used to fund the present indebtedness of the c The polls will be opened at the polling places in the late election.
The Books of Registration for all the wards found at the Mayor's office, and those not registered can have an opportunity of regis
By order of
THE BOARD OF ALD
June 23 td
SHELBY SEM[illegible]
SHELBY N. C.
REV. S. R. TRAWICK, A.
Mrs. B. V. TRAWICK, Mat
MISS LOUIS G. DeR
The world of upon whom greatness trust by inheritance or usage. We are glad to believe, on however slight foundations, the story that LEONARDO DA VINCI died in the arms of FRANCIS the First. It lends a new interest to the character of Pope JULIUS the Third when we are told that he was in the habit of rising when MICHAEL ANGELO came into his presence, and that he always seated the great sculptor on his right hand; and in the anxions and active life of CHARLES the Fifth we linger with pleasure over the little incident in his acquaintance with TITIAN, when he picked up the pencil which the artist had dropped with the remark that "TITIAN was worthy of being served by CÆSAR." An incident of the same character is related of Sir CHARLES LAWRENCE and the Emperor of Russia. The popular heart loves genius because it is democratic, and is quite as often the gift of the lowest ranks of life as of the highest, and the recognition of it is in some sense the recognition of a native equality.

The Myth of Morgan's Murder.

Not long ago the masons had an immense celebration and procession in New York City, and straightway on its heels the old story of Morgan's treachery to the order was resuscitated, and the old tale of his arrest, imprisonment, solemn trial and awful, because unknown, death, dwelt upon and made plain with the usual amount of rhetorical glamour and inconsistency.

Years ago, however, the story of Morgan's murder by the Freemasons was most effectually disposed of by no less a person than Morgan's own son. Instead of being mysteriously butchered, the father lived nearly thirty years after his abduction, and finally died, in corpulence and contenement, at Van Diemen's Land, where he was the editor of a newspaper, called the Advertiser, which still survives him, and where in a pleasnt way he used to refer to the stories told of his horrible killing in the United States, and the various modes of torture that had been accorded to his executioners as the means whereby he was taken out of the world.

According to the statement of young Morgan, his father was arrested after the exposure of Masonry came out and held some time a prisoner, and finally released upon the condition that he should leave the country forever. He accepted with alacrity the propositions made to him, and was accompanied by a Masonic committee as far as Quebec. Here he entered the British navy, and in two months sailed direct for England. A month later his ship was ordered to Australia Morgan in some way got a discharge from the service, and settled at once in Van Dieman's Land. His son was a resident of San Francisco at the time this information was communicated concerning his father's whereabouts. Once every two years the son visited the father, and for a while after this official and emphatic statement was published, the story of the father's murder died out. At intervals however, it breaks out a fre[illegible] goes the rou[illegible] of all the newspapers. It is time now to [illegible] the antidote go with the poison.—From the St. Louis Dispatch.

The Old Judge.

An American judge had a son who went into the army at the time of the civil war. The old man was led by the fact to take a warm interest in schemes for the welfare of the soldiers; but by and by he thought this interferred too much with his business, and he resolved to give it up. The first day he sought to put this determination in force, a poor, brokendown soldier entered his office; but he waved him away, saying he had no time to attend to him. The soldier fumbled in his pocket for a letter, which he quietly laid on the judge's desk The old man's eye lit on the address, and seeing it to be in the handwriting of his absent son, he snatched it up and read. The letter told how the bearer had been his friend on the field of battle; how he was wounded and going home. "If I call, treat him kindly, for Charley's sake." The old judge was completely broken down. He rose from his desk, carried the soldier to his home, and kept and nursed him there, and when he was better, saw him off by the train for his own home. All this he did for "Charley's sake." Now, let us always pray God to save souls for Jesus' sake.—D. L. Moody.

NEVER TOO OLD.—Rev. Andrew Longacre, in a recent sermon said:—"A man is never too old to work until he is too old to live." We thought how true that is! Men of advanced age, trembling on their staff, as they tread cautiously along the crowded thoroughfare, or sit quietly in the old arm chair at home, may yet do something—do something for Jesus. Christian men often retire from business too early in life. They might work on and accumulate property to be used for Jesus. Let us work on—work ever—and when even in the death grasp, we may be able to do something for Jesus.

ON THE STRETCH!—Human heart-strings are often stretched to their utmost capacity. Like some delicate instrument, when the strings are touched by the skillful player. hard-pressed in some difficult passage. How we tremble last they should be snapped asunder! The human heart, like that delicate instrument, is severely tried, often-times. Surely we say, it will be broken to pieces. But no—it is held attuned to the richest melody. How is this? The breath of the DIVINE INTERCESSOR sweeps over the instrument, 'For we have a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities.'

It is but one step from companionship to slavery, when one associates with vice.—Hosea Ballou.

LAUGHING POWDERS.

One swallow does not make a spring, but a dozen swallows sometimes make one fall.

No man can become thoroughly acquainted with his family history without running for office.

The Snake Run Academy is the name of an Indiana school. The scholars must all be adders.

"Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another.

Old gent—"What do you wear specs for, boy?" Bootblack—"Cos I puts such a shiny shine on gentlemen's boots it hurts me eyes."

The man who pronounces "Don Quixote" "Donkeyhote" shows a disposition to intrude his own name that is not commendable.

A Western man, reading of a cricket club in a New York paper, writes the editor to know if the club is good for anything for grasshoppers.

"What kind of sassages is them?" queried an old lady of the young man of literature and peanuts, as he passed through the train selling bananas.

A kind-hearted, peace-loving Baltimore man painted his front steps twenty three times trying to please his wife, and then she decided that the first color was the best.

Reynolds, the dramatist, observing the thinness of the house at one of his pieces, said: "I suppose it is owing to the war!" "No," was the reply, "it is owing to the piece."

A Newark girl hastened the departure of a lingering gentleman caller the other evening by remarking as she looked out of the window: "I think we shall have a beautiful sunrise."

"Will you have a small piece of the light meat or a small piece of the dark?" asked Bob's uncle, as he carved the turkey at dinner. "I will take a large piece of both," answered Bob.

"Mr. D.——, if you'll get my coat done by Saturday, I shall be forever indebted to you." "If that's your game it won't be done," said the tailor.

How a woman can [illegible] on talking while she twists up her back [illegible] and has her mouth full of hairpins is a mystery not yet explained. — Carl Pretzel.

An Illinois woman who wanted to go to a masquerade party as Mary, Queen of Scots, looked through the Bible to ascertain how the character was dressed.

"Minnie, I'm in such a quandary; for if I turn my back on Charley he becomes offended at once, and if I don't he can't see my new buckle.—What shall I do?"

A good anecdote is told of two, North Carolina Methodist ministers, named respectively, Starr and Ware. They were both courting the same young lady, and chanced to call on her simultaneously. Mr. Starr requested Miss Jennie, as she seated herself at the piano, to sing: "Oh, I'll be a Star!" The rival suitor immediately said, "Miss Jennie, be Ware!"

A youngster being required to write a composition upon some portion of the human body, selected that which unites the head to the body, and expounded as follows: "A throat is convenient to have, especially to roosters and ministers. The former eats corn and crows with it; the latter preaches through his'n and then ties it up.—This is pretty much all which I can think of about necks."

Captain Paul Boyton is said to have amused the court circle at Osborne by his frank, homely fashion of talk. When asked a question by the Princess Beatrice, he answered innocently, "Yes, Miss," and the Queen is said to have laughed outright; when at the close of her interview with him, he said he hoped her Majesty would overlook any defection of etiquette on his part on the plea; "You see, Madame, it is not to be expected I'm posted up in this bnsiness."

Anxious mother (to her brother-in-law, who is also the family doctor): "By the by, Alexander, I'm so glad you've come. I wanted to talk to you about baby. I can't understand why he doesn't speak yet. Surely he ought to by this time." Alexander: "Weel, ye see, Ann, ye just talk the verra highest o' Inglish, an' my Brither John, again, he just talks the braidest o' Scotch; an the puir bairn, ye see, it hasna just made up its mind which side o' the house it'll just tak' till."

The Reformed Church (Dutch) complains that its receipts, especially for missionary purposes, have fallen off alarmingly, the receipts for December being smaller than were ever known before. The cause is the panic. When men begin to economize they seldom select their luxuries or their pastimes. They begin with a religious newspaper, the rental of their pews, and donations.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Hobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 27. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, July 7, 1875. | Whole No. 1,065.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

Earth and Death.

BY E. A. PERKINS.

[illegible] with a swing longer
[illegible] he treadmill mind en-
[illegible] crave for that his stomach
[illegible] Look world to world he [illegible] star to star he spel—
[illegible] with the tears he shed,
[illegible] pledgings were all vain;
[illegible] me turned to Earth.
[illegible] by a mask of mirth
[illegible] and blushing beauty
[illegible] charms around her youthful [illegible] enchanting mien rare.
[illegible] opaque, in sunlight's gore
[illegible] and Earth's children join.
[illegible] approving smiled to see them prance,
[illegible] to learn bowed with a general
[illegible] made most solemn, lasting vow,
[illegible] from stones oft may fill.
[illegible] of this burned the ill."
[illegible] chorus began and quickly
[illegible] sorrowful his mien and bare.
[illegible] to mourners hitherto again,
[illegible] vow recall again.
[illegible] in mire—deadly lore.
[illegible] to bear her cross.
[illegible] declining years.
[illegible] and weeping bitter tears,
[illegible] to point the pangs o' age,
[illegible] all her thoughts engage,
[illegible] remember aged brow
[illegible] mentioned in the vow;
[illegible] lamp that lights the future
[illegible] a love it ought to be that must all de-
[illegible] 1875.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

The Anniversary Celebration of the Goldsboro Methodist Sunday-School.

June is the anniversary month of the Goldsboro Methodist Sunday-school, and the 20th inst. was the occasion of the celebration commemorative of the annual return of this month. Many teachers, leaving their foot prints in the moral sands, have "crossed over," and are waiting for the reapers to bring in the sheaves. The history of the school does not differ materially from that of similar institutions. It has had its seasons of adversity and prosperity, and by patiently toiling through the former, now enjoys much of the latter. Teachers and pupils had looked forward with pleasure to the day when ceremonial honors were to be paid to the natal month of their school.

The Superintendent, in unwonted manifestations of energy, worked mysteriously. He was compiling a book of revelation. The date of issue had been announced, but the contents of the volume were unknown except to a few of the teachers and the compiler. What would the breaking of the seal reveal? Perhaps the imagination of the older ones wrought much that was ponderous and grotesque, while Mrs. Galloway's infant constituents alternated from pigmean furies to diminutive ponies—at times ready to accept either, and then fearful that neither would be the result of the strange movements of the Superintendent.

The Baptist and Presbyterian schools, in response to invitations, were present. Excepting the seats reserved for our school, the church was filled to its utmost seating capacity long before the services were formally opened. The Methodist school formed a procession without the church. Each class, having a banner and symbol, had also been furnished with an evergreen letter. Thus equipped, the line moved into the church and up the centre aisle, when the classes filed into their respectively assigned seats.

Let us turn to the classes and briefly examine the banners and symbols.—A bright-eyed little fellow clasped the ensign of the infant class. The motto is: "Suffer little children to come unto me." Another class, with gilt star, and banner inscribed: "We have seen His Star in the East." A group of children hold a large Bible and the appropriate words: "Holy Bible, book divine," are seen on this banner. One of the rear classes has a full-rigged ship and the standard says: "Homeward bound." "Nearer, my God, to thee," I read from white folds and discover that this class has a representation of Jacob's ladder. "From God seest me," in gilt letters, and an emblematic eye, artistically executed, midway the inscription, renders this a beautiful banner.—"Simply to thy cross I cling," suggests, as a substantial expression of this sentiment, a cross, which we find.

It is not to the disparagement of any that we fail to notice the paraphernal display of some of the classes, but this sketch will not admit of more minutiæ under this head. Suffice it to say, that in design, execution and ornamentation, both banners and symbols were creditable to the painters brush and the deft fingers of maiden and matron. Within the balustrade was a white arch, measuring from keystone to floor twelve feet, and eight feet in width. The monotony of white was pleasingly interrupted by a line of verdure on the upper and nether surfaces, passing up the alettes and over the curvature.—To give the relievo of a base, two evergreen lines, starting at the pedestals and crossing each other at oblique angles, ran up the column about three feet. This piece of architectural symmetry was soon to be rendered more attractive in a novel and imposing manner.

A voluntary by the choir was followed with prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Jno. R. Brooks, after which remarks introductory to the anniversary services were made by the superintendent. The classes were separately called, and in response appeared before the arch and delivering banner, symbol and evergreen letter, remained standing until after the singing of a stanza—selected because of its consonance, in sentiment with the spirit of the motto and symbol. The pastor and the Rev. N. Z. Graves, of the Presbyterian church, alternately addressing the classes, commenting on the mottoes and explaining the moral significance of the symbols.

The manner of arranging the evergreen letters quickened the guessing faculties of the audience. When a letter was presented, it was immediately placed on the arch, but seemingly without relation to any other letter. This apparent confusion of the elementary representatives of our literature might have passed for an untranslated maxim of Confucius.—But not until C. was placed before the inexplicable "r-o-w-n" was there an intelligible solution of this sentence. When the last class had contributed its letter and adjustment of the same had been made, the spanning arch bore the inscription: "Crown Him Lord of all." At this juncture, H. F. Grainger, Esq., a lawyer of distinction in eastern North Carolina, and an efficient instructor in our school, was introduced as the orator of the occasion. He did not lay on the weight of a stately oration, but it was one of the most felicitous speeches of fifteen minutes continuance I ever heard. The style was pleasant and easy. The peroration, a charmingly [illegible] tribute to the Sabbath school cause, showed our speaker capable of sentences of grace and beauty.

Let us make a casual observation of the arch which was now attracting attention and admiration. It was adorned with the beautiful and striking devices which had been presented by the classes. Behind and on either side were tastefully arranged banners. A cross, rising from an altar in front, supports a ladder, which reaches a star, pendent from the keystone. The scene has approached the sublime—The choir began, "All hail the power of Jesus' name." While the rapturous melodies of the grand old coronation hymn rose as if aspiring to mingle with the supernal strains of the immortals, a beautiful young lady, bearing a golden crown, trimmed with emerald, approached the arch. At the words, "Crown Him Lord of all," the crown was placed over the keystone of the arch. The man of God stretched forth his hand. The almost entranced audience inclined toward the arch as if before a mighty symbol of Jehovah. The benediction was pronounced. The anniversary ceremonies were ended.

The superior and unique manner of celebrating this anniversary occasion is due to the skill and energy of Mr. W. F. Kornegay, the superintendent. The novel plan and successful execution display a degree of virtu creditable, to an extent, to a professional in the field of esthetics. Not only has he won golden opinions by this, his last effort, to give interest to the Sunday-school cause, but his usual success is acknowledged by all who are acquainted with his administration.

While the singing by the school and congregation was good, yet the choir, for the manner in which the pieces selected were rendered, deserves special notice. We believe this choir acknowledges the leadership of Miss M. D., a young lady of decided musical genius. Nature's rich endowment of vocal powers has not been neglected. For a tone of high culture is manifest. Possession of a full, clear voice, under control of a critical mind, gives her enviable rank among female vocalists. The mercenary cantatrice, whose vocal balderdash has no nearer resemblance to song than brick-dust to star-dust, is often the musical heroine of our secular papers, and no encomium is too extravagant for bestowal. I trust, Messrs. Editors, that you will not object to my tribute to one who offers her sweetest sacrifice of pure song in the sanctuary of God.

B. K.

June 25th, 1875.

If you know anything that will make a brother's heart glad, run quick and tell it; but if it is anything that will cause a sigh, bottle it up.

For the Advocate.

MESSRS EDITORS: Please let me through your columns, get the ear of your readers, and more than that. Many of them have made subscriptions to Trinity College, and otherwise bound themselves to pay to the erection of the new building. The chapel is done, and all agree that it is well done; but the Agent has not been able to collect money fast enough to meet current expenses. Will brethren whose notes and subscriptions are now due, make arrangements at once to put into our hands the money? It is absolutely necessary to have money, and to have it soon. You can pay 5, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 50, and 100 dollars, much easier than one man can carry five hundred or a thousand, and that in a work where you are equally interested with him.

Brethren make an effort! Do not allow this call to pass unheeded. It would not be made if it were not necessary.

And then there are many to whom the Agents have not had access who are certainly not willing that this work should be completed without their having a brick in it.

Others too there are, who were caught without money when the Agent came, who promised to do something. Surely we shall hear from them soon. Do brethren, remember, we have your names, and are expecting good news from you. Don't disappoint us. Times are thought by many to be "hard," and some would have us suspend all such work until they get easy. But the truth is "hard times" are superinduced by a neglect of duty to God and the church. Even in these times, much money is spent for that which is not bread, and much labor for that which satisfieth not." Let church people who talk much of hard times, and heavy burdens, make a note of this, that in these U. S. all the churches pay to support the Gospel $6.000,000 per year; and that in the same territory $10,000,000 are spent on dogs, $610,000,000 for tobacco and cigars, and $2,200,000,000 for liquor. Now if these figures give any light, they show that if times are hard, the operations of the churches do not make them so, only in so far as they are powerless to correct these evils—some of them terrible evils—eating out the very vitals of the country.

Let the church wake up to the fact, that the dram-drinkers in the land, are expending much more money for grog, than they are to build up the institutions of the church.

These reflections are indulged simply to show that there is money in the country, and that it is going into wrong channels.

Let us resolve that more of it—a little at least—shall go into the Lord's treasury. Then may we hope to have "hard times made easy," and to avoid blasting and mildew.

Let money—plenty of it—be sent to me at Thomasville N. C. by express, check or post office order. If not this way, by registered letter.

V. A. SHARPE, Ag't.
Trinity College.

Selected for the Advocate.
Sinful Habits.

It is the most terrible punishment of sin that, by a law of our nature, each act of wickedness leaves an effect on our souls which predisposes us to another. It is the reward of innocence that a very great guarantee against sin, is the never having committed it; while on the contrary, sin is punished by the fact that its repeated acts produce a fatal facility in guilt, which at last approaches to an impossibility of doing otherwise. While the wild beast within us has never tasted blood, he is comparatively quiet; but when once he has imbrued his lips in it there arises a thirst that grows into a furious craving. All sin partakes of the nature of opium eating.

Here again let us not accuse our nature or its God. The law of habit tells in favor of virtue as well as of vice. It enables us to be set in good as well as evil. We acquire a dexterity in all that is good, so that we act well unconsciously as a good musician plays beautiful music without an effort.

Chastity, gentleness and temperance become part of ourselves, instead of costing us struggles beneath which, on the long run, our feeble natures would succumb. We need not murmur then if the same law takes effect in us in the case of guilt, and if acts of sin as well as of virtue produce habits which become second nature.

Woe to him who contravenes the laws of God's universe! Woe to him who by an act of mutual sin makes self the centre instead of God! In that very self there lies an infinite capacity for evil, beyond what we suspect, and whenever the sleeping demon within us is aroused, we have unchained a power, the results of which none can prophecy.

Take the case of a passion for drink. Who has not known instances of men who would give anything to get rid of the habit and, yet humanly speaking cannot. A man knows himself to be on the high road to ruin; health reputation, employment, all are going; wife, children, nay, he himself, are starving. He has had delirium tremens and is threatened with it again. He knows that all hell will soon be visibly about his bed. He has created within him an imperative craving, a preternatural void boundless and insatiable.

There are times when he would immolate all he holds dearest on earth on the altar of this terrible self. Like every other sinner he has been expending his own life, burning away his powers of body and soul and when the artificial excitement is gone, then there comes on the awful tedium and the infinite ennui which make life intolerable till the passion is satisfied again. His physical organization helps to rivet his chains; he has been overtasking and over exciting some of his organs, and wants external galvanic shocks and artificial fires to rouse them. Nay they suck up vital power from other portions of his frame, so that all his powers go into commission to some set of organs which cry out for incessant satisfaction, and domineer over the whole. Miserable power that we have to spoil our own being. It is over excitement that kills us, says a wise physician. It is excitement rather than the love of sin that leads us to do wrong, says the moralist. Sin once indulged grows into a passion, and passion into a habit and men are slaves. The whole equilibrium of their being is destroyed: they become an incarnation of one vice. They have made themselves after their own image, and must take the consequences.

DALGAIRNS.

Moss.

Strange tapestry, by Nature spun
On viewless looms, aloof from sun,
And spread through lonely nooks and grots
Where shadows reign, and leafy rest,—
O moss, of all your dwelling-spots,
In which one are you loveliest?

Is it when near grim roots that coil
Their snaky black through humid soil?
Or when you wrap, in woodland glooms
The great prone pine-trunks, rotted red?
Or when you dim, on sombre tombs,
The requiescats of the dead?

Or is it when your lot is cast
In some quaint garden of the past,
On some gray, crumbled basin's brim,
With conchs that mildewed Tritons blow,
While yonder, through the poplars prim,
Looms up the turreted chateau?

Nay, loveliest are you when time wea[illegible]
Your emerald films on low, dark er[illegible]
Above where pink porch-roses pe[illegible]
And woodbines break in fragrant [illegible]
And children laugh, . . . and [illegible]
hear
The beatings of the heart of H[illegible]

[EDGAR FAWCETT, in July

TIDES OF GRACE.—Tides of [illegible] of opportunity, are to be tak[illegible] flood. The Pentecost sun w[illegible] on a church born in a day. [illegible]lies the wonder, but in th[illegible] that we think it wonderful; [illegible] see so few times of rapid ing[illegible] and large God-ward move[illegible] men which can at all compa[illegible] Some, thank God, have bee[illegible] Would you have more? [illegible] these two things—that ten[illegible] steadfast, expectant prayer, [illegible] every believing soul took p[illegible] ded Pentecost; and that it [illegible] the church had first been [illegible] heavenly assurance, joy, at[illegible] that the testimony of her fir[illegible] or won the hearts of thousand[illegible] Lessons! These are the lessons:—The Spirit works when we beg him to work; and the ingathering to the church holds ever a strict proportion to the life of the church. Christians are the fountain, fed from Christ, out of which dead souls around are to be quickened; but not till they run over. As we would have the world converted, let us seek for the Church overrunning life.—J. O. Bye, D. D.

GOOD-MORNING.—Don't forget to say, "Good-Morning!" Say it to your parents, your brothers and sisters, your schoolmates, your teacher—and say it cheerfully and with a smile; it will do you good and do your friends good. There's a kind of inspiration in every "good-morning" heartily and smilingly spoken, that helps to make hope fresher and work lighter. It seems, really seems, to make the morning good, and to be a prophecy of a good day to come after it. And if this be true of the 'good-morning," it is also of all kind, heartsome greetings. They cheer the discouraged, rest the tired one, and somehow make the wheels of life run smoothly.

The receipts of the American Bible Society for March reached the sum of $99,297.97; and the volumes issued were 63, 399. The total receipts for the fiscal year ending March 31 were $577,569.80. The whole number of volumes issued for the year from the Bible House, not including those issued abroad, was 727, 537.

The Higher and Highest Life.

We are discussing the questions of holiness and consecration. Some of us use one class of terms and similes, and others a different phraseology. The most common is called the "higher life." There are two kinds of "higher life" people—the one we like, and the other we dislike. Those who boast much of the possession of it, who run about with a Bible conspicuously in their hand, forcing their ecstatic experiences upon people on all occasions, ever on the search for meetings and Bible-readings, impatient with ordinary Christians, are to us more and more, distasteful. We do not find them engaged in Sabbath-schools, or regular at prayer-meetings, or to be depended on for help in Church movements. It is their religion to feel good and to tell others how good they feel. We would not give the shoes of one of the old fashioned Christians for fifty of these religious gad abouts. For the most part their head is as soft as their heart. Their coming is to us a grief, and their departure a rapture.

The "higher life" which we admire is that which, putting full trust in God, goes out to work for him; does not talk much about itself, but a great deal about Christ and the attractiveness of his religion. We know scores of them, hard at work. You may always depend on them. They are always to be found at the devotional meetings. They contribute liberally of their money, instead of taking their service out in talk and prayer. The enthusiasm and perpetuity of their Christian doing tells their elevated experience more than though their lips announced it. That is the kind of "higher life" that we admire—yea, that is the highest. We have but little interest in Christian people who go about telling how much they have of the love of God, yet doing nothing or little to evidence that fact. We have heard of half grown school boys who boast of how many slices of bread they have eaten—some of them ten, some of them twenty-four. We have more admiration for a man who will eat two or three slices, and put the strength derived therefrom into practical effectiveness. There are many persons in this day advocating what they call the "higher life." We advocate the highest.—Dr. Talmage in Christian at Work.

Sleeping [illegible]

Mr Mood[illegible]

Blondin at Niagara.

Bishop Haven, of the M. E. Church, uniting to Zion's Herald from Niagara Falls, gives the following recollections of Blondin's wonderful feat at the Falls many years ago:

"The opening Spring looked never lovelier than now. The soft slopes of Western New York, now in their best budding robes, "the mist of greenness," was in all the trees and fields What a beauty of a landscape it is. Niagara leaped and flashed and glowed in her depth of lustrous color, as unchanging as "the most ancient heaven." Blondin's rope, reduced to a single wire, hangs just where I saw it corded into a rope fifteen years ago this very summer, when he startled every gazer with his marvelous coolness and courage. How amazed were these eyes at that spectacle—seeing, and turning horror smitten from the sight, only to be fascinated into a new turning and gazing, as he ran fleetly down the rope, no bigger than a wrist; ran back to shore again, as an immerser walks first into the water and returns for the candidate; then he took his course across, two hundred feet above the roaring gulf that sent its howling summons to his unaffrighted ears; at the center he pauses, ties his balancing pole to the rope, slides sixty feet down a swing descending from the center, and hangs from its bottom (head first) by a single foot over the boiling abyss. Up he swings, catches the cord with hooked hands, runs up the line to the main rope, squats on it, cooks and eats his omelette, and trots over to the Canadian shore. That trip must have taken a score of minutes; it seemed a score of hours. Anon he trips back, rolling a wheelbarrow, attired as a monkey. It needed no such costume to compel the admiration of that awestruck crowd.

How must that master of the tight rope have trained himself to have dared and done such feats! Many a soul who professes to be striving for heaven never puts forth half the preparation or practice. We should be stirred up by these strugglers for a temporary plaudit and purse. They strove for an earthly crown; we [illegible] heavenly. The abyss, [illegible]ing, terribly fatal [illegible] is moved [illegible] struggl[illegible]

The Myth of Morgan's Murder.

Not long ago the masons had an immense celebration and procession in New York City, and straightway on its heels the old story of Morgan's treachery to the order was resuscitated, and the old tale of his arrest, imprisonment, solemn trial and awful, because unknown, death, dwelt upon and made plain with the usual amount of rhetorical glamour and inconsistency.

Years ago, however, the story of Morgan's murder by the Freemasons was most effectually disposed of by no less a person than Morgan's own son. Instead of being mysteriously butchered, the father lived nearly thirty years after his abduction, and finally died, in corpulence and contenment, at Van Diemen's Land, where he was the editor of a newspaper, called the Advertiser, which still survives him, and where in a pleasnt way he used to refer to the stories told of his horrible killing in the United States, and the various modes of torture that had been accorded to his executioners as the means whereby he was taken out of the world.

According to the statement of young Morgan, his father was arrested after the exposure of Masonry came out and held some time a prisoner, and finally released upon the condition that he should leave the country forever. He accepted with alacrity the propositions made to him, and was accompanied by a Masonic committee as far as Quebec. Here he entered the British navy, and in two months sailed direct for England. A month later his ship was ordered to Australia Morgan in some way got a discharge from the service, and settled at once in Van Dieman's Land. His son was a resident of San Francisco at the time this information was communicated concerning his father's whereabouts. Once every two years the son visited the father, and for a while after this official and emphatic statement was published, the story of the father's murder died out. At intervals however, it breaks out a fresh and goes the rounds of all the newspapers. It is time now to let the antidote go with the poison.—From the St. Louis Dispatch.

The Old Judge.

An American judge had a son who went into the army at the time of the civil war. The old man was led by the fact to take a warm interest in schemes for the welfare of the soldiers; but by and by he thought this interferred too much with his business, and he resolved to give it up. The first day he sought to put this determination in force, a poor, brokendown soldier entered his office; but he waved him away, saying he had no time to attend to him. The soldier fumbled in his pocket for a letter, which he quietly laid on the judge's desk. The old man's eye lit on the address, and seeing it to be in the handwriting of his absent son, he snatched it up and read. The letter told how the bearer had been his friend on the field of battle; how he was wounded and going home. "If I call, treat him kindly, for Charley's sake." The old judge was completely taken down. He rose from his desk, carried the soldier to his home, and kept and nursed him there, and when he was better, saw him off by the train for his own home. All this he did for "Charley's sake." Now, let us always pray God to save souls for Jesus' sake.—D. L. Moody.

NEVER TOO OLD.—Rev. Andrew Longacre, in a recent sermon said:—"A man is never too old to work until he is too old to live." We thought how true that is! Men of advanced age, trembling on their staff, as they tread cautiously along the crowded thoroughfare, or sit quietly in the old arm chair at home, may yet do some thing—do something for Jesus. Christian men often retire from business too early in life. They might work on and accumulate property to be used for Jesus. Let us work on—work ever—and when even in the death grasp, we may be able to do something for Jesus.

ON THE STRETCH!—Human heart-strings are often stretched to their utmost capacity. Like some delicate instrument, when the strings are touched by the skillful player. hard-pressed in some difficult passage. How we tremble last they should be snapped asunder! The human heart, like that delicate instrument, is severely tried, often-times. Surely we say, it will be broken to pieces. But no—it is held attuned to the richest melody. How is this? The breath of the DIVINE INTERCESSOR sweeps over the instrument, 'For we have a high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities.'

It is but one step from companionship to slavery, when one associates with vice.—Hosea Ballou.

LAUGHING POWDERS.

One swallow does not make a spring, but a dozen swallows sometimes make one fall.

No man can become thoroughly acquainted with his family history without running for office.

The Snake Run Academy is the name of an Indiana school. The scholars must all be adders.

"Quills are things that are sometimes taken from the pinions of one goose to spread the opinions of another.

Old gent—"What do you wear specs for, boy?" Bootblack—"Cos I puts such a shiny shine on gentlemen's boots it hurts me eyes."

The man who pronounces "Don Quixote" "Donkeyhote" shows a disposition to intrude his own name that is not commendable.

A Western man, reading of a cricket club in a New York paper, writes the editor to know if the club is good for anything for grasshoppers.

"What kind of sassages is them?" queried an old lady of the young man of literature and peanuts, as he passed through the train selling bananas.

A kind-hearted, peace-loving Baltimore man painted his front steps twenty three times trying to please his wife, and then she decided that the first color was the best.

Reynolds, the dramatist, observing the thinness of the house at one of his pieces, said: "I suppose it is owing to the war!" "No," was the reply, "it is owing to the piece."

A Newark girl hastened the departure of a lingering gentleman caller the other evening by remarking as she looked out of the window: "I think we shall have a beautiful sunrise."

"Will you have a small piece of the light meat or a small piece of the dark?" asked Bob's uncle, as he carved the turkey at dinner. "I will take a large piece of both," answered Bob.

"Mr. D.———, if you'll get my coat done by Saturday, I shall be forever indebted to you." "If that's your game it won't be done," said the tailor.

How a woman can keep on talking while she twists up her back hair and has her mouth full of hairpins is a mystery not yet explained. — Carl Pretzel.

An Illinois woman who wanted to go to a masquerade party as Mary, Queen of Scots, looked through the Bible to ascertain how the character was dressed.

"Minnie, I'm in such a quandary; for if I turn my back on Charley he becomes offended at once, and if I don't he can't see my new buckle.—What shall I do?"

A good anecdote is told of two North Carolina Methodist ministers, named respectively, Starr and Ware. They were both courting the same young lady, and chanced to call on her simultaneously. Mr. Starr requested Miss Jennie, as she seated herself at the piano, to sing: "Oh, I'll be a Star!" The rival suitor immediately said, "Miss Jennie, be-Ware!"

A youngster being required to write a composition upon some portion of the human body, selected that which unites the head to the body, and expounded as follows: "A throat is convenient to have, especially to roosters and ministers. The former eats corn and crows with it; the latter preaches through his'n and then ties it up.—This is pretty much all which I can think of about necks."

Captain Paul Boyton is said to have amused the Court circle at Osborne by his frank, homely fashion of talk. When asked a question by the Princess Beatrice, he answered innocently, "Yes, Miss," and the Queen is said to have laughed outright; when at the close of her interview with him, he said he hoped her Majesty would overlook any defection of etiquette on his part on the plea; "You see, Madame, it is not to be expected I'm posted up in this business."

Anxious mother (to her brother-in-law, who is also the family doctor): "By the by, Alexander, I'm so glad you've come. I wanted to talk to you about baby. I can't understand why he doesn't speak yet. Surely he ought to by this time." Alexander: "Weel, ye see, Ann, ye just talk the vera highest o' Inglish, an' my Brither John, again, he just talks the braidest o' Scotch; an the puir bairn, ye see, it hasna just made up its mind which side o' the house it'll just tak' till."

The Reformed Church (Dutch) complains that its receipts, especially for missionary purposes, have fallen off alarmingly, the receipts for December being smaller than were ever known before. The cause is the panic. When men begin to economize they seldom select their luxuries or their pastimes. They begin with a religious newspaper, the rental of their pews, and donations.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

PER ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID,	$2.20
IN 6 MONTHS, " "	1.35
If payment be delayed six months,	2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 7, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

The commencement address of Wofford College, S. C, was delivered by Rev. W. W. Duncan on the 29th ult. Subject—"Relations of Education and Religion."

Soule University, Chappel Hill, Texas, has conferred the degree of D. D. on our excellent confrere of the Texas Christian Advocate, the Rev. Isaac G. John.

The Methodist churches in Sweden which have received and are still receiving aid from the American Bible Society have determined to solicit funds for the Society in the future.

Rev. B. F. Dixon recently delivered an address in Shelby, which the Aurora speaks of in terms of the highest enlogy, pronouncing it intellectual, learned and eloquent.

Mr. Davis, editor of the Oxford Torch-Light, proposes to publish a daily paper during the session of the Raleigh District Conference which convenes at that place on the 22nd.—Price, 15 cents during the continuance of the meeting.

We are indebted to Rev. F. A. Mood, D D, the able and scholarly President of the Texas University, and formerly a member of the South Carolina Conference, for a catalogue of that popular institution of learning. This institution is the great education al centre of Texas. For particulars address Rev. F. A. Mood, Georgetown, Texas.

The first Young Men's Christian Association was organized in London, in 1844, by Rev. Geo. Williams. The first in the United States were organized in 1851, at Boston, Buffalo, Cincinnati, and in a few years at other cities. At the international convention for 1875, held at Richmond, some nine hundred societies were represented, and thirty-three of the States of the Union.

Rev. W. M. Robey, President of Davenport Female College, passed a few days with us in the "City of Oaks" last week. He preached Sabbath morning and evening at Person St. Church. Both sermons were of a high order, and the delivery of them was unexceptionable. Bro. Robey goes to Beaufort in a few days to attend a Sunday School convention, and will then return to Raleigh to deliver an address before the educational association which meets in this city the 14th of the present month.

Among other active workers for the ADVOCATE, is Bro. J. J. Carden, who rarely allows a week to pass without sending us a handsome club of subscribers. We appreciate such activity as this fact denotes and feel confident that he will derive benefit from the liberal circulation of the ADVOCATE among his people. We bespeak his continued exertions as well as those of other active friends. Our appeal to the ministers of our church and other friends of Methodism, in behalf of the Advocate, is "agitate! agitate!! agitate!!!"

Mr. S. Simpson, A. M., President of Yadkin College, under the fostering care of the Methodist Protestant Church, made us a visit a few days since. He is mingling with the people freely during vacation, soliciting contributions to build a new chapel. Dr. Craven delivered the address at the recent commencement of this college, which is highly spoken of by those who had the pleasure of hearing it. At the close of his address he raised in a short time the sum of $1500 for the purpose of erecting a new college chapel.

Rev. W. M. Robey, President of Davenport Female College, is visiting the eastern portion of North Carolina in the interest of this popular institution of learning. Davenport is the property of the North Carolina Conference, and is justly entitled to a liberal share of the patronage of our people. The College, under the presidency of Bro. Robey, assisted by an experienced and competent corps of teachers associated with him, together with the healthfulness of the location, and better still, the high moral training of the young ladies of the institution, gives it superior advantages as a seat of learning.

Rev A. W. Mangum, of the North Carolina Conference, has been elected to the Chair of Moral Philosophy in the University of North Carolina. If his address at Randolph Macon College is a sign he will fill the bill at Chapel Hill.—Richmond Advocate.

No Harm Done.

We have studiously refrained from alluding to the great trial which, for the past six months, has been progressing in Brooklyn and attracting the attention of the world: a trial in which one of the most widely known ministers of the church and one of the ablest men of the age has been confronted by a man of scarcely less celebrity with the charge of a most heinous offence against religion, society and humanity. The newspapers of the day have, for six months, reeked with the nauseating details of the scandal which is the basis of the trial, and the public, rather for evil than good, has been made familiar with them. We have not had the taste to read, much less to publish, the testimony that has been elicited in the Brooklyn Court-room for and against the great accused, and have followed it with only that attention and interest which its alleged effects upon society and the church excited within us. We refer to it now for the purpose not of drawing attention to the scandalous charge against Mr. Beecher, but with a view to making some reflections upon its effects upon the christian church.

It was to be expected that the enemies of the church and the defamers of the ministry would sieze with avidity upon the scandal and turn it to account in pointing their arguments and venting their spleen. The foes of religion, led captive by the evil one, could not let slip so fine an opportunity of maligning the church and attempting to prove that its ministers are corrupt and hypocritical—using their office as a cloak to their sins and an avenue to confidence which they wish to gain only to abuse. To such enemies of religion the scandal concerning Mr. Beecher was a great wind-fall—it brought to the ground, from the tree around which they groveled, rich fruit which they rolled as sweet morsels under their tongues.

It has ever been so in the history of Christianity. When men, high in the esteem of the church, have betrayed the religion they professed and proved faithless to the morality which they preached, their fall has been the signal for fresh assaults upon the whole line of the christian church. But it is pleasing to reflect that those assaults have not proved effective. Some christians may have been dismayed at some times and in some places, causing the ranks to grow weak and thin, but fresh courage has been instilled by the reflection that Christianity is too deeply imbedded in the rock of truth, its innate strength too strong, [illegible] destroyed by the treachery and [illegible] tion of one, a score, or a thousand [illegible] tors.

Some philosopher has aptly remarked that "hypocrisy is the high tribute that vice pays to virtue." Vice is sensible that there is such a thing as virtue and religion, and that the love and admiration of it are strong in the hearts of men, and hence, Vice assumes the face and garb of Virtue to do its evil deeds. It is folly, therefore, for infidels and [illegible] to say that, because there are hypocrites here and there in the church, there is no such thing as morality or religion. Whether Beecher is guilty or innocent, whether he is convicted or acquitted of the charge against him, will not in the minds of sensible people affect any thing beyond his own reputation and the popularity of Plymouth church pulpit. That Henry Ward Beecher is on trial and not the christian religion. He is the defendant and not the church. Strong infidels and scoffers may to their hearts' content exult over the title of the case into The Apostasy versus Christianity, it will be entered on the docket Tilton vs Beecher, and the verdict, if it is ever rendered (which seems improbable,) will vindicate or engulf only the man who has hurled at his door an offence against religion and his fellow man black as the blackest of demons.

We are not afraid of injury [illegible] ing to the church whose pro[illegible] minister, as a man, has been on [illegible] The publication of the testimony [illegible] decent and nauseating. may in [illegible] doubtless has, been hurtful to [illegible] taste and morals, but the waves of [illegible] troubled sea have broken themselves [illegible] against, instead of moving, the roc[illegible] whereon is built the christian's faith. The world has the testimony before it: it will decide for itself. Much as we believe in and are attached to our Anglo-Saxon trial by jury, we are not insensible to the fact that twelve men cannot decide for the world as to the guilt or innocence of Beecher. The public has seen the verbatim testimony and almost the faces and demeanor of the witnesses, and is competent to judge for itself. If it decides that Beecher is innocent, a rebuke will be given to plotting hate and scoffing infidelity: if it says he is guilty the church will repudiate him and stand forth unhurt and brighter for the purification

The New York Advocate says: Rev. Dr. James A. Dean, late President of East Tennessee Wesleyan University, left on Monday by the State of Nevada for Europe. He goes out in company with a party of thirty seven tourists, (most of them ladies,) under the direction of Professor Loomis, of Washington. The party hope to visit all the points of historic interest on the Continent and in Great Britain, and return in September or October next.

Vanderbilt University

We have received the "Announcement of the Vanderbilt University for 1875 '76," from which we see that a grand career opens up for the great College of the Southern Methodist Church. The appointments of the College are of the most complete character. The best men, of high scholarship and wide reputation, have been selected for the various professorships in the College, which it is the ambition of the Board of Trust to make inferior to none of the Universities of the world. The buildings are commodious and of architectural strength and beauty, and the apparatus needed for the various scientific departments are of the most approved and latest styles, selected in Europe by Prof. Lupton. The University begins its career with four Departments. I. Philosophy, Science and Literature.—II. Biblical. III Law. IV. Medical. Dr. Landon C. Garland is the Chancellor of the Faculty. A collegiate Department has been established which prepares students for the University proper. The course will be one of three years in the University—two for the degree of B. A., and three for that of M A. Students will board in private families—there being no dormitories.

Divinity students, upon proper recommendation, receive tuition free of charge, and as soon as a suitable fund is raised, will also receive board free. The sons of ministers engaged in regular work will also receive free tuition in the Academical Department.

Seven Conferences are represented in the Board of Trust of which Bishop McTyeire is President. The catalogue before us gives an account of the establishment of the University. In 1872 several Conferences agreed to establish a University which should be called the "Central University," for which an endeavor was made to raise a million of dollars. Owing to the scarcity of money the scheme was about to fail when Cornelius Vanderbilt, the Crœsus of New York, and a brother-in-law of Bishop McTyeire, made the munificent donation of $500.000, subject only to a few conditions which were easily observed.—To acknowledge properly the liberality of the donor, the name of the College was changed to "Vanderbilt University." When the plans of the buildings were submitted to Mr. Vanderbilt for his approval, he saw that the donation was not large enough to allow the endowment fund of $300.000 to remain untouched and therefore added another $100 000 to the donation, without any change in the conditions of the original gift. The form [illegible] which he preferred for [illegible] Fund, is in seven per [illegible] Bonds of the [illegible] Jason River [illegible]

[illegible] City, both [illegible] for its buildings, streets, parks, and monumental structures.

As in duty bound, we devoted our time to sight seeing. Issuing from our hotel on Prince's street—which stretches along the top of the north side of the chasm, making itself the southernmost street of the New City, with buildings only on the inner side, the other being used as a narrow and terraced park, in which stands the fine gothic monument to Sir Walter Scott, so often seen pictured—we pass over the lofty arched cause way, and are soon in the Old City, with its lofty stone buildings—twelve stairs in the rear and seven in front—and in High street Just here is shown the tavern in which Dr Johnson passed his first night on the occasion of his visting Scotland and the Western Isles, and in advancing to which, in the darkness of the unlighted streets, he mutterd to Boswell, "I smell you in the dark." Turning to the right, and going up a steep hill we stop to look at John Knox's house, projecting out of the line into the street. It is a quaint old stone structure, embazoned with scriptural texts; the upper part, occupied as a dwelling, is shown to strangers for a consideration; the lower story is used by a dealer in tobacco and pipes. We soon come up to the old Tron Church, but do not enter, being more intent on seeing St. Giles' which is only a very little farther along It is a large and massively built structure, and especially unsuited by its architecture as a place for the worship of the Presbyterian Church. But it is historical, and therefore must be endured. We pass on toward the Castle; and ascend to its top, except that we do not climb the spurs of basaltic rocks that stand out as nature made them, in the open area.

The castle is still used for military purposes, and we are surrounded by the implements of war, and see the manœuvering of the soldiers—raw recruits taking their first lessons. Here are deposited the insignia of Scottish royalty—the crown, scepter, and also the crown jewels, interesting simply as historical relics. There are also other historical associations and mementos about this old castle which we need not mention. The view from this point is extensive and very fine; but we will not describe it."

Evidences of Christianity.

The example of individual Christian men is earnestly enforced in Zion's Herald, as pre-eminently better than learned apologies for the christian faith:

"If, instead of attempting to steady the ark, and wasting our strength in speculation and apologies for the truth, we simply press forward the pure work of preaching the gospel, and exhibiting its loving sympathies and humanities to all men, in spite of the oppositions of science falsely so called, the sneers of the unbelievers, the treachery of false brethren, the work of evangelization would go on with increasing power. There are no apologies for the gospel that are so much needed now as the wholly consecrated lives of such cultivated men as Henry Martyn, such theological students as Judson, such merchants as Samuel Budgett, such statesmen as William Wilberforce, and such laborers as Carvosso. Such lives are unanswerable arguments, known and read of all men. No person can measure the breadth of the influence that such individual men exert, both in their immediate circle and in the broader field of Christian activity.—It was said that families could not live in the block with Harlan Page without yielding to his tender persuasions to enter upon a religious life.—If they could not consent to this, they quietly removed, not being willing either to resist or accede to his tearful importunity. But how much wider has been his influence since his death? He has become a permanent and powerful force in human society, impelling men Christward, and to consecrated service for him."

Plan of Business for the Salisbury District Conference to be held at Mt. Airy July 29th—Aug 1st 1875.

First day.—Thursday 9 o'clock A. M.

Each pastor will submit a written report on the number and condition [illegible] churches and parsonages—how [illegible] are undergoing im[illegible] many new ones [illegible] and the [illegible] these [illegible]

[illegible] questions: Are [illegible] well attended? How [illegible] subscription schools [illegible] well attended? How many [illegible] and number of students? [illegible] many boys and girls are going to our colleges? and how many to others, and the cause? Under each class of reports a free discussion will be desired and extended.

Let each report be written on separate sheets of paper.

D. R. BRUTON P. E.

June 27th 1875.

The Richmond Advocate in its account of the Commencement at Randolph Macon College says:

"The Alumni address of Rev. A. W. Mangum, of the North Carolina Conference, was very able and timely. He showed with great force of reasoning and in eloquent words that "The Bible is sufficient for the age in which we live." We trust that the thoughts of the speaker will remain in the minds of the young men who are going out into the battle of life, and that they will feel a stronger love for the word of God, whose entrance giveth to the mind its true light."

Salisbury District Conference.

Persons out of the District who expect to attend the Conference, will confer a favor upon us, and upon themselves by notifying me at Mt. Airy, that homes may be provided.

S. M DAVIS.

Mt. Airy, N. C., June 25th, 1875.

Rev Dr Deems in Staunton, Va.

The Virginia papers are very eulogistic of Dr. Deem's discourse last week in Staunton. Speaking of his Commencement Sermon, the Valley Virginian says:—"It was a discourse of rare beauty, force and appositeness. Indeed, it was the only sermon we have ever heard that really fitted such an occasion. Without any strained effort at gilt-edged figures, or polished sentences to captivate the superficial taste, from the beginning to the close of his remarks, he brought out in prominent relief the great truth that the death of Christ dated the era of woman's elevation to her true sphere, and hedged around her those associations and opportunities which tended to the development of her full capacities for the promotion of the cause of pure morals and religion. Contrasting her condition as it existed previously to the Sacrifice on the Cross, with what it was afterwards, and is now in strains of unstudied eloquence and affecting pathos he pointed out the avenues of duty for "Virgin, Wife and Widow" in moulding character and advancing the interest of the Kingdom of Christ, and closed by an earnest appeal to the young ladies of the Institute, who were seated all around him attired in white, to aspire higher than the mere trappings and tinsels of dress and gaudy display, to a standard of moral excellence and beauty that would fit them to become yokefellows and laborers in the cause of the Redeemer. Dr. Deems' manner of speaking is exceedingly impressive, without the florid exuberance which too frequently destroys the effectiveness of pulpit efforts, and his subject matter, arranged in logical order, enforced by an earnestness which gives evidence that the sentiments he utters come welling up from a soul overflowing with christian love for his fellowmen, and a singleness of purpose to do good to his hearers, and promote the great cause to which his life is devoted."

Of an Address before the Lee and Jackson Literary Society of the College the same paper says:—"Hon. R. Q. Mills was the announced orator, but for some reason the "Mills refused to grind," as wittily remarked, and Prof. Points introduced the Rev. Dr. Deems' of New York city, who, for over half an hour, entertained the audience in a most felicitous manner. He began by saying that like Mrs. Partington, he never opened his mouth but that he got his foot into it," and, after a witty prelude, opened on the grand theme of his address which was a biblical text: 'And the root of the matter was in Job."—It was not a sermon, however, but the finest extemporaneous address to which we have ever listened, embodying plain, hard common sense, pathos and eloquence. We have not the space at our disposal to even skeletonize it, and can give nothing of our own that would do justice to the speaker."

On the 22nd ult., Rev. O. J. Brent was married in Wadesboro', N. C., to the accomplished Miss Julia Marshall of that place. Dr. W. M. Kennedy, Editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, came from Macon, Ga., to officiate in the ceremony which rob[illegible] Wadesboro and enriched the N. [illegible] Conference. The Wadesboro Ar[illegible] in speaking of the marriage, says: "You remember we stated last week, [illegible] Dr. Kennedy and the Rev. O. J. [illegible]nt, were in town. It looked a lit[illegible]gucer that these two gentlemen [illegible]uld meet here at that time; but [illegible]h left next morning, and there was [illegible] little excitement over the occur[illegible]ce. But they met here again last [illegible]esday, and the Rev. O. J. Brent [illegible]d and abetted by the Rev. Doctor, [illegible] off one of the most beautiful and [illegible]ly young ladies of our town. This [illegible]munity and the Methodist church, [illegible]cially the Sunday School, will [illegible] the loss of Miss Julia Marshall, [illegible] was one of its most punctual and [illegible]oted teachers."

Home Missions Again.

The Mission, which has 140 members, and pays only $106.70 for support of preacher, is hardly worthy to receive 150 dollars from the Missionary Funds.

The Mission, which has 200 members, and spends only 25 dollars on the noble young preacher who labors for them a whole year, is a disgrace to a Christian land, and should never again receive 100 dollars of missionary money, collected largely from poor people.

There is surely some mistake about one Mission last year.

The minutes report 534 members and 2 local preachers; and yet they enjoyed 100 dollars from the Mission Board.

When will Missions become self-sustaining, at this rate?

There are just three other cases that I think disgraceful. I may feel it my duty to refer to them hereafter.

A. D. BETTS.

Ansonville, N. C., June 8th, 1875.

Arthur's Home Magazine gives the following on making pickles:

"Fill a porcelain kettle half full of cucumbers and fill up with cold water. Put on the stove and heat, stirring with the hand until it gets too hot for the hand; pour off the water and fill again with cold water as before; do this nine times and the last time add a little lump of pulverized alum. Finish by putting them into cold vinegar and they will come out round and plump. If spiced pickles are preferred, the spice can be added to the vinegar."

Religious Brevities

Mr. Henry Riddick, father of Rev. C. B. Riddick, died at Harrellsville, quite recently, at a ripe old age.

Hon. James E. English, of New Haven, Conn., has presented to the Yale College library $1.000 for the purchase of a complete collection of the Parliamentary papers of Great Britain, from 1865 to 1873.

We notice that the Rev. Dr. M. D. Hoge, Moderator of the Assembly, the Rev. Dr. Lefore, of Baltimore, and Dr. Stuart Robinson, of Louisville, have been appointed delegates from the Southern Church to the Council of the Presbyterian Confederation to be held in London on the 21st of July.

Rev. Dallas D. Lore, D. D., editor of the Northern Christian Advocate died at his home in Owasco, near Auburn on the 20th inst. The Christian Advocate says of him:

"He was an able preacher, a sound theologian, a thorough Methodist, and a liberal Christian gentleman, and uniformly succeeded in every department of Christian labor to which he was called."

How the Habit of Tobacco Chewing May be Cured.

The following letter and comments we take from the Cincinnati Gazette:

I saw a recipe in a February number of the Gazette for the cure of scurvy on the teeth. I tried it and it did not cure the scurvy; but it cured me of something worse, viz: the use of tobacco.

I had used tobacco for ten years and had often tried to quit it, but all to no effect. But when I used burnt alum it entirely cured me. This is the way I used it: I burnt the alum and rubbed it on my teeth after eating, and whenever I wanted tobacco.

I want others to try this remedy, and if it cures them let it be widely known. I am satisfied it will cure every time if it is only used right. It has been four months since I have taken a chew of tobacco. This one recipe, the trying of which imparted this important knowledge to me, has paid me many times over the subscription price of the Gazette. L. C.

REMARKS.—And now, admitting that the depraved appetite for chewing tobacco can be thus easily cured, the test question comes up, does the reader sincerely desire to be cured, or does the remembrance of the low pleasure which chewing tobacco gives (notwithstanding its uncleanness, and its robbing loved ones of money that rightfully belongs to them), cause the reader to hesitate to declare "I do want to quit using it?" We hope many, very many will have manliness of character enough to say these words, and to deny themselves of its use forever hereafter. If it is God's will that we should get rid of every habit that is unclean, and if the opposite is the will of our poor, fallen human natures, let us each one adopt the langnage of our Savior and say: "Not my will, but Thine be done."

Notice.

Shelby District Conference will convene in Shelby on the 22nd of July 1875. The preachers and lay delegates will report, when they arrive, at the store of Miller Brothers, where the Committee will meet them and conduct them to their homes. The Local preachers, who expect to attend, will please give me notice of the fact as soon as possible.

H. T. HUDSON.

Shelby N. C., June 22, 1875.

PEACE INSTITUTE.—The closing exercises of Peace Institute in this city, on last Wednesday, were of a very pleasing character. On account of the lamented death of Prof. Stevens, a few weeks since, by which the classes were thrown into some confusion, there were no regular graduates, although, as the Principal said, there were several who had attained to the degree of scholarship necessary for graduation. Certificates of distinction were awarded to many of the young ladies for proficiency in study &c. Rev. Dr. Hoge of Richmond, Va., delivered the annual address before the School and more than met the expectations which his reputation for oratory had excited among our people. His theme was "The Wonders and the Charms of Literature," or "The alphabet, the most wonderful of Majicians." The address, as Dr. Hoge, in the beginning remarked, aimed at nothing learned or instructive, but it turned out to be both, (though not in a ponderous way) as well as highly entertaining, amusing and graceful. He is a cultivated scholar, has roamed over all fields of literature and plucked its loviest flowers (which lent their fragrance to his address,) is graceful in the highest sense and has, withal, the fire of the natural orator. He speaks without notes and is as free and unshackled in his manner as the freest Methodist minister.

At night one of Prof. Baumann's brilliant concerts was given at which there was offered to the refined and appreciative audience, a feast of melody and the "concord of sweet sounds," surpassing any concert ever before given at this excellent institution.

NORTH CAROLINA.

A string band, under the instruction of Prof. Hopbff, of Sumter, S. C., is Monroe's latest delight.

Two negro boys, twelve and fourteen years of age, entered the room of Mr. Allen Beverly, at Union, after he had retired to bed and stole fifteen dollars from his purse.

A gin house belonging to Mr. Perry White, at Harrelsville, was recently burned by a negro boy, assisted by a little white boy. They state that the negro was employed by the brother of Mr. White to commit the deed, for ten dollars, one dollar of which the negro gave the white boy for his help.

Judge Buxton and J. C. Blocker have been nominated for Convention by the Republicans of Cumberland.

The 9th of July is the time set for the hanging of Cornelius Williams, in Halifax, one of the Presson murderers.

We take from the Roanoke News the following accounf of a sad accident by which two estimable young ladies lost their lives at Tarboro' on the 26th ult.—Miss Pippen had just returned home from St. Mary's school in this city. The News says:

"Miss Dora, daughter of Mr. W. J. Staton, and Miss Hester, daughter of Mr. W. M. Pippin, both about 15 years of age, went bathing in an ice pond near Mr. Staton's residence and in playing about got beyond their depth. Miss Staton, who could swim, seeing that her companion was drowning went to her rescue when, in the energy of despair, Miss Pippin grasped her about the neck which so hampered her movements that both sank together. Misses Dancy and Pittman were in a boat near by, but not understanding the use of oars could render no assistance. The bodies were recovered in about an hour when they were found in each other's embrace. Medical aid was quickly summoned but life was extinct. On Sunday afternoon, in the presence of a multitude of weeping relations and sorrowing friends, the two devoted friends were buried in one grave in the Episcopal Church yard at Tarboro."

Judge Mitchell has resigned his position on the bench. Age and failing health the cause.

The Conservatives of Robeson and Bladen counties have nominated Dr. Duncan Sinclair and Calvin McEachern for the Convention.

An accident occurred on the Carolina Central road last Saturday, Long Creek Bridge giving way under a freight train, killing one man and wounding six.

Mr Fletcher Tilly, of Wilmington has in his possession a chicken which is decidedly a great curiosity. He is a full grown rooster and has four legs, four spurs and twenty toes

The dividend of six per cent, recently declared by the Directors of the North Carolina Railroad Company will be payable as follows: three per cent on 1st September 1875 and three per cent on 1st March, 1876.

A GRANGE COLLEGE.—The Battleboro (N. C.) Grangers of Patrons of Husbandry are agitating the subject of having in the State an Agricultural College where farming may be studied both as a science and an art.

The large Spoke and Handle Factory belonging to Clark & Emmert, situated at Rowan Mills, Western N. C. R. R. was totally destroyed by fire on the night of the 14th, together with a large lot of flour, bacon, lard, corn and wheat. Loss $10,000. Supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. So says the AMERICAN.

The citizens of Panther Branch township, Wake county, are greatly excited by what is supposed to have been a murder of the foulest character. It appears that on the 12th of February last a young man named Scott Parton, son of A. W. Parton, of that section, late in the afternoon left his home in company with his wife, a daughter of Handerson Walker, of the same neighborhood, and a little child eight months of age, for the avowed purpose of going with his family to the neighborhood of Goldsboro. He left under very suspicious circumstances, and as nothing has been heard of his wife or child, they are thought to have been murdered at his hands. The whole country is being scoured by citizens of the township. Parton has been seen since skulking in the neighborhood.

Dr. Charles Phillips has accepted the Chair of Mathematics in the State University, recently tendered him.

Harrison Banks, 14 years of age, son of Mr. Wm. Banks, of Panther Branch, Wake county, was drowned while bathing in a mill pond Sunday afternoon.

At the meeting of the Democratic citizens of Craven, held in the Newbern Court House Saturday, Hons. M. E. Manly and C. C. Clark were nominated as delegates to the State Convention.

The Mecklenburg Monmental Association was organized on Saturday afternoon by the election of Hon. Z. B. Vanec, President; Dr. Jos. Graham and J. H. Wilson, Esq., Vice Presidents, and Thos. W. Dewey, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer.

Lincolnton Progress: A serious rencontre took place Thursday morning last between two colored men, named, respectively, Alex. and John Schenck—father and son—which resulted in the father receiving two serious wounds, though not necessarily fatal. The instrument used was a razor.

The Supreme Court has decided in favor of the Defendant in the case of Norfleet vs. Staton, from Edgecombe, thus giving the Superior Court Clerkship to H. L. Staton, the appointee of Judge Hilliard. Judes Pearson and Settle dissented.

Mr. Wm. R. Odell, of Greensboro, has become associate Editor of the Central Protestant, Bro. Michaux' paper.

Dr. W. W. Lane, of Wilmington, has contracted with the authorities at Washington City, for the care of sick and disabled seamen during the ensuing year.

The newly appointed and elected Directors of the A. & N. C. Railroad met in Beaufort Thursday evening, June 24th, 1875, for the purpose of permanent organization, and the appointment of officers for the ensuing year. The following are the officers elected:

L. W. Humphrey, President.
W. G. West, Secretary and Treasurer.
Sam'l. L. Dill, General Ticket Agent and Book Keeper.
James Manwell, Master Mechanic.
Hugh Murdock, Road Master.
Jno. A. Duncan, Agent at Morehead City.
M. A. Hill, Agent at New Port.
Robert Hancock, Jr., Agent at Newbern.
Cyrus Stricklin, Agent at Kinston.
J. A. Pridgeon, Agent at Falling Creek.
W. J. Taylor, Agent at LaGrange.
H. L. Grant, Agent at Goldsboro.

No change in conductors.

Messrs. R. C. Kehoe and C. F. Lehman were elected members of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Jno. E. Lyon, of Dutchville, sold tobacco in Petersburg a few days ago for $230 per hundred.

The Durham Tobacco Plant wants the capitalists of Durham to establish a cotton factory

The new Insane Asylum will be located a mile and a half from the court house at Morganton, overlooking Lake Louise.

The Conservatives of Wake County have nominated for the Convention Messrs. Seaton Gales, R. H. Battle, Jr., H. Jones and D. B. Holland, an excellent ticket.

Mr. Tillett, a son of Rev. Dr. Tillett of the North Carolina Conference, [illegible] the prize as the foremost student in Mathematics at Randolph Macon College and Mr. Walter Page, son of F. D. Page, Esq., at Cary, took the Watson Gold Prize as the best student in that school. We are glad to note these honors to North Carolinians.

THE Republicans, of Nash county, have nominated J. J. Sharp for the State Convention.

The third annual meeting of the National Association of North Carolina will be held in the city of Raleigh, commencing Wednesday, July 14th, 1875.

A letter passed through the Charlotte postoffice recently bearing this address "Louisville, Cantucky, Mr. [illegible], B[illegible] the president of Collard Philology institution, Box 13, if not, mr. Postmaster I wish you tu plase it in mr. C. B. Coll box so will git it, I am not sartin of box bein 13, but the postmaster Pleas be so kind as to send this letter the Collured Philology inside."

A fire broke out in Lawrenceburg, Richmond county, Monday morning about 4 o'clock. So rapid was the progress of the fire, and so imperfect the facilities for extinguishing it, that ere the flames were arrested they had totally destroyed the hotel, five stores and the depot house of the Carolina Central Railway Company, together with ten old cars, three new ones, and five flats.

There is little doubt but that it is the work of an incendiary.—Argus.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call the attention of our readers to the following new advertisements:

T. H. Briggs & Sons advertise a Needle Cotton Gin for which superior advantages are claimed. Messrs. Briggs & Sons are leading hardware dealers, deserving of great confidence and patronage.

Catawba White Sulphur Springs are advertised in this issue of the Advocate. They are well known and well patronized. Great virtues are claimed for the waters of the Spring. Catawba as the Springs used to be called. Dr. Elliott, an experienced hotelist, has the Springs in charge and will exert himself for the comfort and pleasure of his guests.

The Cleaveland Mineral Springs (formerly Wilson's) are under the charge of Mrs. T. W. Breard and offer great advantages to those who seek of pleasure and health during the sultry summer days. The Salem of the Advocate, with his family spent a few weeks at these Springs last Summer and derived great benefit from the visit. The water is excellent, the fare and climate delightful.

Horner & Graves' school at Hillsboro' is one of the most popular preparatory schools in the State and turns out good scholars. The Principals are both gentlemen of education and learning and teachers of experience.

Davenport Female College, Rev. M. Robey, Pres., is a N. C. Conference institution and deserves the patronage of Methodists on that record. But that is not the only recommendation it has—it is presided over by a scholar of fine attainments, who is assisted by a competent corps of teachers. It is situated in a community of the best morals and a climate unsurpassed salubrity.

Miss Cornelia Crenshaw advertises her select school for young ladies in Louisburg. We learn that it is a school of merit and knows that the communities can boast of greater refinement, intelligence and morality than Louisburg.

We direct attention to the announcement of Raleigh High School which was established by Mr. C. H. Smith with whom Mr. Atkinson, pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city, has become associated The latter is well known in the State as a man of great ability and blameless life—both are thoroughly competent to conduct a school of the highest grade. We have hopes now of a permanent school for boys in this city, inferior to none in the State.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Pleasant Garden Academy R. P. Troy, Esq. Principal. It is a good school and in an excellent community. An interesting communication relating to Pleasant Garden appeared in the Advocate last week.

See the advertisement of Mc[illegible] Ice Cream Saloon. Mr. M[illegible] keeps the only saloon in the city his ice cream is a delight in these try days with the thermometer among the nineties.

The Piedmont Springs, in Surry county, an easy ride from Winston is one of the most delightful summer resorts in the State and its waters are assessed of the most health restoring properties. A company of gentlemen from Danville Va., among whom is our friend Ro. G. Pace one of the most enterprising and liberal men and financiers of Danville, purchased the Springs two years ago and have built a new hotel and cottages and furnished them and the grounds with all the appointments necessary to the comfort and pleasure of visitors. The scenery about the Springs is as fine as any in the State and the climate most salubrious. We have spent some delightful weeks at the Springs under the old regime when the accommodations were of an inferior nature: if delightful then, how surpassing pleasant must be the Springs now?

We would again call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. POOL & HUNT, Inspectors. these gentlemen the favorable consideration of all who are in need of Machinery included in their price list, as published in our columns. They have on hand a very large stock of miscellaneous Machinery Pipe and can promptly fill orders for almost any character of work. Those their Machinery has been used it has given entire satisfaction.

The Alabama editors on excursion had a good time in visiting their Northern brethren. They write to their home papers enthusiastically of their hospitable reception in various cities of that State.

The East Tennessee Virginia [illegible] and the Memphis and Charleston [illegible] have been, says the Knoxville Press, [illegible] cally consolidated. The two roads [illegible] same general officers. This arrangement [illegible] the entire country from Memphis to [illegible] the benefit of a through connection [illegible]

Mr. M. Halstead of the Cincinnati Commercial, who visited Iceland last year to attend the millennial ceremonies, says the Icelanders are highly cultured people, not a few of whom speak pure English. Bayard Taylor, who with the visitors, speaks eleven languages, he had occasion to use seven of them during his stay.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written on but one side of the sheet. All letters and articles should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In ordering money, all amounts should be sent in a registered letter, post office order or bank check. The cost of a registered letter is twenty cents, and we cannot be responsible for money sent otherwise. Any person sending us a dollar or more can have a specimen copy sent to a friend at the sender's risk.

General News

[illegible] Wake county [illegible] to the jury [illegible]

[illegible] in Wayne county, June 29th, Susan Corbin, second daughter of Norman J. and Sarah Andrews Northam, aged about 9 months. The fond parents have the warm sympathy of their friends in this sore affliction.

B.

Died in Goldsboro, June 10th, Susan Roberts, daughter of E. G. and Mattie B. Hood, aged 2 years, 2 months and 15 days.

Little Sudie was an unusually bright child, and is greatly missed by her doting parents, but they are enabled by grace to bow submissively to the will of their Father.

B.

Died on the 25th inst. in the 19th year of her age, at the residence of her grand father C. B. K. Smith in Jackson co., N. C. Mary Eugenia eldest daughter of the late Major W. H. and Mrs. E. Jones. It is with a sacred attempt at this humble tribute to one who was so recently passed away from our fellowship, and we can recall the bright sparkling eye, and radiant countenance, with the cheering inspiration of happy voices in scenes of mourning and gladness. Now clad with glory and immortality we can simply look upon the sacred spot where her lovely form is placed, and only realize that impressive truth which bears a shining mark." In the decease of this beautiful intelligent, and useful girl, whose life was so replete with happy praise to the church of God and the society which she adored, with awe and sacredness embrace the mysterious dispensation, after the apostle exclaiming "How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out." Yet this solemn event has furnished additional testimony to the efficiency of that atonement once made, bravely finished, through the redeeming blood of Jesus. Reared under the influence of the covenant in early life assuming its vows with a calm fervor, she steadily advanced in the consistency of her faith, thus attaining an unity of grace, which many aged christians do not enjoy. Though the fact of her approaching dissolution, evidently gave her great surprise still with an unwavering trust she expressed her willingness to go, wholly confiding in the deliverance of Jesus, whom she "knew whom she was the way." Mary Eugenia was so universally loved that it is impossible fully to remind her friends of the noble attributes and comprehensive intelligence which won the admiring attention and appreciation. Exquisitely fair, symmetrical grace, allied to manners of easy elegance and uniform gentleness, rendered her every circle the cynosure of attraction, and to exceeding amiability and generous spirit will ever be recorded and cherished. How dark the gloom to feel that this flower of light can bloom and find no longer! In how many and varied capacities, shall we miss her happy voice, when over diffused warmth and comfort was its own sweet melody? Yet it has pleased Jesus to take to Him elf this sacred object and we must be solaced in our weighing knowledge of her beatitude in our father's kingdom. Soul, weeping mother, thy sorrow is piercing, but omnipotent is the hand that inspects the blow, and sustaining the promise "My grace is sufficient for thee."

A FRIEND.

Died at Mooresville, N. C. on the 20th of May 1875, Eugene Marvin infant son of Tom A. and Mary C Cron, aged 3 weeks and 2 days.

"I take these little lambs," said he.
And lay them in my breast;
Protection they shall find in me,
In me be ever blest."

"Their feeble frames my power shall raise,
And mould with heavenly skill;
I'll give them tongues to sing my praise,
And hands to do my will."

Mrs. Elizabeth Avery, consort of Wiley Avery deceased; was born of religious parents in Craven county N. C. Oct. 20, 1824, and died June 13 1875. In 1855 under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Pearson she professed faith and peace in believing, left the Free-will baptist became and continued until death, happy, devoted, and useful member of the Methodist Church. When the Master called she was ready and we doubt not has entered into rest. The vacancy in her family neighborhood, and church occasioned by her death cannot be supplied. She leaves seven sons (all members of the church but one) besides numerous other relations and friends.

Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

Died at Rex, at her husband' residence, Jamestown Depot N. C., Mrs. D. L. Ragan, wife of Rev. Thomas Ragan in the 65th year of her age.

Sister Ragan was taken suddenly sick, and lived but a few days, passing away peacefully to that rest that remaineth for the people of God."

She has been an exemplary christian, and a worthy member of the M. E Church for more than 40 years.

She was married to Bro. Thomas Ragan in 1836, and has been a faithful wife, mother, neighbor, friend and christian through all the changes of life.

She was an aunt of Rev J F. Craven of the N. C. Conference.

She leaves a husband, children relatives and friends to mourn her loss

She has left them a shining example and has gone up, leading the way, to the New Jerusalem.

A mother in Israel is gone.

J. S. R.

Died in Cabarrus co. N. C., on the 26th of May 1875, Mary Eva Lindsay infant daughter of John A. and Mary V. Lloyd aged 1 year, 1 month and 12 days.

"It is well with the child" Its sufferings are ended. It is gone to that sun-bright clime where sickness and death can not follow and while the fond parents are made to weep as they look upon the empty crib, the lonely room and the little garments in which their babe was folded, may they remember that God doeth all things well, and so live that they may meet their darling on the glorified shore.

T. A, COEN

Marriages.

[illegible] the Episcopal church in Pittsboro, on the 22nd inst. by Bishop Lyman and Rev. [illegible] Mr. Wm. Sidney Jackson and Benjamin A. Watson Jr., both of Pittsboro, [illegible] Chapel of Boydton Female [illegible] Boydton Va., on the evening of June [illegible] by Rev. A A Bushmer, Dr. S. A. [illegible] and Miss Anne Edgerton. Both of [illegible] N. C.

Deaths.

[illegible] twenty, notices of twenty lines are inserted free of charge. The excess over twenty lines in every notice is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and send the money to the line. In this way [illegible] always know the amount to enclose for notices of respect are subject to the same rule.

Died in Wayne county, June 29th, Susan Corbin, second daughter of Norman J. and Sarah Andrews Northam, aged about 9 months. The fond parents have the warm sympathy of their friends in this sore affliction.

B.

Died in Goldsboro, June 10th, Susan Roberts, daughter of E. G. and Mattie B. Hood, aged 2 years, 2 months and 15 days.

Little Sudie was an unusually bright child, and is greatly missed by her doting parents, but they are enabled by grace to bow submissively to the will of their Father.

B.

Died on the 25th inst. in the 19th year of her age, at the residence of her grand father C. B. K. Smith in Jackson co., N. C. Mary Eugenia eldest daughter of the late Major W. H. and Mrs. E. Jones. It is with a sacred attempt at this humble tribute to one who was so recently passed away from our fellowship, and we can recall the bright sparkling eye, and radiant countenance, with the cheering inspiration of happy voices in scenes of mourning and gladness. Now clad with glory and immortality we can simply look upon the sacred spot where her lovely form is placed, and only realize that impressive truth which bears a shining mark." In the decease of this beautiful intelligent, and useful girl, whose life was so replete with happy praise to the church of God and the society which she adored, with awe and sacredness embrace the mysterious dispensation, after the apostle exclaiming "How unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out." Yet this solemn event has furnished additional testimony to the efficiency of that atonement once made, bravely finished, through the redeeming blood of Jesus. Reared under the influence of the covenant in early life assuming its vows with a calm fervor, she steadily advanced in the consistency of her faith, thus attaining an unity of grace, which many aged christians do not enjoy. Though the fact of her approaching dissolution, evidently gave her great surprise still with an unwavering trust she expressed her willingness to go, wholly confiding in the deliverance of Jesus, whom she "knew whom she was the way." Mary Eugenia was so universally loved that it is impossible fully to remind her friends of the noble attributes and comprehensive intelligence which won the admiring attention and appreciation. Exquisitely fair, symmetrical grace, allied to manners of easy elegance and uniform gentleness, rendered her every circle the cynosure of attraction, and to exceeding amiability and generous spirit will ever be recorded and cherished. How dark the gloom to feel that this flower of light can bloom and find no longer! In how many and varied capacities, shall we miss her happy voice, when over diffused warmth and comfort was its own sweet melody? Yet it has pleased Jesus to take to Him elf this sacred object and we must be solaced in our weighing knowledge of her beatitude in our father's kingdom. Soul, weeping mother, thy sorrow is piercing, but omnipotent is the hand that inspects the blow, and sustaining the promise "My grace is sufficient for thee."

A FRIEND.

Died at Mooresville, N. C. on the 20th of May 1875, Eugene Marvin infant son of Tom A. and Mary C Cron, aged 3 weeks and 2 days.

"I take these little lambs," said he.
And lay them in my breast;
Protection they shall find in me,
In me be ever blest."

"Their feeble frames my power shall raise,
And mould with heavenly skill;
I'll give them tongues to sing my praise,
And hands to do my will."

Mrs. Elizabeth Avery, consort of Wiley Avery deceased; was born of religious parents in Craven county N. C. Oct. 20, 1824, and died June 13 1875. In 1855 under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Pearson she professed faith and peace in believing, left the Free-will baptist became and continued until death, happy, devoted, and useful member of the Methodist Church. When the Master called she was ready and we doubt not has entered into rest. The vacancy in her family neighborhood, and church occasioned by her death cannot be supplied. She leaves

Letters and Funds

T H Briggs & Sons, I E Apsley Rev V A Sharpe S Louis olv co Rev J N Somers for J L Webb $2.20, J M Hunter Rev J Tillett for W Magin rd 50 cents Rev A D Betts paper sent and changed Rev J S Kelly paper continued, Dante A Hunt for adv 12.50 Rev W M Jordan for Mrs T T Speed fld 2.20, Mrs Bettie Long 2.20 Mrs M V Bampass 2.20 Jas T Crutcher 2.20, J W Forbines 2.20, Mrs E J Reeves for Mrs N Burney 2.20 sell 2.20, E B Beale J A Monroe, S M Davis, R P Troy, Rev J W Lewis for Miss B B Donh 2.20, Rev R S Webb for D Turner 2.20, Rev W M Robey, W S Hines, E O Elliott, Mrs T W Brevard Dr Burkhead Dr Wilson Rev J T Harris for A Swann 1.90 B F Smith Horner & Graves for ad 2.50 Rev T A Coon papers sent, Rev S V Hoyle paper continued, W E Ludwig, Rev A A Bushmer for J Taylor 2.20 Dr Closs.

(Balance of Letters & Funds next week.)

Appointments.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Madison circ't Elec, July 31 and Aug		1
Randolph Pleasant Hill,	"	7- 8
Davidson Midway,	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	1- 5
Stokes, Palmyra,	"	11-12

A Camp meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

South Fork Ebenezer,	July	28-29
Newton Smyrna, July 31 and Aug.		1
D. Shoals, Clover Hill (C M) July 31.		Aug 1
Rock Spring, Rock Spring (C M) Aug		7- 8
Happy Home, Harmony,	"	14-15
Lenoir, Harper's Chapel,	"	21 22
Morganton, St. Pleasant (C M)	"	28 29
Marion, Nebo (C M)	Sept.	4- 5
Shelby station.	"	11-12

Camp-meetings will begin Friday evening and close on Wednesday morning. Ministers both traveling and local, are invited to attend the camp-meetings. May the Great Head of the church be with us and give his word success!

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	July	3- 4
Pee Dee, Zion.	"	10-11
Fayetteville	"	17-18
Lumberton, Lumberton,	"	24-25
Robeson, Salem, July 31.	Aug.	- 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Uwharie, Concord.	"	14-15
Montgomery, Ebenezer,	"	21-22
Buckhorn, Apex.	"	28-29

Camp-meeting will be held in connection with the Quarterly Meetings for Uwharrie and Montgomery circuits commencing on Saturday evening. Brethren in the ministry are invited to be with us.

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND, Q. M.

Granville at Bullocks,	June	5- 6
Raleigh at Person st.	"	12-13
Louisburg station.	"	19-20
Raleigh at Edenton st.	"	26-27
Tar River at Trinity.	July	3- 4
Henderson at Zion.	"	10-11
Robsville at Oxby Grove.	"	17-18
District Conference at Oxford,	"	24-25
Inclusive.
Nashville and Rocky Mount,	August	7- 8
Gary.	"	14-15
Smithfield,	"	21-22
Youngville,	"	28-29

The Introductory sermon at the District Conference will be preached by Rev. J. E. Thompson.

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Oxford on Saturday July 24th.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jones, Cypress Creek,	July	3- 4
Kinston, Monday,	"	- 5
Beaufort, S. School Convention,	"	8-11
Carteret, Morehead city, F. night,	"	-16
Wayne, Thompson's,	"	17-18
Newbern.	"	24-25
Straits, Wednesday,	"	-28
Lenoir, Woodington,	July 31 & Aug.	1
Snow Hill, Bethel.	Aug.	7- 8
Mt Olive, Indian Springs, Friday,	"	13
Goldsboro,	"	14-15
Neuse & S. Creek, Upper B. Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. YATES, P. E
Beaufort N .C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Kenansville at Charity Chapel,	June	20 21
Wilmington, 5th St.,	"	27-28
Clinton at Goshen.	July	18-19
Cokesbury at Bethel,	"	25 26
Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. at Center,	"	15-16
Topsail.	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville,	"	12-13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Parboro, at Nable's	July	3- 4
Williamston at Palmegras,	"	10 11
Washington and Greenville, at Shady Grove,	"	17-18
Plymouth & Jamesville, at James Chapel,	"	24-25
Cape Hatteras, at Chicacomicko	"	31 and August 1st.
Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug. 11, 12, 13	14, 15
Portsmouth,	" 17, 18, 19, 20	21, 22
Columbia at Gum Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath at Belhelm.	Sept.	4- 5
Warren.	"	11-12

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Hillsboro ct.	June	26-27
Alamance ct. Clovers Garden.	July	3- 4
C Hill & H. River, Cedar Grove,	"	10-11
Durham, Orange Church,	"	17-18
Pittsboro, District Conference,	"	24-25
Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	- 1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7- 8
Leasburg Union,	"	14-15
Taneyville, New Hope,	"	21-22
Flat River.	"	28 29

Our District Conference will be held at Pittsboro, commencing Thursday the 22d of July. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. J. Renn We cordially invite brethren from other Districts to be with us. We, certainly, expect one or both the Editors to be with us.

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

THIRD ROUND IN PART.

Mooresville ct. Mt Zion.	July	3- 4
Mocksville ct Concord,	"	10-11
Ya Kinville ct. Zion Chapel,	"	17-18
Surry ct. Rockford,	"	24-25
Mt Airy station,	"	31 August 1

The District Conference will be held at Mt. Airy commencing on Wednesday night July 28th, Rev R. T N. Stephenson will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren out of the District are invited to attend.

The preachers on the District are hereby notified to send to Rev. S. M. Davis, at Mt. Airy, the names of all their delegates and local preachers, and also state the probable number of horses that will be carried up. Attention to this request is absolutely necessary in order to prevent confusion.

D. R. BRUTON, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Pleas nt Grove ct. at Bethlehem,	June	12-13
Monroe Sta.	"	-17
Monroe ct at Liberty Chapel.	"	19 20
South Charlotte at Mill Grove,	"	26-27
Yadesboro sta.	July	- 2
Lilesville ct at Shiloh,	"	3- 4
Pineville ct at Hebron	"	10-11
Wadesboro ct at Bethel	"	17-18
Concord sta. and Concord ct	"	24-25
Tryon st. and Calvary Miss	Aug	1- 2
Mt. Pleasant, Albemarle and Stanley	"	7- 8
Ansonville, ct	"	14 15
	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, June 29, 1875

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm and dull.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light. Low middlings 14 4

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7.50
CORN 1st $1 10
CORN Mixed $1.00
BACON, N. C. sog round, 15.
" hams 16 1-2
BULK C. R. sides, 13 1-2
" shoulders, 10 1-2
LARD, North Carolina, none
" Western Ierces, 11-12c
" " kegs, 12 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 21 1-2
" Fair Rio, 20 1-2.
SYRUP, common, 40.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 13.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00
SUGAR, 11 1-2.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 9@10 1-2.
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@8.
" dry, 13 1-2
TALLOW, 7@8
POTATOES, sweet none.
" Irish, $1.00@$1.35.
OATS, shelled, 85. @90
" sheaf, $1.25.
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N C. baled, good, $1.25. 1.50
CHICKENS, grown, 25 @30
EGGS, 17 1-2@22 1-2
BUTTER, country, 22 1-2@25.
FISH, Mullets, $7.50.
" Cut Herrings, none.
" Mackerel, new family, $17.00
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 2½ 3
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE,
Lenoir, N. C,

The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.

Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes everything for which we are responsible, and we see no guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.

Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges, and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best public testimonial of real merit.

Young ladies board in the Institution under the immediate care of the President

Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other promptly at the end of the Session.

No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address.

REV. W. M. ROBEY, PRES.

July 7-3m

RALEIGH HIGH SCHOOL,
An English, Classical, Mathematical, and Military School for Boys.

REV. JOSEPH M. ATKINSON, } Principals
CHARLES H. SCOTT, }

The second annual session of this school will begin WEDNESDAY, September, 1st, 1875. The Principals have procured for the school the commodious and attractive residence on Newbern Avenue, well-known in Raleigh as the "Cotton Place," more recently owned and handsomely related by Col R. Kingsland.

Besides continuing their Day School they propose taking a limited number of boys of good character and conduct to board in their own family.

The training of the school, as heretofore, will be full, thorough and accurate, preparing its pupils for college or for business life.

Competent assistants will be provided in all departments, as may be required. The Principals trust that it is scarcely necessary for them to say that whilst the school will continue to be conducted on Christian principles, it will be entirely without denominational aim or bias

For circulars and other information address either of the Principals, Raleigh, North Carolina,

July 7-1m.

LOUISBURG FEMALE SEMINARY.
A First-Class High School
—FOR—
YOUNG MISSES AND GIRLS.

Fall session opens Wednesday, 14th of July, and continues full 20 weeks

TERMS:—Board, with washing, furnished rooms and English Tuition in full, $70 00. Languages and music very moderate. No extras.

Ten or twelve boarders can be accommodated comfortably with the Parents of the pupils.

Apply for circular to

Miss CORNELIA A. CRENSHAW,
July 7-1t. Principal.

HORNER & GRAVES'S SCHOOL.
Hillsboro, N. C.

The Fall session of 1875 opens on the 14th Monday in July.

Catalogues sent on application.

July 7-1m

White Sulphur Springs,
CATAWBA COUNTY. N C.

This celebrated Watering Place will be open for Select Visitors 1st June. The Springs are situated 55 miles Northwest of Charlotte, 60 West of Salisbury, and 6 miles from Hickory Station, on the Western N C. Railroad.

The bracing mountain atmosphere, with the health restoring properties of their waters, render these Springs a most desirable resort for invalids and pleasure seekers

The Mineral waters embrace Blue and White Sulphur and Chalybeate. It is the best and most extensively fitted up Watering place in the State—can accommodate 300 persons

Good BAND OF MUSIC, Ten Pin Alley, Billiard Table, and a supply of Ice.

Omnibus will be at Hickory Station, on the Western N. C. Railroad, for Passengers on the arrival of every train.

Board $35.00 per month of 28 days—half price for children and servants, and a liberal deduction for families.

My Post-office is Catawba White Sulphur, N. C.

Dr. E. O. ELLIOTT,
July 7-1m Proprietor.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,
STOKES CO. N. C.

The leading watering place of the State.

Fare equal to any city Hotel South. Nights delightfully cool.

Mountain scenery unsurpassed. Room for 500 guests.

BOARD REDUCED.

Per day $2.00. Per week $12.50. Per month $36.00.

DAILY LINE COMFORTABLE COACHES FROM SALEM—WINSTON.

Connecting Closely with all the Trains—the most comfortable of these leaving Winston on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Tickets to Piedmont Springs and return for sale at the following places at reduced rates:

Durham	$ 9 45	Raleigh	$ 11 45
Danville	9 50	Salisbury	2 50
Gulfsboro	14 85	Lexington	7 85
Greensboro	7 45	Charlotte	12 15

Passenger trains on the North Carolina Central Rail Road, and on the Richmond and Danville Rail Road, make connections at Greensboro with trains for Salem Winston, which is the terminus of the N W N C R R from which point passengers can reach the Springs by a Daily Line of New Concord Coaches.

All mail matter intended for visitors at Piedmont, should be directed to "PIEDMONT SPRINGS," Winston, N. C., and will be promptly delivered by Stage Driver Daily.

Capt. S. B. TAYLOR, Manager.
W. E. WILLIAMSON, }
C. M. FLINN, } Prop'rs.
Rd. G. PAGE, }
Danville, Va.

Resident Physician: Dr. H. B. MEARS, of Danville, Va., formerly Resident Physician at Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, Va.

July 7-1m.

CLEVELAND
MINERAL SPRINGS,
(FORMERLY WILSON'S.)

Near Shelby, 55 miles West of Charlotte.

THIS FAMOUS WATERING PLACE will be open for the reception of visitors on the 10th of June.

Passengers coming on the Central Railroad will be met by hacks, and conveyances will be sent to the Air-Line Railroad, and other points whenever desired.

Cold and Warm Bath, White Sulphur, Red Sulphur and Chalybeate Water.—Band of Music and other sources of amusement. Fare First Class. For further information address

T. W. BREVARD,
july 7-1m. Proprietor.

The Needle
COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—compelling at many of the Southern fairs and hearing away first premiums.

In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That during the ginning season it ginned 725 bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in forty-five minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in 31 minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which boxes of paper matches and nails were put without setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needles.

☞ Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints, Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material

July 7-tf

A. G. LEE. ED. H. LEE. CLE R. LEE

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE.
A. G. Lee & Sons.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their lots to the market to try us. We can beat New York in the nett proceeds of your cotton.

When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the very highest market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The SCHOFIELD COTTON PRESS, the best invented.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

July 7th-tf

IN STORE AND FOR SALE
Two car loads of N.C. Meadow Hay.
10 Bbls " " Cultivated Hay now in store and for sale by
A. G. LEE & SONS.

150 BUSHELS CLAY AND Speckled PEAS now in the market by
A. G. LEE & SONS.

SOMETHING NICE AND SWEET.
Half dozes up-country CHEESE, weighing from 8½ to 4 1-2 lbs, each, received to day per express.
A. G. LEE & SONS.

A NICE LOT OF SMALL WELL trimmed N. C HAMS, in store and for sale at 16 1-2 cents,
A. G. LEE & SONS.

NORTH CAROLINA AND NORWOOD'S Cultivated Hay for sale cheap by
A. G. LEE & SONS.

SCOFIELD'S PATENT COTTON SCREW PRESS MODEL and a Horse Power PRESS, now on exhibition at our office.
A. G. LEE & SONS.
July 7 tf. Sole Agents.

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is at MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ices made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool. July 7-tf

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY,
Male and Female.
Eight Miles from Greensboro, N. C.

R. P. TROY, A. M., Principal.
MISS R. P. TROY, Preceptress and Music Teacher.

The Fall Session will begin July 28th, 1875, and continue five months

Tuition per Session,	from $7 50 to $20 00
Music,	15 00
Board, with wood and washing,	45 00
Contingent Fee,	50
Use of Piano,	2 00

One half in advance. No deduction after entrance, except for sickness. The low prices of board and tuition, healthy location, and the advantages of a commend Pleasant Garden to the patronage of those having children to educate. All are required to attend Sunday school and religious services every Sabbath, and especial care is taken to promote moral development.

FIRST CLASS ACADEMY.

Conveyance from Greensboro Furnished if Notice is Given.

Address the Principal, at Greensboro, N. C., for further information.

REFERENCES:

Rev. Dr. Craven, D. D., L L D.,	Trinity College, N C
" N. H. D. Wilson, D. D.	Greensboro, N. C.
" W. H. Bobbitt,	Greensboro, N. C.
" L. L. Hendren,	Chapel Hill N. C.

July 7-1m.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,
Greensboro N. C.

The Fall Session will begin on the 18th of August.

TERMS REDUCED.

Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights).....$75 00
Tuition in regular English course, ... 25 00
Charge for Extra studies, moderate.

For Catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev P. M. Jones, President.

N. H. D. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees.

June 30 2m

HUGHES'S ACADEMY.

The sixty-fifth session of my school will commence Monday, July 12th, 1875.

Circulars forwarded on application.

SAMUEL H. HUGHES,
Cedar Grove, Orange co., N. C.

June 30-5w

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

GEO. W. WYNNE,
T. B. YANCEY,
J. W. LEE

RALEIGH, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest as assume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payment.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf GEO. W. WYNNE.

SITUATION WANTED,

In some College, High School or Academy by a gentlemen who is a graduate and who has made teaching with its latest improvements his business and study for ten or twelve years. The best of testimonials furnished. Address, E. P.,
June 30 tf Boykin's Depot Va,

NEW GOODS STILL ARRIVING!

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER!

One of our firm having just returned from the North, where he has been purchasing goods in all the different styles and qualities belonging to our business, in order to repair the broken lines in the various departments, we are again enabled to offer to our customers and the public at large greater inducements than heretofore in Ladies Dress Goods!

Black and Colored Silks,
Summer Silks, Grenadines,
Figured Lawns, and Muslins,

Mohair Suitings,
Ballste Suitings,
Linen Suitings,
Zebra Suitings.

Plain, Printed and Corded GRASS CLOTHS AND LINEN LAWNS.

BLEACHED GOODS:

Irish Linens,
Victoria Lawns,
Jaconets,

in better qualities and cheaper than ever offered.

It is useless for us to mention particularly prices to our goods, as it only requires one trial to customers to convince themselves that the "TUCKERS" cannot and will not be surpassed in low prices by any house in this city or elsewhere, being always up to the "times."

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

June 30-tf

PETTY & JONES,

DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,
BOOTS, SHOES,
Hats, Notions, &c., & c.

We are offering select lines of Victoria Lawns, Plain and Checked, Plain and Striped Jaconets, Swiss and Organdies, Black Grenadines, Spring and Summer Dress Goods, Salt and Housekeeping Linens, Printed Linens and Lawns, Plain, Striped, Corded and Checked Grass Cloths, at prices that will enable us to sell all who wish to buy and will give us a call.

Also, together with an extensive line of Hamburg Edgings, and Insertions, Plain and Fancy Hose for Ladies and Children Full lines of Half Hose for Gentlemen and Boys—all grades.

Gloves. Fans, Parasols. Umbrellas

in a great variety and at low prices.

A large assortment of Canfield's hard-made Calf Congress Gaiters Continental Union and Strap Shoes, just received today. The superiority of this make of Shoes for gentlemen is too well known by our customers throughout the State to require any praise from us.

Ballou's French Yoke Shirts.

We guarantee a fit or no sale. Directions for measurement sent and Shirts made to order on application.

Our goods are all new and lately received so that we had the advantage of decline in prices in making our purchases.

Our prices are as low as any house can sell good GOODS for. Customers will do well to call and look at our late arrivals before buying.

PETTY & JONES,
June 30-tf No 70 Fayetteville street.

AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift
EVER OFFERED. LOCAL AGENTS
Wanted everywhere for THE KING, a weekly family and literary journal, of 16 large pages. Subscription, $1.75. With THE KING is given away the magnificently bound quarto volume, entitled American Illustrated, a superb delineation of American scenery. Largest commissions. Most Speedily Illustrated Circular free, J. DAVID WILLIAMS & CO., (Box 3187,) 39 Beekman St., New York.

May 5-12m

Bingham School.
ESTABLISHED IN 1793.
MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

The 109rd session will begin 28th July, '75, in new buildings in all respects equal, and in some important respects superior, to any others in the State. June 16-2m.

PRICE THIS DAY REDUCED TO 40 Cents Per a Bbl,
PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL
— WILL NOT EXPLODE. —

Now used in nearly
600,000 Families,

Never an accident directly or indirectly. BURNS IN ANY LAMP. Beware of SO CALLED safety oils.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

NEW SPRING GOOD JUST ARRIVED.

D. WYATT & BRO.,
Wholesale and Retail
DEALERS IN
READY MADE CLOTHING
For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN
Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Goods and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief Neckties, Hose and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cesia Ruffling, and Plaitings, Ladies Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jacknets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Pique, Mul Muslins, Check'd Muslins, Nansook and Linen Lawns, Torrett Jeans, Cambries and Linens.

HATS. HATS. HATS
Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Our Stock is complete in this line. Miles and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
54 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N.

may 19-tf.

J. M. ROSENBAUM,

At Kline's old stand on the corner of Fayetteville and Hargett streets,

Has received his Spring supply of

Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, and everything usually looked for in a

Gent's Furnishing Store.

His stock of

Ready-Made Clothing

(of which he makes a specialty.)

For Men and Boys' Wear,

is large and complete, of the latest styles, selected and bought by Mr. Rosenbaum in person, who from long experience, knows what is suited to the Raleigh market. He has also a full supply of the BEST MAKE OF SHIRTS and UNDERCLOTHING. Customers will find whatever they want in the clothing line at and at prices of which they will not find it in their hearts to complain.

ROSENBAUM'S,

Thanking my customers for their past kind and liberal patronage, I trust that they will continue to favor me with their calls and purchases, assuring them that they will get as good bargains from me as they will obtain in any other store in the city.

apl 23-3m

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased Mr. Thompson's interest in the business I shall continue to keep a

LARGE AND FULL STORE

of Goods belonging to a first-class Grocery Store, at the old Stand,

NO. 4 MARTIN STREET, where I shall be pleased to see my many friends and patrons, promising them goods always as cheap as they can be had in this

Children's Column.

Answers.

Og, King of Bashan, had an iron bedstead fourteen feet long. Cora V. Lyon, S. W. L. Connelly, F. B. Jones,

Peter smote off the ear of a servant named Malchus St. John 18th ch. 10th verse. Cora V. Lyon, R. E. Claytor, F. B. Jones

Matthias is the answer to Enigma proposed by F. B. Jones. Cora V. Lyon.

Alhonbachuth is the answer to Enigma proposed by J. W. Howard. Cora V. Lyon, F. B. Jones.

The Scriptures are silent concerning the parentage of Elijah, R. E. Claytor.

In Ecclesiastes, 3rd chap. 4th verse is found "there is a time to weep, a time to laugh: a time to mourn and a time to dance." Fannie S. Hodges. Bessie Herndon.

Saul, afterwards called Paul, was let down the wall in a basket. (Acts 9th chap. 25th verse. Fannie Sue Hodges. Theo. C. W. Boshamer, J. R. Howard, Bessie Herndon.

The two kings whose reign began at 8 years of age were 1st Josiah, (2nd kings 22nd chap. 1st v) and 2nd, Jehoiachin (2nd Chronicles 36th ch. 9th verse.) Theo. C. W. Boshamer, Bessie Herndon.

The chapter containing 7 parables is the 13th chap of St. Mathew. T. C. W. Boshamer, J. W. Howard, J. R Howard.

St. Paul was born in Tarsus, a city in Celicia. T. C. W. Boshamer J. W. Howard, J. R. Howard, Bessie Herndon.

The golden calf that Aaron made was burnt in the fire and ground in to powder, strewed upon the waters, and the children of Israel were made to drink of it. Exodus 32nd chapter 20th verse.—T. C. W. Boshamer, J. W. Howard, J. R. Howard, Bessie Herndon Joshua commanded the sun to stand still, Joshua 10th ch. 12th verse. T. C. W. Boshamer, Bessie Herndon.

Amram and Jochebed were the parents of Moses. Jochebed was her husband's aunt.—J. W. Howard, J. R. Howard, Bessie Herndon.

By the touch of Elisha's bones, a dead man was raised to life. 2nd Kings 13th chap 21st verse. Bessie Herndon.

"Skin for skin" is found in Job 2nd ch. 4th v. F. B. Jones.

R. E. Claytor gives the answer to Bible enigma proposed by W. A. Betts, as follows: Wafer, Sceptre, Kissed, Emerald, Nisan, Date, Agate Lightning, Log. The initials of the above from the name of the Superintendent of Ansonville Sunday School. W. S. Kendall.

Questions.

Cora V. Lyon asks who divided the Bible into chapters and verses.

F. B. Jones asks where in the Bible is our Savior first spoken of and by what name is he called.

J. W. Howard asks what verse contains the following: "Thy heaven that is over thy head shall be brass and the earth that is under thee shall be iron."

Bessie Herndon asks what became of the Tower of Babel.

S. W. L. Connelly asks who was the first monarch mentioned in the Bible; also what chapter in the Bible has 80 verses, of which 2, 6, 11, 12 and 12 are alike.

BIBLE ENIGMA PROPOSED BY R. E. CLAYTON

My 1st a state of mind not easily deseribed.
" 2nd the third letter in one of the ingredients of the sacred perfume which Moses was required to prepare.
" 3rd a style in singing,
" 4th an expressive mode of showing contempt.
" 5th a Hebrew word signifying "God with us."
" 6th a species of hard cake or bread.
" 7th Posts or feet on which the brazen laver rested.
" 8th a ring used in sealing.
My whole was a valuable assistant to Paul in his ministerial labors.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY J. W. HOWARD.

My 1st begins the name of a woman of fair countenance
" 2nd the prophet that saw the Lord sitting on the throne.
" 8th the father of Nagge.
" 4th the city where Christ raised a widow's son.
" 5th the father of Jonah.
" 6th the place where Jonah was going when he was thrown from the ship.
" 7th the name of the son of Remuel.
" 8th the name of the mouth in which the word of the Lord came to Zachariah.
" 9th the judge of Israel who fell from his seat and broke his neck.
" 10th the one who was fair to look upon.
" 11th the father of Isaiah.
" 12th one of the sons of Noah.
My whole is the name of the place where Joshua was buried.

ENIGMA BY J. B. HOWARD.

My first a king whom Ehud slew,
And who subdued the Jews,
Second, a stone of brilliant red
Was in the breast plate used,
My third a son of Phineas
Who in the priesthood reigned,
My fourth the wife of Maklen was
Who with her gods remained.
My third, my second and my first
In normal order stand
But my fourth you must reverse,
To form what I demand.
Take the initial letters then,
And find a valley's name,
In which a champion Philistine
Was by a shepherd slain
A mountain then, near Jericho,
The final letters compose
Its summits, if you read of yore,
From Pisgah's range arose.

A Parable

A little boy was about to lose his father, and before he passed away the loving parent called him to his bed side, and said: "My child, I am going to be taken from you. I cannot leave you houses and servantr—nothing of the kind is mine to give; yet I have something to leave you." Pointing with his finger, he said:

"Open that drawer."

The child opened it.

"Take out that small box," and the boy did so

"Bring it to me;" and he brought it.

"I am going away," said the father, "and this box contains all I can bequeath to you; take care of it, for it is of great value."

The good parent died, and the son sacredly treasured what had been so solemnly intrusted to him.

Time went on, and on a certain day the great, good king of the country sat on his throne to receive the homage of his people, and the presents which their loyalty induced them to bring. The princes were there, and nobles, and the wealthy of the land Each strove to outvie the other in the value of their presents. There were gifts of gold and silver and costly jewels, horses and equipages. And amid the splendid throng came the boy, carrying the box his father had given him. But he was rudely thrust aside by the servants in waiting. "What could such a child as this want," they said, "in the presence of the king?" They perceived his coat was patched and threadbare, and that he was dusty with his journey; and as one and another saw him, they bade him to depart from the palace. But the boy pressed on: he would see the king: he would offer his present along with the rest. And now the king from his throne saw that there was some confusion among his servants, and sent a noblemen to ask the reason of it

"My master wants to know what this confusion means," the messenger said.

"It is a boy that wants to see the king, but he is not fit to come before him; what has he to give?"

So the nobleman returned, and told what he had heard.

"Let him come to me," said the monarch; and he was brought into the royal presence.

"Why do you wish to speak with me?" kindly asked he who sat on the throne.

"I have brought my present, O king!" said the boy, bowing low, and holding out his plain, small box.

"Take that box from him," the monarch said: and a prince took it.

"Open it."

The box was opened, and there appeared a jewel, flashing with beauty. The king held it in his hand, and asked,

"Where found you this, my boy?"

"It was given me by my father," the lad replied; "and when the rich men brought their presents I came to offer it as mine."

The king was amazed, and said in the hearing of all his nobles: 'I have had many precious gifts to day, but this is of more value than all.'

So the boy was taken into the palace, had a place at the king's table, and was treated by him thereafter as a son.

Can the young explain this parable? What is the most valuable of all gifts in God's sight? God says: 'My son, give me thine heart, and 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God;' 'I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me.' Every child, however lowly, may give to God this offering of the heart, and he will surely accept it, and make each one who gives it a son or a daughter of the King of kings.

Small Waists and Consumpsion.

[J. V. C. Smith's 'Ways of Women']

The desideratum of small waists has been the premature death of thousands of the fairest and most promising young ladies, before they had time to learn the dangers they were inviting by following the example of those who teach by their practice that they prefer conformity to the requirements of a perverted taste to exemption from the penalties of being out of shape, in the sense of those who exercise no judgment in regard to this important matter..... Favored, as many robust women are, with a fine organization in other respects, they can live out a long life in comparative health and comfort, but there are few compared to the vast number who fall short and die before they have attained all they might have had on earth The first or topmost rib on either side, just under the collar-bone, is short, thin, and sharp on its inner curvature. It has no motion, being a brace between the dorsal column and the breast-bone. It is immovable for the purpose of protecting large arteries and veins belonging to the arms on either side of the neck. In cases where the chest has been manipulated till the lungs cannot expand downwards they are forced up above that rib. Rising and falling above and below that rib level, the lobe chafes and frets against the resisting curvature. It is inflamed at last, and the organ becomes diseased. If that chafing is not relieved, but in each respiration the serous covering of the lung is irritated continually, the inflammation is apt to extend quite into the body of the organ, increased and intensified by exciting, laborious pursuits, or unfavorable exposures. Finally, the mucous lining of the air cells within the lung sympathises and becomes inflamed also. In this condition we may trace the commencement of pulmonary consumption. It would be denominated sporadic, and widely different from pulmonary disease by inheritance..... Consumption is not only developed by tight lacing, but a multiplication of cases, where the original conformation of the individual was favorable for a comparatively long life, is beyond question. Medications cannot stay the onward march of disorganization when ulcerations eat the tissues. Once destroyed they can never be reproduced. Therefore, if prevention is better than cure, less expensive, and always more agreeable, why not profit by these suggestions? No compression of the base of the chests of men being induced by tight dressing, a chafing of the upper surface of the lung rarely occurs with them..... Great men, giants in any department of busy life—those who make the world conscious of their influence—those who quicken thought, or revolutionize public sentiment, and leave the impress of their genius in the history of the age in which they flourished, were not the sons of gaunt mothers whose waists resembled the middle of an hour-glass.

The Public Confidence Well Placed.

Although the world has been seeking specifics for disease for many centuries, few indeed have been found. Prominent among these few is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which years ago received the endorsement of the medical profession and was hailed by press and public as the truest convenant and preventive of the age. And with good reason, since to the weakened stomach it gives strength, to the torpid liver activity to the disordered bowels regularity and to the sicken nervous system firmness and tone. Under its benignant influence a healthful vigor returns to the debilitated and wasted frame, the digestive organs become exact, the wan aspect of ill health is replaced by a look of cheerfulness, the mind ceases to despond, and flesh is developed upon the attenuated frame. There is no exaggeration in this statement. It is as true as that the system is subject to disease Were proofs required to substantiate the results of the comprehensive effects of the Bitters, the rule is probably not in existence a medicine in universal use of which such a mass of testimony, from the most respectable sources, could be adduced, attesting the efficacy of the nation's alterative and in fact it has become a matter of universal knowledge too long to need any such corroboration. The fact that it has the largest sales in those portions of the North and South American Continents, Mexico, and the West Indies in which atmospheric influences prejudical to health exist, proves its salutiferous influence in full its remedial and protective virtues. In localities where fevers or an intermittent type prevail especially, it has come to be regarded as an indispensable necessity.

July 1-3m

CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS three days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eyes. "Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely lost for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All I care in writing for full particulars, testimonials of cures, prices, &c., will be sent free. Or, if you wish to see me will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE and of cure, numbering pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957, No 91 Liberty street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ADJUSTMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by squeezing huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO 91 LIBERTY STREET,
New York City, N. Y

P. O. Box 957
Sept 6-1m

Books of Bound Music.

Containing the Cream de la Creme of all

Vocal and Instrumental Music

PAGES FULL SHEET MUSIC SIZE!

Price of each book in Boards $2.50, in Cloth, $3; Gilt, $4.

Famous German Song, 216 pages	Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song, 240 pages	Vocal.
Gems of Irish Song, 240 pages	Vocal.
Wreath of Gems, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Gems of Strauss, 240 pages.	Instrumental.
Operatic Pearls, 216 pages.	Vocal.
Shower of Pearls, 240 pages	Vocal Duets
Sweet Home, 240 pages.	Vocal.
Home Circle, Vol. I, 256 pages.	Instrumental.
Home Circle, Vol. II 256 pages.	Instrumental.
Piano Classics, 250 pages.	Piano Duets.
Musical Treasure 225 pages.	Vocal & Inst.
Pianoforte Gems, 250 pages.	Instrumental.
Piano Album, 224 pages.	Instrumental.
Organ at Home, 2 volumes.	For REED ORGAN.

The above books are uniform in style and binding, are handsomely gilt on the contents, are sold by all prominent music dealers, and will be sent to any address for retail prices.

All books sent post-paid, for Retail Price

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO 711 B'dway, New York.

june 24 tf

THE REPEAL OF THE USURY LAW will doubtless be the first question that will attract the attention of our next Legislative Assembly, but as that is a long way ahead, it becomes necessary to learn something exciting for present use. Hence we announce the fact that

Weikel, The Irrepressible Merchant Tailor,

has just returned from the North with a stock of

FRENCH AND ENGLISH CLOTHS,
DIAGONALS, STRIPED, CHECKED AND PLAIN CASSIMERES,
SPRING AND SUMMER SUITINGS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTON.

LIGHT CASSIMERES FOR PANTS VESTINGS, &c.

the like of which is creating even more excitement on Fayetteville Street than

THE CHANGE OF GAUGE

did on the line of the North Carolina Rail Road.

He has in Store and now on exhibition the largest and most attractive stock ever offered to the before and all I can say would do well to call early, as the rush has already commenced.

RALEIGH PUBLIC

The Manufacturing Department is complete in all its branches, with the best workmen in the State on the bench.

Orders from the country respectfully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 14-3m

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full took of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceris and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise close who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I will most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to give Mr Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building

LANN ADAMS

march17 6 m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless The Inestimable Blessing of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and diviners have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1, Impaired Vision; 2, Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3, Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, running or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6, Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7, Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect Vision, a term that has been a matter of colloquial knowledge too long to need any such corroboration. The fact that it has the largest sales in those portions of the North and South American Continents, Mexico, and the West Indies in which atmospheric influences prejudical to health exist, proves its salutiferous influence in full its remedial and protective virtues. In localities where fevers or an intermittent type prevail especially, it has come to be regarded as an indispensable necessity.

July 1-3m

CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS three days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eyes. "Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely lost for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All I care in writing for full particulars, testimonials of cures, prices, &c., will be sent free. Or, if you wish to see me will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE and of cure, numbering pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957, No 91 Liberty street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ADJUSTMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by squeezing huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO 91 LIBERTY STREET,
New York City, N. Y

P. O. Box 957
Sept 6-1m

SUI GENERIS.

PALMAM QUI MERUIT FERAT

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED Judged UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres to be Unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER COMMISSIONS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN. An exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO

apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Western N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c., to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	6.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9 38 "	6.69 "
" Salisbury.....	11.18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.00 A. M.	10.55 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkville.....	11.35 "	6.17 "
Arrive at Richmond..	4.32 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M.	5.08 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.02 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.31 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.50 "	1.47 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	2.45 A. M	5.25 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	8.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte.	8.03 A. M	8.33 "

GOING EAST.

GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail	Mail
Leave Greensboro'.	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.10 A. M
" Co. Shops....	4.31 "	Leave 12.58 "
" Raleigh.....	8.31 "	8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro	11.34 A. M	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	6.45 "
Leave Salem.....	8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro.....	10.55 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 5.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways,

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond 9.00 A. M. arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	2.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	6.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.21 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Clyde Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northeast, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 20th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 20th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows.

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.80 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.35 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.00 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.54 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection a Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE SUPT OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after the date trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 MIDN.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and are among the best in use. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as the excellence and durability of the work and the most thorough workmanship will permit. The principles, plainly and correctly, and the piano-purchasing public of the south especially, unite in the unanimous verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. The DURABILITY of our instruments is fully established by over sixty years' and colleges in the South, using over 300 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufacturers of Cabinet and Parlor Organs; prices from $50 to $600. A liberal discount to Clergymen and Sabbath schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $75 to $150, always on hand.

Send for illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 500 Southerners, who have bought and are using the Stieff Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF.
Warerooms, No. 9 North Liberty street.
Baltimore, Md.

Factories, 84 & 86 Camden st. and 45 & 47 Perry st.
Dec 16-12m

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Suffering and Triumphs of His followers. A bolder, sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Sartain and Illman, and splendidly bound in the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

March 10-6m

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand First's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

aug 19-1f

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free. Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

May 26 1 y

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.
A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in duroccs, gilt edge. $3 00.
" " Cloth. 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV. P. L. REID, Lexington, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SQUARE, RALEIGH, N. C

Again, we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past ten years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and intend giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

500 Bbls. Rio Coffee,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Bales Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
100 Bbls. C. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Oysters,
50 " " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
20 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
1K " " Jordan Horse and Mule Shoes,
2½ lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
2c Boxes Adamantine Candles,
101 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer especial inducements to country and near-by merchants, and invite an examination of our stock only competition

Oct 7 12 m LEACH BROS

L. R. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS
AND GENERAL
Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock o

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and
General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest market prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 20-1f

THE JAS. LEFFEL
Double Turbine Water Wheel,
Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.

Manufacturers, also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Running Machinery, Gearing for Cotton Mills, Flour Mill, White Lead and other Presses, &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine made Gearing rated and of very best finish. Send for circular.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c, &c.

Dec. 23-6

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted on the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Farms, Tracks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

—o—

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Mi'e's and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY.
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.

oct 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIF

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Babbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 28. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, July 14, 1875. | Whole No. 1,066.

Selected Poetry.

A Little While.

[illegible] ending and the weeping
[illegible]
[illegible] sleeping and the sleeping,
[illegible] and the reaping,
[illegible]
[illegible] and home!
[illegible] hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

[illegible] blooming and the fading
I shall be soon;
[illegible] calming and the shading,
[illegible] and the dreading,
I shall be soon.
[illegible] rest and home!
Sweet hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

[illegible] the rising and the setting
I shall be sorry;
[illegible] calming and the fretting,
[illegible] remembering and forgetting,
I shall be soon.
[illegible] rest and home!
Sweet hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

[illegible] gathering and the strewing
I shall be soon;
[illegible] decaying and the flowing,
[illegible] coming and the going,
I shall be soon.
[illegible] and home!
Sweet hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

[illegible] parting and the meeting
I shall be soon;
[illegible] farewell and the greeting,
[illegible] never-fleeting,
I shall be soon.
[illegible] and home!
Sweet hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

[illegible] chain and the fetter
I shall be soon;
[illegible] rock and the river,
[illegible] and the never,
I shall be soon.
[illegible] and home!
Sweet hope!
[illegible] not, but come.

—Benar.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Messrs. Editors: Having been [illegible] the formation of the N. C. Conference in 1837 till the close of 1859, a member of the body, I have never ceased to feel a lively interest in all its operations, its character, its enterprises, its growth. Will you then indulge me with the space this epistle requires that I may communicate with old friends!

I have rejoiced in the extension of our borders and the success achieved by accretion and accession.—Your territory now embraces nearly all the land to which you are naturally entitled. You are strong in numbers and material resources; the equals in these regards to any of the sister Conferences. With increased advantages are added increased responsibilities. May the Conference be equal to them!

As I had somewhat to do with it as a working member in the first twenty-five years of its life, I have never ceased to cherish a warm regard for this Conference, while I have a fond remembrance of, and warm friendship for the associates of what I may properly call the youthful days of my ministry. I have never obliterated from my mind the evidences of confidence, trust and affection that I received among the preachers and people with whom I was associated with them. Those years were they: especially at Raleigh, Greensboro', Salisbury, Fayetteville, Warrenton; on Roanoke, Henderson, Granville, Tar River, Raleigh and other circuits; on Danville District and in other fields. I cherish the thought that there are yet many living with whom I have worshipped and communed in other days, whose faith has not failed, and who are steadily advancing toward the heaven of rest. But many whose memory and friendship are enshrined in my heart have left the toils and sorrows of earth and gone to share the glories of the long sought land.—When I entered the old Virginia Conference in 1841 I was in a class of fifteen. Of these only three survive: Rev. L. Wadsworth, D. D., now of Mobile, Ala. Conference; Rev. D. Barnes, N. C. Conference, and myself of the N. Miss. Conference. All the others I hope are enjoying the rest of Heaven.

At the time I was ordained deacon [illegible] there was a class of eleven received on trial; of these seven are dead, five of them members of the N. C. Conference. Among those who have left the earth, stands the name of Rev. E. Pell, a man of true faith and zeal excelled by any for christian purity and integrity. Though his departure was sudden, I doubt not he was found robed in the wedding garment.

Among those who have left your ranks to join the "General Assembly" I miss the name of Peter Doub, D. D., of whom it may be truly said. "He was a man full of the Holy Ghost and of faith," a man of profound thought and research and great power of analysis. A master logician, he was overwhelming as a reasoner. He loved the Gospel—lived it—enjoyed it. May my end be as peaceful as his when he fell asleep in Jesus!

Rev. J. Reid entered the itinerancy in 1815. In 1828 he was my pastor; in 1836 and 1839 he was my P. E. I was in these and other years intimately associated with him and many times were we specially employed serving the church and conference, so that I think myself able from my knowledge of character to say, confidently, that he was a good man and true. He did and endured much to serve the church. The day of his toil in the vineyard is ended with a sudden call to cease at once to work and live. For fifty-five years he wrought with toil, but will have eternity to rest from his labors."

Within the past two or three years your Conference has been truly called to mourn the dead. W. Holmes, a superannuate. Alfred Norman, who had been eminently useful and successful in building up the church. N. F. Reid, D. D., and Wm. Barringer—men of purest character and true piety, whose foot prints and praise are in all places where they served the church. We may truly say the N. C. Conference has made large contributions of best material to the Heavenly Canaan. We may well inquire: How can the church spare such men? If consulted, she would reluctantly consent to their removal But the Head of the Church has taken them to himself, and will take care of the church too, by supplying all that is needful.

If I may be indulged in a remark as to myself I would say that in the varied experiences of an itinerant life of forty-five years I have found the work of the Master's vineyard interesting, pleasant, profitable in regard to my own spiritual development, and full of hope as regards the future. I wish to work remembering that the Master's eye is on me: his grace always present to strengthen me, and a crown of life awaits me after the season of toil is over.

Thos. S. Campbell.

Iuka Miss., July 2, 1875.

For the Advocate.

Messrs Editors: Morning dawned upon the plains of High Sampson bright and beautiful on Sunday the 13th June: with the rising of the king of day the mocking bird and other innumerable forest choristers were chanting praises as it were, to the great Creator and a beautiful repose of peace pervaded everything animate, while a singular and similar repose seemed to be resting upon the inanimate works of the same Divine hand, causing a feeling of sublimity intermingled with awe to pervade my immortal counterpart, and in silent admiration of the surrounding scenery the following lines involuntarily occurred to my mind:

No sounds unmeet the listener's ear
But rural melodies of flocks and birds,
The lowing far and faint of distant herds;
The mocking bird with minstrel pride elate,
The partridge whistling for its absent mate;
The thrush's solitary notes prolong,
Gentle merry blackbirds swell the general song.

On such a morning of rapturous beauty, and being alone, I felt it to be a fit occasion for serious meditation, my thoughts voluntarily dwelt on the future state of man. I could not refrain contrasting the present with the past five years, when nothing but Protestantism was scarcely known in this section. The Methodist, and Baptists had their churches as they now have and the entire community looked to them and their teachers as the true lights of christianity; the scene is sadly changed, while the Baptists are assembled for worship, the Romans have a pretty large audience whom they are in a delusive way leading along a circuitous and knotty route promising to land at last at a peaceful haven. The exercises of which I wish to inform you, in the language of Romanism, is called the Retreat continuing a week. Your readers know the literal definition of the word, but why the Romans give their exercises such a term I am incompetent to explain; there may be some wise nomenclator in their ranks who probably could give an elucidation. "Father" Miller of Michigan officiated; dressed as is customary with priests and bishops the candles are lighted and the "pannels over the doors" (thus called by one present) were knocked out for a freer ventilation, commenced his "big discourse on the way to heaven or hell;" asserting that there was no intermediate habitation for the soul and the only way to obtain the promised happiness was to accept Romanism; that priests were commissioned as successors to the Apostles to preach the word and hearing was the only method intended for sinners to find favor with God; that priests and bishops alone were commissioned to proclaim the word—asserting in strong language that we could not go to Christ for information for he was dead; so were the Apostles, consequently Roman authority alone could intercede to save sinners. He informed his audience that the Roman church was true and infallible using his best endeavors to induce the congregation to believe that they were not to read the Bible, that faith cometh through hearing and the people at large had no other method to seek salvation but by hearing such expounders as himself. He remarked, "who is to preach? not every old Tom, Dick and Harry; the apostles being dead the only resort was to hear Roman orators" (!) and not read a single sentence in God's holy teachings. He wanted to impress the congregation with the belief that if Protestants can read and understand the Bible they don't need teachers, that Henry 8th and no other person had a right to teach us; that, if every man is allowed to read the Bible construing it as is customary with commentators, the result will be each individual will become a denomination or in other words there will be so many denominations as individuals who can read and do read for themselves. Such tomfoolery as this is proclaimed in the Catholic church once a month. They are broadcasting their catechisms, poisoning the minds of the innocent and are working unceasingly to gain the ascendency. They have a school and have succeeded to induce a few Protestants to send their children. A leading Roman has publicly declared that every body had as well embrace Romanism: that if they did not do so voluntarily, they would be forced. This was spoken in a spirit of persecution; it simply means, had they the power every man woman and child should embrace this doctrine or would be persecuted to the last extremity; that its aim and final end is Monarchy in all of its absolute and tyrannical forms.

Methodists ministers have a wide field in which to operate. Untiring energy and zeal and an ample supply of patience, with hearts overflowing with true christianity, is needed to evangelize those under their charge. A great work is still before them; May a merciful God strengthen them for the great work and so direct them till our banner will triumphantly wave over the land.

C.

For the Advocate.

Wesleyan Female Institute.

The Commencement Exercises of this popular institution, located at Staunton, Virginia, closed with its usual success. The exercises were inaugurated by Rev. Dr. Deems of New York City, who preached one of the most instructive and powerful sermons we have ever heard. This service was one of profound interest. The preacher stood before a vast audience of anxious faces, surrounded on either side by the pupils of the college arrayed in their white uniforms, and representing 17 different States. It was a day and a scene well fitted to inspire the soul of the speaker. Before such a scene the Dr. seemed strangely inspired. We have no space for an analysis of his sermon. Its originality and power, its pathos and beauty, we have never heard surpassed. It made a solemn and sweet impression on the hearts of his great audience, and long will they remember the lessons it has taught, and the blessings it has imparted. With such gifts of learning, eloquence and piety combined, and consecrated to the cause of God and man, we are not surprised at the great work which Dr. Deems has achieved in the City of New York. May God bless the work and the workman!

Monday evening occurred the Final Exercises of the Young Ladies' Christian Association. Tuesday evening the Final Celebration of the Lee and Jackson Literary Society. On both occasions appropriate essays were read, with fine effect, by young ladies of the College.

Wednesday occurred the Final Soiree of Vocal and Instrumental Music. This splendid exhibition of musical talent and training fully sustained the wide reputation which this school so deservedly enjoys for high and superior musical advantages. The audience were simply delighted with this entertainment. Thursday evening occurred the Final Exercises. Distinctions, Gold Medals, School Diplomas, and Full Diplomas, were conferred on pupils from various States. The following young ladies received the Distinguished Degree of full graduate, which is the highest honor conferred by this college: Miss M B Campbell, of Va.; Miss L W Cross, of Va.; Miss L P Echols, of Ga.; Miss M P Harris, of Va.; Miss L W Hutcheson, of Texas; Miss L A Perry, of Texas; Miss F M Reed, of Arkansas; Miss Ida Steagall, of Texas; Miss Ella Yelverton, of Texas; after which the valedictory was read by Miss M P Harris, of Va. This school, under Rev. W. A. Harris, D. D., Pres't, is conducted by over twenty teachers and officers of superior qualifications. Its pupils regard it as a refined and happy home. Its handsome buildings, beautiful grounds, magnificent scenery, and also the health acquired and enjoyed by pupils in this splendid climate, attract young ladies to this school from every State South and West from Maryland to Texas.—Young ladies who come here from Southern latitudes—especially with feeble constitutions—are restored to health and vigor while pursuing their studies. Such a college home, with such advantages, commends itself to all who have daughters to educate.

Spectator.

For the Advocate.

Silent Influence.

Few persons members of the church militant who essay to do good are aware of the great value of what the world calls "little things." It is too much the fault of the christian world to conclude that a stated time to attend church, to sing a few hymns, to listen to a sermon and pray with the congregation once a week perhaps will make the Sabbath a sort of sponge to wipe out the sins of the week.

The week itself fills a life of weary plodding and earnest search after the perishing elements of the world—the more devout worship of mammon, adding in an occasional rehearsal of set prayers and a few silent aspirations to heaven—and their duty is accomplished. They lose sight of the good that may result from dropping an occasional word of encouragement to some weary pilgrim by the wayside—of the confession of faults one to another, to show by their good example the spirit and power of vital religion—to dare to be singular—to preach a daily sermon of good deeds—in all things to be a burning light in the midst of a cooked and perverse nation in whom the yshould ever shine. That all pervading silent influence of a godly walk and a pious conversation preaches more powerfully and effectively to the world than an elaborate discourse from the sacred altar and that observing multitude—(the world) how much soever they may essay to ridicule your profession are, keen detectives in searching out the true from the base metals current rmongst men. Therefore whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are of good report—think on these things and visit the fatherless children and widows in their affliction and to keep yourself unspotted from the world.

J. D. T.

Littleton N. C. July 1st 1875.

Singing the Gospel.

The New York Witness has gathered up the following facts to show that this method of presenting Gospel truth is not so new as some have supposed:

The Methodist commenced and have carried on their world-wide mission of beneficence very largely by singing, and Luther before them, did the same. The Covenanters of Scotland also woke the echoes of the glens and mountains with the grave, sweet melody of their psalms, or thundered them forth in the ears of their bloody persecutors when at last driven to bay to fight for their lives.

In all these cases, however, the singing was by congregations, and of course, the words used, unless previously known or read at the time, were unintelligible to the listener. It is the solo singing of Mr. Sankey which is the great novelty, and which possesses the power of making the Gospel message equally intelligible and more impressive and easily remembered than ordinary preaching. But even in this he is not without precursors. In the first place, many great vocalists have sung songs on the stage with such clear and distinct utterance of the words and such faithful rendering of the meaning as to make them exceedingly impressive for sense as well as sound; and in the second place, the singing pilgrim, Philip Phillips, has turned this wonderful talent for power and usefulness into the channel of Divine song, which he has used all over the civilized world. Horne and others have done the same in their measure, and one charm of all the bands of colored public singers is their making their words intelligible. Nay, we are not sure but singing the Gospel is of much higher origin than anything we have mentioned. The language of instruction in the East is usually delivered in a musical way, and we are not sure that our Lord's hortatory and prophetic discourses were any exception.

Mr. Wesley said to a highwayman, who had demanded his money, "The time may come when you may regret the course of life in which you are engaged. Remember this:—'The blood of Jesus Christ, his Son, cleanseth from all sin.'" A year after, he was met by the same man, who told him that he had been led to Christ through the influence of that verse.

Wesley Monumental Church, Savannah, Georgia.

John Wesley was the honored Founder and father of Methodism. To him, under God, the world and especially Methodists, owe a debt of gratitude which can never be fully paid.—Early in his ministry, he and his brother Charles came with Governor Oglethorpe to the colony of Georgia as Missionaries, and for nearly two years he lived, preached and labored most zealously in, and around the city of Savannah, the only place in America thus honored with his regular labors. Through the blessings of God, his visit to Savannah, with the circumstances attending his voyage and stay here, led his mind and heart, as he always believed, from the darkness and bondage of ecclesism, ritualism and formalism, into the glorious light, liberty and experience of justification by faith, and the witness of the Spirit. How much the Church and the world are indebted to his comiug and stay in Savannah, can never be estimated.

Then, it does, indeed, seem to be pre-eminently appropriate, under the promptings of Christian gratitude and honor—not to mention the claims of justice—that his followers and friends, throughout this country and the world, who bear his name, and enjoy the benefits of his teachings and example—forgetting all non-essential and minor differences—rejoicing in their wonderful and divinely preserved unity of doctrine and experience, should unite, to honor him, and to embalm and perpetuate the memory of his name, in mutual love and fraternity, by the erection of some suitable mouument or memorial in this city, the scene of his labors, trials and discipline in America, which led to results so glorious to him and to us.

It is now proposed to erect such a monument, in the form of a beautiful and commodious church edifice, to be called Wesley Monumental Church.—Moreover, such a building, with its accommodations and influence, is perhaps needed, and will exert more power for good, just now, in Savannah, than in any place in our land, owing to a combination of circumstances, conditions and necessities which cannot be here detailed.

The early history of Methodism in Savannah, is full of thrilling interest, struggle and opposition; and not until 1806 did it gain even a slender foothold In 1812 the first church building was erected and dedicated by Bishop Asbury, and called Wesley Chapel, in honor of our Founder's memory. In 1849, a portion of the congregation built a larger house, in another part of the city, calling it Trinity Church. In 1867, Wesley Chapel, not being suitably located, and fast decaying, was sold, and with the proceeds, a most convenient and beautiful lot in the most desirable and central portion of the city, was purchased, on which was a small Dutch Reformed Church, in which the congregation of Wesley Church is now worshiping. But it is utterly inadequate to meet ever the present demands of the Church, not affording accommodation for its own membership, and with no chance for increase or expansion.

Thus Methodism has only two buildings in Savannah, for the whites, and one is very small. A Church of large dimensions, on our beautiful lot, might be filled at once, so great are the numbers of Methodists, and those of Methodist families and predilections in our city, to say nothing of the multitudes who belong nowhere. Indeed we ought at once to have two or three additional buildings to meet the wants of our people, as all our Protestant churches together, furnish sittings for but little more than one third of our population.

But our people are poor, and utterly unable to do all that so much needs to be done here, more perhaps than in any city in our land. They have given and will give, all they can, for their liberality is proverbial. The necessities are so imperative, that we have already commenced to build. Our plans all complete, are now in hand. They were drawn by one of the most competent Church architects in our country. The building will be beautiful, commodious and convenient, with all the improvements in style and comfort, and yet with an eye to the greatest economy.

But to build such a befitting monument to the honor of our great Founder, and to serve the cause of our Master, now so pressing in our city, we must ask the friends of Christ and of Methodism everywhere, to help us. And we feel that now, is pre-eminently an appropriate time, and that this is beyond all others the place, to erect such a Christian Memorial of mutual fellowship, fraternity and love. Around the name, memory, life, teachings, example and grave of Wesley, Methodists all and everywhere, can meet in love and praise to our glorious Lord, for raising up such a Founder of our Church, and together join in a Memorial to his name. What an opportunity for some whom God has blessed with means, to do good, secure honor and live in the memories of a grateful people.

Every contribution will be suitably acknowledged and entered upon the books of the Church. Remittances or letters of inquiry, may be made to either of the undersigned, or to Dr. J. Holdich, Corresponding Secretary of the American Bible Society, or Dr. Chas. F. Deems, Pastor of the Church of Strngers, both of New York.

May 10th, 1875.

A. M. Wynn, Pastor Wesley Church.
E. H. Myers, D. D., Pastor Trinity Church.
J. C. A. Clark, D. D., Ll. D. Presiding Elder.
Lovick Pierce, D. D., South Georgia Conference.
Geo. F. Pierce, D. D. } Bishops of the
Wm. T. Wightman, D. D., Ll. D. } M. E. Church,
J. C. Keener, D. D. } South.
Robt. D. Walker. }
R. B. Reppard. }
Robt. McIntire, } Building Committee.
C. H. Carson. }
C. D. Rogers. }
W. H. Burbell. }

"Little Country Churches."

A young man who had just graduated and entered the ministry was asked by a friend where he was stationed. With an expression of sadness, he replied, "O, at a little country church! I never heard of the place before." The incident suggests some thoughts which may be of value to the pastors and members of "little country churches."

Let us suppose, then, that the young brother is at this time reading his Methodist. We wish to give him a little advice, not cynical, but sympathetic. Despise not the little country church. Despise it not because it is little. If it were large you could not have the delightful experience of seeing it grow. To see a congregation become sixty which was but thirty is better than to see a congregation become four hundred which was five hundred. Four hundred are more than sixty, but sixty from thirty is life, growth and prosperity; and four hundred from five hundred is a "journey toward the tomb."

Despise it not, because it is little, for you are little. A little church and a little minister. You do not believe it. Of course you do not. We thought we "had climbed where Moses stood" when we were of your age, but we know better now. We concede that you have capacity. But you are as yet untried. The heavy tread of the commander of the ocean steamer would almost swamp the sloop he first set sail in. But he might not be safe for the steamer if he had not begun in the sloop or in the forecastle.

Despise it not because your people are farmers. Listen and we will whisper a "thing secretly in your ear". In the hurry and drive of the city, with business and society, and a half-a-dozen daily papers, the people think but little on religious subjects, and the most discriminating critics of the substance of your preaching are the plain, sensible men and women, of whom all country congregations contain some, who read the Bible, one or two good religious papers, and do a great deal of quiet thiuking. Country religious life is often like a deep stream with a slow current; city life sometimes like a very rapid but shallow stream.

Despise not your people because they have not "city manners." Among an unaffected country people is the place to study human nature. They are not ashamed to shout or cry, and if they show other spirits sometimes without sufficient reason, do not forget that so did St. Peter. Study them well, and if you should ever get into the city you will be a clairvoyant and read human nature to day through the past; and people will wonder how you find their hearts. Despise not the sons and daughters of farmers and mechanics, for three-quarters of the leading men and women of city churches were converted at country altars in their boyhood and girlhood.

Despise not your church because it is in the country. "God made the country, man made the town." In the city you could not get your head above water, so that people three blocks from your church would know your name, in three years. In the country you will be known and loved in a month by the whole community. Read Wordsworth's poems, learn to commune with nature, love the flower, the faded leaf, the hill, the valley, the lonely walk, the castle in the meadow, yes, and the storm; and in the winter love the roar of the wood fire. You will fill your repertory with images of beauty that will make your discourse sparkle down to old age.

"But the salary is too small." Preach, pray, work and visit, so that they will raise it out of pure love to you and the cause. Meanwhile live on it and save money on it. Said a city Baptist minister to us once, "My salary is $2,000 a year, but I cannot live on it." We said, "How do you get along! Said he, "I eke it out with what I saved when I was on Cape Cod at a salary of $500 per year." Go thou and do likewise. Live country fashion, not city fashion. "But my class-mate has gone to a city church, and why could not I?" Well, better be called from country to city than have people wonder how you got into the city. Hear! young brother: If your class-mate, without previous experience, has gone into the city, he may succeed, but it will require a union of extraordinary good fortune with most incredible exertions. But he may not succeed, and having been weighed in the balance of a merciless public, he will be remanded without hope. Envy him not. Build up your health, read, study, preach, visit, preserve a cultivated demeanor as a man, use a chaste though fervent style as a speaker, and you will in due time hear a voice saying, "Friend, come up higher"—that is, if a city appointment is higher.

But if you fume, and fret, and whine and tell the people that you expected something better, you will fail where you are and never rise, but rather sink.

Some one reading this far, may say: "Ah me, I have been in the ministry twenty years and never had anything but a country church, and those of the poorest sort." Brother, read these words and think well of them. Which have you neglected? preparation for the pulpit, pastoral visiting, or personal manners? Which—one, two, or three! Must you confess that you have depended on the inspiration of the occasion for the sermon, or only visited at random, or have dressed and performed your public duties in a slovenly manner? If so, "Tis never too late to mend." But if you can conscientiously say that you have done your best in these things, then bow reverently to Him who has ordered your lot in life, and know that for every good thing and all patient endurance "you shall in nowise lose your reward." —N. Y. Methodist.

War on Christian Principles.

One of the conditions of a treaty with Mexico, it is said, was that any future war which might break out between the two countries should be conducted on Christian principles. Now, we all know that this is an age of progress, and that all sorts of improvements are constantly taking place in all sorts of matters; but war on Christian principles is entirely the latest, and, if carried out, will, we think, prove the greatest of them all.

Just imagine it. We think we can see two armies drawn out in battle array. A fair field is before them. The ranks are formed, the positions taken, the great guns unlimbered. The General is just about to give the order to fire, when an aid comes up and respectfully reminds him that the war is to be conducted on Christian principles, and it will not do to fire. "Very true, very true," says the Commander-in chief; "but what are they? I have read Vanbau, and Scheiter, and Turenne. I have read the lives of old conquerors, and have studied the campaigns of the greatest soldiers; but I never happened to come across those principles in any work upon the military art. Do you know anything about it, Colonel?"

'No.'

'Nor you, Major?"

'No.'

'Nor I, either. I really don't know how to begin. I suppose it would not do to shoot. Suppose we send for the Chaplain."

The Chaplain arrives.

'Do you know anything about this fighting on Christian principles?"

'Oh, yes; it is the easiest thing in the world."

'Where are your books?'

'Here;' and the Chaplain takes out the Bible.

'Really,' says the General, "we ought to have thought of that before. It is a bad time to commence the study of tactics when the enemy is right before us; but I suppose we are bound by the treaty. What is the first thing, Mr. Chaplain.

'Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.'

'But these are not neighbors: They are Mexicans.'

'The same book tells us, a little further on, that the opportunity to do good to a man makes him our neighbor.'

'Will you go on, Mr. Chaplain."

'Love your enemies. Do good to them that hate you. Pray for them who despitefully use you. If a man smite you on one cheek turn to him the other.'

'But while we are praying for the Mexicans, they will be firing into us.'

'No; they are bound by the treaty also. It works both ways.'

'Then, what is the use of our arms?'

'This is also provided for in the same book. 'Beat your swords into plough-shares, and your spears into pruning-hooks."

'Then I do not see as there is anything for us to do here.'

'Nothing, unless you send and ask the Mexican General if he needs anything in the way of medicines, or provisions, or clothing. I rather think the treaty requires this of us. And I don't know but we ought to send them a few school-masters, for I understand they are a shockingly ignorant people.'

To Whom Will You Go?

The season of sorrow will come!—What will you do then? To whom will you turn for consolation? To your gay companions? They will desert you. To the remembrance of past pleasure? It will torture you. To the world you have idolized? It has no balm for a wounded heart.—To the God whose love you have slighted? Will you not fear to look at him in affliction, whom in prosperity you have insulted and deserted? Would not one hour of a Christian's consolation, one smile of a Savior's love be then felt to be worthy all the gratifications this world ever gave?

The hour of death will come! What will you do then? When the world is giving way under your feet—eternity opening on your view—your body torturing with pain or sinking in decay—your soul hovering on the brink of a dark and fearful abyss, unilluminated by one ray of light from heaven, down which it dare not look, yet must plunge into its blackness of darkness forever—what would you then not give for such feelings as animated the pious Leighton! Illness attacked him, and he rejoiced, as, "from the shaking of the prison doors we were led to hope that some of these brisk blasts would throw them open, and give him the release he coveted."

The day of judgment will come!—And what will you do then?

The ages of eternity will come! And what a thought! Eternal woe! Too horrible to think of? What will it be to endure? The idea is dreadful!—What will be the reality! What a home for eternity! And yet will you prefer Satan to God as a master, and hell to heaven as a home?

Be in Time.

If the pew be not as punctual as the pulpit—if there be steps heard in the aisle from the earliest whisper of the organ to the announcement of the text, and the sound of opening doors keep time with the footfall of every new addition to the audience—there are disturbances of the quiet, not only of the minister, but of every devout breast that is turned towards him. All are conscious of the interruption; and one of the number who has most need to be calm and collected, must eminently suffer. Every new comer must affect, to some extent, his concentration of mind. In his efforts for the right discharge of his sacred duties, every footstep can but disturb his attention. The effect will be different in proportion to temperament; one will be affected more than another; but to all, it must be more or less a disturbance. It may be thought to be enough to be in time for the chief part of the service, and particularly for the sermon; but if, on the part of the pew, we make bold to claim for prayer and prrise an importance not second to that of the discourse, the pulpit will not gainsay the assertion. It will concur in the argument that supplication and psalmody, chapter and chant, heighten the value and deepen the emphasis of the word of exhortation. They promote that receptive frame and attitude of mind which the preacher seeks to possess in the pew. The service which he conducts does not consist of parts; it is a compacted unity. From the first syllable to the last what passes is complete. Every word of morning and evening service, has its meaning and intention, and we should deny ourselves no portion of either.—London Inquirer.

Remarking on the close of the Moody services at the London Opera House, the Freeman says: "When the history of the work in Britain comes to be reviewed, we question if it will contain a more striking chapter than that which tells of the strong hold the evangelists took of the fashionable quarter of London—the very last place where one would have expected them to make an impression. There can be no doubt that they have been instrumental in doing a great amount of good at the West End. This week the Archbishop of Canterbury has allowed a letter to be printed in which he speaks thankfully of the work of Messrs Moody and Sankey, though he takes care to qualify his praise, after the usual Episcopal fashion of diluting every expression of opinion. Less reserved was the utterance of Lord Shaftesbury, who, at a meeting of one of the great Episcopal societies, thanked God that Mr. Moody had not been educated at Oxford, and declared his belief that the Chicago preacher had effected more good by a few addresses in a tent than was ever accomplished by all Canon Liddon's 'grand sermons' in Whitehall and in St. Paul's. The outspoken earl, on the same occasion, cited some words of a similar import spoken to him by the Lord Chancellor. On Wednesday there was a striking scene at the Opera House, when Mr. Moody addressed nearly two thousand blind people of all ages. Many members of the aristocracy were present, and the simple discourses of the preacher brought tears to many eyes."

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

Pittsburgh announces that the next President is a resident of that city.—Wash his face and let us see how he looks.

Bootmaker (who has a deal of trouble with his customer)—"I think sir, if you were to cut your corns, I could more easily find you a pair—" Coloric old gentleman—"Cut my corns, sir! I'm not going to plane my feet down to fit your boots."

The Centennial Buildings at Philadelphia, now being erected, will occupy more than forty-eight acres. The main building covers twenty-one and a half acres, and the Agricultural Building over ten acres Besides these are the Machinery Building, the Horticultural Building and the Art Gallery. The latter is to be built entirely of granite, glass and iron.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
SIX MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 14, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

We regret to learn from the Durham Tobacco Plant that Rev. J. J. Renn has been very sick with fever. We trust that his health will soon be regained.

Professor Pegram, of Trinity College, gave us a call last week. He is spending his vacation most pleasanty with his father at Chalk Level.

Sister Jones, wife of Rev. C. P. Jones, D. D., formerly of the North Carolina Conference, died at Yuba City, Cal., June 21st. The many friends of Dr. Jones, in North Carolina, will sympathize with him in this sad affliction.

Bishop Marvin dedicated a new church in Columbia, Mo, on the 27th ult. More than nine thousand dollars were raised on the occasion to pay off the remaining indebtedness of the church.

We have received a communication for publication from some one who fails to give his name. The initials given are "H. B." We repeat again what we have so often said, that we cannot publish communications without knowing the name of the writer.

Our preachers are requested to call attention to the ADVOCATE at their regular appointments. A goodly number of names are on our books whose term of subscription has expired.—Will the preachers make an effort to secure their renewal? We cannot afford to lose their names from our books and they cannot afford to do without the ADVOCATE.

The Biblical Recorder of this city has closed its thirty ninth volume and is in a prosperous condition. We wish our contemporary continued life and usefulness especially as it avows its recognition of other christian denominations than the Baptist. In the reflections suggested by the commencement of a new volume it says: "We shall maintain the Recorder as an ingrained, consistent Baptist Journal but we shall always endeavor to do justice, in love, to all christian denominations, and shall have a warm grasp of the hand for every believer in our blessed Lord."

We regret to learn that the health of Dr. Closs is very precarious—so much so that eminent physicans have told him that if he continues on his present round of appointments he will not live until its close. At the District Conference at Plymouth he suddenly lost all consciousness which continued for several hours, and for a day and night there was a total loss of memory. Five years ago he had a similar attack at Magnolia. Since the attack at Plymouth he has suffered from chills and billious fever, but notwithstanding has attended all of his quarterly meetings but one. Now, at the advice of his physicians and the urgent request of his people, he will quit his work for a while and go into the hill country for recreation. We trust his health may be speedily and entirely restored.

Our Week of Prayer.

Our Bishops at their late meeting in Nashville appointed a week of prayer, beginning August 8th, for a special blessing on our Missionary labors and for our institutions of learning. We trust our preachers and people generally will remember this appointment and that arrangements will be made to hold religious services, as far as practicable, in all our churches during that week. Let our people come together and in earnest supplication remember our missionaries in their self sacrificing labors. Pray that the spirit of liberality may be infused throughout the church, and that our foreign and domestic missions may be crowned with abundant success.

Our missionary and college agents are in the field—they are abundant in labors—the cry is for means to carry on successfully our missionary and college operations. This is right and proper, but all will fail in the final and grand result, unless there shall be much prayer and self consecration. Our institutions of learning are laboring under great disadvantages for want of means and patronage. The plea of "hard times and scarcity of money" is the general complaint.—Let our people pray more fervently for grace, and the peace and joy of the Holy Ghost; then will the difficulties in the way of sustaining our missions and institutions of learning vanish like the dews of the morning before the rising sun.

Subscribe for the Advocate. Price, $2.20 per annum, in advance.

Praise by Proxy.

We consider the choir a good thing in the church services if it keeps its proper place and behaveth itself not unseemly. We do not object to the organ, either, if it is made to perform its office in the right way and is kept from grinding out sounds like those that proceed from the orchestra of a theatre or the side tent of a circus, and is not made to exhibit merely the accomplishments and skill of the organist. The function of the organ and choir is to lead the singing of a congregation—not to usurp it: to harmonize and direct the varied voices—to hold back the headstrong, spur up the lagging and give confidence to the timid singers in the worship of praise. The singing of some congregations when there has not been the requisite cultivation or where there is no choir or group of singers to lead them, is often ridiculous and a travesty on music. But such singing, when the voices, however discordant, utter the genuine feeling of praise that wells up in the hearts, is far preferable to that which is made by many choirs in our churches, seeking scientific show and debarring the congregation from any and all participation in the worship. Not content with the "voluntary" wherein they have ample opportunity to render some exquisite gem of song not suitable (or practicable rather) for the whole congregation, they will take to themselves the privilege of performing the whole service of song. The minister reads out some hymn, familiar to all, and the people turn anxiously to the page expecting to regale themselves with some good old fashioned tune as familiar as the hymn itself: while the leader of the choir, intent upon the sensation that will be produced by the soaring of the clear soprano, the warbling of the rich contralto or the profundity of the rumbling basso, selects some new fangled and well tangled air which the people have never heard and which destroys all their share in the worship. No wonder that many become vexed, even in church, and throw down their books with an impatient air, when the choir arrogantly makes itself the proxy for the congregation in the important matter of praise.

We can no more offer up the grateful worship of our hearts by proxy, than we can make our petitions solely by the intervention of others. We ridicule the Romanist who whispers his sins to his confessor, drops a penny in the confessional box, and turns away assured of pardon; and yet we endeavor, or some choirs try to force us to pass over to others the performance of a duty that is as much due from dependent creatures to a benefi cent Being, as prayer is.

Let us have less science and more genuine melody—less screeching and more praise, fewer solos and more congregational choruses—not so many and frequent airs to which the people are unaccustomed, and more of those in which they can unite their voices. Let "Dundee's wild warbling notes arise," and Avon, Coronation, Martyn, Sessions and other tunes upon whose old but never out-of-fashion strains the soul is carried heavenward in its ecstacy of praise.

Touching the "Curse of Blood."

We have a communication from Rev. Bro. Jas. Willson in which he gives his endorsement to the views and arguments of Bros. Yates and Brooks on the subject discussed in the "Curse of Blood" controversy.—He appends to his communication an article from Dr. Summers who maintains the same position. Bro. Willson says his motive in sending his article is "to produce an equilibrium in the arms of the scales in the discussion." One of these, he thinks, received additional weight by an allusion made by Bro. Raven, in the Advocate of 16th ult., to a sermon which he preached at the Washington District Conference and in which he took the same position that Pros. Robey and Dr. Closs maintained.

Bro. Willson, we trust, will not be offended at the omission of his communication. We are very chary of introducing anything that may renew the controversy, as we feel assured would be the effect of Bro. Willson's article.

The remark of Bro. Raven in citing his text, was incidental to his communication on the District Conference, and if we had reflected that it would be considered an attempt to reopen the discussion, we would not have admitted it.

Bro. Raven affirmat that the texts from which he preached (vide Advocate 16th June) are conclusive of the fact that the heathen will be lost unless they receive the gospel: Bro. Willson negat. If the "wavering balance" was shaken by a simple affirmation, it is "right adjusted" by a simple denial. The desired equilibrium is thus produced without further argument, or placing Dr. Summers in the scale-pan.

We deem the above due Bro. Willson: our action in withholding his article is in the interest of peace.

We have received the first number of the National Protestant. It is an elegant sixteen page journal, devoted to the maintenance of Protestant supremacy. Its object is to save the country from the evils of Romanism. The Protestant presents an elegant typographical appearance, and for the present will be published monthly.—Those wishing to subscribe will send one dollar to Wm. H. Vannorthwick, No. 67 Liberty Street, New York.

Historical Gleaning.

The habits of men distinguished for their learning, eloquence, writing, or poetical genius, are always interesting to the young, and not unfrequently serve to stimulate the student in his scientific researches. The example of Sir Walter Scott for early rising and systematic labor has led many a young man to distinction who would otherwise have been a drone in society. His habit was to rise at six in winter and five in summer, kindle his own fire, shave, wash, dress, and then sit down to his desk and have three hours steady writing, rarely having occasion to make corrections or cancel a page of manuscript. He would think over what he had to write during the last ten minutes before he left his bed, let it 'simmer' in his mind, he said, while he was shaving, and by the time he had the pen in his hand, knew pretty well how to carry ont his purpose, touching the subject under investigation. About nine o'clock he would take breakfast, after which, in Edinburgh, he would proceed to the law court in which he was clerk of sessions, and there, sitting at a desk under the judges, with an official black gown thrown over his shoulders, from one to four hours, sometimes reading, but oftener writing with great rapidity. On these occasions, he frequently answered a great number of letters, and would sometimes write a chapter of one of the Waverly Novels. In the country, where he always resided during the summer and autumn, a fine day would often tempt him out of doors, though he usually returned to his writing room after breakfast and worked until noon. After that he would scarcely write even a letter. Visitors at Abbotsford, who did not know that he was early at his desk, often went away with the impression that a man so idle as (to them) he appeared to be, could not be the author of the Waverly Novels. Scott was a hearty eater, and a great worker.

Southey was also an early riser, a good eater and a hard worker. He worked at the desk during the day with a recess of an hour for exercise—That is from ten to twelve he would write articles for the Quarterly Review; from twelve to two he would write history;—from two to three he would walk out of doors; from three to five he would poetize; from five to seven he would surrender himself to dinner and social intercourse with his family; at seven he would have a cup of tea, and would write or read, generally from seven to nine, retiring to bed at ten. It was his custom if the clock struck when he was half way in a sentence, to instantly drop the pen, turn away from the particular subject he was on, and take up another with the case which only custom gives.

Charles Dickens, it is said, who did not resemble Southey in anything else, was like him in this. His rule was to stop writing at twelve, and when the clock struck, he would shut his writing-case, go into another room for lunch, and the moment he had taken it, put on his hat and go out for a walk of two or three hours.

John Milton, author of "Paradise Lost," commenced authorship by studying and writing late at night.—When he arrived at mature manhood, he changed this evil practice, went to bed at nine in the evening, rose at four in summer and five in winter, studied until noon, then took an hour's exercise, dined about two, after which he sang and played the organ or listened to the music of others. Again at study, from four to six, stopping to receive the visits and enjoy the conversation of his friends who came to see him. At eight he would smoke a pipe of tobacco, drink a glass of water, and go to bed at nine In bed, it is said, many of his finest thoughts came to him, especially when he was writing "Paradise Lost." Being blind, he had to dictate, and would often summon one of his daughters to write down what he had composed. No man was more temperate. Before he began his great sacred poem, he knelt down and prayed God to inspire and sustain him. This is a noble and commendable example.

John Calvin commenced his daily studies at five or six in the morning, reading and writing in bed for hours together. If business required him to go out, he would rise and dress; but, on his return, again went to bed. As he advanced in years, he wrote little with his own hand, but dictated to secretaries, rarely having occasion to make any corrections. Sometimes his faculty of composition would fail; then he would quit his bed and attend to outdoor duties for days, weeks, and even months together, and not think of writing until he felt that the power had returned. Then he would go to bed, send for his secretary and resume his labors.

Cuvier, who raised comparative anatomy to a science, never had occasion to copy his manuscript. He composed very rapidly, the proper words falling into the proper place, and everything being arranged in his mind in a very orderly manner.

Bossuet, the French divine, who left fifty volumes of his own manuscripts, rose at four in the summer and five in the winter, wrapped himself up in a loose dress of bear skin, and wrote until, from sheer fatigue, his hand refused to hold the pen.—Then he would return to bed, take the sleep of exhaustion, and on awaking, go through the same process again.

Aristotle, who took but little sleep, had a contrivance by which he was awakened early, and at once entered upon his work.

Not Sectarian.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate contains a sensible and practical article, which so fully expresses our views upon the subject it discusses, that we copy it entire in our paper and most cordially commend it to our readers:

"This is the commendatory clause in the notices of some institutions. Religious newspapers and other publications are described as without sectarian bias, and even some churches claim to be sailing under a neutral flag. There are institutions and publications that are evangelical without being sectarian. The American Bible Society, as it deals only in Bibles without note or comment, may be clear in this respect, and it should be. Schools and colleges under denominational control may be managed so as to give little offense to patrons of differing religious views. A church not sectarian is set off into a sect by the very profession. It is a not sectarian sect, however contradictory such terms may seem.

It is a very difficult thing not to be sectarian, even when we try. It is not so hard to be charitable and to find agreement in the most essential points of doctrine in our intercourse with our fellow-Christians. There may be love and the communion of saints at the same time that differences are recognized and held in a spirit of kindness and toleration. Let the churches get near to each other, work together, and keep the unity of the Spirit in the bonds of love, but let them also be honest in the maintenance of what they believe to be the truth.

Some things ought to be sectarian. Our preaching should be the exposition of the doctrines as we hold and understand them. Our children should be taught them according to the Methodist standards, and they should be made to comprehend what is peculiar to us in matters of doctrine and church polity. The points which differentiate Methodism from other denominations should not be ignored in our catechisms and Sunday school instruction. Schools and colleges under church control are supposed to be pervaded by an atmosphere somewhat denominational as well as Christian. The preaching, religious instruction and devotional exercises necessarily have something of a sectarian cast. It is both fair and expedient to display our own colors. Many people are looking for schools where the religious influence is decided, and where the doctrines imbibed are in accord with their own convictions. While our children are at home it matters little whether the schools they attend are anything more than means of mental discipline, and literary and scientific attainments. The public schools, as institutions of the State, and maintained for the benefit of all classes, are necessarily without religious character. But when our children are sent from home the religious training becomes all important. As Methodists, our preference is naturally for a Methodist institution, in which the teachers are of our own way of thinking, and where the religious instruction and all the moral influences are in accord with our own conceptions of the gospel. The attempt to conduct a Methodist school so as to suit Jews, Catholics, and all denominational creeds, must be surrounded with great difficulties, and if successful is likely to be at the expense of those who wish their child ren to be brought under the doctrinal convictions of Methodism.

Sectarianism is not altogether a bad thing. The attempt to eliminate it from our pulpits, Sunday schools, colleges and literature is unwise, and is sure to lead to weakness and religious decay. Religious breadth and charity consist perfectly with strong sectarian convictions. To be without a spice of sectarianism is generally to be without any decided religious opinions whatever. Usually the most zealous and spiritual are those who have reached well-defined views, and who have a strong and enthusiastic affection tor some one branch of the church. An organic union of all the denominations would lead to far greater evils than any which grow ont of the abuse of sectarian differences. Their separation is a powerful testimony against the papal dogma of corporate union as essential to salvation. Even the controversies and competition of the churches tend, on the whole, to purity of doctrine and to increased activity in spreading the gospel. In its reason to be a church looks to its doctrines and government; but through these, and beyond them, is an end which they subserve in striking at the root of a great error, and in preventing that corruption which a vast and world wide organization would engender.

Not sectarian is a motto capable of abuse and misapplication. It is a flag sometimes run up as a disguise; sometimes it floats on the wrong craft, and indicates a doubtful policy. Let us by all means be Christian, let us eschew bigotry and rejoice in a common faith. But at the same time let us not neglect the doctrines and usages which belong peculiarly to the life and history of Methodism. Our people and their children must have Methodist theology, Methodist experience, and they must be trained in the use of our peculiar means of religious life. While striking hands with all who love the Savior, and joining with all in an alliance, offensive and defensive, against sin, let the Methodist flag fly at the fore of our own ship, and let us sail under our own colors."

A Declination.

The Raleigh News, under the above heading says:

"We have received the following communication from Dr. B. Craven, by which it will be seen that he declines the nomination as a candidate for the Convention. The causes set forth for his action are such as will secure the approval of every conscientious man, and while the party will regret to be deprived of the services of so able a man, it must yield to the force of his convictions; assured at the same time that the success of the Convention is a matter very dear to the heart of Dr. Craven.

"TRINITY COLLEGE, July 6, 1875.

I see it stated in many papers, that I have been nominated to represent Randolph county in the State Convention. I was nominated, but declined to accept the nomination. I have decided political opinions, and never fail on proper occasions to assert them; but I believe that no minister of the Gospel, or President of a college should be a politician.—The pulpit, the hustings and the rostrum, are united in interest, but not in discussion. I think no man has yet succeeded in doing good work in all of them; and every attempt to combine them has generally destroyed usefulness in either. The citizens of my native county thought I could serve them without specially engaging in political issues; I thought otherwise, and respectfully declined.

Yours Truly,

B. CRAVEN."

The Nashville Advocate says: Bishop Paine writes to Dr. McFerrin, stating that he has been nearly dead, but the Lord has raised him up so that he can move about a little. He has suffered excruciating pain, but has been divinely sustained. He hopes to be able to attend the two Conferences assigned him. He says, "It greatly delights me to know that my colleagues are so effective and useful. God bless them every one!" We trust the venerable Bishop will be restored to his wonted health and to his beloved employ."

We have received the catalogue of the Fortieth Session of Randolph Macon College, Virginia. During the session just closed there were two hundred and fifteen matriculates. Of these there were twenty two from North Carolina. The average age of the students was twenty years. The management of the College is good, the location healthy and the course of instruction comprehensive and, we learn, thorough. The session begins on the last Thursday in September and ends on the third Thursday in June, with no vacation at Christmas.

OUR LIVING AND OUR DEAD.—This excellent publication is growing better with increasing age, and the July number presents a very attractive appearance and table of contents. Rev Jno. Paris, Miss Fisher, Mrs Harris and Johnstone Jones, Esq., pursue their continued articles to the edification of readers, while there is an unusual variety of communicated and editorial matter in the present number. Published at Raleigh, N. C., S. D. Pool, Editor, $3 a year.

We are indebted to Bro. Andrew Green for a basket of the finest irish potatoes we have seen during the season—some of them weighing sixteen ounces each. They were grown by Bro. Green, and are of the "early rose" variety.

MESSRS. EDITORS:

My circuit is still being visited with the out pouring of the Holy Spirit. Saturday week ago, I commenced a meeting at "Brices Creek" assisted by Bro. Geo. Hardison from Straits circuit, who did very efficient service in the pulpit and at the altar. We had service day and night—the people (a hard working people too) suspended the work on their farms from 10 to 3 o'clock every day, a busy time with them too, to attend the religious exercises of the meeting. I never saw a more hearty co-operation with the ministers, on the part of the community generally, in order to a revival of religion, than the people manifested. The meeting closed last Sunday—having continued nine days—13 souls were converted, nine joined our church. The church with the exception of 3 or 4 members was blessed with a restoration of the "joys of God's salvation"—having lost the comforts of religion in a great measure. 'Twas a glorious revival—praise God for it all! Our church since the revival already noticed, is doing well at Morehead City—holding on, attending the means of grace, in prayer and class meetings. The "Good Templars," are doing a good work at Morehead.—Why don't more of you hill—country people run down and spend a week or two at our pleasant, healthy Morehead City? I know you have the hill and mountain air, and very many good things, but we have the fine sea breeze,—fine fish, clams, scollups &c., fine scenery on the water and banks and as good accommodations at the Hotel—now kept by Bagley & Woode as can be found in this country. The table is at all times well supplied, rooms nicely furnished the servants polite and attentive—all of which is directly under the eye and management of sister Wade who fully understands her work. Come down Messrs Editors and any others, and see if these things are so.

JAS. MAHONEY.

New Port, Carteret Co., July 5th 1875.

The Catholic population of Pennsylvania, is now estimated at 500,000, and 641 Priests.

Revivals and Insanity.

A writer in the British Medical Journal when referring to an increase in the number of cases of melancholia during last year in the Royal Edinburgh Asylum, traces this increase to the religious revival that has taken place. In refutation of this opinion, Mr. David Dickson, Chairman of the Managers of the Asylum, states that neither the Medical Superintendent nor the Chaplain was aware of any connection between the revival and these cases of melancholia. He says: "All who are acquainted with the management of asylums know that they sensitively reflect on their surface every important incident in public life, down even to such events as the Tichborne case. It is stated by those best able to judge, that about three thousand persons in Edinburgh profess to have become new creatures in Christ Jesus during the time of awakening. When we consider what that change is and involves, it would be strange, indeed, if such an event was not reflected on the surface of an asylum containing 750 patients. But, granting this, I am in a position to state that those directly concerned in the management of the asylum did not consider that there was any appreciable influence on the institution in the way of increasing the number of patients. The inference drawn, therefore, by the anonymous writer in the Medical Journal was not warranted by the facts of the case."

"Hold the Fort."

Mr. Moody, at the last meeting held by him in the Opera House, London, told the incident which gave rise to the hymn so often sung by Mr. Sankey, entitled, "Hold the Fort." He said that when General Sherman was marching against the Southern States, he left a detachment of troops in a fort in his rear. By some means the enemy got behind him, attacked the fort, and drove its defenders from the outer to the inner intrenchments.—The commanding officer was about to run up the white flag, when he saw on a distant hill the signal—"Hold the fort: I am coming.—Sherman." This incident had given to a friend of his the idea of the well known hymn, "Hold tho Fort." Now that they were leaving this part of London, they wanted the young men of the district to "hold the fort." No one could reach young men so well as young men.

Notice.

Preachers and Delegates who intend coming to the Hillsboro District Conference, (by way of Lockville,) which meets the 22d of July will please let me know, as the brethren here wish to meet them at Lockville with conveyances to Pittsboro, on the evening of the 21st of July. Preachers and Delegates on arriving at Pittsboro will call at the Store of A. G. Headen, where they will be assigned to their homes.

C. C. DODSON. P. C.,
Pittsboro N. C. July 6th 1875.

Notice.

Preachers and Delegates who may attend the Salisbury District Conference to be held at Mt. Airy, beginning July 28th, will report at Taylor's hotel, where they will be directed to their homes.

S. M. DAVIS.

Mt. Airy N. C.

Religious Brevities

Dr. Curry, of the New York Advocate, is on a visit to Europe, and on June 17th attended the Irish Conference at Belfast. He was received with great applause and his speech brought forth many a "hear! hear!"

There are 14.000.000 Methodists in the world. In London twelve years ago there were only 37.000 sittings—now there are 91.000, and in that time forty four large churches have been built, capable of seating more than 1,000 each.

Five missionaries sailed from New York, week before last, for Liberia.—Their names are Rev. Dr. Eddy and wife, of New York; Rev. M. B. Herndon and wife, of Kentucky; and Rev. Dr. Allen, an Episcopal minister from Staten Island.

Bishop Ames has accepted his appointment as member of the Sioux Commission.

One of the college newspaper exchanges says that a clergyman of a certain church, on a recent occasion, discovered after beginning the service he had forgotten his notes. As it was too late to send for them, he said to his audience, by way of apology, that this morning he should have to depend upon the Lord for what he might say, but in the afternoon he would come better prepared.

The Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada has been organized, to consist of five Synods, one of which embraces the Maritime Provinces, and one the missionary field of the Northwest, including Manitoba. The next General Assembly is to convene in Knox Church, Toronto, on the second Thursday of June, 1876.

The Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Nebraska and Dakota has directed morning and evening prayers to be offered in the churches of his diocese until harvest, for deliverance from the grasshoppers.—Methodist Recorder.

The New York Daily Times, in making mention of the inquiry in the English House of Lords, in regard to Moss. Moody and Sankey visiting Eton College, remarks editorially:

"The Moody and Sankey fever in England has been a mystery to every body on this side of the Atlantic, and can only be accounted for on the theory of the grave-digger in Hamlet, that in England everybody is mad."

A passage somewhat like this occurs in the history of the preaching of Paul, as recorded in the Acts of the Apostles, chap. xxxvi., vs. 24 25:

"Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make the made. But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus; but speak the words of truth and soberness."—Bro. Michaux.

An amusing episode is said to have occurred at one of the Moody-and Sanky meetings in London, when the ex Premier was present. Upon heartily grasping Mr. Moody's hand, Mr. Gladstone said: "I wish I had your body" Mr. Moody made reply: "I wish I had your head." Mr. Gladstone again retorted: "I mean I wish I had your lungs." To which Mr. Moody again replied: "I wish I had your brains;' and with hearty good wishes they parted.

We regret to announce the death of Mrs. C. P. Mendenhall, wife of our worthy Mayor, which took place suddenly last Friday morning, about 8 o'clock at her residence. She had been ill for some time but was apparently much better that morning than usual, when death suddenly laid his icy hands upon her and she passed across the river. Her funeral took place from the Methodist church where funeral services were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, and was attended by a large number of our people.—Patriot.

TEN CENTS REGISTRATION.—The Post master General has issued the following order: "It is ordered that the fee for registering a letter, mailed at any postoffice within the United States, or to a foreign country, be fixed, on and after July 1, 1875, at the uniform rate of ten cents, in addition to the regular postage to be fully prepaid by postage stamps affixed to such letter and cancelled at the mailing office."

The Fearful South American Earthquake.—The most colossal disaster perhaps since the destruction of Quito by volcanic eruption in 1797, when 40,000, people perished was the earthquake, reported by telegraph on Tuesday, which took place last month in New Grenada. The scene of the devastation is the richest portion of that republic and is the great coffee region of South America. It embraces a number of cities and populous towns, among them Cutu, which is a port of importance, having 18,000 inhabitants. The earthquake was accompanied by violent eruptions of a neighboring volcano. The loss of life and damage to property are very great.

Rev. W. W. Duncan, pastor of Washington Street Church, Petersburg Va., has been unanimously requested by the Board of Trustees of Wofford College, S. C., to take the Chair of Mental and Moral Science in that institution, made vacant by Dr. Shipp's removal to Vanderbilt University.

Yadkinville Circuit.

The 3rd Quarterly Meeting for this circuit will be held at Wesley Chapel, July 17-18, instead of at Zion Chapel.

D. R. BRUTON P. E.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The farmers in Edgecombe are using reeds for long forage

Wadesboro has shipped seven thousand bales of cotton this season.

Durham has now a money order post office

The State Grange Executive Committee had a meeting in Greensboro on Tuesday. Col. Aiken, of the National Grange, was present.

The barn belonging to Mr. Pinkney Stroud, Iredell county, was struck by lightning on the 26th ult., killing all of his horses, three in number.

The Hon. Burton Craige was nominated by acclamation by the Democratic Nominating Convention of Rowan for the State Convention.—This old Democratic veteran declined, stating that he was too poor to be running for a political office, that he could not neglect his business for so long a time.

It appears that North Carolina furnishes three-fourths of the dried blackberry crop of this country—15,000 barrels out of 20,000 barrels raised. A Georgia contemporary does not wish to see its State waste any longer a crop that paid North Carolina a half million of dollars last year. It contends that drying blackberries at 5½ cents per pound is far more profitable than raising cotton at 15.—CHARLOTTE DEMOCRAT.

The Salisbury Watchman says: Mr. Mills told us of a soldier's widow, the mother of three children, whom he found not long since, dragging out a miserable existence as COOK IN A NEGRO family. He rescued the youngest child—a girl—from her life of shame, and she has since been adopted by a wealthy merchant in the Eastern part of the State. Such a fact speaks volumes in behalf of the Orphan Asylum.

A WAR UPON DOGS.—Caldwell, of the Charlotte OBSERVER, has no pet dogs. Hear him:

"Yesterday the war was begun upon the canines. We hope the policewill smite all those found collarless, hip and thigh, from the rising of the sun even to the going down of the same."

The Hornet Steam Fire Company, of Charlotte, on Monday succeeded in bringing down by a steady stream the big hornet's nest from its lofty perch on the top of the pole in Independence Square.

The Wilson Advance says: A little daughter of Calvin Barnes, Esq., aged 14 months, was accidentally drowned on Sunday last. Mr. Barnes had been bailing in a tub which was left in his room and the little girl fell in, and was drowned before the accident was discovered.

Alamance has nominated Capt. E. S. Parker as the Conservative candidate for Convention.

The Daily CONSTITUTION is the name of a Republican campaign paper just started in Raleigh.

From Wake to the Tennessee line the wheat crop is good, and the yield promises to be abundant.

The Guilford Conservatives have nominated Dr. Nereus Mendenhall and Col J. A. Gilmer for Convention.

It is said that Col. W. A. Smith will be one of the Republican candidates for Convention in Johnston county.

Gen. T. L. Clingman and Col. David Coleman are the Democratic-Conservative candidates for Convention in Buncombe.

The Carolina Central Railway now has sleeping cars attached to its night passenger trains.

The Base Ball fever has begun to rage and the Durham club has won a victory over the Hillsboro boys.

A negro near Mt. Airy the other day, when crossing a branch saw what he thought to be a large eel. Taking it home with him, he had it skinned and ate it, and it was afterwards ascertained from the skin that it was a large MOCCASIN SNAKE.

The Robesonian closed its second volume since the present publisher became proprietor. Mr. W. Wallace McDiarmid is now editor.

George Hodgin and wife Delilah aged respectively seventy eight and eighty one, living in Guilford county, are in active health and have nine children, fifty-five grand-children and twenty-four great grand-children.

Wm. Lutterloh, Esq., of Fayetteville, fell from a window of Butner's Hotel, in Salem, where he was spending the summer, and was instantly killed. He had been ill, and it is supposed that in a temporary aberration he mistook the window for a door and stepped out of it,—He was about 45 years old, unmarried and possessed of a good worldly estate.

It is said that the Statesville American intends to withdraw from politics.

T. C. Evans, Esq. formerly of the Sentinel, has become connected with the Vicksburg Herald. He is a first-class local writer and untiring in his work.

George Applewhite, col., the last of the Robeson county outlaws, was yesterday arrested in Goldsboro after a desperate struggle by Policeman Freeman, and lodged in the county jail at that place. He has been in that city for some time passing under the name of Jackson. When recognized he tried to make his escape but in being pressed by the officers of the law fought like a tiger and was only subdued by the free use of the billy. There has been a standing reward of $5,000 for this outlaw.—Raleigh News.

A FIENDISH DEED.—A shocking murder, the most brutal we think that has ever come to our ears, has been recently discovered in the lower part of this county. In February last, Scott Partin, left his father's house with his wife and young child about eight months old, saying that he was going on a visit to a friend or some relations in Goldsboro.—Since that time nothing could be ascertained as to the whereabouts of his wife and suspicions were aroused that she had been foully dealt with. The neighbors in Panther Creek Township in this county and some from Johnson county, banded together and made a complete search through the woods and at last discovered in a marshy place, fastened in a guano bag, the remains of the dead wife, her body having been cut into forty pieces and her head severed from her body.—Nothing was discovered of the little babe but its tiny hand. The murderer is still at large, though it is thought he is still lurking in this county or near Goldsboro. His father and brothers were arrested and an examination had before a Magistrates' Court, but nothing appearing against them, they were discharged.—The Coroner's jury found a verdict that the wife came to her death at the hands of her husband.

Col. W. R. Myers has been re-elected President of the Atlantic Tennessee and Ohio Railroad.

The netting of partridges in Forsythe county, is prohibited by law.

Winston Post Office is now a money order office.

Mr. Charlie Tise, a young man in Winston, has invented a force attachment to an ordinary wood stock pump by which a stream of water can be thrown over a two story building. He intends to apply for a patent.

Bro. Wilson, of the Kinston GAZETTE, has sold his paper to Messrs. Wooley & Gardner, of the Snow Hill VINDITE, who will consolidate the two papers. Bro. Wilson goes to Greensboro' to edit a Masonic Journal.

The case of Van Bokkelen ET AL vs. Cannady ET AL from Wilmington, involving the validity of the amended charter of that city, has been decided in favor of the defendants, by the Supreme Court, on the ground that the act of the Legislature amending the charter is unconstitutional. The following were the points decided: 1st any required residence in the city but thirty days is invalid. 2d Registration in the wards, as required, invalid. 3rd Division of the wards invalid as violating the Constitution, as representation must be apportioned according to popular vote.

A mail route has been opened from Snow Hill to Speight's Bridge, every Friday. Also another weekly route to Snow Hill to Greenville, via Cotton Valley every Wednesday.

Chas. Price, Esq. has been unanimously nominated as the conservative candidate for convention in Davie county.

The Masonic Journal is the title of a new weekly paper proposed to be published in Greensboro, N. C., by Rev. L. A. Wilson and Geo. S. Baker.

It will be an eight page, thirty-two column sheet, The first number to be issued on Wednesday, the 15th of September.

Subscription price, $2.00 per year.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the travelling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written out on one side of the sheet. All letters should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all accounts should be sent in registered letters, post office order or check. The cost of registration or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount to hand. If money is sent otherwise than as specified it will be at the sender's risk.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Farrant's Seltzer Aperient. Sold by all druggists

A situation as a teacher wanted by a young lady of experience and competency.

Valuable tracts of land for sale near Trinity College, by Dr. J. C. Brown.

Buffalo Springs, Dr. Thos. F Goode proprietor, is situated in Mecklenburg county Virginia and is a popular resort for health and pleasure seekers. See the high testimonial to the virtues of its waters, given in our advertising columns.

General News.

The Interior Department discredits the report of an Indian war.

The University of Pennsylvania has been enriched by enormous legacies.

The North American Railway Company secures itself insolvent.

The difficulties between the United States and Honduras, for insults to our flag at Omoa, have been satisfactorily settled.

The Pacific Mail Company has accepted the subsidy of $20,000 to carry the Australian mail to California.

Indian Agent Saville resigned, but declined the acceptance of the resignation offered till Professor Marsh put his charges in writing.

Forty-two midshipmen and sixteen engineers were graduates at the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, Md.

New South Wales has voted $25,000 for representation at the United States centennial.

The Government has ordered a naval auxiliary patrol on the Rio Grande to protect the Texas border from Mexican outlaws. Gen. Ogden will have the command.

Attorney General Pierrepont has declined the dinner proffered him by prominent members of the New York bar, and resolved to wait at least until his official term is ended.

The most interesting result of the settlement of the war between the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio roads is the advance in freight rates and the reduction in passenger fares.

Lady Franklin is hopelessly ill. She received her farewell to the commander of the Pandora, which went in search of relics of the Franklin expedition, and on its exploring voyage.

There are gratifying indications of excellent crops throughout the Southern States. Cotton, corn and rice are reported in the condition, while in Mississippi and some of the other Gulf States the yield of wheat promises to surpass that of any former harvest for ten years.

St Louis, July 9th.—Gen. Frank P. Blair expired at midnight, surrounded by his family and a few intimate friends. He had been in a precarious state for several months but under the blood transfusion treatment had begun to grow stronger and was generally supposed to be steadily improving. During the past few days he has taken frequent rides and yesterday walked down stairs. His death came suddenly and will be a pain ful surprise to his many friends who had evident hopes of his recovery.

Washington Dodge.—A corresponden writing from Mt. Joy, Ohio, gives the following incident, which shows how a young girl had her nose chipped off because she had too much spunk to dodge a pair of scissors: "A most singular accident occurred here on Friday. A young married gentleman were amusing themselves with a pair of scissors, when the lady threatened to cut her nose off, thinking of course that she would draw her head back when he would snap the scissors at her; but she wasn't to be fooled, and stood her ground, and in consequence was that he cut the end of her nose almost off. Dr. W. Zeiger fastened the nose on again, and it looks it will grow fast. I trust they will find less dangerous playthings in the future."

The paddle wheels of a large steamer on the St. John river in Florida stopped silently, a few nights ago, and then the crash after crash in the woodwork. Quiet followed, everybody rolling out of their bunk and rushing for the deck, when it was soon ascertained that a big alligator had become entangled in the revolving wheel.

Tax fixed at this year's crop, has been received in New York.

St Louis owes over $20,000,000 and feels comparatively easy. The city debt of Philadelphia though, is $63,193,000 while the debt of Pittsburgh is only $11,500,000. So it goes in city ways.

A judge of one of the city courts of Philadelphia has granted over 7000 drinking saloons a certificate of brotherly love.

In 1871 there were 1150 divorces granted in Ohio and this was less than one half of the applications made. Matrimony seems to be a failure there, and Hymen sighs, O heigh ho!

Singer, the sewing machine inventor, recently gave his daughter on her bridal day a handsome sum of $1,000,000.

There are 35,000 post offices in this country which use 700,000,000 stamps in one year. The New York Post office alone uses 120,000,000.

His Majesty George I of Greece, wants to abdicate the throne. The wheels of government do not well supplied with grease as could wish.

King Oscar, of Sweden, has conferred on Bayard Taylor the sword and high order of seraphim, the highest mark of honor in that power. The French no doubt wish that he had made a seraph ten years ago, in a more civil and better land.

Contributions to the building fund of Yale Theological Department amounted last year to $1,000 to the chapel fund, $7,800, and to the Law School, $10,000.

A thoroughly organized band of counterfeiters under the lead of Dr. Milton H. Frank, a physician of Allegheny City, have passed or have $20,000 in counterfeit money cap need. The attention of the United States officials to this gang by the circulating consignments of spurious notes among unstamped went to the local police office.

The Palace Hotel, now nearing completion in San Francisco, is the largest hotel in the world. It covers 96,250 square feet of ground, and is seven stories and 275 feet high. 21,000,000 bricks were used in its walls. 15,000 tons of rock and wrought iron, and 4,000,000 feet of lumber and timber. It contains 1,000 sleeping rooms, 377 of which are bay windows, 725 rooms, none of less size than 20 by 20 feet, and 265 bath rooms. It contains 25 miles of halls, there are five passenger elevators and seven grand stairways; 1,500 burners, 2,000 gas burners and 700 miles of gas and water pipe. It has 2,000 yards, or twenty-eight miles of carpet. It can accommodate 1,200 guests, and employs 800 servants and employes.

A man aged about forty years, and a woman, his step-daughter, aged twenty-four years, who gave her name as Sophie Scheller hired a boat at the Battery, New York, rowed into the middle of the stream, when the man drew a revolver, shot the woman three times and then shot himself in the breast and died immediately

On account of counterfeits, the Comptroller of the currency retires 55 bills of the following denomination: First, Third and Trader's Bank at Chicago, the First National Bank of Paxton, Ills., the First National Bank of Canton, Ills.

Cincinnati, July 9.—A desperate attempt to rob the express messenger Burke, at Long Point, Illinois, on the Vandalia road. The engine was cut loose. The engineer was killed. Burke barricaded the doors and kept the robbers out until help arrived.

Washington, July 8.—The Executive Committee of the Grangers have agreed to remove their headquarters to Louisville by a vote of 3 to 2, also resolved to hold their next national grange meeting at Louisville on the 3rd Wednesday of November. The Head-quarters will be removed to Louisville within a month or six weeks.

The petition against conventual institutions, raised in England, is said to have borne 117,000 signatures, and it is of size three quarters of a mile in length Forty thousand signatures were obtained in London alone.

The largest lumber raft on record was towed down the Missouri river the other day. It was fourteen strings wide, sixteen cribs long, and twenty inches deep containing over one million feet,

An English publishing firm has adopted the singular device of giving copies of its new books in the public libraries to create a demand among readers.

The army worm in Alexandria Ill., is destroying crops at a fearful rate. One farm of 150 acres of corn was destroyed in a few hours, although forty men fought them.

The Scilly Isles, where the Schiller was wrecked, has been the scene of many similar catastrophes: In the year 1707 the British squadron under the gallant Sir Cloudesly Shovel, ran upon the rocks in a storm, and the admiral and four large frigates were lost. The Schiller sank upon the same reefs. The Dublin steamer Thames was also wrecked on these islands, and scores of smaller vessels have been broken to pieces and many lives lost. The log prevails to such an extent about the group that it probably would prove an advantage to have immense bells rung at intervals, or to keep up a fierce cannonading on the islands during severe weather.

On a street car the other day a boy made a sudden grab among the straw, caught something, and, he straightened up and inquired "who's lost a fifty cent piece?" Seven men held out their hands to him, and four wanted to, but feel afraid. The lucky was a painful one, and then the boy unclasped his hand and exhibited a penny button. Seven men sank back to meditate, and the others indulged in winks.

Norfolk, Va., July 6.—The steam tug Lumberman, while returning last night from Fortress Monroe, with a pleasure party of eighteen on board, was run into off Sewell's Point, by the steamer Isaac Bell, and sunk immediately in fifty feet water. Boats were lowered from the Bell, and several of the survivors picked up. The following is a list of those lost: Mrs Elizabeth Hudgins, a widow lady, and her colored servant, Geo. Wilson; Mrs Frederick, Mrs. G. W. Baker, Capt Edward Cook, Jas. C. Berum, Harry Brown, of Norfolk, Miss M. Brown, of Matthews county, and engineer of the Lumberman Capt. Brown, of the Lumberman, was struck on the head and severely injured by the wheel of the Bell. But he had strength left to rescue his wife, who had to crawl through the window of the Pilot House to avoid being carried down by the fast sinking boat. Mrs. Brown was severely injured internally, and it is feared she will not survive. Boats have been sent down to drag for bodies.

During a storm last week in Greensboro a bolt of lightning struck the roof of the Presbyterian Church, passed through and shattered a kerosene lamp within.

Marriages.

Married by Rev Jacob Sheek, on 27th June at Macedonia Church (Moravian) John A. Revis and Jane P. Coad.

Married at the residence of E. L. Mann Esq. in Hyde co. N. C. June 23rd by Rev. J. M. Watson. Wm. D. Murray to Miss Bettie spencer.

Deaths.

☞ Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of eight words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow eight words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule. ☜

Mrs. Jefferonia Whitley, wife of Daniel Whitley and daughter of the late Wm. Sherrard of Wayne county N. C., was born July 2nd 1815 and died at the residence of Rev. A. J. Finlayson June 29th 1875. aged 27 years

The writer received her into the M. E. Church, South, at Pikeville in the year 1865. At the time of her death she was a member of the Goldsboro church.

She was a good woman. Her life was simple and lovely. Her sufferings were great but she bore them with christian meekness and fortitude and died with a sweet smile of joy and peace upon her countenance. She leaves an infant daughter of but a few days of age, a husband, mother, brothers and sisters to mourn her loss; Their "Hope looks beyond the bounds of time

When what they now deplore
Shall rise in full immortal prime
And bloom to fade no more."

A.

Letters and Funds.

Rev D Culbreth paper changed. Rev J J Rena for Mrs E C Markham $2.20. R McCauley 2 20, other paper continued. J B Cole self 2. Rev D R Brinton paper sent. Rev C M Pepper for Mrs M E Landing 2.20. John A Fawcett self 2 20. Rev W M Jordan for Miss H S Williams 2 20. Jno B Scott 2 20. Rev J F Brooks Rev B C Phillips paper continued. Rev M Foy for J Selby 2 20. K L Craven self 2 20 Rev J J Garden papers sent. Ro G Pace Rev S Bryant self 1.25. Rev J Sheek R P Troy for subscription and adv 8 R L Holmes 1. Rev B B Culbreth all right. D Barrentine paper changed. Rev Ed Howland Mrs S M West sell 2.20. Miss W E Gray Rev F L Swindell for J H Britt 2 20. T H Gatlin 2 20. Dr J W Jones 2.20. B J Keeth 2 20. Mrs Mary Bridgers 2 20 E L Hart D Collins F P Hobgood for adv 4.50. W A Bobbitt Sr self 2.20. Rev Dr Harriss Rev W M Robey 5. J C Brown for adv 2 Miss V Boddie Nescochague Manufacturing Co Rev Thos S Campbell shall be glad to hear from you. H J Allison, Cora Harrison Geo P Rowell & Co Thos F Goode R H Field Jno D Thorne Rev James Wilson Rev J N Andrews Rev L L Nash paper sent. Rev I W Avent for J C Vaughn 2.20. J W Howard Rev W D Lee paper sent. Rev W G Wilson for Thomas Brunt 2. A Gregson for Miss Rebecca Jolly 2.20 Rev T W Smith paper sent. Rev J Johnson for Mrs S Whitehead 2.20 Miss L Lea C Dowd Rev J W Jenkins for H S Winstead 2.20. Mrs Hight 20 cents. Rev J B Bailey for K K Council 2.20 J T Lovin 1 10. Rev I T Wyche paper sent. Rev C C Dodson Geo W Pegram self 2.20 Mrs H Arnold 2.20. T A Harrington 2 20. Chas M Stieff for adv 40. Rev W H Pegram 1 20. S M Davis J M Watson S M Warren for Miss M Edwards 1.10. J B Trawick Rev J Tillett for J H Ferrell 2.20. W T Hodges 2 20. J M Pitts Jr for ad 10. Alex Sessoms sell 2 20. Rev Jas Mahoney S Collins & Co Rev D R Brinton, Mrs M R Shaw self 2.20. Rev Dr Closs, Rev F D Swindell correction made, Rev Z Rush too late for this issue, Rev D Lane correction made, Rev B Lean, Rev W M Robey.

Appointments.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Madison ct at Eden,	July 31 and Aug	1
Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	"	7- 8
Davidson, Midway,	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	4- 5
Stokes, Palmyra,	"	11-12

A Camp-meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. Wilson, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

South Fork Ebenezer,	July	28-29
Newton Smyrna,	July 31 and	Aug. 1
D. Shoals, Clover Hill (C M)	July 31,	Aug 1
Rock Spring, Rock Spring (C M)	Aug	7- 8
Happy Home, Harmony,	"	14-15
Lenoir, Harper's Chapel,	"	21 22
Morganton, Mt. Pleasant (C M)	"	28 29
Marion, Nebo, (C M)	Sept.	4- 5
Shelby station,	"	11-12

Camp-meetings will begin Friday evening and close on Wednesday morning. Ministers both traveling and local, are invited to attend the camp-meetings. May the Great Head of the church be with us and give his word success!

L. S. Burkhead, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	July	3- 4
Pee Dee, Zion,	"	10- 11
Fayetteville	"	17- 18
Laurinburg, Laurinburg,	"	24-25
Robeson, Salem, July 31,	Aug.	- 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Montgomery, Eleazer,	"	14-15
Buckhorn, Apex,	"	21-22
	"	28-29

S. D. Adams, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND, Q. M.

Tar River at Trinity,	July	3- 4
Henderson at Zion,	"	10-11
Louisville at Oaky Grove,	"	17-18
District Conference at Oxford, Inclusive.	"	22-25
Nashville and Rocky Mount,	August	7- 8
Cary,	"	14-15
Smithfield,	"	21-22
Youngsville,	"	28-29

The Introductory sermon at the District Conference will be preached by Rev. J. E. Thompson.

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Oxford on Saturday July 24th.

J. P. Moore, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jones, Cypress Creek,	July	3- 4
Kinston, Monday,	"	- 5
Beaufort, S. School Convention,	"	8-11
Carteret, Morehead city, F. night,	"	-16
Wayne, Thompson's,	"	17-18
Newbern,	"	24 25
Straits, Wednesday,	"	-28
Lenoir, Woodington,	July 31 &	Aug. 1
Snow Hilli, Bethel,	Aug.	7.. 8
Mt Olive, Indian Springs,	Friday,	" 13
Goldsboro,	"	14-15
Neuse & S. Creek Upper B. Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. Yates, P. E
Beaufort N .C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Clinton at Goshen,	July	18-19
Cokesbury at Bethel,	"	25 26
Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. at Center,	"	15-16
Topsail,	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept.	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville,	"	12-13

W. S. Black, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Tarboro, at Noble's	July	3- 4
Williamston at Palmyra,	"	10-11
Washington and Greenville, at Shady Grove,	"	17-18
Plymouth & Jamesville, at Jama'sville	"	24-25
Cape Hatteras, at Chickacomicko	"	31 and August 1st.
Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7.. 8
Ocracoke,	Aug. 11, 12, 13, 14, 15
Portsmouth,	" 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22
Columbia at Gume Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath, at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4- 5
Warren,	"	11-12

William Closs.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Alamance ct. Clovers Garden,	July	3- 4
C. Hill & H. River, Cedar Grove,	"	10-11
Durham, Orange Church,	"	17-18
Pittsboro, District Conference,	"	24-25
Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	- 1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7- 8
Louisburg, Union,	"	14-15
Yanceyville, New Hope,	"	21-22
Flat River,	"	28-29

Our District Conference will be held at Pittsboro, commencing Thursday the 22d of July. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. J. Rena We cordially invite brethren from other Districts to be with us. We, certainly, expect one or both the Editors to be with us.

L. L. Hendren, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

THIRD ROUND IN PART.

Mocksville ct. Mt. Zion,	July	3- 4
Mocksville at Concord,	"	10-11
Yadkinville ct. Mt. Carmel,	"	17-18
Surry ct. Rockford,	"	24-25
Mt. Airy station,	July 31. August	-1

The District Conference will be held at Mt. Airy, commencing on Wednesday night July 28th, Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson will preach the introductory sermon. Brethren out of the District are invited to attend.

The preachers on the District are hereby notified to send to Rev. S. M. Davis, at Mt. Airy, the names of all their delegates and local preachers, and also state the probable number of horses that will be carried up. Attention to this request is absolutely necessary in order to prevent confusion.

D. R. Bruton, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Wadesboro sta.	July	- 2
Lilesville ct at Shiloh,	"	3- 4
Pineville ct at Hebron	"	10-11
Wadesboro ct at Bethel	"	17-18
Concord sta. and Concord ct.	"	24-25
Tryon st. and Calvary Miss	Aug.	1.. 2
Ms. Pleasant,	"	7.. 8
Albemarle and Stanley	"	14 15
Ansonville, ct	"	21.22

J. S. Nelson, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of Christian Advocate, July 13, 1875

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm and dull.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light Low middlings 14¢

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $6@6.50.
CORN 100@1 10
CORN MEAL, 95@100
BACON, N. C. hog round, 16.
" " hams 16 1-2
BULK C. R. sides, 13 1-2
" shoulders, 10
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western (leaf) 17 1-2@
" Kegs, 19 1-2@17 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 24
" Fair Rio, 21 1-2@22
SYRUP, common, 40.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00
SUGAR A, 11 1-4.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 9@10
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@9.
" dry, 13 1-2
TALLOW, 7@8
POTATOES, sweet none.
" Irish, $1.90@$1.95.
OATS, shelled, 85. @90
" sheaf, $1.00
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N. C. bales, [illegible] @1.25
CHICKENS, grown, 30@40
" young, 20@30
EGGS, 12 1-2@13 1-2
BUTTER, country, 32 1-2@35.
FISH, Mullets, $7.50.
" Cut Herrings, none.
" Mackerel, new family, $17.50
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 3@3
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A LADY OF EXPERIENCE AND SUCCESS AS a teacher, wishes a situation in a first class family or neighborhood school. The usual English branches, mathematics, Latin, French, and music taught.

Address Editors of this paper.
july 14-2t.

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND FOR SALE.

A Valuable farm, containing 115 acres, more or less. It has one creek and one branch running through it. Produces corn, wheat, oats, &c, in abundance. I have an orchard of about one thousand selected fruit trees. Dwelling house and kitchen of ample size, containing only thirteen rooms and a large basement.

Two other kitchens in the yard. Smoke-house, well and well house in ten steps of the kitchen door WATER VERY GOOD.

I have a large Barn 25 by 45 feet. Stables, cow stalls, sheep Barn, two large cribs, wheat granary and another wall of extra water and well house at the Barn.

The place is in Randolph Co. on the Turn pike road 3/4 of a mile from Trinity College and 3 1-2 miles from either Thomasville or High Point, both being Depots on the N. C. R. R. We have daily mail. I also have another tract of 58 acres of wood land one mile from this plantation. The place is known as the JOHN S. BROWN (Dec'd.) plantation.

For further information address

J. C. BROWN, D. D. S.,
Trinity College, N. C.

July 14th 2-w

THE BUFFALO WATER IN NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA, COMPLICATED WITH UTERINE DISEASE.

Case of Peggy Anderson, a Woman of Color, of Oxford, N. C., stated by Dr. M M. Jordan, Resident Physician.

Buffalo Springs, Va., Aug. 8, 1874.

Peggy Anderson, a colored woman of Oxford, N. C., reached the Springs some two months ago in a most distressed and apparently hopeless condition, resulting from dyspepsia complicated with uterine derangement She was extremely feeble, emaciated, and suffering greatly from nervous excitement. She informed me that for several years she had been subject to occasional attacks of great violence; which confined her for weeks to her bed Upon her arrival at the Springs she could not eat meat or vegetables of any description, and had not been able to do so for two years. Her only beverage was cold water and a draught of that often occasioned her great pain. She now eats with impunity any ordinary article of food, including deserts, and on several occasions has eaten cucumbers and similar articles without feeling inconvenience from it. She has greatly improved in strength, and gained not less, I can safely say, than thirty pounds flesh.

M. M. Jordan, M. D., Resident Physician
July 14-1t

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT. NEW YORK.

Reject all Violent Purgatives. They ruin the tone of the bowels and weaken the digestion.

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient is used by rational people as a means of relieving all derangements of the stomach, liver and intestines, because it removes obstructions without pain and imparts vigor to the organs which it purifies and regulates

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

July 14-2t.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE,

Lenoir, N. C.

The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.

Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes everything for which we are responsible, and we can guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.

Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges, and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best public testimonial of real merit.

Young ladies boarded in the Institution under the immediate care of the President

Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other promptly at the end of the Session.

No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address.

REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

July 7-3m

RALEIGH HIGH SCHOOL,

An English, Classical, Mathematical, and Military School for Boys.

Rev. Joseph M. Atkinson, Principals
Charles H. Scott,

The second annual session of this school will begin on WEDNESDAY, September, 1st, 1875. The Principals have procured for the school the commodious and attractive residence on Newbern Avenue, well-known in Raleigh as the "Cotton Place," more recently owned and handsomely refitted by Col. A. Kingsland.

Besides continuing their Day School they propose taking a limited number of boys of good character and conduct to board in their own family.

The training of the school, as heretofore, will be full, thorough and accurate, preparing its pupils for college or for business life.

Competent assistants will be provided in all departments, as may be required. The Principals trust that it is scarcely necessary for them to say that whilst the school will continue to be conducted on Christian principles, it will be entirely without denominational aim or bias.

For circulars and other information address either of the Principals, Raleigh, North Carolina.

July 7-1m.

LOUISBURG FEMALE SEMINARY.

A First-Class High School

— FOR —

YOUNG MISSES AND GIRLS.

Fall Session opens Wednesday, 14th of July, and continues full 20 weeks

TERMS:—Board, with washing, furnished rooms, and English Tuition in full, $90.00. Languages and music very moderate. No Extras.

Ten or twelve boarders can be accommodated comfortably with the Parents of the principal.

Apply for circular to

Miss Cornelia A. Crenshaw,
Principal.

HORNER & GRAVES'S SCHOOL

HILLSBORO, N. C.

The Fall session of 1875 opens on the fourth Monday in July.

Catalogues sent on application.

July 7-1m

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,

STOKES CO. N. C.,

The leading watering place of the State.

Fare equal to any city Hotel South. Nights delightfully cool.

Mountain scenery unsurpassed. Room for 500 guests.

BOARD REDUCED.

Per day $1 00. Per week $12 50. Per month $36 00.

DAILY LINE COMFORTABLE COACHES FROM SALEM—WINSTON.

Connecting Closely with all the Trains—the most comfortable of these leaving Winston on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

☞ Tickets to Piedmont Springs and return for sale at the following places at reduced rates:

Durham	$ 9 45	Raleigh	$ 11 45
Danville	9 50	Salisbury	9 50
Goldsboro	14 85	Lexington	7 90
Greensboro	7 40	Charlotte	12 15

Passenger trains on the North Carolina Central Rail Road, and on the Richmond and Danville Rail Road, make connections at Greensboro with trains for Salem Winston, which is the terminus of the N W N C R R, from which point passengers can reach the Springs by a Daily Line of New Concord Coaches.

☞ All mail matter intended for visitors at Piedmont, should be directed to "PIEDMONT SPRINGS," Winston, N. C., and will be promptly delivered by Stage Driver Daily.

Capt. S. B. Taylor, Manager.
W. E. Williamson, C. M. Flinn, Ro. G. Pace, } Prop's.

Danville, Va.

Resident Physician: Dr. H. B. Meade, of Danville, Va., formerly Resident Physician at Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, Va.

July 7-1m.

White Sulphur Springs,

CATAWBA COUNTY, N. C.

This celebrated Watering Place will be open for visitors 1st June. The Springs are situated 55 miles Northwest of Charlotte, 9 West of Salisbury, and 6 miles from Hickory Station, on the Western N. C. Railroad.

The bracing mountain atmosphere, with the health restoring properties of their waters, render these Springs a most desirable resort for invalids and pleasure seekers

The Mineral waters embrace Blue and White Sulphur and Chalybeate. It is the best and most extensively fitted up Watering place in the State—can accommodate 300 persons

Good BAND OF MUSIC, Ten Pin Alley, Billiard Table, and a supply of Ice.

Omnibus will be at Hickory Station, on the Western N. C. Railroad, for Passengers on the arrival of every train.

Board $30 00 per month of 26 days—half price for children and servants, and a liberal deduction for families.

My Post-office is Catawba White Sulphur, N. C.

Dr. E. O. ELLIOTT,
July 7-1m Proprietor.

CLEVELAND

MINERAL SPRINGS,

(FORMERLY WILSON'S.)

Near Shelby, 55 miles West of Charlotte.

This Famous Watering Place will be open for the reception of visitors on the 10th of June.

Passengers coming on the Central Railroad will be met by hacks, and conveyances will be sent to the Air-Line Railroad, and other points whenever desired.

Cold and Warm Baths, White Sulphur, Red Sulphur and Chalybeate Water.—Band of Music and other sources of amusement. Fare First Class. For further information address

T. W. BREVARD,
july 7-1m. Proprietor.

The Needle

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums.

In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That duringthe ginning season it ginned 728 bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in forty-five minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which boxes of parlor matches and nails were put without setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

☞ Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

July 7-1f

A. G. Lee. Ed. H. Lee. Cle R. Lee.

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE.

A. G. LEE & Sons.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their lots to the market to try us. We can beat New York in the nett proceeds of your cotton.

When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the very highest market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The Schofield Cotton Press, the best invented.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
July 7th-1f P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

IN STORE AND FOR SALE

(3) Two car loads of N. C. Meadow Hay,
(1) One " " Cultivated Hay now in store and for sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

150 BUSHELS CLAY AND Speckled PEAS now in the market by all who wish to buy and will give us a call.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

SOMETHING NICE AND SWEET,—Half dozen up-country CHEESES, weighing from 8½ to 11 lbs, each, received to-day per express.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A NICE LOT OF SMALL WELL trimmed N. C HAMS, in store and for sale at 16 3 6 cents,

A. G. LEE & SONS.

NORTH CAROLINA AND NORWOOD'S Cultivated Hay for sale cheap by

A. G LEE & SONS.

SCOFIELD'S PATENT COTTON SCREW PRESS MODEL and a Horse Power PRESS, now on exhibition at our office.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
July 7 tf. Sole Agents.

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ices made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool.

July 7-1f

SHELBY SEMINARY.

SHELBY N. C.

REV. S. R. TRAWICK, A. M. PRINCIPAL.
Miss B. V. Trawick, Music and Ornamentals,
Miss Janie G. DuRant, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 21 WEEKS.

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic.	15 00
Latin, Greek and French each.	5 00
Incidental fee each	1.00
Music on piano-forte	20.00
Use of instrument	3 00
Board in the school with the principal, per term	$60.00

The next term will begin July 12th. For circular address the principal The low rates, the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.

June 23-2m.

NOTICE OF ELECTION.

By virtue of an ordinance of the Board of Aldermen passed June 14, there will be an election held on JULY 16TH, 1875, to determine whether the Board of Aldermen shall have authority to issue ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS OF THE CITY BONDS. Those approving the said issue of bonds shall vote "Approved"; those opposing, "Not Approved." The said bonds will not be sold or in any manner used to increase the city debt, but shall be used to fund the present indebtedness of the city. The polls will be opened at the polling places used in the late election.

The Books of Registration for all the wards will be found at the Mayor's office, and those not already registered can have an opportunity of registering

By order of

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

June 23 1-d

WINNOWED HYMNS.—

A new and very popular Music Book for Sabbath schools.

Price per copy in boards, - - - - 30 cts

L. BRANSON, Bookseller,
apr 9-12m. Raleigh, N.C.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY,

Male and Female.

Eight Miles from Greensboro, N. C.

R. P. Troy, A.M., Principal.
Mrs. R. P. Troy, Teacher of Music
Assistant Teacher.

The Fall Session will begin July 28th, 1875, and continue five months.

Tuition per Session, from $7.50 to $20.00
Music, 15.00
Board, with wood and washing, 45.00
Contingent Fee, 50
Use of Piano, 2.00

One half in advance. No deduction after entrance, except for sickness. The low price of board and tuition, healthy location, and the advantages of a commend Pleasant Garden to the patronage of those having children to educate. All are required to attend Sunday School and religious service every Sabbath, and especial care is taken to promote moral development.

FIRST-CLASS ACADEMY.

Conveyance from Greensboro Furnished if Notice is Given.

Address the Principal, at Greensboro, N. C., for further information.

REFERENCES:

Rev. B. Craven, D. D., L. L. D., Trinity College, N. C
" N. H. D Wilson, D. D. Greensboro, N. C.
" W. H. Bobbitt, Greensboro, N. C.
" L. L. Hendren, Chapel Hill, N. C.
July 7 tm.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

Greensboro, N. C.

The Fall Session will begin on the 18th of August.

TERMS REDUCED.

Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights) $75 00
Tuition in regular English course, 20 00

Charges for Extra studies, moderate.

For Catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev T. M. Jones, President.

N. H. D. Wilson,
President Board of Trustees.

June 30 2m

HUGHES'S ACADEMY.

The sixty-fifth session of my school will commence Monday, July 12th, 1875.

Circulars forwarded on application.

SAMUEL H. HUGHES,
Cedar Grove, Orange co., N. C.

June 30-3w

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

Geo. W. Wynne,
T. B. Yancey,
J. W. Lee.

Raleigh, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest an Assume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payment.

Thanking for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf Geo. W. Wynne.

NEW GOODS STILL ARRIVING!

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER!

One of our firm having just returned from the North, where he has been purchasing goods in all the different styles and qualities belonging to our business, in order to repair the broken lines in the various departments, we are again enabled to offer to our customers and the public at large greater inducements than heretofore in Ladies Dress Goods!

Black and Colored Silks,
Summer Silks, Grenadines,
Figured Lawns, and Muslins,

Mohair Suitings,
Bailete Suitings,
Linen Suitings,
Zebra Suitings,

Plain, Printed and Corded GRASS CLOTHS AND LINEN LA

Children's Column.

Answers.

The words "a time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance" are found in Ecclesiastes 3d chap. 4th verse. Cora Harrison, Viola Boddie.

Joshua commanded the sun to stand still. Cora Harrison, Viola Boddie.

The father of Moses was Amram; his mother Jocheb ed who was aunt to the father. Wilna Harrison, Viola Boddie.

The golden calf was burnt by Moses, ground to powder and thrown into the water of which the children of Israel were made to drink. Suda Harrison, Viola Boddie.

Saul, afterwards called Paul, was let down the wall in a basket Viola Boddie.

The 13th chapter of Matthew contains seven parables. Viola Boddie.

Tarsus was the birth place of Paul. Viola Boddie.

It was at the touch of Elisha's bones the dead man was brought to life. Viola Boddie.

St. John was banished to the isle of Patmos, by order of Domitian J. R. Howard.

"Whither I go ye cannot come" &c. is found in John the 8th ch. 21st v. J. R. Howard.

Ye shall seek and shall not find me occurs in John 34th v. 7th chap. J. R. Howard.

The dead bodies of Saul and his three sons were burned. 1st Sam. 31st ch. 12th v. J. W. Howard.

The king of Babylon roasted Zedekiah and Ahab in the fire Jer. 29th ch. 22d v. J. W. Howard.

J. R. and J. W. Howard send the following answer to the enigma proposed by J. A. Arthur.

1st, is Rome, 2d Elizabeth, 3d Annanias; 4th Doveas; 5th Timothy; 6th Herod; 7th East; 8th Andrew; 9th Decapolis; 10th Vine; 11th Olive; 12th Cornelius; 13th Alphens; 14th Tribute money; 15th Eneas; The whole is "Read the Advocate."

Question.

J. W. Howard asks what verse in the Bible contains the following: Ah my brother! or ah sister! Ah Lord! or Ah his glory! Also what chapter in the Bible contains 48 verses, 15 of which commence with "By faith."

Viola Boddie asks how old was Isaac when Abraham died. Also who said "Lord help me" and where is it to be found. Also what chapter contains 31 verses 23 of which end with twelve.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY FLETCHER B. JONES.

1st The son-in law of king Ahab.

2d Whom did Abraham send after Isaac's wife?

3rd Who s nt messengers to congratulate David when he ascended the Hebrew throne?

4th To whose house was the ark of God carried when Uzzah was struck dead?

5th the third of David mighties.

6th A city near which Josiah was slain.

7th the most easterly of the 4 cities destroyed by fire from heaven.

8th the name of the first branch of the River Eden.

9th a city of Gallilee where Sisera resided.

10th king David's general receiver of the tribute.

11th a noted evangelist.

The initials of the above form my whole who was a king of Judah.

ENIGMA PROPOSED BY J. W. HOWARD.

My 1st begins the name of the mother of Timothy.

" 2nd the king which is only mentioned in the book of Proverbs.

" 3rd the third son of Asher

" 4th he that said "I am the bread of life."

" 5th is a king of Ellaser.

" 6th is the son of Beeri.

The initials and the final letters of the above give the names of two prophets.

Facts Better than Argument.

When a man feels the power of the Holy Spirit or the power of the inner man, he does not care to argue; he has a home-spun philosophy of facts which answers his purpose better. Though others may turn upon him and say, "You are not learned," he feels that, it does not need learning to prove that which is a matter of personal consciousness, any more than we need proof that sugar is sweet, when we have a piece in our mouths. Do you doubt the gospel? Try it. The men who speak against the Bible, as a rule, have never read it; those who rail against Christ do not know him; and those who deny the efficacy of prayer have never prayed. Nothing is more convincing than fact. Get out of the realm of word spinning and windbag filling into practical Christian life, proving personally that these things are so, and you will soon be convinced by the blessed witness of the Spirit, the water and the blood.—Spurgeon.

Rural and Domestic.

Ashes for Peaches.

A correspondent of the New York World writes: "I find it pays to put wood ashes and lime and a light sprinkling of salt around each peach tree. The top earth should be removed from the trees before the ashes, lime, and salt are put around it. If the trees are not all unthrifty it will restore them to life again, and in a short time they will look as thrifty as if nothing had been the matter with them. I think this helps to make the fruit stay on. I would advise every one that has a few trees to try what I have recommended, and see if their fruit does not ripen better and grow finer than when they are left to have their own way."

An Ancient Chesnut.

The oldest English chestnut is that at Tortworth in Gloucestershire. The following description of this tree is appended to a picture of it executed in 1772: "The east view of the ancient chestnut tree at Tortworth, in the county of Gloucester, which measures nineteen yards in circumference, and is mentioned by Sir Robert Atkins, in his history of that country, as a famous tree in King John's time; and by Mr. Evelyn in his 'Sylva,' to have been so remarkable for its magnitude in the reign of King Stephen (1135) as then to be called the great chestnut tree at Tortworth, from which it may reasonably be presumed to have been standing before the Conquest (1066)." The age of the chestnut varies from 300 to 626 years, so that at the age when the oak is of most value as timber the chestnut is utterly worthless.

A Milch Cow.

F. G., in the Country Gentleman, writes: "A milch cow should be quiet and contented. She will have to be petted and made much of. This influences her domesticity, and that, in the milch cow, seems to be allied to the maternal feeling which prompts to lacteal secretion. But whether this is so or not, certain it is that where a single cow is petted and well taken care of there is a great increase in the milk over her former yield when kept in the herd. I never knew one that did not show this improvement. And now we have come to the point in disension—the difference in the quality of herds with respect to their size. Treat each of the members of the herd like the one taken from it and kept as a single cow, and the whole herd would be improved. It would be improved to such an extent as would not well be done by mere selection. My experience has revealed to me the fact that our native cows, which form the staple of our dairies, are capable of great improvement, probably because they came of good blood originally when brought over, but have been abused or permitted to run down. It needs only good treatment to bring them up to a good point. This is my experience; and is one of the principal sources of profit in securing a dairy herd. There are cows—the Ayrshires—that give more milk, and the Jerseys, that have more cream; but for profit on the whole, the common native, so far as the writer's experience goes, surpasses them both—only, however, when the treatment is discriminative and thorough. Then the advantage, with the whole herd, will be similar to that of the one cow separated from it. But this is seldom fully realized, because the requisite pains are not taken and the principle is not sufficiently understood."

The Public Confidence Well Placed.

Although the world has been seeking specifics for disease for many centuries, few in fact have been found. Prominent among these few is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which years ago received the endorsement of the medical profession and was hailed by press and public as the great renovant and preventive of the age. And with good reason, since to the weakened stomach it gives strength, to the torpid liver activity, to the disordered bowels regularity and to the sunken nervous system firmness and tone. Under its benignant influence is abnutual vigor returned to the debilitated and wasted frame, the flaccid muscles become compact, the wan aspect of ill health is replaced by a look of cheerfulness, the mind ceases to despond, and flesh is developed upon the attenuated frame. There is no exaggeration in this statement. It is as true as that the system is subject to disease. Were proofs required to substantiate the value of the comprehensive effects of the Bitters, there is probably not in existence a medicine to a tithe of which such a mass of concurrent testimony, from the most respectable sources, could be adduced. But the efficacy of the nation's alterative and its tonic must has been a matter of universal knowledge too long to need any such corroboration. The fact that it has the largest sales in those portions of the North and South American Continents, Mexico, and the West Indies, in which atmospheric influences peculiar to health exists, proves what confidence is felt in its remedial and protective virtues. In localities where fever and ague and remittent type prevail especially, it has come to be regarded as an indispensable necessity July 1-1m

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 20,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

☞ PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

850 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

SITUATION WANTED,

In some College, High School or Academy by a gentleman who is a graduate and who has made teaching with its latest improvements his business and study for ten or twelve years. The best of testimonials furnished. Address, E. P., June 30 tf Boykin's Depot Va.

SASH, DOORS, BLINDS, &C.,

At Rock-Bottom Prices.

LARGEST STOCK IN THE STATE.

AND THE GOODS THOROUGHLY SEASONED.

Write for prices

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

Fisher Building, Raleigh, N. C.

OLD NORTH STATE FIRE Insurance Company, OF WARRENTON, ----- N. C.,

This Company has closed its third year in a condition of GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home Institution

It has ample Capital and Reserves.

It pays its loss s promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand and in Bank,	$ 8 421 51
Cash on hand of Agents,	4,9 4 60
Stock Notes,	45,87 7n
Real Estate Mortgages,	19 9 8 80
Loaned on Collaterals,	7,647 68
Due for premiums,	8 72 65
Interest due and accrued,	914 86
	$180,97 19

LIABILITIES:

All liabilities including full re-
Insurance Reserved,	$18 45 1 81
Surplus,	1 1,5 6 38
	$180,997 19

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
R. F. LONG, Secretary.

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery AND COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery for price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to execute all in accept to none. We guarantee satisfaction to prices, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we can almost daily receive by wagon, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Vermont Hams, Jams, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit, Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, White, Black-eye, Stock and Black Peas, White and Mixed Beans, &c. All goods sold or traded for at specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We are under the necessity of saying to those who have attempted to barter with us heretofore that we have our own supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

Books of Bound Music.

containing the Crème de la Crème of all Vocal and Instrumental Music

PAGES FULL SHEET MUSIC SIZE!

Price of each book in Boards $2.50; in Cloth, $3; Gilt, $4.

Gems of German Song, 216 pages,	Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Gems of Sacred Song, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Wreath of Gems, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Gems of Strauss, 256 pages,	Instrumental.
Operatic Pearls, 240 pages,	Vocal.
Shower of Pearls, 208 pages,	Vocal Duets
Silvery Sand, 320 pages,	Vocal.
Home Circle, Vol. I. 216 pages,	Instrumental.
Home Circle, Vol. II. 256 pages,	Instrumental.
Piano Home, 256 pages,	Piano Duets.
Musical Treasure, 225 pages,	Vocal & Inst'l.
Phonofore Gems, 220 pages,	Instrumental.
Piano Forte Album, 224 pages,	Instrumental.
Organ at Home, 2 0 pieces,	For REED ORGAN.

The above books are uniform in style and binding, are wonderfully cheap for the contents, are sold by all prominent music dealers, and will be sent to any address for retail prices.

All books sent post-paid, for Retail Price

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston. C. H. DITSON & Co. 711 B'dway, New York.

June 23-tf

THE REPEAL OF THE USURY LAW

will doubtless be the first question that will attract the attention of our next Legislative Assembly, but as that body is long ever elected, it becomes necessary to born something exciting for present use. Hence we announce the fact that

Weikel, The Irreproachable Merchant Tailor,

has just returned from the North with a stock of

FRENCH AND ENGLISH CLOTHS, DIAGONALS, STRIPED, CHECKED AND PLAIN CASSIMERES, SPRING AND SUMMER SUITINGS OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

LIGHT CASSIMERES FOR PANTS VESTINGS, &c.

the fire of which is creating even more excitement on Fayetteville street than

THE CHANGE OF GAUGE

Of the line of the North Carolina Rail Road.

He has in Store and now on receiving the largest and most attractive stock ever offered to the before and all he want would do well to call early, as the rush has already commenced.

RALEIGH PUBLIC

The Manufacturing Department is complete in all its branches, with the best workmen in the State on the bench.

Orders from the country respectfully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed

April 14-3m

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and it saves vexatious to prove the real value of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency that will PAY would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HEPTINSTALL,
Enfield, N. C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. H.

may 19-tf

THE GEM

A popular Note Book published at Nashville.—Send for as many dozen as you want.

Price, - - - - - - 35 cents per copy.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

ap 21 3-12m

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements to me line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full stock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise to those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I would respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to give Mr. Temple my successor, as much, I am assured, the same position to all who may deal with him.

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS

march 1 6 m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless The Declining Decaying of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases.

1. Impaired Vision. 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring. 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes. 4. Epiphora, running or Watery Eyes. 5. Sore Eyes—speedily treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerves. 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes. 10. Myiasis—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine, as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of whom have used different leading prescriptions and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., since April 24th, 1865, has been constantly employed with our Eye Cups and has also the PATENT EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK.

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I can place no will them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE HUMAN EYE, containing 50 pages, free of charge, by return mail. Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the PATENT EYE CUPS. Has proved a certain cure for late disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

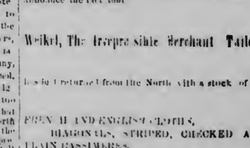
Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $40 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 957. Sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED Judged UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both Hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER COMMISSIONS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Tone and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN an exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS. Organs sold for cash or for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Wabash St., CHICAGO.

apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL.
Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte,	2 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junction	9 32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury,	11.38 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro',	3.09 A. M	10.55 "
" Danville,	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee,	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkville,	11.35 "	6 07 "
Arrive at Richmond,	2.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond,	1.38 P. M	5.02 A. M.
" Burkville,	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee,	10.38 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville,	10 32 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro,	2 15 A. M.	5.58 "
" Salisbury,	5.21 "	8.16 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	7.53 "	8 40 "
Arrive at Charlotte,	9 03 A M	9.53 "

GOING EAST.		GOING WEST
STATIONS.	MAIL	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro',	3.09 A. M.	Arrive 2.0 A. M
" Co. Shops,	4.31 "	Leave 12.35 "
" Raleigh,	8.33 "	8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.39 A M	Leave 5.00 "

WESTERN N. C. R. R. (SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro',	4.30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem,	6.13 "
Leave Salem,	8.40 A. M
Arrive at Greensboro,	10.38 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 5.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways,

O' Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9 00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	7.0 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 29th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 29th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sunday excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	8.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.25 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	12.01 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection a Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE SUPT OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7 55 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Loudings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.40 A. M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

1875 1875

GRAND SPRING OPENING

NEW MILLINERY STORE.

ENTIRE NEW STOCK!!

Having just arrived from the North with a New and Fashionable assortment of MILLINERY GOODS, of all the latest Parisian styles, I take great pleasure in announcing to the public that I will open my new and elegant stock for inspection, at my new store,

No. 57 Fayetteville Street,

OPPOSITE THE MARKET.

ON SATURDAY, 17th APRIL, 1875.

☞ Trusting that a generous public will bestow their patronage on my efforts to please one and all, both in cheapness, style and quality of goods.

I remain, Very Respectfully,

MRS. E. BLOUNT FIELD,
Artist of Low Prices.

Cheapest Millinery Establishment in the City!

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown.

THE SWEET AND POWERFUL the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Suffering and Triumphs of His followers. A thriller, a sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Sartain and Illman, and splendidly bound in the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

March 18-6m

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall.

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

aug 19-tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, making more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every person's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free. Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time. Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

May 26 1 y

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches OF Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D. LATE OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in aloreseal, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F L REID, Leasburg, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SQUARE, Raleigh N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past four years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and intend giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of single Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls A Sugar,
10 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Soda,
10 " " Starch,
50 Kegs English Soda,
1,500 lbs. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases O store,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
5,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Sacks Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
Qrest W P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer special inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock defy competition

Oct 7-12 m LEACH BROS

L. R. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES, SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest market prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 20-tf

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore, Md. 7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.

Also Manufacturers, also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Gearing for Cotton Mills, Flour, Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and other Presses, &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine made Gearing, of best and of very best finish. Send for illustrated catalogue.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec. 21 1-1

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court-houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.

102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

—o—

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Mle's and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY.
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.

oct 1-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK. President. | WM. M. COLE, Secretary
D. P. FACKLER. Actuary. | DANIEL AYRES. M.D., L.L.D., Med. Director

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation FOR JUDGMENT OF INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS.—Upon what elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation to be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for the important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

AW · LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 29. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, July 21, 1875. | Whole No. 1,067.

Selected Poetry.

The Scholar and the World.

[illegible]

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

A Visit to Raleigh.

DEAR ADVOCATE: The time that I spent in Raleigh was spent pleasantly, and I trust, in some respects profitably.

I had the pleasure of attending the commencement exercises of Peace Institute, making the acquaintance of some of the Faculty, and hearing the address of Dr. Hoge of Richmond.

Peace is one of the great education-al enterprises of the day, and we are glad to see it appreciated and sustained as it is by the church to which it belongs. The Presbyterians ought to be building their Institutions, and—the Methodists ought to stand by theirs.

Dr. Hoge's address was an enter-tainment in itself. It was not read, but spoken. It was therefore rather an oration than an essay. The orator was free to bring into play, his pecu-liar magic, which Dr. Hoge knows so well how to do. In short if we had not known better, we should have taken him to be a Methodist preach-er.

Among the churches we found Per-son Street Methodist church to be the finest. Its history is like a story of magic. Within three or four years this congregation has passed through a glorious season of revival, adding to the church many substantial members, and at the same time build-ing a house of worship, which, for neatness and comfort, rivals anything that we have seen in many a day. The temporal and spiritual builders brought together, and the work seems to have been done equally well in both cases.

On Sunday we were permitted to preach twice in this new church under circumstances that made it a privi-lege. We predict that at the next Annual Conference there will not be less than a score of candidates for the ministry at Person St. church.

For the first time I visited the Lu-natic Asylum. If there is anything in the State that a true, patriotic North Carolinian ought to be proud of it is this Institution. Here is a public institution which is no humbug. The buildings have cost the State about one hundred thousand dollars. The inmates at present are about two hun-dred and fifty. Here these most un-fortunate of our race find a home in a time of need. Many of them have come from the humblest and poorest ranks of society, and have no home and no friends to whom they could go. But here their sufferings are relieved, and their wounds met and satisfied, so far as possible, with a fidelity and ten-derness like that of a mother.

Even a partial inspection of the premises is sufficient to satisfy the mind of the perfect adaptation of the Superintendent and his subordinates to the delicate work committed to them. We thought we read distinctly in the face of Dr. Grissom the qual-ities of kindness, firmness, prompt-ness and authority,—a combination rarely found, and yet the very charac-ter for that place. In addition to these special qualities, also, is the courtesy with which the visitor is received, that he feels as he goes away that he is almost authorized to enter the name of Dr Grisson on the list of his personal friends.

We should like, if time and space would allow, to speak more particular-ly of what we saw and heard, but for the present we must be content with simply advising the reader, if he has never been there to avail himself of the first opportunity to visit the Lu-natic Asylum at Raleigh.

W. M. ROBEY.

Newberne, N. C., July 6th.

For the Advocate.

"Baptist Affairs in Monroe."

In the Biblical Recorder of June 23d, there is a communication signed "Theo. W." which I suppose was written by the pastor of the Baptist Church in Charlotte, who was recent-ly on a visit to this place. The ar-ticle is headed with the above cap-tion, and deserves a passing notice.

Speaking of the Baptists he says, they "have a house of worship out of town and in the town grave yard. If they do not move they will be buried sure. And there are persons enough there to perform the obsequies, who are only waiting for the decease."—Now, is not that very charitable? I hope, sirs, that when I die, I shall have friends enough to give me a de-cent burial, but I would fain hope that I shall have none about me who are so anxious for my departure as to be waiting for my decease. Who in this community does he suppose is waiting for the decease? Not the Methodists surely; for one of them, as he states, has just given the Baptists a lot valued by their pastor at 400 dollars, and quite a number of our members have their names on their subscription lists for a new church.—If any desire to see them dead, I can't imagine who they are. I hardly sup-pose there is any one here, saint or sinner, who would rejoice in the de-cease of the Baptist Church. I fear the good brother is measuring other people's corn by his own half bushel, and he should be reminded that it will not do to measure other people's charity by as small half bushel as some of his denomination use.

There is another gratuitous remark in the same connection, and that is: "Monroe is growing rapidly in popu-lation and business, in wealth and in-fluence. At present but one church has a strong hold on that community, and that one does not believe in the final perseverance of the saints."—This last clause is entirely gratuitous. There was no necessity for a remark of that sort in the connection in which we find it. The sentence and sense could have been completed without it. But what does he mean by that remark? Of course he alludes to the Methodist Church, and we believe in the final perseverance of the saints: that is, we believe in saints persever-ing to the end of life, and we don't believe that any saint will get to heaven who does not persevere to the end. If he means that we do not be-lieve the doctrine which is technically termed the final perseverance of the saints. I admit we do not, and am glad we don't, for I think it a dan-gerous error. There are some other things we do not believe. We do not believe in proselyting or in close com-munion. Now, I just want to say that "Theo. W." would do well to let the pastor of the Baptist Church at-tend to matters here, and take care of his own charge if he can.

While writing, I will notice a re-mark signed by the pastor of the Baptist Church in this town. He says "the Presbyterians and Episco-palians are new beginners here and need help from their brethren. There are several Lutherans but they have no organized body. Members of these weaker denominations are very re-spectful to us and they attend our church." Now the truth is, in the case is, there were a number of Presbyte-rians, one or more Episcopalians and some Lutherans at the Methodist Church last Sabbath, while service was going on at the Baptist Church, and I feel certain that this happens frequently, if not every Sabbath, ex-cept the days for their preaching.

Bro. C. you know the besetting sin of some people. Say, next time, 'some of them attend our church, or they attend our church sometimes.'

CHARITY.

Dr. Gross, the celebrated surgeon, was once dangerously ill. Soon after his recovery he met one of his pa-tients, who remarked to him, "Oh, doctor, I rejoice to see that you are out again. Had we lost you, our good people would have died by the dozen." "Thank you, madam," re-plied the affable doctor, "but now, I fear, they will die by the Gross."

For the Advocate.

The Apostles.

It seems strange that so few mem-bers of the Church know anything of the Apostles of our Lord, save what they read of them in Holy Writ.

Their (the Galilean Apostles) being in close intimacy with our Saviour during his sojourn on earth, makes their history especially interesting—particularly the history of Peter who it is thought, was the eldest of the 12 and the first chosen.

The Galilean Apostles were Simon Peter, Andrew (his brother), James, John, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James and Judas Iscariot, whose place was afterwards filled by Matthias.

The Hellenist Apostles were Paul and Barnabas, with whom are includ-ed their companions, Mark and Luke the evangelists.

The former (the Galilean Apostles) were directly appointed by Jesus himself, except Matthias, who took the forfeited commission of Judas Iscariot, while the latter however highly equip-ped for their great office had never enjoyed the personal association and instruction of their divine Master. Yet if the extent of their labors be re-garded the later commissioned must rank far above the 12

Almost two-thirds of the New Tes-tament Scriptures was written by Paul and his companions—mostly by Paul, whose varied attainments, clas-sic education and erudition, as well as fervid zeal, eminently fitted him for the task especially as to epistolary writings. Simon, who sprung from a low order of men, had very little ad-vantages of a worldly education, yet being taught from that higher fount of learning, the Master and the Spirit, wrote with great fluency and power. Despite his numerous defec-tions, his deep zeal and ardent at-tachment for his Master render his life one of the most interesting of the "chosen few." Nevertheless we do not ascribe those powers to Peter which the Romanists do for they dei-fied him—and could he return to earth would doubtless denounce them in as strong terms as his Master did when He told him to 'get behind me Satan.'

The writings of Luke (the Evangel-ist) are the most concise and best writ-ten portion of the New Testament Scriptures and has been less criticised than any other, although there is a striking harmony existing through the whole book. They (the Evangel-ists) differ in some few minute and unimportant details almost exactly as any other four men would in giving an account before a jury, of the pres-ent, of some street fracas or adventure the main points being after all essen-tially the same.

Hence those who daily read from their Bibles of these chosen followers and servants of our Lord in brief, I would advise to read a full account of their lives in a work entitled, "Lives of the Apostles," by D. F. Bacon, which is a very interesting as well as useful volume to the christian reader.

J. D. T.

Littleton, N. C., July 10th, 1875.

Science no More Real Than Religion.

Science no more than religion can claim to build on reality. For what is reality? Who will define it? Who will prove it? Do not all proofs refer us at least to subjective tests? Sen-sible experience is no more a proof of reality than spiritual experience. The scientist builds on sensible ex-perience. He claims for that experi-ence an answering reality; he sup-poses a world external to himself, corresponding to his sensations. But the existence of such a word is a mere hypothesis. Profoundest thinkers have called it a vulgar prejudice—a prejudice with which I confess I am somewhat infected. But when we come to demonstration, there is abso-lutely none. A [illegible] working theory for scientific and daily use; that is the best we can say of it. The religionist builds on spiritual exper-ience. He claims for that experience an answering reality; he supposes a God external to himself as well as in-ternal; an intelligent will over all, corresponding with the voice in his soul. Such a being is not demon-strable in a scientific sense. There is no mathematical demonstration of it; but surely we can say of it, and the least we can say of it, is, that it is a good working theory for spiritual uses, those uses without which man, with all his endowments, is little bet-ter than the brute. The being of God is incapable of demonstration, but the existence of an external world is equally so. Nay, I think more so; I would sooner undertake to demon-strate the former than the latter. So far from inferring the being of God from an external world, as theologians have attempted to do, I need the be-lief in a God to assure the existence of things without.—Rev. Dr. F. H. Hedge.

Dwight Lysander Moody

The Rev. W. B. Wright, in a com-munication to the Watchman and Reflector, says:

I have not said Mr. Moody. Those, I have observed, who know him inti-mately, rarely call him so. An Irish maid once announced a visitor, who proved to be Prof Stow, "As a gentle-man with a beard just like Mr. St. Pe-ter." It sounded to me as it does to hear men speak of Mr. Moody.

I had known him intimately ten years, when, six weeks before the sur-render of Richmond, we went togeth-er to the Army of the James. We went as Paul and Barnabas journeyed. We had the same objects as they, the same hopes, and Moody certainly had very much of the same faith.

He never lost an opportunity for work. While we waited in the depot at Pittsburgh an angry hackman was cursing vociferously near the platform Moody dropped my arm, drew near him and spoke to him. Presently the swearer was gently talking about his mother. I do not know by what di-vine tact the change was wrought. I remember telling my friend he would get his head broken if he tackled that man, and hearing the same shortly afterward thanking him for his inter-ference and promising meekly to re-member he had a soul to save.

Shortly after this we landed at Fortress Monroe. It was two miles from Hampton. The way was crowded with fugitive slaves. Ragged, famish-ed wretches they appeared to be. Young women carrying naked babies, old men hobbling upon crutches. Such a mass of misery I had never seen be-fore.—The same fine tact which found the hackman's heart served my com-panion here, and he seemed by intui-tion to understand the needs of all. He had a word—the right word—for each. They crowded round us. They turned back to follow us. Two or three times he stopped to preach a five minutes' sermon to them.

Then we reached Hampton. He moved and spoke among the sick as though the special study of his life had been the wants of sick men. The man's humility was as marvelous as his tact. When he was not preaching he was asking questions to get ma-terials for preaching. Morning, noon, and night, I have heard him uttering the same request: "Now tell me some-thing I can use for Christ. Some-thing about the Bible." His friends used to speculate how he could be happy in heaven, where he would find no sinners to convert. Some answer-ed, "He will never get through with asking the angels to tell him some-thing he can use for Christ."

At this time Moody was compara-tively unknown. He was illiterate, and depended almost wholly upon story-telling and the relation of his personal experience in preaching. He is not illiterate now. Seven years of diligent study have made him familiar with the best sermons in our lan-guage. Those are mistaken who say he knows only the English Bible among books.

Shortly after the close of the war he began to realize his imperative need of study. He then began to question books as closely as he had questioned men,—for five to seven hours daily he shut himself up with books, refusing to be interrupted. The result is that few men are more deeply read in the best pulpit literature than he. It is true that the single aim of his studies has been mastery of the Scriptures; but to master these he has recognized his need of learned help.

Shortly after leaving Hampton he was preaching at City Point. In the near vicinity of this place a number of ministers from all parts of the country were gathered. It was a hospital station, and near the front. The num-ber of troops was great. It soon be-came evident that Moody's methods were not wholly acceptable [illegible] brethren who had been in charge of the station. Moody learned it with sorrow. He had been preaching three times a day. The effect had been amazing. A powerful revival was in progress. He said to me, confiden-tially, "We must have no dissension among the Lord's people. Let us put these meetings in charge of ——. We can work outside and help make his meetings successful without seem-ing to interfere." I confess I was in-dignant, but he was not. For days he attended the meetings without speaking once.—He was diligent in speaking and praying with enquirers who remained for that purpose. He was indefatigable in visiting the sick in hospital. It was not long before his sweetness and humility so won the hearts of those who opposed him that they requested him to re-sume charge of the public services, and became to a man, cordial co-workers, cheerfully accepting his leadership.

It is so ungenial to the human mind to do nothing, that if a good occupa-tion be not provided, men will occupy themselves perilously, as in gaming and drinking.

Jesus Paid it All.

A watcher sat by the side of a poor dying girl in a wretched room. The walls were bare, the plaster broken and the bed on which the sufferer lay was only a little straw, covered with a piece of coarse cloth So quiet was the room, that the lady could count every tick of her watch. Outside the rain was pouring in torrents, and at times beating against the window. 'I wish I could sleep," moaned the dying girl; "but I cannot." Had you listen-ed a few minutes later, you would have heard these words sung in a low tone of voice—

"But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed through,
Ere he found his sheep that was lost.
Out in the desert he heard its cry;
Sick and helpless, and ready to die."

The sufferer seemed soothed, and by the time the hymn was ended, the la-dy thought she was asleep. The words, 'Sing it again, please,' showed that she was not; and so, on to the end of the third verse, the hymn was re-peated. 'Is it true?' 'Is what true' what I have been singing? Yes!' 'Do you believe it?' 'I do.' 'Will He save me? I can do nothing now. But you say He knows all about me; more than I could tell Him. Oh! tell me, will He save me now?' 'He will! Listen to what He says.' And so, in the still night, were read to her promise and assurance from God'f own word. 'You must let God do it all; You say yours has been a wasted life; then let Him put Christ's perfect, spotless one in its place. God will look at Him and not at you.' 'O God, I thank Thee,' burst from the lips that soon were to be cold in death. 'Then you are trusting only in Jesus now?' 'Yes, yes; what else am I to trust to? Please sing to me; I can sleep now.' Again and again that verse was sung, and at last she fell into a sound sleep, which lasted for about an hour. When she awoke, there was a change on her face; she was going to meet her God! 'You are still trusting Jesus?' 'Oh yes,' she grasped, 'I am so glad—He —died for—me.' After this she dozed for a little, then suddenly starting, exclaimed in broken accents, 'Jesus said—"Come—rest.' Dear Jesus!' They were her last words here,—she was in His presence as she breathed His name. Gently closing her eyes, the watcher knelt, and humbly gave thanks to God for having been allowed to carry His message of love and peace into that wretched place which He has transformed into a house of joy. "There is joy in heaven over on sin-ner that repenth."

Macauley's Mother.

Lord Macaulay, the great essayist and historian wrote these words: "Children, look in those eyes, listen to that dear voice, notice even the feel-ing of a single touch that is bestowed upon you by that gentle hand! Make much of it while you have that most precious of all good gifts, a loving mother. Read the unfathomable love of those eyes, the kind anxiety of that tone and look, however slight your pain.

In after life you may have friends, fond, dear, kind friends, but never will you have again the inexpressible love and gentleness lavished upon you which none but your mother bestows. Often do I sigh in my struggle with the hard, uncaring world, for the sweet, deep security I felt when of an evening, nestled in her bosom, I lis-tened to some quiet tale, suitable to my age, read in her tender and un-tiring voice. Never can I forget her glances cast upon me when I appear-ed asleep, never her kiss of peace at night Years have passed away since we laid her in the old churchyard, yet still her voice whispers from the grave, her eye watches over me as I visit the spots long since hallowed to the memory of my mother."

Fatalism of Napoleon.

There is a story, told by Count Se-gur, of the Emperor's belief in his des-tiny. Cardinal Fesch had remonstra-ted with him on the recklessness with which he was attacking—in the lan-guage of this venerable ecclesiastic—"men, the elements, religions, earth and heaven together." He dreaded to see him fall. Napoleon vouch-safed no other reply than to take him by the hand and lead him to the win-dow, which he opened. "Do you see that star on high?" asked the Empe-ror of the Cardinal. "No, sire."—"Look well." "Sire, I do not see it" "Well, then, I see it," cried Napoleon. The Cardinal made no answer; he seemed to be dealing with an ambi-tion that already measured the skies. He might have called to mind the impatient exclamation of Napoleon to a courtier who was flattering him.—"Famous, am I? What have I done compared to Christ?" At St. Helena, chastened and sobered by affection, he spoke in a different strain, "Do not tell me Christ was a man. I know men, and He was not one."—The Gal-axy.

Dr. Cairns on Wesley and Methodism.

The well-known and eloquent Scot-tish Presbyterian minister, Dr. Cairns, in the conclusion of his sermon at the opening of the new Wesleyan chapel, in Newcastle on Tyne, England, said.

"I often ask myself what English religion would have been at this day without Methodism, and not least the religion of this northern England, this North-Humber land in the widest sense? If with this we have so hard a battle, what should we have been without it, and without the memory and fruit of all its glorious victories over the world, the flesh, and the de-vil? Whatever our distinctive names may be, Churchmen or Dissenters, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Baptists, or Quakers, we all live to this day, as it were, on the breath of the last century of revival, and are either confessed or unconfessed deb-tors to the wealth it poured, as from some newly discovered world, into the exhausted treasury of faith, and hope, and zeal. What so suitable, then, when God has granted another great revival—one which promises, from its deep swell, not to be a mere local tide, but an ocean gulf-stream, raising the temperature of whole kingdoms, though also connecting itself with this spot as among the first where its rushing sweep and warming power were felt—what so suitable as that in Newcastle a new memorial should arise, associating the recent impulse with the older blessing, and gathering the Churches around the still enduring and growing works of one who must ever be spoken of as, with Whitefield, England's greatest evangelist, and the preserver, under God, to this generation, of all the ben-efits of the Reformation and of Chris-tianity, while he has also proved the founder of the greatest missionary organization which conveys them to the ends of the earth? On what high places of the enemy has this great leader, in body and in spirit, already trodden! and over how many more shall he, and all of us who follow him as he followed Christ, yet trample ere all things be subdued! God grant that this sanctuary may be the scene of many a glorious triumph of this kind! God grant that here the sorest defeats and discomfiture of sin and Satan in the old days of Methodism may be renewed, and that there may be the exultation of joy in heaven, as in the Pentecostal uprearing of the banner of grace over a whole soul delivered from the power of darkness and trans-lated into the kingdom of God's dear Son!"

Watering Places.

Among the fashionable pleasure seekers who will soon take wing and fly to the watering—perhaps we should say brandy and watering—places are the following classes: 1. Those who violate the physical laws nine months of the year, eating glut-tonously and drinking intemperately, and who hope to raise themselves into the sweetness and purity of health during a three months' spree at Sara-toga, at Niagara Falls, at Long Branch, or at some other place of popular resort. They sit up late; they dance all night (unless the gout has a mortgage on the light fantastic toe); they eat indigestible suppers; they drink immense quantities of log-wood and whiskey, and other dye stuffs, and when the season is over they return to their homes with lighter purses and heavier hearts.

2. Politicans meet at such points to make up slates for a prospective can-vass. They are generally sleek, fat, and well-fed men, who look wise, although many of them are otherwise. They punctuate their conversation with oleaginous oaths, and wash their throats with wine. Some of them seem to stagger under the official loads they carry. With exceptional instances, their heads are dispropor-tioned to the size of their waistcoats, and after dinner their speech would not stand the analysis of grammar and good taste. Even the nominations made by such men have a vinous smell, and the pillars that support their platform look like lager-beer casks.

3. Fast men are sure to be present where pleasure has a loose rein. They are fast eaters, fast drinkers, fast drivers, but they are slow to think. Their heaven is a sort of celestial hip-podrome, where they can ride on swift horses around a ring and win the stakes. They can play at cards "pro-fessionally." They are famous, not to say infamous, for making pools, not like the one in Bathsaida, for an-gels never move in them, and they have no healing qualities. The spell-ing of the word should be changed to suit their calling, for they are like tadpoles, they live in the scum; they are amphibious, although the water they use is adultered with rum, and their legs, like those of the tadpoles, seem to come out of their pockets suddenly, after which they hop about in bar-rooms and ball-rooms and even in drawing-rooms, and they become great toads in little puddles. Their motto is "You bet," and they bet on boat races, and on the human race.

4. Fops are at the resort of fashion what dummies are in front of dry-goods stores,—they show what the tailor and the haberdasher can do for a man. Sensible ladies laugh at them and put them on a footing with lap-dogs. We have not space to speak of the matrimonial visitors: of the gorgeous butterflies, whose great trunks are the chrysalides out of which they get their wings; of the invalids seeking health: of the tired toilers from the study and the shop in pursuit of rest and recreation; of the good and noble men and women whose pleasnt faces are a benediction, and whose labors of love are a blessing. They are the only visible angels that move the healing waters.—Christian at Work.

Modes of Salutation.

In England, as our readers well know, the usual mode of greeting is a hearty shake of the hand, with a "Good morning, sir; how do you do?"

The usual salutation at Cairo is, "How do you sweat?" A dry, hot skin being a sure indication of a de-structive ephemeral fever.

Greenlanders have none, and laugh at the idea of one person being supe-rior to another.

Islanders near the Philippines take a person's hand or foot and rub it over their faces.

Laplanders apply their nose against the persons they salute very strong-ly.

In the Straits of the Sound they raise the left foot of the person ad-dressed, pass it gently over the right leg, and thence to the face.

The inhabitants of the Philippines bend very low, placing their hands on their cheeks, and raise one foot in the air, with the knee bent.

The Dutch, who are considered po-lite, have a morning salutation, com-mon among all classes: "Smaakely-keeten," "May you eat a hearty din-ner." Another is: "Hoe waart uwe?" "How do you sail?" adopted, no doubt, in the earlier periods of the Republic, when they were all naviga-tors and fishermen.

Some author has observed, in con-trasting the haughty Spaniard with the frivolous Frenchman, that the pron, st ady gait and inflexible so-lemnity of the former were expressed in his mode of salutation, "Comic esta?" "How do you stand?" while the "Comment vous portez-vous?" "How do you carry yourself?" was equally expressive of the gay motion and incessant action of the latter.

In some parts of Africa a young woman, an intended bride, brings a little water in a calabash, and, kneel-ing down before her lover, desires him to wash his hands. When he has done this the girl, with a tear of joy sparkling in her eye, drinks the wa-ter. This is considered the greatest proof she can give him of her fidelity and attachment.

The Japanese take off a slipper, and the people of Arracun their sandals, in the street, and their stockings in the house, when they salute.

The Negro kings on the coast of Africa salute each other by snapping the middle-finger three times.

The inhabitants of Carmine, when they show particular attachment, open a vein and present their blood to the friend as a beverage.

In Otaheite they rub their noses to-gether.

The Man who Laughs.

No man who has once heartily and wholly laughed can be irreclaimably bad. The man who cannot laugh is only fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils; and his whole life is already a treason and stratagem. The remark of De Maistre that "that wicked man is never comic" is truly wise, as also is the converse, "that a truly witty man is never wicked." A laugh, therefore, to be genuine must flow from a joyous heart and a clear and unfettered conscience. Archdeacon Hare observes that "some of those who have been richest in wit and hu-mor have been among the simplest and kindest hearted of men; and he instances Fuller, Bishop, Earle, La-fontaine, Claudius, and Charles Lamb. This life would be but a dull and monotonous existence were not the ordinary and everyday intercourse of society enlivened by sallies of wit and good humor, and there is probably no enjoyment so innocent out of which we derive the same amount of grati-fication and pleasure as a good, hearty laugh. There is wisdom, then, in a laugh. Philosophers and wise men may exercise their risible muscles without fear of being accounted fools. Laughter and smiles have been favor-ite themes of the poets, who invaria-bly use this metphor when describ-ing nature in her most beautiful and varied aspects. Beauty is never so lovely as when adorned with a smile, and conversation never sits easier upon us than when we now and then discharge ourselves in a symphony of laughter. It is difficult at first to feel "at home" with a comparative stran-ger, however brilliant and learned his conversation may be, until we strike some mutually sympathetic chord. We then know him to be human; he possesses one vulnerable point through which to reach his heart; and if he be capable of appreciating wit, we may not unreasonably conclude that he is also sensitive to other and better influences.—Home Journal.

Dewdrops of Wisdom.

Most people would succeed in small things, if they were not troubled with great ambitions.

It is far easier to acquire a fortune like a knave, than to expend it like a gentleman.

Where true fortitude dwells, loyalty, bounty, friendship and fidelity may be found.

Never despise humble service—when large ships run aground, little boats may pull them off.

If you are a coward, and friends commend you for your courage, it isn't of you they speak; they take you for another.

In seeming opposition to the na-tural course of things, some men rise by their gravity, and others sink by their levity.

Buy not, sell not, where self-respect is bartered, for that once lost, the mainspring of honor is rusted and de-cayed.

Plain men think handsome women want passion, and plain women think young men want politeness; dull wri-ters think all readers devoid of taste, and dull readers think witty writers devoid of brilliancy.

If you love others they will love you. If you speak kindly to them, they will speak kindly to you. Love is repaid with love, and hatred with hatred. Would you hear a sweet and pleasing echo, speak sweetly and pleasantly yourself.

Fortune and futurity are not to be guessed at.

A wise man aims at nothing out of his reach.

A flow of words is no proof of wis-dom.

Begin nothing until you have con-sidered how it is to be finished.

In answer to the query, 'Who are rich?' a writer says: The man with good firm health is rich; so are the parents of vigorous, happy children; so is the wife who has the whole heart of a good husband; so is the maiden whose horizon is not bounded by the 'coming man,' but who has a purpose in life whether she ever meets him or not.

Slander.

The tongue of slander is never tired. In one way or another it man-ages to keep itself in constant em-ployment. Sometimes it drops honey and sometimes gall. It is bitter now and then sweet. It insinuates, or as-sails directly, according to the cir-cumstances. It will hide a curse un-der a smooth word and administer poison in the phrase of love. Like death, it "loves a shining mark." And it is never so voluble and eloquent as when it can blight the hopes of the pure, and break down the character of the brave and strong.—Daniel Schindler.

ODDS AND ENDS.

"I want it nice and strong, and strong and snug like," said the widow, exhuming a fresh pocket handkerchief, and controlled her sobs with difficul-ty. "Oh, that's all right," returned the undertaker, tapping the coffin, "he couldn't get out of it, madam, if he had a mind to.

COULDN'T BRIBE HIM.—A ragged, forlorn looking boy was strolling around the southern depot yesterday smoking the stub of a cigar, when a philanthropist in waiting for a train handed out ten cents and remarked:

'Take it, Bub; I feel sorry for you.'

'No yer don't,' exclaimed the boy, drawing back.

'Why it's a free gift—I don't ask anything for it,' replied the man.

'I know you,' continued the boy, his eyes twinkling; 'you want me to promise to grow up and become President and I ain't going to tie my-self up for any man's ten cents!'—Detroit Free Press.

BOYS, MIND YOUR TEN POINTS.—Fully a thousand first class places are open for a thousand boys who have the following ten qualifications: They must be—1, Honest; 2, Pure; 3, Intelligent; 4, Active; 5, Industrious; 6, Obedient; 7, Steady; 8, Obliging; 9, Polite; 10, Neat. These ten points go toward making up the character of a successful boy. You can imagine one on each finger, and so keep them in mind. They will be worth more than diamond rings, and you will then never be ashamed to "show your hand."—Glad Tidings.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Hobbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
SIX MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 21, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

The Advocate.

There are quite a number of names upon our books whose terms of subscription have expired. We have notified them by the cross mark, and are now sending out bills to delinquents, and in some instances to the preachers with the request that they make collection from those who are due. We hope prompt attention will be given to those bills by the party receiving them. The ADVOCATE, in common with all other church interests, has felt the influence of the depressing times through which we are passing, on account of the great scarcity of money. We are not disposed to complain. We are looking for better times. We are engaged in the Master's work, and we rely upon the Conference and the people to sustain us as they have done in the past. What is needed now, more than anything else, is a little more activity and zeal on the part of preachers and people to place the ADVOCATE in thousands of families who take no religious paper at all.

Look at the Preacher.

There are many reasons why the people should look at the preacher while he is proclaiming the message of life to them. Some of these reasons we will give in brief.

1. Look at the preacher because he is speaking to you. He speaks to all who are present. You do not drop your head or avert your face when a friend or any man speaks to you in a house or the street. Acknowledge by looking that you feel that you are spoken to.

2. Because looking at him is a proper return so far as it goes, for his pains to interest you. He puts himself into communication with you and your attentive look at him is obedience to his virtual solicitation that you be in communication with him.—It is simple justice.

3. It is politeness to look at the preacher when he is preaching to you. You would call one rude and ill-mannered who should avert his face when you attempted to speak to him. Politeness in the social circle should go with you into the sanctuary.

4. It is not only politeness and simple justice, but it is kindness. You can do the preacher service by giving him your attention. He is anxious to instruct or profit you in some way. It will gratify and encourage him to see your eyes fixed upon him while he is delivering God's message.

5. No one can profitably listen to the preacher who does not give him his undivided attention. Looking, hearing and supplication are inseparably linked together in the devout worshiper.

We had the pleasure of attending the Quarterly Meeting on the Rolesville circuit, at Oaky Grove, last Sabbath. The Presiding Elder, Rev. J. P. Moore, was present and preached to the edifying of the people. Father Blake, who resides near the church, was too feeble to attend upon divine service. We saw him at home and spent an hour pleasantly in free conversation with him. Uncle Blake has reached the seventy-sixth year of his age. He has been a Methodist preacher fifty-two years. He is now too feeble to preach, but his mental faculties have been wonderfully preserved. His faith in Christ is strong, and he is cheerful and resigned to the will of the Father. He is ready when the Master shall call him.

Three of the most important District Conferences in the State are to be held this week. The Raleigh, Hillsboro and Shelby Conferences all meet on Thursday, the 22d instant.—The Conference for this District meets at Oxford—that of the Hillsboro District at Pittsboro, and that of Shelby District at Shelby. We should be glad to attend them all, and regret that they convene at the same time. May blessings divine descend upon all the preachers and delegates who may attend, and may the Church be greatly strengthened where they are to be held.

Dr. Craven was in the city the past week in attendance upon the educational convention. The Doctor is looking well, and is gratified at the prospects for the Fall session of Trinity College. See his announcement in another column. A rare opportunity is offered by him to a limited number of young men of good moral character who desire an education.

In view of the fact of the great scarcity of money, our preachers may forward the names of subscribers to be settled for in thirty or sixty days Will not each preacher send us a club of ten subscribers on this proposition?

An Obligation: Its Prompt Discharge.

At this season of the year when money is scarce, or when the period ical complaints of its scarcity are made, the claims of the ministry for support are apt to be overlooked or their consideration postponed until "a more convenient season," when the crops shall have been harvested, the granaries filled and the cotton ginned and sold. We fear that too many of our people do not properly appreciate the nature of the obligation that rests upon them to yield a liberal and prompt support to those who go in and out before them and minister to them in sacred things. Too many regard what they give as a gratuitous offering to the minister—a benevolence in which they indulge and not as a debt which they discharge We have heretofore attempted to show that the support of the preacher is a duty as binding as any moral obligation that rests upon men; and that when one engages to contribute a certain amount, or is assessed by those to whom the work of assessment is remitted by the church to which one belongs, a debt is incurred as binding in conscience, if not in law, as any pledge, promise or engagement made in the course of commercial transactions. An honest man will meet his engagements in business, if it is possible for him to do so, no matter to what inconvenience and sacrifice he is forced to put himself and family. A dishonest man, too, keeps his engagements, although it be through policy; for he knows that his relation to the commercial world is such that quick 'notice of protest' goes not only to drawer and endorser, but is heralded throughout the fraternity of merchants, to the injury if not destruction of his standing and credit. With no less fidelity should a man who engages, tacitly or expressly, to support the ministry, observe his obligation and discharge it. If he does not do so, the debt remains in Heaven's book of accounts. In Bank parlance, Heaven is the Drawer, the minister the Payee, the Church member the Drawee and Acceptor. If the 'acceptance' goes to protest, Heaven's courts ring with the 'notice' and in the esteem of Heaven and its angels blight comes upon the acceptor's moral credit.

The obligation to support the ministry not only exists, but its prompt discharge is a duty. Ministers are rarely ever so well paid that they do not need what is promised, as soon as it becomes due, and if it is not received then, sore inconvenience results. To revert to our analogy from mercantile affairs, a debtor has no right, of his own motion, to extend the time of payment of a debt after maturity; extension of credit is solely the province of the creditor. The creditor may be depending upon receipt of his debt to discharge obligations which he himself has incurred, and, if disappointed, may be forced to commercial disgrace and bankruptcy. The withholding of a debt overdue is a more serious thing than it is ordinarily regarded—it is next to robbery, for it is depriving the creditor of something which the law can not fully restore to him. The value which a particular creditor may place upon money that is due him, is not measured by the standard which the law, intended for general application, uses. The inconvenience of not receiving at a certain time what is due from a debtor, is something for which the law cannot always compensate the creditor. The law will give him six per cent per annum: the whole proceeds of the debt itself might be necessary to avert starvation, silence the dull thud of the sheriff's hammer, or roll back the gloom of bankruptcy.

So to the minister, it is important that he should receive 'his own' promptly, and not be expected to wait until the close of the year Full payment then will not compensate him for the inconvenience, sacrifice and annoyance to which his debtors' delays subject him. There are continual demands made upon the minister which he must meet, if he would retain his character for integrity and prevent reproach attaching to his calling. He must live—and promises do not clothe the body or satisfy the cravings of appetite. Let those who owe, pay what they owe him or make their promises, in some way, negotiable.

Effects of Christianity.

The conduct of individual members of the Church of Christ should be such as to magnify and render attractive the christian religion. It is Bishop Huntington, we believe, who makes the following pointed and important suggestions bearing upon the want of the Church at the present day. He says in speaking of the Church:

"We want in you, Christianity that is Christianity across counters, over dinner tables, behind the neighbor's back, as in his face. We want in you a Christianity that we can find in the temperance of the meal, in moderation of dress, in respect for authority, in amiability at home, in veracity and simplicity in mixed society. Rowland Hill used to say he would give very little for the religion of a man whose very dog and cat were not the better for his religion. We want fewer gossiping, slandering, gluttonous, peevish, conceited, bigoted Christians.

To make them effectual, all our public religious measures, institutions, benevolent agencies, missions, need to be managed on a high toned, scrupulous and unquestionable tone of honor, without evasion, or partisanship, or overmuch of the serpent's cunning. In short the two arms of the church—justice and mercy—must be stretched out, working for man, strengthening the brethren, or else your faith is vain, and ye are yet in your sins."

Editorial Notes.

The defiant, swaggering manner in which Mr Beecher speaks of his late trial and present public opinion in regard to himself, would not become even a man of the world who should escape conviction or acquittal by a mistrial occasioned by a divided jury. Much less does it become Mr. Beecher, who if he be innocent, should be subdued and chastened by the severe ordeal through which he has passed. His late boasts and antics give rise to suspicions among those who are inclined to believe in his purity. Pure, devout and pious men when they rest under imputations that blacken their names, recognize the chastening hand of Providence, and far from boasting of their purity, vaunting their honesty, ridiculing and abusing their accusers, are apt to be thoughtful, self examining and subdued in spirit. But—in the eyes of his congregation, Beecher is sui generis—he does not move in the same orbit with other people and the common tests applied to men of common mould are not suited to him. There is but one Henry Ward Beecher of Plymouth church: The world will not suffer if there should be no more after his kind.

The work of the devoted revivalists, Messrs Moody and Sankey, who left London last week, has been wonderful both in amount and effect. While it has not been sensational, in the common acceptance of that phrase, it has produced a greater sensation than anything that has happened for many years in London. From that great centre of civilization and religious thought, the influence of their work has radiated and affected the Church and religious feeling in all directions and in all countries. That two men, without the accessories of brilliant talents, theological training or high reputation, should go to the great Metropolis and with their plain words and simple manner stir all classes of people, rich and poor, high and low, laborers artisans, and professional men, and even compel the interest and admiration of the royal family of England and its noble branches, seems strange and unaccountable except upon the ground that God is with them, guiding and giving to their words a power and significance which mere ordinary language does not possess.

The number of meetings held by Messrs. Moody and Sankey in London during the past four months, with the aggregate of attendance, is: In Camberwell, 60 meetings, attended by 480,000 people; in Victoria, 45 meetings, attended by 40,000; in the Opera House, 60 meetings, attended by 330,000; in Bow, 60 meetings, attended by 600,000; and in Agricultural Hall, 60 meetings, attended by 720,000. The amount of money expended for buildings, printing, stewards, &c., is $140,000. Messrs Moody and Sankey have declined to receive any compensation from the committee.

At the Round Lake camp-meeting last week, Bishop Kavanaugh, Dr. McFerrin and Dr. Clark, of Savannah, were present. In the afternoon a band of the principal singers in the encampment met before the cottage where the Bishop was entertained, and gave a vocal serenade in his honor. After several songs had been rendered, he was called upon for a speech and responded, expressing his high appreciation of the compliment paid him. He said that he was a son of song, and yet could not sing; his soul was freighted with melody, but his vocal organs were not tuned to express it. Since his former visit to Round Lake he had told the people everywhere he went that he had never heard such singing as charmed his soul at that meeting. He once tried to sing himself; it was on his way to an appointment He struck up lustily, but the birds, who were his only auditors, took to their wings as though some new sort of animal had found his way there whose tones they could not comprehend, and they had better get out of the way.

Since that day he had not attempted to sing; but though he could not join them now, he hoped by and by to join them above!

Dr. Curry, of the New York Advocate, now on a visit to Europe, was present at the Irish Conference at Belfast. He spoke for an hour or more on the fruitful subject of Methodism and particularly of American Methodism; and yet, in his long speech, an abstract of which appears in the N. Y. Advocate covering three columns, he did not allude to Southern Methodism or its work. He is hide-bound and prejudiced to a great er degree than we thought he was, with all the bitterness we knew he possessed. He ignores the Southern church entirely and if the Irish brethren have not heard of us through other sources, they are in a lamentable ignorance about our existence. Reading Dr. Curry's speech one might think that his scheme of "disintegration and absorption" had been accomplished for so long a time that the memory of the giant work had faded.

Dr. Curry pays the following compliment (?) to the Southern people:

"Of the eight millions of white people who inhabit the same State nearly one half are almost as illiterate and helpless as are the ex-slaves themselves. Slavery affected the white race not less disastrously than the colored. So that the people of the South are in no condition to provide for the religious wants of their own neighbors; and our Methodism, having its chief strength in the North, is endeavoring to do whatever it may for their benefit. But it is a work of such magnitude, and so beset with difficulties, that only faith in God could make it all hopeful. But in the name of God we have undertaken the work; and in his name we are determined to go forward."

We have only to say that, if its purpose is to civilize and humanize the two races of the South, the Northern church would more speedily accomplish its mission if it would send down to us some better specimens of intelligent, refined, civilized and christian manhood than the majority of those who have been, up to this time, forwarded to these dark outposts.

THE POPE A PRISONER.—Pope Pius IX, like all his predecessors, has a shewd way of exciting the sympathies of the credulous Catholics throughout the world, and levying contributions for the building up of his power. His latest ruse is the pl a that he is imprisoned in the Vatican by the enemies of his Holiness and the church. The description, however, given by a correspondent of the New York Advocate, of the Vatican and its elegant appointments, reveals the fact that the prison life of the Pope is far different from that which former martyrs have undergone in the dungeon—keeps of castles, or the dreary isles of the sea. The letter says: "The truth is the Vatican is a magnificent rus in urbe. Within it are two beautiful gardens, one of which, at set times, is open to the public, while the other, and far the larger of the two, with which is also connected quite a little forest of trees, is reserved for the Pope himself, and those that are associated with him. It is as large, I have been told, as the whole city of Turin was up to the establishment of the present kingdom of Italy. It contains eleven thousand apartments of various sizes. As a specimen, the corridor of the Library is one thousand and seventy two feet long. Such books, paintings, sculpture, curiosities, as are stored up in its ample rooms! I visited it after I had examined some of the other treasure palaces and churches of the baptized pagan city; and with all that I had seen, wonder struck me as I crossed its threshold, and grew upon me as I wandered from room to room.

For four hours a day a part of this palace city is thrown open to visitors. Then the Pope abandons that part; but when it is closed to outsiders he can enjoy himself therein. Beautiful walks! Gorgeous halls! Mighty rooms! I have been told, too, that in the portion which is not thrown open to public visitors six or seven thousand of his retainers live with him. He has also his three hundred Swiss Guards in their gayly colored dresses, fifty of the National Guard, and one hundred gens d' arms.

And thus and here poor Pius is a prisoner!"

Bishop Paine.

The following letter to the Western Methodist from our beloved senior Bishop will be read with interest by all our people. We trust that our venerable Father in Israel may be fully and speedily restored to health, and that the Church may continue to enjoy the influence of his able rule and deep piety. This is his letter:

Dear Brother: This note is intended to answer the inquiries of many brethren and friends who wish to know the state of my health.

I was taken ill on the 11th of April, in New Orleans, but left there immediately for home. At Mobile I was compelled to call for medical treatment, and Drs. Webb and Mastin promptly attended and administered to my relief; and I left at night for home on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. The trip aggravated my disease greatly and I got home quite ill. I thought I had suffered in former sickness as much as one can endure and survive, but my agony during nearly two weeks was beyond all I had felt before, and my life hung in a balance. And now, although I suffer but little acute pain, and am gaining in strength, yet I am still too feeble to leave my house and yard. Once only, I have ridden out in a carriage, and this is my second attempt to write a letter af er ten weeks of confinement. From the nature of my disease—which I fear will be chronic—my physicians and friends enjoin it upon me to desist, for the present, from attempting to travel and labor—"to be quiet and try to get well." They accuse me of bringing on my suffering by doing too much. I feel that I have done but little, and done it very imperfectly. Whether I shall be able to serve the cause of my Master effectively in any way hereafter, I leave to Him "whose I am, and whom I serve." His will is mine. I hope to be able to get out to a few meetings, and to attend the sessions of the two Annual Conferences—North Mississippi and Mississippi—assigned to me by my colleagues. Should I be unable to do so, I am assured my place will be supplied by one of them. Pray for me, as I do for all who love our Lord Jesus Christ—to whom be glory forever! Your brother,

R. PAINE.

Aberdeen, Miss., June 27, 1875.

The publishers, Messrs. Nelson and Phillips, have placed the management of the Northern Christian Advocate temporarily in the hands of Rev. O. H. Warren, the assistant editor.

Subscribe for the Advocate. Price, $2.20 per annum, in advance.

Debate between Rev May and Rev. Henkle at Newton, N. C. on July 6th 1875

MESSRS. EDITORS: If you will allow me, I will give your readers a brief account of the discussion on the day above noted. The proposition was,—"That no man can pray acceptably to God until he is a child of God." Tho' Mr. Henkle affirmed the above, yet Mr. May led off in debate, and for one hour, which was the time agreed on for the length of each speech, he ably sustained his position by showing from the Scriptures that prayer offered by a penitent sinner was acceptable to God. I thought, and so did many others present, that the point was clearly, conclusively, and unanswerably sustained. Mr. Henkle followed. He said Mr. May had quoted and commented on the darkest and most mysterious parts of Scripture—(they were such as the Publican, Cornelius, the Thief, the Jailor, &c.—) such as were not suitable to discuss before a promiscuous congregation. Then, without further reply to Mr May's arguments, he commented awhile on irrelevant texts, as Rom. 10th chap. 14th v. and consumed the rest of his hour in reading from a book, the author of which he withheld alike from his opponent and his audience, tho' the author's name was called for. Of course Mr. May denounced the book as spurious, and charged his opponent with being hard pressed to use it in such way. (What he read from it was a mere ridicule of Methodism.)

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock they met again. Mr. May reiterated his points and sent them with convincing force upon his audience. (I heard of one clear conversion that day from Henkleism to Methodism.) He also at this hour, read from Dr. Bachman's sermon, that part of it which states that these Henkleites went off from the Lutheran Church, under the leadership of one weak and ignorant David Henkle, (he was father to this P. C. Henkle,) that they are an insignificant sect, that their peculiar doctrines are Baptismal regeneration, the literal presence of the body and blood of Christ in the sacrament, &c. &c. This reading produced a 'squall,' and one Henkleite preacher in the congregation cried out that Dr. B's sermon was false. Mr. May having finished, Mr. Henkle arose and said, that he was physically unable to defend the doctrines of his church, and proposed to put in a substitute. Mr. May replied, that he would accept of no substitute, that Methodism around Newton had been ridiculed and misrepresented for years, that this man Henkle had done more of it than any one else, that he was held by his church as its chief and champion, and that now Henkle was the very man he was after, as well as the doctrines of his church, and that he would rather have a victory over Henkle himself than any six Henkleite preachers in this land; that therefore he would accept of no substitute. But, that he would suspend the debate till Sept. or Oct. or Nov. for Mr. H's benefit, otherwise he should claim the victory now; that Mr. Henkle might take his choice, either continue the debate now, or postpone it till fall, or dismiss the congregation on his own responsibility; that if he did the latter he, May, should claim the victory. Henkle did dismiss the congregation, May did proclaim aloud from the stand that the victory was his. In dispersing some of the crowd shouted, Hurrah for May!

Yours, &c.

R. G. BARRETT.

MESS. EDITORS: In honor to the Great Head of the Church, and for the encouragement of the laborers in God's vineyard, you may say through the Advocate that the "Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad." On Saturday night, the 19th of June, Rev. B. York, D. D., and I met to hold a protracted meeting at Franklinsville. The hearts of the people having been more or less prepared, by the long and diligent labors of our beloved Bro. Curtis, Sabbath school Superintendent, and the prayers of God's people, the Word was made quick and powerful; sinners trembled, the tears of penitence were seen; the cry of mercy was heard, songs of praise by the new born were sung, and there was weeping and rejoicing among the people of God. It was not, as it was on the day of Pentecost, but gradual. Like leaven, moving slowly and in every direction, until every family was more or less under its influence. Shouts of new born souls were heard in the factories, in the dwellings, and in every part of the town.

Bro. York remained with us two days and preached with his usual zeal and power. Many a star, we trust, will be added to his crown from his labors at that meeting. After Bro. York left, we had no help in the ministry, but very good help in the altar. We closed the meeting on Thursday night, the 8th of July. Seventy four professed to have found peace with God. Fifty two joined the church and others, I think, will join soon.—To God be all the praise!

There is one more incident I will relate, in part, hoping it will have a good effect. Theodocia Sumner, daughter of Matthew Sumner, was taken sick on the 12th day of the meeting; was in trouble also about her soul. Three days later she professed religion; as bright a convert as I ever have seen, perfectly satisfactory to herself, and to all that saw her; even the unconverted said they had never seen anything to equal it. Her father had once been a consistent christian, but had become cold and neglectful in his duties: she turned to him, as I was told, and said, "Pa, you recollect when I was a little girl you had me to kneel by you and repeat a prayer after you. You also would read a chapter from the Bible and have prayers in your family, but you have quit all that. Now I want you to do better, and attend to these things again, and try to get to heaven."

Four days after her conversion she died in the full triumphs of faith, leaving a father, mother, two sisters and one brother, to mourn their loss, but to rejoice at her eternal gain. Five children had gone before her to the spirit land.

Her funeral was preached by the writer. We laid her body in the grave to rest until the resurrection morn.

Z. RUSH.

Trinity College, N. C., July 8th, 1875.

My Last Appeal.

Several months ago I requested the ministers of our State to mention the Orphan work to their congregations and to forward the cheerful contributions of the people. A few faithful shepherds, of different denominations, promptly gave us their cordial co-operation and manifested that "fellowship of suffering" which the Scriptures describe as a necessary preparation for the duties of this life and for the enjoyment of the next. Some still intend to cooperate when, life Felix, they shall have "a convenient season." But the greater part have shown no inclination to visit the fatherless in their affliction." And, strange to tell, the sternest refusals were made by some whose churches are represented on our roll book, and in somes cases, by the very men who have sent the most piteous appeals for the admission of members of their own congregations. Even a prominent Mason took the liberty of sending an orphan to Oxford, but refused to take the trouble to send the names of five persons who wished to subscribe for the Orphan's Friend On one side I am oppressed by the large number of orphans now suffering and asking help; on the other, I am chilled by the freezing coldness with which the work is treated by many who claim to be (and in some cases are) our best men. What shall I do? When the people of a great State, and their leaders, attempt to throw the responsibility of their benevolent work upon a single individual, his duty is not to accept it, but to step aside and let it rebound upon the people. I have therefore determined to retire from the Orphan work at the expiration of my present official term, and sooner if a suitable successor can be secured. The Orphans have rights which all good people are bound to defend, and the people shall stand face to face with their duty to the needy sons and daughters of the dead. I now make one final request of ministers and of the presiding officers of Masonic Lodges and other benevolent societies. I ask them to inform me by letter when and where the claims of poor and promising orphans may be laid before their people.

J. H. MILLS.

Religious Brevities

Rev. George G. Smith proposes to write a history of Methodism in Georgia to be published next Spring.—Bishop Pierce will fully review, edit and add to the work before it goes to the press. The first Georgia Conference was held by Bishop Asbury in 1788.

The total number of churches in New York of all denominations is 379. The Protestant Episcopal stands first in point of number of churches, aggregating 76. The Methodist Episcopal comes next with a total of 49; then the Roman Catholic with 46; Presbyterian 42; Baptist 33; Jewish 26; Dutch Reformed 25; Lutheran 21; African Methodist 9; United Presbyterian 7; Congregational 6; Universalist 5; Reformed Presbyterian 5; Unitarian 4; Friends 3: Reformed Episcopal 1; miscellaneous 21.

Rev. Father Boehm, of the New Jersey Conference, who preached the Centennial Sermon at the Old Dutch Church on the 27th ult., is over 100 years of age and has known or seen every President and Methodist Bishop from Washington and Asbury to Grant and Haven.

A gracious revival of religion has been in progress in Marietta, Georgia, under the conduct of Rev. W. F. Glenn.

Dr. Carlisle has been elected President of Wofford College, S. C., in place of Dr. Shipp who has gone to Vanderbilt University. Rev. W. W. Duncan takes the chair of instruction vacated by Dr. Shipp.

It is said that sixty members of the North Georgia Conference have neglected this year to take up Domestic Missionary collections, or at least have reported nothing to the Secretary.

We regret to learn by letter from Rev. W. S. Black, of the death of Sister Gibbs, wife of Bro. J. T. Gibbs pastor of Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, which occurred on the 15th inst She was a lady of rare qualities of head and heart and many will be saddened at this announcement. Bro. Gibbs has the prayers of his brethren in his sore affliction.

EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION. — This body met in this city on the 14th inst. and though the attendance was small, the session was pleasant and profitable. We will give an extended account of the meeting in our next issue.

The Shelby BANNER has entered upon its fifth volume, and shows sprightliness and ability. We wish it long life. Shelby is happy in having two such papers as the BANNER and AURORA.

Trinity College

The entire expense in the regular course is $90 for five months. In the Preparatory, it is from $75 to $85. For the purpose of aiding young men of limited means, arrangements have been made by which $60, in advance, will pay the board, tuition and fees for five months. This aid can be given to twenty-five students. This aid will be given only to such as produce satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and industrious habits. Those who wish to avail themselves of this favor can correspond with me on the subject.

July 15th, 1875. B. CRAVEN

THE SALISBURY INTELLIGENCER.—This paper has passed from the control of Mr A. K. Murchison into the hands of Messrs Belo & Tayloe, lately of the Lexington Central. We are well acquainted with Mr. Belo and have met his partner: they are young men of enterprise, and judging from their initial number last week, will give Salisbury a live paper to work in concert with its excellent neighbor, the Watchman.

RALEIGH SENTINEL.—Johnston Jones, Esq., formerly of the Charlotte Observer, now a practising attorney of this city, has taken charge of the Sentinel during the absence of Mr. Turner upon the convention campaign in Orange. Mr. Jones is well known to newspaper readers in the State as an accomplished and forcible writer, and the Sentinel under his charge will be a strong party paper for the Conservatives.

CONCORD SUN.—We see from our State exchanges that the Concord SUN, formerly edited and owned by Chas. F. Harris, Esq., now deceased, is to be revived under the control of Messrs Everitt & Nelson. We are well acquainted with Mr. Everitt, and the announcement that he is to become connected with the editorial fraternity gives us unfeigned pleasure. He is a young lawyer of fine talent and a gentleman of cultivation and scholarly attainment, and we confidently expect that the SUN under his management will shine with unwonted light. We give him and his partner a cordial greeting.

THE CHARLOTTE DEMOCRAT. — This sterling paper commenced last week the 24th year of its publication. It is said to be the "best paying" paper in the State; at any rate, it is one of the most readable. Bro. Yates says he sees no reason why it should not be published for 24 years longer (nor do we if he remains at its head) but complains that he is growing tired of politics and public life. He says in his independent way: "We make no promises for the future only to say that we expect to continue to manage the Democrat to please ourself, believing that by pursuing that course we will please the largest number of our readers."

THE ORPHANS.—During the heated term and in view of the slim receipts at the Orphan Asylum, Mr. Mills, the excellent superintendent, has been visiting several places and giving concerts with twelve of the orphan inmates of the Asylum, six boys and six girls, ranging from eight to thirteen years of age. On Friday evening, of week before last, they were at Cary and on Saturday evening at Apex, at both of which places they were greeted with large and appreciative audiences. They spent Sunday in Apex with the hospitable people of that place, and on Monday morning of last week, came to Raleigh where they gave an entertainment at night, in Metropolitan Hall. The hall was crowded at 8 o'clock. After a few remarks from Mr. Mills, setting forth the aims and results of the Asylum, the exercises were opened with a song entitled "Secret Prayer," which was rendered in excellent style and was well received. Other songs, solo and choruses, and recitations followed making the entertainment very pleasant and impressive. Rev. Mr. Mangum, of this city, in a short address appealed to the sympathies and pockets of the audience for a liberal contribution towards the support of the Asylum. A collection was taken up and we learn a gratifying amount of money received.

COTTON STATES CONGRESS.—This organization, which has for its object the commercial independence of the cotton growing States and the advancement of agriculture, manufacturing and trade generally, met in this city on last Tuesday.—Its session last year was held in Atlanta, Ga. There were representatives present from Iowa, Arkansas, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina, Virginia, Louisiana and from our own State. Col. D. E. Butler, the president of the Congress, called the body to order in the Commons Hall and soon a committee appeared escorting Gov. Brogden, who welcomed the delegates to the capital of North Carolina. The address of Gov. Brogden was well timed, sensible and patriotic. President Butler responded happily and to the point, paying a high tribute to the noble State in whose capitol the Congress was assembled. Mr. Fab. H. Busbee, of this city, was introduced to the Congress and on behalf of the Mayor, J. H. Separk, and our citizens, extended to the delegates a welcome to our city. Dr. Maxwell, of Tennessee, responded on behalf of the Congress.

President Butler gave a brief history of the organization and its objects. It was organized in Atlanta in 1873, with a view of bettering the condition of the people of the cotton growing States—to enable the Southern people to cut loose from the credit system that had been so ruinous to the farmers of the South—to teach them to till the soil by their own exertions, and to bring about direct trade between our Southern ports and the marts of England.

The Congress considered Statistics, Cotton Factories, Direct Trade, Agricultural Bureaus, improved agricultural implements and machinery, the best means of bringing about a close intercourse between the South and West and South-west, &c., &c.

The next session of the Congress will be held at Nashville, Tenn.

By invitation of Dr. Grissom, the courteous gentleman who superintends the conduct of the Asylum for the Insane, the delegates visited that Institution and were conducted through its different departments, grounds, &c., and were entertained at the close of their visit by refreshments provided by the matron of the Institution. A banquet was given at the Yarboro House by the Board of Trade and citizens of Raleigh.

North Carolina Notes.

— Charlotte is "a bad thing on ice"—manufacturing. The Ice Machine, Steam Engine, house and lot are advertised to be sold at auction on the 13th August next. There was too much BRAIN in that enterprise for it to succeed.

— The Charlotte DEMOCRAT suggests to Col. Johnston that he ought to resign or transfer to an alderman the duties of the Mayoralty of Charlotte during the Convention campaign, (Mayor J. being a candidate.) Generally, Bro. Yates says, "we do not care whether our notes about city affairs is acceptable or not to office holders, but we desire always to be particular in making SUGGESTIONS, especially to those for whom we did not vote."

— The Charlotte DEMOCRAT is offering one year to the person sending the largest watermelon during the season to its office. That offer ensures a summer supply for Bro. Yates' office force.

— Crops in Stanly county remarkably fine.

— Catawba wheat crop the best since the war.

— There is a promising crop prospect in the Danbury section.

— An Edenton sloop landed 1,500 North Carolina water melons at Norfolk on Monday.

— Gov. Vance will deliver his "Scattered Nation" at Fayetteville.

— Mr. P. P. Ruffin has been appointed agent of the N. C. R. R. at Hillsboro.

— Mr. Elias Snell, aged 87 years and 10 months, died in Cabarrus county on the 10th inst.

— Master Mark Bridgers, son of Hon. R. R. Bridgers, of Wilmington, died at Annapolis Naval Academy on the 9th inst, aged 16 years.

— Charlotte has eleven stores in course of completion. A large number of smaller houses are also going up in that city.

— The Annual meeting of the stockholders of the N. C. R. R. was held at the Court House last Thursday.

Hon. D. F. Caldwell presided.

Thos M Holt, of Alamance, Dr. R J Haywood, of Raleigh, Moses L Holmes, of Salisbury, and Donald McRae, of Wilmington were elected directors, and W A Smith of Johnston, S H Wiley of Salisbury, R Barringer of Charlotte, John McDonald of Concord, N H D Wilson of Greensboro, H W Fries and R J. Patterson of Salem, and W R Albright of Alamance, were appointed on the part of the State.

The principal matter of discussion was a proposition offered by the directors to purchase in exchange for first mortgage bonds, a sufficient number of the construction bonds to give the stockholders a controlling interest in the road. It was proposed to buy these bonds at 50 cents on the dollar. This proposition elicited considerable discussion, being favored by Messrs. Wilson, Smith, Caldwell and Holt, and opposed by Messrs McAden, Batchelor and Graham. A compromise was finally effected by embracing private stockholders, who might feel disposed to offer their stock under this arrangement at 50 cents The proposition finally passed.

W. A. Smith was re-elected President by the Directors.—GREENSBORO PATRIOT.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE, Staunton, VA.—We take pleasure in directing attention to the advertisement of this popular Seminary for the education of young ladies. It is located in the city of Staunton at the Philadelphia Exhibition. The local government of Staunton is good and the Shenandoah Valley, in one of the healthiest climates in the world where every breeze contributes to the physical vigor of its pupils. It presents attractions unsurpassed in the South. It is conducted by over Twenty able and accomplished Teachers and Officers. Its Buildings are home-like and elegant, grounds attractive, scenery grand.

The Last Session of this School was attended by pupils from 17 different States. One of the laudable aims of this School will be to require its pupils to practice economy, especially in dress. To this end a simple uniform is worn. In this Institution no unnecessary bills are allowed and the expenses to Parents and Guardians are to be kept within the lowest possible amount With these advantages we are not surprised that this popular Institution draws its patronage from Maryland and Pennsylvania to Texas. It is endorsed by a host of distinguished friends and patrons throughout the bounds of the South.

Our columns this week attest the esteem in which the ADVOCATE is held as an advertising medium. We direct attention to the following:

Kenmore University High School, Amherst C. H., Va. We know Mr. Strode at College where he was distinguished for his scholarly attainments and have no doubt his school bears the impress of his abilities.

Trinity College is too well known in this State to need any endorsement from us. The new chapel, planned by Dr. Craven, is said to be the most perfect and scientifical y constructed audience room in the South.

Raleigh Female Seminary. F. P. Hobgood, Principal, is an Institution of which our Baptist friends are justly proud and to those who cannot send to our Methodist Colleges we commend the Seminary as worthy of their patronage.

Graham High School, Rev. D. A. Long, Principal, has a high place among preparatory schools.

Rock Spring Seminary, presided over by our friend, D. Matt Thompson, Esq., offers many advantages to those seeking good instruction.

Prof. H. W. Reinhart advertises Thomasville Female College. Prof. R. was formerly connected with the Raleigh Seminary and is an instructor of first-class ability. Thomasville is a pleasant, healthy and moral community.

H. Mahler, Esq. wishing to enlarge his store desires to dispose of his present stock of goods and offers bargains to those wanting jewelry, gold or silver ware. Mr. Mahler's representations, in his dealings, may be relied upon implicitly

We direct attention to the advertisement of the Shapley Engine, for sale by Julius Lewis & Co. of this city. It is said to possess superior advantages, especially in the construction of the boiler and is being widely introduced. We have before us a circular presenting its recommendations and containing high testimonials from numerous parties in different sections of the country. Send for circulars.

The University of North Carolina is soon to be reopened, to the great joy of North Carolinians. The faculty is able, the situation good and everything promises well for the Institution. See the advertisement.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written on one side of the sheet. All letters should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In sending money, all amounts should be sent in the form of a draft, post office order or check. The post office address, Post Office order can be deducted from the amount unless otherwise specified it will be at the sender's risk.

General News.

Gen. Phil Sheridan left for Rome on the 7th inst.

The Centennial Commissioners to the Philadelphia Exhibition have arrived.

Wm. J. Hickory of E. M. Pettengill at Co. has secured lot manufacturing distilled

Hon. Asa Biggs formerly a commissioner of the U. S. Court committed suicide in that city on account of financial troubles.

The Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance of Providence, 31 representatives present.

The recent flooding damaged the crop of Mississippi over two million of the amount of $16 000,000.

The annual encampment exercises of the Michigan, July 1, 101 persons

Mr. Motley is London celebrated the Master of Schenck presided and

The Democrats have invited the National Convention to meet in

The Philadelphia newspaper was unknown a few years ago now it boasts of

The Democratic people of California have nominated Gov. W. E. Lovett Supreme Court Commissioner.

The Philadelphia's 3,500 factories paid wages of dollars to one hundred thousand workmen.

Pennsylvania will have a Temperance ticket. Rev. Robert Andiv Brown, candidate for Governor.

The Congress of Mexico has granted railroad companies with $15 000 per mile, to a railroad from the city of Mexico to the Grande.

The question to be used in the construction of the Centennial buildings will aggregate 1,000 tons, of which more than 500 tons will be wrought.

Alfred Walker, who murdered Mayor of the South Carolina Constitution, has been sentenced to be hung on the

It is said that James Gordon Bennett has paid the expense of the fitting out of the vessel for the Arctic expedition, under Lieut. Greely and Alton Young incur the

The receipts appropriated $24,500 for representation at the Philadelphia Centennial Exhibition by the government of Tennessee will be expended independently $16 130 in cash and six

A branch of Syracuse University has given $50,000 to be expended for the purpose of sending a delegation of students to Europe at once and the selection of books.

The Educational Association, of which A. T. Harris of St. Louis is the secretary, and held its fifteenth annual meeting in Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, the 3d, 4th, and 5th days of August, 1875.

Two hundred and ninety-nine additional cases were put into operation the present year, the largest number of the new cases, which gets thirty-eight of the Pacific Railroads in Kansas, nine in Arkansas, and one in Nebraska, and one in the Indian Territory.

Bancroft calls the Mississippi the central river of the Union. The bond is the river, Captain Eads having before him his contract to improve it.

A weekly entitled "The Axe," has made its appearance in Knoxville, Tenn. It is edited by C. A. Charlton, late editor of the Knoxville Whig, assisted by G. H. Bowers, formerly editor of the Knoxville Chronicle, who supplies the same position to the new paper.

It is announced that by the first of next January we will be running from the Ohio River to the Mississippi and from the Cincinnati Southern railway. The great tunnel on the Cincinnati Southwestern part of Lincoln county is completed, and by the first of January can be through it.

Marriages.

Married in Charlotte N. C. on July the 8th inst. by Rev. J. J. Carraway, Mr. Joseph C. Russell to Miss Maggie M. Couder.

Deaths.

Complimentary notices of twenty lines are in order without charge. The excess over two hundred words is charged for at the rate of ten cents per line. Count the lines and the excess words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rate.

Archibald N. infant son of John A. and S. Wilson was born January 17th and died June 27th 1875.

Gone gone, little Archie is gone
To his cold and silent tomb,
But to us it is not cheerless—
Heaven dispels our every gloom.

Gone, gone, little Archie is gone,
Legions from us to be blest;
Back with its pleasures,
But Archie is now at rest.
Fayetteville, N. C. D. McC.

Died of drops, in Davidson county on 3rd inst. Mrs. Martha Hasseltine Evans, age 26 years. She professed religion, and united with the M. E. Church, South, in 1869, under the ministry of Rev. J. W. Lewis, and married Junius K. Evans Sept. 16th 1869.

Sister Evans was a pleasant christian lady devoted to her husband, and especially attached to the church. In her life was demonstrated the beneficial results of proper youthful training, which she received in every department, which now reflects honor on her parents, and endears them in her death.

She was the daughter of H. N. and Eve Reitman, and sister of J. F. Reitman of N. C. Conference. She leaves a husband and little daughter, the only child. Her end was peaceful and happy, saying to all "meet me in Heaven."

C. H. PHILLIPS.

Sister Isabella F. Douglass, daughter of S. P. and Mary Sharpe and sister of our esteemed brother Rev. J. M. Sharpe, of Nashville Conference was born March 22nd 1835, was married to B. F. Douglass Aug. 12th 1856 and died in the June 19th 1875. She professed religion and joined the M. E. Church, about twenty-five years ago.

She was invalid for ten years during which time she exhibited a great deal of fortitude and patience. Her life was a living testimonial, on the duties and excellency of christianity and she her sun went down in a cloud. Her once happy countenance radiates. They miss her but we all miss her. But why weep!

She is gone to that bright, bright world above where happiness no more ceases upon contingencies. May the golden chain that bound her so closely to kindred and friends here serve to draw us all to her happy home in immortality—where they die no more.

J. NEWTON SUMMERS.

Nashville Christian Advocate please copy.

Letters and Funds.

B F Sledge self $1 25, Rev S H Helsabeck for Miss M H Pegram 1.10, Geo P Rowell & Co Jos H Hawkins for B F Turner 2.20 self 50 cents, S M Pettingill & Co W J Colvert self 1.10, J N Summers Rev W M D Moore, Rev C H Phillips, Rev B Craven, Rev C M Pepper, J D Thorne, W H Newell self 2, Rev D A Long for self, I F P Hobgood, D Matt Thompson, Mrs W L Mitchell self 2.00, Porter & Bainbridge, Jones K Wood Rev R G Barrett Lula Bibb Rev W D Lee papers sent Rev A D Betts paper sent Rev P F W Stamey paper sent Rev W H Cunningim papers sent Rev J T Harris for Geo Garden, 2 20 Rev C M Anderson for S Shuford 2.20 J Mullins 2 20 on ac't 60 cents, Rev J Sandford for J S Dunham 2.20, J R Dunham 2.20, A W Kinlaw 2.20 John Rice 2 20 J M Woodburn 2.20, C B Mulford 2 20 Rev E W Thompson for Mrs E L Pemberton 2 20, Rev P J Carraway for Mrs H Spencer 2 20 J C Slocumb self 2.20. Miss Kate Redhearn 2 20 Rev O M Jordan, for Mrs J Winstead 2 20, R Satterfield 2 20. Mrs N Beasley 2 20 Mrs F Davis 2 20 S Garrett 2 20 E L Duke self 2 20, Rev M J Hunt for Mrs M A King 2 20, Rev T C Moses paper continued. Tyson & Jones, R M Furman, H W Reinhart Rev D R Bruton, D N McLean, Rev R M Brown papers sent J W Johnson Jas R Harris self 2.20 Rev J F Smoot papers continued, Rev T P Rickal papers continued Rev Dr Burkhead, Rev W S Black Wm Poisson.

Appointments.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

THIRD ROUND.

Salisbury circuit, Providence,	Aug.	7- 8
Iredell circuit, Snow Creek (C M.)	"	13-17
Statesville circuit,	"	20-22
Alexander ct. Rocky Springs (C.M.)	"	27-31
Wilkes circuit,	Sept.	4 6

Camp meetings at Snow Creek and at Rocky Springs in connection with the Quarterly meetings.

The camp meeting at Smith Grove, Mocksville circuit, will commence on Friday before the 4th Sunday in Aug. and continue 5 days.

D R. BURTON, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Madison ct at Eden, July 31 and Aug		1
Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	"	7- 8
Davidson, Midway.	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	4- 5
Stokes, Palmyra	"	11-12

A Camp-meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August 19th 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

South Fork Ebenezer,	July	28-29
Newton Smyrna,	July 31 and	Aug. 1
D Shoals, Clover Hill (C M)	July 31,	Aug 1
Rock Spring, Rock Spring (C M)	Aug	7- 8
Happy Home, Harmony,	"	14-15
Lenoir, Harper's Chapel,	"	21 22
Morganton, St. Pleasant (C M	"	28 29
Marion, No-bo, (C M)	Sept.	4- 5
Shelby station,	"	11-12

Camp meetings will begin Friday evening and close on Wednesday morning. Ministers both traveling and local, are invited to attend the camp-meetings May the Great Head of the church be with us and give his word success!

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND

Cumberland, Beaver Creek,	July	3- 4
Pee Dee, Zion.	"	10-11
Fayetteville	"	17-18
Lumbridge, Lumbridge,	"	24-25
Robeson, Salem, July 31,	Aug.	- 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Uwharie, Concord.	"	14-15
Montgomery, Eleazer,	"	21-22
Buckhorn, Apex.	"	28-29

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND, Q. M.

Tar River at Trinity,	July	3- 4
Henderson at Zion,	"	10-11
Rolesville at Oaky Grove,	"	17-18
District Conference at Oxford, Inclusive.	"	22-25
Nashville and Rocky Mount,	August	7- 8
Gary,	"	14-15
Smithfield,	"	21-22
Youngsville,	"	28-29

The introductory sermon at the District Conference will be preached by Rev. J. E. Thompson.

The District Stewards will please meet me at the Methodist Church in Oxford on Saturday July 24th.

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Jones, Cypress Creek,	July	3- 4
Kinston, Monday,	"	- 5
Beaufort S. School Convention,	"	8-11
Carteret, Morehead city, F. night,	"	-10
Wayne, Thompson's,	"	17-18
Newbern,	"	24-25
Straits, Wednesday,	"	-28
Lenoir, Woodington,	July 31 &	Aug. 1
Snow Hill Bethel.	Aug.	7- 8
Mt Olive, Indian Springs, Friday,	"	13
Goldsboro,	"	14-15
Neuse & S. Creek, Upper B. Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N .C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Clinton at Goshen,	July	18-19
Cokesbury at Bethel,	"	25 26
Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. }	at Center,	" 15-16
Topsail,	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept.	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville,	"	12-13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Tarboro, at Noble's	July	3- 4
Williamston at Palmyra,	"	10-11
Washington and Greenville, at Shady Grove,	"	17-18
Plymouth & Jamesville, at Jams'vle	"	24-25
Cape Hatteras, at Chickacoukeo August 1st.	"	31 and
Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet.	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug.	11, 12, 13, 14, 15
Portsmouth,	"	17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22
Columbia at Gums Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath, at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4 - 5
Warren,		11-12

WILLIAM CLOSS.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Wadesboro sta.	July	- 2
Lilesville ct at Shiloh,	"	3- 4
Pineville ct at Hebron.	"	10-11
Wadesboro ct at Bethel	"	17-18
Concord sta. and Concord ct. }	"	24-25
Tryon st. and Calvary Miss }	Aug.	1- 2
Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Albemare and Stanley }	"	14-15
Ansonville, ct	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD. ROUND.

Alamance ct. Clovers Garden,	July	3 - 4
C Hill & H. River, Cedar Grove,	"	10-11
Durham, Orange Church,	"	17-18
Pittsboro, District Conference,	"	24-25
Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	- 1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7- 8
Leasburg, Union,	"	14-15
Yanceyville, New Hope,	"	21-22
Flat River,	"	28 29

Our District Conference will be held at Pittsboro, commencing Thursday the 22d of July. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. J. Renn. We cordially invite brethren from other Districts to be with us. We, certainly, expect one or both the Editors to be with us.

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

RALEIGH FEMALE SEMINARY.

RALEIGH, N. C.

The Fall Session opens on Sept. 6th, 1875.

Board, per month,	$15 00
English Tuition,	4 00

Uniform system of dress adopted to prevent extravagance.

Calisthenics introduced for health and exercise.

For catalogue containing particulars address

F. P. HOBGOOD, A. M.,
Principal.

July 21-1m.

GRAHAM HIGH SCHOOL,

Graham, N. C.

Rev. D. A. LONG, A. M.
Rev. W. W. STALEY, A. B.
R. F. LONG, A. B.
Miss. F. BASON, Instructress in Music.

Opens Aug. 24th, closes last Friday in May 1876 Board $8 in adv. Tuition $8 to 4.

July 21-1w.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY.

Male and Female.

D. Matt Thompson, A. M. Principal.

The next term opens August 11th 1875. Instruction thorough.

Board per month,	$8.00
Tuition "	$1.00 to $4.00

Location:—Beaver, Lincoln Co. N. C. ten miles north of Iron Station. "Carolina Central R. R." This section is noted for good health, quiet, and morality

Advantages:—Low price of Board and ut tion, healthy and moral location.

For Circular &c. address the Principal.

Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C.

July 21-2m.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The session begins Sept. 2nd, 1875.

Tuition $40 to $60 for ten months.

Board $10 to $12 per month.

A receipt in full will be given for all expenses clothing and books excepted, for $90 for five months, in the regular cause; and for 80 dollars in the Preparatory

We have accommodation for twenty-five to furnish their rooms, and board themselves. In this the cost for five months is not over 50 dollars. Young men of limited means are invited to correspond with the President.

B. CRAVEN Pres
P O. Trinity College, N. C.

July 21 3m.

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE.

DAVIDSON CO., N. C., ON N. C. R. R.

Established in 1849—chartered in 1866.—Large, finely adapted brick building, in thorough repair. Grounds extensive and beautiful—new and handsome furniture, instruments, &c. Full and carefully arranged course, taught by seven able, earnest and successful teachers. Location accessible, beautiful and proverbially healthful. Board and English Tuition $15 and $16 per month. Next session begins August 30th, 1875. For Catalogue address,

H. W. REINHART,
july 21 tf. Principal.

Kenmore University High School Amherst C. H., Va.

Preparatory to the University of Va. H. A. Strode, (Math. Medallist U. Va.,) Principal and Instructor in Mathematics. H. C. Brook, B. Lit., U. Va., (recently Ass't Prof. Latin, U. Va.,) Instructor in Greek, Latin, French and German. This is one of the leading high schools in Virginia, and presents many advantages incomparable with those of others. Course embraces Gymnastics and Horsemanship. New session begins Sept. 15, 1875. For Catalogue, address the Principal.

July 21 3-m

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE, STAUNTON, VA.

Will begin its twenty sixth Annual Session, September 8th, 1875. Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D. President, with an able corps of twenty three Teachers and Officers

Modern Languages taught and spoken in the College by a European Teacher. Music by seven Professors and Teachers, among whom are two of the most cultivated Teachers of vocal music in the South.

This is one of the healthiest climates in the world Those who come here from the South with feeble constitutions, chills, and chronic diseases, are generally restored.

Buildings elegant—fanned by the purest breezes, and commanding two most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, making it one of the most delightful college homes in the Union.

The past Session this School was attended by pupils from seventeen different States.

Great economy and simplicity in dress are required. A simple uniform is worn. No unnecessary expenses allowed and none made without express instructions from Parents. Strict economy practiced to keep all expenses of pupils within the lowest possible amount.

From Bishop D. S. Doggett, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, located in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency Rev. W. A. Harris, is, in my judgment, one of the best institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the advantages enjoyed by one of my daughters, now a pupil there. Its course of study is ample; its Faculty accomplished, and its instruction both solid and elegant. Its personal accommodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste.

W. S. DOGGETT.

[From Bishop E.M. Marvin, D. D.]

The Wesleyan Female Institute is an honor to the Church. Instruction is thorough. All classes stand high. In music advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and neither pains nor expenses are spared to make this department eminent.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR.

Board and Tuition in the Collegiate Course, including Ancient Languages, $240. Music and other extras moderate.

For catalogue, address

Rev. W. A. HARRIS, President.
July 21-2m. Staunton, Va.

TYSON & JONES

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Chatham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.

We feel confident that, with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workman employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS WORK, no house in the country can excel us in

STYLE, FINSH, DURABILITY AND

Low Prices.

We manufacture and keep constantly on hand Carriage of the Best Quality.

Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice Send for Circular.

July 21 1-y

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.

This institution will be reopened on the 1st Monday of September next,

the term ending the 2nd Thursday in June 1876, with a vacation of two weeks at Christmas. It has been re-organized on the eclectic system, combining, however, three curricula, of Arts, Science and Agriculture. Instruction will be given in the branches of learning usually taught in the best Colleges. Special instruction provided in Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts. An able faculty has been appointed. The buildings thoroughly repaired for the reception of several hundred students.

For circular explanatory of the above apply to KEMP P. BATTLE,
Secretary Board of Trustees,
july 21 mo Raleigh, N. C.

SELLING AT

Greatly Reduced Prices.

Intending to enlarge my store, I offer my well selected stock of WATCHES, JEWELRY, SILVER and SILVER PLATED WARE, at greatly reduced prices.

Orders from a distance shall receive prompt attention and goods sent for selection if required.

Respectfully,
H. MAILE.

A SPECIALTY.

Wedding and Engagement Rings made to order at short notice.

July 21 1-m

STEAM POWER.

The Celebrated

Shapley Steam Engine.

By a patented process,

It is Absolutely free of danger from fire.

It is endorsed by all the leading machinists in the United States.

Prices lower than any first class engine in the country.

Engines can be seen at our store. Sizes—3, 5, 8 and 12 Horse Power.

We are agents for the

ROWLAND COTTON GIN,

and have in store the most complete and largest stock in N. C. of Hardware, Sash, Doors, &c.

Prices guaranteed lower than the lowest. Write for circular and prices.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C.

LANDRETHS' TURNIP SEEDS.

By mail, postage paid, safe delivery insured. One lb., 85c., ¼ lb., 50c., ⅛ lb., 25c.

D. LANDRETH & SON, Philadelphia, Pa.

July 21-2t.

Music Books

FOR THE SEASIDE, THE MOUNTAINS,

For hours of Leisure at Home or Abroad.

The following collections contain the best and most popular of all published Songs, Vocal or Instrumental Duets, Rondos, Waltzes, Polkas, Quadrilles, etc., and furnish unlailing entertainment to all lovers of Music.

Musical Treasure. Vocal and Instrumental.
Moore's Irish Melodies.	Vocal.
Gems of Scottish Song.	"
Gems of German Song.	"
Gems of Sacred Song.	"
Wreath of Gems.	"
Shower of Pearls.	Vocal Duets.
Operatic Pearls.	Vocal.
River Chord.	"
Piano at Home.	Four hand pieces.
Gems of Strauss.	Instrumental.
Organ at Home.	Reed Organ Pieces.
Home Circle.	Vols. 1 and 2. Instrumental.
Pianoforte Gems,	"
Pianists Album.	"

Large Handsome Books, which are for sale by all prominent dealers.

Price of each book: Boards, $2 50; Cloth, $3.00; Full Gilt, $4 00.

Sent, post-free, for retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO.,
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.

July 21-tf.

A LADY OF EXPERIENCE AND SUCCESS AS a teacher, wishes a situation in a first class family or neighborhood school. The usual English branches, mathematics, Latin, French, and music taught.

Address Editors of this paper.

July 14-3t.

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND FOR SALE.

A Valuable farm, containing 153 acres, more or less. It has one creek and one branch running through it. Produces corn, wheat, oats, &c, in abundance. I have an orchard of about one thousand selected fruit trees. Dwelling house and kitchen of ample size; containing only thirteen rooms and a large basement.

Two other kitchens in the yard. Smoke-house, well and well-house in ten steps of the kitchen door WATER VERY GOOD.

I have a large Barn 25 by 45 feet. Stables, cow stalls, shuck Barn, two large cribs, wheat granary and a shelter well of cistern water and well house at the Barn.

The place is in Randolph Co. on the Turn pike road 5¼ of a mile from Trinity College and 3 1-2 miles from either Thomasville or High Point, both being Depots on the N. C. R. R. We have daily mail, I also have another tract of 65 acres of wood land one mile from this plantation. The place is known as the JOHN S. BROWN Decd's plantation.

For further information address

J. C. BROWN, D. D. S.
Trinity College, N. C.

July 14th 2-w

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT. NEW YORK.

Reject all Violent Purgatives. They ruin the tone of the bowels and weaken the digestion.

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient is used by rational people as a means of relieving all derangements of the stomach, liver and intestines, because it removes obstructions without pain and imparts vigor to the organs which it purifies and regulates

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

July 14-2t.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE,

Lenoir, N. C.

The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.

Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes everything for which we are responsible, and we can guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.

Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges, and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best public testimonial of real merit.

Young ladies board in the Institution under the immediate care of the President

Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other, promptly at the end of the Session.

No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address.

REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.

July 7-3m

SHELBY SEMINARY,

SHELBY N. C.

REV. S. R. TEAWICK, A. M. PRINCIPAL.
Mrs. B. V. TEAWICK, Music and Ornamentals.
Miss JANIE G. DUBANT, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 20 WEEKS

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic.	15 00
Latin, Greek and French each.	5.00
Incidental fee each	1.00
Music on piano-forte	20.00
Use of Instrument	3 00

Board in the school with the principal. per term $64 00

The next term will begin July 19th. For circular address the principal The low rates, the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.

June 23 2m.

HORNER & GRAVES'S SCHOOL.

Hillsboro, N. C.

The Fall session of 1875 opens on the fourth Monday in July.

Catalogues sent on application.

July 7-3m

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,

STOKES CO. N. C.

The leading watering place of the State.

Fare equal to any city Hotel Soda Sulphur delightfully cool.

Mountain scenery unsurpassed. Room for 500 guests.

BOARD REDUCED.

Per day $4 00. Per week $14 00. Per month $36 00.

DAILY LINE COMFORTABLE COACHES FROM SALEM—WINSTON.

Connecting Closely with all the Trains—the most comfortable of these leaving Winston on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Tickets to Piedmont Springs and return for sale at the following places at reduced rates:

Danbury	$ 4 45	Raleigh	$ 11 45
Danville	9 30	Salisbury	9 50
Goldsboro	14 05	Lexington	7 80
Greensboro	7 40	Charlotte	12 15

Passenger trains on the North Carolina Central Rail Road, and on the Richmond and Danville Rail Road, make connections at Greensboro with trains for Salem Winston, which is the terminus of the N W N C R R, from which point passengers can reach the Springs by a Daily Line of New Concord Coaches.

All mail matter intended for visitors at Piedmont, should be directed to PIEDMONT SPRINGS, WINSTON, N. C., and will be promptly delivered by Stage Driver Daily.

Apl. S. B. TAYLOR, Manager.
W. E. WILLIAMSON, C. M. FLINN, Rio. G. PACE, } Prop's.

Danville, Va.

Resident Physician: Dr. H. B. MEARS, of Danville, Va., formerly Resident Physician at Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, Va.

July 7-3m.

White Sulphur Springs,

CATAWBA COUNTY, N. C.

This celebrated Watering Place will be open for Select Visitors 1st June. The Springs are situated 55 miles Northwest of Charlotte, 60 West of Salisbury, and 6 miles from Hickory Station, on the Western N. C. Railroad.

The bracing mountain atmosphere, with the health restoring properties of their waters, renner these Springs a most desirable resort for invalids and pleasure seekers

The Mineral waters embrace Blue and White Sulphur and Chalybeate. It is the best and most extensively fitted up Watering place in the State—can accommodate 300 persons

Good BAND OF MUSIC, Ten Pin Alley, Billiard Table, and a supply of Ice.

Omnibus will be at Hickory Station, on the Western N. C. Railroad, for Passengers on th arrival of every train.

Board $35 00 per month of 28 days—half price for children and servants, and a liberal deduction for families.

My Post-office is Catawba White Sulphur, N. C.

Dr. E. O. KLLIOTT,
July 7-1m Proprietor.

CLEVELAND

MINERAL SPRINGS,

(FORMERLY WILSON'S.)

Near Shelby, 55 miles West of Charlotte.

THIS FAMOUS WATERING PLACE will be open for the reception of visitors on the 10th of June.

Passengers coming on the Central Railroad will be met by hacks, and conveyances will be sent to the Air-Line Railroad, and other points whenever desired.

Cold and Warm Baths, White Sulphur, Red Sulphur and Chalybeate Water. Band of Music and other sources of amusement. Fare First Class. For further information address

T. W. BREVARD,
july 7-1m. Proprietor.

The Needle

COTTON GIN.

the American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums.

In the gin house it has enjoyed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That during the ginning season it ginned 725 bales or cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in forty five minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 501 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in 51 minutes yielding 56 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which boxes of parlor matches and nails were put without setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift EVER OFFERED. LOCAL AGENTS

wanted everywhere for The Echo, a weekly family and literary Journal, of 16 large pages. Subscription, $2.25. With The Echo is given away the magnificently bound quarto volume, entitled American Illustrated, a superb delineation of American scenery. Largest remuneration. Magnificently Illustrated Circular free. DAVID WILLIAMS & CO., (Box 2117,) 39 Beekman St., New York.

may 5-12m. o m.

A. G. LEE. ED. H. LEE. CLE R. LEE

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their lots to the market to try us. We can beat New York in the nett proceeds of your cotton.

When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the very highest market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The SCHOFIELD COTTON PRESS, the best invented.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
July 7th-tf P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

IN STORE AND FOR SALE

(2) Two car loads of N. C. Meadow Hay.
(1) One " " Cultivated Hay now in store and for sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

150 BUSHELS CLAY AND Speckled PEAS now in the market by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

SOMETHING NICE AND SWEET.—Half dozen up-country CHEESE, weighing from 8½ to 4 1-2 lbs, each, received to-day per express.

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A NICE LOT OF SMALL WELL trimmed N. C HAMS, in store and for sale at 16 3 8 cents,

A. G. LEE & SONS.

NORTH CAROLINA AND NORWOOD'S Cultivated Hay for sale cheap by

A. G LEE & SONS.

SUPPLEE'S PATENT COTTON SCREW PRESS MODEL, and a Horse Power PRESS, now on exhibition at our office.

A. G. LEE & SONS,
July 7 tf. sole Agents.

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ice made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool. July 7-tf

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY,

Male and Female.

Eight Miles from Greensboro, N. C.

R. P. TROY, A M, Principal.
Mrs. R. P. TROY, Teacher of Music
Assistant Teacher.

The Fall Session will begin July 28th, 1875, and continue five months

Tuition per Session, from	$7 50 to $20.00
Music,	15.00
Board, with wood and washing,	45.00
Contingent Fee,	50
Use of Piano,	2.00

One half in advance. No deduction after enlistment, except for sickness. The low price of board and tuition, near the location, and the advantages of a connected Pleasant Garden to the patronage of those having children to educate. All are required to attend Sunday school and religious service every Sabbath, and especial care is taken to promote moral development.

FIRST-CLASS ACADEMY.

Conveyance from Greensboro Furnished if Notice is Given.

Address the Principal, at Greensboro, N. C., for further information.

REFERENCES:

Rev. B. Craven, D. D., L L D., Trinity College, N. C
" N. B. D Wilson, D. D. Greensboro, N. C.
" W. H. Bobbitt, Greensboro, N. C.
" L. L. Hendren, Chapel Hill, N. C.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

Greensboro, N. C.

The Fall Session will begin on the 15th of August.

TERMS REDUCED.

Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights)	$75 00
Tuition in regular English course,	25 00

Charges for Extra studies, moderate.

For catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev T. M. Jones, President.

GEO. W. SWYNE,
T. B. YANCEY,
J. W. LEE.

June 30 2m

RALEIGH, June 15th, 1875

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest an Jasume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payment.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf GEO. W. SWYNE.

NEW GOODS STILL ARRIVING!

PRICES LOWER THAN EVER!

One of our firm having just returned from the North, where he has been purchasing goods in all the different styles and qualities belonging to our business, in order to repair the broken lines in the various departments, we are again enabled to offer to our customers and the public at large greater inducements than heretofore in Ladies Dress Goods!

Black and Colored Silks,
Summer Silks, Grenadines,
Figured Lawns, and Muslins,

Mohair Suitings,
Ballete Suitings,
Linen Suitings,
Zebra Suitings.

Plain, Printed and Corded GRASS CLOTHS AND LINEN LAWNS.

BLEACHED GOODS:

Irish Linens, Victoria Lawns, Jaconets,

in better qualities and cheaper than ever offered.

It is useless for us to mention particulary prices to our goods, as it only requires one trial to customers to convince themselves that the "TUCKERS" cannot and will not be surpassed in low prices by any house in this city or elsewhere, being always up to the "time-s."

W. R. & R. S. TUCKER.

June 30-tf

PETTY & JONES,

DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

BOOTS, SHOES,

Hats, Notions, &c., & c.

We are offering select lines of Victoria Lawns, Plain and Checked Nainsooks, Plain and Striped Jaconets, Swiss and Organdies, Black Grenadines, Spring and Summer Dress Goods, Silk and Housekeeping Linens, Printed Linens and Lawns, Plain, Striped, Corded and Checked Grass Cloths, at prices that will enable us to sell all who wish to buy and will give us a call.

Also, together with an extensive line of Hamburg Edgings, and fine trims, Plain and Fancy Hose for Ladies and Children. Full lines of Half Hose for Gentlemen and Boys—all grades.

Gloves. Fans, Parasols. Umbrellas

in a great variety and at low prices.

A large assortment of Caulfield's hand-made Calf Congress Gaiters Continental Union and Strap Shoes, just received today. The superiority of this make of Shoes for gentlemen is too well known by our customers throughout the State to require any praise from us.

Ballou's French Yoke Shirts.

We guarantee a fit or no sale. Directions for measurement and Shirts made to order on application.

Our goods are all new and lately received so that we had the advantage of decline in prices in making our purchases.

Our prices are as low as any house can sell good GOODS for. Customers will do well to call and look at our late arrivals before buying.

PETTY & JONES,
June30-tf No. 20 Fayetteville street.

Bingham School.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

The 163rd session will begin

Children's Column.

Helping Papa and Mamma.

Planting the corn and potatoes,
Helping to scatter the seeds,
Feeding the hens and the chickens,
Freeing the garden from weeds,
Driving the sows to the pasture,
Feeding the horses in stall,
We little children are busy;
Sure there is work for us all,
Helping papa.

Spreading the hay in the sunshine,
Raeking it up when it's dry,
Picking the apples and peaches
Down in the orchard hard by,
Picking the grapes in the vineyard,
Gathering nuts in the fall,
We little children are busy;
Yes, there is work for us all,
Helping papa.

Sweeping, and washing the dishes,
Bringing the wood from the shed,
Ironing, sewing, and knitting,
Helping to make up the bed,
Taking good care of the baby,
Watching her lest she should fall,
We little children are busy;
O, there is work for us all,
Helping mamma!

Work makes us cheerful and happy;
Makes us both active and strong;
Play we enjoy all the better
When we have labored so long.
Gladly we help our kind parents,
Quickly we come at their call,
Children should love to be busy;
There is much work for us all,
Helping papa and mamma,

Watching for Father.

There's a little face at the window
And two dimpled hands on the pane;
And somebody's eyes are fixed upon
The gate at the end of the lane.

The hills have caught the shadow
Which heralds the coming night,
And the lane, with its flowery fringe, grows dim
To the watcher's anxious sight.

Where, half way down,
Like a glittering crown,
A firefly band have clustered
Round nature's leaf—
A royal chief—
A driven herd are unstered.

Away behind,
With busy mind,
But a step that is light and free,
And a sun burnt face
On which the trace
Of a hard day's work you see.

Comes the father home from toil,
Driving the cows before him;
And the child-eyes, strained at the window there,
Were the first in the house that saw him.

Ah! would, when the day is done
And I leave my cares behind me,
I could have such a pair of winsome eyes
Searching the night to find!

Answers.

The text "Whither I go ye cannot come: ye shall seek me and shall not find me," is in St. John chap. 7th, 34 v Theo. C. W. Boshamer.

"For he that hath to him shall be given, and he that hath not from him shall be taken even that which he hath," is found in 29th v. 25th chap. St. Matthew. Theo. C. W. Boshamer.

"Keep yourself in the love of God." Jude 1st chap. 21st v. Theo. C. W. Boshamer.

The chapter containing 89 verses of which 2, 6, 11, 12 and 12 are alike is the 7th chap. Numbers. Theo. C. W. Boshamer.

It was Ahab, when the king of Babylon roasted in the fire. Jeremiah 29th chap. 22d verse. Viola Boddie

The three kings whose bodies were burned were Saul and his three sons. Viola Boddie.

Josiah and Jehoiachin were eight years old when they began to reign: it is recorded in 34th and 36th chapters of 2d Chronicles. Mattie J. E. Farrar.

"And he took the calf which they had made and burnt it in the fire and ground it to powder and strewed it on the water and made the children of Israel drink of it." Exodus 32d chap. 20th verse. Mattie J. E. Farrar.

"A time to weep and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance," is found in 4th verse 3d chap. of Ecclesiastes. Mattie J. E. Farrar.

Joshua made the sun and moon stand still. Joshua 10th chap. 12th v. Mattie J. E. Farrar.

Abishai called Shimei a "dead dog." 2 Samuel 16th chap. 9th verse. Mattie J. E. Farrar, Viola Boddie.

St. John was banished to the isle of Patmos by Domitian. Rev. 1st chap. Mattie J. E. Farrar.

Paul was born at Tarsus. Acts 21st chap 29th verse.

Rachael E. Claytor and Viola Boddie send the answer to J. A. Arthur's Enigma as follows: 1st Rome. 2d Elizabeth. 3d Ananias. 4th Dorcas. 5th Timothy. 6th Herod. 7th East. 8th Andrew. 9th Decapolis. 10th Vine. 11th Olive. 12th Cornelius. 13th Alpheus. 14th Tribute. 15th Eneas. The whole is "Read the Advocate."

Questions.

Mattie J. E. Farrar asks how many times does the word coffin appear in the Bible, who was the first man buried in a coffin, and where is an account of it given?

Also, which is the oldest city mentioned in the Bible that has never been destroyed?

Also, who was David's grandmother? and who wrote the books of Job and Acts?

Lula Bibb, who writes a pleasant letter, asks what chapter in the Bible contains the word "I" 44 times. Also, who prepared and of what was the ointment made with which Mary anointed our Saviour? Also what king reigned in the land of Edom before any king reigned over the children of Israel? Also what chapter contains the word 'spirit' 20 times, and what verse contains the word 'peril' eight times?

Henry Bibb asks what Paul said when he was standing in the midst of Mar's Hill. Also, at one time when Paul gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, what came out of the heat and fastened on his hand? Also, who made silver shrines for Diana?

A Hint to Grumblers.

A hint to grumblers—"What a noisy world this is!" croaked an old frog, as he squatted on the margin of the pond. "Do you hear those geese, how they scream and hiss? What do they do it for?'

"O just to amuse themselves!" answered a little field mouse.

"Presently we shall have the owls hooting: what is that for?"

"It's the music they like the best," said the mouse.

"And those grasshoppers; they can't go home without grinding and chirping; why do they do that?"

"O, they are happy they can't help it!" said the mouse.

"You find excuses for all. I believe you don't understand music, so you like the hideous noises."

"Well friend, to be honest with you," said the mouse, "I don't greatly admire any of them; but they are all sweet in my ears compared with the constant croaking of a frog."—Apples of Gold.

She Plays Like a Christian.

'I heard of two little children,' said a speaker, 'a boy and a girl, who used to play a great deal together. They were both converted. One day the boy came to his mother, and said:

'Mother, I know that Emma is a Christian,

'What makes you think so, my child?'

'Because, mother, she plays like a Christian.'

'Plays like a Christian?' said the mother; the expression sounded a little odd.

'Yes,' replied the child, 'if you take every thing she's got, she don't get angry. Before she was selfish: and if she didn't have every thing her own way she would say, 'I won't play with you! you are an ugly little boy!'

What a Child Learned.

A little boy who attended a temperance meeting was asked by his father when he returned;

'Have you learned any thing, my boy?'

'Yes, father, I have. I have learned never to put strong drink to my lips; for it has killed fifty thousand persons annually, and how do I know that it will not kill me?'

Rural and Domestic.

The Secret of Health.—First, keep cool; second, eat regularly and slowly; third, maintain regular bodily habits; fourth, take early and very light suppers—or, better still, none at all; fifth, keep a clean skin; sixth, get plenty of sleep at night; seventh, keep cheerful and respectable company; eighth, keep out of debt; ninth, don't set your mind on things you dont need; tenth, mind your own business; eleventh, don't set up to be a "sharp" of any kind; twelfth, subdue curiosity.

The Use of Borax.

Borax has many valuable uses in the household. A weak solution snuffed up through the nostrils will relieve catarrh; the most difficult cases of sore throat, it is said, may be cured by using this as a gargle; and it is specially efficacious in allaying inflammation of the membranes lining the cavities of the nose when irritated by cold.

There is, too, no better bath for weak or inflamed eyes than a solution of borax. As a wash for the head its use is very common; not only will it leave the scalp white and clean and the hair soft, but its effect is wonderful in allaying nervous headache, and giving a cool and restful feeling to the head after severe brain work. Use it, too, for rinsing the mouth after cleaning the teeth; its action on the gums is very beneficial and for any inflammation there is nothing better. A small teaspoonful in a glass of water makes a solution of average strength.

Cabbage.

The first good rain set out, on land highly enriched and well-prepared, your Savoy and Flat Dutch, and such other sorts as you may choose for your winter supply. Plant out some red cabbage for pickles and slaw; for the last, mixed with the white, it is ornamental and very firm. If no rains come soon, it were better to water and plant a few hundred each evening. They do not require much of a season. Plant deep, up to the first leaves; set in the roots even and smooth. A good plan is to have a bucket of fine manure, slacked ashes, a little salt and rich earth reduced to a lob-lolly with water or soap-suds, and dip in the roots as the plants are drawn from the bed; plant before it dries and falls off. Be sure and plant a large number of cabbages, more than you will need for home consumption, as there may be a failure from various causes: and if no failure, they are always saleable, or worth their cost for the cows. An acre in winter cabbage is none too small a patch for any farmer, whether he farms on a large or a small scale. Should you fear the cut-worm, strew salt along the rows or on the hills, a few days before you plant. In future culture use plaster freely and often; no plant relishes, and is benefited more by plaster, than the cabbage, as it, like tobacco, is a broad leaved plant, and this fertilizer is peculiarly adapted to broad leaved plants.—Maryland Farmer for July.

The Public Confidence Well Placed.

Although the world has been seeking specifics for disease for many centuries, new ones have been found. Prominent among these few is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which years ago received the endorsement of the medical profession and was hailed by press and public as the great recovrant and preventive of the age. And with good reason, since to the weakened stomach it gives strength, to the torpid liver activity, to the disordered bowels regularity and to the shaken nervous system firmness and tone. Under its benignant influence health and vigor returns to the debilitated and wasted frame, the fixed tongue clears becomes compact. In a word aspect of ill health is replaced by a look of comfulness, the mind resses to despond, and flesh acc velopes upon the attenuated frame. There is no exaggeration in this statement. It is as true as that the system is subject to disease. Were proofs required to substantiate the results of the most perfect ive effects of the Bitters, there is probably not in existence a medicine in favor of which such a mass of concurrent testimony, from the most respectable sources, could be adduced. Let the efficacy of the native's alterative and invigorant has been a matter of universal knowledge too long to need any such corr dentation. The fact that it has the largest sale of any Bitters in the United States and South American Continents, Mexico, and the West Indies, to whose atmospheric influences prejudice would attribute the power of a boniface is held in its remedial and preventive virtues. In localities where ague and intermittent fever prevail especially, it has come to be regarded as an indispensable necessity.

July 1-om

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 43 years' standing

When you CALL FOR PLEIS' SAY SO.

$2.00 PRICE SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS PER BOX; or sent to any part of the United States for the Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,
48 North Fourth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

 Please mention that you saw this advertisement in The Christian Advocate. mar 8 -1y

Philo Alcott. Wayne Alcott.

Excelsior Grocery
AND
COMMISSION HOUSE.
LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery For low and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our house second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Real Hams, Green Hams, Onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Oats, Shingles, Hay, Fodder, White, Black-eye, Cream and Butter Peas, Whitehall Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make consignments a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit. We have made the necessary arrangements with our Norfolk house to furnish the best of teas that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "success is merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12 m

The Repeal of the Usury Law will doubtless be the first question that will attract the attention of our next Legislative Assembly; but as that is a long way ahead, it becomes a necessary to note something exciting at present use Hence we announce the fact that

Weikel, The Leading Merchant Tailor,

has just returned from the North with a stock of

FASHIONABLE AND ENGLISH CLOTHS,
DIAGONALS, STRIPES, CHECKED AND PLAIN CASSIMERES,
SPRING AND SUMMER SUITINGS
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.
LIGHT CASSIMERES FOR PANTS VESTINGS, &c.

the like of which is exciting even more excitement on Fayetteville Street than did on the line of the North Carolina Rail Road.

THE CHANGE OF GAUGE

He has his Store on Fayetteville Street, and is now in possession of the largest and most attractive stock ever offered to the before and ship to visit or will do well to call early, as the rush has already commenced.

RALEIGH PUBLIC

The Manufacturing Department is complete in all its branches, with the best workmen in the State on the bench.

Orders from the country carefully solicited and satisfaction guaranteed.

April 14 3m

Attention Housekeepers!
— AND —
Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and I annex references to prove the real value of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency that will pay would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HEPTINSTALL,
Enfield, N.C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. H.

may 19-tf

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown

The Spirit and Power of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Suffering and Triumphs of His followers. A bolder, sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Sartain and Illman, and splendidly bound in the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

March 10-6m

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock I promise now who may favor us with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I'd most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to continue Mr Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who favor him with

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building

LYNN ADAMS

march17 6 m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes;

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight
Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless
The inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and Cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, running or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—speedily treated with the Eye-cup—cure guaranteed; 6 Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,300 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from Bankers, Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Joseph Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof. W. Merino, of Lexington, Ky., writes, April 24th, 1875: "Without my spectacles I can see you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye."

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have thrown away spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 15 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, says: "On Nov. 15th, 1869: I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest discovery of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All cures warranted for full particulars, certificates and testimonials, &c., will please send stamp to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957, No 91 Liberty St. New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—Free. Waste no more money by squinting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

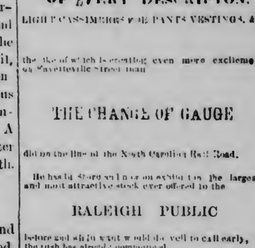
AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN
CABINET ORGANS.
UNEQUALED Unchanged, UNAPPROACHED
in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded
THREE HIGHEST MEDALS
AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT
VIENNA: 1873; PARIS, 1867,
ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.
ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.
BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).
INSIST on having a MASON & HAMLIN. To not take any other. Dealers get Larger commissions for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.
NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops, Superb Ringers and other Cases of new designs.
PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN, exquisite combination of these instruments.
EASY PAYMENTS. Organs sold for cash; or for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organs.
CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.
apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

The Cary Cotton Gin.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N.C.

June 14-tf.

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

Richmond & Danville, Richmond & Danville R. W., N. C. Division, and North Western N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9.32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury.....	11.18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.00 A. M	10.50 "
" Danville.....	6.30 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkeville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond..	2.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M	5.05 A. M.
" Burkeville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.59 "	1.37 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	2.45 A. M.	5.58 "
" Salisbury.....	5.21 "	8.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.55 "	8.29 "
Arrive at Charlo. N. C.	8.03 A. M	8.33 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail	Mail.
Leave Greensboro'..	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.0 A. M
" Co. Shops.....	4.33 "	Leave 12.38 "
" Raleigh.....	8.33 "	8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.30 A M	Leave 5.00 "

...ATA WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4 31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem ..... 6.03 "
Leave Salem ..... 8.40 A.M.
Arrive at Greensboro ..... 10.03 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 8 10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains become from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond a. 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

Raleigh & Gaston Railroad Co.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN

Leave Raleigh,	3.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	8.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives as Weldon.	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.4 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.55 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points South and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hamlet Norwood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

Superintendent's Office,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1875.

On and after Monday, October 25th, 1875, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.05 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.35 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.00 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

Office Supt. of Transportation,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.40 A. M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. GHIO.
Supt. Trans on Hallon.

FROM
HENRY J. BROWN,
Opposite Masonic Hall,
RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,
Keeps on hand FOR Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Wood and other Wood Coffins HEARSE FURNISHED.
Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed
apr 19 tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free. Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time. Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.
May 26 1y

THE GEM

A popular Note Book published at Nashville.—Send for as many copies as you want.

Price. . . . . 35 cents per copy.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

apr 6-12m

SITUATION WANTED,

In some College, High School or Academy by a gentleman who is a graduate and who has made teaching with its latest improvements his business and study for ten or twelve years. The best of testimonials furnished. Address. E. P.,
June 30 tf Boykin's Depot Va.

WINNOWED HYMNS.—

A new and very popular Music Book for Sabbath schools.

Price per copy in boards, ... 30 cts

L. BRANSON, Bookseller,
Raleigh, N. C

apr 8-12m.

A. BAUM,
Professional Butcher,

Has always the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stretched beef to be seen in his shop Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in the Market, bu chered in first class style, are sold you at

BAUM'S

$25 a day guaranteed using our Well Auger & Drills. $100 a month paid to good Agents. Auger book free. Jile Auger Co., St. Louis, Mo.
June 2-2t.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.
A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.
NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in Morocco, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth. 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price

Address, REV. F. L. REID, Lodsburg, N. C. or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. Leach, N. Y. M. T. Leach

Leach Brothers,
WHOLESALE GROCERS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
South-East Corner Market, Square, Raleigh, N. C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the Advocate for their very liberal patronage during the past two years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in and giving our friends all the advantage gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Groceries and Bottle Goods bought direct from the Factories and offered here at FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:
5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Make old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demerara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
1,000 lbs. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " " Harness Leather,
100 Cases O sters,
50 " Brandy Peaches.
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps,
We offer especial Inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock defy competition
Oct 7 12-m LEACH BROS

L. R WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
COTTON FACTORS
AND GENERAL
Commission Merchants,
No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,
Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and
General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail, and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES,
SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.
Jan 20-tf

THE JAS. LEFFEL
Double Turbine Water Wheel,
Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
7,000 NOW IN USE!
Simple, Strong, Durable, and always reliable and satisfactory.

Manufacturers also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Castings for Cotton Mills, Flour Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and other Presses, &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine made Gearing of every description. Send for Circular.
mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN
Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,
Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.
CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Painter's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.
Dec. 24-1

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Copper and Tin Mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.
NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!
LOW PRICES!!!
—o—
JOS. P. GULLEY,
RETAILER AND JOBBER OF
Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURTS GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Miles and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS!
PRINTS!
PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be paralleled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY.
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square apl 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00

ORISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.

Wm. M. COLE, Secretary
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Inspt.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT in INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—Upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of all Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation to be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. It will be found in the Brooklyn Life

Wm. Little, M.D., Medical Examiner

AW. LAWRENCE,
General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.
may 18-tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY
RALEIGH, N. C.
Is the Place to Buy
French and Plain Candies,
Foreign and Domestic Fruits,
RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,
Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,
Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,
Carriages for the Little Folks,
CROQUET SET,
BASE BALLS AND BATS.
Marbles, Tops, and Kites,
All at MOSELEY'S

INSURE AGAINST FIRE!

In PESCUD & SON'S Agency, Raleigh, N. C.

Money and time saved to those who insure through us in the following strong and prompt Companies, viz:
Home, N. Y. Georgia Home,
N. C. Home. City Fire, Richmond,
New Orleans. Amazon,
Ætna, Hartford, Atlantic, New York,
Firemans Fund, Cal., Penn of Philadelphia,
Franklin of Philadelphia.
Extra inducements offered to all who want insurance on Cotton and Tobacco Factories, Mills, Gins, Farm property and Dwellings and country stores.—Send for a blank, application, instructions and terms to Pescud & Son Raleigh, N. C.

P. F. PESCUD. P. F. PESCUD, Jr.
jan 20-1f

J. G. WILLIAMS, Pres. S. C. WHITE, Cashier.
W. S.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 30. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, July 28, 1875. | Whole No. 1,068.

Selected Poetry.

Resting Time.

"And Jesus said, Come ye yourselves apart [illegible] place, and rest awhile."—Mark vi. 31.

[illegible] Thy world, O Lord,
And everywhere the fields are harvest white;
We [illegible] are waiting to receive Thy word,
And many hired eyes ask to thy light.
We [illegible] for Thou hast taught us, how the soul
[illegible] to Thee, with life and light are given,
[illegible] go to them and make them glad;
[illegible] time for us to be at rest?

Master, are we? We can hear Thee say
[illegible] and still move on, though we should rest.
The [illegible] is pressing forward day by day,
[illegible] their way to Thee, and Thou [illegible] leaders;
[illegible] relays of soldiers in reserve,
[illegible] for pilgrim feet at every mile,
[illegible] workers who will gladly serve,
[illegible] we should come apart to rest awhile.

[illegible] has seen that we are very tired,
[illegible] the burden and the heat of day,
[illegible] have striven, and labored, and desired
[illegible] the crown still far away.
[illegible] with feverish pulse and throbbing brow,
[illegible] tasks. O, Lord thou knowest how.

[illegible] mercy Thou hast said,
[illegible] come apart: and take our rest,
[illegible] in the desert place.
[illegible] Thou will with us abide,
[illegible] refreshing see thy face,
[illegible] and gladness at Thy side;
[illegible] are less weary, let us be [illegible] still, working beneath Thy [illegible]

[illegible] dear, we, for love of Thee,
[illegible] life is only for a while.

MARIANNE FARNINGHAM.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

From Raleigh to the Sea Coast

ROANOKE: The time was when a journey from the "city of Oaks" to the city of Elms" would have consumed several days. Now we leave Raleigh at 8 a. m. and find ourselves in Newbern in time to enjoy the hospitalities of the tea-table.

We encountered our Presiding Elder, Rev. J. R. Brooks, whom your readers will remember, and whose sight brought to bear an argument which, under the circumstances, proved beyond controversy that it was our duty to go around and assist Bro. and Bro. Willis in doing the work demanded, to an abundant extent, which Mrs. Brooks had just recently had for ceremonies.

The argument was strictly logical, and the manner was disposed of in due form.

Hark! There's a sound of steam and driving wheels! No time for parley! Bro. Willis concludes to join us and in a few minutes we are thundering on towards the Atlantic. We were much interested in observing the splendid fields of growing corn and cotton in the counties of Wayne, Lenoir, and Craven. This region presents the promise of great abundance this year in those staples that make a people wealthy. At Kinston we are met by Bro. Yates, and we indulge in the reflection that Methodist preachers, Methodism itself, accumulate in their advance.

A whole battalion of our colored citizens of all sizes and shades greet us at Newbern with their inimitable and indescribable jargon of baggage, cheeks, and hotels.

Have your 'perlease' carried up, and we call two candidates for the same at once.

The next moment they were fighting for each other's throats, while another small, copper colored immigration of humanity, seeing his opportunity and being also of an enterprising turn, seized the 'perlease' and walked off without seeming to care as the fight ended; and so did we.

Negroes, negroes, negroes! here they swarm and until very recently the Christian white people of this old, historical city have been subjected to the perpetual humiliation of a city government entirely controlled by these lustily, thriftless vagabonds.—In addition to this the incendiary has been at his work, so that the once beautiful city of Elms' has been despoiled in much of its glory. Large portions of it have been laid waste by fire from time to time, and never rebuilt, and perhaps never will be. Yet the return of much of her ancient beauty is certainly all of her moral and material greatness.

While there, we attended the Methodist festival" the object of which was to raise funds to paint the Methodist church. Here was the opportunity to catch a glimpse of the beauty, gaiety, elegance, and taste of Newbern.

Comment would do the occasion injustice. It must suffice to say that the whole affair was a success. We did not see how it could be improved, and the handsome sum realized demonstrated either the popularity of the cause, or the popularity of the managers, perhaps both.

We enjoyed the hospitalities of Bro. Hallard, Mr. Henderson, and Mrs Dickinson, who is every inch a lady, and every inch a Methodist, and, by the way, a teacher of Music in Greenville College.

On inquiry we found that Bro. Dickinson still maintains his old habit of being popular, and if his people consulted he is likely to remain another year at Newberne.

Here we lost Bro. Willis whose time was entirely taken up with old friends, of whom he seemed to have a legion, and every one of whom claimed a call at a debut.

In company with Bro. F. H. Wood we left the time from Newbern to Morehead City passed rapidly and pleasantly.

At Morehead city we embarked on a small sail boat which seemed to dance before the wind like a spirit as it sped along a mountain turnpike. The evening was beautiful, and the breeze delicious. Nothing on earth can be more delightful than a sail voyage in one of these skiffs on the evening. More anon.

W. M. ROBEY.

Beaufort, N. C., July 8th.

The Pulpit.

THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

A Sermon delivered by Bishop E. M. Marvin, before the Virginia Conference, at Elizabeth City, N. C. Sunday Morning, November 22, 1874, and published in the Minutes by request of the Conference.

"DO WE THEN MAKE VOID THE LAW THROUGH FAITH? GOD FORBID: YEA, WE ESTABLISH THE LAW."—Romans, iii. 31

There is very little of metaphysics in the Bible, and the little there is, is nearly all in the epistles of St. Paul. It is confined almost exclusively to one topic—Justification by Faith—and is intended, chiefly, to show that this doctrine does not conflict with the dignity and claims of the Law.

There is, to this day, much foggy and confused thinking upon this subject. The popular conception of the matter seems to be about this: that the law is all mere justice and severity, and the gospel all mere graciousness. I think that young people almost always regard the law and the gospel as being in antagonism with each other; as if the law were eager to have possession of men to destroy them, and the gospel struggling to recover them from the grasp of the law, to bless and save them. This conception is wholly false. It is not true that the law is all severity, and the gospel all graciousness. On the contrary the law, in one aspect of it, and, indeed, in its very nature and design, is as much an expression of the divine beneficence as the gospel is; and, on the other hand, the gospel, in one aspect of it, is as much an expression of the divine severity as the law. There is no contest over men, between the law and the gospel. They are in perfect harmony at all points. Faith does not make the law void, but establishes it.

To make this affirmation of the text good, is the object of this sermon.—For this purpose it will be necessary to give

I. AN ANALYSIS OF THE LAW, BOTH AS TO ITS NATURE AND FUNCTIONS. This done, we shall be prepared to enter directly upon the inquiry, Is the law made void by the gospel?

1. The law is an assertion of the Divine authority over intelligent creatures. I need not say that the law in question is the moral law. It embodies the will of the Creator, with respect to the conduct of His creatures.

2. The law is not only an assertion of the authority of God; it also postulates the ultimate truth with regard to moral relations. The Divine will is not capricious. It is coincident with the absolute truth.

What is the law, reduced to its last statement? Moses gave a very close analysis in that great saying, "The first and great command is this: thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. And the second is like unto it: thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." The affirmation, "thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself," was not first made by Christ. It stands in the Old Testament Scriptures. But it was reserved to Christ to say, "This is the first and great commandment," and "The second is like unto it," and "on these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets." That these statements of Christ concerning these two commandments are true, that all the law does, indeed, hang on them, will appear to any one who will take the pains to review the Ten Commandments. These commandments given to Moses in the mount are God's own synopsis of the law. They were written by His finger upon two tables of stone. The first four were engraved on one table, and are called the commandments of the first table. The remaining six were engraved upon another, and are denominated the commandments of the second table.—Examine these: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me," "Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image," "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain," "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." These commandments of the first table are against idolatry, against image worship, against the profanation of the Most Holy Name; and require the consecration of a fixed portion of time to the Creator. They all have respect to the duties we owe to God. Now, tell me, if any man loves God with his whole heart, will he not keep all these? And if a man loves his neighbor as himself, will he not keep all the commandments of the second table, which forbid murder, theft and all other acts injurious to a fellow creature? It is most true, indeed, that all the law is fulfilled in one word—LOVE. He, who loves God with all his strength, and his neighbor as himself, will fulfill the law of his own nature in keeping the law of God.

In this law of love is found the ultimate truth with regard to moral relations. Where it is realized, each individual cherishes the welfare of all others, and the full measure of his powers goes to swell the sum of universal good. The law, then, is not a mere capricious assertion of authority—it postulates the ultimate moral truth.

But this proposition is not to be understood as in any degree mitigating the fact of the Divine authority. If the will of God is coincident with ultimate truth, that will is no less sovereign and almighty in maintaining the law, which is itself, also, the truth. The majesty and magistracy of God must not be set aside by a vain philosophy. The law is the truth, given by Divine legislation, and enforced by supreme, executive, sovereign authority and power.

3. The law is the utterance of the moral nature of God. Mr. Wesley called it a transcript of the divine mind. My proposition puts the same truth in other terms. The ultimate moral truth is subjective in God. In the law, God simply utters Himself as to his moral nature. "God is love, and "love is the fulfilling of the law, as we have already seen. Love is not, properly, an attribute of God, but the very essence of His moral nature.—The more deeply you consider this the more clearly will you see its truth. Every one of the moral attributes of the Creator is but a phase of love.—For what is truth, but love speaking the words that are right? What is mercy, but love condescending to the unworthy and the miserable? What, indeed, is justice itself but love governing the universe for the highest ends? And the law is love brought into expression in the conduct of intelligent beings. The law, then, is the utterance of the moral nature of God.

4. The Law solves the problem involved in the relations of the individual liberty to the common welfare. Political philosophy has been embarrassed by this problem from the first. Men in society, are in such relations to each other that, each one in pursuing his own ends and seeking to gratify his own desires, is liable to trench upon the rights, to encroach upon the possessions, and disturb the peace of others. To insure the public weal, therefore, private liberty must be restrained. The general good demands a thousand checks upon the freedom of personal ambition and impulse. In business, in social intercourse, in the gratification of appetite, in the pursuit of honors and pleasures, a man must be held under repression, lest he should jostle and damage his neighbor. But let the law of God—the law of love—be realized in character and become universal, and the conflict ceases. This law, realized in consciousness, and giving impulse to desire and pursuit, will but enhance the common good, through the means of personal freedom; for each one will find his own happiness in promoting the well being of others. Love finds its blessedness in blessing. It is more pained in the injury of others than in its own calamities. It seeks its own in contributing to the common wealth. Give the man, who loves his neighbor as he loves himself, perfect liberty! Never fear him. The common weal will only be enhanced by his freedom. Who ever thinks of putting restraints upon a mother in the midst of her family? If only she has knowledge and wisdom enough to understand what is best, there is no fear. Trust her with her children! Let her be perfectly free! Just let her have her own way! There is no other possible means of insuring the welfare of her children comparable to that. She shall do what she pleases!

Did the law of God but rule in all hearts, each one would contribute to the utmost of his power and resources to the welfare of the whole. He would do this of his own suggestion. He would do it freely. It would be the outcome of his personal liberty. In that case, the largest personal freedom, would insure the largest possible sum of personal and universal good.

It follows that the law gives this divine solution of the problem involved in the relation of the individual liberty to the common welfare. It secures at once, the largest conceivable measure of freedom to the individual, and the largest possible amount of good to the whole. Indeed the common good is assured by the very liberty of the individual. It is enhanced by this very means in the highest possible degree. Let God once reign in all hearts, and you may turn every man loose! In such a case any restraint on one, must diminish the sum of the common blessedness: for all the free activities in the whole would contribute to the general fund.

5. The law is the condition of life. This proposition is incontestable and universal. The law does not furnish the condition of salvation to the sinner, but this fact does not affect the truth of our proposition. It is the universal and unalterable condition of life. This is true whether you take the word condition in its popular or in its scientific import. "What saith the law? He that doeth these things shall live by them" On the condition of keeping the law, life is secure.—"The soul that sinneth, it shall die." He who keeps the law lives, he who violates it dies. God has never assured life to any, while they live in sin. "The wages of sin is death." So, also, in the scientific use of the term; life is conditioned upon the law, and is realized in the law. In the very fact of conformity to the law, there is life, and any departure from it is death.

To see this clearly we must contemplate it in the light of a truth already established in this sermon. The essence of the law is love—pure, divine love. It is not that passion, which is sometimes misnamed, and which is only lust, but such holy affection as that which brought Christ down from heaven for us. It is a matter of consciousness that both purity and peace are found in this. In the beneficent affections there is inward harmony, while selfish passions are in their own nature a cause of torment. The subjective state of the man in whose character the law of love is the supreme fact, is that which the Bible calls life, and the inward discord, impurity, and torment of selfish passion, is the very state which is named death. It is the living, conscious death, in which being itself is perverted and becomes a curse—it is the death "that never dies." How manifestly true it is then, that life is conditioned upon the law—that the law indeed, inwrought into character is the very spiritual life itself. It is the life of God in the soul, for the law is the utterance of the moral life of God.

Not only is the law incorporated into personal character, the fountain of spiritual life, but it is the basis of all good relations between intelligent creatures, and the condition of both harmony and happiness in the social state. It secures life objectively as well as subjectively: "For he that will love life and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile; let him eschew evil and do good; let him seek peace and ensue it." If you can imagine a state of society in which all are elevated to the perfect standard of the law, life will abound within and without. All must be purity and peace, confidence and joy. None need stand in the attitude of defense, none can have occasion to fear, or, even of suspicion. Unruffled happiness must reign in the soul, and undisturbed tranquility in society. In the inward domain there can be naught to embitter, in the outer world, naught to alarm. Fulness of life arises within, and fulness of peace responds from without.

So can I doubt that this constitutes the very blessedness of the heavenly state. My conception of heaven is not what it was some years ago. Then, my ideas of it were formed entirely from the sumptuous poetical description given in the last chapters of the Apocalypse. True, I still cling to these, and enjoy that side of the coming glory as intensely as I did then. I love to think of the "great white throne," and of the river of life, of the sea of glass, and of the fine linen, white and clean, which is the righteousness of saints; of the house where the many mansions are, and of the angels, and men redeemed from the earth—the just made perfect. I love to hear, in imagination, the music, and the worship, and the shouting, which shall be like the voice of many waters and mighty thunders. Nor do I doubt that there is a place called heaven, the metropolis of Jehovah's empire, where infinite creative skill has brought into objective expression the highest, divinest types of beauty and grandeur for the delectation of the children of God. In this sense of the just there is nothing to offend. The splendor of it is but feebly suggested in the fact that, the very foundations of the outer walls—the meanest stones in all the city—are emerald, and jacinth, and sardonyx, and beryl. The meanest stones are gems, and the pavement of the streets is gold.

But while I still revel in these gorgeous pictures, there is now a view of heaven, which seems to me to be infinitely more precious. There is one passage in the first Epistle of St. John, that gives deeper insight into it—and a more resplendent vision of its glory. It gives not the outward expression, but the inner, essential glory. These are the words: he that hath ears to hear let him hear. "It doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear, we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is." Not where a man is, but what he is, is the great matter. No external condition can insure felicity. There must be the inward adaptation. There must be capacity for blessedness. What would heaven be to your horse? He would in exchange a ten acre meadow for it all. No doubt heaven is a place, but much more is it a state. There is a magnificent objective side to it, but in its essence it is subjective. Let the young people of my congregation hear me, especially when I say, that the great thing in every man's case is character. Not where a man is, but what he is—not what a man has, but what he is, ought to concern him chiefly. "The kingdom of heaven is within you." Hear what I say: it is character that makes destiny. I shall never forget how nature in its most beautiful forms gloomed before me when the guilt of my sins was upon me, nor how the world danced into a new beauty, how the very forests seemed touched with celestial light, when I first felt the peace of God within. The truth is the subjective projects its own light upon the objective and as to our delight in them, things are very much what we, ourselves, make them. It is CHARACTER that makes destiny. To be like the Lord Jesus is my highest conception of heaven, and to be like Him, is to have a character modeled upon the law.

There is another Bible description of heaven, which lies in the line of my thought. It is in the Apocalypse: "He that overcometh shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my son." This is not mere poetry, it is literal truth. I shall, if I am saved at last, find myself in possession of all things. All heaven and all worlds will be my property. The very angels will belong to me, and all redeemed men. I shall—I say it with awe—inherit even God! Yet, will my title not be exclusive. Every saved soul will enjoy the same vast property. But my title will not be a free fractional interest, reduced by these immeasurable participants, to an infinitesimal share. The great domain of the universe will be mine wholly! It will be wholly yours, also, as well as mine! What strange paradox is this? Ah! my brother it is true as strange, and the fact lies in the deepest philosophy of spiritual life. We shall find the explanation in the feature by which our final possessions are to be held.

The tenure is love! What! are you not satisfied with the title? I tell you it is the most indefeasible and the safest in the universe, and constitutes the most real possession. Your property that you hold in fee and the best securities, may slip from a defective title, to be defended by litigation, with a thousand costs and vexations, and in the end be lost. At any rate death will wrest it from you. At the very best, it is a loose possession, lying outside of you, and it may be, but a very small part of it actually utilized to any substantial benefit.

But love is the soul's actual grasp and conscious possession of things. It is the inward title and vital hold of its object. He, who loves his neighbor as himself, has his property, with all his riches, his virtues, his attainments. What an appropriating possession have I taken of the man whom I love as I love myself! By this tenure shall I enter upon the the ownership of all things at last.

But the glorious wonder is, my title will not interfere with yours, nor yours with mine, nor will the possession of either diminish the value of the estate to the other. On the contrary it will enhance it. There is a Divine law by which participation does not diminish the property of the individual, but multiplies it by the number of participants. Imagine a man, whose property amounts to millions. But he is a solitary man. In all the world there is not one that he loves. He occupies his mansion alone. Of what value is all his wealth to him? What enjoyment has he in it? All may be summed in a very few narrow words. Gratified capidity, and satiated appetite, and artistic taste, give the full measure. But let the participation of wife and children come in, and the value of every dollar is multiplied by the wonderful arithmetic of love, and it is only the more fully his as it is theirs also. So will it be in heaven. I shall own all things. So will you, and I shall own you, and you will own me: and I shall own your ownership of all things and of me. Thus your participation, so far from being an intrusion, or abstracting from my possessions, will only enhance my property by the full measure of your own enrichment. I will enjoy your enjoyment of it, as I shall my own, so that your presence and participation will double the estate for me. And the participants will be countless multitudes. Oh! Heaven when shall I enter upon thy perfect bliss?

(To be concluded next week.)

The Brain.

One of the most inconceivable things in the nature of the brain is that, although the organ of sensation, it should itself be insensible. To cut the brain gives no pain, yet in the brain resides the power of feeling pain in any part of the body. If the nerve which leads to it from the injured part be divided, we become instantly unconscious of suffering. It is only by communication with the brain that any kind of sensation is produced, yet the organ itself is insensible. But there is a circumstance more wonderful still. A certain portion of the brain itself may be removed without destroying life. The animal lives and performs all those functions which are necessary to simple vitality, but it has no longer a mind. It cannot think or feel It requires that the food should be pushed into its stomach; once there it is digested, and the animal will even thrive and grow fat. We infer, therefore, that a part of the brain is simply intended for the exercise of the intellectual faculties, whether of the lower degree, called instinct, or of that exalted kind bestowed on man called reason.

Disloyalty to Genius.

Disloyalty to genius—it is one of the crimes of our age as of every other! If we allow ourselves to rejoice without stint in any true poet of our time, we are almost sure to avenge later upon him our sin of enthusiasm. We are not content to sift the bad bad from the good, as our minds and tastes mature or change; but we sweep all his work aside together with scorn and contumely: and the fault of individuals is the crime of generations. Every poet, like every dog, has his day. Thank Heaven that long testing time holds its inevitable and indestructible reward. Meanwhile we can afford to bear with those who "read a poet, as he should be read, with enthusiasm," and praise him, as he should be praised, lovingly and strenuously. The painter with no splendor of color can match the charm of nature, though he may err in his graphic analysis of her beauty. —"The Old Cabinet." Scribner for August.

A Mussel Shell.

BY CELIA THAXTER.

Why art thou colored like the evening sky
Sorrowing for sunset? Lovely dost thou lie,
Barred by the washing of the eager brine,
At the snow's motionless and wind carved line.

Cold shriek the snows, cold throng the waves, the wind
Slings sharp—an icy fire, a touch unkind,—
And sighs as it with passion of regret
The while I mark thy tints of violet.

O beauty strange! O shape of perfect grace,
Whereon the lovely waves of color trace
The history of the years that passed thee by,
And touched thee with the pathos of the sky!

The sea shall crush thee, yea, the ponderous wave
Up the loose beach shall grind, and scoop thy grave,
Then thought of God! What more than thou can I?
Both transient as the sad wind's passing sigh.
—Scribner for August

The Wayside Prayer.

A young lady was taking a pleasure walk one summer day in a deeply shaded woodland, and being weary, sat down to rest on secluded mossy bank near the summit of a hill—Presently she heard a voice as of one engaged in earnest conversation, and on advancing a step or two, she saw good Deacon M. coming leisurely up the hill, the reins hanging loosely over the horse's neck.

"What can he be talking about so earnestly to himself" she thought; but directly she heard the voice of prayer, and the words which God's providence caused to be especially impressed upon her mind where these:

"O Lord have mercy upon the youth of this place." The good old man rode on; but the voice of prayer was heard after he disappeared from her view in the depths of the forest.

The young lady was struck with the thought "Is this the way Christians go about the town and mingle with the world? Do they pray thus for our souls? I have hardly ever prayed for my own." From that day and hour she began to pray, and became herself the first fruits of a glorious revival. The good deacon's prayer was answered even while it was being offered.—Earnest Worker.

Education Devoted to Christ.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate is one of our most highly esteemed and valuable religious journals. Its editorials are always practical, interesting and instructive. The following article, from that paper, on the subject of education devoted to Christ demonstrates what we have just said, and we give it to our readers and commend it to their careful perusal:

"The measure of devotion demanded is uniform. There is, however some leading exhibition. It strikes with special power upon the best and the greatest things we have. If there is anything in us more eminent than another it is that which God singles out as his peculiarly. If wealth is the distinguishing possession, consecration lies chiefly in the use of it for Christ. If it be genius, talent, eloquence or learning, this particular distinguishing gift or endowment is the offering required of us. Our best things—our highest capabilities—are the exponents of our entire religious character. If these are laid at the feet of the Savior, they carry all else with them. If they are withheld, all other offerings are expressions more of selfishness than of love.

Education is a gift capable of usefulness in higher degrees, and in more ways than any other. It is probably as often withheld from God and wasted on selfish ends as riches. Not unfrequently it is retired from every profitable use, and is buried in idleness or in pursuits which afford no sphere for its improvement. It is a possession which lies fallow, or, if actively employed, it is exclusively directed to worldly ends. Cultivated minds, trained in the discipline of colleges and universities, can do much in the promotion of the gospel. They are qualified to be more effective witnesses and more efficient workers for Christ than those who have had no opportunities of liberal scholarship. They should be foremost in the enterprises of the church, and the advantages they have enjoyed should be made to tell in many ways.

It is not always so. Often the educated men of a congregation are the last to assume responsible places, and to enter heartily upon the more onerous offices and duties. Education may be the means of procuring wealth, of securing social position and influence, and through these of contributing to the spread of religious truth. The educated man can write, he can teach, he can preach the gospel. But, leaving these directions of activity out of the account, the educated layman is needed in the several departments of church work. In the Sunday school, as superintendents and teachers, there is demand for the highest intelligence and cultivation. For stewards and class leaders men of the best abilities are needed. We covet for the church, in her devotional services, in her social assemblies, and in all her personal work, the educated men, many of whom, though members are scarcely known or felt in her affairs. We would bring them into more direct and vital connection with the performance of religious duties, and make their gifts more potent and available in the cause of religion.

The superior usefulness of educated men, where they are spiritual and zealous, makes us more anxious to see this element of good fully developed and laid upon the altar. It is a mighty power when combined with spirituality and brought under the control of consecration to Christ. In our educational enterprises much depends upon the zealous and liberal co-operation of those who know their character and value. Educated Christian men are to leaven the mind of the church on this subject, and to lead in the patronage and endowment of institutions of learning. They know their value better than others, they more perfectly comprehend the necessity of a high grade of education. An appeal to them should require but little argument. They have the intelligence and experience that enable them at once to appreciate the subject. In all the great interests of the church—in missions, in church-building and organization, and in the business of our Conferences—there is need of laymen who have breadth of view, well-disciplined faculties, large intelligence and sound judgment.

Men of this class are generally busy, absorbed in professions or other important pursuits, and often, for this reason, are kept aloof from active participation in church affairs. Perhaps the greatest trouble with many is that they fail to realize their peculiar obligations as educated men, and that the church has special need of their services The buried talent is not money alone, nor is it the native intellect prostituted to ignoble ends, but it is education and its capabilities withheld from Christ.

As our young men leave college with their well-merited diplomas, let them pause upon the threshold before they depart, and put their education upon God's altar as probably the most precious thing they can devote to his service and glory. Whether the chosen pursuit be law, medicine, literature or agriculture, determine to meet manfully the first and highest responsibility. However education may prepare for success in life, and be the means of securing wealth and fame, it must above all contribute to our influence and usefulness as Christians. As it fits men to lead in secular callings, so it should be the means of eminent good in the religious life, and place its possessors in the van for liberal devising and self-denying labor."

Blank Checks

Suppose some friend of ours, whose wealth is known to be practically unlimited, should declare his readiness and willingness to supply all our wants. Suppose he should put into our hand a book of "checks," all signed by his own hand, and the amounts left blank for us to fill up in any need, with such sums as will meet every possible exigency. Suppose we tell our kindred and acquaintances what a friend we have, and how richly provided we are for every strait. And then, suppose we go about half starved, groaning with leanness and faintness, or only half-clothed, in thin rags, and the shame of nakedness bowing us down to the ground. Would not those who knew us be moved to wonder and doubt? Would not one of them say to us: "I thought the great banker had undertaken to feed and clothe you; is this the best he does for you? His offer could not have been very sincere. His words were large, but they do not seem to have meant much." How such a demonstration on our part would shame the truth and generosity of our friend. Or, if we acknowledge that we did not use the "checks," and did not more than half believe they would be honored, how the confession would shame our own littleness and meanness of confidence in our benefactor! "Lord increase our faith!" A large expectation will prepare us to receive a large blessing. It will affect our desires. It will control our working. It will shape our plans. It will stimulate our importunity, and especially will it honor God.—Rev. A. L. Stone, D. D.

Spurgeon's Gift in Illustration.

"Some years," he said, "I was crossing the Maritime Alps. We were going up a pretty heavy grade, and the engine, though a powerful one, labored hard to drag us up the steep ascent, till at length it came to a dead stop. I got out to see what was the matter, for I didn't like the looks of things, and there we were, stuck fast in a snow-drift! The engine was working still as hard as ever, and the rails were icy, and the wheels could not take hold—they could not get any grip—and so the train was unable to move. So it is with some men, and some ministers, They are splendid engines, and they have got steam enough. The wheels revolve all right, only they don't get any grip on the rails, and so the train doesn't move. Now our American friends have somehow got this grip on the public mind; when they speak or sing, the people hear. Without debating why this is, or how it is, let us thank God for it, and try to help them in the use of the power which God has given them."

Objectionable Custom at Funerals.

Our English friends are earnestly discussing the importance of securing relief from some unnecessary burdens at funerals. At a recent meeting of about sixty ministers, of Newcastle-on Tyne, it was unanimously agreed: Firstly, "That the custom of using scarves, hat-bands, etc., at funerals is not only oppressively costly to bereaved families, especially to those whose means have been reduced by the expenses incident to affliction, but is also inconsistent with the simplicity which should mark Christian interment;" and, secondly, "That this meeting deplores the drinking and other customs in the entertainment of guests at funerals, and earnestly appeals to the educated and wealthier members of the community to exert their influence, as occasion may serve, to discontinue all such usages." A similar resolution was passed at the Newcastle District meeting.

NO LIKING FOR WESTERN MEN.—The Indians have learned to distrust Western men. At a recent council held at Washington between certain Government officials and an Indian delegation, headed by Red Cloud and Spotted Tail, the former chieftain said: "when I came to Washington first, the President told me he would give me an agent, and I must look out for him; and if he did not please me, to bring him back, and that he had a great many men, and would give me a good one. I have brought him back for you to consider the matter. I want the Great Father to hear me, and give a good and wise man for an agent. I don't want a Western man, but a man from the East, and a wealthy man. These Western men fill their pockets, and when their pockets are full, they fill their hats, and then say 'Good-bye,' and go away. I want a man with a good heart as well as brains."

Books of Wood.

An exchange gives this description of a curious library, and therein lies what almost any one can carry out, partly at least:

'In the museum at Cassel, Germany, is a library made from five hundred European trees. The back of each volume is formed of the bark of a tree, the side of the perfect wood, the top of young wood, and the bottom of old.—When opened, the book is found to be a box, containing the flower, seed, fruit and leaves of the tree either dried or imitated in wax. At the Melbourne Inter-Colonial Exhibition, of 1866, Colonel Clamp exhibited specimens of Victorian wood converted into small boxes of book form, according to a design suggested by that gentleman at the Victorian Exhibition of 1851, and then suggested by Baron Ferd. Mueller. Nothing could be more convenient and more interesting than a library of such imitation books, representing the different timber of various countries, which should be systematically, or alphabetically, or geographically arranged. Australia alone could furnish such a collection more than a thousand volumes.—At the Paris Exhibition, of 1867, Russia showed a similar collection of wooden books, cleverly, designed, showing the bark as the back binding, and lettered with the popular and scientific names of the wood. Each book contained samples of the leaves and fruit of the tree, and a section and shaving, or veneer, of the wood.'

Seed Thoughts.

If we are faultless, we should not be so much annoyed by the defects of those with whom we associate. If we were to acknowledge honestly that we have not virtue enough to bear patiently with our neighbors' weaknesses, we should show our own imperfection, and this alarms our vanity.—FENELON

The first step toward greatness is to be honest, says the proverb; but the proverb fails to state the case strong enough. Honesty is not only the first step toward greatness, it is greatness itself.—BOVEE.

The brave only know how to forgive; it is the most refined and generous pitch of virtue human nature can arrive at. Cowards have done good and kind actions,—cowards have fought, nay, sometimes even conquered, but a coward never forgave. It is not his nature; the power of doing it flows only from strength and greatness of soul, conscious of its own force and security, and above the little temptations of resenting every fruitless attempt to in interrupt its happiness.—STERNE.

Discontents are sometimes the better part of our life. I know not well which is the more useful; joy I may choose for pleasure, but adversities are the best for profit; and sometimes those do so far help me, as I should, without them, want much of the joy I have.—FELTHAM.

It is the doctrine of Augustine, as also of Thomas Aquinas after him, that the principle of holy love existing in the heart necessarily includes in itself, or implies, the existence of all other Christian virtues. And consequently it will assume the form of distinct virtues, on the appropriate occasions of such virtues. He who loves God with all his heart will not violate the laws of purity, because it would be a disregard of the will of God, which he loves above all things. His love, under such circumstances, becomes the virtue of chastity. He who loves God with all his heart has too much love and reverence for the will of God, to murmur or repine under the dispensations of his providence. His love, under such circumstance, becomes the virtue of patience. —FENELON.

A tall Western girl, named Short, long loved a certain big Mr. Little; while Little, little thinking of Short, loved a little lass named Long. To make a long story short, Little proposed to Long, and Short longed to be even with Little's short comings. So Short, meeting Long threatened to marry Little before long, which caused Little, in a short time, to marry Long. Query—Did tall Short love big Little less, because Little loved Long?

Somebody wrote to the editor of a country paper to ask how he would 'break an ox?, The editor answered as follows; If only one ox, a good way would be to hoist him, by means of a long chain attached to his tail, to the top of a pole forty feet from the ground. Then hoist him, by a rope tied to his horns, to another pole. Then descend on his back a five-ton pile-driver, and if that don't break him, let him start a country newspaper and trust people for subscription. One of the two ways will do it, sure."

No liquor is sold in Vineland, New Jersey, a town of ten thousand inhabitants, and the account stands thus: Almost nothing paid for relief of the poor; one indictment for a trifling case of battery during the year; one house burned in a year; yearly police expenses $75. Against this, note a New England town—vouched for by ZION'S HERALD, but name not given—with 9,590 inhabitants. This town has four liquor shops, and it kept busy a police judge, city marshall, assistant marshall, four night watchmen, and six policemen It costs $3 000 a year for a fire department; support of poor $2.500; debt of the township, $120,000,

The Florida fruit and vegetable growers met with a cordial reception in Chicago. They were formally welcomed to the produce exchange; and at a subsequent meeting of merchants, a committee was appointed to go with the Florida delegation to the transportation agents for the purpose of making arrangements for a regular trade between Chicago and Florida.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE OF THE M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, R. T. Gray, Esq. } Editors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID,	$2.20
IN SIX MONTHS, "	1.35
If payment be delayed six months,	2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 28, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

We earnestly appeal to the friends of the ADVOCATE to make extra exertions in its behalf. It is a church interest and at this time, as always, is in need of the zeal of its friends. We incur heavy expense in the publication of the paper,—bills have to be met promptly as they fall due,—printers' wages and other expenses cannot go unpaid at the end of the week, and we rely upon the friends of Methodism and our church in this State to sustain and reimburse us for our expenditures. We do not feel that we are asking alms when we appeal to our friends to assist us in sustaining and extending the circulation of the Advocate. We are vain enough (if vanity it be) to consider that we give to our readers a paper that is worth more than the subscription price, and that we furnish the Conference with a medium of Church communication that is indispensable to the progress of her interests We have assurances from all quarters that the Advocate is up to every requirement; some friends, by their letters, evince great enthusiasm in their feelings teward it. We say it not boastingly, yet truthfully, that Editors deserve all the compensation they receive for their work. Their work is continuous and exhausting, their labors abundant, vexations frequent, stripes from irate correspondents oft, and perils oft, from ponies and "pied forms."

We have seldom made an appeal to our friends without a prompt and liberal response. All we ask is that our friends will promptly renew their subscription when their terms expire, and induce others to renew and still others to subscribe. We strive to arouse the Church to vigorous action in all its departments, to promote the intelligence of our readers by keeping them informed of what the Church is doing, as well as the world at large, and to excite a thirst for knowledge which will redound to the activity and good of the Church; and to this end we request the aid of our friends.

It seems that Bro. Thompson, of Fayetteville Station, has but little difficulty in meeting the demands that are made upon him and his congregation. He has a missionary society, composed of the children of the church who meet once a month and are enthusiastic in enlisting older people and children of other churches as members of the Society. There are several hundred members and each pays small monthly dues which amount, in the aggregate, to a considerable sum. The assessment upon the church for Missions is thus promptly and easily met Week before last the popular pastor told some ladies of the Sewing Society that he wanted a fund upon which to draw for the poor of the congregation. "Yes, sir," was the reply. Three or four days thereafter the answer was supplemented by a notice that the sum of $125 was to his credit—the net proceeds of an ice-cream festival, hastily arranged by some estimable and energetic ladies. The Sewing Society meets regularly, not as a matter of form or to exchange opinions about neighbors, but to consider of the needs of the church and to work efficiently to supply them.

The Oxford Torch-Light was issued daily during the sitting of the District Conference at that place. It exhibited spirit, spiciness and enterprise in the young editor, W. A. Davis, and was appreciated by the Conference and the town. Mr. Davis has the qualities which will ensure success in the journalistic field and we expect to see him in future years controlling and directing the interests of some more extended newspaper enterprise. However that may be, we can do no less now than to congratulate him on the success of the Daily Torch-Light, and regret that it was aflame no longer than the session of the Conference which called it into existence.

We regret to learn that Sister Brooks, wife of Rev. J. R. Brooks, has been quite ill, so much so that for a few days her friends despaired of her life. She is now improving, and we trust will soon be fully restored to health.

We failed to get a report of the second and third day's proceedings of the Raleigh District Conference, and received nothing from the Hillsboro District Conference. We hope to have full reports from the secretaries next week.

The indulgent reader will excuse the lack of editorial matter in this issue when told that the Senior is absent in attendance upon the District Conference and the Junior is incapacitated by keen suffering for performing any but the lightest work this week.

Editorial Correspondence.

DEAR ADVOCATE: We, the Senior, in company with a large number of preachers and delegates of the Raleigh District Conference, arrived in the pleasant town of Oxford on Wednesday evening and were most comfortably quartered at the residence of J. C. Cooper, Esq., with Rev. V. A. Sharpe as our room mate. The Conference convened this morning in the Methodist Church in Oxford, Rev. J. P. Moore in the chair, and was opened with religious services conducted by the writer.

All the preachers were present except Bro. Mangum, who is unavoidably prevented from attending. A large number of lay delegates are present, and the indications are favorable for a pleasant and profitable meeting.

Rev. J. E. Thompsen, of Cary circuit, preached the opening sermon from Luke 10 chap. 20th v: "Notwithstanding, in this rejoice, not that the spirits are subject unto you; but rather rejoice because your names are written in heaven.' The subject discussed was the advantages of being a child of God. It was a practical, earnest and instructive sermon. J. W. Hays, lay delegate from the Granville circuit, was elected Secretary of the Conference, and D. W. Bain of Edenton Street Church was elected assistant Secretary. The presiding officer, Rev. J. P. Moore, addressed the Conference in a happy manner. He took occasion to speak in complimentary terms of the citizens of Oxford, where the Conference is being held—of the hospitality, refinement and intelligence of her people.

The time for meeting and adjourning was fixed: to meet at 8½ o'clock, A M., and adjourn at 11 A. M.,—meet 3 P. M. and adjourn at pleasure. Rev. J R Griffith, Rev. L. K. Willie and J. W. Hays, Esqs., were appointed a committee on public worship. Rev. V. A. Sharpe, agent for Trinity College, Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, agent for Greensboro College, Rev. Jesse Page, from the Methodist Protestant Church, Rev. J. W. Shackford and T. C. Williams, Esq., Secretary of the Widows' and Orphaus' Benefit Society of the North Carolina Conference, were introduced to the Conference and invited to seats. A communication from Rev. A. W. Mangum, Pastor of Edenton Street Church was read, giving in detail an account of the condition of his charge. D. W. Bain, delegate from this charge, stated that the Sabbath School numbered about 300—that the Superintendent, W. J. Young, is a superior superintendent—a practical man—an educated man and a great worker in the Sunday school cause—that the spiritual and financial condition of the church is good. Some of the members attend circus—none attend dancing parties.

On motion of J. B. Bobbitt, Friday at 3 P. M. was set apart for an educational mass-meeting in the interest of Greensboro and Trinity Colleges.

On motion the Conference adjourned for divine service. Rev. N. M. Jurney preached from 16 chap. Luke 31 v. "And he said unto him, if they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead." The sermon was a solemn warning to the unconverted.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Conference met at 3 P. M., and was opened with religious services conducted by the President. The minutes of the morning session were read and approved. The President inquired if any delegates had arrived since the morning session. Several names were reported. The bar of the Conference was fixed, and all members requested to occupy seats within the bar.

The presiding officer called for the report from the pastor of Person St. Church. The spiritual condition of the church was reported good. About 200 persons professed faith in Christ during the revival at this church and about 100 connected themselves there with: about twenty with Edenton Street church and a large number with the Baptist and some with the Episcopal Church. Bro. Riddle, a member of the church, has been holding weekly prayer meetings and Bro. Branson has been doing very efficient missionary work. He has a flourishing Sunday school in the outskirts of the city in connection with this church. Bro. Ballard, the efficient superintendent of the Sunday school at this church, is a man of sterling worth, and is eminently qualified for the position he holds. On motion the resolution fixing the time for a general mass meeting in the interest of Greensboro and Trinity Colleges at 3 P. M. to morrow was changed to 10 o'clock in the morning. T. C. Williams, Esq., explained the design and operations of the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Society.

Bro. Gibbons addressed the Conference in the interest of the society.

The Conference by invitation agreed to visit the Orphan Asylum, to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. There are 105 orphans in the institution under the instruction of four lady teachers. We were informed that the health of the children is good, there having been no serious case of illness during the year. The institution is entirely supported by charitable donations. There have been secured about 150 good homes for the orphan children since its organization, out of some two hundred and seventy-five that have been received, while many others have been returned to their friends whose condition has been so improved that they could take care of them. It is a grand institution and should receive the hearty support of the people of North Carolina. Mr. Mills, the efficient superintendent, will soon resign his responsible position. He is casting around to find a successor. So soon as the righ man can be secured, his resignation will go into effect.

Our old and tried friend J. H. Moore Esq., is the faithful steward of the Asylum. He is favorably spoken of, by many, as a most suitable successor of Mr. Mills.

Mr. J. W. Hayes, the Secretary of the Conference, is one of the democratic candidates for Convention in this county. He is worthy of any place in the gift of the people. He is a man of culture and deep piety.

The town of Oxford is justly proverbial for its hospitality and intelligence. Great interest is manifested on the part of her citizens in the sessions of the Conference and large crowds attend upon the ministry of the Word. We are looking and praying for a display of God's power in the salvation of souls before the Conference adjourns. Bro. Griffith, the popular pastor of this charge, is a zealous worker. He is greatly beloved by his people. Of him the Daily Torch Light, a sprightly little paper published daily during the session of our Conference, in speaking of Bro. Griffith says: "he is a gentleman of much fervor of spirit and zeal as a public speaker. His talent as a revivalist, when fully aroused, we have never seen surpassed. The Methodist churches under his charge are all flourishing, and as a minister he is much beloved by his flock."

Rev. J. A. Cunninggim and Rev. V. A. Sharpe our College agents, are working faithfully in the interest of their respective institutions, and are meeting with encouragement.

Rev. A. A. Boshaumer preached an excellent sermon to night from 2d Cor. 6th and 1st. "We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain." Congregation large and attentive — sermon thoroughly prepared and excellently delivered.

The people are gathering in from the surrounding country. Divine services will be held at both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches to morrow evening.

J. B. BOBBITT.

Oxford, N. C., July 22, 1875.

We had the pleasure of seeing Bro. A. R. Raven in the city last week. He has taken a short vacation from his work for the purpose of recuperating his health which of late has not been very strong. We trust his sojourn in the up country will soon restore him to perfect health.

Rev. Dr Hauner, Presiding Elder of the Nashville District, Tennessee Conference, has been suspended by Bishop McTyeire until the next Conference, for writing an anonymous and immoral letter to a young lady The authorship of the letter was charged to and admitted by him. The action in the case by the committee of investigation and the Bishop, was prompt though painful, evincing on their part a determination to remove all reproach from the church. Dr. Hanner is old and for many years has been quite eccentric.

WHO NAMED OUR CHURCH?—In answer to this question Prof. B. H. McCown writes the following letter to the Central Methodist:

"At the Convention of 1845, at the suggestion of Bishop Soule, a meeting of a number of ministers was held at the house of Rev. Edward Stevenson for consultation. Before many had come Bishop Soule, standing in the room, asked, 'What name shall we adopt?' I remember the presence of Stevenson, Bascom, and Ralston, at the time.

"I know several titles were proposed and objected to. At length Rev. T. N. Ralston said, 'Methodist Episcopal Church, South.' I never shall forget the satisfaction which Bishop Soul's face expressed when that name was mentioned. The question that had seemed to disturb his mind was solved. He said, with the most evident satisfaction, while looking at Ralston, 'That is the name.'

BURR H. MCCOWN.

"Forest Academy, June 25, 1875.'

Trinity College

The entire expense in the regular course is $90 for five months. In the Preparatory, it is from $75 to $85 For the purpose of aiding young men of limited means, arrangements have been made by which $60, in advance, will pay the board. tuition and fees for five months. This aid can be given to twenty-five students. This aid will be given only to such as produce satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and industrious habits. Those who wish to avail themselves of this favor can correspond with me on the subject.

July 15th, 1875. B. CRAVEN.

Greensboro District Conference to be held at High Point, commencing August 12th at 10 o'clock. Ministers and laymen will be provided homes during the session by sending their names at once to the committee of arrangement. Brethren please be prompt.

Address

JAMES A. CAMPBELL, S. H. SMITH. } Com.

at High Point, or P. L. Harman, Thomasville N. C.

North Carolina University.

BROS. BOBBITT & GRAY: Your columns have announced, in generous terms, my election to the School of Moral Philosophy in the State University. As the time is near when I expect to resign the charge of my church in Raleigh and repair to my new field of labor, I consider it proper to commnnicate with my Methodist friends in regard to the change I am making and the work to which I am called.

The itinerancy is very dear to my heart. Rigbtly pursued, it accomplishes more for the spread of the Gospel than any other system with which I am acquainted. The itinerant idea, however, ought to embrace a corresponding activity on the part of the laity. Every Methodist should be an itinerant in the measure of his own field, for the whole church of God is sent forth to Missionary enterprise. I go to Chapel Hill with the advice of Bishop Marvin and at the solicitation of leading ministers and laymen in the Conference—sensible from private considerations, that it is my duty to do so.

I am therefore still one of you—following with faith and hope the openings of Providence—obeying "the powers that be" and cherishing the church of my love. I have served the Conference in various fields, from the comparative mission without appropriation to heavy circuit and heavier station—only escaping the affliction of being a Presiding Elder.

It must be plain to any unprejudiced mind that the University needs the co-operation of our Methodist citizenship and that the Methodist church has an interest in the University that we cannot afford to neglect. Representation in its faculty is necessary to the accomplishment of the highest usefulness and the conservation of our denominational interests. But there is to be no sectarianism in the management or instruction. No church is to be ignored or compromised—no church is to be permitted to arrogate unequal privilege or consequence. Precautions are taken to shield young men from the vices of the day. The dissipated and reckless will not be allowed to remain. Idleness, "hazing," secret social clubs, &c., are to be dealt with summarily. Any student coming from another University or College must give satisfactory assurance of honorable discharge from his former institution. The University is to be the friend and ally of Trinity, Davidson and Wake Forest. We purpose to work with them for the country and for God.

To my confiding friends among your readers, I state that it will afford me pleasure to give them any information they may desire about the requirements, expenses, &c., at the University.

Truly yours,

A. W. MANGUM.

Raleigh, N. C., July 21st, 1875.

An Incident.

MR. EDITOR: About 14 miles from Trinity College, among the hills of Uwharrie, is an election precinct, called "Finch's Store." A doctor, a lawyer, a preacher and a farmer, the candidates in Randolph for the State Convention, addressed the dear, good people at that place yesterday. The discussion was entered into with unusual vim and vigor by all the speakers, and the necessity of calling a convention was triumphantly vindicated by the doctor and the lawyer, the Conservative candidates for this county.

A novel incident grew out of this meeting; a brief account of which I have thought might interest your readers. About 5 o'clock in the evening, and before the discussion was closed, indications of a severe storm began to appear, when the writer and others set out for Trinity. We had proceeded but a few miles when one of the most sublime and terrific storm clouds spanned the western sky that it has ever been my fortune to behold. Shaped like the segment of a circle, it moved forward with alarming rapidity like a seething, surging ocean, while sheets of electric flame played incessantly across its surface, and the tempest's forked and firy tongue darted forth volleys of gleaming, crashing thunderbolts. The road was frightfully rough and hilly, and there was no house or shelter for miles; but my companion, Prof. C., held the reins over a splendid charger, and while the hills rapidly rose before us, they more rapidly disappeared behind us. On comes the furious storm demon, while lightnings play around his advancing chariot wheels, and the descending torrents begin to extinguish the glow of our fervid axles, when a sudden turn in the road brings us in sight of a church crowning the crest of a lonely hill. Ah! who, in sunshine or in storm would not take refuge in a church. The ancient heathen felt secure against the assaults of men and gods, while clinging to the horns of Minerva's altar; and shall we fear the bolts of heaven or the shafts of men while seeking safety at the shrine of the living God? The church we entered is an old, decaying structure, and though the rain poured through the roof in many places, it afforded us abundant shelter. and keeps the lamp of Christian worship still feebly burning upon its altars.

In addition to our Trinity party of four, others, strangers to us, to the number of 6 or 8, sought refuge in the church. After the storm began to abate, Dr. P., in a few brief and eloquent remarks suggested by the occasion, and without knowing to what denomination the church belonged, proposed that we make a subscription to repair the building. and in a few minutes about $12 were raised by the group of strangers in gratitude for our protection, and in honor to God. Several songs of praise were then sung by Prof C. and Dr. P., masters of the vocal art, and we left the old church and deserted hill, alone with night and nature.

G.

Religious Brevities

The Methodist Episcopal Church has over one hundred and forty Christian women engaged daily in spreading Gospel truth in India.

Moody and Sankey held the pro hibited service in Eton, England, after all, in a private garden. Between 150 and 200 of the Eton boys were present.

It is a significant fact, as related to child piety, that at the Central New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of 250 ministers present, the youngest at conversion was only seven, the oldest twenty, the average fifteen.

Bishop Cummins of the Reformed Episcopal Church, says that the denomination is making rapid progress, particularly in the Western States, Chicago alone having six of the new Churches. Philadelphia also is a favorable point, five Churches having been established there. Three additional Bishops were elected at the last Council, and will soon receive consecration.

The Californin Christian Advocate says: A party, made up chiefly of editors and newspaper correspondents, is now on the way to this coast, and will arrive in this city on the 16th inst. Rev. B K. Pierce, D. D., editor of Zion's Herald, is a member of the party. Prof. Harrington, a correspondent of the New York Methodist, is also of the company "

The will of the late ex Chief Justice Richard Ward Greene, bequeaths what is estimated to amount to $75,000 to aid the Methodist Episcopal Sabbath schools in the State of Rhode Island, one-third to be paid now, and the remainder upon the death of his wife. Mr. Greene was a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The statement of Bishop Baily, of Baltimore, during a visit to Washington City, last month, that among those confirmed as converts to Catholicism were sixty-nine Methodists, has been investigated by a committee of the Preachers' Meeting, who reported, after a careful inquiry, that but three members of our Church in that district had joined the Catholic Church, and that within the past year, seven Catholics have been converted and joined our Church.

The civil marriage of priests has been decided to be legal by an Italian court. This decision strikes at the roots of the Roman Catholic Church regulations, and under this decision the State defies the Church excommunication in relation to marriage, and sanctions the marriage of celibates bound by religious vows.

The Central Pennsylvania Conference passed a resolution requesting the General Conference to make the office of Presiding Elder elective.

The Wesleyans of England have had the nunsual increase of 6,000 per sons in membership the past year.

Recent investigation of the number of missionaries and converts in Japan gives the following result :

Greek Church, one missionary, 3,000 converts; Roman Catholic, 40 missionaries, 20,000 converts; Protestant, 70 missiouaries, 200 converts.

WE regret to learn that the feeble health of Rev. Eugene R. Smith has compelled the suspension of the Baltimore Book and Publishing Company and the Baltimore Christian Advocate.

Centennary Church, in Richmond, Va, was rededicated on the 17th inst. It has been remodeled at a cost of twenty thousand dollars. The Richmond Advocate says:

Dr. Edwards preached in the morning on "Bring no more vain oblations; incense is an abomination unto me; the new moons and Sabbaths, the calling of assemblies, I cannot away with; it is iniquity, oven the solemn meeting."—Isaiah i : 13.

Some fourteen hundred dollars were raised after the sermon. At night the sum was increased to the amount needed—two thousand dollars. Dr. Granbery and Bro. Bledsoe made addresses.

A SAD PICTURE.—The correspondent of the Christian World gives the following sad picture of the chief city of California:

"Ont of a population of 275,000 in San Francisco, it is estimated that 190,000 never attend church. An intelligent observer, a distinguished Presbyterian divine, after referring to several secret orders, says: I believe that nearly half of our adult male population is in some Society outside of the Christian Church, which is to it a substitute for the Church. Many of these Societies hold their regular meetings on the Sabbath, and others make excursions on that day, so that their influence is thrown, to a great extent, in direct opposition to that of the Churches. Thus social life on this coast, is largely Anti-Christian. It is organized on an infidel basis. Men feel that they do not need the Church; that they have all they want without it."

NOTICE.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.—The preachers in charge are requested to forward, by Postal Card, the names of Delegates who expect to attend this District Conference to be held at Centre, Stanly County, commencing on Thursday morning, Aug. 12th.

The Delegates, upon their arrival, will call at the store of Messrs Harriss and Lanier, to be directed to their homes.

T. PAGE RICAUD, P. C.,

Albemarle, Stanly co., N. C.

July 20th, 1875.

The Norfolk Landmark, commenting upon Dr. Craven's letter declining the nomination tendered by the Conservatives of Randolph county, well says:

"The author of this admirable letter comprehends fully the sphere and functions of a Minister of the Gospel, and it is to be lamented that the sensational preachers of the North cannot understand that "the pulpit, the hastings and the rostrum are united in interest, but not in discussion." If Mr. Beecher, for example, had comprehended this, and with the dignified almegation of Dr. Craven had devoted himself solely to the duties of his calling, he would never found himself in the humiliating attitude in which he now stands before the people of twe hemispheres."

A careful table has been prepared for the Missionary Advocate, showing what was contributed per member by each Annual Conference to the cause of Methodist Episcopal Missions last year. The average for the whole Church was 43¾ cents per member. In the Alabama Conference the contribution was the smallest, being ¾ of a cent; in the Philadelphia Conference it was the largest, being $1.25 per member.

There is a point in the following estimate of old time Methodist preaching as quoted by the London Methodist from a supernumerary preacher:

"God gave to Methodism three great powers, which could have moved the world, sir. Nay, they are moving it; and they will do until he come. They were three, sir—these three: A simple style of preaching—homely, so that all could understand it; and practical, so that all felt it. They didn't understand fizzing fireworks, Roman candles, and Catherine wheels; but they could send a bomb-shell with a straight aim right into the midst of the Lord's enemies.

"They could not talk about Zeitgeist, or whatever you call it; but they could tell of the love of God until people fell on their knees and began to seek it. Well, we have left that for intellect and eloquence. We analyze the bomb-shell, and we describe in beautiful language its flight and its effects; but we never fire it. The Moody preaching has charmed the disciples of Wesley in England, because it went straight to the point and wounded the conscience as Wesley's did."

DANCING.—There was an old gentleman that lived several centuries ago who had very quaint notions about these dancing performances. His views of the art were given in defence of Murena, the Consul-elect, who had been accused by Cato of indulging in this effeminate exercise. He spoke thus: "Cato calls Murena a dancer.—If this reproach be true, it is a weighty accusation; if false, it is outrageous calumny. Wherefore, Cato, as your authority carries so much influence with it, you ought never to snatch a charge from the mouths of the rabble and rashly call a Consul of the Roman people a dancer, but to consider how many other vices a man may be guilty of before that of dancing can be truly objected to him; for no one ever dances, even in solitude, or in a private meeting of his friends, who is not either drunk or mad. 'Nemo fere saltat sobrius nisi forte insanit.'" Alas for Cicero! he was a poor heathen, and knew no better.—Richard Clyde, in R. C. Ad.

THE CITY DEBT.—The resolution of the City Council to fund the City debt, was defeated by the people to whom it was submitted for ratification. The Council has appointed a committee of five aldermen to cooperate with a similar committee of citizens for the purpose of taking into consideration the City in debtedness and devising some plan by which the difficult financial questions may be solved.

A GOOD LAW.—Men have no right to maltreat the dumb creatures which God has given to them for their use, convenience or pleasure Though the complaints of the dumb animals are not heard in courts of law, yet they have the right to be freed from the brutalities which owners frequently inflict upon them; and it is a good step in legislation that extends protection to them. Mr. Bergh, of New York, was the first we believe, to come to the rescue of dumb creatures from malt-eatment and the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," which he established, has done great good in New York. We notice with pleasure that our young friend, Mr. P. F. Pescud, Jr a member of the Board of Aldermen of this city (and by the way the youngest and not the least efficient member) last week introduced the following resolution at a meeting of the city council. It was adopted, is now an ordinance of the city and we trust will be faithfully executed :

RESOLVED, That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to treat un mercifully or otherwise maltreat any horse, mule, ox, or any animal within the corporate limits of the city on penalty of being arrested and fined not less than $5,00.

North Carolina Notes.

—JOHN R. WEBSTER, Esq., has disposed of his interest in the Reidsville News, and Messrs Bethel and Reid are now the sole publishers and editors.

— Maj. J. Turner Morehead, being advised by eminent physicians that his life would be endangered by the fatigue and excitement of the Convention campaign, has declined the nomination in Rockingham co. The vacancy will be filled by the Executive Committee of the county.

— We copy the following brief from the Baltimore Gazette, "The Bishop of North Carolina is pleading for $13,000 to establish the Ravenscroft Associate Mission in the western part of his diocese. He has received already one-third of the amount."

— The editors of the Reidsville News propose an exchange of photographs with their brother editors, just for the sake of knowing how they look. In that matter, brethren, we opine that "ignorance is bliss." Editors are proverbially poor, if not ugly, and the pictures of their pinched and hungry features might give you a genuine case of the "horrors."

— Some man recently bought goods in the Northen market to the extent of $18,000 in the name of Mr. J. T. Hunt, of Oxford. In no case, however, were the goods shipped before the fraud was detected.

— The Reidsville News says that a better prospect for corn and tobacco crops has never been known in Rockingham.

— Capt. Jas. S. Battle has been appointed Chief Marshal for the next Fair of Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society.

— Judge Kerr has enjoined the State Treasurer from the further exchange of bonds under "H. B. 422."

— At the entertainment given by the Orphans in Goldsboro last week, to which admission was free, a number of negro men and women came into the hall, taking prominent seats in different parts of the hall as if with the purpose of compelling the white people to sit with or near them. They were requested by Mr. Mills to take seats to themselves in the rear part of the hall, but refused to do so saying they had as much right there as the white people. The performance was proceeded with, but great indignation was felt by the people at the conduct of the negroes.

— The Patriot says: There is an apple tree growing on the farm of W. R. Smith, four miles south of Greensboro, fourteen feet in circumference, with three main limbs, five feet in circumference, one six and one four. Mr. Smith has no recollection of the age of the tree but thinks it was here when Columbus landed, and it has never missed bearing its crop of fruit. At the present writing it is in full bearing.

— The old hotel at Durham is being moved by Smith, the "house movist," to make way for a new and elegant hotel building to be erected by Messrs Blackwell & Co.

— Messrs Blackwell & Co., of Durham, received an order last week, accompanied with the cash, from a house in San Francisco, for $5.000 worth of tobacco.

— The Durham Plant says that the section about Flat River, in Orange county, suffered serious damago from a hail storm on the 18th inst.

— The Durham Plant publishes the following letter written by an applicant for a situation as school teacher:

"Mr. ———— I drop you a few line if you pcas inquire I can get a school at Durham I am a experiece Teacher I herd you and you wife in the placc pless let me know if I can get a schoole there

I can teach any branc they wish plas let me no quick."

— B. B. Roberts and F. C. Robbins, Esqs., are the Conservative candidates for Convention in Davidson county.

—Two young men of Mocksville, Bailey and Henly, had a difficnlty which resulted in Bailey's shooting Henly, the ball striking him fairly between the eyes.—The ball fortunately glanced up under the scalp and was cut out. No serious damage done.

— The Intelligencer says that it is rumored that several of the leading business men of Salisbury contemplate selling out and going elsewhere.

— The various School Committees of counties, should at once send in to the Register of Deeds, the census of the children in their respective School Districts, as no distribution of the school money can by law be made, until a complete census is returned to the County Board of Education.

— J. F. G. Mittag, writing from Hagerstown, Maryland, to the DEMOCRAT, suggests as follows:

"Allow me to congratulate you upon the grand success which has crowned your efforts to celebrate an event conferring so much glory upon the citizens of your county and State, and suggest that a column be erected on the spot where "the Mecklenburg Declaration" was made, and a statue of the Goddess of Liberty placed upon it holding in her extended hand a scroll with these words, "To all mankind, Headquarters, May 20th, 1775." Let the column be composed of huge rocks from each county in the State, and the model for the Goddess be after the form of the most heroic female figure in Mecklenburg county."

The Torch Light says that considerable damage has been done to corn crops in Granville county by the wheat bug.

Each Magistrate in the State is entitled to a copy of the acts of Assembly of each session and can obtain it by applying to the Register of Deeds for the county in which he lives.

Mr. Michael Osborne, of Union county, received from Hon. T. S. Ashe, while he was at Washington, two quarts of seed wheat, from which he gathered in last harvest three bushels and one quart of wheat. That is very prolific.

Some thieves broke into the depot at Monroe, and after scattering books, papers, &c., succeeded in carrying off one spool of thread, two pair of socks and six R. R. tickets. How is a thief to make a living at his calling if Depot Agents don't give them more encouragement than the Monroe man gave his unknown patrons?

J. T. LeGrand, Esq., recently nominated for Convention in Richmond county, is in favor of no pay for delegates to the Convention. If he is elected and his proposition to work for nothing is voted down, he promises to turn over his per diem to the School Commissioners of his county to be used for educational purposes.

A grand basket pic-nic was held in Henderson on the 21st inst. The crowd was estimated from 1,500 to 2,000 people.

Crops in the vicinity of Whitakers, W. & W. R. R., are very good, though a little backward, on account of drought

Says the Charlotte OBSERVER: "The Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, on Saturday last, paid off all its employees for the months of April and May, and yesterday paid off for June. This speaks well for the prosperity of the road."

The Wadesboro HERALD says that a Montgomery county man was down in his well, cleaning it out, when he felt a snake coil itself around his leg. He called to be drawn up in the bucket, and while making the ascent, kicked the serpent off. He got a candle and a stick, and re-descending, stuck the stick down in the water, when a large king snake wrapped itself around it and was brought out alive.

General News.

The Atlanta cotton mills, employing 1,250 operatives, have suspended operations for eight weeks.

The Chicago Times wants Moody and Sankey to come home and do some preaching for Chicago which is much more in need of it than London.

The full count of money in the coin vault of the Treasury is completed and agrees exactly with Gen. Spinner's account of what it contained. Even the estimate of $20 shortage made when the currency was counted and the gold taken according to the marks on the bags has disappeared, and the count comes out exactly right. All the coin that was in any degree worn was actually counted. The new coin was counted by weight, it, and every thing proved to a cent. The contents of the vault were $20,000,000 of which nearly $1,500,000. was coin.

A thousand patents are granted every month in the United States for new inventions. This number exceeds the aggregate issue of all the European States, and the average value of patents is greater in America than in Europe by reason of the vast number of new industrial enterprises and the higher price of manual labor.

The fees in Post office money orders are as follows: On orders over $15 and not exceeding $30, 15 cents. On orders over $30 and not exceeding $40,20 cents On orders over $40 and not exceeding $50,25 cents. Postage on printed matter and merchandise, one cent for every ounce or fraction thereof, up to four pounds. The fee for registering letters is ten cents, in addition to the regular postage.

Over 800 tons of old rubber shoes are manufactured into car springs in Boston annually.

Mr. J. W. Swaim, of Welaka, Florida, has 10,000 tube roses set out which he will ship to New York in the fall.

Out of a total of 32,472 arrests in the city of Philadelphia last year, 20,000 were for intoxication, with or without disorderly conduct.

The Japanese Commissioners to the Centennial have arrived in Philadelphia, and are preparing to put up their Centennial buildings.

The roofs of the houses in Buda-Pesth, the capital of Hungary, were covered with snow two feet thick during a recent hailstorm in that city.

At Aloka, in Indian Territory, the nation's birth-day was celebrated by three thousand Indians,—the first celebration of the kind ever observed, it is said, by the Indians.

To pump water for Chicago costs one cent per 100 gallons; Boston pays thirty mills for the same amount; Baltimore and New York fifteen each, and San Francisco from fifty to 100 mills.

A Toronto, Ont., bridegroom was confronted at the door Monday by two of the brothers of the bride, and had to thrash the whip them both before the marriage ceremony could proceed.

A Chinese young lady is an applicant for a teacher's place in one of the public schools in San Francisco, thinking properly, no doubt, that she can "snatch some of the ball-headed alien same Melican girl."

The manufacture of caoutchouc from the milk weed has been undertaken by a company in Canada with a capital of one hundred thousand dollars. The milky juice yields about four per cent, of caoutchouc.

At the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia it is intended to have a woman's department for the exclusive display of what she has accomplished in art, literature, science, or manufactures, and also to show her achievements in the religious and benevolent enterprises of the age.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Swedenborg's works.

Mencely Bell Foundry, along established enterprise.

New advertisement of W. H. & R. Tucker.

Fresh announcement from Pe and Jones, merchants.

Virginia Female Institute, Staunton Va, Rev. R. H. Phillips A M Principal.

Augusta Female Seminary, Staunton, Va. In respect of female schools Staunton is the Athens of the South.

Excursion Tickets to all points can be obtained from the Raleigh & Gaston R. R. Co., the best managed road in the State. Thos. Badger, Jr. the efficient Ticket Agent will give needed information to those who desire it.

Bethel Academy, in Fauquier, Va., is highly endorsed as a school of excellent grade. When a school contains the commendation of Dr. Smith, Schele deVere, Major and other professors at the University of Va it may be relied upon as deserving. See advertisement.

Carolina Central Academy, Asheville N. C. is well officered and furnishes great advantages to students It prepares scholars and affords opportunity for the acquirement of practical knowledge not afforded by every school. From the names which appear as instructors, we believe the school will prove a great success.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the travelling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully prepared, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters and articles should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In ordering money, all amounts should be sent in Post Office money order or check. The cost of exchanging or not obtaining order can be deducted from the amount in hand. All money is sent otherwise than as directed is at the sender's risk.

Marriages.

In Fayetteville, on the 3rd inst., at the Presbyterian Church, by Rev. H G Hill, Mr. Geo. Mc Sweeney of the Fayetteville Gazette, and Miss Laura A McCallum of Fayetteville.

Married in Leasburg, N C July 14 h 1875, by the Rev J W Jocklin, Mr. Charlie J. Willeford of Miss Bettie Tillman all of Leasburg.

[illegible] Mail please copy.

Deaths.

Complimentary notices of twenty lines are to be published without charge. The excess over twenty lines of such words is charged for at the rate of ten cents per line. Count the lines and the excess over twenty words in the line. In this way you can always know the amount to enclose for insertion of notices of respect are subject to the same rule.

Died in Fayetteville, N. C., on the 15th inst., Willie Alexander, youngest child of W. W. and Nannie I. Cole, aged 2 years and 5 months.

E. W. T.

Died in Goldsboro, July 18, 1875, Mr. William A. Nichols aged about 40 years. Bro. Nichols had been a member of the Methodist Church some thirty years, and died in the hope of the Christian's reward. He was followed by the Odd Fellows, of which he was a worthy member. May our brethren kindly care for the widow and orphans left behind!

B.

Died in Goldsboro, after much suffering, July 18, 1875, Mrs. Jas. B. Morris, aged about 52 years. Mrs. Morris will be remembered by many people as proprietor of the Commercial Hotel. She never made any public profession of religion during her long illness, but the professed to the last hour of death, be possessed to the last hour of death, be possessed to the last hour of death, be possess

Children's Column.

The Captain and His Child.

We were crowded in the cabin,
Not a soul would dare to sleep;
It was midnight on the waters,
And a storm was on the deep.

'Tis a fearful thing in winter,
To be shattered by the blast,
And to hear the rattling trumpet
Thunder, "Cut away the mast!"

So we shuddered there in silence—
For the stoutest held his breath—
While the hungry sea was roaring,
And the breakers talked with death.

And as thus we sat in darkness,
Each one busy with his prayers,
"We are lost!" the captain shouted,
And he staggered down the stairs.

But his little daughter whispered,
As she took his clayey hand,
"Is not God upon the water,
Just the same as on the land?"

Then he kissed the little maiden,
And he spoke in better cheer;
And we anchored safe in harbor,
When the morn was shining clear.

—James T. Fields.

Answers.

The 11th chapter of Hebrews contains 40 verses and 15 of them begin with the works "By faith." Alice E. Pell, F. B. Jones.

Isaac was 75 years old when Abraham died. J. W. Howard, F. B. Jones.

The 25th chap. of 1st Chronicles has 31 verses of which 23 end with word 'twelve.' J. W. Howard, F. B. Jones.

"Ah my brother! or ah sister &c." is found in Jeremiah 22nd ch. 18th v. F. B. Jones.

It was a woman of Canaan who said "Lord help me!" It is found in Matthew 15th chap. 25th verse. F. B Jones.

Answer to Enigma proposed by F. B. Jones is 1st Jehoram, 2nd Eliezer 3rd Hiram, 4th Obededom, 5th Shammuth, 6th Hammath 7th Admah, 8th Pison, 9th Harosheth, 10th Adoniram, 11th Timothy. The whole is Jehoshaphat. J. W. Howard.

Questions.

J. W. Howard asks what chapter in the Bible contains the word "family" 62 times. Also what verse contains the following: "Neither is there any rock like our God"

"Thou shalt feed my people Israel." This is the first time a ruler is spoken of in the Bible under the emblem of a shepherd Where is it found and to whom was it spoken, asks F. B. Jones.

F. B. Jones asks where is the sentence composed of the following letters: OAIOTMHDER These letters form a sentence of four words. The first word has one letter; the 2d has two letters; the 3d has three letters; the fourth has 4 letters. It is found in one of Christ's parables.

F. B. Jones asks how long Abraham lived after the death of his wife Sarah.

Ned's Grievance.

Opening the door of a friend's house one day, I made my way through the entry to the small back court, where Ned, the only son, was crying bitterly

"Ah, Ned, what is the matter?"

"Mother won't let me go fishing. Harry and Tom are going down to the harbor, and I want to go.' Here Ned kicked his toes angrily against the post, to the great danger of his new boots.

"Whose little dog is this?" I asked, as a brown spaniel came bounding up the garden walk.

"It is mine," cried Ned in an altered tone. "Did you not know I had one?"

"No, indeed. What a fine little fellow! Where did you get him, Ned?"

"Father bought him for me. He is so knowing, and I teach him many things. See him find my knife"—and Ned, wiping away his tears, threw his knife in the clover. "There, Wag," said he, "now go and find my knife."

Wag plunged into the grass, and after a great deal of smelling and wagging he came triumphantly forth, and brought the knife to his young master.

"Give it to him," said Ned, pointing to me; and Wag laid it at my feet.

"This is a knife worth having," said I; "four blades."

"'Tis a real good one," said Ned; "father gave it to me on my birthday; and he gave me a splendid box of tools too." Ned looked up brightly, and quite forgot his crying.

"Let me think," said I. "Was it this knife that you hurt your foot so with?"

"Oh, no," cried Ned, "that was done with an ax; but I've got well now."

"I was afraid you would be laid up all the spring."

"Well, it was mother's nursing, the doctor says. Mother and father took very great care of me. It was lonely staying in the house so; but mother used to leave her work and read to me, and father often stayed with me."

"I should think you had very kind parents, Ned." The boy looked down on the floor, and a slight pout puckered his lips.

"I suppose there are none who have your interest and happiness so much at heart."

"But I want to go fishing," muttered Ned.

"And can't you trust them, Ned, and willingly agree to their wishes? You may not, indeed, know the reason why they object to your going; but from all your experience of their kindness and wisdom, are you not sure that they would not cross your wishes without good reasons for doing so? And surrounded, as you are, by so many proofs of their love, will you sit there and murmur and cry, and fill your heart with anger and stubborn thought against them because of this one little denial of your wants? Is not this a poor and ungrateful return for all their kindness? It is little enough that a child can do for a parent, but that little he ought to do most cheerfully."—Presbyterian.

Rural and Domestic.

Average Feed of Cows.

At a meeting in Massachusetts some time since, a Mr. Wetherell stated that cows upon an average need 45 pounds of hay per day or its equivalent while giving milk. That large cows produce more milk for the amount of feed given than small ones. That scrub cows will give annually 1,800 quarts of milk, while the Holstein and some other breeds will produce 4,000 All cows should be kept clean, as well as their surroundings. In producing winter milk cows without grain will do nothing.

The Coming Corn Crop.

There is every indication that the coming crop of corn will be the largest on record, not excepting the great one of 1872. Many causes combine to this end. In the West a large quantity of wheat was plowed up and planted with corn under the impression that the wheat was too much injured by the severe winter to pay, and then in the Eastern States the prospect for hay was so poor that wherever corn could be planted it was put in, so that the fodder might in some measure make up for the deficiency of the hay. It is estimated that the acreage of corn is fully one fourth more than last year, and if so this is an enormous increase. From all sections the crop is reported as growing finely, and with the increased acreage an immense yield may be confidently anticipated.

How to Know the age of a Horse.

The colt is born with twelve grinders. When four front teeth have made their appearance, the colt is twelve days old; and when the next four come forth, it is four weeks old. When the corner teeth appear, the colt is eight months old, and when the latter have attained the height of the front teeth, it is one year old.

The two year old colt has the kernel—the dark substance in the middle of the tooth's crown—ground out of all the front teeth.

In the third year the middle front teeth are being shifted, and when three years old these are substituted for the horse teeth. The next four teeth are shifted in the fourth year, and the corner teeth in the fifth.

At six years the kernel is worn out of the middle front teeth and the bridle teeth have now attained to their full growth.

At seven years a hook has been formed by the corner teeth of the jaw; the kernel of the teeth next at the middle front is worn out, and the bridle teeth begin to wear off.

At eight years of age, the kernel is worn out of all the lower front teeth and upper fronts.

In the ninth year the kernel has wholly disappeared from the upper middle front teeth, the hook on the corner tooth has increased in size, as the bridle teeth lose their point.

In the tenth year the kernel has worn out of the teeth next to the middle front of the upper jaw; and in the eleventh year the kernel has entirely vanished from the corner teeth of the same jaw.

At twelve years old the crown of all the front teeth in the lower jaw have become triangular, and the bridle teeth are much worn down. As the horse advances in age, the gums shrink away from the teeth, which consequently receive a long narrow appearance, and their kernels have been metamorphosed into a darkish point, gray hairs increase in the forehead, over the chin assumes the form of an eagle.

The Public Confidence Well Placed.

Although the world has been seeking specifics for disease for many centuries, few indeed have been found Prominent among these few is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which years ago received the endorsement of the medical profession and was hailed by press and public as the great renovant and preventive of the age. And with good reason, since to the weakened stomach it gives strength, to the inert liver activity, to the disordered bowels regularity and to the shaken nervous system firmness and tone. Under its benignant influence healthful vigor returns to the debilitated and wasted frame, the flaccid muscles become compact, the wan aspect of ill health is replaced by a look of cheerfulness, the mind ceases to despond, and flesh is developed upon the attenuated frame. There is no exaggeration in this statement. It is as true as that the system is subject to disease. Were proofs required to substantiate the reality of the comprehensive effects of the Bitters, there is probably not in existence a medicine in favor of which such a mass of concurrent testimony, from the most respectable sources, could be adduced. But the efficacy of the nation's alterative and tonic organ has been a matter of universal knowledge too long to need any such corroboration. The fact that it has its largest sales in those portions of the North and South American Continents, Mexico, and the West Indies, in which atmospheric influences prejudicial to health exists, proves what confidence is felt in its remedial and protective virtues. In localities where fevers o' an intermittent type prevail especially, it has come to be regarded as an indispensable necessity.

July 1-1m

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally,

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and I SWEAR TO THE FACT to prove the real value of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency that will PAY would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HARTINSTALL,
Enfield, N. C.

P S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. H.

may 19-tf

PETTY & JONES,

DEALERS IN

Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods,

BOOTS, SHOES,

Hats, Notions, &c., & c.

We are offering select lines of Victoria Lawns, Plain and Checked, Plain and Striped Jaconets, Swiss and Organdies, Black Grenadines, Percale and Summer Prints Hosiery, Soft and Hose Keeping Linens, Printed Linens and Lawns, Plain, Striped, Corded and Check ed Grass Cloths, at prices that will enableus to sell all who wish to buy and will give us a call.

Also, together with an extensive line of Hamburg Edgings, and Insertions, Plain and Fancy Hose for Ladies and Children Full lines of Half Hose for Gentlemen and Boys—all grades.

Gloves Fans, Parasols Umbrellas

In a great variety and at low prices.

A large assortment of Canfield's hand-made Calf Congress Gaiters Continental Union and Strap Shoes, just received today The superiority of this make of shoes for gentlemen is too well-known by our customers throughout the State to require any praise from us.

Ballou's French Yoke Shirts

We guarantee a fit or no sale. Directions for measurement sent and Shirts made to order on application.

Our goods are all new and lately received so that we had the advantage of decline in prices in making our purchases.

Our prices are as low as any house can sell good GOODS for. Customers will do well to call and look at our like and prices before buying.

PETTY & JONES,
No. 20 Fayetteville street.

June 3-tf

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDRE.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand

Gents and Ladies Ribbed Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Fine and Silk Scarfs, The latest novelties of the season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Bombyx Edgings and Insertions, Ladies' Satchel Buildings, and Fluteings, Ladies' Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Gored Jackonets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Piques, Mul dustin, Checked Muslins, Nansook and Linen Lawns, Corset Jeans, Cambries and Linens.

HATS HATS HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Our Stock is complete in this line. Miles and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

Your patronage is friendly and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in the trade

D S WAITT & BRO.
34 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N C

mch 12-tf

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our house second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Vestern Hams, Onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Guts, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, Chaff, Bran, Corn and Oat Stock and Mixed Feed, White and Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make FINE WORK, AND KEEP a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit. We have made the necessary arrangement with our Norfolk house to furnish the BEST OYSTERS that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by a sparing no exertion or expense on those that have been successful in business, and hoping that "Success is Merited," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross AND Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Suffering and Triumphs of His followers. A noble, stirring, and unscribbling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated in steel with the best engravings of Scribner, Illman, and splendidly bound in the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

March 16-6m

RALEIGH HIGH SCHOOL,

An English, Classical, Mathematical, and Military School for Boys.

REV. JOSEPH M. ATKINSON, } Principals
CHARLES H. SCOTT, }

The second annual session of this school will begin WEDNESDAY September, 1st, 1875. The Principals have procured for the school the commodious and attractive residence on Newbern Avenue, well known in Raleigh as the "Cotton Place," more recently owned and handsomely refitted by Col. R. Ringland.

Besides continuing their boy School they propose taking a limited number of boys of good character and conduct to board in their own family.

The training of the school, as heretofore, will be full, thorough and accurate preparation for college or for business life.

Competent assistants will be provided in all departments, as may be required. The Principals trust that it is scarcely necessary for them to say that whilst the school will continue to be conducted on Christian principles, it will be entirely without denominational aim or bias.

For circulars and other information address either of the Principals, Raleigh, North Carolina.

July 1-1m.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOX! or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,
561 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

.. Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

may 19-1y

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I would respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to go to me Mr. Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who favor him.

I will still keep my office in Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS

march17 6-m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Mydesopia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,301 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from noted Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man, who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Bayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa, Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyatt, M. D., Alsbico, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes.

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the IVORY TREATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE-free of cost, postage free of charge. Do not return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the cure of all sorts of Near-Sightedness use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

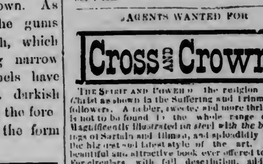
Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at the light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from 45 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Send free of charge o any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO 91 LIBERTY STREET,
New York City, N. Y.

P. O. Box 957.
sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED in quality, UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which possess such extraordinary excellence as to command a sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at International Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (most free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER COMMISSIONS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Stagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN. An entirely new combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES sent, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N.C.

June 16-tf

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9.32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury	11.18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'	3.00 A. M.	10.59 "
" Danville	6.31 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee	6.50 "	1.30 "
" Burkville	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond	2.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.38 P. M.	5.05 A. M.
" Burkville	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee	10.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville	10.59 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro'	2 15 A. M.	3.38 "
" Salisbury	5.21 "	6.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.55 "	8 25 "
Arrive at Charlo.	8.04 A. M	8.33 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail	Mail.
Leave Greensboro'	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.40 A. M
" Co. Shops	4.31 "	Leave 12.38 "
" Raleigh	8.33 "	" 8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.30 A. M	Leave 5 00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro	4.23 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	6.15 "
Leave Salem	8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro	10..5 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 8.16 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains bound from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways,

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	2.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon	5.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	4.45 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	2.21 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford	6.15 "
Train leaves Sanford	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.35 A. M.
Leaves Sanford	11.00 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.30 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection a Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE SUP'T OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7 15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 40 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.30 A. M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

S. G. GILLO,
Supt. Transportation.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand First's Metallic Burial Cases Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins HEARSE FOR HIRE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed

apl 9-tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine

May 26 1 y

THE GEM

A popular Note Book, published at Nashville.—Send for so many dozen as you want.

Price, - - - - - - 35 cts. per copy.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

pri 8-12m

SITUATION WANTED,

In some College, High School or Academy by a gentleman who is a graduate and who has made teaching with its latest improvements his business and study for ten or twelve years. The best of testimonials furnished. Address, E. P., Boykin's Depot Va,

june 30 tf

WINNOWED HYMNS.—

A new and very popular Music Book for Sabbath Schools.

Price per copy in boards, - - - - 30 cts

L. BRANSON, Bookseller,
Raleigh, N.C

apr 8-12m.

A. BAUM,

Professional Butcher,

Dimmick St., Opposite East End Market

Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stretched beef to be seen in his shop. Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first class style, are sold you at BAUM'S.

apl 28-tf

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in Morocco, gilt edge. $3.00.
" " Cloth. 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV. F. L. REID, Lenoir, N. C.
or JAS. W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SQUARE, Raleigh, N. C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past ten years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feature we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and intend giving our friends all the advantage gained thereby to enable us to offer balance ay advance in the few goods named

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of cigars Snow and Roots bought direct from the Factories and offered here at FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
1,000 lbs. H. D. and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
10 Cases Oysters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
3,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
5 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
3 Dozen Best Axes,
2 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
1st Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer our stock and goods to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock Only competition

Oct 7 12-tf LEACH BROS

L. B. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

jan 20-tf

THE JAS. LEFFEL

Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,

Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, Reliable and reasonable in cost.

Manufacturers also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Leffel's Improved Cast Iron Flume for Cotton Mills, Flour, Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and other Presses, &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine made Gearing furnished and of very best finish. Send for Circulars.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

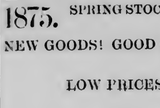
Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec 2-1-1



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Steamboats, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

—o—

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURTS GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and need these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Miss's and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square

o

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 31. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, August 4, 1875. | Whole No. 1,069.

Selected Poetry.

Regret.

[From Appleton's Journal.]

If I had known, O loyal heart,
When heard to beat, we said farewell,
How for all time our paths would part,
How sunless o'er our bridal fell,
How have clasped your hand so close
In close possession of me now,
My memory still would keep its grasp,
If I had known.

If I had known, when far and wide,
You had brought the summer bird,
The prescience wandered by our side,
And your reached us awful hand,
Should have hushed my careless speech
In silence, dear, to every tone
That from your lips fell low and sweet,
If I had known.

If I had known, when your kind eyes
Met mine in parting true and sad—
Had rarely bent a gentle wise,
Had rather, more than glad—
Had seen the lids would lie above,
And white as sculptured stone,
Should have treasured every glance,
If I had known.

If I had known how from the strife
Of opposite passions here below,
Of sorrow, higher life
Were called. O friend! to go,
I have stayed my foolish tears,
And each idle sigh and moan,
That I list, long God-speed,
If I had known.

If I had known what strange place,
Amid the star-silent shore,
Any friend your steadfast face
Should be to steps left my door,
I have forged a golden link
Of heart so constant grown,
That every of constant ever there,
If I had known.

If I had known that until Death
Shall his fingers touch my brow,
Any thought seeing of the breath
That made her's full meaning now,
Any best must tread the way
Of crossed pass alone,
That restore your presence more
If I had known.

If I had known how soon for you
Was ending of the light,
Your vision far and new,
Your heart's best sight,
Your long, solemn love's last gift,
Your Gods great white throne,
Your for your own friend on earth,
If I had known.

CHRISTIAN REID.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

"Coming Events Cast their Shadows, &c."

The ascendant question of the age is Catholic rule. It transcends all others just now before the American people, and is one of vital importance and magnitude. The passions engendered by the late war are calmed—all kindly feelings of fraternal regard between the sections again rule the hour—the political condition is hopeless and less exciting—the late panic in monetary affairs is being lulled—while Roman Catholic supremacy in America stands forth in hideous proportions. As has been their wont for ages it simply means a subversion of all civil liberty a despotism more withering and galling than the reign of the Cæsars of Cæsars. Ever insidious, their power has rapidly grown from the humble shrub to the giant oak of colossal designing proportions. A determined hostility to our free institutions—and a junction of church and state is their well settled and austere programme. In demonstration of this listen at the fulminations of a recent issue of the "Catholic Telegraph" organ of the "faithful" published in Cincinnati. "The forty seventh and forty eight articles of the syllabus are authoritatively settled for all time that the exclusion of religious instruction from daily education is a damnable religious error, which Catholics cannot approve without a denial of faith and commission of sin. Legislators does, therefore, as far as Catholics are concerned, interfere with the subject of religion. The State has no inherent authority to exclude religion from public education. When it does so, it plays the tyrant, clothing itself with a commission of power for which it can show no warrant. The present system of public schools brands Catholic faith as a curse, and the American State punishes it yearly by fines equal in amount to the sum which Catholics are compelled to expend after the payment of school tax upon the Catholic education of their children. The American school law is a penal enactment against the Catholic religion, originating and perpetuated in the same spirit that has driven the edicting orders of the church from every out of Germany.

It does not lighten the grievance, nor does not extenuate its injustice, to appeal to the denial of the right of Protestants to have their children educated in their faith. The injury inflicted by the hand of the State upon one party is no atonement, for a wrong can be no justification of an injury done to another.

If Protestants are willing to adopt the teaching of infidelity, this willingness does not confer upon any political organization the authority to compel Catholics to pursue the same course of Apostacy."

The animus here evinced shows with what bold effrontery all that is dear to an American—his civic chart and his spiritual guide book is being assailed and the true christian world must steer well their bark upon this perilous ocean.

Strong in numbers—cunning in strategy—full of subterfuge and dominant in disposition, they are no despicable foe, and whilst the Protestant world are zealous and active in the ingathering of souls and augmenting their folds let them keep a sharp eye on this arch enemy who secretly persistently essaying to overthrow at one fell swoop all that our zeal and faith and labor under God have accomplished for ages. Let our zeal be according to knowledge and while we are as harmless as doves let us be wise as serpents.

Fraternally,

JNO. D. THORNE.

Littleton N. C., July 18th, 1875.

The Pulpit.

THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

A Sermon delivered by Bishop E. M Marvin, before the Virginia Conference, at Elizabeth City, N. C. Sunday Morning, November 22, 1874, and published in the Minutes by request of the Conference.

"DO WE THEN MAKE VOID THE LAW THROUGH FAITH? GOD FORBID: YEA, WE ESTABLISH THE LAW." ROMANS, iii. 31.

(Concluded.)

How shallow is the philosophy of the selfish man! He imagines that to give up his selfish aims and contests would be his ruin. To him, it seems that to sink self would be to sacrifice everything.

But let us see. Compare the range of the selfish man's enjoyments with that of one who loves his neighbor as he loves himself The enjoyments of the selfish man are bounded by the limit of his own acquisitions and attainments. The obstructions he has reached, the wealth he has amassed, and the gratification of his appetites and tastes, give the sum of his happiness, and this is to be subtracted from by the amount of his losses, and his baffled plans and defeated hopes. But the man who loves his neighbor as himself enters into the happiness of all others. He enjoys all the prosperity that he knows of. The success and triumphs of others he enjoys as if they were his own. The range of his enjoyments is limited, not by his acquisitions, but by his capacities. He lays the world under contribution to himself—he draws his revenues from the universe. Such is the magic power of love. It possesses itself of all the wealth of others. A mother enjoys the happiness of her children more than she does her own—aye, perhaps, more than they do themselves. A fatal mistake is that of the selfish man. If he could only rise to the level of this great truth, what a new world he would find himself in. It seems to him that to sink self would be ruin. Not so; for just where the self goes down, consciousness emerges upon a higher plane, and enjoys the freedom of the universe. With infinitely multiplied sources of wealth, there comes also the augmented capacity of enjoyment.

So true is it that the law is the condition of life. It is the very fountain of celestial blessedness. It opens the resources of the universe, and invests us in possession of all things. It is the soul's true enfranchisement. "If the truth shall make you free, you shall be free, indeed." In constitutes the very life of Heaven itself.

It is true, then, as I said in the introduction, that the law is, in one aspect of it, and indeed in its nature and purposes, as really an expression of the divine beneficence as the gospel is. "The law was ordained to life."—The very purpose of its ordination was to secure the spiritual and eternal life and well being of intelligent creatures.

Now you may say, it is plain that the law was ordained to life, and if so it is beyond all question an expression of the divine beneficence If so, perhaps you may be disposed to infer that the law can never injure you—that you have nothing to fear from it. Let us see.

Take an illustration from the domain of physical law. Even this, also, was ordained to life. Take the law of gravitation, that great, universal law by which all the forces of nature are regulated and held in check. It is evidently a most beneficent law, and was ordained to life. Life would not be possible amid the forces of nature, if they had not metes and bounds set to them by this law. All loose objects on the surface of the earth would otherwise be forever quiescent, or else, thrown about at random, so that no man could calculate upon their movements. No mechanic could know what apparatus might be necessary to elevate beams or stones to their places in the wall. One could not even tell the exertion necessary to set one foot before the other. But with this universal law, dominating nature with absolute uniformity, the little child soon becomes at home in the world and learns how to adjust himself to its movements Now suppose some man should say, it is clear to me that the law of gravitation was ordained to life—that its very purpose was beneficent. I have, therefore, nothing to fear from this law. It can never hurt me. In this mood, standing on some "pinnacle of the temple," the devil of presumption comes to him and says "jump off, the law of gravitation will never hurt you—it is a beneficent law; never fear." He makes the leap. Imagine the consequences. Or he stands upon a mountain slope in the track of a descending avalanche, and folding his arms, says, "I will just stand still. The law that moves the descending mass is a beneficent one." In five minutes he will be a mass of bloody jelly. The truth is that all of God's laws are ordained to life—they have all a beneficent purpose. But the beneficent effect, itself, depends upon the uniformity and certainty of their execution, If this uniformity were broken up by exceptions in favor of the thoughtless or the wayward, the result would be such confusion as would defeat the beneficent purpose. A man must know that a given effect will follow a given condition, always and everywhere, or he can never feel secure. It is, then, in the uniformity of its execution that the beneficent effect of the law is assured. But it follows from this that he, who disregards the law, must be destroyed by it. These laws of nature go forward to their objective point under the momentum of Omnipotence. He, who adjusts himself to them, has the full advantage of their beneficent design. But if any man shall dare to stand in their way he must die the death.

Law is given to man for life. But with respect to the law he is free The purpose of God is that we should adjust ourselves to the law. Other wise, we shall find that the law ordained to life will operate our death. It will do this by virtue of the very fact in which its beneficent design appears—that is, the uniformity of its operation. This is true both in the physical and spiritual domain The law is life to him who adjusts himself to it, and death to him, who violates it.

Especially is the moral law enforced by a penal administration: "The wicked shall be turned into hell with all the nations that forget God" It is maintained by sovereign, Divine authority.

II Now, we are prepared to approach the question of the text: "DO WE, THEN, MAKE VOID THE LAW THROUGH FAITH?" and io examine as to the truth of the reply: "GOD FORBID: YEA, WE ESTABLISH THE LAW."

I have said that the law is the condition of life, and that this is a universal truth. Everywhere and at all times, it is the condition of life. To the unfallen the condition is practicable, but to the fallen it is not. The law is above them. It is impossible to them. They are under a spiritual paralysis, which incapacitates them for its observance.

The law is the condition of life for the unfallen, but it is not the condition of pardon for the guilty. It contains no remedy for the depraved.

But the gospel is also a law. If the law is the condition of life for the unfallen, the gospel is the law of recovery for the fallen.

The gospel is not a mere random, uncalculating, undiscriminating distribution of saving mercies. It is a method—it is God's method of saving the lost. In the processes of recovery He adheres as invariably to his own established method, as in the case of the moral law. What the method as it applies to infants and the heathen may be, in all respects, we may not know. We know that all. who are saved, are saved by the atonement, and as to those to whom the gospel comes, salvation is conditioned upon repentance and faith In all cases, we know also that God adheres to His own method.

As the gospel is the law of recovery for the lost, the question is whether this method is in conflict with the original law which is the condition of life. In the salvation of the sinner, is the moral law made void?

If so, it must be on one of two particulars. Either

First. That it disregards the penal authority of the law, and sets aside the penal administration, or Second. That it relieves its subjects of the obligation of obedience and holy living.

If the first be true it must appear in the method of pardon. If the second be true, it must appear in the moral processes of salvation as they appear in personal character.

Let us look into the facts. Our first inquiry is with respect to the law of pardon as it relates to the penal administration. Does it discredit the moral law? Does it contemn or dishonor the punitive authority? Let us see how the case stands.

The terms of the law are: "The soul that sinneth, it shall die." The inviolable claim of justice is concerned here. Death is the penalty of sin. If the penalty should fail in any one case, the justice of God is impeached. No greater calamity could befall the universe; for the infinite integrity of the Divine justice, is the sole guarantee of the peace of the universe. If it shall fail in any one case it is not infinite. One failure would be conclusive proof of its imperfection. If the Divine justice is imperfect, universal disorder impends. The law must be uniform to insure its beneficent end, as we have already seen. Heaven and earth may fail, but not one jot or tittle of the law shall fail. Death always follows sin. There are no exceptional cases. There never was one and never will be—never can be. No sinner ever entered heaven over the trampled and dishonored law. Every sin that is committed is followed by death.

The method of pardon provided in the gospel meets the case. In the atoning sacrifice of Christ the demand of the law is met in the full measure of its penalty. The incarnate Son of God appears for man before the law. He offers His life for man's life. What a solemn, yea, what an awful spectacle is this. The Son of God, invites the stroke of justice impending over man, upon His own head. If the case had been submitted to me, I should have said that for Him to stand and proclaim Himself the representative of man would be enough. I should have thought, a priori, that the imperious law would bow before Him, and turn aside from its demand. But no. Even He, standing in the sinner's place must touch the sinner's doom. Justice, supreme, infinite, inplicable smote even Him. The law vindicated itself even on His honored bed.

The supremacy of the law is thus established before heaven and earth in the person of the Son of God, who takes the penalty of the sinner upon Himself. Do we not, then, establish the law in the method of pardon? How glorious is the law, how inviolable since this Divine victim was sacrificed to its penal supremacy. Behold the severity of the gospel! it gave the Lord of Glory to death to meet the claim of justice. It proposes no mitigation, but pays the "mighty debt."

In the pardon of sin, we see that the honor of the law is fully maintained. Is it so in the processes of salvation as they appertain to individual character? Are the claims of the law released so far as the obligation of obedience is concerned?

As to those classes to whom the gospel does not come, to whose understandings its claims are not addressed, as idiots, infants and the heathen, we are in ignorance of the method by which the benefits of the atonement become effectual in their case. But in the case of those who receive the message, we know what the method is. For, let it be repeated, the gospel, too, is a law—the law of recovery for the sinner. No man is saved by the gospel except by its method. Salvation is conditioned upon the method: "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." "He that believeth hath life."

Behold, again, the severity of the gospel. Its demand upon us for repentance is absolutely inexorable.—To "perish" is the alternative. But repentance is the abandonment of sin, and sin is the transgression of the law. The sinner must return to the law. No matter if the sin be dear as the right eye, or valuable as the right hand. The very eye must be plucked out, the hand cut off. This inexorable demand is in the law of recovery Its voice is imperious as the thunder tone of Sinai. Repentance is consummated in faith The two are vitally related to each other, and are, indeed, parts of the same process.—Repentance is the Godward movement of the soul, and just where the soul touches conciously upon God, it passes into faith. Faith takes Christ for all that He is—takes God for all that He is. In faith the soul opens itself to all divine communications and energies. Faith is the condition of receptivity to yard God.

Upon this the new birth supervenes. What is the new birth? Can you tell me just what is accomplished in a man when he is converted? The Apostle has given us the statement in inspired words. Hear them: "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us." The love of God shed abroad in the heart! That is the new birth. But love is the sum of the law, and God is love In the conversion of the soul, the law becomes subjective in character. Experimental and practical religion are vitally related to each other. In experimental religion, the law is inwrought into the inner life, in practical religion it appears in the outer life The same Divine finger that wrote the law on the tables of stone, now, in the work of salvation, writes it on the heart of the believer. Reformation of life and manners accompanies conversion.—Where the work is genuine a holy life is the result.

Is the law made void in this? Nay, verily, it is established. The law is an assertion of the Divine authority, and the gospel brings its subjects to a willing and joyful obedience. The law postulates the ultimate truth with regard to moral relations, and through the gospel the ultimate truth becomes incorporated into character. The law is the utterance of the moral nature of God, and through the gospel we become "partakers of the Divine nature having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust." The law solves the problem involved in the relation of the individual liberty with the common weal. In Christ the truth makes men free, and they are free indeed. This liberty is never the cloak of licentiousness. Its impulses are the inspiration of the law of God. The law is the condition of life; the gospel simply brings men back to this condition. It establishes the law.

Many, no doubt misconceive the very nature of salvation. When they think of being saved, they think only of escaping hell-torments after death, and entering into some beautiful world where there is no suffering nor death. But to escape torment and live in a world free from suffering, is not of the essence of salvation. These things are necessary and invariable incidents of salvation. But they are not of the essence of it. Salvation is a fact of character. It is subjective. It is found in the attainment of holiness. Inward purity is the essence of it, and outward conformity to the will of God is the expression of it

In the great work of grace by which we are saved, the gospel does what the law cannot, but not in any manner that contravenes the law. It honors the law's penalty most solemnly and awfully in the death of our august Substitute. It also respects the sacred claim of the law in the method upon which salvation is conditioned, in the inexorable law of repentance and faith Beyond all this, it brings the resources of grace, in the powerful operation of the Holy Spirit, to recover men from their depraved condition and reproduce in them the purity of the law.

The gospel takes man, fallen from the law, guilty, polluted, lost, and elevates him again to the plane of the law: it restores him to the law.

"Do we then make void the law through faith? GOD FORBID: YEA, WE ESTABLISH THE LAW."

I have said that the law is as really an expression of beneficence as the gospel, and so it certainly is, for it was ordained to the same end—that is to life. But it ought to be added, that the gospel is a more tender and affecting exhibition of goodness than the law. Depraved as man is, he suffers a spiritual paralysis which renders him incapable of immediate divine communion, and insensible to that direct communication of God which the law is. He is not susceptible of divine influences. He is in an unreceptive condition towards God.—It was necessary therefore that a method of salvation should be resorted to, in which God should approach man through his natural sympathies and sensibilities. To this end the Eternal Son became incarnate. The Infinite Pity looked upon man through human eyes, and spoke to him in the sorrow burdened tones of a human voice. He took our nature, and in it suffered the most dreadful death on our account. We have Him evermore before our eyes, perspiring blood in the garden and dying on the cross—We see Him, perpetually treading the winepress of the wrath of God alone. He suffers all this agony for us sinners and for our salvation: and this agony interprets the heart of God to us in a human language that we can understand God comes upon us on the side of our natural sensibilities, and opens a way for Himself through our human sympathies. So tender, so touching is this expression of the Divine love.

What is more sublime than the prophetic declaration: "He shall see of the travail of His soul and shall be satisfied?" Is not this the grandest fact in Heaven itself—Christ's own gratified contemplation of the fruit of his agony! He will remember all—the bloody sweat, the buffeting, the crown of thorns, the scourging, the hour and power of darkness, the anguish of the cross, the awful hiding of His Father's face—all, all He will remember. But around Him will be the "innumerable multitude," saved from sin, saved from "the second death," and raised to a destiny whose joy and grandeur only He will comprehend; and He will be satisfied. This gratified contemplation of the fruit of His sufferings will be Christ's own eternal ineffable heaven. This is the "joy of the Lord."

My brethren of the Virginia Conference, you are permitted to enter into the participation of Christ's labors, and you have the promise that you shall, if you are faithful, enter into His joy. His joy is found in the fruit of His toil. So shall yours be the fruit of your own labor and of His. Oh! let us emulate the self sacrifice of Christ. He avoided no toil, evaded no shame, sought no ease in the labors of His great enterprise. He did not even shun the garden of the cross. Think of this, you who have the hardest circuits, and are in the deepest poverty. Think of this, you whose toil is the hardest and whose cross is the heaviest. Behold, the Lord is now gone up, and is beginning even now to reap the fruit of his pain. The multiplying millions of His redeemed are gathering around Him. He looks to you to swell the number. What if your labor be in pain and poverty. So was His. What if you are despised by men. So was He The time is at hand when you too, shall be called up to hear that supreme word which will create your heaven: "Well done good and faithful servant—enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Thou hast been with Him in toil; thou shalt, also, in thy measure, with Him, gather in the harvest and enter into the joy.

After a Storm

BY THE REV. BENJAMIN GOUGH, IN THE METHODIST RECORDER.

The God of glory thundereth loud,
And lightnings flash from cloud to cloud,
While stormy winds tempestuous roar
Their dreadful bass from shore to shore.
Old ocean, lashed in wild affright,
Lifts up his waves a mountain-height,
And foams majestic in his rage,
Which none can silence or assuage.

There go the ships, tossed up and down,
And driven before that tempest brown,
While hapless mariners, in fear,
Cry for deliverance to come near.
The rough and trackless waste around
Heaves, with convulsive terrors crowned;
And yawning whirlpools deep and dread,
Engulf the living and the dead.

But louder than the thunder rolls
A Voice is heard—a power controls;
And the mad storm is hushed and still,
Obedient to its Maker's will.
O glorious storm! O welcome calm!
To God we sing our grateful psalm;
He heard our cry, and now our voice
Again shall praise him and rejoice.

A Mother's Home.

The most perfect home I ever saw was in a little house, into the sweet incense of whose fire went not costly things.—Six hundred dollars served for a year's living of a father, a mother and three children. But the mother was a creator of home, and her children were the most beautiful I have ever seen. Even a dull and common place man was lifted up and enabled to dowork for souls by the atmosphere which this woman created.—Every inmate of her house involuntarily looked into her face for the keynote of the day, and it always rang clear. From the roseleaf or the clover leaf, which, in spite of her housework, she always found time to but by our plates at breakfast, down to the essay or story she had on hand to read or disenss in the evening, there was no intermission of her influence. She always has been, and always will be, my ideal of a mother, a wife.—If to her quick brain, loving heart and exquisite tact had been added the appliance of wealth and the enlargement of wider culture, hers would have been absolutely the ideal home. As it was, it is the best I have ever seen. It has been more than twenty years since I crossed its threshold. I do not know whether she is living or not. But as I see house after house in which fathers, mothers and children are dragging out their lives in a haphazard alternation of listless routine and unpleasant collision, I always think with a sigh of that little cottage by the seashore, and the woman who was the "light thereof," and I find in the face of many women and children, as plainly written and as sad to see as in the newspaper columns of 'Personals'—'Wanted—A Home.'—Ex.

It is "Well" with the Christian Dead.

With what feelings (beyond sorrow for their loss) some of those, in the Old Testament dispensation, laid their dear ones in the dust, we do not know. Some, no doubt, were privileged with clearer views, but to many it may have been with the thought of eternal separation. They may have imagined that, while the body had gone to sleep, so had the spirit, or that (as so many in enlightened times have believed), the soul had gone to some abode of pain, and intermediate preparation for a brighter life hereafter. We cannot tell, but to us, upon whom the gospel sun has shone in all its fulness, how different! We know that it is well with them that sleep in Jesus, because He died, was laid in the grave, and rose again, the "first fruits of them that slept." United to Him in life, believers are at death still one with Him. They but sleep for a time, and, at length, "God shall bring them with Him," to a joyful resurrection. The moment the wearied body goes to its long rest, the freed spirit is with its Saviour. "To-day shalt thou be with me in paradise." To depart, and be with Christ, with is far better."

Of the states of the ransomed soul after death, we know but little. That, after the resurrection, those who have been together on earth, will recognize and love each other, there can be no doubt at all: and it may be that it is the same with the spirits of the just whenever they leave this earth. It has not been revealed to us, and it becomes us not to pry into what has been hidden from us. About the one great element of our bliss, we are left in no dubiety—the presence of our Saviour. "With Christ," sin and sorrow for ever past, surely it is "well." "I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with Thy likeness." Day after day we lay our dear ones in the grave, and thank God that it is not only in the "sure and certain hope of a joyful resurrection," but in the firm confidence that it is well with them now.

Well with the little children, from whom it was such grief to part, now joining the blessed multitude before the Throne, singing "Glory, glory, glory!" They have been saved all burden of pain and sorrow, they are wiser and holier than the greatest sage and saint on earth, they see their Saviour face to face—truly it is well with them

Well with those cut of in the prime of life—brothers, sisters, parents, friends, without whom life seemed so dark.

Well with the brave young hearts that bowed so meekly beneath the chastening rod, for now they know the "need be" for what seemed so dark.

Well with those whose life seemed, to our blinded sight, cut off so hardly, because its continuance appeared so needful. Now they see (though we may not yet) that in their stead their Father has given a richer blessing, and that it was "better" for them to "depart."

Well with those gathered like a shock of corn fully ripe. To them for years the feeble step, the failing eye, the waning strength have been telling of the coming night. Now they feel no more weariness, no more burden of years and sorrows. The Hand on which they have leaned all their lifelong, leads them by green pastures, and fountains of living water, and they rest from their labors.

Yes, it is well with them who sleep in Jesus. And, for us who remain, it will be well hereafter if our life here is hid with Christ in God.

May we so know Him now that He may be our best beloved, as He is our truest, kindest, most loving friend.

Then we need not fear to enter the dark valley of the shadow of death, for His own gracious presence will make it light. And when at length we close our eyes on earth, it will be but for one brief moment; for at once we shall awake in our Saviour's arms, and be "satisfied"—"for ever with the Lord."—The Day of Rest.

The Cessation of Strife.

The Liberal Christian enjoins a salutary lesson which it would be well for all to appropriate:

"Special efforts ought now to be made to purify conversation of every trace of levity in regard to matters which concern the innocence of men and women, and cultivate anew the habit of abstaining from all words, thoughts, and acts which can foster impure desires or any sympathy with their exercise in others. We sadly need rest, silence, an airing of the chambers of the mind, and an opportunity for new and better influences to work a while. Therefore we counsel ourselves and others to abstain from the late unpleasant subject of thought and conversation, to the end that the season of activity which will follow the summer heats may show us a calm and wholesome public sentiment, and we may be able to rebuild the waste places and make the former desolation to rejoice."

Our Bishops-Earlier and Latter.

We have thought recently that some ready writer might make a good book by writing the lives of our Bishops. Biographies of several have already been written—in regard to the several others little is known, and as time flows onward still less will be accessible. Tradition becomes vague and dim, and after a time vanishes altogether. There is no biography of Soule, Andrew, or Early, men who have made their mark in their generation. There are biographies of Asbury. McKendree, Roberts, Hedding, Emory, Morris, Bascom, and Capers. We have thought it would be well to group them together, making a sort of constellation in the same volume. By doing this, much expense would be saved, and more interest be added to the book—they would lend a charm to each other by forming a galaxy.

For the information of any who may feel an interest in particulars, we give below from memory the facts stated:

Frances Asbury was nearly 40 when elected, traveled over 30 years as a Bishop, and died in 1816—71 years of age.

Bishop Whatcoat was elected Bishop A D, 1800. He was an Englishman, and came to America, we think, with Dr. Coke. Wm. McKendree was born in 1757—elected Bishop in 1808—filled the office 27 years, dying in 1835—78 years of age.

Enoch George was born in 1765—elected Bishop 1816—traveled as such 12 years, and died in Virginia in 18—18—63 years of age.

Robert R. Roberts, his cotemporary, and about the same age, was elected Bishop at the same time, and served in the office 27 years, dying in 1843, upward of 70 years old.

Elijah Hedding and Joshua Soule, both of New England, began life about the same time, were elected at the same General Conference—in 18-24. Bishop Soule filled the office 43 years, just about half of his life, as he was born in 1781 and died in 1867—Hedding, we believe, died in 1832, having gone his Episcopal rounds 28 years.

John Emory was made Bishop in 1832; was accidentally killed in 1835—aged about 43 years.

James O. Andrew was made a Bishop at 38 years of age, in 1832—served 39 years, dying in 1871—77 years of age.

William Capers, the Chrysostom of the Southern Church, was born in 1790—elected Bishop in 1846—filled the office 9 years, died in 1855—age 65 years.

We believe that we heard him preach his last sermon.

Henry B. Bascom was born 1797—elected Bishop in 1850, died in September of the same year, at the age of 53

We omitted to speak of Bishop Morris, who was elected in 1836, and died last year, over 85—filled the office 48 years the longest of the list.

Of Beverly Waugh we have read so little, we can recall no dates—elected we think in 1836.

John Early was born in 1786; died in 1873—was made Bishop in 1854, when 68 years of age—served 19 years in the office—Southern Advocate.

Moral Courage in Daily Life.

"Moral Courage," was printed in large letters as the caption of the following items, and placed in a conspicuous place on the door of a systematic merchant in New York, for constant reference, and furnished by him for publication:

Have the courage to discharge a debt while you have the mony in your pocket.

Have the courage to do without that which you do not need, however much your eyes may covet it.

Have the courage to speak to a friend in a seedy coat, even though you are in company with a rich one, and richly attired.

Have the courage to speak your mind when it is necessary that you should do so, and hold your tongue when it is prudent that you should do so.

Have the courage to own that you are poor, and thus disarm poverty of its sting.

Have the courage to tell a man why you refuse to credit him.

Have the courage to cut the most agreeable acquaintance you have when you are convinced that he lacks principle—a friend should bear with a friend's infirmities, but not with his vices.

Have the courage to show your respect for honesty, in whatever guise it appears, and your contempt for dishonesty and duplicity, by whomsoever exhibited.

Have the courage to wear your old clothes until you can pay for new ones.

Have the courage to prefer comfort and propriety to fashion in all things.

Have the courage to acknowledge your ignorance, rather than to seek for knowledge under false pretenses.

Have the courage in providing an entertainment for your friends not to exceed your means.

The Death-bed Sermon.

A New York secular paper gives the following incident, which we reproduce as a warning to the multitudes of poor rich men whom we meet continually:

A gentleman died last week, at his residence in one of our up-town fashionable streets, leaving $11,000,000. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, in excellent standing, a good husband and father, and a thriving citizen. On his death-bed, lingering long, he suffered with great agony of mind and gave continual expression to his remorse at what his conscience told him had been an ill spent life. "Oh!" he exclaimed, as his weeping friends and relations gathered about his bed—"Oh! if I could only live my years over again. Oh! if I could only be spared for a few years, I would give all the wealth I have amassed in a lifetime. It is a life devoted to money getting that I regret. It is this which weighs me down and makes me despair of the life hereafter!" His clergyman endeavored to soothe him, but he turned his face to the wall. "You have never reproved my avaricious spirit," he said to the minister. "You have called it a wise economy and forethought, but my riches have been only a snare for my soul! I would give all I possess to have hope for my poor soul!" In this state of mind, refusing to be consoled, this poor rich man bewailed a life devoted to the mere acquisition of riches. Many came away from his bedside impressed with the uselessness of such an existence as the wealthy man had spent, adding house to house and dollar to dollar, until he became a millionaire. All knew him to be a professing Christian and a good man, as the world goes, but the terror and remorse of his death-bed administered a lesson not to be lightly dismissed from memory. He would have given all his wealth for a single hope of heaven.

Religion of the Royal Family.

The Royal Family of England have their religion pretty well divided up among the various churches, according to the following account: "Queen Victoria is the legal head of the Episcopal Church of Scotland. When she is in England her Presbyterianism is technically called 'dissent,' and when she re-crosses the Tweed into Scotland her Episcopalianism becomes 'dissent' there. She has a morbid hatred of ritualism. The Prince of Wales is inclined to ritualistic ceremonies, whilst his eldest sister, the Princess of Germany, is a Lutheran; his brother-in-law, the Prince Imperial of Prusia, is a Protestant Lutheran; a sister-in-law, the Duchess of Edinburgh, is a Greek Catholic; her husband is a Low Church Episcopalian; the other brothers and sisters are Episcopalians and Presbyterians by turn—their particular creed depends upon their residence the time being. The Princess of Wales is naturally bewildered at the manifold religions of her royal relations, and clings to the faith she was taught in Denmark.

Authority of the Bible.

The Rev. Adolphe Monod gives the following illustration of the benefits arising from the reading of the Bible, "The mother of a family was married to an infidel, who made a jest of religion in the presence of his own children; yet she succeeded in bringing them all up in the fear of the Lord. I one day asked her how she preserved them from the influence of a father whose sentiments were so openly opposed to her own. This was her answer: "Because to the authority of a father I did not oppose the authority of a mother, but that of God. From their earliest years my children have always seen the Bible upon my table. This holy book has constituted the whole of their religious instruction. I was silent that I might allow it to speak. Did they propose a question, did they commit any fault, did they perform any good action, I opened the Bible, and the Bible answered, reproved or encouraged them. The constant reading of the Scriptures has alone wrought the prodigy which surprises you."

GAMBLING—No passion can lead to such extremities, nor involve a man in such a complicated train of crimes and vices, and ruin whole families so completely, as the baneful rage for gambling. It produces and nourishes all imaginable disgraceful sensations; it is the most fertile of covetousness, envy, rage, malice, dissimulation, and foolish reliance on blind fortune; it frequenly leads to fraud, quarrels, murder, forgery, meanness and despair, and robs us in the most unpardonable manner of the greatest and most irrecoverable treasure—time.

Those who are rich act foolishly in venturing their money in uncertain speculations; and those who have not much to risk must play with timidity, and cannot continue to play unless the fortune of the game turns, being obliged to quit the field at the first heavy blow; or, if they stake everything to force the blind goddess to smile upon them at last, madly hazard their being reduced to instant beggary. The gambler but rarely dies a rich man; those who have had the good fortune to realize some property in this miserable way, and continue playing, are guilty of a two-fold folly.—Trust no person of that description, of whatever rank or character he may be.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. W. Hobbitt, } Editors.
R. F. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

SINGLE COPY, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID. $2.20
IN MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., AUGUST 4, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

☞ Parties continue to write to us concerning the Conference Minutes. We desire to state, again, for the benefit of all concerned, that we had nothing to do with the editing or publication of the Minutes, and are in no wise responsible for the failure of parties to receive them.

A synopsis of the proceedings of the Hillsboro District Conference furnished by the secretary, Rev. W. H. Moore, was received too late for this issue. It will appear in our next.

Rev. J. T. Gibbs, who has recently been afflicted by the loss of his estimable wife, is spending a few days at his mother's residence at Brookston, and will return to his charge in Wilmington about the middle of this month.

In the revival notice from Bro. Rush, which appeared in the Advocate of the 21st July, the types said that Rev. Dr. York was present at the meeting "two" days. It is but justice to Dr York to say that Bro. Rush wrote "ten days" and the error was the printer's.

We surrender the greater part of our space on this (the second) page, to reports from the District Conferences, believing that they will be of interest to our readers. We have on hand Bro. Moore's report from Hillsboro District which will appear in our next issue, and we hope also to include in our next a report from the Salisbury District.

From a private letter from Rev. J. J. Renn, we learn that he is convalescing after a serious and four weeks' attack of typhoid fever. He says:—"To me it has been a pleasant retirement from the field of labor, though it was to "a desert place" near the region of death, for the Lord has been with me and I found his grace sufficient for me. Blessed be His holy name!"

A telegraphic dispatch announces the death of ex President Andrew Johnson. He died at the residence of his daughter in Carter county, Tenn., on the 31st ult. He was stricken with paralysis, and did not speak after he was attacked. He was the honored Senator of the United States from the State of Tennessee at the time of his death. Thus has fallen a distinguished son of North Carolina, born and reared in the city of Raleigh.

We are pleased to learn from Rev. F. H. Wood that the long-talked-of new church building at Wilson is about to become a veritable reality.—The foundations are now being laid, the timbers have been received and it is proposed to push the building to a rapid completion. It is also proposed to make it one of the neatest churches in the State. Bro. Wood says that he expects to see it completed before he leaves that charge which by the "Statute of Limitations" will be at the close of this Conference year.

Week of Prayer.

The week of prayer appointed and recommended by the Bishops of the Southern Methodist Church, at their late meeting in Nashville, commences on the 8th inst. It is for a special blessing on our missionary work, at home and abroad, and on our institutions of learning. It is hoped that the season will be observed by all our people, and that where it is practicable, appropriate services will be held in our churches. The prayers of God's people, thus united and fervently lifted up to the beneficent Author of all good, will be acceptable sacrifice and will ensure the Divine favor upon the church and its interests.

The statement was made at the late anniversary of Mount Holyoke Seminary in Massachusetts, that 115 female missionaries have gone to foreign lands from this institution, 18 of them from the last two graduating classes. Applications are now on file at Mount Holyoke for 20 more missionaries Cape Colony, Africa, asks for eight. Several graduates are already in that field, and have had great success in Christian work.

There is a Baptist Church in Rome with a membership of ninety two.—The nephew of a Cardinal—once a Catholic priest—will soon be baptized. Five years ago a Baptist religious meeting was prohibited in the "Eternal City."

Messrs. Moody and Sankey have been invited by the Round Lake Camp Meeting Association to hold a ten days' meeting on their camp ground in September next.

The District Conference.

We had intended to give a synopsis of the proceedings of the Raleigh District Conference, but Brother Bain, the assistant secretary, has kindly furnished a full report and there is nothing left for us to say. We cannot deny ourself the pleasure, however, of adding our testimony to the elegant and hospitable entertainment given us by the citizens of Oxford.—They did all that could be done to contribute to the interest and success of the occasion. The attendance upon Divine service during the session was unusually large, and the people heard the word gladly. It is proper to state that the choir of the Methodist Church, with Mrs. John W. Hays as organist, performed well their part. The music was in the highest style of the art, though not operatic—it was indeed melody to the soul.

We are glad to state also that our college agents, Rev. J. A. Cunninggim and Rev. V. A. Sharpe, were successful in securing contributions to the institutions they represent. Bro. Cunninggim raised for Greensboro Female College about eleven hundred dollars, and Bro. Sharpe secured two hundred dollars for Trinity, in addition to what he had received from the people of Oxford on a former visit. Last, but not least, the Advocate came in for its share of success in the way of subscribers and renewals. We are gratified to know that the Advocate is in favor with the people of this District, and the favorite of our Methodist people in North Carolina.

The Conference resolved to hold a District Sunday school Convention. The fixing of the time was left with the Presiding Elder. Person Street Church, Raleigh, was selected as the place for holding it. We hope to have a large attendance of preachers and delegates.

The financial and spiritual condition of the several charges, on the District, passed in review before the Conference. Revivals on some of the fields of labor were reported, and a goodly number of accessions to the church. The District as far as we could learn, from the verbal reports of the preachers and delegates, is in a healthy state both financially and spiritually.

Sunday was a cloudless but an extremely warm day. Divine services were held at three churches, viz: Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian. Rev. J. P. Moore officiating at the Methodist, Rev. J. A. Cunninggim at the Presbyterian, and the writer at the Baptist, at 11 o'clock in the morning. Rev. F. L. Reid preached in the Methodist Church at night and Rev. A. A. Boshamer in the Baptist Church. Rev. M. J. Hunt preached at the Orphan Asylum at night. A Sunday school mass meeting was held in the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon and excellent speeches were made by Rev. J. W. Shackford, Rev. F. L. Reid, T. C. Williams, Esq., and Rev. A. A. Roshamer. The singing of the Sabbath school, led by Mrs. Hays, the organist, and Bro. J. W. Hays, the model Superintendent, was very fine. The exercises throughout were highly entertaining.

While in Oxford we had the pleasure of meeting our friend, J. T. Britt, Esq., of the Oxford Leader, one of our valued exchanges. We were glad to learn that he is meeting with success in his enterprise. We return our thanks to him for courtesies extended to us, and for kind words for the Advocate. We also had the pleasure of forming the acquaintance of his partner, Mr. Blow. Our best wishes for the Oxford Leader.

The next District Conference will be held at Louisburg.

Raleigh District Female School.

At the Raleigh District Conference last year at Franklinton, it will be remembered, a committee was appointed to take into consideration the propriety of opening District Schools and to receive propositions from different places in the District in regard to the location of these schools. The stockholders of what is known as "Louisburg Female College" tendered that building to the Conference to be used for a female school and the District Conference at Oxford last week accepted the offer and appointed the following gentleman a Board of Directors to open the institution and employ the necessary instructors: Edwin W. Fuller, Hon. J. J. Davis, Capt. C. M. Cooke, Capt. R. F. Yarborough and Wm. Pleasants. The Pastor of the Methodist Church at Louisburg is also a member of the Board of Directors.

The gentlemen will no doubt go forward and perform the duty assigned them and perform it well. The school is to be known as the Raleigh District Female School. The Raleigh District Conference has pledged its support and patronage and with the Raleigh District to support and patronize it and the present Board of Directors to manage and govern it, we see no reason why it should not be a fine success. The school is located in Louisburg N. C., ten miles from the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad. The place is healthy, the people as refined and intelligent as will be found in any town in this, or any other State, and we are glad that we have such a fine prospect for a good female school for the District. We need just such a school. Raleigh District is regarded as an important District in the State and we hope that she will take the lead in her District School. Let every minister and layman on the Raleigh District go to work for this school. As soon as the Board of Directors meet we will receive for publication their plan of organization.

Shelby District Conference.

This body met at Shelby N. C on Thursday, July 22nd, and adjourned sine die Saturday July 24th, at 6 o'clock P M.

All the traveling ministers were present, save two.--Rev. D. May of Newton circuit, and Rev. N. G. Whitington of Upper Broad River Mission. The excuse of these brethren for non-attendance were deemed quite satisfactory. There was a good attendance of laymen.

The Conference was opened at 9 A. M., Rev. Dr. Burkhead, Presiding Elder of the District, in the chair. B. F. Dixon was elected Secretary.

The opening sermon was preached at 11 A. M. by Rev. R. G. Barrett of Lincolnton, from Matthew 20th chap. 6th v. "Why stand ye here all the day idle?"

In obedience to the request of the P. E. published sometimes since in the Advocate, the preachers in charge of the several circuits and stations, presented written reports, 1st upon the Spirituality of the Church, 2nd on Finance, 3rd on Education, 4th on Sabbath schools, and 5th on Missions.

After all the reports upon the spirituality of the church had been received, Rev. H. T. Hudson introduced the following preamble and resolutions which were adopted:

WHEREAS: It appears from the various reports of the pastoral charges that the spirituality of the church is in a good and lively condition, yet there is still room for improvement, and whereas spirituality among our members is the life sap of our vine, the central pillar of our religious fabric, the warm sun of our christian system, Therefore

Resolved, That it is the sense of this body that we put forth increased and persistent efforts in all of our ministrations of the word, to deepen, intensify and enlarge the spiritual mindedness of our people."

All the circuits and stations having presented their financial reports, the following preamble and resolutions were introduced, adopted and ordered to be sent to the Advocate for publication—viz: The first thing to which we would call the attention of the Conference, is the very meagre and entirely inadequate assessments made by the Stewards of some charges.

All their efforts seem to be to bring the claims down to the minimum. In some cases this is pushed to such an extent, that if all the assessments could be collected, it would barely keep the preacher from suffering, allowing nothing for the education of his family, works of charity, &c.

We think the board of Stewards should be more liberal in their assessments, and recommend to them the propriety of setting a good example before the people by giving largely and freely of their own means.

We also think that preachers and other members of the Quarterly Conferences should be more careful in the nomination and selection of Stewards as many cases of failure, we think, are traceable to the inefficiency and carelessness of Stewards. Select none but high toned liberal minded christians to fill this important position.

We think the mass of our people need instruction as to their duty in this all important particular Some who are willing to give do not really know how much is required of them; nor do they feel as deeply as they ought, the duty and necessity of consecrating their substance to the service of the church, and of sacrificing some of their own luxuries and conveniences to supply the wants, and add to the comforts of a faithful pastor.

We also think that the plan of waiting until after the 4th Quarterly Conference to collect the preachers salary should be remembered with the things of the past. Therefore Resolved, 1st, That we recommend to Stewards to be more liberal in assessing and faithful in collecting.

2nd, That Quarterly Conferences be more careful in selecting Stewards.

3rd, That our preachers be required to preach at least once a year, at each appointment, on the duty and necessity of giving to the support of the ministry.

4th, That we recommend the assessment or subscription plan for raising the salaries of the preachers.

5th. That earnest endeavors be made to pay all claims quarterly.

6th. That it is the sense of this Conference that it is the duty of the Stewards and membership to see that the salary of the preacher be paid before he leaves the Charge.

The Sunday school interest is one of the most hopeful. There are schools on all the circuits and stations within the district, and at most of the Churches.

The subject of education, literary, religious and denominational, was made a subject of special inquiry and discussion.

On that subject the Rev. R. G. Barrett presented the following which was adopted.

Resolved, that we heartily recommend all our Conference Colleges to the patronage of our people; and especially Davenport Female College has claims of a high character on the Methodists of Shelby District

2nd. That the Raleigh Christian Advocate, first among our Church papers, claims our support, and that we will labor faithfully to give it a still wider circulation.

At the same time we recommend with pleasure the Nashville Christian Advocate and our Sunday school periodicals to our people.

The interest of missions also received special attention.

The religious exercises of the Conference were prominent and profitable. The preaching was "good to the use of edifying."

A lovefeast on Sabbath morning was a time of great spiritual enjoyment A Sunday-school mass-meeting was held at 3 o'clock Sabbath afternoon—Col. Andrews of Wilmington and Rev. J. T. Harris of Marion delivered addresses; of course they were interesting and profitable.

The following laymen were elected delegates to the Annual Conference.

B. F. Dixon, Dr A. A. Scroggs, J. W. Gidney and L. J. Hoyle

Alternates. Maj. H. D Lee, Prof. J. T. Abernethy, J. R Wilson and M. O. Sherrill.

The next District Conference will be held at Hickory.

The usual resolutions of thanks to the citizens of Shelby for their bounteous hospitality to the pastors of the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches, for the use of their pulpits—and to the Carolina Central railroad for passing delegates at half fare were unanimously passed by the Conference.

And, now Messrs Editors, let me say in conclusion, that the Shelby District Conference was a success, and that the "Empire District," under the judicious and faithful supervision of Dr. Burkhead and his co laborers, is being brought up to a higher experience, financially and spiritually, than that to which it has ever hither to attained. And if God and the Bishop will spare us our present Presiding Elder a few years longer, these "dry bones shall yet live."

B. F DIXON Sec'y.

Messrs. Editors: While writing you on business, I would just say that our District Conference was a decided success. The attendance was unusually large, crowding the church most the time to the last capacity. The reports of the preachers showed that all the enterprises of the church were flourishing and promising a grander harvest in the future. The preachers were in good health and preached with power and the demonstration of the Spirit. The whole community was perfectly charmed with the ministers and proceedings of the Conference. Great spiritual unction rested upon the people during most of the services. We had penitents, two of whom were converted last night. We will protract the meeting, hoping for greater results. In fine, it was one of the most delightful, harmonious, profitable District Conferences we have ever witnessed. But we will say no more as our Secretary was instructed to publish in the Advocate an abstract of the proceedings.

H. T. HUDSON.

Revival News.

Messrs Editors: I have just closed a meeting at Whitaker's, which resulted in 14 conversions and 11 accessions to the Church. God was present to bless. Two made a profession of faith in Christ at the first service held.

The Church was strengthened spiritually as well as numerically. Bro. L. J. Holden was present the first week and rendered efficient aid. Bro Freeman of the Missionary Baptist Church also assisted in preaching.

Whitaker's is an appointment which I have taken in this year. It is a quiet, orderly place, notwithstanding its reputation. Especially are the people so at Church. In a meeting of two weeks I saw no occasion for reproof. I think an effectual door is opened to us there.

Yours truly,
FRED D. SWINDELL.

Tarboro, July 24th

Who Named our Church?

Messrs Editors: The answer to the above question in the last issue of the Advocate is different from the impression I have a long time held. It seems to me that the Rev. R. O. Burton, in the "Sketches of Itinerant Ministers," ascribes the suggestion of the name of our Church to the Rev. H. G. Leigh, late of N. C. Conference, and yet my impression is indefinite. Let the truth of history be vindicated.

SAMUEL A. WEBER.

The Charlotte District Conference will be held at Center commencing Thursday 12th August.

The opening Sermon will be preached on Wednsday evening at 7½ o'clock, by Rev. C. M. Pepper.

Brethren from a distance are cordially invited to attend.

We would be highly pleased to have the Editors of the Advocate with us.

J. S. NELSON, P. E.

Monroe, N. C.

Grace Church, Protestant Episcopal, New York, is about to erect a group of buildings of a remarkable character. It has secured the depth of the entire block between 13th and 14th street. The group will include Grace Hall, having a frontage of 62½ feet on Fourteenth street; Grace House and Grace Parsonage on Thirteenth street; and Grace chapel which will occupy the center of the block, with 1,000 sittings. The total equipment will cost about $150,000, and be the centre of all the thronging activities of that busy parish.

According to the Irish Word, two hundred Jesuits, those ejected posts of the Old Word, are coming to make their headquarters in Cincinnati for general work in this country.

Religious Brevities

We learn that Rev. Wm. Hicks, of the Holston Advocate, expresses himself as open to overtures from the Holston Methodist, looking to a consolidation of the two papers.

The Holston Methodist is now owned and edited by Rev. R. N. Price, who is fully competent to the task.

Dr. Curry who is now in England expects to take passage in the Baltic, Aug., 12th, for America.

Dr. Abel Stevens, the Methodist historian, now in Europe, it is reported, has entirely recovered from a recent severe illness, and his health is now better than it has been for a long time.

The New Orleans Advocate notes the death of Rev William McCormick, a superannuated member of the Mississippi Conference.

We learn that in consequence of the feeble health of the publisher and editor of the Baltimore-Christian Advocate, Rev. Eugene R Smith, that paper will be temporarily discontinued.

Messrs Moody and Sankey held their closing meetings in London July 11th. The attendance was enormous. Many persons were on their way to Camberwell as early as five o'clock in the morning. Thousands were unable to obtain admission to the evening services.

The total amount of recipts for the past year reported by the various religious societies of Great Britain, at the anniversaries held in May last, was considerably over eight and a half millions of dollars.

Faith made perfect by love, is that pearl of great price with which we have everything, and without which, though we should have all that men desire the most, we should have nothing truly valuable.

In the most Catholic nation of Spain, where are nine archbishops, ninety-three bishops, one hundred thousand priests, fourteen thousand monks, and nineteen thousand nuns, out of a population of fifteen millions, less than a million can read or write.

A Baptist lady of wealth and culture, now residing at McKinney, Texas, has offered to go as a missionary to China, at her own expense. The Southern Baptist Board has appointed her, and she will soon leave for her field of labor in Northern China.

The Western Methodist reports the death of Rev. Charles Collins, D. D., of the Memphis Conference, and President of the State Female College, near Memphis. He was an eminent scholar and educator, and will be mourned by thousands.

About 400 Mennonites reached Canada a few days ago, en route to Manitoba, where they are to locate their new homes.

A class of fifty nine colored adults were recently confirmed by Bishop Gross in St. Benedict's Catholic church, Savannah, Ga.

Out of sixty four rectors in the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, it it found that the salaries of thirty five were below $1,000 a year: some receive $500, and someas low as $200.

Mr and Mrs. Frama, Quakers, have been holding a meeting at London, Ohio, which has resulted in the conversion of over 180 persons. Of these, 110 united with the Methodist Church.

Rev. Dr. Chambers, of Philadelphia, after running an independent ecclesiastical existence for several years, and ministering to one of the largest congregations in that city, has returned to the Presbyterian fold.

The evangelistic labors of the Rev. William Taylor in India, during the past two or three years have resulted in the admission into the Methodist Episcopal Church, of 708 persons as members and 523 as probationers.

A protest against Ritualism has been presented to the Archbishop of Canterbury from the county of Kent, signed by 2,000 communicants. Among these are ten peers, five peer's sons, four baronets, and eighty-one magistrates.

Mark Twain, appropos of a new portable mosquito net, writes that the day is coming "when we will sit under our nets in church and slumber peacefully, while the discomfited flies club together and take it out of the minister."

Two Chinese classes in which the Chinese women participate, are held weekly in San Francisco.

An agency for good among the Chinese population in San Francisco, is the Chinese Young Men's Christian Association which numbers 250 members.

Rev. A. F. Redd having been recently elected to a professorship in the University of North Carolina, has disposed of his interest in the Biblical Recorder, the Baptist organ, to Rev. J. T. Bailey, who succeeds as senior editor of that paper. We regret to lose from the fraternity so accomplished a gentleman as Prof. Redd, but are glad to know that his place is filled by a substitute so competent as Rev. Mr. Bailey. The latter gentleman, in the last issue of the Recorder, makes his formal bow to its readers, and in a graceful salutatory enters upon the duties of his new calling.—To the retiring editor we offer our best wishes for success and happiness in his new field of labor; and to the incoming one, we extend a hearty welcome, hoping that he will gather and enjoy the many flowers that are to be found in the rough and thorny regions of newspaper life.

Raleigh District Conference.

The session of this Conference held in the town of Oxford 22d-24th inst., was a pleasant and profitable occasion to preachers, delegates and visitors, as well as the citizens of the place. The introductory sermon was preached on Wednesday night by Rev. J. E. Thompson of Cary circuit. It was like all of his discourses, forcible and good.

Every pastor was present but one, (Rev. A. W. Mangum, of Edenton Street Church, Raleigh) whose absence was regretted, but satisfactorily explained in a communication from him. The lay delegation was large, the local ministry well represented

The Presiding Elder, Rev. Junius P. Moore, presided. John W. Hays, Esq., of Oxford, the very efficient Secretary of the last Conference, was re-elected. D. W. Bain, of Raleigh, was elected Assistant Secretary.

The sincere, christian welcome extended to the Conference and visitors by the people of Oxford, received an appreciative response in the cheerful and happy countenances of all.

The Conference had the pleasure of a visit from Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, Agent for Greensboro Female College, Rev. V. A. Sharpe, Agent for Trinity College; Rev. Jesse H. Page, of the Methodist Protestant Church; Rev. J. W. Shackford, of Warrenton; T. C. Williams, Financial secretary of the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Society of the N. C. Conference. Revs. Messrs Jordan and Underwood, Pastors of the Oxford Presbyterian and Baptist Churches, favored the Conference with their presence frequently.

From the reports of the several pastors information was obtained of the healthful progress of the Church. The people, generally, "attend upon its ordinances and support its institutions." The spirituality of the membership is encouragingly good. Some churches have been greatly blessed by revivals of religion—others are hopeful. It was especially gratifying to learn the feeling of the church in reference to worldly amusements—that they were generally eschewed with an isolated individual exception here and there. The reports in this respect from the towns, where the temptations are great, were received with profound pleasure. It was stated that even in the city of Raleigh, where the influence is most deeply felt, the sentiment of the church against the evil afforded a safeguard to the members, especially so far as circuses and dancing are concerned. The statements of the Pastors of the two Raleigh churches (written and verbal) and the delegates, on this point, were very satisfactory.

The reports indicate that the people are disposed to meet their obligations to the church in all its departments, in a financial particular. The monetary pressure which prevails throughout the country produces an embarrassment which is at present greatly felt, but from which it is confidently expected the people will recover as the hopeful season approaches. The preachers are encouraged and, hence, there is hope. The missionary enterprises are looked after, and indications are that the District will not be delinquent in its duty in this important particular.

The Sabbath school interests receive the attention of preachers, and the people everywhere seem to be alive to this very important work. The remarks on this subject disclosed the gratifying fact that the church was looking after her children, many of whom, during the year, she had gathered into her communion.

In many localities Sunday schools on mission fields have been established and successfully conducted. Special mention was made of several worthy lay brethren who are devoted to this work and who make many sacrifices in attending to it. The church seems to be appreciating more than ever before the great importance of fostering the Sunday school interests. She knows the strength and influence of her Sunday schools.

In view of the action of the N. C. Conference Sunday school Society at its last session, recommending annual Sunday school conventions or meetings within each District, D. W. Bain introduced a resolution appointing Revs. J. B. Bobbitt, F. L. Reid and J. W. Hays, Esq., a committee to consider the Sunday school interests in this District and the practicability of holding such meeting within its bounds. The committee reported recommending that such annual meeting be held at such place as each District Conference may select, and at such time as the Presiding Elder may determine—delegates to be elected from the several pastoral charges in the District. The report was adopted and Person Street Church, Raleigh, was selected as the place for the first meeting, the time to be hereafter appointed by the Presiding Elder and notice of which is to be given through the ADVOCATE.

The educational enterprises of the North Carolina Conference were considered fully and specially.

Trinity College was ably represented by its energetic Agent, Rev. V. A. Sharpe. His very forcible address in behalf of the college met with a response from the people individually as he called on them. The amount of subscriptions and collections I did not learn.

Rev. Jesse A. Cunninggim, Agent for Greensboro Female College, eloquently addressed the Conference in the interest of the College. Before the conclusion of his address the people were ready to respond and the handsome subscription of $1,110 was made by residents and visitors. The reputed liberality of the people of Oxford and Granville county was sustained in this instance. They are going to do more.

Resolutions strongly endorsing these Colleges and commending their agents were unanimously adopted.

Davenport Female College and its efficient President came in for a share of commendation indicating the high esteem in which they are held by the people.

For the information of all, the following report which explains itself, is inserted:

The committee appointed at the last session of this Conference for the purpose of securing locations for District schools present their report as follows:

As soon as practicable after the adjournment of the last Conference, we published in the Raleigh Christian Advocate the fact of our appointment, and asked for propositions for the location of said school. Louisburg was the only place that responded. The proprietors of the college building in that town offer that building for a female school free of rent until the school may become a success and afterwards at only a nominal rent. Your committee therefore recommend that the Conference accept the munificent offer of Messrs Yarborough and Fuller, and appoint a board of six directors, including the Pastor of the M. E. Church, South, in Louisburg, to furnish the building and put in operation, and superintend the interest, of the school to be called the Raleigh District Female School.

Resolved, That the Conference pledge their hearty support of this enterprise,

D. C. WHITE.
J. R. GRIFFITH.
H. H. GIBBONS.

The report having been adopted the following gentlemen were nominated and elected Directors as provided for by it: W. H. Pleasants, E. W. Fuller, R. F. Yarborough, J. J. Davis, C. M. Cook.

T. C. Williams, Esq., Financial Secretary of the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Society of the N. C. Conference, addressed the Conference in the interest of the Society, explaining its objects and workings. Many gave him their names as annual members with the membership fee. The name of the Society indicates its nature. It should receive the encouragement and support of our people. Its purposes are laudable. The blessings of Heaven will attend it. Any one can become an annual member by the payment of one dollar. Bro. Williams' address is Warrenton, N. C.

The ADVOCATE was a subject of much discussion, all in one direction, however. There was no dissent to the encomiums pronounced upon it and its editors. All were glad to learn that the paper was prospering and growing in favor.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

RESOLVED, That we have witnessed with much satisfaction and a legitimate degree of pride the continued prosperity of the "Raleigh Christian Advocate," and that we render our hearty endorsement of that paper as the organ of the N. C. Conference, and that we pledge anew our earnest co operation in increasing the circulation of the paper as an exponent of our doctrines and as one of the best mediums for the circulation of the literature of our church.

F. L. REID.
J. R. GRIFFITH.

The following resolution which will receive the hearty endorsement of the friends of the lamented Dr. Reid, was unanimously adopted after remarks from several fully endorsing the work therein referred to:

RESOLVED, That we as a Conference will use every possible effort to circulate the "Life and Sermons of the late Dr. N. F. Reid, edited by his sons Rev. F. L. Reid and J. W. Reid, Esq.

J. B. BOBBITT.
J. R. GRIFFITH.

The following are the delegates elect to the Annual Conference: A. S. Webb, R L Hunt, S L Riddle, Rev T G Whitaker. Messrs E W Fuller and J H Taylor were elected alternates.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That for the exceeding kind reception and hospitable entertainment so heartily extended to the members of this Conference and visitors by the citizens of Oxford, they are entitled to, and are hereby tendered, the sincere and heartfelt thanks of the Conference.

H. B. ESTES.

All felt in voting for this resolution the truth of its sentiment. The kind, christian reception and hospitality of the people of Oxford will be ever remembered with gratitude by the guests of that truly enjoyable occasion.

Mr. W. A. Davis, editor of the Torch Light, issued a daily paper giving the proceedings of the Conference, which received the encouragement and acknowledgments of the Conference in a resolution unanimously adopted.

The authorities of the Raleigh and Gaston and Raleigh & Augusta Air Line Railroad Cos. received special expression of thanks for the courtesy of one fare travel extended to the Conference and visitors.

Louisburg was selected as the place for holding the next Conference.

Conference adjourned on Saturday afternoon after a most harmonious and pleasant session. The prayer, God bless the preachers! went up from many hearts.

The Presiding Elder conducted the business of the session with dispatch and a view to the accomplishment of good.

The preaching during the session of Conference and on Sabbath was characterized by its force and true Gospel simplicity. The brethren of the Presbyterian and Baptist Churches tendered the use of their houses of worship for preaching, which were accepted with the thanks of the Conference.

On Sabbath afternoon a Sunday school mass meeting was held in the Methodist Church, at which earnest and interesting addresses were delivered by Revs. J. W. Shackford, F. L. Reid, A. A. Boshamer and T C Williams, Esq.

John W. Hays, Esq., Superintendent of the M. E Sunday school in Oxford, seems to be peculiarly adapted to his work. He is an earnest and faithful laborer in this important department of the church, and is assisted by his energetic lady.

The space allowed in your columns for this report being limited, the writer was compelled to condense to such an extent as to render the report deficient in many particulars. Very little more than a mere synopsis was attempted.

D. W. BAIN.

Greensboro District Conference to be held at High Point, commencing August 12th at 10 o'clock. Ministers and laymen will be provided homes during the session by sending their names at once to the committee of arrangement. Brethren please be prompt.

Address
JAMES A. CAMPBELL, } Com.
S. H. SMITH. }
at High Point, or P. L. Herman, Thomasville N. C.

Seven hundred and forty converts to Mormonism arrived at New York last week. The most of them are Swedes, Danes, Norwegians and Germans of the poorer classes, with a few English people, the infants, children and young girls outnumbering the adults nearly two to one.

Recent Publications.

BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW, July 1875. American Edition. The Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay St., New York.

We have received the above Review from the American Publishers. It is an old established Review and is in high favor with the British and American literati. Its contents are 1. Augusta Treverorum. 2 Shakespeare Character and Early Career. 3. The Future of the English Universities. 4 Sin and Madness from a Physician's Point of View. 5. Church and State in India. 6. Mr. Disraeli as Minister. 7. Edgar Allan Poe. 8. Contemporary Literature.

The periodicals reprinted by the LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO. 41 Barclay Street, N. Y. are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the Postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE, for July—American reprint Leonard Scott Publishing Co., New York.

The contents are 1st "The Diplomatists," Part III, a serial, a well written and interesting story. 2d, "Pages from a Post-Mortem," the sad self-communings of a disembodied spirit revisiting his former haunts. 3d, "Under the Mask," the first part of a serial which in witchcraft is overcome by love and smiles. 4th "Sketch of Canada," a comprehensive article on the geography, resources and government of Canada. Then comes the review of new books, some favorably noticed and others scathed with criticism.

"THE ODD TRUMP," a novel. Published by E. J. Hale & Son New York

This book has been on our table for some time, but in the midst of pressing duties was not read until recently. It is a fresh, well written, vigorous novel, teaching some good moral lessons, and has been favorably received by the public The author who is unknown to us and whose name does not appear, may well be congratulated upon his entrance into the literary world, and has a prospect of brilliant success before him. Messrs E. J. Hale & Son are reliable and popular publishers and execute their work in faultless style. They are North Carolinians and deserve much prosperity.

NORTH CAROLINA.

— During our visit to Oxford the last week, we were more than pleased to see the crops looking so well. The cotton and corn crop generally throughout the State is looking remarkably well.

— To test the temperature in Wilmington on the 26th inst., a man cooked an egg in the sand of the street.

— Singer, the inventor of the Sewing Machine which bears his name, died the last week. The Sewing Machine offices throughout the country were closed in respect to his memory.

— There will be a meeting of the Surgeon Dentists of the State at Raleigh on the 11th inst.

— In a difficulty between a man named Thompson at Forestville, and Sandy Merrill, Esq., of Raleigh, last week, the latter was severely stabbed by the former. The wound, though serious, is not fatal.

— A very destructive hail storm passed over a portion of Jacob's Fork Township, in Iredell co. week before last.

— Bro. Yates, of the Charlotte DEMOCRAT, is dissatisfied with the management of the "preferred" stockholders in the Charlotte Female Institute, and speaks his mind freely.

— Mr. Reuben Fink, living near Mt Pleasant, Cabarrus county, planted an ordinary land, 13 pounds of Fultz wheat, and made therefrom eight and one half bushels, heaping measure.

—J. F. G. Mitlag, of Hagerstown, Md., contributes one hundred dollars to the erection of a Centennial Monument in Charlotte.

— Mr. J. A. Monroe, formerly of Faison's Depot, has taken charge of the Male Academy at Winston, N. C.

— We have had very refreshing rains for the past few days. The crop prospects through this section is promising.

— The Winston Sentinel gives an account of a murder in Yadkin county. One Hedrick was returning from the hustings in a wagon with several companions who were intoxicated, when they were met by a Mr. Jennings who reproved them for their noise and disorderly conduct. Hedrick drew a pistol and shot Jennings killing him instantly.

— Mr. Benj. W. Avent, of Nash county, a clerk at E. G. James & Co's dry goods store, Petersburg, committed suicide by jumping from Pocahontas bridge, in that city, on Wednesday. He had been ill for several days.

—We return our thanks to Mr. J. A. Williams for a very fine water melon. If the one sent us is a fair sample of the quality he keeps on hand, he will have no difficulty in selling them.—Mr. Williams has not been in Raleigh a great while, but he has made many friends among our citizens. He keeps constantly on sale a good supply of corn. Our friends would do well to give him a call.

Magnolia Record: The soil in this section the corn crop promises as a precedented yield, and throughout the South the corn crop the present year bids fair to be the best since the war and as good as any within the recollection of the very oldest planter.

WORTHY OF PATRONAGE.—Mr. Wm. Williams, the wounded artillerist, who was so fearfully mangled at the Centennial Celebration in Charlotte, has opened a store in the house formerly occupied by J. W. Brown, on the corner of Morgan and Davie Streets. He is of course incapacitated for labor at his calling, the machinist, and resort to his present business is his only hope of an independent livelihood. His spirit is too independent to allow of his being a burden upon the kindness of relatives and living by the charity of others, and his launching into business is an effort on his part to earn a living. By patronizing him our people will do themselves no harm and will do him much good. We bespeak for him the kind consideration and liberal patronage of our citizens.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written on one side of the sheet. All letters of business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

In remitting money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of a registered letter, or Post office order can be deducted from the amount remitted. If money is sent otherwise than as registered it will be at the sender's risk.

General News.

The aggregate entrances 30 178 810 acres of land during 1,2 3 115 acres are as yet unpatented. That's the reason why she is all the woods

The Railroad is now selling from St. Louis to Nashville or $2,500.

The first yellow fever had appeared in New Orleans, is denied by the an horities

The Herald says a refrigerator filled with ice was shipped from Atlanta to Macon one day last week.

Reports that the Mississippi jetties have cut out 3 sod reef, and are progressing feet daily. Four hundred men employed.

Frank, the widow of the distinguished Arctic explorer, is dead.

The largest cotton crop in the State was 1,000 00 bales.

Reports of the cotton crop in Georgia exceeds the wheat crop in

The Centennial Commission broke ground on the 22nd, four

The boom of coffee raising is to be seen in the Los Angeles valley

Ex-Governor Wigfall, weighing 16 000 pounds, died in Knoxville Marble Company, New York, a few days since. A car same kind is to be shipped to that Typhoid fever is prevailing to an alarming extent in Baltimore. Seventeen cases were reported on the 22nd. Every precaution is said to prevent its reaching

Mr. H. Nelson Gamaliel, Maine, has gone into the manufacture of ice for, has gone into the firm of Wheeler and Co. manufacturers and dealers.

Reports from within a fortnight up to the 1st instant to the medical school of Philadelphia have been received from Europe and Turkey.

Congress proposes to submit a proposition to the States, whether or not U. S. Senators shall not be elected by Governor Hampton assumes the chair of the State, on Wednesday, 28th inst. The cotton crop throughout the State is splendid well.

Governor Willard assumes the chair of Governor of Indiana, on Wednesday, 28th inst. The cotton crop throughout the State is splendid well.

Professor Lamar, late of Bethel College, Kentucky, has been engaged exclusively by the Methodists of Virginia, to devote his time to the interests of Mr. Charlotte Dickson, of Hamilton College, Virginia, has been elected Professor of Mathematics and Natural Science in the Ohio Wesleyan Female College, Delaware.

Mr. Thomas Dunham Eng. have been appointed Professors of Latin and Greek in the College of the State of Rockford

The Cotton Exchange of New York, edition of Saturday, contains valuable statistics and reports upon the cotton crop.

Mr. Thomas Nelson Page, editor of Galveston, Texas, sports turquoise 32 inches long

Children's Column.

Children's Rights.

BY MRS L. A GOODWIN.

A boy has a right to do right,
And so has a girl;
Defend it, my children, with might,
Your banner unfurl.
I scribed with—"A right to do right every-where:
I oppose it who will and deny it who dare."

A right to do right with your heart,
To think right and feel;
Head hands, and with every part,
From forehead to heel.
Your members and senses—limbs, lips, hearing, sight,
Have each the perfection of rights to do right.

A Reaper is hard for a year,
A month or a day,
"Time is up," you by and by hear,
Your claim melts away.
But while earth shall roll and the sun give his light
So long is extended your right to do right.

Hurra, for the right to do right!
Not just now and then,
But always by day and by night,
Little women and men!
While dividing your apple we'll him who has none;
The right to do right, like your soul, is your own.

Answers.

The word 'perils' is found 20 times in 2d Corinthians 11th chap. 26th v. T. C. W. Boshamer.

Paul said when he was standing in the midst of Mar's Hill, "Ye men of Athens, I perceive in all things ye are too superstitious," Acts 17th ch. 22d v. T. C. W. Boshamer, Corinna M. Reynolds, J. W. Howard.

When Paul gathered a bundle of sticks and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heap and fastened on his hand. Acts 28th ch. 3d v. T. C. W. Boshamer, Corinna M. Reynolds, J. W. Howard.

Silver shrines were made for Diana by Demetrius, a silver smith. Acts 19th ch 24th v. T. C. W. Boshamer, J. R. Howard.

Our Saviour is spoken of in Isaiah 7th ch. 14th v. "His name shall be called Immanual." In Jeremiah, 23d ch. 6th verse, he is called "The Lord our Righteousness." T. C. W. Boshamer.

David was the great grand son of Ruth. Corinna M. Reynolds.

The 8th chapter of Romans has the word 'spirit' twenty times. Corinna M. Reynolds.

The Book of Job is supposed to have been written by Moses. Corinna M. Reynolds, J. R. Howard, J. W. Howard.

The division of the Bible into chapters as they now appear, was made by Hugo Cardinalis, in A. D. 1240; while the subdivision of chapters into verses had its origin from a famous Jew, Mordecai Nathan, about 1445, A D. J. R. Howard.

Christ is first spoken of in the Bible as "the seed of the woman" Genesis 3d ch. 15th verse J. W. Howard.

Miss R. E. Claytor who says that the Scriptures are silent concerning the parentage of Elijah is referred to the 10th chap. and 31st v of Ezra, but whether it is the prophet Elijah is unknown. J. R. Howard.

Luke was the author of the Book entitled Acts of the Gospels J. R. Howard, J. W. Howard.

Questions.

Corinna M. Reynolds asks where the word 'quick saud' is found; how many times the word 'Jehovah' is mentioned in the Old and New Testament; and which is the middle Book in the New Testament.

J. W. Howard asks in what did Solomon first reveal his wisdom; and where the word 'towenlerk' is found in the Bible.

Aug 4-1 m

A BIBLE SCENE.

BY J. R. HOWARD.

A stranger in the days of old
Was with the spirit very bold
And went about from place to place.
Doing good to the human race.

To him a ruler came and said
"My daughter now is even dead;
But come and lay on her thy hand,
And she shall live by thy command."

And he with those that followed him
Went unto the ruler's inn,
Where a crowd of people were Weeping o'er the maiden's bier.

He told the woman not to weep
The maid's not dead; but only sleeps,
Then the people on that morn
Laughed our blessed Lord to scorn.

But when he'll turned the people out.
He turned himself and looked about
And took the maiden by the hand
And bade her to arise and stand.

Oh! with what surprise
The father saw his child arise!
Then in that gladsome hour
They saw the Saviour's mighty power.

Rural and Domestic.

THE LARGEST FARM IN THE WORLD.—This is rather a large claim to make even in this country, where real estate lies around in parcels of considerable size, but according to the St. Louis Republican it may be fairly applied to the estate of Geo. Grant founder of the Victoria colony in Kansas. His farm embraces the whole county of Ellis, is larger than any dukedom of Europe, and contains 576,900 acres. Mr Grant devotes himself principally to stock raising, and has accomplished a great deal by the introduction of the best blood stock and exhibiting the best methods of rearing, feeding and improving the foreign and domestic breeds of horses, cattle and sheep. He has just wintered 7,000 sheep, with a loss of less than one per ct., the secret of his success lying in providing good shelter. He is the owner of the thoroughbred stallion Flodden, valued at $25,000, the father of which won the Derby race in 1860. He has just purchased for his farm thirty-odd brood mares in Ohio, Virginia and Kentucky, and he has $250,000 invested in stock. Among the large number of resident colonists and stock raisers who have purchased land of him, and are now raising stock in Victoria colony, are many young men of prominence, both in this country and England.—Ex.

BUTTER AND CHEESE INTEREST OF THE UNITED STATES.—The magnitude of the Butter and Cheese interest of the United States is but poorly conceived, not only by the dealers themselves, but more especially by the producers. In a concise way we will endeavor to give some idea of the interests of these products; will also speak of the general style of cheese required, together with the color. The subject of skimmed or creamery cheese may also be properly discussed.

The consumption of butter for home use, from our most reliable sources, is estimated at 1,387,000,000 pounds; the exports from the States and Canada at 15,000,000, which: at an average at 30c. per lb., would give the value of butter alone at $420,600,000. For the year 1874 the receipts of cheese in New York were 2,046,575 boxes; the exports 90,611,07 lbs.: from Canada 23,183,223 lbs., giving a total American export of 114,794,280 lbs., which at a valuation of 13c. per lb., would give an aggregate of $14,793,256.40. Estimating home consumption at 24,424,560 lbs., at 13c. per lb., the amount is $3,175,192.80 or a grand total of $438,568,448.20.

VALUE OF PURE BRED MALES.—The great necessity now apparent is for breeds which will fatten easily. Pigs which will dress 300 pounds or more at eight months make much cheaper pork than the course breeds which must have twenty months of feeding to reach such proportions, and the latter is as good as the average, while there is abundant proof that the crosses of the fine thoroughbred on ordinary sows, by good feeding, would easily make the weight named in the lesser time, and there is the further argument that the pork so made is greatly superior in quality. Instances are named of Berkshire crosses which had exceeded 300 pounds weight at eight months old without a pretense of skilful feeding, and the argument was made that such success might just as well become general if only the proper attention were given to the employment of pure bred males, looking always in the progeny to the capabilities of assimilating food rather than to color or great size.—Colorado Stock Journal.

Purify the Springs of Life.

It is a sine qua non of health, that the sources of vitality, the "Springs of life," should be free from contamination. The fluids which, by their action upon the food, transform it into blood, and the great vital nutrient itself, must be pure, if the muscles, the bones and the brain are to be properly nourished and kept vigorous. To this end the stomach, the liver, the bowels and the kidneys should perform unintermittedly their various functions, since if these are disturbed the vital fluids speedily become vitiated. The best, nay, the only blood depurent which purifies them, by overcoming those bodily irregularities which produce them, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters the principal upon which this salutary alterative acts in a simple, natural philosophic. The origin of most diseases, and invariably those which affect the organs above mentioned, is weakness, caused by insufficient assimilation of the food. The Bitters speedily rectify the cause of the difficulty by restoring vigorous digestion, so that all parts of the physical structure are supplied with an abundance of purified blood. This increases the activity of the discharging organs, and enables them to throw off the effete matter, which, rankling in the system, destroys health. This bodily refuse having been got rid of, and perfect assimilation re-established, there is nothing to prevent a healthy and active performance of the various functions. Such being the case, it is plain that the Bitters are not only the most reliable stomachic, but an eradicator of those diseases of the liver, bowels and kidneys which contaminate the springs of life. Aug 4-1 m

The Needle

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon the sixth year During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by the successful operation competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That during the ginning season it ginned 728 bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs in forty five minutes. From many other reports the last is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which bales of parlor matches and nails were put wit out setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material
July 7-tf

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is at MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ices made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool. July 7-tf

A. BAUM,
Professional Butcher,
Hillsboro St., Opposite East End Market.

Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stunted beef to be seen in his shop. Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first class style, are sold you at apl 28-tf BAUM'S.

RALEIGH HIGH SCHOOL.
An English, Classical, Mathematical, and Military School for Boys.
Rev. JOSEPH M. ATKINSON, } Principals
CHARLES H. DUTT }

The second annual session of this school will begin WEDNESDAY, September, 1st, 1875. The Principals have procured for the school the commodious and attractive residence on Newbern Avenue, well known in Raleigh as the "Sutton Place," more recently owned and handsomely refitted by Col. R. Kingsland.

Besides continuing their Day School they propose taking a limited number of boys of good character and conduct to board in their own family.

The training of the school, as heretofore, will be full thorough and accurate preparation for college or for business life.

Competent assistants will be provided in all departments, as may be required. The Principals trust that it is scarcely necessary for them to say that whilst the school will continue to be conducted on Christian principles, it will be entirely without denominational aim or bias.

For circulars and other information address either of the Principals, Raleigh, North Carolina.
July 7-1m.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,
STOKES CO. N. C.

The leading watering place of the State.

Fare equal to any city Hotel South. Nights delightfully cool.

Mountain scenery unsurpassed. Room for 500 guests.

BOARD REDUCED.
Per day $2.00. Per week $12 50. Per month $50.00.
DAILY LINE COMFORTABLE COACHES FROM SALEM—WINSTON.
Connecting Closely with all the Trains—the most comfortable coaches ever run between Winston and Piedmont Springs and return for select the Hotel to accommodate visitors at reduced rates:

Leave Salem.....	$ 1 15	Raleigh ...	$11 45
Kernersville.....	2 50	Salisbury.....	9 30
Bellevile.....	10 35	Lincolnton.....	12 15
Gullford.....	11 30	Charlotte.....	12 15
Greensboro'.....	7 15	Charlotte.....	12 15

Passenger trains on the North Carolina Central Rail Road, and on the Richmond and Danville Rail Road, make connections at Greensboro' with trains for Salem Winston, which is the terminus of the N. W. N C R R, from which point passengers can pass the Springs by a Daily line of New Concord Coaches.

All mail matter intended for visitors at Piedmont, should be directed to "PIEDMONT SPRINGS," Winston, N. C., and will be promptly delivered by Stage Driver Daily

Capt. S. B. TAYLOR, Manager.
W. E. WILLIAMSON, } Prop'rs.
T. M. FLINT. }
Pio. G. PAGE

Resident Physician: Dr. H. B. MEARS, of Danville, Va., born city. Resident Physician at Greensbrier White Sulphur Springs, Va. daly 7 1m.

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED.
D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
Wholesale and Retail
DEALERS IN
READY MADE CLOTHING
For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.
Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made A full line constantly on hand.

Boots and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Bows and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the season for Cotton Cuffs and Collars Ladies' Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cashs' Ruffings, and Plaited, Ladies' Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.
PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.
Black Alpacas.

Corded Jacknets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Piques, Mul Muslins, Check'd Muslins, Nansook and Lile in Lawns, Corded Lenos, Cambrics and Linens

HATS. HATS. HATS
Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Our stock is complete in this line. Misses and Tots shoes just in a nice assortment for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

To County Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is to-day larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in the city

D. S WAITT & BRO.,
51 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N.
mch 17-tf

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery
AND
COMMISSION HOUSE.
LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!
We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For prices and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we can buy daily receive very low rates on Eggs, Chickens, Turkeys, Irish, Sweet Potatoes, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Beef Hams, Dried Fruits, Sun Dried Apples, Chips, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Sun Dried Apples, Chips, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Wool, Oats, Shorts, Rye, Fodder, Wheat, Buckwheat, Stock and Bird Seed, Meal, Flour, and Mixed Feeds.

We will make FIRM MARKETS a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.

We have made it to our advantage to contract with our North Side house to receive the BEST OYSTERS that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore accorded, we are determined, by adopting the experience we have been enabled to acquire in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

set 1-12m

AGENTS WANTED FOR
Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Sufferings and Triumphs of His followers. A nobler, sweeter and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently illustrated on steel with the best, engravings of Scenes and Martyrs and Heroes, and splendidly bound. In the highest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.
March 18-6m

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, $9 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,
861 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

HORNER & GRAVES'S SCHOOL,
Hillsboro, N. C.

The Fall session of 1875 opens on the fourth Monday in July.

Catalogues sent on application.
July 7-1m

A. H. TEMPLE,
(Successor to Lynn Adams.)
Grocer, Cotton Factor
AND
Commission Merchant.
Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to trade at Temple mc Success to, which I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him.

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS
march17 6- m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
Spectacles Rendered Useless.
Save Your Eyes.
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.
Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight
Spectacles and surgical Operations rendered useless. The Inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students of Astronomy and those who had their sight permanently restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Spinners, Running or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cup—cure guaranteed; 6 Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the NEW YORK EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to throw them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "Dr. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I can place confidence in your statements, for I am a county recorder, and have used spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Many of our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is to-day larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in the city

Also, Agencies for Dr. Ball's Celebrated PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYE BOOKS of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Lib erty Street. New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlet and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and discharging your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 A DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send for address for full particulars. Sent free of charge on any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.
Sept 6-1m

SUI GENERIS.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.
UNEQUALED by any UNAPPROACHED in any
THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.
ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which possess such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.
ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at International Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.
BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).
INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER COMMISSIONS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.
NEW STYLES ments ever made. New Sole and Combination Stops. Superb Stagers and other Cases of new designs.
PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.
EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly instalments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.
CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.
apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by
A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by
A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at
A. G. LEE & SONS.
apl 14-1w.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to
W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N.C.
June 16-tf

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Forks	9 32 "	6.01 "
" Salisbury.....	11 18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.00 A M "	12 52 "
" Danville.....	6.20 " "	1.12 P. M.
" Dandee.....	6.30 " "	1.20 "
" Burkville.....	11 35 " "	6 07 "
Arrive at Richmond..	2.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M	5.03 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dandee.....	10.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville	10.39 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	2.15 A. M	5.58 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	9.16 "
" Air-Line Forks	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte..	8.03 A M	8.31 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'..	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.01 A M
" Co. Shops.....	4.31 "	Leave 12.35 "
" Raleigh.....	8.23 "	8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro	11.30 A M	Leave 5.00 "

SOUTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.
(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	6 45 "
Leave Salem	8.40 A. M
Arrive at Greensboro'.....	10.55 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 5 10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other lines.

Through and close connections East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sunday's Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9 00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.58 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this Company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

C. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Boston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	3.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon,	3.51 P. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	8.45 P. M.

ACCOMODATION TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	9.35 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.24 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	7.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at W Idon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 27th, 1874.

On and after Monday, October 26th, 1874, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.35 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	12.40 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.5 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. H. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE DEPT OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at 4 P. M
No 1 Freight Train at 4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at 8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

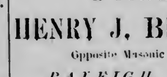
Mail train at 7 15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at 12 00 NOON
No 2 Freight at 4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.10 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays

E. G. CHIO,
Supt. Trans ortation.

FROM
HENRY J. BROWN,
Opposite Masonic Hall,
RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Pick's Metallic Burial Cases Self Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, Wood and other Coffins HEARSE FOR HIRE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed
apr 19-tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G. STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine
May 26 1 y

THE GEM

A popular Note Book published at Nashville.—Send for a many dozen as you want.

Price, ... 35 cents per copy

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.
pri 8-12m

WINNOWED HYMNS.—A new and very popular Music Book for Sabbath schools.

Price per copy in boards, ... 30 cts

L. BRANSON, Bookseller,
Raleigh, N. C
apr 8-12m.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!
—AND—
Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and I never return rain to prove the real value of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency that will pay would do well to order one for Sample, with price list and would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to
GEO. W. HEPTINSTALL,
Enfield, N. C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. H.
may 19-tf

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.
A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.
NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in sheep, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price

Address, REV F L. REID, Lenoir, N. C. or JAS W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,
WHOLESALE GROCERS
AND
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SOUARE, Raleigh, N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning the ks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past two years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lar are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in end giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We wish to call especial attention to our select stock of staple Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store:

5000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Java,
10 Bbls A Sugar,
10 Bbls EXC Sugar,
20 Bbls. E C Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
Lbs. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases O alers,
20 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
500 sacs Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
Butter Factory and Dairy Cheese,
,000 W F. and G. D. gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
gen ine Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Bed Axes,
5 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer especial inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and prices before completing purchases.

Oct 5-12 m LEACH BROS

I. R. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.
Wholesale and Retail Grocers,
COTTON FACTORS
AND GENERAL
Commission Merchants,
No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,
RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Almanace Plaids, and
General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES, SALT and NAILS always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et price.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.
Jan 26-tf

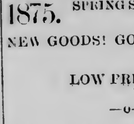
THE JAS. LEFFEL
Double Turbine Water Wheel,
Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and economical.

Also Manufacturers, also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Castings for Cotton Mills, Flour Mills, Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Mending machinery, &c. Castings of every description, all kinds of work best finish. Send for circulars.
mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN
Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,
Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.
CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, Wool, Cotton, Furs, Ginseng, Beeswax, Tallow, Lard Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.
Dec. 25-1y



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Mammoth Hanging, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, &c. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.
NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!
LOW PRICES!!!
—o—
JOS. P. GULLEY,
RETAILER AND JOBBER OF
Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Mick's and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled,
Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.
oct 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE
INSURANCE COMPANY,
NO. 141 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President.
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary.
Wm. M. COLE, Secretary
DANIEL AYRES M.D., L.L.D., Med. Dir.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VAL

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 32. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, August 11, 1875. | Whole No. 1,070.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

The Beauties of the Forest.

BY J. A. C.

[illegible] shady bower,
[illegible] brooks of crystal stream,
[illegible] in grassy couch,
[illegible] the violets garden.

[illegible] wood land dryies
[illegible] dewy eyes,
[illegible] above of the fleecy clouds
[illegible] in the sapfire skies.

[illegible] oak's gray trunk,
[illegible] woodbines cling;
[illegible] in the leafy branches
[illegible] song birds's ng.

[illegible] with moss, the cowships,
[illegible] golden cups upturn,
[illegible] o'er the water's edge
[illegible] the graceful fern.

[illegible] sides of the river
[illegible] luxuriant grass,
[illegible] bend and quiver
[illegible] gentle breezes pass.

[illegible] gray rocks the lichen grows
[illegible] beauties are seen,
[illegible] of the pale pink rose
[illegible] sweetest of all, I ween.

[illegible] flowers so fresh and pure,
[illegible] fop's tain would stay;
[illegible] branch the sun so warm
[illegible] must melt away.

[illegible] place in Springtime,
[illegible] the pleasant hours,
[illegible] of the murmuring stream
[illegible] the beautiful flowers.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Beaufort.

[illegible]: You, I mean the [illegible] been to Beaufort, and [illegible] to be greatly impressed [illegible] have to say. In fact it will [illegible] if you do not feel rather dis[illegible] may failure to say anything [illegible] of the subject. You must re[illegible]ever, that you have sev[illegible]al readers who have never [illegible], and if I fail in my de[illegible] to do the subject justice, [illegible]member that that is precisely [illegible]body else has done. I [illegible]xpect to succeed any better [illegible]rs, but I may satisfy your [illegible] Beaufort is a very enjoy[illegible]

[illegible] lies on the Northern shore [illegible] is called Beaufort harbor. [illegible]pulation is about two thous[illegible] The streets are regularly laid [illegible] in many places prettily [illegible] with live oak, elm, &c.

[illegible]ny is built down to the wa[illegible]ge, and some parts of it even [illegible]ater. There are two large [illegible]s, the Ocean House and the At[illegible], both of which I learn are well [illegible] Besides, there are many pri[illegible]ing houses which furnish [illegible]nt quarters for quiet visi[illegible] Among these I cannot refrain [illegible]ioning that of Miss Sarah [illegible], where, with a very pleasant [illegible] gathered from various sec[illegible]s, I feel sumptuously every day. [illegible] the best of reasons every day [illegible], and we did believe, that [illegible] best boarding house in the [illegible] the cleverest hostess.

[illegible] Atlantic is unique both in sit[illegible] and construction. It is built [illegible] water and is reached by [illegible]. Beneath the floors and the [illegible] of the mighty tides with their [illegible]ing throb.

[illegible]building, which is a large, three [illegible]structure, is surrounded by [illegible] bridges, &c. which furnish [illegible] retreats for promenade, open [illegible], and conversation.

[illegible] Ball room, which is very large, [illegible] is formed by the wings of [illegible], with a southern expos[illegible] out upon the ocean. It [illegible] by galeries from which [illegible]rties, and awkwardnesses of [illegible] may be witnessed to the [illegible] advantage. Connected by [illegible] with the main building are [illegible] rooms secure and convenient, [illegible] this luxury may be enjoyed in [illegible] perfection without the [illegible] of either sharks or sea-net[illegible]

[illegible] look from your window [illegible] description. On the west, [illegible] the water, at a distance of three [illegible] Morehead City; to the south, [illegible] frowns Fort Macon, [illegible] directly upon the [illegible] to the east. Through [illegible] between the banks [illegible] miles wide—you gaze out [illegible] upon the 'stormy Atlantic." [illegible] angry, surging white-[illegible] in the distance present [illegible] appearance of huge monsters as [illegible] mountains sporting and [illegible] the lambs upon the lawn, or [illegible] and fury rending each [illegible] ravenging lions. And there, [illegible] on that ridge of waters, where [illegible] and sky appear to meet—[illegible] among these leaping monsters, [illegible] descry a sail. The spindling [illegible] seems to reach the clouds; up [illegible] rocks, and reels, and [illegible]. Like a thing of life it seems [illegible] the way cautiously among [illegible] like a helpless thing it [illegible] struggle patiently and unre[illegible] persistently for life. [illegible] It is nearing the [illegible] Now it seems to dance proud[illegible] the wind. It "tacks," sweeps round, curves up to the wharf, furls its sail like some huge bird alighting, folds its wings, and there it rests, and although nothing but a small pilot boat with one man in it, it looks for all the world just like it is half conscious of a grand exploit.

Far to the east, at a distance of twelve miles, in the darkness of the night, you descry a lone light like a very bright star just rising. It is the lamp of the Light House at Point Look Out. Like Polaris it shines on forever with a fixed light warning the approaching barque of fatal rocks and deceitful sands. Circumstances did not allow us to visit this point of so much interest to a mountaineer, although we learned that access to it is easy and pleasant in good weather.

Sailing, fishing, and bathing are the favorite outdoor amusements at Beaufort, in all of which we participated, but not so extensively as many others.

Have you ever enjoyed the Beaufort sea breeze on a hot July day?

Have you ever slept your eight hours in a spacious room with windows all open and the salt air from the bosom of the ocean rushing through your room all night, and the everlasting throb, throb, plash, plash, of the waves lulling your sense to repose, not a fly, not a musquito, not any other living thing daring to molest or make you afraid? Never? Then you have never spent a July night at Beaufort, nor have you ever experienced the sensations of Adam and Eve in Eden, nor have you ever dreamed that you had reached the land of Beulah and were snuffing perfumes fresh from the bowers of Paradise. In dreams like these we reveled by night, and awaking wondered why every body does not go to Beaufort and with more than our wonted benevolence wished that every body might.

We attended the sessions of the Newbern District S. S. Convention.

We were much interested in the discussions of this faithful, earnest body of men among whom we reckon some of our dearest friends, and our intercourse with them was of the most pleasant character; but time and space forbid us to give any details of the business transacted.

We close this letter by recommending every body to visit Beaufort, and renewing our promise to do likewise again if we live.

W. M. ROBEY.

Wilmington, N. C.

For the Advocate.

Jottings.

MESSRS EDITORS: I have several items I thought might interest your readers and afford information of a general character; and first

OUR DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

This came off at Shelby on last week. The attendance was good—and all the interests of the church were duly considered, among which the ADVOCATE was cordially commended, and it is hoped its circulation will be still enlarged and its influence for good strengthened in the west.

[illegible]

Amid this terrible financial crisis[illegible] the financial condition and report of the District came up about as well as could have been expected. This, with the other varied items of business, will be duly reported in good time from the proper source and hence I need not enlarge upon this point.

It is a matter of general congratulation (as we hope it is an occasion of profound gratitude to God) that the crops throughout our State never were more promising—especially is this true in respect to corn and cotton—while it has been years since such a crop of wheat has been garnered. It is hoped our financial embarrassments will soon be adjusted as these new and immense resources come into market.

It was feared that this monetary stringency might seriously cripple our educational interests and institutions. We are happy to learn, however, from Rev. W. M. Robey, who has just returned from a tour through the entire State, that the agents of these institutions are severally doing well, and the prospect is good for the opening of the fall sessions—especially is this true in regard to "Davenport Female College." Bro Robey reports the prospect never so flattering—and in anticipation of a large increase of patronage, he is enlarging, repairing, refitting and overhauling the buildings, furniture, rooms and apparatus, besides grading, beautifying and enlarging the grounds for purposes of taste, pleasure and utility. These inner and outer improvements, together with the natural elevation and surroundings of the institution conjoined with our economical and climatic advantages, place "Davenport Female College" before the public as enjoying peculiar privileges and attractions, especially to those seeking high, thorough culture in connection with the improvement and perpetuation of their physical and mental health. The fall session will open on the 30th August, 1875.

An unusually destructive hail storm passed over parts of Cleaveland county on last week—the hail-stones, some of which were weighed, and exceeding two pounds, killed poultry, pigs, sheep and even small cattle, and of course utterly destroyed the growing crops in its track—besides doing immense damage to the forest. Such a storm and the devastation resulting therefrom, is wholly unusual in this latitude.

Our neighboring town of Morganton is all astir in preparation for the building of our "western insane asylum." This is a "humanity" much needed in the west, and will no doubt accomplish much good;—in this connection we are anticipating the future location in Western North Carolina of the "Great National Sanitarium," a sort of Government Eleemosynary Hospital for the cure of Consumptives—it having been demonstrated by the last census statistics that a large strip of territory in Western N. C. was entirely non-consumptive.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of money, a large number of persons from below are visiting the mountains and enjoying their magnificent scenery and climate. Persons of all classes and occupations can wonderfully recuperate their wasted enfeebled energies by these pilgrimages to the higher latitudes of our State, and when our R. R. facilities are extended into these regions, the number of those who visit the mountains and the benefits resulting therefrom, will awaken new and enlarged sources of health and pleasure.

The Chester and Lenoir Narrow Guage Railroad after a hard contest in the courts, is again on foot, and work will be resumed very soon on its upper end which will probably very soon be finished to Hickory Station on the W. N. C. R. R., thus placing us in connection with the great South and East Railway routes to the ocean.

We are now upon the threshhold of our camp meeting seasons, and as Providence has so signally poured out his blessings as with a full hand upon the fruits and products of the earth—we are looking forward to a commensurate spiritual harvest, a pouring out of His spirit without stint or measure, and a mighty ingathering of sheaves into the garner of the church.

Ah! you may call it antiquated, plebian or rustic—this annual assembling in the groves, "God's first temples"—but there is something august and sublime in this manner of worship, that subdues and overwhelms the very champions of sin—and must ever make this "carrying the church into the wilderness," a vast power in the Methodist Church.—In view of what she has and may continue to accomplish through these means of grace, our church cannot very well afford to abandon her camp-meetings.

I am told some of the brethren have been very closely studying and analyzing our "District Conferences" and perhaps have things new and old to report looking to their increased usefulness, as well as enlarging their sphere and efficiency as a church organization. I am glad to hear it—hope the columns of the Advocate will shine with new light and open up new channels of thought in this direction, and that right early.

Yours in bonds,

WATCHMAN.

Lenoir, N. C., July 1875.

For the Advocate.

Religion necessarily implies free dom of will—for anything that is under the power of force cannot act with volition and consequently is not countable; hence the Saviour says will that all men should come unto me,' but not all men shall. From stand point then I must assume postulate that no form of worship acceptable to God or any sacrifice ascends with a sweet smelling that is not a free will offering. enslaving tyranny of the Vatican crees is so much of the earth—that it cannot befog the reason the intelligent searchers after truth this intensely religious Providence guarded and guided nineteenth tury. It is true many errors crept into our otherwise practical led chiefly by men guided by own unaided reason, unattended the light of the spirit, ambitious measure and seeking the landmarks of truth by the dim lights of their own false philosophy, they have vaguely wandered into the many paths of human error and have been wisely shut out from the great temple of light; and justly so because they sought not aid from the great Father of lights in whom there is neither variableness nor shadow of turning. Man is a strangely endowed and almost singularly constituted being, wrapt alone in the sordidness of his own nature he is nothing clothed with humility and light of the spirit he is by Divine appointment fit to be a co heir with Christ himself in glory. A man's greatness is not inherent in gives the result of some observations on the effect of color upon the health of women working in different rooms. He says that those who worked in a room colored with yellow ocher were "inclined to melancholy, and complained of a pain in the forehead and eyes, and were often ill and unable to work," while those who occupied whitewashed rooms (at the same kind of work) were healthy and happy.

A [illegible]

The Martyrs of Madagascar.

Dr. Mullon says: "I have had the pleasure of seeing many of those places where they hid themselves away and worshiped in secret, or where, through persecutors, they were caused to suffer, and even to lay down their lives before their fellow-countrymen.—About fifteen months ago I was in one part of the country and was asking the missionary, who resides there whereabouts it was that the martyrs used to gather. He said often heard of those gatherings, and one of his native evangelists who stood by said: 'Why it is just here. I can show you the spot.' And we all went with him, and he led us to a great group of enormous bowlder rocks. He pointed out a little opening between those rocks. It was about two feet from the ground; and we crept into it, and then looked around, and on the left, beneath a big bowlder, the biggest of all, we found that there was a little space of about fourteen or fifteen feet long, and about three or four feet wide, and about two feet high—just such a space as we might find beneath a rather long dining-table. He said: 'We used to meet here—ten or twelve or fifteen of us—on the Sabbath day, to read the word of God. On some occasions we were as many as forty in this little cave. We could scarcely see. The light came in only just at the end. We have met in the evenings. We had only our Bibles or pages of the Bible, and pages of the 'Pilgrim's Progress,' and little hymns printed. And we were particularly glad in our meetings when it rained, because we knew that the soldiers would not be coming after us, and that they would rather let us alone on those unpleasant evenings. And then, what with the noise of the rain and the fears of the soldiers, we felt assured that we could enjoy singing for once in our worship, and so we sent up our thanksgiving before God.'"

Selected Poetry.

Evening on the Coast.

A sweet, calm restful moment free from care.
Fitted for silent prayer:
A murmur low and gentle from the sea.
A monotone chanted once singly,
By things that worship there.

Faint is the evening starlight on the shore,
And by my cottage door
The west winds' midst wisteria blossoms play,
And weeping branches of the willow sway
Passive, for daylight's o'er.

My cottage by the sea a shelter seems
From winds and waves; and dreams
Like music of the sea-shell on the beach
Or clinging sea-weed flung ashore, still teach
By memory's restless streams

Distant yet darkly seen the hills arise,
Veiled by the misty skies:
The boundaries of this narrow world are they,
Until, soul-freed, we spread our sails away
With limitless emprise.

A burst of glory from the full round moon
Comes like an added boon
To mortals, pouring down the streaked wave
A track of living light, bright beams that pave
The depths, then fade too soon.

A ship with moonlit sails that waits to seize
The hoped for, favoring breeze;
Beautiful on the deep, like some fleet bird
That, weary, droops her wing, but ha[illegible] unfurled—
Such are life's verities!

Thus many travelers, homeward bound still wait,
Storm-tossed by adverse fate,
Patiently hoping to regain some day
The haven sale, where billows cannot play,
And calm come, sweet though late.

And for that better shore, not circled by these bars,
Where life's rude shocks and jars
Are all unfelt, we look out for the tide
To drift us surely voyaging to the untried
Safe port beyond the stars.

—Constance Gray, in the Churchman.

PAPER STATISTICS.—Of the 1,300,000,000 human beings inhabiting the [illegible], 360,000,000 have no paper nor writing material of any kind. 000,000, of the Mongolian races paper made from the stalks and of plants; 10,000,000 employ raphic purposes tablets of wood; 000,000—the Persians, Hindoos, nians, and Syrians—have paper from cotton, while the remain 300,000,000 use the ordinary. The annual consumption of latter number is estimated at 1,-000,000 lbs., an average of six ounds to a person, which has increased from two and a half lbs, during the last fifty years. To produce this amount of paper, 200,000,000 lbs. of woolen rags, 800,000,000 lbs. of cotton rags, beside great quantities of linen rags, straw, wood, and other materials, are yearly consumed. The paper is manufactured in 3,960 paper mills, employing 90,000 male and 180,000 female laborers. The proportionate amount manufactured of the different kinds of papers are stated to be, of writing paper, 300,000,000 lbs., of printing paper, 900,000,000 lbs., of wall papers, 400,000,000 lbs., and 200,000,000 lbs., of cartoons, blotting paper, &c.—London Stationer.

AT THE ROOTS.—"Latin and Greek are all right," said a Washington County farmer to his son a young graduate, the other day, "but gimme a man who can plough around an apple tree 'thout touching the roots."

The Pulpit.

Independence Day.

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Newman in Review of God's Dealings With this Nation.

Rev. J. P. Newman, D. D., pastor of the Metropolitan Methodist Episcopal Church at Washington, and late Chaplain of the United States Senate, delivered a sermon on "The Fourth of July," at the Metropolitan Tabernacle at Sea Cliff, L. I., taking for his text Psalm cxlvii, 20: "He hath not dealt so with any nation."

"This is a national psalm," said the preacher. "It is remarkable for its originality of thought, beauty of diction, and its application to a day like this. I would call attention to two subjects suggested by it. The first is the superior rights and advantages which we possess as a people. The second is, our duties toward others, and toward other nations of the earth. There is a Divine appointment in the geography of a chosen nation.

If we could look at a map we will see that between the thirtieth and sixtieth degrees of north latitude have existed all the great nations of the past as do exist all the great nations of the present time. This narrow zone indeed we may lessen and contract by ten degrees, and the same remark holds true as regards great political power and poteney. There have been nations, great in luxury and magnificence, existing to the north and to the south of this zone; but no one familiar with history will claim that these nations to the north or the south of the narrow belt have been potent in giving direction to the sentiments of mankind. Nineveh, Babylon, Greece, Rome, Palestine, Italy Germany, Russia, Austria, and France, are within the zone. Within these narrow limits, too, is our own Republic, on which the Divine blessing has rested for an hundred years. Our nation is far from the belligerent powers of the Old World, and has a shore line exceeding the circumference of the earth. It has a river navigation double even this vast measure, a continent washed by two oceans, and an extent equal to that of ancient Rome when her domain extended from the Euphrates to the Western Ocean. Travelers go to Italy to sit beneath her sunny skies and to spend the Winter there, but we have a finer Winter in Florida. They go to Switzerland to look upon the Alps, but there are grander mountains in our domain. They go to see cascades, but there are none in Europe so great in beauty and grandeur as here. And where upon the globe shall we go to find a nation in which wealth is so diffused?

Other lands can boast of more hereditary millionaires. There is, however, nowhere so much competency as among our people. And here, too, comfort waits on competency, and competency is the result of honest labor. Two facts in illustration of this point are significant. The immigrants to this country have sent, within the past ten years, $50,000,000 to their friends in the Old World, and on the centenary of our Church $10,000,000 were laid upon her holy altars. We may say that to be a pauper in this country is to be a criminal. To be idle is to offend against society and to sin against God. Again, our agricultural resources are such that we can give a farm to every human family on the globe and furnish food to every person All this should evoke our sincerest gratitude to God. "He hath not dealt with any nation." If from the geographical and physical situation of our land we turn to the character of its population, we see the beneficence of God no less significant. Greek culture came from a race of cannibals.

When Cæsar invaded England he found a band of savages. When Peter the Great began his reign in Russia he found the nation semi-barbarian. With such material did he lay the foundations of that great Empire. It was not so with us. Our fathers began where others left off. It was God's purpose to have the foundations of our country laid by men of high character and intellect. Nowhere did a nation ever start with so much of intellect, of culture, of conscience—so much of all the elements belonging to a great and free people. The War of the Revolution in this country was for all men, and those grandsires of our nation proclaimed the ultimate truth of human liberty when they declared that all men are created free and equal, and that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights. We read in history of certain great epochs, in each of which there was a special purpose to be acomplished, but each contributing to the totality which we enjoy to-day. Greek and Roman culture, Judaism, imperial individualism, the union of Church and State—all these had their object."

After a consideration of the character of the people, and of the influence exerted by the example of America on the nations of the Old World, the preacher said that to christianity were Americans indebted for their prosperity. "Back of the Constitution, back of administrations, back of law, is this power exerting its influence in giving a moral sentiment to the people of the land. Virtue predominates here. Vice is not the dominance in this country. It is to be feared, however, that the strength of the nation will prove its weakness. The grandest boon we enjoy is that of religious toleration, but out of this are coming evils looming up larger and larger every day, and that very religious liberty may prove to be the downfall of the Republic. The Government is not irreligious, but non-religious in the sense of non-interference with sects, or not allowing a union of Church and State. I would not seek to deprive a Roman Catholic fellow-citizen of his constitutional rights. He shall worship God as he pleases, say we to the Holy Father in the Vatican, to the Cardinal in New York, and to the Jesuit Fathers. But what we accord to you, you shall accord to us. If you do not we'll have it anyhow. I would not speak against the Catholic Church, but only against one class, the Jesuits. Wherever they have ruled they have ruined. The time is coming when there shall be a congress of Christian nations assembled in some city of the Old World or the New. They will meet together in a hall—on the dome of this shall be the cross—the symbol of universal religion; while just below it shall be the American flag—the symbol of universal liberty." In conclusion, Dr. Newman urged the listeners to take heed to the conduct of their daily lives. As is an individual, so is the mass; as the individual, so is the people; as is the individual, so shall be the future of the American nation, and of mankind.

New-Made Ministers.

From the theological seminaries there are now going forth a host of young clergymen. They are seeking settlements. Each one has set before him a model of what he would like to have. Very few will get just such a settlement as they anticipated; but may we not hope that, for the most part, they will get that for which they are especially intended? Young brother, seek a place for which you are best fitted. Do not long for a city charge or a great wide opening. It is easier to get a prominent place than to keep it. You want a place that you can master, instead of having the place master you. If you can pull only three hundred weight, do not harness yourself to a load of five hundred weight. Better begin at the foot of the ladder and climb up, than start at the top and tumble to the bottom. There is a pulpit somewhere that you will exactly fit: By undertaking too much at the beginning many a man has fastened on himself life-long invalidism. Be not too proud to preach in a school-house or log cabin. Instead of seeking a great place to preach in, make the place great by the way you preach. If you are delicate of body, and precise of mind, and sensitive of soul, do not go West, or try to preach to fishermen. If you are burly, and robust, and naturally reckless, do not be candidate in a Church made up of theological crystals. In the former case you will stun your head against their low rafters; in the latter case your blundering foot will tear the fine carpets. What you need is a place in which you may work hard, and work unhindered, and work without fretting. Calmly, deliberately, and intelligently make your choice of a parish, promptly marry the wife you have already selected, and move into the parsonage. Do not accept the embroidered slippers and book-marks of all the young ladies of the congregation for a whole year, not letting them know that your affectional destinies are already decided. Live economically, preach boldly, and know enough to leave before the people appoint a committee to suggest that your usefulness is done. Long life and usefulness to those just now entering upon the Gospel ministry!—T. De Witt Talmage.

The New York Methodist says: "We began to notice six years ago that 'outrages in the South' came to print when they could serve political purposes. It is less than a year since the newspapers were full of them. We call attention to the perfect serenity of the atmosphere this summer. We have looked in vain for a case for the last three months. Christian people ought to see the point and to brace themselves with a wholesome incredulity for the next season of political torment. We do not doubt that the baser sort of white is sporadically guilty of outraging the colored man; tha point is that these instances have none of the attributes of national importance."

The Origin of Classical Phrases.

TO PASS THE RUBICON

Is a phrase which means to engage in an enterprise with an irrevocable decision. The Rubicon was a little river which separated the Roman empire from Gaul. The expression has reference to Cæsar, who crossed this boundary line and marched against the Roman Senate, after that body had ordered him to disband his army, which he had in Gaul. On arriving at the famous stream, Cæsar hesitated, being impressed with the awful consequences that would follow, and said to one of his Generals, "if I pass this river what miseries I shall bring on my country; if I do not I am undone." Soon after he exclaimed, "The die is cast," and rushed across the Rubicon,

SUB ROSA.

Under the rose. What is said or done privately and secretly among confidential friends. The origin of this term is said to be the following: Cupid, it is said, gave a rose to Hippocrates, the God of Silence, and from this legend arose the practice of suspending a rose from the ceiling over the table while eating, when it was intended that the conversation must be kept secret. This custom gave rise to the phrase sub rosa.

ULTIMA THULE,

Means "the utmost extent." Literally the extremity of the earth. "Ultima Thule," was the most remote island in the Northern parts known to the Romans.

RARA AVIS,

(a rare bird) is a term used by Juvenal to signify a prodigy or something wonderful. To say of a man that he is a rara avis means that he is singular, eccentric, &c.

BRUTUM FULMEN,

Empty thunder. When any one delivers a speech full of sound and fury, it is called Brutum Fulmen. A boastful threat, or an absolute law which no one respects is also called Brutum Fulmen.

Scientific.

— Prof. Buckley, State geologist of Texas, announces that the deposits of iron and coal in that State are much greater than has been supposed heretofore, and that both are of a first-rate quality.

— Of the thirty-five hundred new books published in England last year there were two-thirds as many works on science and art as works of fiction. When it is considered how much more restricted in number the readers of science are than those of novels it is a good sign that works of the former class should make so good a show.

— A characteristic effect of snake-poison is rapid decomposition of muscular tissue. From Dr. Weir Mitchel's experiments it appears that after a few hours the wounded muscle becomes almost diffluent, and assumes a dark color and somewhat jelly-like appearance; under the microscope it has the appearance of a mass of minute granules.

— M. du Moncel has recently communicated to the French Academy his researches on the electric conductivity of badly-conducting substances, especially tissues. He finds that silk, the least conductive of tissues, owes its insulating property simply to its hygrometric insensibility, and that this insensibility is inversely proportional to the charge in the operation of dyeing to which it is subjected. Thus black silk, which bears the greatest charge in dyeing, is the least insulating of silks. Cotton and linen seem to owe their conductive property merely to their hygrometric sensibility.

— An Italian correspondent of the Philadelphia Pohtographer describes a novel application of photography. He had some fruit trees that needed pruning, and there was no one in the neighborhood who could attend to the work in season. He therefore photographed the trees, and sent the pictures to an experienced pruner in Turin, who returned them after marking where the branches were to be cut. The artist then pruned the trees himself, following the photographs.

CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.—The following recipe (says the N. Y. Witness,) is communicated by a subscriber with an earnest desire for its publicaton:

"This recipe is taken from eminent and undisputed authority, and it is said to have cured, by the blessing of God, the talented father of one of our noted Ministers of the Gospel. Sulphate of iron, 5 grains; magnesia, 10 grains; peppermint water, 11 drachms; spirits of nutmeg, 1 drachm. This amount is to be taken twice a day, and continued regularly for from five to nine months."

The above is the celebrated recipe of the father of Rev. Newman Hall, which that excellent man believed saved him—in connection with prayer and repentance—from confirmed habits of intemperance.

[illegible] Med. Dr. etc

[illegible] DEATH!

[illegible] in America

[illegible] LUES.

[illegible] of Premium

[illegible] JUDGMENT of [illegible] upon which [illegible]

[illegible] value of them [illegible] accumulation must [illegible] readily see for the [illegible] Carolina, [illegible] Raleigh.

[illegible] WATCHWORD. Head in Hand.

[illegible] MACHINE. [illegible] 1874.

[illegible] DEATH! [illegible] in America [illegible] LUES. [illegible] of Premium [illegible] JUDGMENT of [illegible] upon which [illegible] value of them [illegible] accumulation must [illegible] readily see for the [illegible] NCE., [illegible] North Carolina, [illegible] Raleigh.

[illegible] WATCHWORD. Head in Hand. [illegible] MACHINE. [illegible] 1874.

[illegible] Agents [illegible] THE FAMILY BIBLE [illegible] Dr. Wm. [illegible] A Family Al[illegible] Bible, Maryland [illegible] Family Prayer [illegible] NATIONAL [illegible] Memphis Tenn.

[illegible] STONE, [illegible] EDITIO[illegible] OF [illegible] S [illegible] [illegible] ALENTINE, [illegible] Barbers, [illegible] OMMENTARY [illegible] L. BRANSON [illegible] leigh, N. C. [illegible] MINGTON [illegible] AR INSTITUTE. [illegible] TON, N. C. [illegible] J. DeFOSSETT, Surgeon in Charge, P. O. Box

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID,	$2.20
IF NOT IN " "	1.35
IF PAYMENT BE DELAYED SIX MONTHS,	2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of The CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., AUGUST 11, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Our agents for Greensboro and Trinity Colleges, we are glad to learn, are meeting with encouraging success.

Rev. H. P. Cole, the faithful and popular pastor of the Methodist Church in Hillsboro, spent a day with us the past week, on his return from a visit to his friends in Carthage.

We trust the brethren will send us revival notices promptly. Do not put it off until all your protracted meetings are over and then give the general result, but tell us the good news of each meeting while the fire is burning and souls are being converted to God.

Our preachers generally will observe the week of prayer. Religious services are being held in most of our churches on the stations and on the circuits, as far as we have received information. We have no doubt but that many of our charges will be blessed with revivals, beginning with these special services.

Renew Your Subscription.—We call upon all our patrons whose subscription to the Advocate has expired to renew without any unnecessary delay. We need the cash to meet our weekly expenses in publishing the paper.—The preachers are earnestly requested not to forget the claims of the Advocate, as they go among their people.

The Greensboro and Charlotte District Conferences will be held this week. We, the senior, will attend the Conference of the Greensboro District, and the junior that of the Charlotte District. We trust these meetings will be attended with the best results to the church. We shall expect the brethren to greet us with a large number of subscribers to the Advocate.

Rev. A. W. Mangum left this city on Monday last with his family, severing the relation, which for more than three years, he has sustained as pastor to the congregation of Edenton Street Church. The session opens at Chapel Hill early in September and it is necessary on many accounts that Bro. Mangum should have a few weeks of preparation for his new home and duties. It is with mutual regret on the part of himself and congregation that this severance takes place, but his conscience as well as his people commend him as he goes to the new field to which duty points. In going to Chapel Hill and assuming a professorship he does not leave the Conference, but retains his connection with, as well as his love for it and the Methodist Ministry. Our best wishes attend him and his family.

Practical Reflections.

It is our chief good in the present life to glorify God in our souls and bodies which belong unto Him. This truth is established in the fact that God was under no obligation to create us, and that His sole design in our creation was that we might be happy and useful, and contribute to his glory here and hereafter. The idea too often advanced by individual christians that they can do nothing to advance the cause of Christ, has its origin in unbelief. God has need for all his children. He has marked out a sphere of usefulness for every one, and has endowed each with faculties commensurate with the duties required. He never requires impossibilities of his people. If those who profess the name of Christ were as diligent in searching after the paths of usefulness as they are prone to indifference upon this subject, there would be no idlers in the Lord's vineyard. The whole church needs to be fired with the spirit of aggression. Instead of lagging behind she would march to the front. She should put on the armor of God and fight unceasingly the good fight of faith. Sinners are perishing around us. The truth of God is able to make them "wise unto salvation." Thousands of members of the church have wilfully made for themselves the character of unworthy and unprofitable servants. They do nothing to push forward the conquest of the Cross. In our fields of labor, especially in the cities and towns, prayer and class meetings might be held weekly in private houses by the laity of the church with great profit to themselves and those who attend them. A band of faithful workers in a church, acting in concert with the pastor, are essential to the proper growth and development of her membership. Let our people be impressed with this fact, and act accordingly and the church will widen her compass and extend her borders.

Let Bad Feeling Subside.

It is the misfortune of Republics that almost every question affecting the good of State or National government, submitted to the decision of the people themselves, or of their legislatures, is made the occasion of party contest and heated partisan feeling. A measure proposed and favored by the representatives of one party, is opposed by another party with the view of deriving some present or prospective advantage for itself—to give it more popular strength—to retain or obtain control of public office, its emoluments and patronage. It is true each party most frequently considers its principles the best adapted to good government, but the motive that prompts to activity and zeal in political contests is less frequently the weal of the State than it is the triumph of party. Hence, the result is heated and bad feeling, illiberal, ungenerous and often insulting words and acts between races, sections and individuals. The pride of opinion is strong among men, but nowhere stronger than in politics, unless it be in religion. The effects of a clash of opinion in the latter prolong themselves beyond the contest, while in politics there is a more rapid subsidence of ruffled feeling, and a quicker forgiveness of opposing thought and endeavor. In some cases, however, the bitterness of feeling aroused by the differences of political opinion, makes a wide chasm between neighbors, families and friends which years will not bridge. Because a neighbor refuses to think and vote as we do and presumes to declare and act upon his convictions with ardor and zeal, we cut the cords that have bound us together for years, encase our hearts in hatred and draw the dagger of bitter warfare.

The people of our State have just passed through an exciting contest in which the two political parties have fought fiercely. Outside issues were raised on both sides and ad captandum arguments employed to win a party victory. We fear that the reforms in the Constitution, on one side, and its preservation from change, on the other, were not so much the ends aimed at as the advantages which the parties, as such, wished to gain for themselves respectively. Much has been said and done in the heat of the contest which will be regretted in the coolness that comes with reflection. Stinging words have been spoken which nothing could justify—insinuations have been made which were born of unkind feeling, and wrong motives imputed and acts misconstrued. Let us repent of or forgive the wrongs we have done or received. Let us search out and commend the good traits of our neighbor and his party rather than detect and harp upon their errors. No man is wholly right or wholly wrong, and when we study the situation closely every man will be apt to find that he and his party have as much to repent of as they have to condone. As the smoke of battle clears away, let us put aside the bad feeling of the contest and meet our enemies on the common ground of reconciliation, neither boasting of our victory or repining over defeat, and apply somewhat of the energy with which we contended for party success, to the prosecution of our business, the establishment of friendly relations with our foes and the promotion of the interests of the church.

Pa, is God Dead?

We are indebted to Father Blake, as we are wont to call him, for the following touching incident. The children are often the humble instruments in the hands of a gracious Heavenly Father in stimulating their parents to the discharge of a christian duty. It is a sad reflection to think how many parents neglect the family altar. They are careful, it may be, to look after the physical, mental and temporal welfare of their children, but show a sad neglect of their spiritual development. If parents would rightly consider the power of home religion they would esteem it Divinely imperative to erect the home altar, and see to it that it is never neglected. It is the place to sow seeds of truth in the young and tender heart, which are to germinate and develop into fruitful trees of righteousness.—Here is the incident as related by Uncle Blake:

"Brother I. had professed religion, joined the church and raised a family altar. In process of time it came to pass he began to omit his family devotions. One morning, when the hour of prayer had come, and no preparation seemed to be making, brother I.'s little boy looked up to him and said: "Pa, is God dead?" "No, my son," said his pa. "Why do you ask such a question?" With the simplicity of a child his little boy replied: "You don't pray to him now." "Well, said brother I., "let us pray." So brother I. prayed. And when he told me this little story, I could not avoid the reflection that there were so many little boys who for the same cause might ask the question: "Is God dead? You do not pray to him now."

We publish in this issue the memoir of Rev. C. E. Land, prepared by the committee appointed at our last Conference. This memoir was published in part (about one third of it failing to appear, through mistake, we suppose) in the Conference Minutes, but there being inaccuracies in it as published, the chairman of the committee, Rev. M. V. Sherrill has requested its publication in the Advocate.

We are pleased to learn that the prospects are flattering for the Fall term of our institutions of learning.

Staying From Home to Read

An exchange has some sensible remarks on the subject of staying from church. It is not unfrequently the case that professedly religious people absent themselves from the house of God, and undertake to palliate this neglect of duty, by employing the time which should be given in attendance upon the ordinances of the sanctuary, in reading books. Reading of the right kind is commendable, but it is in no case to take the place of waiting upon the ministry of the word. This writer very truthfully remarks in speaking of this class:

"They say they can find better religious thinking and teaching in their books than in any of the pulpits near them. Suppose they can. Do they get better teaching? Are they really at home for the purpose of religious culture? Are they actually growing better, more godly, by this reading which keeps them from church? Let them be honest with themselves, and see if this is not a flimsy excuse for spending their Sabbaths, not in mere religious reading, but over all sorts of books. Even if they give their Sabbaths wholly to religious reading they have greatly mistaken the 'aim of public Sabbath services if they think it can thus be met at home.

God expressly commands us to "reverence his sanctuary," and promises to come unto us and bless us there. We should go to church to worship; to worship publicly and unitedly, as well as to receive instruction from the preacher. Would an Israelite have been held blameless who never went to the temple to worship, because he had a roll of the law at home? But the church service is, in a sense, our temple worship. No other appliance of religious culture can take its place. Abolish all church services and you abolish Christianity. He who stays regularly away from church is doing what little he can to introduce heathenism. He is contributing his influence toward secularizing his community. If his way was universal, irreligion would be dominant, and the nation would slowly sink back into atheistic barbarism.

Editorial Notes.

The Episcopal Bishop of Colorado makes an appeal to his church in the United States for a horse and buggy with which to do missionary work in his diocese. Our impecunious Methodist brethren may thus see that stringency exists in other places than in our midst.

The N. Y. Methodist has decided views which it persistently advocates and it not infrequently leads the opinions of our Northern brethren. Its advocacy of an extended pastorate is well known and it continues to harp upon that subject in its editorial columns. It continues to urge a return to the earlier custom of leaving the length of the pastoral terms to the discretion of the bishops. The large city churches, in its opinion, particularly need permanent pastorates. It is up hill work for the Methodist, at present, to bring about its desired change, for a majority of the church is not favorable to it.

The old Jewish discipline regulating worship in synagogues, requires the separation of the sexes during service—the women in the gallery and the men on the ground floor, and stamps the modern custom in this respect as immodest, unchaste and unlawful." A congregation in New York, however, recently voted to allow families to sit together in the pews in the body of the house, and in the trial of an injunction case which was brought to restrain the custom, it appeared by affidavits of several rabbis that the pew system has already been adopted in a good proportion of the American synagogues. We regard the modern system as much superior to the old in that it promotes good attention and modest behavior during service. If beneficial in no other respect, its prevention of tobacco—chewing and incident evils, in the house of God, would be enough to recommend it.

A colored man living near this city was asked on the day of election if he had voted. He replied that he had not and that he did not wish to vote,—that he had never exercised the right of suffrage and never expected to. Said he, "I do not feel competent to cast a vote," and that if his race generally would do as he had done it would be better for the country. He said that half of them did not know whom they were voting for when they went to the polls. This is a remarkable case.

The Widow's Mite.

A poor widow proposes to give $5 annually to the Brazil Mission. Inclosed find Post-office Order for the first installment. Permit me to give you a brief history of the case. She thought she would like to do something for that enterprise, but she had no means. She prayed over it. Last Wednesday a friend said to her, "I have $8 for you," and handed it to her. She asked my advice as to whether she could give five of it to the Mission. I told her she must decide for herself; to pray about it, and report next morning. Thursday morning she saw me and gave me the $5. Before either of us had taken a seat, in less than three minutes, a gentleman, not knowing what had occurred, while bidding her farewell, left a $5 bill in her hand. She does not care to have her name known, and sends the money in the name of "The Widow of a Traveling Preacher." This occurred at the Sea shore Camp-meeting.

H. Urquhart.

Greenville, Ala., July 31, 1875.

Prayer for the Sick.

Bishop Bowman, gives the following miraculous power of prayer in behalf of Bishop Simpson when he was at the point of death. It is a beautiful example of faith in prayer:

"I remember once when there was a conference at Mt. Vernon, in this State, at which I was present. Bishop Janes was presiding one afternoon, and after reading a dispatch stating that Bishop Simpson was dying in Pittsburg, asked that the conference unite in prayer that his life might be saved. We knelt down, and Mr. Taylor, the great street preacher of California, led in one of his beautiful prayers. After the first few sentences, in which I joined with my whole heart, my mind seemed to be at ease, and I did not pay much attention to the rest of the prayer, only to notice its beauty. When we arose from our knees, I turned to a brother and said, "Bishop Simpson will not die, I feel it." I then told him how the feeling had come over me, and he assured me that he had experienced the same impressions. The word was passed around, and over thirty ministers who were present said they had the same feeling. I took a book and made a note of the hour and circumstance. Several months afterward I met Bishop Simpson and asked him what he did to recover his health. He did not know, but the physician had said it was a miracle. He said that one afternoon, when at the point of death, the doctor left him, saying that he should be left alone for a half hour. At the end of that time the doctor returned, and immediately noticed a great change in the patient. He was startled, and asked the family what they had done for the Bishop, and they replied nothing at all. That half hour I found, by making allowances for difference in localities, was just the time when we were praying for him at Mt. Vernon. From that time on he steadily improved, and has lived to bless the Church and humanity. If the Lord could touch the vitality in one direction, he could in another. Bishop Simpson's case, and 10,000 others, are living examples of that to day. God does answer prayer for physical good. I know he does. On the God who has so often answered my prayers I will still rely, scientific men and philosphers to the contrary, notwithstanding."

To the Ladies of the South.

Dear Friends: I appeal to you in a pressing emergency, to aid me in completing our New College House at the Rutherford College, N. C. Our old building has become too small to accommodate the numbers who flock here for education. We borrowed money and put up the frame of a house large enough to accommodate three hundred students, and now it stands there uncovered and exposed without a possibility of its completion. I have tried our ministerial brethren in the South, to permit me to present the claims of the college to their congregations, and to ask them for money to help us. But while they have been quite ready and anxious for us to preach to their people, with very few exceptions, they have not permitted us to call for money, under plea of indebtedness in their churches and the many calls upon their purses from their own denominational Institutions; I went North, spending six weeks in the Northern states and cities, trying to collect the means to complete the house. But here, too, I found denominationalism to be the great thought of christian people. By sacrificing our non denominational features and assuming the name and selfish principles of some of the churches North, we could procure an endowment of $100,000. But this, by God's help, we never will do.

We, therefore, turn from all these with chagrin and regret, to the fair ones of our own sunny South, to ask for help. We need just $3,000 to complete the work; and will not the dear mothers, sisters and sweet maidens of the Southern States, get that amount for us?

We are non-denominational, and all christians can work for us. We strive here to educate the heads and hearts of all our students. To graduate and send out a student from this college unconverted, is, we think, leaving a work not half done, if done in any degree. And yet we guard the school from all denominational and sectarian bigotry.

We instruct the children of ministers of all christian denominations and all really indigent orphans free of all tuition charges. In thirty-one years, we have instructed pupils of these classes.

If the ladies of the South will secure us this amount of money by the 1st of Nov., 1875, a Chair of Belles Lettres will be created in the college to be called "The Ladies Chair of Belles Lettres," under the charge of one of these fair donors shall be entitled one Female Scholarship in perpetuity.

Now, dear ladies, go to work among your male and female friends and get us this money.

Direct your donations, large or small, thus: "Rev. R. L. Abernethy Pres. Rutherford College, Happy Home, N. C."

May God give you success in this work and eternal life in heaven!

Yours in need,

R. L. Abernethy.

Important Announcement.

The patrons of Davenport Female College East and South will please notice that

Mrs. Nicholson

one of our Teachers will leave Goldsboro on Thursday evening 26th Aug. with young ladies en route for Davenport College.

Those who do not wish to accompany their daughters can place them in her care at any point on the Railroad between Wilmington and Hickory.

W. M. Robey.

Hillsboro District Conference.

Messrs Editors: By instruction of the Hillsboro District Conference, I send you a synopsis of its proceedings for publication.

The Conference convened in the Methodist Church, South, in the town of Pittsboro, July 22d, and was opened with religious services conducted by the Rev. L. L. Hendren, P. E. of the District. W. H. Moore was elected Secretary. The roll being called, a large representation was found present, and the Conference proceeded to the business before it. Committees were only constituted in special cases, the business being brought up mostly by resolution. All the interests of the church were diligently enquired into, its spiritual condition being made most prominent. Every charge but one, (Person circuit) was represented, and the reports of Pastors and Delegates were, for the most part, encouraging. The sacrament of Baptism, especially in the case of infants, seems to be more neglected than any other duty. The Conference looked this matter deliberately in the face, and, judging from the tone of debate, and local action by resolution, there will be improvement in this direction. Prayer meetings are regularly held in many communities, class meetings are held at several points, and, wherever held, still prove themselves a powerful means of grace to those who attend them. Church Conferences are held, but very little interest seems to be taken in them, by the membership, and but very little good, as a consequence, is accomplished by them.—The Holy Communion is well attended by the membership. No unusual interest is manifested in the department of Sunday schools, but these are, generally, in a healthy condition.

Greensboro Female College.

The financial interests of this institution were brought to the attention of the Conference by the presentation of a plan for liquidating the debt now resting upon it. The plan was submitted by the Trustees, through Rev. W. H. Bobbitt, and proposes to divide the whole amount among the several Districts, on the basis of the Conference Fund, to be paid in four annual installments. The plan was referred to a Committee composed of one member from each pastoral charge, who recommended concurrence, and it was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Trinity College.

Dr. Craven represented this institution on the Conference floor, and the following resolutions were adopted concerning it:

1st. That we are grateful to learn from Dr. Craven, President of Trinity College, that the new building of said College is about complete, and also, that the prospects of the institution are constantly brightening.

2nd. That we heartily recommend Trinity College to the patronage of our people, and that we cordially invite the Rev. V. A. Sharpe, its agent, to our District.

District Academy.

In connection with the foregoing resolutions the one subjoined was also adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this District Conference that steps be immediately taken to establish, at the most suitable point, a District Male Academy, preparatory to Trinity College.

The Rev. L. L. Hendren, James Southgate and A. Walker, were constituted a committee to carry the above resolution into effect.

Financial Report.

This committee was composed of one member from each pastoral charge and reported as follows:

Your committee, to whom the subject of Finances was referred, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report: That while duly sensible of the fact that money is one of the most powerful and efficient means of promoting the interests of the church, in advancing the gospel, yet there are many embarrassments and obstacles to be encountered in [illegible] intelligence, and the ability, and refuses to pay, is unworthy of membership in the church.

James Southgate, Ch'm.

Infant Baptism.

A resolution presented by Rev. L. P. Cole, and, as amended by Bro. Southgate, was adopted by a strong vote, the sense of which I am only able to give, as the resolution was never placed on the Secretary's table.

The resolution advised the instruction of the children on the sacrament of Baptism, in the Sunday schools, and that the Pastors be requested to second the efforts of the Sunday school teachers by pulpit ministrations.

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Whereas, The Raleigh Christian Advocate, the Organ of the N. C. Conference, and edited jointly by Rev. J. B. Babbitt and R. T. Gray, Esq., is worthy of our highest commendation and most worthy support; therefore,

Resolved, That we congratulate the Editors on the remarkable success of the enterprise, and pledge ourselves anew to the circulation of it among our people.

Resolutions of Thanks.

These were voted for with the greatest heartiness by the Conference,—a heartiness which was really more complimentary than the resolutions themselves.

To the Presiding Officer.

Resolved, that the thanks of this Conference are due, and are hereby tendered, to our presiding officer, the Rev. L. L. Hendren, for the ability and courtesy with which he has presided over, and conducted our deliberations.

To the Citizens of Pittsboro.

Resolved 1st, That the thanks of this Conference are due, and are hereby tendered, to the citizens of Pittsboro and community, for their unsurpassed kindness and generous hospitality, so freely given during its present session.

2d, That we hereby tender our thanks to our Presbyterian brethren for the use of their house of worship.

Rev. C. C. Dodson, Chairman of the Committee on Memoirs, presented a beautiful and affecting tribute to the memory of our beloved brother, the Rev William F. Clegg, which I shall not copy, because of the space these proceedings have already occupied.

The Conference was a season of social pleasure and spiritual profit to those who attended; heightened very much by the presence and preaching of Dr. Craven, Rev. W. H. Bobbitt and Rev. E. A. Yates. Dr. Craven's sermon on Sunday morning was preached to a crowded house, and was, probably, the happiest effort of his ministerial life, in logical force and unctious power. Bro. Yates won all hearts by his genial manners, clear conception, and affecting presentation of christian duty in its positive requirements. Bro. Bobbitt was at home among us, having formerly resided here, and was greeted by all classes with a welcome which must have been grateful to his loving heart. He spread sunshine around him everywhere he went, in the pulpit and out of it. All the preaching done was good. The Conference deliberations were harmonious throughout, and when we adjourned, the question could not be decided, which was the better pleased—the Conference with Pittsboro, or Pittsboro with the Conference. We trust that great good was done, and shall hope to have the Conference with us again.

The delegates to next Annual Conference are L. B. Bynum, J. C. Pinnix, A. Walker, Jas. Southgate.

W. H. Moore, Sec'y.

Pittsboro, N. C., July 28th, 1875.

Sunday School Mass Meeting in Olin, N. C.

Thursday, 22nd inst., was a gay day for Olin. The sun rose beautifully bright, and all nature put on a cheerful and promising appearance, betokening the merry greetings of the Sunday schools of Iredell circuit. At an early hour the ring of horses' feet was heard in the streets of our usually quiet little village, which was soon followed by the rattle of buggies and wagons. The crowd continued to gather till 10 o'clock, a. m. Then the various Sunday-schools formed and marched, one at a time, into the large Chapel of Olin High School building; then came the spectators till the chapel was entirely filled. Such a large gathering is rarely seen in this section. There must have seven hundred persons present at least. After all were quietly seated, the Olin school sang an appropriate piece, which was followed by one equally appropriate by the Clarkesburg school; then a piece by all the schools together. After that came "Coronation" by the schools and congregation, which was followed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Brown of the Baptist Church.

Hon. W. M. Robbins was expected to be present to deliver an address at 9 o'clock, but failed to be on hand by that hour, owing to the distance he was from the place the day before. Wedge wood was made of the writer to fill a space of time before hour of dinner. But what was lost in the speaking was amply made up by the schools singing. At the hour of 12 o'clock repaired to the table, in the grove, which was one hundred and twenty feet long, and most bountifully loaded with savory provisions, to which the hearty crowd did ample justice. If any one went from the table without being fully satisfied it was his own fault—for there were fragments enough left to fill several baskets.

Just before dinner was finished, Hon. W. M. Robbins drove up, having traveled twenty-three miles that morning to meet his engagement. After giving him a short time to rest and refresh himself, the crowd again assembled in the chapel; and after hearing more charming singing, Mr. Robbins was introduced, who delivered us a well timed, appropriate, and forcible address. It had more of the preacher than the politician in it. It did every body good.

The mass meeting was a very fine success. All were well pleased, indeed charmed, and benefitted.

The singing was most excellent. I never heard it equalled by Sunday school singing any where; and so said many others. In fact every thing passed off admirably. It is proposed to hold another Sunday-school mass meeting for the Iredell circuit on the 31st day of August 1876. If the singing of the various schools is as much improved for the next twelve months as in the past twelve—of that I have not the least doubt—it will not be easily equalled at our next mass meeting.

M. L. Wood.

Olin, N C, July 26th 1875.

Messrs. Editors: Your readers like most the original articles in your paper and read with especial pleasure, I think, those which bear the proper signatures of their writers. When we see at the top or the bottom of a paper in the Advocate a name that we know, such, for example, as "W. M. Robey," "E. A. Yates," "H. T. Hudson," "J. R Brooks," "E. W. Thompson" or "L S. Burkhead" we are sure to read the paper. And there are some initials which we recognize, such as "A. D. B." "I. T. W." or "A. W. M." But who can possibly know who "Justice" is, or "Civis" or "Itinerant" or "Methodist"? For one I can say that I generally decline the acquaintance of those visored knights. I have little fancy for masquerading in print.

I, therefore, in the name of the Methodist public suggest that you ask all your correspondents hereafter to sign their communications with their own names. I know that it is somewhat trying to a modest man: but, my good brother, quit thinking of yourself and it will not be half so trying. If what you have to say is worth saying, say it and own it for your own. And now, Messrs. Editors, I take my own prescription, swallow my own medicine, and so set the example I wish followed.

Truly yours,

Henry T. Jordan.

Roxboro, N. C., Aug. 5th 1875.

Religious Brevities

The total contributions in the diocese of Maryland, to the various interests of the Episcopal Church, for the year ending in July 1876, were $381,-622,07. The contributions for Domestic Missions amount to $11,160,45; for Foreign, $5,892,89 and for Diocesan Missions $6,206,70.

The Churchman says: "in the interests of religion we are glad to feel that the three best remembered poets of the century will probably be Keble, Wordsworth and Tennyson, and that for the reason that they are the purest and most Christian."

Mr. Spurgeon is a musical joker.—Writing on the subject of pulpit elocution, he says: "B natural is the best note for a preacher, bnt this we can not expect from A Flat."

The will of the late ex Chief Justice, Richard W. Greene, bequeaths property estimated at $75,000 to aid Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools in the State of Rhode Island. One-third to be paid now and the remainder at the death of his wife. Mr. Greene is said to have been a member of the Episcopal Church.—Texas Advocate.

The Rev. F. Ball, Presiding Elder of the Wheeling District, publishes the following reply to an invitation extended to Dr. Rosser to attend the great camp meeting in West Virginia:

"Rev. Dr. Leo Rosser, of Richmond, Va., in reply to an invitation to attend our meeting, says, under date of July 7: 'I thank you. My revival angel whispers sweetly, Go.'—There is a divine charm in your invitation. I will come, the Lord willing. And may the Spirit divine be with us in great power. O, for a Pentecost!' Dr. Rosser has for some time been engaged in evangelistic work, and is eminently successful as a revivalist. He and Bro. Wood both expect to be with us during the entire meeting."—Balto. Episcopal Methodist.

The statement was made at the late anniversary of Mount Holyoke Seminary in Massachusetts, that 115 female missionaries have gone to foreign lands from this institution, 18 of them from the last two graduating classes. Applications are now on file at Mount Holyoke for 20 more missionaries. Cape Colony, Africa, asks for eight. Several graduates are already in that field, and have had great success in Christian work.—Meth. Advocate.

Emory College, Georgia, has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity on Rev. J. W. Hinton, of the South Georgia Conference. The Southern Christian Advocate pronounces the honor well merited by Dr. Hinton.

Bishop Pierce and his father Rev. Dr. Lovick Pierce both "preached grandly" at the Macon (Georgia) District Conference recently held.

The corner stone of the Wesley Monumental Church in Savannah was to have been laid yesterday.

Rev. Wm. Morley Punshon, the eloquent English Methodist, will again visit America next year.

Advance.

A correspondent writes to Dr. Kelley: "Inclosed find check for $25 additional for my circuit. I will raise almost, if not quite, $100 for this cause alone; more than has been raised upon all the collections for 20 years on this field."

—Ct., Va. Conf.

The Election.—The returns from the election have come in slowly, and the result is still in doubt. Several counties which were Democratic last year sent anti-convention delegates, and in a few instances counties that sent Republican Representatives to the Legislature, re-elect Convention delegates. In reviewing the result, the leaders of both parties are unable to determine which party will have the majority in the Convention. Neither party will likely have a majority greater than two, four or six. As the Republicans have pledged themselves to act in concert if they have a majority, without making any changes in the Constitution, it is fair to suppose if they have a majority or influence, that the Convention will immediately adjourned: and if on the other hand, the Democrats have a majority of delegates, the amendments proposed to the Constitution will be few, if any, as the popular vote seems to be decidedly against a change.

The following counties which have Democratic representatives in the Legislature, send Republican delegates to the Convention, to wit: Brunswick, Columbus, Cumberland, Gaston, Guilford, Harnett, Johnston, Lenoir, Moore, Mecklenburg, Richmond, Randolph, Wake and Wayne.

The Democrats have gained Martin, Robeson, one in Caswell and perhaps Person. The remaining counties in the State have either maintained their political complexion or have not been heard from yet.

North Carolina.

—W. H. Shaub and L. S. Grabs says the Republican, brought the first new tobacco of the season to Winston on the 3rd inst.

—The Court House in Wilmington has been repaired and repainted at cost of $611.64, says the Republican.

—The Watchman says a number of people from other towns are spending the Summer in Salisbury, in quest of health.

—Dr. McCorkle of Rowan and Mr. J. W. Marlin were thrown from their buggies last week and seriously bruised.

—Mr. N. F. Ball, of Mt. Ulla Township, Rowan county, harvested one hundred and thirty six bushels of wheat from a sowing of eleven bushels. Mr David Sheets harvested 40 bushels from a sowing of one quart.

—The Presbytery of Concord will hold its fall meeting at Siloam Church, McDowell Co., commencing on 8th of September.

—The Watchman warns the people against one Cohen, a Jew, and a photographist from Charleston, as a "fraud." Having a family in Charleston, he has been trying to marry in Davie county. He plays off as an Odd Fellow, and carries a number of forged checks with him, and has succeeded in defrauding some unsuspecting persons.

—Trains will probably run through to Shelby in three weeks. Col Fremont informs the Observer that the bridge which has been completed over Buffalo creek is very handsome and durable—perhaps the best on the road.

—There are five cotton factories in Alamance county, and two more in course of construction.

—Says the Greensboro Patriot: Mr. W. A. Smith, receiver of the Western Road, and also the State Commissioner with Gov. Brogden, were in town Monday and Tuesday, to wind up the business and turn the road over to the Commissioners. The Major submitted his report to Judge Dick, sitting in the special court, and turned everything over to the Commissioners who now have full possession."

—The Charlotte Democrat says: Mr. R. C. Bear, near Huntersville, has a silver coin dated 1733. He thinks it is a French piece of money worth about 5 cents.

—A young bather at Beaufort last week after saving a fainting lady from drowning took chloride of zinc by mistake and was for a time in danger of losing his life. So says the Nut Shell.

—Wm. P. Williamson, Esq., editor Tarboro' Southerner, shot A. McCabe, ex-Federal official and local politician, on the 30th ult., the ball taking effect in the head just below the right eye.

—Mr. Mills, with his band of Orphans, gave a concert in Rockingham the receipts amounting to $50.

—The crops in Richmond county are reported by the Spirit of the South to be most promising.

—A "Granger" sent to the contributing Home, from Mt. Mourne, a cotton boll which appeared on the 26th July.

—The Lincoln Progress speaks of the arrival of a great many visitors from Wilmington and other Eastern points at that place, and says they still continue to come. They are mostly stopping with private families.

—Gov. Brogden has commuted the sentence of death in the case of Frank Wilkerson, white, of Beaufort county, convicted of murder, to imprisonment in the State penitentiary for two years.

—Capt. Frank D. Stockton has been appointed chancellor in Tennessee. The Memphis Avalanche says: Mr. Stockton is a North Carolinian from Statesville and graduated in the class of 1859 at Chapel Hill.

—The direct mail route from Wilmington to Shallotte has been discontinued. Mail matter will hereafter go to Smithville and thence by carrier to Shallotte.

—The fifth annual meeting of N. C. Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was held in Newbern on the 4th of July. Maj. J. A. Engelhard was elected Mayor Canady of Wilmington and many of the vice Presidents elected.

—Gen. Wade Hampton is supported by a corre-pondent of the Wilmington Journal for the Presidency of the University of North Carolina.

—The supension of Duncan, Sherman & Co., of New York, does not affect the house in North Carolina, and is not believed to affect any house in the South so far as our information extends.

—Says the Alamance Gleaner: "There are five cotton factories in operation in this county, two more being built; one of which, the dimensions are fifty by two-hundred feet.

—A Convention of the Dentists of North Carolina has been called to meet at the Atlantic Hotel, Beaufort, on Wednesday, the 11th day of August, for the purpose of the Convention forming a State Dental Society, and to adopt such other measures pertaining to the profession, as may be deemed advisable for the promotion of the society.

During the prevalence of a storm in Wake county on Sunday before last, a lightning struck a church in which a crowd of negroes were gathered, killing two women and stunning seventeen others.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING,---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

A [illegible] traveling and local preachers in the bounds [illegible] Carolina Conference are our authorized [illegible] any person sending us ten subscribers, for [illegible] will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

[illegible] communications for publication should be carefully [illegible] on one side of the sheet. All letters [illegible] should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

[illegible] money, all amounts should be sent in [illegible] Post Office order or check. The cost [illegible] Post Office order can be deducted [illegible] from the amount if money is sent otherwise [illegible] paper will be at the sender's risk.

General News.

[illegible] has enjoyed literary celebrity [illegible] years, and has realized [illegible].

[illegible] parities which have [illegible] natives in the Legis[illegible] Dean delegates to the [illegible] Brunswick, Columbus, Gaston, Guilford, [illegible] Lenoir, Moore, Richmond, Randolph, [illegible]

[illegible] Greensboro, the wittiest woman [illegible] produced met a very cordial [illegible] reception on her recent arrival [illegible].

[illegible], the dry goods merchant [illegible] failed with $15,000,000. He commenced with nothing but integrity, [illegible] brains.

[illegible] Johnson, who is eighty-one years [illegible] of the oil mines bar lately [illegible] in Cone for a whole day [illegible].

[illegible] Republic schools, 63 banks, [illegible] churches and religious asso[illegible], 188 constables, between [illegible] lawyers and 189 newspapers [illegible].

[illegible] Alexander H. Stephens, [illegible] friends and soldiers and sail[illegible] Savannah and navy have [illegible] invitation to attend a [illegible] ex-Federal soldiers soon [illegible] Caldwell, Ohio.

[illegible] Johnson writes in his resting [illegible] sustaining the letter of [illegible] defence of the property [illegible] urging an international [illegible] appeal to natural principles [illegible].

[illegible] Sherman & Co. expended [illegible] and collapsed, the Commercial [illegible] nearly expanded its credits, [illegible] Duke & Co. expanded [illegible] a couple of years ago, and collapsed when the general collapse [illegible] and the lesson was generally [illegible] followed by general and disastrous [illegible]. And still the world will [illegible] a thousand years or so more, [illegible] the artificial and unscrupulous [illegible] of universal expenditure.

[illegible] have served a notice of [illegible] on Beecher's lawyers and the [illegible] that they will not be satisfied [illegible] until they get something [illegible] Beecher.

[illegible] has come out of the great [illegible] recently at the age of 90.

[illegible] from Ostium, England, [illegible] married, 18,000 [illegible] and the feeling against [illegible] is very bitter.

[illegible] Sims, the distinguished [illegible] who is buried in Magnolia [illegible], South Carolina, is to [illegible] a statue on her recent arrival [illegible]. The committee having [illegible] decided to adopt [illegible] of bronze cast from a granite [illegible] that received in Central [illegible] when completed it will [illegible].

[illegible] which has just been made to in[illegible] hanging bodies into the Paris [illegible] Commission has failed, although a [illegible] ranged a living six alive to Paris [illegible] with safety. The only other [illegible] which have reached Europe [illegible] safely by M. Delorme in [illegible] America but these died a [illegible] before arrived in Paris.

[illegible] Orleans states that [illegible] Red River Parishes, where [illegible] have destroyed the offspring and [illegible] all hearing throughout the [illegible] the avowed purpose of exterminating [illegible] the experiment per[illegible] says the Nut Shell.

[illegible], Esq., editor [illegible], and L. McCabe, a [illegible] and local politician, of [illegible] a ball taking effect in [illegible] the right eye.

[illegible] Jefferson County acquired [illegible] morphine for relief from the [illegible] of their family satisfy disappointed [illegible] and [illegible] in deceiving [illegible] the drug carefully prepared potato [illegible] capsules. She used this article [illegible] until the day of her death [illegible] during the it was an error and [illegible] her physician declared it all [illegible] to cause her Dover's powders once [illegible] minutes, but she could not rest until [illegible] one of the capsules.

[illegible] Morning, a cotton blossom [illegible] the 26th July.

[illegible] Progress speaks of the [illegible] many visitors from Wil[illegible] Eastern points at that [illegible] they still continue to [illegible] a handsome thing with [illegible].

[illegible] commuted the [illegible] in the case of Benjamin [illegible], of Beaufort county, [illegible] to imprisonment in the [illegible] for two years.

[illegible] D. Stockton has been [illegible] editor in Tennessee. [illegible] says: Mr. Stockton [illegible] from Statesville to [illegible] the class of 1859 at [illegible].

[illegible] fever epidemic continues at [illegible] Florida, and exceeds in violence the epidemic at Pensacola in 1871. So [illegible] season there have been sixty-eight cases and twenty one deaths at Barrancas. At Pensacola last year the total number of cases was forty-eight, with twenty-three deaths.

[illegible] Columbian Union in another letter [illegible] the New York Evening Post on his favor[illegible] the restoration of the American [illegible] interest, in which he asserts that we are paying $130,000,000 freight and passenger money to foreigners yearly, and by standing as the only nation in the world that prohibits its people from purchasing for [illegible] built ships we voluntarily drop astern of China and Japan.

The Lancaster Ledger says that a Confederate soldier of that country William Newell, deserted or was captured in the late war and during the ten or more years of his absence at the North took a theological course of study abroad and let his family know his whereabouts. Returning home recently, he found his wife pleasing, but like a sensible woman, she refused to recognize him.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of four words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and at six short words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose for resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.

Died near Cedar Hill, Anson Co. on the [illegible] inst of chills fever and malaria, Minnie infant [illegible] E. and Seanie Nowill, aged 2 months and 2 days. She was beautiful and lovely in [illegible] appearance, made pure by the [illegible], We laid her in the silent tomb in [illegible] but in hope.

PA AND MA.

Freddie G. Atking, infant son of J. S and M. A. Atkins, was born in Stanly co. Nov. the 12th 1874, and died in Montgomery co. June the 20th 1875, aged 7 months and 17 days.

On the 27 of July 1875, in the county of Davie N. C. at the residence of her father near Mocksville, Miss S. [illegible] E. [illegible] daughter of Jacob and Mary Eaton, departed this life in the triumphs of faith and with an assured hope of a blessed immortality.

She was born Dec 1850 embraced religion in her 17th year under the ministry of Rev J. E. Dunn, and united her self to the M. E. Church South, of which she was a consistent member to the day of her death which occurred in her 25th year. She was much attached to the doctrines and usages of our church. Ardent in her piety, she loved the means of grace. For several years she had been earnestly seeking the blessings of perfect love, and had doubtless attained to a high state in grace, but we think did not fully enter the rest of perfect love until the day before her death.

She had been resigned and happy through her sickness but on Monday morning her faith obtained a perfect victory. She was filled with perfect love and was perfectly happy to the close of life.

When I entered her room that evening and asked her how she was, she replied, "I am perfectly happy, the angels are around me and I am almost home. This is the happiest day of my all life." On Tuesday morning she expressed a wish to receive the Lord's supper with her family and relations present.

It was a sweet communion and seemed to be very near the heavenly world. At the close of the service her father approached her and expressed a regret that she should die so soon and so young. She replied to him, "Father, it will only be a little while and you will be with me in glory." Afterwards in reply to question she said all is well. I am just waiting, I am almost home." In this happy frame of mind she continued until 8 o'clock P. M. when without a struggle she sweetly fell asleep in Jesus exchanged the home on earth for the home in heaven. She has left a large circle of relatives and friends to sorrow over her early death, but we have much to comfort us in our grief, her last hour was so hallowed. Then with the christian poet we will say;

Thou hast gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee
Though sorrow and darkness encompass the tomb
Thy Savior has passed through its portals before thee
And the lamp of his love was thy guide through the gloom.

May the good Lord sustain and cheer the hearts of the bereaved parents, sisters and brothers, relatives and friends. And may God bless it to the church!

May our last day be like hers, Amen.

L SHELL.

Rev Chambers Edgar Lund, was born in Spartanburg, S. C. on the 8th of May, 1833 and died at Monroe, N. C. October 21st 1874, aged 41 years 5 months and 13 days.

He made a profession of religion and joined the M. E Church, south, in Columbia, S. C., in 1857, under the ministry of the Rev. A. C. Parsons. He connected himself with the South Carolina Conference in 1858, and was ordained deacon by Bishop Paine at Columbia, S. C. December 16 in 1860, and elder by Bishop Early at Spartanburg, S. C. December 11th 1862.

He was an acceptable, effective and useful itinerant minister for thirteen years; serving the following charges respectively, viz: 1859-60 Wheeman Mission; 1861 Black River Mission; 1862 3-4-5 Longstreet Circuit; 1866 on account of the unsettled state of the country at the close of the war, he was left without an appointment; 1867 S. Dallas circuit; 1868 Rock Spring Circuit; 1870-71, Pleasant Grove Circuit. He was transferred to the territory transcribed from the South Carolina Conference by the General Conference of 1870 and remained in the N. C. Conference. In the summer of 1871, being then in charge of the Pleasant Grove circuit, his health became so precarious that he was compelled to give up preaching and travelling, though he continued in charge of the work until the close of the year. At the Conference held in Charlotte in 1872, he was placed on the superannuated list. Soon after Conference he removed with his family to Monroe, where for several months he earnestly and energetically endeavored to devote himself to business for the maintenance of his family. In the latter part of 1872 he was partially paralyzed, which seriously impaired his mind and rendered him almost helpless for, perhaps, twelve months. In the fall of 1873 he commenced gradually to improve in mind and body, and early in 1874 he was enabled to take a trip of several hundred miles West, to visit some relatives. After his return for several months he was able to keep up and occasionally to attend to some business, but his mind was never entirely clear, nor did he experience a well day from his first attack. In the summer of 1874 he commenced a gradual decline, and continued until his body was reduced to a skeleton and his mind, apparently, to a perfect blank, when on the 21st of October he quietly breathed his last, and closed his eyes upon the scenes of earth and the manifestations of his weeping friends.

On account of the state of his mind he could leave no dying testimony, but the episode of a well spent life leaves no doubt that he is now reaping the reward of a good and faithful servant. His funeral sermon was preached by his Presiding Elder, Rev. J. S. Nelson, from Phil. 1:21, after which his mortal remains were consigned to the silence of the tomb, to await the resurrection of the just. He leaves a widow and six children—the most of them small—in quite a helpless condition. They sleep, silently but eloquently for comfort and support to the church which he so faithfully and efficiently served. May the "Father of the fatherless, and the Judge of the widow, grant them the consolations of the Gospel and the sustaining power of His grace in this sore affliction and sad bereavement. May they follow him as he followed Christ, so that when called from the scenes and associations and sufferings of life, they may have a happy reunion above, a blissful home in heaven, and form an unbroken family of the kingdom and everlasting glory of God.

M. V. Singleton,
T. A. Boone,
J. W. Sowell,
} Com.

Nashville Christian Advocate please copy.

Letters and Funds.

K P Battle for ad $6. Rev J J Renn Rev R L Abernethy Jas Southgate Rev M V Sherrill S A Weber Rev C C Dodson for S F Durham 2.20 P Hackney 2.20, H C Clegg 2.20, other papers sent. S C Windley sent 2.20. J D Taurus J M Ellen A A Scruggs Rev W H Robey Rev Z Rush for L Hutton 2.20. S Neal for M A Turner 2.20. Rev W H Moore S A Arnett sent 2.20 Rev J Ball & Co Rev T P England for subscribers sent 2.40. Rev W D Lee papers sent Rev Dr Clarke Mrs R C Aman sent 1.10. J P Jones W H Thorne Rev G Farrar papers sent, Rev H P Cole for G Dodson for L H Harris 2.20 Rev W H Cobbitt Mrs M Woodson Miss J Carson Rev V A Sharpe Rev F D Swindell M Bradshaw sent 1.00. S W Cole Miss H C Sykes sent 2.20. A G Brown T Pace Rev B B Culbreth Rev S R Trawick, H T Jordan Rev L Shell L T Shumpson W B Owen E J Thomas Rev H P Cole for Mrs E Cole 1 Rev B Craven paper sent. Mrs M E Grumpler, paper changed. Dr W C Mallory sent 1 Rev A D Betts papers sent. Heaven bless you! Mrs Lucretia C Gilliam each 1.75. W M Crenshaw for adv 3.50. Delny Mills & Hardy Rev R L Abernethy W C Dodd too late for this issue. J S Atkins.

Appointments.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND, Q. M.

Raleigh at Person st,	Sept.	4- 5
Granville at Bethel,	"	11-12
Louisburg station,	"	18-19
Tar River at Franklinton,	"	25-26
Henderson at Henderson,	Oct.	2- 3
Roleville at Roleville,	"	9-10
R. M. and Nashville,	"	16-17
Gary,	"	23-24
Smithfield,	"	30-31
Youngville,	Nov	6- 7
Raleigh Edenton st,	"	13-14

J. P. Moore, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
THIRD ROUND.

Salisbury circuit, Providence,	Aug.	7- 8
Iredell circuit Snow Creek (C M.)	"	13-17
States-ville circuit.	"	20-22
Alexander ct. Rocky Springs (C.M.)	"	27-31
Wilkes circuit.	Sept.	4- 6

Camp meetings at Snow Creek and at Rocky Springs in connection with the Quarterly meetings.

The camp meeting at Smith Grove, Mocksville circuit, will commence on Friday before the 4th Sunday in Aug. and continue 5 days.

D. R. Bacon, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Whiteville at Abbottsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. } at Center,	"	15-16
Topsail,	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29-30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville,	"	12-13

W. S. Black, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	Aug	7- 8
Davidson, Midway,	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	4- 5
Stokes, Palmyra	"	11-12

A Camp-meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. Wilson, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Upper Klinekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Klinekeet.	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent.	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug. 11, 12, 13	14, 15
Portsmouth,	" 17, 18, 19, 20, 21,	22
Columbia at Gums Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4- 5
Warren,	"	11-12

William Closs.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Mt. Pleasant, Albemarle and Stanley }	Aug.	7 8
Anson ville, et	"	14 15
	"	21-22

J. S. Nelson, P. E
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND.

Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	-1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7- 8
Leasburg, Union,	"	14-15
Vance ville, New Hope.	"	21-22
Flat River	"	28 29

L. L. Hendren, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND

Robeson, Salem, July 31.	Aug.	- 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7- 8
Unwharie, Concord.	"	14-15
Montgomery, Eleazer,	"	21-22
Buckhorn, Apex.	"	28- 29

S. D. Adams, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND,

Rock Spring, Rock Spring (C M)	Aug	7- 8
Happy Home, Harmony.	"	14-15
Lenoir, Harper's Chapel.	"	21-22
Morganton, Mt. Pleasant (C M)	"	28-29
Marion, Nebo. (C M)	Sept.	4- 5
Shelby station,	"	11-12

Camp-meetings will begin Friday evening and close on Wednesday morning. Ministers both traveling and local are invited to attend the camp-meetings. May the Great Head of the church be with us and give his word success!

L. S. Burkhead, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
3RD. ROUND.

Snow Hill. Bethel.	Aug.	7- 8
Mt Olive, Indian Springs, Friday,	"	13
Goldsboro.	"	14-15
Neuse & S. Creek. Upper B. Creek,	"	21-22
Wilson	"	28-29
Craven, Thursday and Friday,	Sept.	2- 3

E. A. Yates, P. E.
Beaufort N C

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of Christian Advocate, August 10, 1875

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light. Low middlings 14¼

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7@6.50.
CORN 1c @1 10
CORN MEAL 105@110
BACON, N. C. sug cured, 15.
" " hams 14-15
BULK C. R. sides, 13 to 14
" shoulders, 10 @ 11
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western tierces, 11 1-2@
" kegs, 16 1-2@17 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 24
" Fair Rio, 22@24
SYRUP, common, 40.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.35.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on boats for 10d, $4.00.
SUGAR A, 11 1-4.
" Extra C 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 10@11
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@8.
" dry, 13 1-2
TALLOW 7@8
POTATOES, Sweet nons.
" Irish, $1.00@$1.25.
OATS, shelled, 85 @90
" sheaf, $1.00
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N. C. baled, 1st, $.35@1.40
CHICKENS, grown, 35@40
" young, 20@30
EGGS, 15@17
BUTTER, country, 22 1-2@25.
FISH, Mullets, $7.50.
" Cn Herring, 7@7.0
" Mackerel, new family, $1 50
BEESWAX, 35.
RAGS, 3
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,
Ashland Va.,

Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction, a high grade of scholar-ship, under best religious influence, in a refined community and at a location remarkable for its extraordinary healthfulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and thirty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year. For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A. M. D. D. Pres't.
or
Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Sec'y.
Aug 11-6 w.

"Will have a Million Readers."

CANVASSERS WANTED FOR
"Around the Tea Table"
(Illustrated.)
By REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

The most popular "Agents' Book" ever issued from the Press. SOLD ONLY BY SUBSCRIPTION.
Cowperthwait & Co., Philadelphia.
Aug 11 4t.

DYSPEPSIA RADICALLY CURED, with its attendant ills, viz: Asthma, Bronchitis, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Pilse Mental disorders, Spinal diseases, &c. Female diseases. Dissenorrhoea and incidents of ages from 12 to 51. Eradication of hereditary diseases, Scrofula and Consumption in early stages. Guaranteed the eradication of secondary and Mercurial disease, have devoted thirty years to the Mucous membranes, Glands and Nerves. Apply at his farm in Person Co., or by letter inclosing stamp to

J. J. THAXTON, M. D.
Aug. 11-4w Milton, N. C.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT.
To People who Reason. It is because Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient
reduces the heat of the blood by creating perspiration, as well as through its purgative operation, that produces such marvelous effect in febrile diseases.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Aug 11 2t

$250 A MONTH—Agents wanted everywhere. Business honorable and first class. Particulars sent free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo.
aug 4-12m.

AGENTS WANTED FOR PATHWAYS OF
THE HOLY LAND.
Being a Full Description of Palestine, Its History Antiquities, Inhabitants and Customs, according to the Great Discoveries recently made by the Palestine Exploring Expeditions. It sells at sight. Send for our extra terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book.
NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia Pa.
aug 4 2t

TEMPLE HARP.
A very choice selection of Sacred Music for Choirs Singing Classes and Musical Societies in the Seven Character Notes by which any one can learn to sing in one hour. No time required by other methods.

CRYSTAL GEMS,
A new music book for Sabbath-Schools in the Seven Character Notes being the most natural and easy system yet discovered. It contains a rare selection of new tunes, the most beautiful and popular ever published. Specimen pages of both the above mailed free.
MILLERS' BIBLE & PUBLISHING HOUSE,
Nos. 1102 & 1104 Sansom St., Philadelphia.
Aug 4-3m.

BOOKS OF EASY MUSIC!!
Collections, of Easy, Brilliant, Popular Airs, that every one can play, and no one can help liking.
Musical Garland.
$2.50. Violin & Piano Duets
Musical Flowers.
$2.50 Flute & Piano Duets.
Flute Bouquet.
$1.50. Airs for Flute.
Violin Amusements.
$1.50. Airs for Violin.
Party Dances.
75 cts. Violin and Piano.
Winner's Band of Four.
$1.00. Quartets for 1st and 2d Violin, Cornet or Clarionet and Bass.
Strauss Dance Music.
$1.00. Violin and Piano.
Violin and Flute Duets.
$1.00. By Winner.
Clarke's (S) Instructors
For Piano for Reed Organ, for Violin. Each $1.00.
Winner's New Schools.
Each 75 cts. For Piano, Cabinet Organ, Melodeon, Violin, Guitar, Banjo, Cornet, French Accordeon, German Accordeon, Fife, Flute, Flageolet, Clarionet.
Sold by all music dealers. Sent, post free, for retail price.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO.,
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.
aug. 4-4t.

NEW GOODS AT LOW PRICES.
A very handsome assortment of new styles and colors of Grass Suitings 37 and 38 inches wide, fast colors. A dress of these although much better material will cost no more than Calico at 8 cts. per yard.

A NEW LOT LATEST STYLE
of Rochings very cheap, 2300 yds. Pacific Lawns, Short Lengths, to close at 10 cts. per yard. These cost no more than Calico at 7 1-2 cts. per yard.

LINEN DUCKS AND DRILLS
for men and boys wear from 15 to 35. These are great bargains but being bought late in Season we give our customers benefit of the advantage.

COTTONADES
as low as they can be found in this or other markets. Latest styles Lace Ties for ladies wear. Not to be undersold.

SEASONABLE DRESS GOODS
at prices to win. A splendid assortment of White Goods, bought at about half their value now new and at prices which will sell them.
Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, large stock. We invite purchasers to examine our stock before buying as we are convinced that none undersell us, quality considered.
PETTY & JONES,
July 28-tf No. 20 Fayetteville street.

GREAT BARGAINS TO BE HAD.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.
To make room for our Fall purchases, we will sell, as they must be sold,
80 pcs. Nainsook Muslins,
80 " Grass Cloths,
20 " Zebra Suitings,
Victoria Lawns, Swiss, Mull and Organdie Muslins at prices lower than ever offered.
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

1,000 Dos. Coates Spool Cotton at 70 cents per doz. Dress Goods very low, almost at any price.
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

PARASOLS, FANS, PRINTS, LINEN LAWNS, PIQUES, FLOUNCINGS, FEMALE, &c., &c., at astonishingly low figures. Now is the time to secure bargains.
W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.
July 28-tf

EXCURSION TICKETS VIA RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD.
Raleigh & Gaston R R Co.,
Office General Pass. and Ticket Agt.
Raleigh, July 15, 1875.
The travelling public are respectfully informed that ROUND TRIP EXCURSION TICKETS, good for the entire season, are now on sale at Raleigh, to the Virginia Springs, Niagara Falls, Saratoga, Montreal, Quebec, Newport, Long Branch, Cape May, Atlantic City, and to all the principal watering places and Summer resorts in the North.
Rates as low as via any other route.
Call on the agent at Raleigh; he can give rates, &c., or write to the undersigned, who will cheerfully give any information desired.
THOMAS BADGER,
jul 28-tf. G. P. & T. A.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,
Greensboro, N. C.
The Fall Session will begin on the 15th of August.
TERMS REDUCED.
Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights)	$75 00
Tuition in regular English course,	20 00

Charges for Extra studies, moderate.
For Catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev T. M. Jones, President.
N. H. D. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees
June 30 2m

SHELBY SEMINARY,
SHELBY N. C.
Rev. S. R. Trawick, A. M. Principal.
Mrs. B. V. Trawick, Music and Ornamentals.
Miss Janie G. DuKant, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 21 WEEKS

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic.	15 00
Latin Greek and French each.	5 00
Incidental fee each	1 00
Music on piano-forte	20 00
Use of instrument	3 00

Board in the school with the principal, per term $60.00
The next term will begin July 12th. For circular address the principal. The low rates the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.
June 23 2m.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
Miss M. J. Baldwin, Principal.
Is not open Second Wednesday in September, 5, Largest Fire Insurance institution in Virginia, with a combined surplus of over one million dollars. Catalogues sent on application, address the Principal.
July 28 1m.

VIRGINIA FEMALE INSTITUTE
STAUNTON, VA
Rev. R. H. Phillips, A. M., Principal
Miss E. Florence Phillips, } in charge of Miss Annie S. Page, } the Home.
The 31st Annual Session will commence Sept. 1st, 1875.
The Principal will be assisted by a full corps of officers suitable to a first class school.
Terms reduced to cash basis and very moderate.
For Catalogue, address the Principal.
July 28 1m

BETHEL ACADEMY prepares for University or business. $87.50 for Board and Tuition for half session. Reopens Sept. 16th.—For Catalogue address W. W. Smith, A. M., Bethel Academy, Fauquier county, Va.

EXTRACTS FROM TESTIMONIALS.

"I most heartily commend Bethel Academy to the favor and patronage of the public.—Wm. B. Peters, Prof. Latin Univ of Va." "I would be willing to confide my own son to Mr Smith's care and hence I recommend the school to other parents.—P. H. Smith, Prof. Nat. Phil. Univ of Va." "I feel warranted from experience in recommending it.—John B. Minor, Prof. Law Univ of Va." "One of the best institutions of its class in the State.—H. H. Harris, Prof. Greek Richmond College." "I know of no institution of like grade superior to it.—Rev J. C. Blackwell, A. M., D. D., Spencburg, Va." "Unequaled, in my opinion, by any institution in the South.—General C. W. Field, Atlanta, Ga." "Best and cheapest preparatory school in the State.—Chas. Mason, King George co., Va, and Col. S. D. Crawford, Augusta co., Va." "The cheapest, and as good as the best in the U. S.—Adam Empie and J. A. Engelhard, Wilmington, N. C."
July 28-2t

RALEIGH FEMALE SEMINARY.
RALEIGH, N. C.
The Fall Session opens on Sept. 6th, 1875.

Board, per month,	$15 00
English Tuition,	4 00

Uniform system of dress adopted to prevent extravagance.
Calisthenics introduced for health and exercise.
For catalogue containing particulars address
V. P. HORGOOD, A. M.,
July 21-1m. Principal.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY.
Male and Female.
D. Matt Thompson, A. M Principal.
The next term opens August 11th 1875. Instruction thorough.
Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " " $1.00 to $4 00
Location:—Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C. ten miles north of Iron Station. "Carolina Central R. R." This section is noted for good health, quiet, and morality.
Advantages:—Low price of Board and healthy and moral location.
For Circular &c. address the Principal,
Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C.
July 21-2m.

CAROLINA CENTRAL ACADEMY.
ANSONVILLE, N. C.
CHEAPEST SCHOOL OF ITS GRADE IN THE CAROLINAS.
The Fall Session of this Institution begins MONDAY, SEPT. 6th, 1875. Spring Session, MONDAY, JAN 31st, 1876.
FACULTY:
Rev. N. B. Cobb, A. M., (University of N. C., Rev J. J. McLendon, (Graduate So. Bap Theological Seminary.)
Henry W. Betts, (Horner & Graves' School)
A. J. Allen, (Baltimore Commercial College)
TERMS PER SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:
Board, including furnished room, washing, fuel and lights, with tuition in Academic department, $85.00
Do., do., with tuition in Intermediate department, 30 00
Do., with tuition in Primary department, 75 00
Shorthand Reporting by an experienced Phonographer, extra, 20 00
Telegraphing by a practical operator, extra 20 00
Incidental fee, 2 00
Printing and Proof-reading free to Students in Academic department.
Board and Tuition due one half in advance, the other half at the middle of the session.
Each Boarder is required to furnish his own sheets, pillow cases and towels.
Tuition free to Students preparing for the Gospel Ministry, and to one approved young man, from each Congressional District in the two Carolinas, prepared to enter the Academic department.
By special arrangement students coming over the Carolina Central Railway will be passed to Wadesboro and returned for one fare.
For further information address either
Rev. J. J. McLENDON, Ansonville, N. C., or
Rev. N. B. COBB, Lincolnton, N. C. till Sept. 1st.
July 28 1m

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO'S BELLS.
Fine toned, low priced, warranted against breakage. Catalogues containing full particulars, prices, etc., sent free.
BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO., Cincinnati, O
June 23-1y. e o w.

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE,
DAVIDSON CO., N. C., ON N. C. R. R.
Established in 1843—chartered in 1866.—Large, finely adapted brick building, in thorough repair. Grounds extensive and beautiful—new and handsome furniture, instruments, &c. Full and carefully arranged course, taught by seven able, earnest and successful teachers. Location accessible, beautiful and proverbially healthful. Board and English Tuition $15 and $16 per month. Next session begins August 30th, 1875. For Catalogue address,
H. W. REINHART,
july 21 tf. Principal.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,
STAUNTON, VA.
Will begin its twenty-sixth Annual Session, September 8th, 1875. Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D. President, with an able corps of twenty three Teachers and Officers.
Modern Languages taught and spoken in the College by a European Teacher. Music by seven Professors and Teachers, among whom are two of the most cultivated Teachers of vocal music in the South.
This is one of the healthiest climates in the world Those who come here from the South with feeble constitutions, chills, and climatic diseases, are entirely restored.
Buildings elegant—fanned by the purest breezes, and commanding the most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, making it one of the most delightful colleges homes in the Union.
The past Session this school was attended by pupils from seventeen different States.
Great economy and simplicity in dress are required. A simple uniform is worn. No unnecessary expenses allowed and none made without express instructions from Parents. Strict economy practiced to keep all expenses of pupils within the lowest possible amount.

From Bishop D. S. Doggett, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, located in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency of Rev. W. A. Harris, is, in my judgment, one of the best institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the advantages enjoyed by one of my daughters, now a pupil there. Its course of study is ample; its Faculty accomplished, and its instructions both solid and elegant. Its personal accommodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste.
D. S. DOGGETT.

[From Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D.]

The Wesleyan Female Institute is an honor to the Church. Instruction is thorough. All classes stand high. In music advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and no other pains nor expenses are spared to make this department eminent.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR.

Board and Tuition in the Collegiate Course, including Ancient Languages, $240. Music and other extras moderate.
For catalogue, address
Rev. W. A. Harris, President.
July 21-2m. Staunton, Va.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA.
This institution will be re-opened on the 1st Monday of September next,
the term ending the 2nd Thursday in June 1876, with a vacation of two weeks at Christmas. It has been re-organized on the eclectic system, combining, however, three curricula of Arts, Science and Agriculture. Instruction will be given in the branches of learning usually taught in the best Colleges. Special instruction provided in Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts. An able faculty has been appointed. The buildings thoroughly repaired for the reception of several hundred students.
For circular explanatory of the above apply to KEMP P. BATTLE,
Secretary Board of Trustees,
july 21 mo Raleigh, N. C.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.
Bells for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to
MENEELY & CO.,
July 28 12m. West Troy, N. Y.

PLEASANT GARDEN ACADEMY,
Male and Female.
Eight Miles from Greensboro, N. C.
R. F. Tuey, A. M., Principal.
Mar. R. P. Tuey, Teacher of Music and Assistant Teacher.
The Fall Session will begin July 28th, 1875, and continue five months
Tuition per Session, from $7.50 to $20.00
Music, 15.00
Boarding, with wood and washing, 45.00
Catalogue Fee, 50
Use of Piano, 2.00
One half in advance. No deduction after entrance, except for sickness. The low price of board and tuition, nearly location, and the advantages of a
FIRST-CLASS ACADEMY.
commend Pleasant Garden to the patronage of those having children to educate. All are required to attend Sunday School and religious service every Sabbat, and especial care is taken to promote moral development.
Conveyance from Greensboro Furnished if Notice is Given.
Address the Principal, at Greensboro, N. C., for further information.

REFERENCES:

Rev. B. Craven, D. D. LL D.,	Trinity College, N. C
" N. H. D. Wilson, D. D.	Greensboro, N. C.
" W. H. Robbins,	Greensboro, N. C.
" L. L. Hendren,	Chapel Hill N. C.

July 7 1m.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE,
Lenoir, N. C.
The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.
Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes everything for which we are responsible, and we can guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.
Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best public testimonial of real merit.
Young ladies board in the Institution under the immediate care of the President
Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other promptly at the end of the Session.
No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address,
REV. W. M. ROBEY, Pres.
July 7-3m

TYSON & JONES

Carriage Builders,
CARTHAGE, N. C.
Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Chatham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.
We feel confident that, with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used the skilled workman employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS WORK, no house in the country can excel us in
STYLE, FINSH, DURABILITY AND
Low Prices.
We manufacture and keep constantly on hand clarress of the Best Quality.
Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice
Send for Circular.
July 21 1-y

SELLING AT
Greatly Reduced Prices.
Intending to enlarge my store

Children's Column.

Children's Hymn.

From the sunny morning
To the starry night,
Every look and motion
Meets our Father's sight.

From our earliest breathing
To our latest year,
Every sound we utter,
Meets our Father's ear.

Through our earthly journey,
Wheresoe'r we go,
Every thought and feeling
Doth our Father know.

Let us, then, be careful
That our looks shall be Brave and kind and cheerful,
For our Lord to see.

Help us, O our Father!
Hear our earnest plea—
Teach Thy little children,
How to live for Thee!
--[Rhymes and Jingles.

Answers.

The word "coffin" is found in the Bible one time. Joseph was the first man buried in a coffin. Gen. 50th chap. 26th v. Viola Boddie, T. C. W. Boshamer, Rachel E. Clayton.

The 11th chap. of 2d Chronicles contains the word "perils" eight times. Viola Boddie.

What Paul said when standing in the midst of Mar's Hill, may be found in the 27th chap. 22 and 23d verses of Acts of the Apostles. Viola Boddie.

It was a viper that came out of the heat and fastened on Paul's hand.—Acts 28th chap. 3d v. Viola Boddie.

Demetrius made silver shrines for Diana. Acts 19th chap. 24th v.—Viola Boddie.

The word family is contained 60 times in 26th chap. of Numbers. Alice J. C. and Pattie E. H. Peebles.

"Thou shalt feed my people Israel" is found in 2d Samuel 5th chap. 2nd verse, and was addressed to David.—Alice and Pattie Peebles.

"Neither is there any rock like our God" is found in 1st Samuel 2d chapter 2d verse, Alice and Pattie Peebles.

The 25th chap. 1st chronicles has 31 verses of which 23 end with the word 'twelve.' T C. W. Boshamer.

St. Luke was the author of the Acts of the Apostles .T. C. W. Boshamer.

The sentence composed of the letters a i o t m h d c e, is found in 9th v. 10th ch. St. John "I am the door." T. C. W. Boshamer, Alice and Pattie Peebles, Rachel E. Claytor, J. W. Howard.

Amraphel is the first monarch mentioned in the Bible Rachel E. Claytor.

What became of the Tower of Babel will be found by reference to 11th chap. of Genesis. Rachel E. Claytor.

Abraham lived 47 years after the death of his wife Sarah. Rachel E. Claytor.

Rachel E. Claytor sends the following as answer to the Bible Enigma proposed by J. R. Howard:

1st Eglon, 2d Ligure, 3d Ahitub 4th Orphah. The initials and finals of the above by reversing the 4 form the names of a valley and a mountain, Elah and Nebo.

Rachel E. Claytor sends the following as answer to Enigma proposed by J. W. Howard.

1st Eunice, 2d Lemuel, 3d Ishuai, 4th Jesus 5th Arioch 6th Hosea. The initials and finals of the above form the names of two prophets Elijah and Elisha.

Questions.

Viola Boddie asks what king cut off gold from the Temple of the Lord and to what king did he give it.

Alice and Pattie Peebles ask what was the age of Abraham when Isaac was born. Also what became of Jacob's coat of many colors? Also where did Paul dwell in Rome?

Theo. C. W. Boshamer asks how long before Christ was the Babylonish captivity. Who exulted over Jerusalem at the time of its destruction?

Rachel E. Claytor asks to whom were the Sacred Writings first committed.

Fletcher B. Jones asks how long did Nebuchadnezzar besiege Tyre.

Cora L. Claytor asks the following: Whose spear's head weighed six hundred Shekels of iron?

Who guarded the dead bodies of her sons that was slain by the Gibeonites?

Who was consumed for offering strange fire before the Lord?

Rural and Domestic.

POINTS OF THE DAIRY COW.—Mr. E. H. Seward, of Marengo, N. Y., in giving the characteristics which he most prized in dairy cows, says: "We want a cow low in legs, deep in the chest, and through the lungs a chance for a large flow of blood; this gives health. We want also a great width across loin; this shows great secreting power; the udder should set well up under the body, wide teats and wide quarters. The escutcheon, or milk mirror, should be wide—the wider the better. The hair should be bright, showing a healthy condition." He wanted also a deep shoulder; neck to come out large from the body, tapering finely to the head, the head firm and bony. The head should taper well down to a small muzzle; the skin should always show a yellow color, with a firm, soft feeling. A lively spirit is essential; good cows are not dull, and are apt to be fractious and nervous if ill used. Dairymen should look carefully to the comfort of the cow. A cow showing a yellow skin, with a yellow inside to the ear, indicates giving rich milk. He would like the hair on the milk mirror soft and firm. He thought a large cow on the same food would give the most milk.

VALUE OF SUGAR BEETS FOR FATTENING SWINE.—An experiment was recently made in New Hampshire upon a Suffolk pig, wherein sugar beets were largely employed in fattening. The animal was about a year old, and the feeding upon boiled sugar beets, tops and roots began on the sixteenth of August, and was continued three times a day until the first of October, after which ground feed was given, consisting of two parts of corn and one of oats, three times a day, till the animal was slaughtered, the meal being mixed with cold water. The result was, on the sixteenth of August, when the sugar beet feeding was begun, that the weight was three hundred and sixty pounds; September 1, three hundred and ninety pounds; October 1, four hundred and fifty pounds; November 1, five hundred and twenty pounds. This is the substance of the statement given, by which we perceive that the increase the last of August, when fed on boiled sugar beets, was at the rate of two pounds per day. The same rate of increase on the same food continued through September. When fed on ground corn and oats, made into cold slop, the gain for the next fifty days was less than a pound and a half per day.

NUN'S PIE.—Soak one pound of salt codfish in cold water for two hours; put it on the fire to boil, adding a small red pepper and the skin of an orange. Boil eight good sized potatoes, and, when ready to mash, pick up the codfish, squeeze over it the juice of one orange, and mash all together; add a large lump of butter, put the mixture in a bake tin, and cover with bread crumbs; scatter a few small lumps of butter over it, and cover the whole with milk. Bake one hour. If well made it will be as light as a meringue pie, and altogether enjoyable.

EGGS A LA CREME.—Hard boil twelve eggs; slice them thin in rings. Have ready a shteful of grated breadcrumbs. In the bottom of a large baking-dish place a layer of the crumbs, then one of the eggs; cover with bits of butter, and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Continue thus to blend these ingredients until the dish is full; be sure, though, that the crumbs cover the eggs upon top. Over the whole pour a large teacupful of sweet cream, and brown nicely in a moderately heated oven.

The Canada Farmer says: "A few simple rules in the arrangement of flower beds will materially enhance the effect produced: 1. Avoid placing rose colored next to scarlet, orange or violet. 2. Do not place orange next to yellow, nor blue next to violet. 3. White relieves any color, but do not place it next to yellow. 4. Orange goes well with blue, and yellow with violet. 5. Rose color and purple always go well together.

Purify the Springs of Life.

It is a fixed question of health, that the sources of vitality, the "springs of life," should be free from contamination. The lungs which, by their action upon the food, transform it into blood, and the great vital nutrient itself, must be pure, if the muscles, the bones and the brain are to be properly nourished and kept vigorous. To this end the stomach, the liver, the bowels and the kidneys should perform all their functions with regularity, since if these are disturbed the vital fluids speedily become vitiated. The best, nay, the ONLY blood depurents which purifies them, by overcoming those bodily irregularities which produce them, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The principle upon which this salutary alterative acts is as simple as it is philosophic. The origin of most diseases, and invariably those which affect the organs above mentioned, is weakness, caused by insufficient assimilation of the food. The Bitters speedily rectify the cause of the difficulty by restoring vigorous digestion, so that all sub-acidge plyal catastrophes are supplied with an abundance of pure rich blood. This increases the activity of the discharging organs, and enables them to throw off the effete matter, which, rankling in the system, destroys health. This healthy reform is not gained all at once, and perfect assimilation reestablished, there is much for to prevent a healthy and active performance of the various functions such being the case, it is plain that the Bitters are not only the most reliable stomachic, but an eradicant of the first importance to the bowels and kidneys which contaminate the springs of life. Aug 4-1 m

The Needle.

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its ninth year During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Tandemeer Gins in Georgia, says: "That during the ginning season it ginned 728 bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in forty-five minutes From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes All the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air though which bales of parlor matches and nails were put with out setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needles.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material

July 1-tf

Bingham School.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

The 163rd session will begin 28th July, '75, in new buildings in all respects equal, and in some important respects superior, to any others in the State.

June 18-2m.

RALEIGH HIGH SCHOOL,

An English, Classical, Mathematical, and Military School for Boys.

REV. JOSEPH M. ATKINSON, } Principals
CHARLES H. SOUTH, }

The second annual session of this school will begin WEDNESDAY, September, 1st, 1875. The Principals have procured for the school the commodious and attractive residence on Newbern Avenue, well known in Raleigh as the "Cotton Place," more recently owned and handsomely refitted by Col. R. King-land.

Besides continuing their Day School they propose taking a limited number of boys of good character and conduct to board in their own family.

The training of the school, as heretofore, will be full, thorough and accurate, preparing its pupils for college or for business life.

Competent assistants will be provided in all departments, as may be required. The principals trust that it is scarcely necessary for them to say that while the school will continue to be conducted on Christian principles, it will be entirely without denominational aim or bias.

For circulars and other information address either of the Principals, Raleigh, North Carolina,

July 1-1m.

PIEDMONT SPRINGS,

STOKES CO. N. C.

The leading watering place of the tate-

Fare equal to any city Hotel South. Nights delightfully cool.

Mountain scenery unsurpassed. Room for 500 guests.

BOARD REDUCED.

Per day $2.00. Per week $12 50. Per month $50 00.

DAILY LINE COMFORTABLE COACHES FROM SALEM TO WINSTON.

Connecting there with all the Trains—the most comfortable and direct leaving Winston on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Tickets to Piedmont Springs and return for sale at the following rates at reduced rates:

Barium	$ 4 45	Raleigh	$ 11 45
Danville	9 50	Salisbury	9 50
Goldsboro	14 45	Lexington	12 15
Greensboro	7 40	Charlotte	12 15

Passenger trains on the North Carolina Central Rail Road, and on the Richmond and Danville Rail Road, make connection at Greensboro' with trains for Salem Winston, which is the terminus of the N. W. N. C. R. R. from which point passengers can leave the Spring by a light and easy conveyance.

Mail matter intended for visitors at Piedmont, should be directed to PIEDMONT SPRINGS, Winston, N. C., and will be promptly delivered by Stage Driver Boyd.

Capt. S. B. TAYLOR, Manager.
W. E. WILLIAMSON, }
C. M. PENN, } Prop's
RO. G. PACE, }

Danville, Va.

Resident Physician: Dr. H. B. MEADE, of Danville, Va., formerly resident Physician at Greenbrier White Sulphur springs, Va.

July 1-1m.

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED.

D. S. WATTS & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, &c. We will not be Sold. The best Novelties of the Season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Handbag Edgings and Insertions, Cashs' Emblings, and Plaited Bands, Jabot Cuffs and Vestings, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS

PRINTS PRINTS. PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jacknetts, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Piqué, Mull, Muslin, Check & Plaid Nainsook and Lisle Lasting, Corset Jeans, Canvas and Linens

HATS HATS HATS

New Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Our stock is complete in this line. Miles and Taylor's goods first in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction

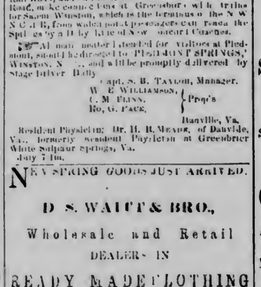
To country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we can please double the trade that can be done in the City

D. S. WATTS & BRO.,
54 Fayetteville st. Raleigh, N. C.

march 7-6 m

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.



Excelsior Grocery
AND
COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery for prices and quality as low as competition.

Having increased capital and fact lities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western portion of the State, so that we can almost daily receive consignments of Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides Beef Hams, Vegetable Hams, Onions, Irish Potatoes, Apples, Dried Meat, Oats, Chops, Rye, Corn Meal, Grits, Shucks, Hay, Stock and Black Peas, Waffle and Maple Sugar, &c.

With cash prices never to be over speculative, to be posted daily, as soon as the weather will permit,—We hope under these circumstances to meet with your Norfolk house liberal on the best oysters that market can supply

As in thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended we are determined, by accepting the experience of those that have been successful in business, to merit a continuance in Merit to deserve your increased patronage.

may 7-12m

AGENTS WANTED FOR

Cross and Crown

THE SPIRIT AND POWER of the religion of Jesus Christ as shown in the Suffering and triumphs of His followers. A deeper, grander and more thrilling story is not to be found in the whole range of history. Magnificently Illustrated on steel with the best engravings of Nariahi and Hillman, and splendidly bound in the richest and latest style of the art. The most beautiful and attractive book ever offered to Agents. For circulars, with full description, address NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Atlanta, Ga., or Memphis Tenn.

March 16-6m

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, $1 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

661 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

A. BAUM,

Professional Butcher,

Lilington St., Opposite East End Market.

Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stocked beef to be seen in his shop. Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first class style, are sold you at

BAUM'S

apl 23 tf

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams, promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I would most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends top to me Mr Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him.

I will still keep my office as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS

march 7 6 m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and surgical Operations rendered useless. The lacrimal Bleeding of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight-dness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Humbling or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—are guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Opthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiospia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without threat or doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed or will refund the money.

2 309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Merchants and Mechanics—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—ready to hand out our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky, wrote, April 24th, 1872: "Without my spectacles I can now read note, after using the PATENTLY BY EYES two thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles eleven years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Soule, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 15 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, May 6th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age.

Wm. Healy, M. D., Salvisa Ky, writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Aleppo, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paracentesis or optic surgery, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the IVORY PATENT PNEUMOLOGICAL ANATOMY OF THE EYE, about of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co P. O. Box 957. No 91 Lib erty Street, New York City, N. Y

For the worst cases of Myopia, or Near-Sightedness use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

AGENTS WANTED

Employment for all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at the light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 a DAY. To live Agents $20 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars. Sent free of charge to any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO. 91 LIBERTY STREET,
NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.

P. O. Box 957. sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.

PALMAM QUI MERUIT FERAT

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED UNAPPROACHED

for capacity and excellence, by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS take awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in the whole any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not accept any substitute. Dealers get LARGER commissions for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN an entirely distinctive class of instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS. Organs sold for cash; or monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14-1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14-1w.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte	9 24 P. M	8.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9 32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury	1.18 "	8.14 "
" Greensboro'	3.00 A M	10.59 "
" Danville	6.21 "	1 12 P. M.
" Bandee	6.50 "	1.39 "
" Burkeville	7.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond	8.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond	1.58 P. M	5.05 A. M.
" Burkeville	4.52 "	8.55 "
" Dundee	6.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville	6.59 "	1.17 P. M
" Greensboro'	2.45 A M	3.58 "
" Salisbury	5.27 "	6.16 "
" Air-Line Junc'n	7.51 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte	8.03 A. M	8.38 "

STATIONS.	GOING EAST. MAIL.	GOING WEST MAIL.
Leave Greensboro'	3.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.40 A. M
" Co. Shops	4.31 "	Leave 12.58 "
" Raleigh	5.37 "	" 5.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.30 A M	Leave 5.00 "

SOUTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro' ..... 4.31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem ..... 6.15 "
Leave Salem ..... 9.45 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro' ..... 10.53 "

Passenger trains leaving Raleigh at 5.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Direct Tickets same as via other routes.

Tickets issued from points east of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points south or North.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays by making Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this Company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh	3.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon	6.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	9.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.10 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	5.10 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon	5.10 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	2.2. A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad, via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Haywood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 25th, 1874.

On and after Monday, October 26th, 1874, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4 00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6 25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.25 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	12.01 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.25 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection a H 1 12h with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. R. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

Da and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train as	4 P. M
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7 15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 Noon
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Morgan Rivers leave Franklin at 7 30 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. SMITH,
Supt. Trans. ortation.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall.

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Pick's Metallic Burial Cases, Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Wood and other Wood Coffins HEARSE FOR HIRE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed

apr 19-tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people of both sexes young and old, make more money at work for us, in their own localities, during their spare moments, or all the time, than at any thing else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time Don't look for work or business elsewhere, until you have learned what we offer. G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine

May 26 1 y

THE GEM

A popular Note Book published at Nashville.—Send for a copy it can as you want.

Price, - - - - - - - 35 cents per copy

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

pri 8-1m

WINNOWED HYMNS.—

A new and very popular Music Book for Sabbath schools.

Price per copy in boards, - - - - - 30 cts

L. BRANSON, Bookseller,
Raleigh, N. C

apr 8-12m.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one, and I REFER TO THIS FACT to prove the real value of the article offered. Young men wishing an agency here will pay would do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. HECTIST'M.D.,
Enfield, N. C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid.

may 12 tf G. W. H.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in sheep, gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F L REID, Leasburg, N. C. or JAS W. REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. P. Leach, N. Y. M. T. Leach

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

South-East Corner Market Square, Raleigh N C

Again, we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past four years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and believe we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in closing out giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We also wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of Canned Goods and Roots bought direct from the Packers and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store

5 months. Rio Coffees,
50 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A sugar,
14 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
30 Bbls. B P Yellow Su ar,
24 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
150 lbs. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases O sters,
20 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
Qrest W P. and G. D. Iron Caps,
1 Keg to Borden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Root Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
10 Boxes Lundsley and Pallet Soaps.

We offer our goods to country and near-by merchants, and invite an examination of our stock daily competition

Oct 7 12 m LEACH BROS

L. H. WYATT. R. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock o

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and

General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained

Jan 26-tf

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,

Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and safe to run.

Manufacturers, also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machine Working for Cotton Bills, Paint, Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and oil cc Presses, Pipe, Pulleys, Hangers and Gearing a specialty. Machine made Gearing first-class and of very best finish. Send for Circular.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring xtracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Keystone tint, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Varnish, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec. 2-1y

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Celebrated Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Plantations, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, &c. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.

102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m.

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURTS GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and need those goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them,—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Miss's and Grill's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully, JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square

oct 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY.

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium.

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT in INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—Upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain

ISSUE MISSING

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 33. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, August 25, 1875. | Whole No. 1,071.

Original Poetry.

For the Advocate.

"Why?"

INSCRIBED TO MR. AND MRS. W. W. FOID

BY FRYDO.

We cannot know why God hath call'd
The little Willie home.
'Tis not in vain it is your duty now:—
Knowledge is to come,
We cannot see to day
What God designs to do,
He has own appointed time,
Shall be revealed to you.

There will be needless pain,
No curses useless grief:—
Across the surging sea of woe
He sends relief."
Looks on with the Father call'd
The gentle Willie home,
Kindly took the little one,
From storms that are to come.

He understands what's best for all,—
He watches lest we stray,
He never plucked a flower too soon
That bloomed around our way.
He gently strives to lead us where—
The flowers perpetual bloom;
And for fear we should turn aside
He sends in deepest gloom!

How small honor parents have
When given an "angel child,"
Safe from all the storms of earth,
From sin, its heart beguil'd.
Then Willie is an "angel" now
Why weep for him to-day?
He's "there" where no death can come,
And will be with him alway!

N. C. August 1875.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

FROM NIAGARA.

A Description of the Mighty Falls.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have just completed my temperance tour through this country. I have visited and lectured in nearly all the principal cities in the Dominion. During my tour through this country I have found much to admire, and sometimes astonish me. Many of your readers are perhaps aware, nature has been prodigal in the distribution of her favors in the part of the continent. What learned persons would call the "beautiful and sublime," and more practical people, the "bold and magnificent" is here of frequent occurrence.

I shall like to tell you something that I experienced down the St. Lawrence with its innumerable green islands, its rocky towers, its cascades and swift, boiling rapids; but the scene now before me—the mighty Niagara Falls—surpasses description. It is one of those grand views in the design of the Creator which overwhelms the spectator with awe, and at once silences the very pretence of man's greatness. The roar and rush of waters, as the floods of a vast inland sea, with one terrible plunge, descending almost perpendicularly one hundred and sixty feet, over a precipice of limestone, can better be imagined than described.

Niagara has long since become a household word to every person in America, old enough to comprehend the greatness of the claim, and a large proportion have viewed "the great Falls" and become familiar with the surroundings which startle the visitor from many miles distant.

Writers, whose special mission it is to paint in vivid colors the scenes presented, and who have undertaken the task favored by particular moods of the mind which ensured success, have pictured what is to be seen, and millions have read. But as yet, "the half has not been told," and never will be.

Niagara is simply too great—too majestic to be described, and almost too great to be appreciated. I mention this to prepare yourselves and friends for conscious deficiency in this feeble attempt to express my sense of admiration for the most wonderful fall of water in the world. The Niagara River, so-called, connects Lake Erie and Ontario, through the narrow channel that separates those bodies of water, and is about thirty miles in length, owing to the circuitous course it takes. At its source stands the American City of Buffalo, one of the great grain marts of the lakes. The whole view is extremely picturesque, the country throughout being on a bold scale, and highly diversified.—Nearly midway in its course the falls occur, though scientists argue that the constant and immense volume of water which passes over has gradually worn away the precipice and in this way the falls have receded several miles during ages past. But with this point, we are not so much interested. It is the present grand spectacle before me that I shall attempt to speak of. Goat Island lies almost in the centre of the river, just above the falls—the eastern extremity dividing the mass of the water as it makes the mighty plunge into the seething, whirling abyss below. For some distance above, the commotion in the water is terrible to behold, as it leaps and rushes through the rocks and boulders to supply the ceaseless demand for more. This can be appreciated when we know that millions of tons pass over the precipice every moment. From the remotest part of the great lakes—a thousand miles further West—there is a perceptible movement of the waters towards this point. The shape of the falls is somewhat semicircular, being divided, as I have before mentioned, into two parts by Goat Island. The principal channel, through which the greater portion of water passes, is on the Western or Canada side, and is called the "Horse-shoe Fall," from its peculiar shape. The eastern or "American Fall" is much less in importance, but more picturesque. A foot bridge has been thrown across from the eastern side to Goat Island, only a short distance above the falls, and from it an admirable view of the thrilling scene is to be had. So great is the volume of water which passes over, and so powerful the force of the descent, it is scarcely broken until nearly half way down. It is quite a task to stand close to the verge and look into the awful abyss below, where the eddying whirlpool is almost hid beneath the clouds of vapor that ascend from the troubled waters. It is through this mist that the sun vainly endeavors to penetrate, and where his rays paint the seven colors of the rainbow. Stairways lead to the rocks beneath, down which you are taken by regular guides, and, if bold enough to make the venture, waterproof suits are furnished you with which to pass "within the veil." This means passing between the precipice and the falls of water, as the velocity with which it descends causes a vacuum between the rocks and water of sufficient width to admit of being explored for some distance. It is an awful pleasure, however, and one calculated to test the nerve of a man.

Independent of the great fall, the scenery in the immediate vicinity is exceedingly pleasing. What nature has not done art has accomplished, and there is no wonder why Niagara retains its popularity as a fashionable resort with so many and worthy competitors. Everything lying exposed is covered with letters and names engraved by visitors from all parts of the civilized world. Just now a great many are here, and the place wears a lively air. Like all other summer resorts, it has its nuisances in the form of avaricious and over attentive hackdrivers and time servers for "certain considerations." But these need not detract any from one's pleasure, for there are ample means to indulge in sight seeing. The hotels are elegant and well kept, and everything calculated to please and gratify the visitor. I am stopping at the Clifton House. The Hotel is situated directly in front of the American and Great Horse Shoe Falls. Here I can see the sights without the aid of guides or carriages.

Yours fraternally,
THEODORE N. RAMSAY.

NIAGARA FALLS, Aug. 6th, '75.

For the Advocate.

Local Ministers Conference for 1875.

The Conference met in the Methodist Church at Kinston on the 15th of July. Brother James Wilson, the pastor of the church at Kinston, had taken all proper care to have the members of the Conference provided for. The exercises were opened by preaching on Thursday night

Owing to the sickness of P. H. Joyner, president, R. L. Abernethy, 1st vice president, presided over the deliberations of the Conference, L. Branson acting as Secretary.

The attendance was small owing to a variety of causes, some of which ought not to exist, yet enough were present to transact all the important business of the session.

The object of the Local Conference has never been to compel the regular attendance in person of all the members however old, afflicted and destitute their condition; but it has always been desirable to bring out, as much as possible, the younger and more active men, and to arouse all, young and old, to a greater degree of labor and usefulness.

The Conference has never failed to have faithful and warm preaching during its sessions, which have been held regularly for the last six years at different towns in the State.

The lay membership has everywhere received the Conference cordially, and Kinston is hardly behind any others in courtesy and cordiality.

Bro. James Wilson and Bro. N. H. Hooker were the only traveling ministers present at this session, and the Conference will not soon forget their kindness.

Brothers R. L. Abernethy, Miles P. Owen, J. B. Ballard and L. Branson preached morning and night to attentive congregations.

Bro. E. A. Wilson, resident local minister, attended the services and rendered valuable assistance.

The communion service on Sabbath afternoon was one of great comfort to those participating.

The annual reports from members show increasing interest, and a steady increase in missionary labor—the great work of local ministers.

The following reports of committees will be found of general interest.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION.

The committee appointed on the subject of education would submit the following report:

That the members of this Conference realize the vast importance of a thorough system of education, comprehending, at least, the formation of intellectual and Christian character for the children of our State. We would press this duty upon ourselves, as ministers of Christ and friends of the rising generation, to use all our influence to secure eminent usefulness, and future happiness for those who may rise up after our departure to labor in the good cause of Methodism. We are pleased to know that the church of our choice in this State is striving most earnestly and successfully in educating both the head and the heart, thus fitting our youth not only for a prominent and honorable membership in society, but for the higher and holier end of life.—While parents have so great interests at stake, and feel so deep a solicitude and weighty responsibility to best provide for the temporal and spiritual welfare of their children, we would point them to our institutions of learning. We would refer them with great satisfaction to Trinity College for males, and Greensboro and Davenport for the daughters of our own and other States. These Colleges, under the patronage of the N. C. Conference, we would most cheerfully recommend to all people. In this great and good work, we may also class Rutherford College, under the direction of Rev. R. L. Abernethy. This institution, with an ample course of studies and a system of thorough instruction offers the advantages of education at cheap rates, not only to those who have means to pay, but to indigent orphans, and the children of ministers of every Christian denomination, free of charge. We take pleasure also in commending this worthy College to the consideration of our brethren. It turns off none for want of means. In this connection, it affords us great pleasure to state that other worthy local ministers are earnestly engaged in primary and high schools and academies in our State, doing a noble and lasting work for the church and the world.

GEO. W. NEAL.
E. A. WILSON.
MILES P. OWEN.

Your committee on Temperance beg leave to report as follows:

The various Temperance organizations of the State have accomplished a vast amount of good; and we are happy to know that Local Ministers have generally been among the most active laborers in this great field of usefulness.

One of our number, R. H. Whitaker, aided by his wife, has for ten years published, largely at his own cost, The Friend of Temperance, which we believe has accomplished untold good in fighting down the fell destroyer of men. R. L. Abernethy succeeds in enlisting all his students in the temperance work. The Spirit of the Age is a spirited Temperance organ. The cause of total abstinence moves forward nobly, and as a Conference we hail with joy the glorious prospect before us.

We suggest that Local ministers everywhere may accomplish great good by identifying themselves with this noble cause—which we believe to be a true handmaid of religion.

MILES P. OWEN.
L. BRANSON.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MEMOIRS.

DEAR BRETHREN: Your Committee on Memoirs beg leave to report, so far as we are able from the amount of information before us. We have only been informed of two deaths in the local ranks of our Conference during the past year. W. H Cunninggim, Sr., of Greene co., and Henry Asbury, of Lincoln co. We would put on record something as a tribute to their blessed memory.

REV. W. H. CUNNINGGIM, SR.

Bro. Cunninggim was born in Greene co. on the 6th of Aug. 1804 and died at his home surrounded by nearly all of his children and many of his grand children, on the 22d of Sep. 1874—something over "three score years and ten." For about 35 years the best half of his life, he labored as a Local minister. As a steward, as a class leader, trustee of church property, as a visitor of the sick, as a leader of family devotion, as a minister preaching in the destitute places, burying the dead, and aiding the triarants on all possible occasions, he has left us an example worthy of our highest emulation. He gave two sons to the ministry, and like Abraham commanded his children and grand children in the ways of the Lord. He supported himself and family bountifully, and found ample time to preach the everlasting gospel to thousands yet living; he lived truly a patriarch in Israel, and died in sight of the pearly gates. Few, if any, have left to the world a brighter example of earnest, heart-felt religion. Everlasting blessings on his memory!

HENRY ASBURY.

Bro. Asbury was born, lived and died in Lincoln county; he was a descendant of Bishop Asbury, and preached as a local minister about half a century; was faithful, very earnest, laborious, and successful in calling sinners to repentance. Many years ago he had a premonition of the manner of his death, which was fulfilled last year. He was quite old, yet still laborious as a minister. During last year he was sadly burned and died suddenly—ripe however for the glory land.

L. BRANSON,
GEO. W. NEAL, } Com.
S. POOL,

The following resolutions were passed unanimously by the Conference:

Resolved, That we cordially and sincerely invite all ministers of the itinerant work to meet with the Local Conference each year as it is our most earnest desire to co operate in every desirable way with the regular pastors in the advancement of Methodism throughout the State.

Resolved, That it is the interest, as well as the study of all local ministers, to attend as often as possible the annual meetings of the Local Conference.

Resolved, That we do invite all laymen of large and christian spirit to attend our Conferences and aid us by their counsel and co-operation

Resolved, That we do tender to Bro. James Wilson our warmest sympathy for his very cordial and christian attention to this Conference, during our stay in Kinston.

Resolved, That we have ever had the highest confidence in our Raleigh Christian Advocate and its editors.

Resolved, That we do adopt the Raleigh Christian Advocate as the organ of this Conference.

Resolved, That we will use every proper effort to extend its circulation

Resolved, That the next meeting of this Conference be held at Rutherford College, commencing the 3d Thursday (17th day) in Aug. 1876.

OFFICERS FOR THE ENSUING YEAR.

R. L. Abernethy, President.
Geo. W. Neal, 1st Vice Pres.
S. D. Franklin, 2d " "
I. A. Reagan, 3d " "
L. Branson, Financial Sec.

Resolutions were passed complimentary to the Rail Roads, to the citizens of Kinston, and to the presiding officers.

The Conference, after a pleasant session, adjourned with the benediction.

R. L. ABERNETHY, Pres.
L. BRANSON, Sec.

For the Advocate.

Salisbury District Conference.

The Salisbury District Conference met at Mt. Airy July 29th 1875, Rev D. R. Bruton in the chair. W. C Willson was elected Secretary. After the call of circuits and stations, to which quite a creditable number of delegates answered, business was at once commenced by calling for reports on Church property, condition of buildings, parsonages &c. In these reports were brought out facts greatly encouraging. While the disgraceful condition of many places of worship passed in review, the increasing energy, and zim thrown into church building and improvements generally, together with the marked success, was truly refreshing.

SPIRITUAL CONDITION.

In Salisbury station alone we received definite statistics on this head which stands as follows: Devotedly pious 40—Respectably, 64 and nominally, 27.—In some of the charges the spiritual condition was reported good, others fair average, but in all hopeful and encouraging One sad feature, however, was the general neglect of family worship. The Conference passed a resolution pledging themselves to keep up their family altars and endeavor to induce others to do the same.

FINANCIAL REPORTS.

These were also encouraging especially considering the financial condition of the people. The church appears to be more alive to the duty and necessity of a liberal support of its ministry. It was ascertained that a larger part of the salaries had been paid than was paid up to the time last year. The following report of a committee of last year, composed of laymen, was readopted and requested that the Advocate publish it and the pastors in the District read it to their charges

WHEREAS: In our opinion the efficiency of our ministry has been impaired by their financial embarrassments, and

WHEREAS: We believe no church can prosper whose finances languish, and

WHEREAS: We are fully assured that the tendencies of this age are to Ritualism, Materialism, Scepticism and Worldliness, that there is an absolute necessity that all our ministers give themselves continually to prayer and the ministry of the word, therefore be it

Resolved 1st, That it shall hereafter be the policy of the Salisbury District to give to all her ministers an ample support.

2nd, That we pledge ourselves to spare no effort to raise as speedily as possible the entire assessments in all the charges.

3rd. That it is the duty of every Steward to do his proportionate part of the actual work of collecting funds, and that, in our opinion, every Steward who is unwilling to do so, should forewith resign his position.

4th, That we regard it as the imperative duty of every individual member of our church, unless he be an object of charity, to pay weekly, monthly or quarterly a sum which shall approximate, as nearly as possible, one tenth of his gross income.

SABBATH SCHOOLS.

In most of the Districts this interest is growing and the attention which is being given to it will tell for good on the church. The circulation of our literature for this department is on the increase, but is yet for short of what it should be.

EDUCATION.

Under this head, inquiry was made as to how the Free Schools were attended, academies and which in some cases showed a lively and in others little interest in the subject of education. Our District Conference School for boys and young men located at Jonesville Yadkin Co. under care of Rev. T. S. Whittington, is succeeding very well, and steps were taken looking to the establishment of a Female school at the same place.

Resolutions were passed recommending Trinity, Greensboro, and Davenport, and our Educational mass meeting held according to appointment on Saturday at 11 o'clock. Bros. Sharpe and Cunninggim made effective speeches. I think about $700,00 were raised, $500,00 going to Greensboro.

MISSIONS.

It was found that the church in the District was taking greater interest in this cause, and in all the charges except two and one of them a mission would raise their assessment.

Resolutions were passed asking the establishing of a new mission in Alexander Co., also establishing Blue Ridge mission. Under this, the following preamble and resolutions were introduced and passed:

WHEREAS: We learn that in China there are two native preachers in our Church, one employed by the Presbyterian church and the other not employed for want of funds.

And further: We learn that for the sum of $150,00 each, annually, these men can be constantly employed in preaching the gospel to the Chinese in their native tongue; and that these Missionaries will report regularly to the parties furnishing the funds, therefore Resolved 1st, That this District Conference will raise $150,00 ontside of the regular missionary collection for the purpose of employing one of these men; and on the following plan: That this amount be raised whenever the Conference may be held, which shall be outside of the regular assessment for missions on the District, and paid to the President of this Conference and by him to the Treasurer of the Missionary Board at Nashville by the 1st of Oct. each year.

2nd, That the Missionary be requested to report regularly to the "President of the Salisbury District Conference."

3rd, That Saturday night of the Conference be set apart for a Missionary meeting in the interest of this Missionary. W. C. WILLSON.

At night we held our first meeting under this action, and it was indeed a delightful one crowned with success. We regret that we could not have the Senior Editor of the Advocate to make the address but in his absence on duty elsewhere, the President detailed Rev. M. L. Wood, who gave us a capital address laid on an eternal foundation.

Everybody seemed interested in the plan and when the money was called the amount in cash and subscriptions was raised without difficulty in a few minutes.

After the conclusion of the subject of missions, resolutions on circulating our church literature were passed.

After business was completed a vote of thanks was given with a hearty good will to the people of the town and country for their splendid hospitality. As far as I can learn the people were pleased with the Conference and good accomplished by its session here.

I feel sure I can say the Conference was delighted with the people, and bid them farewell, praying the blessing of God upon them.

I do not think it comes within the scope of an article of this kind to give the text and sketches of the sermons preached—I will only say the effort on the part of the preachers was to save men The choir gave us splendid music; it would have done, sirs, in Raleigh or Wilmington.

Next Conference at Mocksville
W. C. WILLSON Sec'y.

Ferns.

BY EDGAR FAWCETT.

If trees are Nature's thoughts or dreams,
And witness how her great heart yearns,
Then she has only shown, it seems,
The softest fantasies in ferns!

Those low, green boughs—what shapely grace,
What wavy, lissome charm they wear!
Delicate, supple, frail as lace,
And pliant to each passing air!

Though sweet to see when, there or here,
Along some common meadowed way,
The throng in feathery jungles near
Some stolid bowlder's bulk of gray.

Yet, ah! no light their spray so serves
As when, where clustering branchies cross,
I meet its shadowy, silvered curves
On spaces of dark, moonlit moss!

For here quick Fancy finds a bower
Where she can watch, in pictured wise,
At Oberon squeeze the fatal flower
In poor Titania's drowsing eyes!

And nimble fay and pranksome elf
Flash vaguely past at every turn,
Or weird and wee, sits Puck himself,
With legs akimbo, on a fern!

ATLANTIC MONTHLY.

A VALUABLE SECRET.—It is related of Franklin that from the window of his office in Philadelphia he noticed a mechanic, among a number of others, at work on a house which was being erected close by, who always appeared to be in a merry humor, and who had a kind and cheerful smile for every one he met. Let the day be ever so cold, gloomy or sunless, the happy smile danced like a sunbeam on his cheerfull countenance Meeting him one day, Franklin requested to know the secret of his constant happy flow of spirit. "It's no secret, doctor," the man replied. "I've got one of the best of wives, and when I go to work she always gives me a kind work of encouragement and a blessing with her parting kiss; and when I go home she is sure to meet me with a smile and a kiss of welcome; and then tea is sure to be ready; and as we chat in the evening I find she has been doing so many little things through the day to please me that I cannot find it in my heart to speak an unkind word or give an unkind look to anybody." And Franklin adds: "What an influence then, hath woman over the heart of man, to soften it, and make it the fountain of cheerful and pure emotions. Speak gently, then; a happy smile and a kind word of greeting after the toils of the day are over cost nothing, and go far toward making a home happy and peaceful."

Straws on a Balmy Breeze.

WE have a strong belief that the missionary spirit of the Church is rising, and there are, indeed, strong and urgent reasons why the tide should roll in deep and high. A letter from Brother Daves in Mexico is full of regret that we are not able to do more for that opening field. He greatly fears that the appropriation made will render some of the most important interests under his care almost abortive. Of the school he says: "I must confess to great astonishment that not one cent was appropriated to our school. It was the grand success of all Mission-work in Mexico. I carried it on from June, 1874, to February, 1875, at an expense of about $115 per month; had a daily average attendance of about 125 boys and girls. I shall take the liberty of opening again, anyhow, as soon as I can finish my school room." Brave purpose this of our Brother Daves. May God put it in our hearts to sustain him. Who will help Brother Daves's school? Send us your names and money. But it was not of wants, but of supplies, we purposed to speak when our pencil traced the heading to this article:

RESPONSES TO PROPOSITIONS.

To the proposition of the Rev. J. T. Curry, since last report, we have the following note:

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., July 11, 1875.

DR A. H. REDFORD, Treasurer:—In response to a letter from J. T. Curry, I agree to be one of the hundred to send one missionary to Brazil I make the pledge for three years. I can't preach, but I can work. I am willing to help the work on.

S. B. WHITE, JR.

To the layman's proposition, made at the Nashville District Conference, to be one of one hundred to pay $5 each to pay the expenses of the Rev. J. J. Ransom a preacher in the same District, who has been appointed by Bishop Keener to Brazil, there are now reported 36 responses. All of this to be above the assessments of the Churches

D. C. KELLEY.

Fidelity to the Truth.

Few appreciate the difficulties attending the dilligent pursuit and faithful defense of truth. "To pursue truth with earnest, unflagging zeal; to follow the light of evidence to the most unwelcome conclusions; to emancipate the mind from early prejudices; to resist the current of the desires and the refracting influence of the passions, to proportion, on all occasions, conviction to evidence, and be ready, if need be, to exchange the calm of assurance for all the suffering of a perplexed and disturbed mind, require more than ordinary courage, perseverance and fidelity to one's convictions."

"God offers to every man his choice," says Mr. Emerson, "between truth and repose; take which you will, you cannot have both." The life of the earnest, honest seeker and champion of truth is always one of toil, and is attended with many and great disabilities on account of the opposition of established opinions. The mass of men look with suspicion on any divergence from prevailing ideas and customs. Even learned men are jealous of innovations. "There is," says Dr. Whately, "a strong presumption that the learned will regard with jealousy any one who professes to bring to light something unknown to themselves, and especially if it supersede anything which they have been accustomed to teach." There is always a premium upon conformity, and a bribe against inquiry and dissent. "What the world wants is not honesty but acquiescence." And silence which is usually taken for acquiescence is often the price of worldly success. To have the courage of one's opinions, to dare to utter one's first and deepest convictions, frequently involves poverty and disgrace.

It is not that men have a natural aversion to truth, or preference for falsehood. On the contrary they have an inherent love and thirst for truth, even after they have forsaken the fountains of it. They acknowledge its excellence, and prefer it in their hearts, even while they are giving their allegiance to that which is false. But motives of mistaken policy of self-interest conspire with the prejudice of education and the proverbial conservatism of ignorance to keep men in an attitude of antagonism to their own best thoughts, and prevent the publication of the best results of patient investigation. Many a seeker for truth has been compelled to pursue his researches in private, and hold an esoteric faith which he dared not promulgate. Persecution, ostracism and frequently death, have followed the publication of views at variance with established opinions.

Another hindrance of the spread of truth, is the love of ease, an aversion to intellectual effort. The masses prefer almost any other kind of labor. Mr. Bagehot says, "One of the greatest pains to human nature is the pain of a new idea." To avoid mental exertion men delegate their thinking to others, and then stand guard to keep the thinkers in the beaten paths.

But the greatest obstacle to truth is the vices of men. Sin loves to entrench itself in ignorance. "Men love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil. For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light lest his deeds should be reproved." Hence it is, that in all time the faithful preacher of the truth has met with bitter resistance and hatred and persecution. Christ would not have been crucified if he had not opposed the prevailing vices. It was for daring to denounce the Jewish Sanhedrim as the "betrayers and murderers of the Just One" that Stephen suffered martyrdom. It was for boldly declaring in the presence of a Roman tribunal "I am a Christian" that Polycarp was led to stake. It was for openly avowing his allegiance to the truth "as it is in Jesus" that Cyprian was beheaded. And Luther was persecuted because he dared to stand for the truth against the corruptions of the Vatican.

To stand alone by one's convictions of duty, against the popular tide, and faithfully declare the truth at the loss of wealth, friends and life itself, is the highest test of fidelity to the truth, and one which requires the greatest moral heroism.—N. Y. Methodist.

VARIETIES.

Why is a solar eclipse like a woman whipping her boy? Because it's a hiding of the sun.

What is the difference between the North and South Pole. All the difference in the world.

Why have chickens no hereafter.—Because they have their necks twirled (next world) in this.

When will there be only twenty five letters in the alphabet? When you and I are made one.

The newspapers state that a well-known banker of Paris has absconded, leaving a deficit behind. Mrs. Partington thinks that it was very good of the poor man to leave it, when he might have got off clear with everything.

Little Alice was crying bitterly, and, on being questioned, confessed to having received a slap from one of her playfellows. "You should have returned it," unwisely said the questioner. "Oh, I returned it before," said the little girl.

A child, when told that God is everywhere, asked, "In this room?"—"Yes." "In the closet?" "Yes." "In the drawers of my desk?" "Yes, everywhere. He's in your pocket now." "No, he ain't, though." "And why not?" "Tanth I ain't dot no pottet."

RECENTLY in a Yorkshire town a farmer's wife was assaulted by her husband in a field where was a cow that the woman had greatly petted. On seeing the man beating his wife, tearing her hair and clothes, and otherwise maltreating her, the cow came charging up the field, and attacked the man with such ferocity that he was glad to retreat summarily. The cow then took up a defensive position by the woman's side, and stood perfectly still while the latter struggled to her feet and supported herself by leaning against its flank until she was sufficiently recovered to take refuge from her husband in flight.

A WRITER on agriculture has been collecting certain data in regard to fruit culture, and gives the total market value of the crop of the entire country at $47,000,000. New York leads all the States in amount, with $7,000,000. California's figures are largest in proportion, being $6.000,000, this sum probably including the yield from vineyards. The total sum for the New England States is but at $6,000,000, the individual States not being itemized. In commenting on these figures the San Francisco Bulletin, which already claims that California is the leading wheat growing State, thinks that it will speedily stand in the front as the greatest producer of fruit, and holds that the fruit business is but in its infancy.

THE degeneration of the Manchester factory children is attributed by Dr. FERGUSSON to the fact that, instead of being brought up on milk, as formerly, they are now reared on tea and coffee from the time they are weaned, which they imbibe not only in the morning, but often three times a day. Mr. FERGUSSON has found that when fed on milk twice a day, feeble children between thirteen and fifteen years of age grow nearly four times as fast as children fed on tea or coffee, whose growth between the years mentioned does not exceed four pounds a year, whereas the children fed on milk night and morning grow fifteen pounds a year. At least one half of the boys in the mills, from twelve to twenty years of age, either smoke or chew tobacco, or both. This operates prejudicially on their growth.

PRAISING THE PREACHING.—At the last General Assembly the Rev. Dr. Allen, of Philadelphia, told a good story on himself in his speech about the freedmen. He was preaching one day away down in Tennessee, when an old African brother, of the Methodist persuasion, came to him after the sermon, and said: "I like to hear you preach, for I understand your preaching." Dr. Allen replied, "I am glad of it." "I hope so," said the doctor, "for I try to make myself understood." Again the old man came to the charge. "Yes," he said, "I understand you jes' as well as if you was a nigger." Dr. Allen thought it a rare compliment.

A CERTAIN eminent lawyer is celebrated at the bar for the following mode of examining a witness: "Now pray listen to the question I am going to ask you. Be attentive; remember, you will answer as you please; and remember, I don't care a rush what you answer," etc. One of the judges, somewhat tired of the monotony of his exordiums, one day accosted him in the street: "Ha, is that you,——" Now pray listen to the question I am going to ask you. Be attentive; remember, you will answer as you please; and remember, I don't care a rush what you answer,—How are you?"

The St. Louis and California Advocates are joking about the relative weights of the two bishops, Kavanaugh and Peck, both assigned to California this year. St. Louis thinks there is a good deal of episcopal weight over there. California responds that the little Southern episcopos of two hundred and fifty pounds is not to be spoken of in comparison with the Peck-ian ponderousness over on the heavy side of three hundred and not yet done growing.

We learn that out of sixty-four rectors in the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Maryland, it is found that the salaries of thirty-five were below a thousand dollars a year, some receive $500, and some as low as $200.

The amount of receipts reported for the past year by the various religious societies of Great Britain, at the anniversaries held in May last, was over eight and a half millions of dollars.

REMEDY FOR SMUT IN WHEAT.—A farmer in Ireland, whose wheat was much affected by smut, succeeded in remedying this evil by adopting a simple preventive which he learned had been practiced successfully in Flanders for many years. The remedy is a steep composed of sixty pounds of quick lime and thirty pounds of salt made into a solution sufficient to cover six hundred pounds of wheat.

In order to test this remedy he procured the worst smutted wheat he could find, and after steeping for different periods he sowed one hundred and twelve pounds, divided into four equal parts, on equal portions of land:

No. 1, merely steeped so as to cleanse it.

No. 2, steeped in the solution twelve hours.

No. 3, steeped twenty-four hours.

No. 4, steeped forty-eight hours.

At reaping-time No. 1 was dreadfully black. No. 2 had a good deal of black in it. No. 3 none at all. Nos. 3 and 4 swelled very much, but did not burst. No. 2 swelled also, but not so much. Seeing that No. 3, which was steeped for twenty-four hours, succeeded as well as No. 4, he has practiced steeping for twenty-four hours, and has continued to do so with perfect success for thirty-two years. He has not had the slightest appearance of smut in his wheat since he commenced using this remedy. After taking the wheat out of the steep he lets it lie in a heap to drain. In broken weather he has kept it after being steeped for ten days, turning it every day, without any bad results.—Southern Cultivator.

BUDDING PECANS UPON THE HICKORY.—A writer to the American Agriculturist from Florida relates the following as his experience on the subject:

"About a year ago I budded a pecan into a vigorous hickory sprout of the same season's growth. The bud remained dormant until the following spring, when the sprout was cut back to the bud. A shoot grew from the bud last summer, which measured nearly ten feet. This shoot has also thrown out seven laterals, measuring from two to four feet each. Last winter I cut down a number of my hickories, some of them measuring nearly a foot through, and this summer have budded the sprouts from them with the pecan. I use annular budding—i. e., a ring of bark with a bud upon it, put in place of a similar ring removed from the stock. It is very seldom a bud fails to take, and the few failures I had were occasioned by a small grub, which works between the bud and the stock, which can be prevented by the application of grafting-wax."

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, R. P. Gray, Esq. } Editors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
IN MONTHS, " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., AUGUST 25, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Business Morals.

There are men who have two sets of morals—one for Sunday and the other for every day use—one for the church and the other for the counting room—one for show and the other for use which they don and doff with as much regularity and as little concern as they change their clothes for Sunday and every day wear. In the family they are regular at prayer and stern in the enforcement of high moral rules and maxims;—in the church they are models of propriety and religious devotion;—in theory they are honest, in talk correct, in appearance and, perhaps, in their own esteem, wanting in nothing that is straightforward, magnanimous and good. But in actual dealing with their fellows, there is a boundary line marked between theory and practice, and the principles which they preach are put aside as hindrances to their success in business. Behind the counter they ignore the claims which otherwheres they recognize that truth has upon them, and forget that it takes as much religion to measure a yard of calico rightly, as it does to preach a sermon. In the office, in the shop, in the market, before a jury,—everywhere—we see men violating truth, shirking bold honesty, taking advantage of the ignorance and inexperience of others, infringing upon rights, because they have the power to do so, and yet retaining their own good opinion of their integrity and purity.

Selfishness and greed of gain are like prisms which, when men look through them, refract and discolor the rays of light which fall upon principles and acts. From a disinterested stand point, one will condemn motives from which he himself would act, or denounce conduct of which he himself would be guilty, if his self-interest were involved. Most people can preach morality fluently and well, but its practice everywhere, and under all circumstances, distinguishes few.

We need men who in the busy mart of trade will observe the honest dealing that their better natures suggest; who will give the full measure when they sell that they exact when they buy; who will act honestly in both small and large transactions—and as they would if they knew the eyes of Society and the officers of the law were resting their gaze upon them. Jas. Fisk, Jr. said that his father who was a pedlar, would not tell a lie for a shilling but would at any time tell six for a dollar. We want no Fisks, but men who will tell no falsehoods to turn a penny or make a million.

A Timely Resolve.

If there is one worldly amusement which the Methodist church considers 'sinful,' and upon which it has set the seal of its condemnation throughout its whole history, that amusement is Dancing. The teachings of our church law, the rulings of our Bishops and the opinions of our godly men have been pronouncedly against it. Of late years many nominal Methodoists have indulged in the amusement, excusing themselves on the ground that there is no specific prohibition of dancing in our Discipline, and that their consciences do not upbraid them for such indulgences. These are flimsy excuses, but not reasons. There are many sins which are not enumerated specifically in the Discipline, which nevertheless, the Bible, the Church and all christians condemn. And conscience may be so abused and stifled, that its remonstrating voice cannot be heard:

At the late session of the Charlotte District Conference, a timely action was taken on this subject and the opinion of the ministers and laymen expressed in no uncertain words. The following resolutions introduced by Rev. Bros. Sherrill and Culbreth were unanimously adopted.

Whereas there is a growing disposition in many places among many of our young people to engage in worldly amusements, especially the fashionable but pernicious sin of modern dancing; and whereas these sinful practices are often not only connived at, but countenanced and encouraged by older members of the church.

Therefore, Resolved, That we do most emphatically denounce all such worldly amusements as violations of the principles of our holy religion, of the rule of our church on "taking such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus," and as being clearly included in St. Paul's enumeration of the works of the flesh.

Resolved, That our preachers be requested to read occasionally that part of the address of our Bishops, published in our discipline, touching on worldly amusements.

We have communications from Rev. Bros. Shackford, D. May, L. L. Nash and others which will appear in due time.

Charlotte District Conference

[Editorial Correspondence.]

The heads of the editors of the Advocate came together, week before last, and the plan of "editorial visitation" was determined upon,—the Senior taking Greensboro' and the Junior, Charlotte District. The latter, when he thought of the incessant rains, muddy roads and a weary drive concluded that his "lines had fallen" in any thing but "pleasant places," but when he went and saw what the Charlotte District Conference was, he chuckled with satisfaction over his good fortune. He does not disparage Greensboro District, for that would be traitorous to his old home—his first love—his fondest memories which hang around that District in clusters as large, and sweet and fragrant as the luscious grapes of Eschol. He loves and appreciates Greensboro District where the sainted Doub and Reid and Barringer traveled and preached and worked; but as he had never mingled with the people of the Charlotte District and is fond of "new discoveries" in sections and friendships, he will be excused for saying that he considered his the "best end of the bargain."

From Raleigh on the cumbrous freight to Greensboro, thence by a close-connecting train to Winston, the foremost town in the State for "grand possibilities" which are being rapidly developed: there, for a day, among warm hearts, thence again to Greensboro' and thence to Concord—gives the first and second stages of a trip that will be long and pleasantly remembered. A few hours were spent with our valued friend, Geo. B. Everitt Esq., who is as faithful to old friendships as he is fond of a laugh, and who, I learned, has gained the esteem of the people of Concord as a gentleman, and their confidence as a lawyer. A night of refreshing sleep was spent at the hotel of "mine host" Blair. The sleep was refreshing, non obstante, a sore eye which troubled and annoyed the waking hours. (I bethought me in my suffering that Paul's "thorn in the flesh" was a sore eye. Whatever it was, it was a great grievance—a serious annoyance;—that, in figurative English, is an eye-sore—and an eye sore must be a sore eye. Quod erat demonstrandum. I doubt, however, whether my logic will be approved by the new professor of Philosophy at Chapel Hill.)

On Thursday morning I was disappointed in not having my new-found friend and staunch Methodist, C. G. Montgomery, Esq., as a compagnon du voyage to Stanly county, but found an excellent substitute in another new friend and equally staunch Methodist, Walter J. Boylin, Esq., Editor of that first-class paper, the Concord Register. With him the journey was pleasant and he will be long remembered as a genial companion and cherished friend. Rev. M. C. Thomas, behind a good roadster, traveled in our van, and enlivened the trip by tossing back to us classic allusions and humorous anecdotes and refreshed us at midday with a wisely prepared and much enjoyed luncheon.

The ways of the people of Cabarrus and Stanly are good and commendable but their highways are horrible. Over hills, through mud and swollen streams, we reached Centre Church and were assigned by the pastor, Rev. T. P. Ricaud, to the home of Mr. Thos. Colson, for entertainment.—We had it of the most hospitable and elegant kind.

If Mr. Colson and his excellent lady live as long as their hospitality is great, and preserve their present prosperity and temperaments, great happiness and usefulness lie in store for them.

We were quartered with Rev. B. B. Culbreth, Drs. H. W. Robinson and J. M Dunlap and H. A. Crawford Esq. of Anson, and a dozen others. With such a home and such fellow guests we could not but be happy.

Carried along in this rambling way, currente calamo, I have said nothing of the Conference. It met at Centre Church, which is at Norwood, Stanly County about four miles from the confluence of Pee Dee and Rocky Rivers a section unsurpassed by any other for fertility of soil, honesty and intelligence of its people and devotion to Methodism. I was greatly surprised at the character of the county and its population. I had heard that it was "some distance from no where"—a dark unillumined corner. But, as intimated above, I found the soil rich, the people well-to-do in the world, intelligent, refined and warm hearted. Montgomery and Anson counties border on the two rivers mentioned, and their people, at least those I met, are of the same estimable character. I have never met a more sincere hole souled people—a people among whom there are fewer corrupting influences at work—a people who make better citizens of a State. (The Advocate has an extensive circulation in that section—a fact which our vanity suggests as one secret of the worthiness of the people.)

The attendance of ministers and lay delegates was very good, notwithstanding the protracted rains which had fallen. Those ministers who were not present had good reasons for their non attendance. The church building is commodious and comfortable, but unpretending, and was well filled at all sessions of the Conference and at every service held therein. In anticipation of the large numbers that were expected to be present, the good people of the circuit, had erected a new and large arbor, strong and substantial, well covered and furnished with pulpit and seats capable of accomodating more than 2000 people. On Saturday and Sunday, despite the rain, the attendance was very large and the behaviour of the people on the grounds most orderly and commendable.

There was nothing done beyond organization of the Conference on the first day. Rev. J. S Nelson, the beloved and estimable Presiding Elder, presided, and Rev. T. P. Ricaud was elected Secretary, with Dr. H. W. Robinson, as assistant In the absence of Rev. C. M. Pepper, whose health is feeble, the opening sermon was preached by Rev. P. Greening. The business of the Conference was rapidly, but effectually despatched, and the reports evinced an encouraging spiritual and financial condition of the various charges on the District Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, agent of Greensboro Female College, was present and charmed all by his preaching and address in behalf of the College. The new plan for the settlement of the College debt met with favor. Between seven and eight hundred dollars were pledged, and the remainder of the assessment, I was told, can be easily raised on the District.

The writer was introduced to the Conference and was 'heard for his cause'—which was the Advocate.

The greeting he received was cordial and the responses to his appeals were highly encouraging. He "shook hands" with nearly all the Advocate's subscribers who were present during the four days, and with many who were not subscribers before, but are now.

The religious feature of the Conference was kept prominently before the people in all the deliberations and the preaching was of an evangelical, heart-searching character. The Word was administered by Rev. Bros. Gunn, Cunninggim, Greening, Brent, Edwards, Culbreth and Lee The meeting was continued after Sunday with a cheering prospect of a great revival. On Sunday night there were more than 30 penitents. On Sunday morning at 8½ o'clock, a Methodist love-feast was held, conducted by our good brother, Rev. A. D. Betts. It was a season of "refreshing from the presence of the Lord.

The next Conference will be held at Concord. The following brethren were elected delegates to the Annual Conference: Rev. I. Shaver, G. D. Wolfe, F. A. Clarke and M. Dove, with Dr. H. W. Robinson and J. B. Squiers, as alternates.

The pastor in charge, Rev. T. P. Ricaud, was working and making himself pleasant every where and at all times. He is a good pastor of a good people and when the time comes for a severance of his relations with his charge, there will be sadness on the part of both. The people at and near Centre abound in hospitality and entertained the ministers and laymen nobly and well All visitors were highly pleased and if another Conference is ever held at Centre, they will be apt to go again and take their friends. At any rate, the writer now speaks in advance for the privilege of going thither again and renewing the many pleasant acquaintances which he made while there.

A glorious future awaits Methodism in that section and with a heart full of grateful remembrances and high hopes of the county we cry "on, Stanly, on!"

R. T. G.

Mrs. Julia E. McCallum, wife of Dr. J. M. McCallum, late of Canada West, died in this city on the 12th inst, age 33 years Her funeral was preached by the Senior Editor of the Advocate.

It is sad to announce the death of so estimable a lady and friend. But the sadness is relieved in great measure by the reflection that she passed away full of faith in Christ and relying, upon his promises.

Mrs. McCallum was taken very ill during the services at the dedication of Person Street Church in June, and sank slowly until her death. Before dying she called her friends around her and spoke of the world to which she was going, exhorting them to a holy life and to meet her in Heaven. Her talk with her little daughter was affecting and beautiful in its motherly tenderness and fervent piety. Those who witnessed her death say they have never seen so beautiful an exhibition of Christian faith—so calm a spirit—so peaceful a passing away from Earth to Heaven. She leaves a devoted husband and daughter and aged parents to mourn her loss. In their affliction we extend to them our warmest sympathy and trust they will find consolation in the religion which their loved one embraced.

The Senior has been absent from the city for several days, having gone in company with his brother, Rev. W. H. Bobbitt, from Greensboro' Conference, on their annual visit to their aged parents.

During his sojourn in the West he united in marriage, Rev. W. M. Robey, President of Davenport Female College and Miss. Mollie Claywell, an accomplished lady, of Jonesville N. C.

We have a communication from Rev. W. M. Robey on "the Great Camp Meeting" recently held at Rocky Springs; N. C. and attended by Bro. Robey. It will appear next week. We regret that the crowded state of our columns will not permit its publication in this issue.

Renew your subscription to the ADVOCATE. Price $2.20 per annum in advance, postage paid.

Revival Intelligence.

Rev. B. U. Phillips writes from Jonesboro under date of Aug. 10th as follows:

MESSRS. EDITORS: On last Saturday I closed a protracted meeting at Morris Chapel which had continued one week. The results are most gratifying; seventeen professed faith in Christ—fourteen united with the church, and others will do so as soon as practicable. With very few exceptions the membership were greatly blessed and benefited. The interest was unusually deep and general; no one, that attended escaped, tho' many resisted, and grieved the Holy Spirit

One feature of the work seemed to surprise and delight us all;—This was the discovery that a work of grace had been going on silently for two years and we were there gathering up the results. This gave me a new idea touching revivals. The Sunday-school was largely represented. This is what may always be expected. The Lord was with us in great power. May He visit us more powerfully!

Rev. J. H. Guinn, writes from Wadesboro' as follows:

You may say to the lovers of Zion that the Lord has been reviving his work in this part of his vineyard. Bro. Nelson, our efficient P. E. held his third Quarterly Meeting, for the Wadesboro circuit, at Poplar Hill on the 17th and 18th ult. from which we protracted. Bro. Nelson after two days earnest and effectual labor left us, but Bros. Culbreth of the Wadesboro station and Hoyle of the Lilesville circuit came to our help; and by their fervent prayers, and able pulpit administration, added much to the success of the meeting. After ten days of delightful labor we closed the meeting, with forty-four conversions; and thirty accessions, with the prospect of several more.

Poplar Hill is a new church not quite completed, we have over fifty members, with a prospect of becoming equal to any appointment in this section. Leaving Poplar Hill Tuesday evening we stopped at home long enough to get a night's sleep and then hurried on to reenforce Bro. T. W. Kendall, a L P. of the Wadesboro circuit, whom we had sent to commence a meeting at Pleasant Hill. When we arrived we found him in the pulpit rightly dividing the word giving saint and sinner his portion in due season Upon inquiry we learned that there had been several conversions, and quite a number of penitents on hand. With the efficient help of Bro. Kendall we carried on the meeting for several days, which resulted in the conversion of twenty two souls all of whom have joined or will join ou church. The lay brethren rendered good service in both of the above meetings. Let the Lord be praised!

Bro. W. S. Turner, writes to us from Banks, Wake Co., under date of Aug. 19th as follows:

"We are in the midst of a glorious revival at Holland's Church. At this writing there have been four conversions, and fourteen penitents at the altar this evening, nearly all grown young men and women. Pray for us, and come and help us if you can. To God be all the glory!

Rev. R. S. Webb, writing to us from Alamance circuit, says:

"I commenced a meeting at Bethel on Alamance circuit ou the eighth of August, which lasted five days. The church was greatly revived. There was much rejoicing. Several were induced to take up their cross in public, who had hitherto declined, and some new family altars will date from this meeting. Seven professed conversion and two were added to the church.

There was a Sunday school celebration at Macedonia church on Saturday the 14th of August. A large crowd in attendance. A sumptuous dinner was served to the whole crowd. Entertaining addresses were delivered by Bro. Garrett of the Methodist Protestant Church, Bro. Curry of the Presbyterian and J. E. Thompson a student of Trinity College. Our Conference minutes do not make a fair exhibit of what is done in Sunday schools in this circuit. This county has so many denominations in it, some twelve or fourteen, that in many places we find it best to have union schools

There are over three hundred members of these union schools that meet in the houses where we worship."

Rev. T. P. Ricaud writing to the Junior, under date of Aug. 19th says:

"The revival is still progressing—4 bright conversions last night, and the altar crowded with mourners. Thus far 13 conversions, and 7 accessions. The chief beauty of this work is, that it embraces heads of families, and the elements of stability and usefulness.

Bros Edwards and Guinn, remained over until to day, and have been abundant in labors, as faithful men of God. The District Conference was a live one, and has made a gracious impression upon the minds and hearts of the people.

The zeal and faithful preaching of the ministers, is the subject of general commendation. It has advanced Methodism 100 per cent in this country.

Bro. Cunninggim's visit was opportune and wholesome, and the people say his address was the rarest combination of the money and religious elements, in a begging speech, they ever heard, in all their lives. They hold him in grateful remembrance.

The people, who entertained the delegates and ministers, are daily discussing their merits; to hear them talk each had the cleverest and the best.

The interests of the Advocate were promoted by your presence and address before the Conference. The only regret is, that you were not a Licenciate, so that you could preach a little, and try the same experiment that Bro. Cunninggim succeeded in, viz: that of blending money and grace together!

The Lay Delegates elected are men of sound judgment, and will add very materially to the Conference interests. To God be all the praise!

Rev. L. J. Holden writing from Tolsnot, under date of August 14th says:

We held a meeting last week at Horne's Church and had a good time, resulting in several conversions.

We are now in a glorious work at Mount Zion Church, I believe the finest I have ever seen. We commenced Monday and have had rain nearly every day and still the people would go and God blessed us. We have had over thirty conversions. We can thank God for this week of prayer. May God still continue his work. Will write again next week.

At Mt Airy

MESSRS EDITORS: We are here yet, detained by sickness of my wife, who is now improving slowly. As I know several of the brethren, who took leave of me on my bed, while very sick, would like to know how it fared with me, I will drop a line to the Advocate. I was fortunate indeed in my lot falling as a home at Mr. Robt. Gilmer's, formerly of Guilford co. He is a leading citizen, merchant, farmer, and a stay of the Presbyterian Church of this place. We could have received no better or kinder attention any where than in this excellent family. In a physician, we fell into the hands of Dr. Wm. Hollingsworth, and old schoolmate that I did not know was living until called to my sick bed After several days I am able to ride out and look at the country which I find much better than I had supposed. Near this place just across the Ararat River is Hamburg owned by the Messrs Brower; it is but a nest of manufactory, mills, foundry, carding machine, cotton factory, shoe factory, planing machinery, and all run by water even to part of the shoe work.

Taking a ride, I visited the tobacco farm of Mr. John Brower. Now here I am reminded of the Eastern preacher who told in the mountains of one hundred thousand fish being caught at one time, but a native said "he could not believe it if a preacher did tell it."

Mr. Brower says he has 250 acres in tobacco. I stood on an eminence and looked over one hundred and fifty ons acres in one field, and could count twenty barns for curing. How is that for a patch? What a brilliant prospect for worms! Only think, of this field alone; it aught to have at a moderate estimate, 735 000 plants. Now if those should produce 10 worms each, and they should attain an average length of two inches it would make a string over 230 miles long of solid wormand then this is but little over half the crop of Mr. B.

But then I heard a talented preacher say on a prominent occasion, too, that "no worm died alone, that God was there to witness a struggle and bury it." I thought of the preacher and the worm struggles the sudden deaths untimely graves. and what volumes of worm history and tragedy this patch would furnish if it could be written! But I am rather inclined to think the tobacco worm dies mad, if the man spake the truth I heard say a few days ago, that he "had heard them grit their teeth after their heads were pulled off." I was informed by one of the hands that Gilliam's Fertilizer was put in the hills of all of it, although the land was just cleared. Some 30 or 40 hands were employed regularly in the cultivation of this crop besides a great many being employed occasionally. I find here a large amount of fine farming lands on the streams and was surprised at the large amount of corn and tobacco I saw growing.

In my ride I came by the Sulphur Springs, 4 miles from this place; the water is fine, but as to the buildings and accommodations, I shall say nothing as it is the business of the proprietors to advertise in the Advocate. I find this quite a pleasant town of four or five hundred people. Two churches, two newspapers, quite a number of stores, warehouses and tobacco factories.

We hope to be able to leave here in a few days for home I am informed that there is not a licensed grog-shop in Surry co.

W. C. WILLSON.

Mt. Airy N. C. Aug. 13th.

Rev. J. T. Gibbs, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. Church, in Wilmington, called to see us last week. He had been spending several weeks with his mother in Warren Co., since the death of his wife, and was returning to his charge.

We have a communication from "A Student," which we cannot publish for the reason that the name of the writer does not accompany it. We reiterate what we have so often said that we publish no article unless we know from whom it comes.

Cheaper Board in Colleges

MESSRS EDITORS: I congratulate the public, on the prospect of cheaper board in our Colleges. This is one step in the right direction. Most of people are not able, and none ought to be willing to pamper their sons and daughters and teach them to use useless and injurious self-indulgences, while at school.

Four or five dollars a month will buy everything a person ought to eat and drink. If you will give me 25 regular boarders, I can board them for $8.00 a month anywhere in N. C.

Board was always too high at Chapel Hill; it has been too high at Trinity some time. It started entirely too high at Greensboro, when the new College was opened.

My heart has been sick many a time in the last two years, when I thought of Greensboro.

I feel thankful that good sense or something else has turned the tide.—Greensboro and Trinity are $25.00 cheaper per session, than last year.

The Trustees at Chapel Hill promise that board shall be cheap there.

All right, Gentlemen, let board be cheaper at all our schools. And let Tuition be higher. Yes let Tuition be high. But be sure it is worth all it costs.

Yours &c.,
A. D. BETTS.

Ansonville Aug. 9th 1875.

MESSRS EDITORS: At a meeting held by the citizens of Chapel Hill, August 12th, to express their sense of the common loss in the death of the Hon. William A. Graham, after some appropriate remarks by Rev. A. W. Mangum, Mr. Jones Watson and Dr. Charles Phillips, portraying his many excellencies, the following resolutions were brought forward by the committee appointed, and unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That in this sad Providence we recognize a public calamity. The nation has lost a Statesman of world wide reputation—our state its foremost Legislator—our county its most prominent citizen. It is a loss not soon to be repaired. For many years William A. Graham has been the man whom North Carolina best delighted to honor—his death leaves her mourning her noblest son.

The cause of Education has lost in him one of its warmest and most able supporters, pure morality its bright est exemplar. Every public interest of importance and advantage to the State has been deprived of a friend and an ally. All classes mourn for him as for a common friend. "How is the strong staff broken and the beautiful rod." We shall endeavor to bow in submission to that Decree that has taken from us our head, but we will cherish his memory as a precious possession, and hand down to our children the story of his worth—his large hearted patriotism—his incorruptible fidelity—his splendid achievements in the Senate and at the Bar, at home and abroad—and, above all the stainless record of a life passed in the service of his country.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased and to the Hillsborough Recorder, Durham Tobacco Plant, Daily News, Daily Sentinel, Christian Advocate, Biblical Recorder and the Wilmington Journal.

DR. W. P. MALLETT,
JONES WATSON,
DR. CHARLES PHILLIPS. } Com.

ANDREW MICKLE,
Chairman.

ROBT. E. CARR,
Secretary.

Muscular Christianity is triumphant for once, if we may believe The Pall Mall Gazette. According to this journal the Rev. Father Remy, a missionary, has just arrived in England from Thibet, and claims that he made a number of conversions there under rather peculiar circumstances. He was condemned to be quartered, and his legs and arms were attached to four horses. But either the Abbe's limbs were uncommonly strong or else the horses were uncommonly weak, for he resisted all their efforts. Struck with admiration at his heroic conduct, his persecutors embraced the martyr and his religion, certainly a signal triumph for muscular Christianity.

Cardinal Manning, in a sermon delivered in London, speaking in the name of the pope, said: "I acknowledge no civil power; I am the subject of no prince; and I claim more than this: I claim to be the supreme judge and director of the consciences of men; of the peasant that tills the field, and the prince that sits on the throne; of the householder that sits in the shade of privacy, and the legislator that makes laws for kingdoms. I am the sole, last, supreme judge of what is right and wrong." This language ought to be bold and decisive enough to indicate fully the animus of the Roman Church.

A Camp meeting will be held at Hatteras Dare County, N. C., commencing August 17th and closing on the following Monday:

The preachers and friends of the adjoining Districts are respectfully invited to attend, as this will be the only camp-meeting that will be held on the Hatteras circuit this year.

B. DIXON.
Preacher in Charge.

London, in about 900 places of worship, lately raised, on Hospital Sunday only, $110,000 (gold) for the uses suggested by the name.

Religious Brevities

Six Chinamen were lately ordained Deacons at a meeting of the East Maine Methodist Episcopal Conference.

Oliver Hoyt,, of New York, has donated $2,000 for a memorial window in the Wesley Monumental Church, in Savannah.

About 400 Mennonites reached Canada a few day, ago en route to Manitoba, where they are to locate their new homes.

Mr. Sankey said recently that, at the first prayer meeting held in England by the American, evangelists, only "four persons were present." "Yet," added Mr. Sankey, "it was one of the best prayer meetings I ever was at."

The corner stone of the Wesley Monumental Church was laid in Savannah, on the 10th inst. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Axson, of the Presbyterian, Rev. Dr. Meyers, of the Methodist Church, and Rev. Dr. Pierce. The latter laid the corner-stone.

Twelve missionary societies, English and American, are laboring in Japan. One hundred missionaries (including ladies) are residing in Yeddo Yokohama, Kobe, Osaka, Nagasaki and Hokodadi. In five of these cities Churches have already been formed whose united membership must be nearly two hundred.

The new church of the Puritans, Harlem, New York, has a room provided for invalids, where they may hear and yet not be seen, and where they may assume any position necessary for they comfort. We fear there will be feigned sickness there.

The statistics of Sabbath Schools in the United States, given at the International Sunday School Convention, present the six leading State of the Union as follows: 'New York has 720,000, Pennsylvania, 709,845; Illinois, 425,710; Ohio, 314,725: Iowa, 354,682, Indiana, 251.937;"

In his recent College oration at Amherst, Charles Francis Adams called for "a warner, more effective, and more sympathetic manner of communicating" religious truth. He went farther still, and said that. "there is need of a great revival, and of successors even to such as Whitefield and Wesley to bring it about.

The Examiner and Chronicle, a Baptist paper, in a late issue, gave the following:

"The Methodist denomination arose in the State of New York about a hundred years ago A hundred years ago the Baptists of this State were just commencing their work The two denominations thus started in the race together. How do they now stand? The Baptists are sadly, sadly behind.

"The census of 1870 gives the Baptists in this State 879 church-edifices, with 333,086 sittings. It gives the Methodists 1,702 edifices, with 606,098 sittings."

Important Announcement,

The patrons of Davenport Female College East and South will please notice that one of our Teachers will leave Goldsboro on Thursday evening 26th Aug. with young ladies en route for

MRS. NICHOLSON

DAVENPORT COLLEGE.

Those who do not wish to accompany their daughters can place them in her care at any point on the Railroad between Wilmington and Hickory.

W. M. ROBEY.

ST NICHOLAS, AN ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR GIRLS AND BOYS. Conducted by Mary Mapes Dodge. Scribner and Co., New York. $3 a year.

THE September number of ST. NICHOLAS contains a variety of very pleasant and interesting contributions, along with the usual fine array of pictures. Of descriptive articles, the number has a full installment, bringing together for us in one article a collection of birds whose plumage is entirely white; giving us in another an account of "Some Queer Dishes," which are served in Oriental countries; and in still a third, as a companion sketch, a description and picture of a peculiar Mesopotamian boat or "Goofah," which will open the children's eyes in wonder.

There is also a full budget of stories—among the rest, a delicate, fanciful one by Emma Burt, entitle "A Squirrel's Stratagem."

The serial stories grow in interest and excitement as they approach their conclusions. Finally, "Jack-in-the-Pulpit," the "Letter-Box," and "Riddle-Box," close the number, as usual, with their eight or ten pages of information and amusement.

BOARDING HOUSE.—Rev. J. B. Martin has a pleasant family and pleasant home in Chapel Hill and he proposes to take as boarders a number of young men who attend the College at Chapel Hill. We cordially recommend his louse to parents and guardians who propose to send their boys to that Institution, feeling assured that pleasant and religious influences will be thrown around them during their stay with him and his family.

Personal.

Mr. E. J. Lilly, Jr., has removed from Fayetteville to Wilmington and become one of the firm of Preston Cumming & Co.

Gov. Vance was to have delivered a lecture before the Southern Historical Society at White Sulphur Springs, Va., last week. He proposed to vindicate the claims of North Carolina to high credit for the number and bearing of her troops during the war and the special care for those troops. The State had 60,000 suits of uniform at Greensboro' for her troops when the great collapse came.

W. T. Blackwell and Co., of Durham, gave $25 to Rutherford College. That firm had a cash order for $80,000 worth of tobacco last week. Their revenue taxes amount to about $300,000 annually.

Willie Unthank McLean, eldest son of Hon. J. R. McLean, late of Greensboro, died recently in Florida, aged 21 years.

A horrible murder has been committed in Marlboro county, S. C. of which the Wilmington STAR gives an account. Charles Quick, son-in-law of a Mrs Quick, who had good property, desiring to come into its possession, hired one Henry Calder to marry Mrs Quick and afterwards to dispose of her, which he could decoy her from home and murder her on the way to the residence of the minister who was to perform the ceremony. When a little over half the way to the minister's residence, Calder drew a club and struck her a terrible blow across the mouth, breaking her jaw bone, and then cut her throat. He searched her pockets for money which he supposed she had, but found nothing but some small change and a note against Charles Quick for $800. The note as per previous agreement was turned over to Quick. He then went off to get a spade with which to bury her, but reflecting upon the enormity of the deed he had committed, left for his home in Marion. He was there arrested and made confession. His accomplice, Charles Quick was also arrested. Peter Calder who had talked with the parties about the murder and knew their plans, has also been arrested and confined for trial.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Upon hearing that the remains of Ex-Gov. Graham would lie in state at Raleigh, D. W. C. Benbow, acting Mayor of Greensboro, appointed a delegation of gentlemen to represent that town.

Piedmont Springs, in Stokes county, are becoming the leading summer resort for health and pleasure seekers in the State. Greensboro' and Danville, especially, have been largely represented. Its waters have no superior in the way of health restoring properties.

The Bank of Mecklenburg, (Tate and Dewey) failed recently, their liabilities being between two and three hundred thousand dollars with assets inadequate to meet one tenth of the amount.

A fast through train will be put on the Piedmont Air-Line R. R. making the trip from Richmond to Atlanta in twenty six hours. The distance is 515 miles.

The printers employed on the Wilmington Journal made a 'strike' last week, necessitating the issue of a half sheet Wednesday. The Journal charges that the Typographical Union and some Republicans are at the bottom of the trouble.

The city tax collector of Wilmington, in compliance with an act of the Legislature will be compelled to advertise and sell all property on which taxes shall not have been paid by the first of September.

The Shelby Aurora says that on election day in Lumberton a negro was employed for 50 cents to kiss a white Republican, and did it without offence to the latter.

The Good Templars of Greensboro' have the credit of originating a new idea—a watermelon pic-nic by moonshine.

Several residences and a Catholic church are in course of erection in Greensboro.

The tobacco crop of Caswell county is said to be almost a total failure. The "rot" has set in upon the fields and the yield will not only be cut off, but the quality will be inferior.

Two colored litigants in Wilmington compromised a matter "concerning of a chicken" by paying the costs of the suit before a magistrate, which costs amounted to a sum sufficient to buy A DOZEN CHICKENS.

The flea crop in Lexington is immensely good and watermelons in abundance at 5 cents apiece, to the delight of negroes and boys and the profit of medicine men.

A little boy came running in to the house, with his body bent, and groaning, cried, "Ma, do green apples grow in heaven?"

The barn of Wm Barnes, of Davidson county, was struck by lightning on the 14th inst., killing a horse and burning a horse collar and its contents.

The Roanoke NEWS says: The Baptist Church, near the Railroad in Halifax, was struck by lightning on Monday last and the steeple and one end and side of the building were shattered. The damage is considerable. On the night of the 8th inst., lightning struck within a few feet of the door of Mr W. T. Parker, in this county, jarring all the windows lights out and otherwise damaging the house. Fortunately no one was hurt

Neither the Editor of the Watchman nor the Bank of Statesville lost anything by the failure of the Bank of Mecklenburg.

Rev. T. M. Healy had a fine mule killed by lightning during the prevalence of a storm on the 10th inst., near Cedar Hill, Anson Co. His son who was ploughing with the mule was rendered insensible by the shock.

Fred Baily, a young white man of twenty years of age, committed an outrage upon Mary Powell, near Cedar Creek Church in Anson Co, on the 15th inst. Mary Powell is about 45 years of age, an idiot and an inmate of the county Poor House. We condense from the Wadesboro HERALD.

THE ILLUSTRATED AGE.—We received last week the first number of this new candidate for public favor, and are pleased with its appearance and contents. The first number contains good portraits of Gov. Brogden and ex. Gov. Graham and also of the wife murderer, Scott Parker. The AGE is published by R. T. Fulghum, Esq., Raleigh at $2 a year.

A negro woman in Wilmington committed suicide by drinking kerosene oil.

The Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina will meet in the Executive chamber in Raleigh on the 31st of August, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

Mr. John Manning, the well-known advertising agent, has formed a business connection with the extensive house of Geo P. Rowell & Co.—N. Y. Sun, August 2. 1875.

Mr. Manning is a gentleman of large experience and acknowledged ability in the particular branch of business to which he has devoted himself, and the extended newspaper connection and great facilities enjoyed by the Messrs. Rowell & Co. cannot prove otherwise than highly advantageous.—N. Y. Times, August 1, 1875.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING.---TERMS $2.20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

...ing and local preachers in the bounds ... Conference are our authorized ... persons sending us ten subscribers, for ... receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

... communication should be carefully ... on one side of the sheet. All letters ... should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

... all amounts should be sent in ... Post Office order or check. The cost ... Post Office order can be deducted ... If money is sent otherwise ... will be at the sender's risk.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

... Needles, wanted
... Advertising, G P Rowell & ...
... A Brady—Celebrated plows.
... Scenes in the ...
... Female College—Rev. W. G. ... President.
... President of the Board of ... Normal Female Academy advertise ... able person to take charge of ...
... Brooks has a school of high ... Midway N. C. He was educated ... Union near Hillsboro, from ... has taught successful as ...
... advertises his school in this ... well acquainted with Mr ... commend him as a gentle ... qualifications. He is a gradu... College of Virginia and has ... experience in his profession ...

Appointments.

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Kinston,	Sept	4– 5
Beaufort,	"	11–12
Straits,	"	18–19
Lemon Edwards Chapel,	"	25 26
Newberne,	Oct.	2– 3
Jones, at Lee's Mon A Tues.	"	4– 5
Havelock at Harlowe's,	"	9–10
Wayne at Everett, (Bed of Ch'rch)	"	16–17
Craven, Bed, & Thurs.	"	20–21
Snow Hill Snow Hill.	"	23 24
Neuse & S Creek Aurora	"	30 31
Mt Olive, at Mt Olive,	Nov.	6– 7
Wilson	"	13–14
Goldsboro,	"	20–21

E. A. YATES, P. E.
Beaufort N C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Lincoln, Stanley Creek (C M)	Sep.	18–19
Dallas, Shiloh (C M)	"	25–26
Double Shoals, Union (C M)	Oct.	2– 3
South Fork, Wesley Chapel (C M)	"	9–10
Cherry M Rock Springs (C M)	"	9–10
Shelby Shelby	"	13–14
Sharon at Sharon (C M)	"	16 17
Rutherford Pisgah	"	23–24
Marion,	"	27 28
Tuscarora,	"	30 31
Lenoir,	Nov.	6
Happy Home,	"	13–14
Newton, Concord	"	20 21
Rock Spring,	"	27–28

Camp meetings will begin Friday evening ... and close on Wednesday morning. Let the ... Ministers and Stewards labor earnestly to ... bring up all the dregues. Three fourths of ... the ecclesiastical year has passed away and ... only about one fourth of our salaries has ... been paid. Brethren, shall those who ... preach the gospel to you be sent away unpaid? God's blessings will be in proportion to your faithfulness in His service.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND, Q. M.

Raleigh at Person st,	Sept.	4– 5
Granville at Bethel,	"	11–12
Louisburg station	"	18–19
Ive Ravens Franklinton,	"	25–26
Littleton at Henderson,	Oct.	2– 3
Robesville at Rock Ridge,	"	9–10
C. M. and Nashville,	"	16–17
Cary,	"	23–24
Smithfield 1,	"	30 31
Youngsville,	Nov.	6– 7
Raleigh Edenton st,	"	13–14

J. T. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
THIRD ROUND.

Salisbury circuit, Providence,	Aug.	7– 8
Iredell circuit Snow Creek (C M)	"	13–17
Statesville circuit,	"	20–22
Alexander at Rocky Springs (C.M.)	"	27–31
Wilkes circuit,	Sept.	4 6

Camp meeting at Snow Creek and at Rocky Springs in connection with the Quarterly meetings.

Camp meeting at Smith Grove, Mocksville circuit, will commence on Friday before the 4th Sunday in August and continue 5 days.

D. R. BARNES, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Whiteville at Johnsburg,	Aug.	1- 2
Elizabeth at Bladen Springs,	"	8- 9
Bladen and Cape Fear Miss.	at Center, "	15-16
Topsail	"	22-23
Magnolia at Harold's Store,	"	29 30
Wilmington Front Street,	Sept	5- 6
Smithville at Smithville,	"	12-13

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	Aug	7– 8
Davidson Midway,	"	21–22
South Bedford, Pleasant Garden	"	28 29
Forsyth, Piemmonsville,	Sep.	4– 5
Stokes Pahnyra	"	11–12

A Camp-meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7– 8
Ocracoke,	Aug. 11, 12, 13 14, 15
Portsmouth,	" 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22
Columbia at Gum Neck.	Aug.	28–29
Bath at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4– 5
Warren,	"	11-12

WILLIAM CLOSE.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Mt. Pleasant,	Aug.	7– 8
Albemarle and Stanley Ansonville, ct	"	14–15
	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD, ROUND.

Deep River, Concord, July 31-	Aug.	– 1
Person, Trinity,	Aug.	7– 8
Leasburg, Union,	"	14–15
Yanceyville, New Hope.	"	21–22
Flat River	"	28 29

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
3RD, ROUND

Robeson, Salem, July 31.	Aug.	– 1
Rockingham, Mt. Pleasant,	"	7– 8
Uwharrie, Concord,	"	14–15
Montgomery, Ebenezer,	"	21–22
Buckhorn, Apex,	"	28–29

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, August 24, 1875.

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light. Low middlings 11¼

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7@8.50.
CORN 90@1 10
CORN MEAL 100@110
BACON, N. C. sug round, 15.
" " hams 16 1-2
BULK C. R. sides, 13 to 14
" shoulders, 10 to 11.
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western tierces, 17 1-2@20
" " kegs, 16 1-2@17 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 23
" Fair Rio, 22@24
SYRUP, Common, 35.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.

Brantly Mills & Hardy, Joseph J Jones sell 2. Jesse Cornelius sell 2.20, Rev T P Ricaud on ac 10. H Shankle sell 2.15. L F Shankle sell 2.20, Rev W D Lee for J B Spiers 2 20. E S Swearingen self 2.20 Dr W S Rendleman sell 2.20 Maj J S Turner 2 20, Rev E Howland for J H Underwood 2.20. W S Culpepper 2. G W Simpson 2.20 J B Parker sell 2.20 Rev M V Sherrill on ac. 8.80. John W Pearson, J A Pruett, Mrs B Boynes sell 1.10, A H Godbold sell 1 35, Rev R A Willis for Rev R Rose 2.20, N W Ayer & Son, G P Rowell & Co, F B Jones, Rev W H Bobbitt, Rev W H Moore, J C Goodman, Rev J H Gaunt, M P Davis. Rev J A Cunninggim for Miss M F Booker 2.20, J R Patterson 2 20, L W Ashly 2 20, Mrs M C Reeves 2.20, W C Hilor adv Slicks, Ed Alden, J W Howard, M H Winecoff, T N Ramsey, Mrs L J Crenshaw sell 1.35, Mrs J B Thompson, Rev. B C Phillips, Capt W L Thornburg for P D Swain 2 20, Rev J T Harris, N Turner, G H Fuller, Rev A D Betts for V S Garritt 2.20, Miss S C Blackwell 2 20, Rev C M Andersen, Rev S Lee the paper has never stopped—all right on book, Rev T A Goodwin, Rigsbee, Jas C Robinson, C W Beshamer, V Boddie, Rev W S Black, G W Hardison. Rev W G Starr, Rev G C Dodson, S A Long sell 2.25, A K Umstead sell 2 20, Dr T D Smith, Rev L L Nash, Rev W S Rone for Miss Ida Norman 2.20, Rev J E Mann for J F Spicer 2.20, J S Annis. W B Hartsell, paper has been regularly sent, J M Rhodes, P C Parrill, Rev J C Hiar sell for J. F May 2 20, Rev R S Webb papers sent, W Elkins sell 2.20, Rev E A Yates.

CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00
SUGAR A, 11 1-2.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 10@11
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@8.
" dry, 18 1-2
TALLOW, 7@8
POTATOES, sweet none.
" Irish, $1.00@$1.25.
OATS, shelled, 85. @90
" sheaf, $1.00
FODDER, old, $1.75
HAY, N. C. baled, good, $...25@1.30
CHICKENS, grown, 35@40
" young, 20@30
EGGS, 15@20
BUTTER, country, 22 1-2@25.
FISH, Mullets, $2.50.
" Cut Herrings, 7@75
" Mackerel, new family, $1 00
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 3
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 8@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SCHOOL BOOKS

Of all descriptions constantly kept on hand at the lowest cash prices.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N.C.

N. C ALMANACS FOR 1876 –

Now in course of preparation. Advertisements taken at reasonable rates. Send in your orders early.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

NEWS DEPOT—TAKE NOTICE

I am supplying all the best Newspapers and periodicals at the publishers' subscription rates. You can subscribe for 12 months, 6 months, or even one month.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY

Give me a trial before purchasing elsewhere.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

aug 25-tf

Price, Twenty five Cents.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

NINETY-EIGHTH EDITION.

Containing a complete list of all the towns in the United States, the Territories and the Dominion of Canada, having a population greater than 3,000 according to the last census, together with the names of the newspapers having the largest local circulation in each of the places named. Also, a catalogue of newspapers which are recommended to advertisers as giving greatest value in proportion to prices charged.—Also, all newspapers in the United States and Canada printing over 5,000 copies each issue. Also, all the Religious, Agricultural, Scientific and Mechanical, Medical, Masonic, Juvenile, Educational, Commercial, Insurance, Real Estate, Law, Sporting, Musical, Fashion, and other special class journals; very complete lists. Together with a complete list of over 800 German papers printed in the United States. Also, an essay upon advertising, many tables of rates, showing the cost of advertising in various newspapers, and everything which a beginner in advertising would like to know.

Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.,
41 Park Row, New York.

aug 25- 6m.

AGENTS WANTED for the fastest selling book ever published. Send for circulars and our extra terms to Agents. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Phila., Pa. aug 25-4t.

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE,

MURFREESBORO, N. C.

Next session begins Sept. 27th, 1875. $158 will pay for Board and Literary tuition during one year in the collegiate department: $148 in the Academic. Send for catalogue to

W. G. STARR.
Murfreesboro, N. C.

aug 25 2w

AGENTS WANTED for Dr. March's Great Work, NIGHT SCENES IN THE BIBLE, and a magnificent NEW BOOK just from Press. Address, J. C. McCURDY & CO., Philadelphia, Pa aug 25-3m

JOHN J. FRAY'S

English, Classical and Mathematical School, 14 miles S. E. of Raleigh and 4 miles from Clayton, a station on N. C. R. R. The seventeenth session begins Monday Sept. 13th 1875. Prepares boys and girls for college, or the active duties of life. Good board including fuel, lights and washing (no extras) only $12 50 per month. Refers to the faculty of the University of Va., Rev. R. T. Blake and to any of former patrons For circulars containing particulars &c. Address.

JOHN J. FRAY,
or A. T. MIAL,
Raleigh N. C.

aug. 25 2 m.

THE HOME SCHOOL OF MRS. JOSEPH S. JONES.

For Girls and small Boys,

Warren County, N. C.

Opens August 2nd 1875. Located near Shocco and Jones, White Sulphur Springs.

Board, Session of five months	$40.00
Washing,	5.00
TUITION.
English Branches	$ 10.00
Latin and French (each)	5.00
Music—(Piano)	10.00

Post Office, Ridgeway N. C. to and from which place pupils will be conveyed free of charge if due notice is given.

Reference is made to Rev. Mess. W. H. Bobbitt, J. F. Moore, S. D. Adams and the Editors of the Advocate.

aug 25-4t.

SITUATION WANTED.

A regular graduate, who has had experience in teaching, desires a situation in town or country, where he can establish a permanent school of high grade. Apply to

W. C. B. WILSON,
Winston, N. C.

aug 25 1t.

OXFORD FEMALE ACADEMY.

The Trustees desire to engage some suitable person to take charge of this Institution.

The Premises, a large Academy and 4 commodious Residence with excellent garden, &c. are in good repair, and are pleasantly located in the most desirable part of the town.

Oxford has been long proverbial for good society, good works, and good health, and in these respects is believed to be unsurpassed.

Communications addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention,

J. S. AMIS,
Pres't. B'd. Trustees.

aug 25 4t.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,

Ashland Va.,

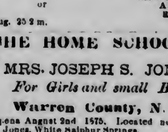
Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction, a high grade of scholarship, under best religious influence, in a refined community and at a location remarkable for its extraordinary health fulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and thirty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year. For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A. M. D. D. Pres't.
or
Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Sec'y.

Aug 11-6 w.

TYSON & JONES



Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Chatham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.

We feel confident that, with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workman employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS WORK, no house in the country can excel us in STYLE, FINISH, DURABILITY AND Low Prices.

☞ We manufacture and keep constantly on hand largeass of the Best Quality.

☞ Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice Send for Circular.

July 21 1-y

"Will have a Million Readers."

CANVASSERS WANTED FOR

"Around the Tea Table."

(Illustrated.)

By REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

The most popular "Agents' Book" ever issued from the Press. SOLD ONLY BY SUBSCRIPTION.

Coupertwait & Co., Philadelphia.

Aug 11 8t

DYSPEPSIA RADICALLY CURED,

with its attendant ills, viz: Asthma, Bronchitis, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Piles Mental disorders, spinal diseases, &c. Female diseases. Diseases of the nose and bowels of ages from 18 to 30 Eradication of hereditary diseases, Scrofula and Consumption in early stages. Guaranteed the eradication of secondary and Mercurial disease, have devoted thirty years to the Mucous membranes, Glands and Nerves. Apply at his farm in Person Co., or by letter including stamp to

J. J. THAXTON, M. D.
Milton, N. C.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

TO PEOPLE WHO REASON. It is because

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient

reduces the heat of the blood by creating perspiration, as well as through its purgative operation, that produces such marvelous effect in febrile diseases.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Aug 11-2t

$250 A MONTH—Agents wanted everywhere. Business honorable and first class. Particulars sent free. Address J. WORTH & CO., St. Louis, Mo. aug 4-12m.

TEMPLE HARP.

A very choice selection of Sacred Music for Choirs Singing Schools and Musical Societies in the Seven Charnier Notes by which any one can learn to sing in one fourth the time required by other methods.

CRYSTAL GEMS,

A new music book for Sabbath-Schools in the Seven Character Notes being the most natural and easy system yet discovered. It contains a rare selection of new tunes, the most beautiful and popular ever published. Specimen pages of both the above mailed free.

MILLER'S BIBLE & PUBLISHING HOUSE,
Nos. 1102 & 1104 Sansom St, Philadelphia.
Aug 4-3m.

BOOKS OF EASY MUSIC!

Collections, of Easy, Brilliant, Popular airs, that every one can play, and no one can help liking.

Musical Garland
$2.50. Violin & Piano Duets

Musical Flowers.
$2.50 Flute & Piano Duets.

Flute Bouquet.
$1.50. Airs for Piano

Violin Amusements.
$1.50. Airs for Violin.

Party Dances.
75 cts. Violin and Piano.

Winner's Band of Four.
$1.00. Quartets for 1st and 2d Violin, Cornet or Clarionet and Bass.

Strauss Dance Music.
$1.00. Violin and Piano.

Violin and Flute Duets.
$1.00. By Winner.

Clarke's (S.) Instructors
For Piano for Reed Organ, for Violin. Each $1.00.

Winner's New Schools.
Each 75 cts. For Piano, Cabinet Organ, Melodeon, Violin, Guitar, Banjo, Cornet, French Accordeon, Gigman Accordeon, Fife, Flute, Flageolet, Clarionet.

Sold by all music dealers. Sent, post free, for retail price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO.,
Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.
aug. 4-12.

NEW GOODS AT LOW PRICES.

A very handsome assortment of new styles and colors of Grass Suitings 37 and 38 inches wide, fast colors. A dress of these although much better material will cost no more than Calico at 8 cts. per yard.

A NEW LOT LATEST STYLE

of Rechings very cheap, 2,000 yds. Pacific Lawns, short Lengths, 10 cloe at 10 cts. per yard. These cost no more than Calico at 7 1-2 cts. per yard.

LINEN DUCKS AND DRILLS

for men and boys wear from 15 to 35. These are great bargains but being bought late in Season we give our customers benefit of the decline.

COTTONADES

as low as they can be found in this or other markets. Latest styles Lace Ties for ladies wear. Not to be undersold.

SEASONABLE DRESS GOODS

at prices to win A splendid assortment of White Goods, bought at about half their value now and fresh at prices which will sell them.

Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, large stock. We invite purchasers to examine our stock before buying as we are convinced that none undersell us, quality considered.

PETTY & JONES,
July 28-tf No. 20 Fayetteville street.

GREAT BARGAINS TO BE HAD.

PRICES GREATLY REDUCED.

To make room for our Fall purchases, we will sell, as they must be sold,

2½ pc. Nainsook Muslins,

30 " Grass Cloths.

20 " Zebra Suitings.

Victoria Lawns, Swiss, Mull and Organdie Muslins at prices lower than ever offered.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

1,000 Doz. Coates Spool Cotton at 70 cents per doz.
Dress Goods very low, almost at any price.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

PARASOLS, FANS, PRINTS, LINEN LAWNS, PACIFIC LAWNS, PERCALES, &c., &c., at exceedingly low figures Now is the time to secure bargains.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

July 28-tf

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N. Y.

July 28-12m.

A. BAUM, Professional Butcher,

Hmington St., Opposite East End Market.

Buys the fattest beeves that can be had. No poor or stunted beef to be seen in his shop. Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first class style, are sold you at apl 28-tf BAUM'S.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY

STAUNTON, VA.

Miss M. J. BALDWIN, - - - PRINCIPAL.

School opens Second Wednesday in September, U. S. Largest First-Class Institution in Virginia, with a Corps of twenty efficient teachers.

☞ For Catalogue, address the Principal.

July 28 1m.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY.

Male and Female.

D. Matt Thompson, A. M Principal.

The next term opens August 9th 1875. Tuition and Board per month, $8.00
Tuition " " $1.00 to $4.00

Location:—Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C. ten miles north of Iron Station. "Carolina Central R. R." This section is noted for good health, quiet, and morality

Advantages:—Low price of Board and healthy and moral location.

For Circular &c. address the Principal.

July 21-2m. Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C.

CAROLINA CENTRAL ACADEMY.

ANSONVILLE, N. C.

CHEAPEST SCHOOL OF ITS GRADE IN THE CAROLINAS.

The Fall Session of this Institution begins MONDAY, SEPT. 6th, 1875. Spring Session, MONDAY, JAN., 31st, 1876.

FACULTY:

Rev. N. B. COBB, A. M., (University of N. C.,
Rev J. J. McLENDON, (Graduate So. Bap Theological Seminary,)
HENRY W. BETTS, (Horner & Graves' School)
A. J. ALLEN, (Baltimore Commercial College)

TERMS FOR SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:

Board, including furnished room, washing, fuel and lights, with tuition in Academic department, $85 00.
Do., with tuition in intermediate department, 80 00
Do., with tuition in primary department, 75 00
Short-hand Reporting by an experienced Phonographer, extra, 2 00
Telegraphing by a practical operator, extra 20 00
Incidental fee, 2 00
Printing and Proof reading (A S D Students in Academic department.

Board and Tuition due one half in advance, the other half at the middle of the session.

Each Boarder is required to furnish his own sheets, pillow-cases and towels.

Tuition free to Students preparing for the Gospel Ministry, and to one approved young man, from each Congressional District in the two Carolinas, prepared to enter the Academic department.

By special arrangement students coming over the Carolina Central Railway will be passed to Wadesboro and returned for one fare.

For further information address either
Rev. J. J. McLENDON, Ansonville, N. C., or
Rev. S. B. COBB, Lincolnton, N. C. bell Sept, 1a.

July 28 1-m

BLYMYER M'F'G CO BELLS

CHURCH, SCHOOL, FIRE-ALARM

Fine toned, low priced, fully warranted. Catalogue giving full particulars, prices, etc., sent free.

BLYMYER MANUFACTURING CO.,
664 to 674 West Eighth St., Cincinnati, O.

June 28-1y. e o w.

AGENTS! Most Magnificent Gift EVER OFFERED. LOCAL AGENTS

wanted everywhere for THE ECHO, a weekly family and literary journal, of 16 large pages. Subscription, $2.75. With THE ECHO we give away the magnificently bound quarto volume, entitled American Illustrated, a superb delineation of American scenery. Largest cash commissions. Most liberally illustrated Circular free. Address DAVID WILLIAMS & CO., (Box 2777,) 39 Beekman St., New York.

may 5-12m. o m.

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE,

DAVIDSON CO., N. C., ON N. C. R. R.

Established in 1849—chartered in 1866.—Large, finely adapted brick building, in thorough repair. Grounds extensive and beautiful—new and handsome furniture, instruments, &c. Full and carefully arranged course, taught by seven able, earnest and successful teachers. Location accessible, beautiful and proverbially healthful. Board and English Tuition $15 and $16 per month. Next session begins August 30th, 1875. For Catalogue address,

H. W. REINHART,
July 21 tf. Principal.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,

STAUNTON, VA.

Will begin its twenty sixth Annual Session, September 8th, 1875. Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D. President, with an able corps of twenty-three Teachers and Officers.

Modern Languages taught and spoken in the College by a European Teacher. Music by seven Professors and Teachers, among whom are two of the most cultivated Teachers of vocal music in the South.

This is one of the healthiest climates in the world. Those who come here from the South with feeble constitutions, chills, and climatic diseases, are generally restored.

Building elegant—famed by the purest breeze, and commanding the most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, making it one of the most delightful colle e homes in the Union.

The past Session this School was attended by pupils from seventeen different States.

Great economy and simplicity in dress are required. A simple uniform is worn. No unnecessary expenses allowed and none made without express instructions from Parents. Strict economy practiced to keep all expenses of pupils within the lowest possible amount.

From Bishop D. S. Doggett, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, located in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency of Rev. W. A. Harris is, in my judgment, one of the best Institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the advantages enjoyed by one of my daughters, now a pupil there. Its course of study is ample; its Faculty accomplished, and its instructions both solid and elegant. Its personal accommodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste.

D. S DOGGETT.

[From Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D.]

The Wesleyan Female Institute is an honor to the Church. Instruction is thorough. All classes stand high. In music advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and neither pains nor expenses are spared to make this department eminent.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR.

Board and Tuition in the Collegiate Course, including Ancient Languages, $247. Music and other extras moderate.

For catalogue, address

Rev. W. A. HARRIS, President.
July 21-2m. Staunton, Va.,

Kenmore University High School. Amherst C. H., Va,

Preparatory to the University of Va. H. A. Strode, (Math. Medallist U. Va.,) Principal and Instructor in Mathematics. H. C. Brook. B. Lit., U. Va., (recently Ass't Prof. Latin. U. Va.,) Instructor in Greek, Latin, French and German. This is one of the leading high schools of Virginia, and presents many advantages incomparable with those of others. Course embraces Gymnastics and Horseman. ship. New session begins Sept. 15, 1875. For Catalogue, address the Principal.

July 21 3 m

EXCURSION TICKETS VIA RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD.

RALEIGH & GASTON R. R. Co.,
Office General Pass. and Ticket, Agt
Raleigh, July 15, 1875

The travelling public are respectfully informed that ROUND TRIP EXCURSION TICKETS, good for the entire season, are now on sale at Raleigh, to the Virginia Springs, Niagara Falls, Saratoga, Montreal, Quebec, Newport, Long Branch, Cape May, Atlantic City, and to all the principal watering places and Summer resorts in the North.

Rates as low as via any other route.

Call on the agent at Raleigh; he can give rates, &c., or write to the undersigned, who will cheerfully give any information desired.

THOMAS BADGER,
G. P. & T. A.

GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE,

Greensboro, N. C.

The Fall Session will begin on the 18th of August.

TERMS REDUCED.

Charges per Session of 20 weeks.

Board (exclusive of washing and lights)	$75 00
Tuition in regular English course,	25 00
Charges for Extra studies, moderate.

For Catalogues containing particulars, apply to Rev T. M. JONES, President.

N. H. D. WILSON,
President Board of Trustees.

June 30 9m

SHELBY SEMINARY.

SHELBY N. C.

REV. S. R. TRAWICK, A. M. PRINCIPAL.
Mrs. B. V. TRAWICK, Music and Ornamentals.
Miss JANIE G. DURANT, Literary Dep.

RATES PER TERM OF 21 WEEKS

Tuition, Primary	$10 00
Tuition Academic,	15.00
Latin, Greek and French each,	5 00
Incidental fee each	1.00
Music on piano-forte	20.00
Use of instrument	3 00
Board in the school with the principal, per term	$60.00

The next term will begin July 12th. For circular address the principal. The low rates, the unequaled health, the pleasant surroundings, and thorough instruction, are items.

June 23-2m.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE

Lenoir, N. C.

The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.

Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes every thing to which we are responsible, and we can guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.

Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best possible testimonial of real merit.

Young ladies board in the Institution and the immediate care of the President

Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other promptly at the end of the Session.

No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address.

REV. W. M. ROBEY. Pres.

July 7 3m

SELLING AT Greatly Reduced Prices.

Intending to enlarge my store I offer my well selected stock of WATCHES JEWELRY. SILVER and SILVER PLATED WARE, at greatly reduced price.

Orders from a distance shall receive prompt attention and goods sent for selection if required.

Respectfully,
H. MAHLER.

A SPECIALTY.

Wedding and Engagement Rings made to order at short notice.

July 21 1-m

STEAM POWER.

The Celebrated

Shapley Steam Engine.

By a patented process,

It is Absolutely free of danger from fire.

It is endorsed by all the leading machinists in the United States.

Prices lower than any first class engine in the country.

Engines can be seen at our store. Sizes 4, 5, 6 and 12 Horse Power.

We are agents for the

ROWLAND COTTON GIN,

and have in store the most complete and largest stock in N. C. of Hardware, Sash, Doors, &c.

Prices guaranteed lower than the lowest. Write for circular and prices.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is at MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ices made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool. July 7-tf

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

☞ PRICE, $9 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,
86 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

☞ Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. mar 31-1y

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The session begins Sept. 2nd, 1875.
Tuition $40 to $60 for ten months.
Board $10 to $12 per month.

A reception fall will be given for all expenses clothing and books excepted, for $90 for five months in the regular cause; and for 80 dollars in the Preparatory.

We have accommodation for twenty-five to furnish their rooms, and board themselves. In this the cost for five months is not over 50 dollars. Young men of limited means are invited to correspond with the President.

B. CRAVEN. Pres.
P. O. Trinity College, N. C.

July 21 3m.

THE NEEDLE

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs, and bearing away first premiums.

In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That durlegtho ginning season it ginned 72½ bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in forty-five minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which bales of paper matches and nails were put without setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

☞ Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

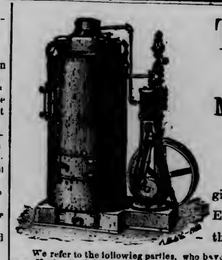
RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

July 7-tf

$25 a day guaranteed using our Well Auger & Drills. $100 a month paid to good Agents. Auger book free. Jile Auger Co., St. Louis, Mo.

June 2-2t.



THE HOPE ENGINE.

MANUFACTURED BY

McCallum, Wyckoff & Hope,

RALEIGH, N. C.

At the N. C. State Fair, 1874, the "Hope Engine" received the GOLD MEDAL, as the best Steam Engine for general use, and the SILVER MEDAL as the best Vertical Engine.

We refer to the following parties, who have our HOPE ENGINE in use: Wm. G. Upchurch, of Williamson, Upchurch & Thomas, Raleigh, N. C., Col. A. W. Scott, Raleigh, N. C., Messrs. Moore, Furney & Co., Goldsboro, N. C., Messrs. Hammill & Wolf, Brick Manufacturers, Raleigh, N. C.

We guarantee our HOPE ENGINE equal to the best made North, and we will not be undersold by the manufacturers of any FIRST CLASS ENGINE.

We manufacture

The Carolina Cotton Gin,

which we guarantee equal to the best Gin made. It was awarded the Silver Medal, as the best Gin made in the State, at the N. C. State Fair, 1874.

OUR POWER COTTON PRESS

has no superior. We refer to A. F. Page, Cary, N. C., and A. T. Mial, Master of Raleigh Grange, No. 17, who have our POWER PRESS in use.

We manufacture the celebrated "SUNNY SOUTH" PLOW, and several others, which we will sell at very low figures.

We manufacture SAW MILLS, MILL GEARING, SHAFTING PULLEYS and MILL MACHINERY of every kind.

For full information and Price List, address

McCALLUM, WYCKOFF & HOPE,
Raleigh, N. C.

may 19-tf.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The undersigned would respectfully announce to the citizens of Wake and adjoining counties, that he has taken the store formerly occupied by Messrs. Wyatt, Bingham & Co., (directly opposite the "Daily News" office, on Market and Martin streets,) and has opened an entire new stock of House Furnishing Goods,

HARDWARE,
CROCKERY,
HOLLOW WARE, AND TIN WARE,
LAMP CHIMNEYS,
WICK, AND KEROSENE OILS,

of the most approved brands, at retail.

Having been engaged in this business for many years in Newbern, N. C., and being one of the first to introduce Stoves in Eastern North Carolina, I shall make this branch

A SPECIALTY,

Among which may be found the

FARMER COOK STOVE,

which has been the LEADING STOVE for many years in the Eastern section of the State. Also the Superb NIAGARA and QUAKER CITY—all of which are having a very large sale.

Persons wishing to make purchases in my line of Goods, I will try and make it to their advantage to give me a call.

Very respectfully,
C. A. HART.

may 19-3m

OLD NORTH STATE FIRE Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, - - - - - N. C.,

This Company has closed its third year in a condition of GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home Institution.
It has ample Capital and Reserves.
It pays its losses promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand and in Bank,	$ 8,621 53

Children's Column.

Answers.

The word "quicksand" is found in Acts 27th ch. and 17th verse. F. B. Jones, Viola Boddie, M N. Davis, Joseph G Nelson, J. R Howard, J. W. Howard.

The middle Book in the New Testament is 2d Thesalonians. F. B. Jones, Viola Boddie, M. N. Davis, T. C. W. Boshamer, J. R Howard, J. W. Howard.

Solomon first revealed his wisdom in settling the dispute between the two harlots concerning the infant. It is found in 1st Kings 3rd chap. F. B. Jones, Viola Boddie.

The word 'Jehovah' is found in the Bible 6 855 times. Viola Boddie, M. N. Davis, J. W. Howard.

Abraham was 100 years old when Isaac was born. Gen. 21st chap. 5th v. Addie M. Clegg, T. C. W. Boshamer, Georgian B. Wynne, J. R. Howard, J W. Howard.

Paul dwelt for two years in his own hired house. Acts 28th ch. 30th v. Addie M. Clegg, T. C. W. Boshamer, J. W. Howard.

The Babylonish captivity was six hundred and six years before Christ. Addie M. Clegg.

The inhabitants of Tyre exulted over the destruction of Jerusalem. Ezekiel 26th ch. 2d verse. Addie M. Clegg.

Nebuchadnezzar besieged Tyre thirteen years. Addie M. Clegg, J. W. Howard.

Goliath's spear head weighed six hundred shekels of iron, 1st Saml. 17th ch. 7th verse. Addie M. Clegg, Georgian B. Wynne, J. W. Howard.

Rizpah mourned for her sons whom the Gibeonites killed. 2d Sam. 21st ch. 8th and 10th verses. Addie M. Clegg, J. W. Howard.

There came a fire out from the Lord and consumed the two hundred and fifty men who offered incense. Num. 16th ch. 35th verse. Addie M. Clegg.

The word 'Jehovah' occurs 7 times in the Old Testament. T C W. Boshamer, F. B. Jones.

'Town clerk' is mentioned in Acts 19th chap. 35 verse Joseph G Nelson, Viola Boddie.

Nadab and Abihu were consumed by fire from Heaven for offering strange fire before the Lord. Georgian B. Wynne, J. R. Howard, J W. Howard.

Questions.

Georgian B. Wynne asks who is mentioned in the Bible as having painted? Also, where in the Bible is it said that angels have wings and how many.

Addie M. Clegg asks how many were there in Nineveh who could not discern between their right and left hands. Also, how long did Job's friends sit with him without speaking.

Joseph G. Nelson asks how many sons had Saul and what their names were. Also, how many years did David reign over Judah.

T. C. W. Boshamer asks who slew six hundred Philistines with an ox goad.

Viola Boddie asks as a sign of what promise was the sun commanded to go back 10 degrees.

J W Howard asks where the following is found: "My days are swifter than a post." Also what chapter in the Bible has 26 verses of which 12 begins with the word 'cursed' and ends with the word 'amen.'

J. W. Howard asks who buried Moses: also where the following is found: "God shall shoot at them with an arrow." Also, who had a coat that weighed 5.000 shekels. Also who was Paul's sister.

Jas. R. Howard asks his fellow readers o the children's column to find a sentence composed of the following letters: e-a-t-k—y-m—e-y-k-o—p-r-o—o-n-y,—n-t-d—n-e-a-r-l—f-o—c-m. Also where the following commands occur: "Weep with them that weep." "In the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider.

Fletcher B. Jones asks where the following allegory is found, who is the great Eagle referred to and who is the highest Branch mentioned therein: "Thus saith the Lord; a great Eagle with great wings, long winged and full of feathers which had divers colors came into Lebanon and took the highest Branch of the Cedar."

Fletcher B. Jones asks how old was Abraham when he was called from the Chaldean idolatry. Also, how many years before Christ was David born.

(We have some questions from "L. D." We do not know who 'L. D.' is.)

Bible Enigma by Addie Clegg.

My first is the name given to Jacob.

My 2nd is the mountain on which God gave Moses the commandments.

My 3rd is the daughter of Laban.

My 4th is one of the letters of the Greek alphabet which Christ appropriated to himself.

My 5th is the mother of Timothy.

My 6th is the third book of the Pentateuch.

My 7th is Aaron's fourth son.

My 8th are the words used by Christ when he raised up the daughter of Jairus.

My 9th is the place where the witch lived whom Saul consulted before going to the battle of Gilboa.

My 10th is the name of the first Martyr.

My whole was the name of a great nation.

Chubby's Spelling Match.

They made regular stair steps, when they stood up in a row. Chubby an I Dot and Plum Ban. Most folks called her baby Bunny, only Chubby, who didn't like to waste any breath, shortened it to Bun, and then papa got into the habit of calling her Plum Bun. Her Sunday name was Blanche but as she was very round and very sweet, Plum Ban did very well for a name.

Chubby went to school. One day he came home and told his mamma he was "next to head in the spellin' class."

'And how many are in your class?" asked mamma.

'Oh, me and Ada Fry,' said Chubby, cheerfully.

Papa had once taken Chubby to a spelling school at the church: so he "knew all about em,' he told Dot.

When he ranged Dot and Plum Bun up against the fence for the class, it did not seem to be a very long one, like that he saw at the church It seemed to be about as large as his own at school, when he was 'next to head.' So he thought he would be a scholar as well as a teacher, and placed himself at the head of the class. Leroy Tracy came along just then, with his black and tan dog, and when he saw the three little folks in a row against the fence he called out:

'Hello! there's a regular stair steps! Hold on Club till I make Hail Columby walk up stairs.'

Chubby thinks Leroy the smartest boy in the world, so he told Dot and Plum Bun to stand very still, while Hail Columby walked up stairs.

The plan did not succeed very well, for Plum Bun, being the lowest step, had to take Hail Columby's sharp nails in her curls, before she knew what the fun was about, and so she screamed loud enough to scare Hail Columby out of her wits. Leroy was very fond of Plum Bun, so he coaxed her into a good humor by giving her all his cream chocolates, which he was saving for Minnie Fry.

Then he got the children to stand up in a line again, and set up Hail Columbia as a scholar at the foot of the class. This made a very respectable spelling match, if only Hail Columbia would have staid 'stood up and been still. She did pretty well, however, only turning into a four-legged doggie five or six times, and running out to the street to bark at the carriages. At last Leroy scolded her a little, and made her stand up and 'toe the mark,' and the spelling began.

'Spell dog, Chub,' said Leroy.

'D-o g, dog,' said Chubby, as if any one couldn t spell dog.

'Now, Dot, spell—'

'I can' pell baby' said Dot, wriggling with information.

'Well spell baby then,' said Leroy.

'B a b-y, baby,' said Dot triumphantly.

"That's right. Now Bunny 'oo 'pell boy."

"Well," says Bunny, approvingly.

"Spell it then," said Leroy after waiting awhile.

"B—," says blum Bun, looking down at Hail Columby for the next letter. But Hail Columby wasn't going to help her you may believe. it was to be Hail Columby's turn next.

"Go on,' says Leroy, coaxingly, showing a chocolate cream hail hidden in his hand.

"Bee-ee-ee-k, boy," say Plum Bun, determined to have the chocolate cream, even at the risk of telling all she knew.

A shout of applause and the chocolate cream satisfied Miss Plum Bun, and it was now Hail Columby's turn.

"Spell bone, Hail Columby," says Leroy, looking earnestly in Hail's face.

No response to this.

"Bone," gives out Leroy, louder than before.

'Bowk,' barks Hail Columby, "Bowk, bowk, bowk," she went on, breaking ranks and running after a large dog which stood staring in at the gate.

Papa thought the spelling match a remarkable success, when Chubby told him about it at ten time. Only one spelled down, and that was a dog

"Is Bail Columby a Centennial dog?" asked papa

"O no, papa, she's a beautiful black and tan tearer," explains Chubby, "and she can do everything."

"Except spell," says papa, laughing —Christian Union.

Rural and Domestic

Value of Ashes.—The Scientific American says: "The point to which we now call attention is that which our farmers and fruit growers have ignored, or rather have been ignorant of—the importance of wood ashes as a vegetable stimulant, and as the leading constituent of plants. Even coal ashes, new thrown away as useless, have been shown by both experiment and analysis to possess a fair share of alkaline value. We will relate only one experiment: Some twenty five years ago we treated an old hollow pippin apple-tree as follows: The hollow, to the height of eight feet, was filled and rammed with a compost of wood ashes, garden mold, and a little waste lime (carbonate.) The filling was securely fastened in by boards. The next year the crop of sound fruit was sixteen bushels from an old shell of a tree that had borne nothing of any account for some time, and for seventeen years after filling the old pippin-tree continued to flourish and bear well."

Brine for Preserving Butter.—The Dutchess Farmer says: "To three gallons of brine, strong enough to bear an egg, add a quarter of a pound of nice white sugar and one tablespoonful of saltpeter. Boil the brine, and when it is cold strain carefully. Make your butter into rolls, and wrap each roll separately in a clean white muslin cloth, tying up with a string. Pack a large jar full, weight the butter down, and pour over the brine until all is submerged, This will keep really good butter perfectly fresh for a whole year. Be careful not to put any ice upon butter that you wish to keep for any length of time. In summer, when the heat will not admit of butter being made into rolls, pack closely in small jars, and using the same brine, allow it to cover the butter to the depth of at least four inches. This excludes the air, and answers very nearly as well as the first method suggested."

To Prevent Cows Kicking.—A strap buttoned snugly but not tight around a cow's belly, just forward of the udder, is said to be absolutely effectual. When the cow kicks the skin is so drawn under the strap as to cause great pain, and she learns after one or two efforts that it will not do.

A strange milker caused a favorite cow of ours to kick violently. Her feet were tied together with a small rope. It was first passed around one leg and a "half hitch" taken, then both ends were twisted together about three turns, a half hich again made and drawn up to about a foot at first; the both ends were passed around the other leg and tied with a square knot, one end being bowed so that it could be quickly untied. A cow so treated will probably soon try to kick, and, feeling the rope, will kick, as well as she can, frantically for awhile, perhaps even throw herself down, but she can hardly hurt herself if some one is near, and she soon gives up and allows herself to be milked quietly so long as the rope is on.—Moore's Rural Purify the Springs of Life.

It is a stereotyped fact, that the sources of vitality, the "springs of life," should be free from contamination. The fluids which, by their action upon the food, transform it into blood, and the great vital instrument itself, must be pure, if the muscles, the bones and nerves are properly nourished and kept vigorous. To this end the stomach, the liver and the bowels—all subsidiary agents, from uninterrupted or their various functions, cause if there are disturbed their allotted specialty become vitiated. Flechsic, say, the cause of all derangement which pervades them, by causing those bodily irregularities which produce disease. Hollo ter's Stomach Bitters The principal agent which this salutary alterative acts is as strong as its philosophy The organs of nutrition and locomotion; Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Biliousness, and Intermittent Fever, Rheumatism, or Inflammation of the Kidneys, Constipation, or Costiveness, Diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, or Urinary Organs, Debility, Dropsy, Dimness of Vision, Jaundice, and Nervous Complaints. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 a DAY. To Live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars, Sent free of charge o any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
No.91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
sept 6-12m

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

AT

D. S. WALTT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

FOR MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN SHIRT, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief Neckties, Wove and silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cuffs, Ruffllings, and Flutelings, Ladies Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jackonets, Striped and Figured Lawns White Piques, Mull Muslins, Check Muslins, Nainsook and Lace Edgings, Jaconet Lawns, Cambrics and Linens

HATS HATS HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Our Stock is complete in this line. Misses and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which may give satisfaction

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before we feel confident that we are prepared to do full as much as he done in the past

D. S. WALTT & BRO.,
34 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N.
oct 7-tf.

Phila Alcott. Wayne Alcott.

Excelsior Grocery
AND
COMMISSION HOUSE.
LOOK TO YOUR INTEREST—SAVE MONEY IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For pure and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our dep't second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Venison Hams, Onions, Oats, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, White, Black-eye, Stock and Black Peas, White and Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make five per cent per annum keep a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We have made the necessary arrangement with our Norfolk house to furnish the best of teas that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

Bingham School.

ESTABLISHED IN 1793.

MEBANEVILLE, N. C.

The 163rd session will begin 28th July, '75, in new buildings in all respects equal, and in some important respects superior, to any others in the State.

June 16-2m.

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All classes of working people, of either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.
Sept 15 12m

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade kindly given Mr. Adams promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lot of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to go to see Mr. Temple my successor, who I can assure, gives satisfaction to all who call with him.

I will still keep our old stand as Cotton Factor in the same building

LYNN ADAMS

march1 6-m

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight Spectacles and surgical Operations rendered useless The Inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new Patent Improved Ivory Eye Cups.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, aurists and dentists have had their sight permanently Restored for life, as I learn of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sight-dness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring; 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4 Epiphora, including or Watery Eyes; 5 Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6 Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from their disease, and 8 Amaurosis, or Inability or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Myiodesia—seeing specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight

Any one can use the Ivory Eye Cups without the aid of a doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate benefit from their use, and if using one, to try them aside forever We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are heeded, or will refund the money.

2 309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most exalted leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our City, is a conscientious and responsible man who is incapable of intentional deception or humbuggery."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the Patent Ivory Eye Cups thirteen days, and the Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles evenly years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 15 years' standing, in one minute, by the Patent Ivory Eye Cups.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the Patent Ivory Eye Cups, and I am well-pleased: they are good. I can place confidence in them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salyles Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after having almost entirely lost for 26 years.

Alex. K. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After local applications of my best eye-glasses, and paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your Patent Ivory Cups restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes.

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their names to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the Illustrated Physiology and Anatomy of the Eye, right of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street. New York City, N. Y.

For the worst cases of Myopia or Near-Sightedness use our New Patent Myopic Attachments, applied to the Ivory Eye Cups Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money by adjusting huge glasses on your nose and disfiguring your face

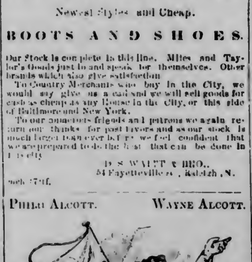
AGENTS WANTED

Employment to all. Agents wanted, Gentlemen or Ladies, for our New Patent Improved Ivory Eye Cups, just introduced in the market. The success is unparalleled by any other article. All persons out of employment, or those wishing to improve their circumstances, can make a respectable living at this light and easy employment. Hundreds of Agents are making from $5 to $20 a DAY. To live Agents $30 a week will be guaranteed.

Send your address for full particulars, Sent free of charge o any address. Write immediately to

DR. J. BALL & CO.,
NO.91 LIBERTY STREET,
P. O. Box 957. New York City, N. Y.
sept 6-12m

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN
CABINET ORGANS.
UNEQUALED Modified and UNAPPROACHED
in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded
THREE HIGHEST MEDALS
AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, AT
VIENNA; 1873; PARIS, 1867,
ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.
ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.
BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).
INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get Lowest consideration for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try to palm off some other make.
NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.
PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.
EASY PAYMENTS. For monthly or quarterly payments at correct cash rates. Rent pays for the organ.
CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.
apl 14-1 yr

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Eastern N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OATS FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.
apl 14-1 w.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no trade if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N.C.
June 16-1y

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

Richmond & Danville, Richmond & Danville R. W., N. C. Division, and North Western N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	Mail.	Express.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line Junc'n	9 32 "	6.20 "
" Salisbury.....	11.18 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.00 A M	10.50 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dandee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Burkville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond...	2.32 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	Mail.	Express
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M.	5.05 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dandee.....	10.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.50 "	1.17 P. M.
" Greensboro'..	2.45 A M	5.25 "
" Salisbury.....	5.21 "	8.16 "
" Air Line Junc'n	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlo.te..	8.03 A M	8.33 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail	Mail.
Leave Greensboro'..	3.00 A. M	Arrive 2.0 A. M
" Co. Shops.....	4.31 "	Leave 12.55 "
" Raleigh.....	5.31 "	5.10 "
arrive at Goldsboro	11.50 A M	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'....	4.31 P. M.
arrive at Salem	6.13 "
Leave Salem	8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro	10.25 "

Passenger trains leaving Raleigh at 8.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond at 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.55 A. M., arrive at Richmond 8.38 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN

Leave Raleigh,	2.45 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon,	5.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.51 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.45 P. M.

ACCOMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.2 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.15 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayw ood and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

Superintendent's Office,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 7th, 1874.

On and after Monday, 19 inst 7th, 1874, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Rail will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.20 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.25 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.00 A M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at R I ch with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points South.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Sup. Engineer.

OFFICE SUPT. OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 Noon
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.30 A M on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metallic Burial Cases, Self Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FOR HIRE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed

apl 19-tf

$5 TO $20 per day. Agents wanted. All classes of working people, of both sexes, young and old, make more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. We offer employment that will pay handsomely for every hour's work. Full particulars, terms, &c., sent free. Send us your address at once. Don't delay. Now is the time. Those who are always ready for work or business elsewhere, will rarely have learned what we offer. G Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine
May 20-1 y

THE GEM

A popular Note Book published at Nashville.—Send for a copy, learn as you want.

Price, - - - - - - - 35 cents per copy

L BRANSON,
Publisher, N. C.
1st 8-12m

WINNOWED HYMNS.—

A new and very popular Made Book for Sabbath schools.

Price per copy in boards, - - - - - 30 cts

L BRANSON, Bookseller,
Raleigh, N.C
apr 9-12m.

ATTENTION HOUSEKEEPERS!

— AND —

Ladies Generally.

Why will you try to cut with dull SCISSORS, and use dull KNIVES when only twenty-five cents will get a perfect sharpener, which will last a lifetime and never get out of order? Every Housekeeper in Enfield owns one, or has ordered one. Send 1 dollar to THE EAGLE to prove the reality of the articles offered. Young men wishing an agency for this will pay well do well to order one for Sample, with price list to agents. All orders should be addressed to

GEO. W. BRETT & BRO.,
Enfield, N. C.

P. S.—The best GLASS CUTTER known can also be bought of me for 25 cts. postpaid. G. W. B.
may 12-tf

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in morocco, gilt edge. $3 00.
" " cloth. 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV. F. L. REID, Louisburg, N. C. or REV. W. REID, Westward N. C.

G. T. Leach, N. Y. M. T. Leach

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

South-East Corner Market Square, Raleigh, N C

Again we take great pleasure in present ing our card and returning thanks to the readers of the Advocate for their very liberal patronage during the past few years, and offer them the large t and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Md. Tobacco and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in and giving our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Groceries and goods bought direct from the Factories and offered here at first profits.

We have now in store:

50 sacks, Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls A Sugar,
10 Bbls Ex C Sugar,
10 Bbls, B F Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Cubes,
10 " " Shorts,
50 Kegs English Soda,
Extra Oak Tan and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases O Alers,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
2,000 lbs. Bagging,
6000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
200 cases Fancy Crackers,
6 " Sizes Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
Queen W. P. and C. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
2 Dozen Adamantine Candles,
10 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer special inducements to country and merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and prices before purchasing elsewhere.

dec 9-tf

LEACH BROS

L. B. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them our large and well selected stock of

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and
General Merchandise,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make FLOUR a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BAGGING and TIES,

SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

Jan 26-tf

THE JAS. LEFFEL
Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
7,000 NOW IN USE!
Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.
Manufacturers also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Ginning Machinery, Cotton Gin Gearing, Shafting, Pulleys and other Castings a specialty. Machine made Gearing, Pinions and all kinds of Cut Teeth. Send for circular.
mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Soap, Oil, Turpentine, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec. 27 6t

EUCLID BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.
Exports Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Plantations, Court-houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.
apr 14-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

—o—

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURTS GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Miles and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.
oct 7-tf

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK, President. | Wm. M. COLE, Secretary
D. P. FACKLER, Actuary. | DANIEL AYRES, M.D., L.L.D., Med. Dir.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for Economy of Investment, Economy of Management, and Care in the Selection of Risks—upon what elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. It will be found in the Brooklyn Life

Wm. LITTLE, M.D., Medical Examiner.

A. W. LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina, Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS.

Marbles, Tops, and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

INSURE AGAINST FIRE!

In PESCUD & SON'S

Agency, Raleigh, N. C.

Money and time saved by those who insure through us in the following strong and prompt Companies, viz; Home, N. Y. Georgia Home, N. C. Home, City Fire, Richmond, New Orleans Amazon, Atlas, Hartford, Atlantic, New York, Fortunes Rival, Cal, Penn of Philadelphia, Franklin of Philadelphia.

Extra inducements offered to all who want Insurance on

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray: Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No., 34. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, September 1, 1875. | Whole No. 1,072.

Selected Poetry.

Doubts and Fears.

BY A. H. POCKLEY, M. D.

O Lord! how full of bliss is my heart
How quick my pulse to rise,
And tears unbidden start often part
My Saviour's name to speak.

At times my hopes seem bright and clear,
From earth uprapt I soar,
Then doubts beset my path with fear,
Perhaps I'm not forgiven.

At those I feel thy Presence sweet
My breast doth overflow,
Then thoughts arise (my ill self to feed,
And the seems cold as ice.

O! why this vacillating course,
Where lieth with thy sins contend?
Come with thy sins to Calvary's cross,
And cast them where they cannot rise.

No more I see them in their misery veil'd
The Lamb hath bled for me,
And sentence of his light prevails
In God's records pure and free.

Sweet Spirit of Right's peace divine
Thy healing presence show,
And I exultingly shall sing
Thy love to me is true.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Society.

DEAR BRETHREN: Having been requested to write something for the Advocate in the interest of the Widows and Orphans' Benefit Society of the N. C. Conference, M. E. Church, South, I have deferred doing so until now, hoping that some one better qualified to do justice to the subject, would render it unnecessary for me to write. The matter seems to have rested almost entirely unnoticed in many charges. I hope no one will think me pretentious in anticipating, even at this late day, so many able ministers of the North Carolina Conference, who are supposed to have truly at heart every enterprise that aims to promote the glory of our blessed Lord, and to extend his kingdom in the world. If this letter awaken a heartfelt interest in a good cause, it will not be in vain.

Innovations, whatever be their actual character, are generally looked upon with suspicion and distrust.—So strong is the love of precedent in the human breast, that even good men sometimes prefer to follow a faulty example, rather than risk the loss of an advantage, however small, in an old system, by making an effort at improvement. Owing to this principle, to a very great extent, at least, every movement involving the common good will ultimately go down under the tide of general disapprobation and neglect, unless its originators be men of resolution and intrepidity, and, at the same time, profoundly conscious of the justice of their cause. It is a wise provision of our Creator, that, in such a world as this, we should be endowed with the spirit of caution; otherwise we should soon drift away from every well established principle into the wildest anarchy and confusion. But when the quality of prudence becomes so far diseased, and so morbidly scrupulous, as to preclude every possibility of improvement, willing to remain forever satisfied with present attainments, rather than risk their diminution by an effort to extend them, it may well be called "do nothingism." Such a view of things will cause many of the most favorable opportunities of doing good in this short life to be ignored.

The course of wisdom lies between the two extremes. In regard to the Society under consideration, it seems right neither to endorse it blindly, nor to pass it by unnoticed. Let all take it into patient consideration, examine it as wise and good men, and they will then be the more justifiable in resting with their own conclusions. The aim of this article, as already said, is to awaken an interest in the cause—to induce the Methodists of North Carolina to stop and think on it. In the first place, it is important to gain an insight, as far as possible, into the nature of the enterprise. To those who know them personally, or otherwise, remarks would be superfluous. But many of our people in the State know nothing of them, at least as Methodists. The venerable Presiding Elder of the Washington District, who has had ample opportunity to form a correct estimate of their character, pronounced them, at the Plymouth District Conference, to be "men of intelligence, benevolence, and piety."—These are three excellent keys wherewith to unlock their hearts, and discover what motives prompted them in the projection of this scheme. That these same men feel the deepest interest, not only in the direct promulgation of the Gospel, but in every enterprise collateral therewith, I need only repeat the language of our beloved agent for Greensboro College, uttered on the floor of the Oxford District Conference:

"You all know very well," said he with peculiar emphasis, "what sort of a place Warrenton station is. It is the smallest, poorest place in all the North Carolina Conference. But I can truthfully say of that, as the blessed Saviour said of the woman who washed his feet with her tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head—'she hath done what she could;' and, if Oxford will only do better for Greensboro College, in proportion to her strength, than Warrenton has done, I can bestow no higher compliment than to state the fact."

These lovers of our great Methodism are the men who have given rise to the Widows' and Orphans' Benefit Society. Can any man question the purity of their motives? Is any heart so small, or any mind so narrow, as to indulge the thought that men, whose past history shows a record of devotion to the Methodist Church, and to the principles of Christ's holy religion would, [illegible] have received such a plan from any but the best of motives? I trust not.

The next point to be considered is the object to be accomplished—a feature of vital importance. While it is an admitted fact, that men of pure intentions sometimes, from the nature of circumstances, commit errors in judgment and attempt to perform works that are inexpedient, still, in this case, it would be needless indeed to bring any argument to prove an object to be a good, which already has the sympathy and support of every generous Christian heart. The object itself need only be stated, and all good people are ready to approve it. The object is this: to provide a support for the families of those men who have either died, or worn themselves out in the work of preaching the Gospel.—Surely no good man will oppose such a purpose as that. Just at this juncture another point comes up for consideration, which is essential to the very existence itself of the Society; and that is its plan of operation. In all designs, great or small, some method of execution must be adopted, in order to succeed. (For a full account of the charter and by laws of this Society, see "Raleigh Christian Advocate" of April 21st, 1875.) Inasmuch as this Society, from the very nature of the case, could not embrace at first all who belong to that class of persons whom it designs to benefit, it becomes necessary to observe some regulated limitation in the distribution of its funds; which limitation is set forth in the provision, that the families of those ministers only who are members of the Society at the time they die or become worn out, shall be beneficiaries.

This enterprise, as already intimated, had its origin in the noble-hearted desire of a few lay brethren to relieve, in some measure, at least, the anxiety of mind that the ministry feel for the support and comfort of their families when they shall be taken from them; and while they do not insist upon their (the ministry) becoming corresponding secretaries, they affectionately and respectfully request them to accept this office, where they feel it can be done consistently with their pastoral duties; to send them (i. e. to the Financial Secty) the names of proper persons, male or female, to be appointed Corresponding Secretaries; and to throw their influence in favor of the Society by explaining its nature and aims to their people as opportunities may occur. If all of the ministry will comply with even the last part of this request, the matter will soon be understood throughout the entire Conference, and this will be one great step towards success. I have written too much, perhaps, already, but some of the objections which one or two have offered to the Society ought to be noticed. It has been said that the plan will be impracticable because of the prospective difficulty of establishing a satisfactory basis for the distribution of funds to the beneficiaries. There may be some little difficulty here, it is true; but certainly not enough to thwart the purpose in view. The representative members of the Society and one another, will, no doubt, be fully competent to adjust that question very readily. Only keep self in subjection, and there will be but little difficulty then. There is much more impracticability involved in the collection than in the distribution of the funds.

Again, another objects that he may contribute his means and his influence to this cause, and yet, because he and his family may not come to actual want, they will probably receive no pecuniary remuneration for what he has done. This is only a conjecture at best; but, supposing it to be correct, you will not lose your reward.—You will be laying up for yourself "treasures in heaven," and securing a rich inheritance beyond the stars, by thus devoting some part of what God has entrusted to your keeping, to the benefit of your brethren, who, in the providence of God, may need it more than you.

It has been said of the Society that "the whole thing has an evil tendency." This is only an assertion, a petitio principii, and needs no refutation.

Again, it has been said that it will be subversive of piety in the manner following: The establishment of a permanent fund of this character will render the Conference collection, if not unnecessary, certainly less imperative; to render this collection unnecessary or less imperative, will cut off or injure an important branch of christian liberality; but liberality is essential to the life of piety; therefore the plan is subversive of piety. This instance of reasoning is based upon the assumption that the Conference collection, not in the "spirit" only, but also in the "letter," is a "sine qua non," and consequently may not be improved upon. It is truly difficult to conceive how the co-operation of a permanent fund [illegible] will curtail the spirit of liberality in this particular direction, and not rather open up a deeper and wider stream in the direction of missions, and other benevolent causes. Let us help the Society, brethren.

Yours in Christ,

JOS. W. SHACKFORD.

Warrenton, N. C., Aug. 10th, 1875.

For the Advocate.

The Vatican

Man is a most singular compound of mind and matter, and ever since his creation or rather his first defection he has been strangely at war with himself—his creator and a war of elements infinite. He has however through the gracious mercy of his Redeemer been left with two guides, —he, written and the unwritten code.

Yet 'tis strange that with such valuable and comprehensive knowledge for his guidance, he should so often be found in the misty vales of ignorance, prejudice and dishonor.—It is also remarkable that with the plain teachings of revelation and the constant action of the unwritten word upon the hearts of men, that such diversity of opinion should exist and so many avenues be laid out to the central goal of his hopes and to which every sect claims to possess the surest roadway.—But this article is directed chiefly to the one class yclept Catholic. It cannot be expected in an article in a modern newspaper, devoted as it necessarily is to such a variety of matter, that room can be found for a subject upon which unmberless volumes have been writ ten and covering so many burial centuries of time—no the reader can only expect a few general thoughts.—Religion embodies the purest thought and loftiest conception both of our reason and spiritual nature and is Religion only so far as is properly directed by the two great guides—the written and the unwritten word and is ever found in company with common sense and duty. The Bible the written guide is our great central light and spiritual chart, and contains every thing necessary for man's guidance here and essential unmingled happiness hereafter.

It is a most excellent civic chart also for from it is deduced all the great principles which lay at the foundation of all good government and arrangement of perfect society.—Man from the evil and imperfect surroundings of his own nature could not have devised even a frame work for a harmonious social system. The Bible is the grand constitution of God's kingdom on earth, and if its teachings only related to time it would be still the most perfect guardian of human rights—it refers the legislator to the true code of honor by rendering unto Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's—balancing the scales of justice by paying tribute also.

It teaches nothing to which any human tribunal or civic arrangement could object—for it even teaches its own subjects to be obedient to such powers as be. In social life it enjoins hospitality—to the afflicted it holds out comfort—to the weary rest—to the fettered eternal liberty—in sum, as it has been alchemised, it is all in [illegible]

I therefore assume the postulate no one can be in error, or justly taxed with being uncharitable by contending for the purity of the Scriptures and denouncing any association or power which builds on any premises contrary to its teachings, but consider it an incumbent duty and exalted privilege.

A Party—for as such only I can classify it,—which has for its head an infallible human leader (strongest of paradoxes) is so strangely inconsistent with common sense and the teachings of both the written and unwritten word that we cannot fail without being recreant to a high sense of duty, classify and attack it as a dangerous heresy—a grievous monstrosity and as a chief auxiliary of the Prince of Darkness.

In the claim of its leader (the Pontiff at Rome) as vice gerent of Jesus, it grossly falsifies the assumption—for the intelligent reader saint or sinner cannot detect the slightest similarity in Divine Revelation between the Author of all things and His would-be vice gerent on earth, and it is not in consonance even with common sense to suppose that any being, much less an omniscient one, should select for the standard bearer of his truths one who would claim His own prerogative of infallibility; and in setting up for himself a temporal kingdom in direct antagonism to His known teachings in His daily ministration while in the flesh, it is a most blasphemous assumption and enough to provoke the scorn of the damned again. As claiming the chair of succession of His chief Apostle he occupies a most untenable position, for he teaches and claims what Peter never claimed or taught, but always denounced, and never sought for himself any seat of a merely judicial or temporal nature. Apart from all religious considerations [illegible] upon his temporal power.

Under our great civic chart it was designed by the great men, who framed it, that here in America man should be as free from bondage as the constitution of his innerently evil nature would allow and made special provision under its aegis for untrammelled christianity and a haven for the oppressed of every clime, not dreaming in the near future any danger could arise, at least from any source claiming itself christian, for it could but look upon any such only with the eye of grateful commendation and embrace it as a valuable auxiliary to the ends to be met. But so it is—just as the nation's Centennial Sun is gilding the bulwarks of her safety and her great heart beats with joyous pride at the united efforts of her people to build up on an enduring basis a temple of civil and religious liberty under whose expansive covering the nations of the earth may assemble, a strange star arises in her political heavens—red with crimson—typical of blood—and the Red Cap of a Cardinal is flouted in the face of American liberty and a usurping and despotic priesthood sitting in self righteous assize upon both civil and religious liberty essaying to undo what under God our venerable fathers hath wrought—obsoleting the sacred ties of the family relation and prostituting our generous system of public education to his base purposes and seeking to close every avenue of constitutional government—shorn of its power in the east by the masterly and decided acumen of the German premier of self aggrandizement.

From a few cautious followers it has grown large enough to be openly dogmatic. Already this Roman Hierarchy claim to number eight million of adherents in our population of forty. Three of our chief cities are largely under its dominion—it finds in the leading secular newspaper of the country a fulsome apologist—and such a rapid spreading ulcer upon our body politic that unremoved will soon ulcerise our whole social mass. By its Peter's Pence it has grown sufficiently powerful in pecuniary resources to prey heavily upon the mammon worshipping devotees of our voting population and by a cunning strategy and artifice eventually seek by taking advantage of our close contending political parties, to set up and elect the chief officer of the Republic sworn to do all things at the beck of their august sovereign whether or not conflicting with known laws, civil liberty, human rights or common justice.

Great events in history are of slow growth—their appearance sudden;—startling was the war rocket which so suddenly illumined the harbor of Charleston, and as suddenly may inquisatorial vengeance be sprung upon us, and sweep like the hand of a besom over the fair fields of our heritage and the banner of the Cross be found trailing in a sea of blood.

But thank God! as an offset we see a rapid convergence of Protestant sentiment, who united will yet firmly plant the standard of truth upon the sacred ramparts of our militant Zion.

Fraternally,

JNO. D. THORNE.

For the Advocate,

Discussion with a Hunkelite

MESSRS EDITORS: Thinking the readers of the Advocate would like to hear something more in regard to the discussion between Revs. P. C. Henkel, and F. A. Schmidt of the Henkelite Lutheran Church and myself, in the town of Newton in July last, I will give you a short sketch of it on each proposition, and first, as brother Barrett gave you a correct sketch of our winding up with Rev. P. C. Henkel, I will inform you how I got into the discussion with the Rev. F. A. Schmidt of St. Louis Mo. It seems that Mr. Schmidt had been sent for to aid Mr. Henkel as a substitute; but when I refused to accept a substitute, Mr. Schmidt challenged me—so I agreed to discuss with him the four remaining propositions, if we could agree as to the preliminaries. I proposed that each of us choose two moderators, and the four thus chosen, should choose the fifth if necessary,—which were doubtless the antedeluvians. Acts 7,51, "Ye stiff necked and uncircumcised in heart, and ears, ye do always resist the Holy Ghost, as your father's did, so do ye." In the above the Jews are charged, not with resisting the word, but the Spirit, which shows, that there was a direct influence of the Spirit upon their hearts. Nehemiah 9,20, "Thou gavest also thy good spirit to instruct them." Here the spirit is spoken of, as disconnected from the written word. Rom. 8th chapter. "The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God." In the above quotation, it is not said, that the word beareth witness, but the spirit itself. Rom. 5th chapter. "The love of God is shed abroad in our hearts, by the Holy Ghost, which is given unto us."

In the above the Holy Ghost is given directly, for the express purpose of shedding abroad, in our hearts, a Savior's love.

Other arguments, and quotations from the Bible, were used by us, in confirmation of our position taken on the proposition.

Fraternally,

DANIEL MAY.

P. S. In my next, I will give you a sketch of the second proposition, as discussed by Rev. Schmidt and myself viz: In the Lord's supper, in communion with bread and wine, are the body and blood of Christ: and the words of Christ in this institution, are to be understood literally, or as they read.

D. M.

For the Advocate.

The Great Camp-Meeting.

DEAR ADVOCATE: Four years ago, just now, I was here for the first time in my life attending the "Great Camp Meeting." For forty years camp-meetings have been held regularly at this place, attended annually by thousands of people. To the stranger it is a constantly recurring question, and a very curious one too, why during that length of time so little improvement has been made in the art of holding camp meetings.

Without attempting to answer this question, we may be allowed merely to drop the reflection, as we pass on, that intelligence seems to be necessary as a foundation of improvement in everything.

I do not think the number in attendance this year is altogether so great as common. There is not so large a representation of strangers and foreigners. I doubt if the "Great Camp-Meeting" is as popular as in former days.

The occasion of this Camp-Meeting has become, long since, famous (I will not say infamous) for disorder, and bad conduct. It has been sometimes denounced, even, as an annual nuisance, and the fame of the ugly things done here has contributed largely to bring camp-meetings into disrepute.

Last year the Presiding Elder, Rev. Dr. Burkhead, determined upon reform, and with him, as you very well know, to determine means to act.

Calling to his assistance the tent-holders who desired better things, he inaugurated measures for the suppression of disorder and the maintenance of decorum. These means however proved only partially effective.

The evil was checked, but not cured. The disturbers of the peace were partially restrained for the time, and some were reported to the proper authorities, but for some reason never punished. The consequence, of course, was that they and their friends were greatly enraged, and in their resentment criticised the Presiding Elder severely.

This year it was urged that if no active measures were taken against them they would be thrown entirely upon their honor, and their friends believed there would be no disturbance. It was agreed finally that the experiment should be tried. We believe in that kind of discipline. We believe in appealing to honor, where there is honor to appeal to, but when we fight with beasts we prefer "powder and ball." No sooner had the exercises of the meting begun under the new experiment than the rowdies began too. They yelled, and cursed, and crowed and danced, and threw stones, and fired pistols, and drank whisky, and what else this deponent saith not.—Things proceeded thus until Sunday morning, when Dr. Burkhead, in counsel with the other ministers present, determined to suspend the exercises of the meeting till measures could be adopted for restoring and preserving good order.

The tent-holders were appealed to, and, in response, one hundred and twenty eight came forward and signed a resolution pledging themselves to suppress all disorder, and, in case they failed, authorizing the Presiding Elder to close the meeting. Sheriff Robeson was on the ground and promptly took the matter in hand.—Several parties were immediately arrested, examined by the magistrate, and bound over to answer in court.—By three o'clock in the afternoon, quiet reigned and worship was resumed.

Up to the present (Monday evening) the order has been all that we could reasonably ask, and the meeting is growing in interest. To day Dr. Burkhead preached an excellent sermon to a large, attentive congregation.

He is sustained in his efforts to conquer rowdyism and vindicate the honor of the church by all his brother ministers, and a large number of the best and truest men both in and out of the church; and we are glad to see that the number increases daily. Should the Bishop remove him to supply the work at Raleigh, which we fear will be done, no matter how well his place may be supplied, the whole District will recognize it as a serious misfortune. He is doing a work that needs to be done. He is conquering an element that must be conquered before the highest prosperity can be attained, and no man has the conquering qualities more eminently than he.

We are glad to make the acquaintance of Prof. Thompson, Principle of Rock Spring High School, an Institution of real merit that has not disgraced itself with the name of "College." As a teacher and manager he stands deservedly high in the confidence of his patrons. Already the fruit of his labor is showing itself in the young men and women under his tuition some of whom are already active members of the Church inspired by the spirit of improvement, and giving promise of a higher social life than their fathers ever attained. If this school is sustained as it deserves to be, a brighter day is in store for Old Rock Spring. Vulgarity and rowdyism cannot live in the shadow of an institution of learning properly managed and sanctified by the spirit of christianity. Such schools are the real hope of our country and our race. The christian religion must preside over our institutions of learning, or they will be poison fountains. Knowledge without religion is a dangerous weapon placed in the hands of a vicious being. And woe to the land whose youth are trained in schools that ignore christianity and the christian's Bible! We do not say Protestant christianity. We recognize no other sort. We therefore enter our solemn protest against the education of any of our people by either Jews, Papists, or Infidels. Better a thousand times that they be not educated at all.

W. M. ROBEY.

For the Advocate.

In West Virginia.

MESSRS EDITORS: For the first time since my entering the ministry, I availed myself of an opportunity to visit my native state, [Virginia.] Leaving home in Washington N. C, on the 26th of July I arrived at Charleston W. Va, on the 31st in time to enjoy the closing exercises of the Charleston District Conference, which commenced on the 30th of July, Bishop Dogget presiding. The West Virginia Conference seems to be gaining strength.

The Bishop told them it was working well. At Charleston they have a very good church, but are somewhat embarassed to pay for it. I heard the Bishop preach on Sunday to an overwhelming congregation, and all seemed deeply interested, and I do not see how any one can hear Bishop Doggett preach and not be interested. My visit to West Virginia was at a bad time. I was told it had been raining for forty days. It rained more, or less every day I spent there. The crops were almost totally destroyed The wheat on the highlands had been harvested and shocked in the field, and the wet spell lasted so long that the shocks looked as green with spotted wheat as the fields did with grass in many places. The rivers overflowed their banks, spreading destruction over the low lands. The trains on the Chesapeake and Ohio Rail Road were stopped for several days by landslides. On my return I had to go by steamer from Charleston to Galiopolis, Ohio, There I met Bishop Doggett who had started home from Charleston by the C & O. R. R. but could not get through. I had the pleasure of traveling with the Bishop from Galiopolis to Washington City. The Ohio River was fifty two feet above the usual water mark, and several towns on its banks were inundated. The town of Point Pleasant seemed to be entirely overflown. The people however seemed to take drowning out very well, for the most of the inhabitants, or, a great many of them, were out in some flat boats, having a picnic on the water in the streets when we passed. On my return I spent one day at the Wesley grove camp meeting, fourteen miles above Baltimore. There was an immense crowd of people gathered there. I heard two capital sermons, one from Bro. Busey, the P. E. of the Baltimore District, and one from Dr J. O. A. Clark, of the South Georgia Conference, and representative of the Wesley Monumental Church of Savannah. I hope and believe there will be a great good done at Wesley Grove.

I had a pleasant stay of three days in Baltimore, and a pleasant passage home on the Steamer Lonisa from up Roanoke river. The Louisa makes weekly trips from Plymouth to Baltimore, and I would advise all who wish to go from these parts to Baltimore to seek a passage with Capt. Walker. His inestimable lady lives aboard the Steamer and knows how to make a Steamboat a pleasant home for a traveler while the Capt is a model Steamboat man.

Yours &c.,

L. L. NASH.

Bath N. C. Aug. 15th 1875.

The Holy Spirit.

The Holy Spirit is Jehovah, a person in the self-existent godhead, equal with the Father in every attribute. His office name is Spirit; the idea is taken from air, such as we breathe, to denote his being the breather, or inspirer, of spiritual life. Every thing done by him in this character tends to holiness, and therefore he is called the Holy Spirit. His office in the covenant, as well as his co-equality with the Father and the Son, entitle him to equal worship and to equal love. For he undertook to carry into execution the purposes of the Father's love in Jesus. Their fulfilment depends entirely upon his grace. The Son has been incarnate; he has brought in everlasting righteousness, and made the atonement for sin: the Father is satisfied with his finished work, and has demonstrated his acceptance of it: the God-man is now upon the throne of glory with all power in heaven and earth. To this the Holy Spirit bears witness: it is his Divine office, to apply the salvation of Jesus, and to make it effectual. He does all in the heirs of promise. The Father gave them to the Son, the Son redeemed them, but they are the common mass of corruption, dead in trespasses and sins, till the Spirit of life enter into them. They feel not their guilt nor their danger, till he convince them. They are quite ignorant of God, and of the things of God, till he make them wise unto salvation. They cannot believe in Jesus, till the Spirit of faith enable them. They cannot rejoice in the Father's love, till the Comforter makes them sensible of it They are without strength, until they be strengthened with might by the Spirit in the inner man. They cannot go on in their Christian course, but by a constant supply of the Spirit. They cannot hold out to the end, but from his abiding with them forever. So that he is the Lord and giver of life. He begins the good work, and he confirms it, until the day of Jesus Christ. Every motion of spiritual life is from him, and all those whom he makes alive, he makes sensible of the debt which they owe him. He manifests his love to them, and thereby he engages their love to him.—They experience how great the love of the Spirit is. They are sensible of their obligations to him, and desire to be thankful for them. Thus their affections return to the proper object of love and worship. They receive daily the blessings of the Father's love through faith in the Son's salvation, by the applying power of the Holy Spirit, and hereby they are reconciled to the first and great commandment; it is become the delight of their souls to love the Lord God.—Romaine.

Temptations.

Yes! multitudinous temptations are, indeed, a great dignity, as helping to assimilate us to the image of Christ; and, if we comport ourselves well under them, a great means of spiritual advancement. When a hard winter sets in, and the earth is covered with a mantle of snow, and each little knot and spray in the hedgerow is encrusted with icicles, vegetation seems to be killed, and every green thing blighted. But it is not so. The genial forces of the earth are driven inward, and working deep in her bosom. The snow mantle is doing for her what the fur mantle does for the human frame,—concentrating and preserving the vital heat within. So it is in Temptation: the time of temptation is a cheerless and dreary hour, when everything seems at a standstill, and the spiritual pulse can no longer be heard, it beats so faintly to the outward touch: but if the will is faithful and true, and the soul patient, the life is really concentrating itself, and rallying its forces within. The cheerless outward aspect is nothing;—there are hidden agencies at work, which in due time shall bring out the full bloom and redolence of a spiritual spring. There have been moderate Christians, there have been shallow Christians, without very much temptation; but there never yet was a saintly Christian, never yet one who pressed to the higher summits of the spiritual life, never one, whose banner bore the strange device "Excelsior," who was not made the victim of manifold temptations. There are many good men in the world who seem to live in a continual light gaiety and sunshine of heart, and yet whom it would be quite wrong and wide of the mark to reckon irreligious men; they pay a very unfeigned attention to the concerns of Religion, are in high esteem both for kindness and prudence, are counted examples in their social circle, and are in their way devout,—and all this without seeming to find much difficulty and impediment. If they are what they appear to be, they are not deep men; and while we may not for a moment judge them otherwise than charitably, we need not for a moment envy them. When God besets the soul with temptations, He is calling it to something high in spiritual enterprise, and great in spiritual attainment. Let us recognize it as being so, and pray earnestly not to frustrate the vocation by the perversity and sluggishness of our own wills.

"My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations: knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing."—Goulburn.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, } Editors.
W. T. Gray, Esq., }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.00
SIX MONTHS " " 1.25
If payment be delayed six months, 2.50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 1, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Our Trip in the West.

We, the senior, after a short absence from home, are again at our post and ready for duty. Taking leave of our sanctum on Friday the 13th ult., we were soon comfortably seated on the westward bound train. Reaching High Point at 3 A. M., we stopped over to shake hands with the brethren and witness the closing exercises of the Greensboro District Conference. We took lodgings at the Heady Hotel, where we were sumptuously entertained during our stay. Mine host, the landlord, has graduated in the business of hotel keeping, and we commend his house to those of our friends who are seeking a pleasant summer resort. Saturday came and with it much rain. The Conference was full of business. Dr. Wilson, the Presiding Elder, was in the chair and presided with ease and dignity.—The interests of Greensboro, Trinity and Davenport Colleges were considered. The claims of the ADVOCATE were prominently brought before the Conference. Several speeches, short but strong and appropriate, were made, and resolutions endorsing and commending the paper were unanimously adopted. The plan for raising funds to pay off the indebtedness of Greensboro Female College was submitted to the Conference and adopted. A full account of the proceedings of the Conference, with resolutions and reports touching the important interests of the church, will, by resolution, be furnished for publication in the ADVOCATE.

Monday morning at three o'clock, perhaps the most unseasonable hour to start on a journey, we were aroused from sleep, and in company with Rev. W. H. Bobbitt, in charge of Greensboro Station, we were soon on board the cars and off for Salisbury, and from thence to Statesville. At the latter place we had the pleasure of meeting Rev. T. P. England, who was Robbins, the distinguished member of Congress from that District, and other acquaintances. Our place of destination was Jonesville. We procured a horse and buggy and started on the trip, distance thirty-five miles. The roads were dreadfully washed and the red mud as heavy as it is at any time during mid-winter. We had not gone far on our journey before we discovered that Mr. Keerans, proprietor of the livery stable, had made a great mistake in furnishing us a horse. In appearance the horse was all right—he was likewise kind and gentle—but he was slow, thick winded, short-winded, harsh-winded and wind-broken. Well we felt sorry—sorry for the horse—sorry for ourselves, and sorry for the owner—we had never had any experience with that sort of a horse. Now and then, as we were plodding along through the mud—up hill and down hill—we would meet a stranger, and if he looked good natured and somewhat knowing, we would ask him if he thought a winded-broken horse could stand a trot. One replied if he was used to it he could. So we felt better and the first nice piece of road we came to, we cracked the whip and "Bob" struck a slow trot. We had not gone far, however, before we concluded that if "Bob" was used to being "thick-winded" that he was not usual to trotting. We shortly inquired of another stranger if he thought "Bob" could stand the trip. "O yes," [illegible] at it" and at it we went, and we did nothing else but keep him at it all the time. Night came on and we were right glad to find ourselves enjoying the hospitality of Rev. T. A. Nicholson, recently elected to the Convention from Iredell county. An elegant supper—a social chat—family worship, and then to bed—we were never more refreshed from sleep. Morning came, and the sun shone out bright and beautiful. We were soon on the road and pressing forward to our destination. Our experience did not vary materially from that of the day previous. In the afternoon we reached Jonesville and had the delightful satisfaction of greeting our aged parents, and we felt compensated for the bitter experience and hardships on the way.

On Wednesday morning we were honored with the privilege of uniting in marriage, Rev. W. M. Robey, the popular president of Davenport Female College, to Miss M. S. Claywell, one of Jonesville's fairest daughters. May long life and happiness be their's!

Rev. T. S. Whittington has charge of a flourishing school at Jonesville. He is teaching in the Van Eaton Academy, and in establishing himself in this community as a teacher.—It was our pleasure to meet with Rev. R. T. N. Stephenson, who has pastoral charge of the church at that place. He is closing up his fourth year on the Jonesville circuit.

Elkin and Jonesville are divided by the Yadkin River. As a manufacturing village Elkin stands foremost among the villages of the West. The Gwyn family, who reside at this place, are extensively and favorably known in this and other States. Messrs. R. R. Gwyn & Co., by fair dealing and industry, have firmly established themselves in business. They do an extensive trade in Western Carolina and Virginia. For refinement, culture and morality, it is unsurpassed by any community in the State.

Upon our return we spent a night in Statesville. This is a growing town. A large number of buildings have recently gone up and many are now in course of erection. Methodism, as we were informed, is keeping pace with the growth of the town. A parsonage has been built upon the church lot now occupied by the faithful pastor, Rev. J. W. Wheeler, and a new and elegant brick church is soon to be built. The contract has already been put out for the brick, lumber, &c., and it is hoped the church will be ready for use in the early part of next year. Rev. D. R. Bruton, the Presiding Elder of the District, resides in Statesville.—He is making a fine impression on the District, and is doing valuable work for the Church. He is now in the midst of the camp meeting season on his District. It would have given us pleasure to have joined him and taken part in the delightful exercises of some of these meetings, but duties at home compelled us to forego this pleasure.

During our trip we were highly gratified to find the growing crops looking so well. The corn crop is unusually good—never better. On Hunting Creek and the Yadkin we passed through lowland farms embracing hundreds of acres of the most luxuriant growth of corn we have ever seen. The West is a great country, and it is developing much more rapidly than we had supposed. In the upper part of Iredell, Yadkin and parts of Surry, they have a full crop of apples. If some of the orchards we saw were on the line of the railroad, thousands of dollars could be realized from the sale of fruit in Eastern Carolina. As it is, they are drying large quantities of fruit and will ship it to points on the road as soon as it is ready for market. The demand will be great, and it will necessarily command a high price.

Death of Mayor Separk.

We are pained to announce the death of J. H. Separk, Mayor of this city, who died at his residence on Monday morning the 30th. It is seldom that a community is called upon to mourn the loss of so valuable a citizen as he was. He was elected Mayor last May, having been elected to that office by the Board of Aldermen of the city. His election gave almost universal satisfaction, and the rigid and impartial administration of the affairs over which he had control, added to the reputation which he had acquired in private life as a competent, straightforward, honest man. He had been during his whole life, previous to his election as Mayor, an industrious mechanic and was regarded as one of the most competent machinists in the State. In 1872 he was nominated by the Democratic convention which assembled in Greensboro, for the position of Superintendent of Public Works, but shared the fate of the other nominees of that convention.

Mayor Separk was an earnest and faithful member of Edenton Street Methodist Church, and was devoted to Methodism. His afflicted wife and children have the sympathies of the community whose public places are draped in mourning for the dead, but what is sweeter than all else, they have the assurance that after a pure and correct life, their departed one is reaping eternal joys as his reward.

A Good Offer.

We propose to send the Advocate to new subscribers from this issue until the first of January 1876 for 60 cents, postage paid.

Clubs of 10 subscribers will receive the Advocate from now until 1st of January, [illegible] paid, at 50 cents for each subscriber. We want a reliable person in every community to act as agent. Will our preachers, itinerant and local, call attention to this announcement and urge upon the people to avail themselves of this excellent offer?

We make this proposition for the purpose of putting the Advocate into the hands of persons who have heretofore not taken it, feeling assured that when once they become acquainted with it, they will not deny themselves the pleasure and benefit of its continued visits. A thousand new subscribers ought to be obtained at these rates. We await responses to our offer.

Extensive revivals of religion are in progress in various sections of the Conference. We hear of many happy conversions and accessions to the church.

The revival at Holland's Church near this city, under the direction of Rev. J. E. Thompson, continues with increasing interest.

From the extracts which Prof Domb sends us from the unpublished autobiography of his father, it will be seen that the lamented Rev. Peter Domb, D. D. suggested the name "Methodist Episcopal Church, South."

A Virgin of Marble

The N. Y. Observer says it has pleased the Pope of Rome to send a marble statue of the Virgin Mary to Bishop Gross of the Romish Seminary at Macon, Georgia; it is to be set up in the chapel and the Pope in an official letter, now before us, makes the following pledge:

"To all the faithful who visit this image of the Divine Mother in said oratory, and who recite the Hail, Mary, three times, we grant one hundred days' indulgence. Moreover, to all those who with the same disposition shall recite therein the Litany of the Blessed Virgin (Loretto), we grant an indulgence of three hundred days. The aforesaid indulgences may be applied by way of suffrage to the suffering souls in purgatory."

We may expect pilgrimages now to be set on foot, or on railroad, to the sunny South, that "suffering souls in purgatory" may be relieved by praying to a stone statue in Georgia which has come all the way from Rome! Is it true that "where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to be wise!"

The Southern physicians are much troubled by insanity among the negroes, caused by voodooism, which is said to be very largely on the increase. Well, what is there in voodooism, or witchcraft, or spiritualism, or paganism, any more repugnant to the Bible and common sense, than there is in a nun sending a marble image from Rome to America with a promise that saying "Hail Mary" three times before it, shall help suffering souls in purgatory?

We learn also that Herbert Vaughan, D. D., Roman Catholic Bishop of Salford, accompanied by several priests, has sailed on the steamer Oceanic for New York. He goes to promote the Roman Catholic missions among the negroes of the Southern States—Which is but giving them more of the same thing.

Revival Intelligence.

Rev. T. W. Guthrie writes, under date of Aug. 24th: "We have just closed two meeting at two churches on Laurinburg circuit. Result, 60 conversions,—38 at one and 22 at the other. The only Local preacher we have, Bro. N. McN. Smith, rendered excellent service and so did many of the laymen. We thank God and take courage."

A friend, "Ruth," writing to us from Kinston, says: "Out in the country, on a hill stands Woodington church, (a free church) which has been standing many years, formerly occupied by the Missionary Baptists, and Universalists, but now by the Methodists. The Methodists organized a church in 1870, and have now a membership of fifty or more. The protracted meeting for this year, commenced on the last day of July. On Sunday the attendance was great and the church was crowded to overflowing. We were happy in having Rev. E. A. Yates and Rev. J. N. Andrews with us. The sermons were listened to with respectful and devout attention. The meeting lasted 10 days. The church was warmed, and sinners were converted to God. Our beloved presiding elder and pastor labored among us with earnestness and zeal—and used with well directed ambition the great gifts so graciously bestowed upon them."

Rev. M. L. Wood writes, August 9th, that the "campmeeting at Snow Creek was well attended, considering the quantity of rain. The preaching was very good, and a good influence rested upon the congregation—though there were but few conversions. Only three joined the Church."

Cheap Board.

Bro. Betts is right. Board at College has been too expensive, and nearly all other items of expense have been too great. But the word "board" is very indefinite, it is construed in various ways. Board at Trinity means a furnished room, a servant to chop wood, build fires, bring water, keep the room in order &c, and diet at the table. A month at Trinity means thirty days; and hence by the regular college rule five months' board at $11 per month only costs about $57. In making estimates, it is fair to know what is meant by the terms used. It will be seen in some cases, perhaps most, that board simply means diet, and that there are charges for rooms, servants, &c.

TRINITY [illegible] Georgia.—Bishop Pierce will aid him in preparing the history. The venerable Dr. Lovick Pierce, so familiar with Georgia Methodism, could furnish much valuable material for the work. We hail with pleasure this announcement, and trust the day is not far distant when some suitable person will write the history of North Carolina Methodism.

Roman Catholic priests are usually tyrannical and severe in their dealings with their people, but they sometimes do a "good thing," and we commend the good taste, and almost the action, of the Montreal priest who, a dispatch of last week says, has given notice that he will refuse sacrament to the members of his church who wear low neck dresses or "pull back" skirts.

The minutes of the Annual Conferences of the M. E. Church in Canada for the year 1875 furnish the subjoined statistical summaries: Ministers, 247, an increase of 22; members, 23,-012, an increase of 512; Sunday-schools, 332; scholars, 17,654; officers and teachers, 2,730; value of church property, $888,000. This is a good showing, for which they should praise God.

"Who Named our Church?"

MESSRS. EDITORS: I send you the following extracts from "An Autobiography" of my lamented father, Rev. Peter Doub, D. D., that I have now in my possession.

Yours truly,
WILL. C. DOUB.

FIRST EXTRACT.—"After the General Conference (of 1844) adjourned late in June, he returned and soon entered upon the work of the District. The action of the late General Conference was laid before the Quarterly Meeting Conferences for their action, so far as it related to the necessity of a Southern organization. And after a full explanation by the P. E. of the ground and reasons of this action of the fifty-three, [the Minority] and a full and friendly discussion of the "Plan of Separation," the Conferences (most of them unanimously, and the others by large majorities) came to the conviction that the matter was one of necessity, and therefore they adopted resolutions approving of the course proposed.

"These actions the P. E. carried to Conference, held at Pittsboro, N. C., at the close of the year. Similar resolutions were brought up from the other Districts. These were committed to H. G. Leigh, R. I. Carson and Peter Doub and several others for examination, and report thereon to Conference. In this committee the name of the Southern organization was debated; when the writer suggested the name now known as the title of the Southern Church. It was adopted by the Committee and by the Conference. He was elected one of the delegates to attend the Convention held at Louisville, Kentucky, May 1845."

SECOND EXTRACT.—"In 1845, his destination being Raleigh District, he reached it early enough to meet his first appointment, and attend a few on the first round, and then in company with the other delegates, he made his way to Louisville to attend the Convention. He reached the seat of the Convention several days before it convened. Was appointed one of the Committee of Organization. In this committee the Title of the Southern Church was debated by a number of delegates from different Conferences, when the writer again nominated the present Title, which was adopted by a very large majority."

Religious Brevities

M. D. Conway, in a letter about the decadence of spiritualism in Europe says that "there is now not a medium in London whose frauds have not been exposed to the satisfaction of all, except to the large class of those who wished to be deceived." The accessions to this great error will decrease as new frauds are exposed.

Dr. Chambers, of Philadelphia, after running an Independent congregation one of the largest audiences in that city, has returned to the Presbyterian fold. He feels the power and value of organization to ensure extended and permanent results.

Rev. Luther M Smith, D. D., has been elected to fill the Chair of Chancellor of the Southern University at Greensboro, Alabama. This is certainly a high honor. Dr. Smith is a graduate of Emory College, Georgia of the class of 1848, we believe. He was for a long while Professor of Greek in Emory College, and afterwards for several years was President of the same College. Dr. Smith has a high reputation as a linguist, and a man of versatile talents. He has no small share of popularity, and we trust the University will prosper under his guidance.

Mr. Sankey said recently that, at the first prayer meeting held in England by the American evangelist, only "four persons were present" "Yes," added he, "it was one of the best prayer meetings I ever was at" Not numbers, but heartiness, humility, fervor, and faith, make a good prayer-meeting.

THE CHRISTIAN DENOMINATIONS.—The census of 1870 shows that the Methodists are found in every State and Territory, and are the leading denomination in twenty two States forming about one fourth of the church-going people in this country. [illegible] States, the Catholics in five, and the Congregationalists in four. The [illegible] minations do not [illegible] anywhere. In three States [illegible] Methodists are more numerous than all other denominations, while in twenty-two [illegible] other States they form one third to one half the church going people. The Presbyterians, though in sufficient numbers to place them third on the list, are very scattered throughout the States. The inhabitants to the Methodist average about 30.

DR. FIELD, editor of the Evangelist, writes that Mr. Moody, while in Britian, was supported entirely by voluntary gifts sent quietly to him. No public collections were taken up. When the sale of his selection of hymns of which he held the copyright began to increase, he declined to receive any more of the profits, and told gentlemen having the matter in charge to devote the profits "by and by" to "some religious purposes."—The profits now amount to $25,000. Mr. Moody will not accept a cent of them. This effectually disposes of the slander so industriously circulated that Mr. Moody was "making a good thing" by the sale of his collection of hymns.

[From the St. Louis Christian Advocate.]

METHODIST FRATERNITY.

MR. EDITOR:—The whole Methodist world was thrilled in May, 1874, when the Northern Methodist delegation stood up before our General Conference in Louisville, and spoke such words of brotherly cheer and Christian affection. It was well that, in return for this friendly advance, a delegation was provided for by the Conference, to bear our greetings to the Northern brethren at their next General Conference. It is also well that our Bishop, in appointing the delegation of fraternal messengers, should place at the head of it that venerable servant of God and the Church, Dr. Lovick Pierce, of Georgia. His long and illustrious service for the promotion of that form of Christianity known as Methodism, together with his eminently catholic and progressive spirit, and his apt and eloquent utterance, (which few men have equalled, and fewer still have retained for so great a while), give him wonderful fitness to appear for us in the highest convocation of the M. E. Church.

A cordial fraternity between the two great Methodisms, North and South, is a prime necessity of the times, and would do more than all other agencies in accomplishing the true unification and peace of the country. All good and wise men among us, I think, must desire it. The wisest and best men on both sides. I believe, will do what they can to promote amity and establish denominational fraternity.

May their commissioners and ours, that are to adjust differences and lay broad and deep the foundation of fraternal intercourse, be filled with the spirit of moderation, and wisdom and justice. And may the words that our fraternal messengers shall speak be "seasoned with grace," and have the setting of "apples of gold in pictures of silver." Let constant prayer be offered throughout the land that the great objects of the Commissioners and Delegation may be fully accomplished.

The genius of Methodism, no less, we hope, than that of Christianity itself, is benevolent and fraternizing: is charitable to all and unfriendly to none.

The venerable Dr. Pierce, as the following interesting letter shows, (which he will pardon me for publishing, and which the public will thank me for, especially if they could only see the bold and beautiful, yet tremulous hand writing of the old soldier—God bless him!) has a great desire to be in his place next May, and discharge the high trust commited to him with others. And this article is written (1) to do something, however little, for fraternity between the Methodism: and (2) to ask all Methodist people to pray that the life and strength, physical and mental, of Dr. Pie can go to St Louis next year and tell our Northern brethren that we will not be behind them in love to God or man, and that if their heart is as our heart we will live in peace and good will together, and side by side in the spirit of co-operation, helpfulness and fraternity cultivate Immanuel's land.

SPARTA, GA. June 28. '75.

Dear Bro. Nolan: Yours of the 21st instant came to hand the 25th, with the N. Y. C. Advocate, for both of which I hasten to thank you especially for your very kind letter. Such letters to a man in his 91st year come like a perfumed ointment, and make him know that a good name is rather to be chosen than great riches." Glory be to God! while I am very poor in choice silver, I am rich in loving favor as many such letters as yours assure me.

I hope all will pray for me, that it please God to grant me, especially, among earthly thing, that I may be spared to go to St Louis as a fraternal messenger in May, 1876.

* * * * * *

As to myself I am a wonder unto many. Many of my long standing acquaintances say I look as young in my face as when you knew me. I am but little changed in this phase of me. And in mental store I feel no falling off. But in my muscular power I am an invalid. My seeing is dim. My breathing all the time tight—at some times difficult. My once fine voice is reduced to a fraction of itself, all by a chronic catarrh of irregular asthma, my physicians say by the former. I have never had any sore throat. I still preach as I am picked up. I make no appointments on my own account. Glory be to God for all his mercies, but especially for the preservation of my mind.

Things in this old State are all promising. Religion is bidding better.

I am yours in Christ Jesus,
LOVICK PIERCE.

I hope other papers of the Church will be kind enough to copy this communication.

J. P. NOLAN.

Macon, Mo., July 28.

Ex Gov. Vance of North Carolina, in his recent address before the Southern Historical Society, related a secret incident of the war. He said that soon after the failure of the Hampton Roads conference he was visited by the late Gov. Graham, who stated to him that many of the Senators and Representatives in the Confederate Congress and other leading men believed that the end of the war was near, and despairing of obtaining peace through Mr. Davis, they desired Mr. Vance, as Governor of North Carolina, to enter into separate terms with President Lincoln. Gov. Vance said that he declined to take the desired step.—N. Y. Tribune.

We are pleased to learn that Greensboro' Female College opened last week with a gratifying number of matriculates and with encouraging prospects for a still larger number.

Books and Periodicals

MY UNCLE TOBY: HIS TABLE-TALKS AND REFLECTIONS. By an Attorney at Law. Hitchcock & Walden, Cincinnati, 1875.

Our thanks are due the publishers for the above excellent and refreshing book. The opinions and reflections contained in the book are upon all sorts of subjects, social, religious and political, and are sound and practical. The writer puts them in the mouth of "Uncle Toby," a fictitious personage, and thus utters them with marked modesty, but in a forcible and refreshing manner. The "talks" upon "Lawyers" and "Church Unity" are especially good, to say nothing of the reflections upon the many other topics touched upon.

LOST AND FOUND. By Rev. W. S. Urmy, Hitchcock & Walden, Publishers, Cincinnati, 1875.

This book, intended principally for children, is based upon the Parables spoken by our Lord respecting the lost piece of silver, the lost sheep, on the coin, and the prodigal son. "Lessons thus conveyed," says the author, "when truths are taught in fable and principles for life's conduct are put into the form of a story, are more apt to be fixed on the memory. It was our Savior's favorite method of teaching and it was used to good purpose by Nathan in his reproof of David." The book is illustrated with suitable engravings, is printed in large clear type and is handsomely bound.

WESTMINSTER REVIEW. July 1875. American Edition. Leonard Scotts Publishing Co. New York, $4 a year. This is one of the best and oldest established English Reviews and its contents are of the most entertaining and instructive character.

TEMPTATION AND TRIUMPH, with other Stories. By Virginia F. Townsend. Hitchcock and Walden, Cincinnati. This is a book of pleasant and instructive stories for the young, by an author of merit, and is nicely printed and bound.

OUR LIVING AND OUR DEAD; S. D. Pool, Editor, Raleigh, N. C., $3 per annum.

The September number of this magazine is even better than those that have preceded it. Its departments are well and judiciously filled. Rev. Jno Paris continues "The Soldier's History of the War." The serials by Miss Fisher and Mrs. Cicero Harris are also continued. A handsome portrait of Gen. Geo. Burgwyn Anderson embellishes the frontispiece, and a biographical sketch of the same by Seaton Gales, Esq., also appears in the magazine. The reviews of books and editorials from the pen of T. B. Kingsbury, Esq., are of an excellent character.

HARPER'S BAZAR, Harper and Brothers, New York: $4 a year.

This is a weekly magazine, and is emphatically as its title denotes "a repository of fashion, pleasure and instruction." It is a sixteen page journal, and contains, besides profuse illustrations of the latest fashions, a large amount of reading matter, novelettes, poetry, instructive articles on household subjects, art and science news, fun, and in short, entertainment of [illegible] "Monthly Magazine," "Weekly" and "Bazar" are institutions long established and popular.

PETERSON'S LADIES' NATIONAL MAGAZINE. Chas. J. Peterson, Publisher, Phila. $2 a year.

Our acknowledgments are due the publishers of this leading Magazine for ladies, for the back numbers from January. By some misfortune we were deprived of its visits for several months but writing to the publisher, he kindly and promptly reinstated us upon his exchange list and forwarded the numbers of the present volume. It is a first-class, high-toned Magazine, containing plates of the latest fashions and literary articles from the pens of the most popular Magazine writers. Its embellishments are in the highest style of the art. It also contains new musical compositions, vocal and instrumental, from the best music writers. Ladies once having formed the acquaintance of Peterson's' find it an almost indispensible visitor.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, J. B. Lippincott & Co., Publishers, Phila. $4 a year.

The September number of Lippincott's is full of brilliant attractions. The opening, illustrated paper, "Mose Underwood," by A. J. Volck, will be found very interesting and amusing. "Glimpses of Polynesia" is quite an entertaining bit of description. This is followed by two charming verses on "Moods," by Emma Lazarus. Next we have the first installment of Mrs E. Lynn Linton's new romance, 'The Atonement of Leam Dundas.' An article on 'Our Architectural Future,' by Edward C. Bruce, is very timely and well put, pointed, and sketchy. 'The Comrades,' in four chapters, by Sarah Winter Kellogg, is a delightful, short romance. 'A Rococo Love-Story,' by Sarah B. Wister. 'The Hospice of the Great St. Bernard,' by Charlotte Adams. Sidney Lanier's new poem, 'In Absence,' is very beautiful and powerful. 'A Sawdust Fairy,' by Charles Warren Stoddard. 'The Mother of Ba'tiste,' by M.D. Ruff Smith ers,' by Edward Spencer, is, as its full title indicates, a curious bit of Revolutionary history. The Monthly Gossip in this number is if anything, better than usual. The Literature of the Day is fuller and fresher, with more variety than usual, which is a decided improvement. Altogether, the number is very pleasing, and will, we think, prove unusually popular.

MASONIC.—a new Masonic Lodge was organized in High Point on the 25th of August, being named Numa F. Reid Lodge, in honor of the lamented Dr. Reid who was especially dear to the hearts of the people of that section. The officers elected were as follows, to wit: Wm, H. Ragan, W. M; Jno. A Linday, S. W; Levi B. Horney, J. W; S. H. Smith, Sec; Jas. A. Campbell, Treas; E. A. Snow, S. D; J. H. Millis, J. D; Jno. Payne, Tyler;

The prospects of the University are said to be very good. A goodly number of students are expected at the beginning of the session.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Thirteen penitentiary convicts, while working at a brick yard near the city of Raleigh, rushed past their guard and escaped. Two of them were killed by the guard and another seriously wounded and recaptured.

Warren Hare, negro liquor seller in Raleigh, was bound over to court last week, under the charge of poisoning policeman Crosson, colored.

Rev. Mr. Gilmer, of Graham, against whom there were charges of an immoral nature, was triumphantly vindicated in a trial at Alamance court, last week.

Maj. Wm. N. Patterson was nominated by the county convention of Orange, last week, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. W. A. Graham.

The Hillsboro Bar have requested Jno. W. Norwood, Esq., to deliver, on Tuesday of Orange Superior Court, an address upon the life, character and services of the late W. A. Graham.

The hog cholera is raging in the neighborhood of Young's X Roads in Granville county.

Rev. J. W. Shearer, now of New Jersey, formerly of Rockingham county, realized $125 from one stock of Italian bees last season.

At a meeting of the Directors of the North Carolina Division of the Richmond and Danville Railroad in Greensboro, Friday, Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, of that place, was elected Trustee of the road, vice Hon. W. A. Graham, deceased.

Caswell county, says the Chronicle, has corn 16 feet high which has never been worked.

INSANE ASYLUM.—It was our pleasure a short time since, in company with a friend to visit this institution. We were especially impressed with the system and general good appearance of things in and around the buildings. Dr. Grissom seems to be peculiarly adapted to the position he holds.

The Danbury REPORTER has been greatly improved in appearance and contents. J. T. Darlington has become associate Editor.

Gov. Brogden has appointed D. M. Furches, Esq., of Statesville, judge of the 10th Judicial District, vice Judge Mitchell, resigned.

It is rumored that Dr. Hawkins has tendered his resignation as President of the Raleigh & Gaston and Raleigh & Augusta Air-Line Railroads.

The REGISTER says that there were six or eight hundred people at the Grange pic-nic at Rocky River Church last week.

The property in the city of Wilmington exempt from taxation is valued at $831,465.

Among the gentlemen who are expected to be candidates for the position of Reading Clerk of the Convention is J. B. Hussey, Esq., formerly of Duplin, now the energetic editor of the Statesville Landmark.

A Grange pic nic will be held at Mt. Pleasant, Cabarrus county, on the first Saturday in September. President Davis, of the Carolina (Lutheran) College, will deliver an address.

Gov. Brogden has issued a writ to the sheriff of Orange ordering the election of a delegate to the Convention to supply the place of ex Gov. Graham. The 16th of [illegible] day fixed upon.

There was rain in Milton on forty-five days out of forty-nine, and the Editor of the Chronicle makes it bear the blame of the seven-feet high grass that grows in his garden.

The Oxford Leader tells of an old negro man in that place that is 90 years of age, has been married three times, is the father of 36 children, the oldest of which is 55 and the youngest 25.

Mrs. Catharine Alexander, of Iredell county, mother of Capt. W. M. Alexander, of this county, is ninety years old, and can now walk a mile as quick as most persons. Never was known to go to bed and say that she was sick. Has had eleven children of her own, and has now 91 grand children and 96 great grand children. So says the Shelby Banner.

Neither the city of Charlotte or county of Mecklenburg lost any money by the failure of the Bank of Mecklenburg, but a poor printer who had accumulated $60 (STUPENDOUS DICTU!) and placed it in the bank, saw it turned to "pic."

Ralph Gorrell, Esq., a venerable lawyer of Greensboro', died in that town on the 14th ult., in the 73d year of his age. He was one of North Carolina's purest sons, and an able lawyer—an ornament to his professiou and to society.

"Tom Evans," well known in this State as a newspaper writer, is connected with the Vicksburg (Miss.) HERALD, and is doing well in the way of salary and rising reputation. In the newspapers of the day, his articles are copied and accredited "Tom Evans in the Vicksburg Herald," and the Detroit Free Press may look to its laurels.

The financial problem of the day is about to be solved. The Milton CHRONICLE says: "John Jeffreys is a colored man who has heard it thunder for the last 70 years, and has conceived the idea that [illegible] the Secretary of the Treasury in [illegible] the pulse of the negroes on the subject of establishing a bank for the colored folks. His plan was for every man to draw out his stock and deposits each Saturday night!

The Greensboro' Patriot learns that Supt. Talcott of the R. & D. R. R. has resigned, and that the R. & D. R. R. and N. C. R. R. are to be made different divisions, one of which will be under the charge of W. H. Green, Esq., at present Master of Transportation.

The Greensboro' Patriot says: "Last Monday W. S. Moore shipped to Mar's Hill Orphan Asylum one of his finest parlor organs, the gift of our citizens to the parentless little ones and as a testimonial of their esteem for Miss Sallie Green, and appreciation of the self-sacrificing spirit with which she devotes her self to the care of those little ones.

M. D. Laudreth has sent to the Greensboro PATRIOT a red June apple of second growth and a bunch of blossoms from the same tree. The tree had a few apples in July and now it is in full bloom for the third crop.

The PATRIOT thinks that unless the negroes around GREENSBORO relinquish some of their sublime indifference to work during the Summer, there will be some hungry darkies or rifled smoke houses when Jack Frost holds sway.

A white man from Drake's Branch Va., was run over and killed by a freight train on the R. & D. R. R. near Reidsville last week.

E. H. Pogue, of Hillsboro', says the Tobacco Plant, has failed in business; liabilities heavy.

The young man Davis, of Chapel Hill, who was stabbed by his brother, is improving and it is thought will recover soon.

The Salisbury Watchman estimates the loss of the people of Rowan county by the failure of the Bank of Mecklenburg at not less than $100,000.

We are indebted to Mr. B. L. Bingham the popular commission merchant, for a most delicious water melon grown in Warren county. It is a sample of a large lot which he has on consignment for sale.

The Secretary of the North Carolina Agricultural Society has sent to all the granges a full supply of Premium Lists for the neighborhoods in which they are located.

Two young men, John J. Brock, and John W. Rhea, of Craven county, were arrested in Kinston for passing counterfeit nickel pieces. They confessed to having moulds for the manufacture of the counterfeit money, but it is thought that they are agents for parties who are carrying on an extensive business.

An unfortunate homicide was committed in Haywood county week before last. Mr. Strauge, son of Hon. Robt. Strange, of Wilmington a young man of twenty years of age, shot and killed a Mr. Murray, son of a former sheriff of Haywood. The Greenville (S. C.) DAILY NEWS gives the following particulars:

"We learn that on Friday last, Mr. Jas. Murray, a highly respected citizen, was shot and instantly killed by one Strange, from Wilmington. It seems that Murray had been engaged to haul a party of excursionists to Catalooche creek, and being a little behind time, Strange told him he ought to have come sooner, and Murray replied that he could not get off sooner, whereupon Strange told him he was a liar, when Murray said, "you are another". The matter hushed here, and not until they got to Cove creek did it revive. One of the carriages broke down, when they all stopped. Strange went to the carriage and asked one of the party for a pistol, remarking that he would settle the matter now, and walking up to Murray, shot him in the breast killing him instantly, when Strange was arrested and kept under guard, till a warrant could be obtained, when he was taken into custody and carried to jail. The excitement was so great in that section, that it was nearly impossible to keep him from being lynched on the spot."

Guilford County is to have a Temperance Reform Convention at the courthouse in Greensboro' on the 25th day of September. Each township will send delegates.

Peaches sold readily in Salisbury last week for $2 per bushel.

Hon. F. E. Shober and Col. I. J. Young are prominently spoken of by their respective party friends as suitable men for the Presidency of the Convention."

The Yadkin Rail Road lost about $3200 by the failure of the Bank of Mecklenburg. It was deposited therein by the positive order of the President, several years ago, and no blame attaches to him or the Treasurer, says the Watchman.

Mr. Jno. W. Mamey, says the Watchman, performed a perilous and gallant feat in Salisbury last week, by stopping a running horse, attached to a light wagon.

The centennial anniversary of Bethany (Presbyterian) Church Iredell county, was celebrated with appropriate services on yesterday. A large crowd was in attendance. Speeches were made by the Pastor, Rev. E. F. Rockwell, F. H. Johnson, Hon. W. M. Robbins, Mr. George R. McNeil and others.—Salisbury Watchman.

INDEX TO NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Petty & Jones—new arrivals.

Cotton ties—A. G. Lee & Sons.

Teacher wanted at Greenville.

West's Aladdin Security Oil.

Clarke's New Method.

Lawrence & Winston—Old Dominion Insurance Co.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker—early fall trade.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Geo. W. Wynne & Co. These gentlemen have reduced the fair on the Omnibus from the Depot to any part of the city to 25 cents. We trust the traveling public will patronize Messrs Wynn & Co.

By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that the copartnership of Wyatt Bingham & Co. has been dissolved, and that the firm will hereafter be known as B. L. Bingham & Co. Mr. Bingham is a gentleman of excellent business qualification, and we take pleasure in commending this house to the readers of the ADVOCATE. They keep constantly on hand a large stock of goods and do an extensive commission, wholesale and retail business.

AUGUSTA, Aug. 28.—Several prominent negroes connected with the troubles in the counties below here have made confessions. [illegible] Last Monday night was the time set for the negroes to be [illegible] All the white men and ugly white women were to be killed. The pretty white women were to be spared, and the land and spoils were to be divided among the negroes.

All who have so far confessed testify substantially the same as Jake Moseman.

The grain crop of Minnesota this year is estimated at 32,000,000 bushels.

New York makes $30,000 a year out of the labor of her penitentiary convicts.

The liabilities of Duncan, Sherman & Co., amounted to $4,872,128.65, assets $2, 112,-740.61.

The failures in commercial and financial circles since the beginning of the year lost up $75,000,000

The condition of Mrs Lincoln now in an insane asylum, is said to be much improved.

The Kropatschek is the euphonius name of a new rifle in reduced use in the American army. It shoots fifteen times in ten seconds and is very easily managed.

Williamson county, Ill., is kept in terror by a band of 400 men who put law at defiance, and go around disguised, wreaking vengeance on whoever displeases them.

The Philadelphia papers take kindly to the suggestion that Andrew Johnson's tailor shop be exhibited at the National Centennial next year, with the original sign-board hanging out, bearing the word, "A Johnson, tailor."

Mr. J. A. McNeely, of Sugar Creek reports the killing of seven sheep under a tree which was struck by lightning. They belonged to Messrs. S. A. McNeely and Isaac Mason. There were 50 sheep in the grove, but only 7 were killed.—"Southern Home."

The Christian Advocate

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING, TERMS $2 20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All the traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the North Carolina Conference are our authorized Agents. Any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

Communications for publication should be carefully written, and on but one side of the sheet. All letters relative to the office should be addressed to the Editor

How to Remit.

In remitting money, all amounts should be sent in registered letter, post office order or check. The cost of registration, or Post Office order can be deducted from the amount forwarded. If money is sent otherwise than herein specified it will be at the sender's risk

General Crop Reports.

WASHINGTON D. C., August 25th 1875.—In the condition of crops on the first of August, reported to the Department of Agriculture during July, there are no general conditions of the greatest affecting crops universally to the detriment of the States, excepting Maryland, Kansas and Minnesota, also in a few sections of Illinois, Missouri and Ohio, where local drouths prevailed generally in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, also in the south Atlantic and Gulf States. In Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Georgia they exceeded through almost every county and were attended with great heat.

Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina report considerable shedding in some sections, were more favorable weather and excessive rains to different localities. In North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Nebraska an unusual excessive rains prevailed with alternations of weather and drought. In the remaining States west of the Pacific slope rains were almost necessarily disastrous to cereals and corn. They also occasioned extensive rotting of potatoes in the ground. Along many of the tributaries of the Mississippi and over the bottom lands have been overflowed for weeks. In most a few localities devastating floods are reported, which have swept away very large quantities of small grains in the shock. The injury done by the flooding, rotting, sprouting and growing of grain in the shock at times is very great but to what extent it is impossible to estimate before the return of crops over

Average condition of spring wheat in the States growing it to any extent are nearly as follows: California, 98; the extremes of range are from Wisconsin and Minnesota and 60 in Nebraska. The condition of winter wheat is not reported at the first of July, but in all the States in which excessive rains prevailed in July, our correspondents in their foot notes have very generally volunteered statements and vast quantities before thrashed or housed were overtaken by the rains and swept away by floods or damaged to degrees ranging from serious injury to utter loss in the field principally in the shock

The average condition of corn for all the States is about 96. It would be over 100 were it not for the damage on low lands, by excessive rains. The injury from that cause is quite limited to certain sections.

The highest averages reported are in Kansas 110, Tennessee 111, Missouri 110, Mississippi 111, New Jersey and Arkansas 102, Virginia 100, West Virginia 106, Connecticut Maryland and Nebraska 100, Pennsylvania and New Carolina 103, Kentucky 102, Delaware and Delaware and Alabama 100, Illinois 99, New York 95, Ohio 91, Iowa 87, Wisconsin 86, Georgia 87 owing to drought. Texas is reported less by the same cause. Other States average less except in North Carolina and New Hampshire and Michigan.

The average addition of corn for the country is 99. The principal injury and floods were confined to the Mississippi and Ohio was not serious. The States above average in condition are Mississippi 102, Texas, Arkansas and Wisconsin 101, Vermont 103, Connecticut, New York and California 101 Ohio 100, Michigan 101, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Louisiana and Iowa are average, Kentucky, Indiana and Nebraska are down to 98, Kansas 96, South Carolina and Delaware 70, Tennessee 71, Virginia 76, Illinois 78. Other States range between 81 in Maryland and 90 in West Virginia Ohio being 91

Potatoes promise an extraordinary crop, the average condition for all the States exceeds 100 Nevada being about 104. In the States visited by unprecedented rains indications of rotting in the ground are excessively reported, which may yet seriously affect the promised result. The States reporting the highest average condition are Illinois 131, Ohio 117, Iowa 115, Kentucky 112, Tennessee 110 West Virginia 107 Missouri and Kansas 107, Connecticut, Texas and Arkansas 106, New Jersey 104, Maine and Pennsylvania 103 Vermont New York and Mississippi 102, Rhode Island and Michigan 101 Maryland is down at 79; the remaining States range between 81 and 100.

The heaviest rains have occasioned extensive reseeding in tobacco and injured the crop otherwise to some extent on low land, particularly in Kentucky and Tennessee, but reports indicate that the injury has been less than was feared. Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina Florida and Mississippi report a condition considerably above average. West Virginia about average. Tennessee about one per cent and Kentucky seven per cent below.

General News.

Letters with the country need 14 298,000 postal cards, or the largest number ever used in any month.

College and Seminary students are waiting upon tables at the White Mountain hotels this summer.

The population of Wisconsin by the census returns is 1 236 579, showing a gain of 185,-223 since 1874.

The first female graduate of Michigan University has been offered $6 000 a year, and her expenses to teach in Japan.

A drinking fountain was dedicated at St. Louis last month. It affords only pure cold water. It is the gift of two young business men to the public. Their names are L. L. and Moses King.

The peppermint crop of Wayne county, N. Y., is estimated to reach $50,000 this year.

Maj. J. W. Daniel, of Lynchburg, will soon have out a work on "Negotiable Instruments.

The total exports of wine from Spain in 1874 were 33 670,000 gallons; value, 100, 928 262 francs.

Notice.—Will open on the 1st Sept. 15,000 yards new and handsome styles Fall Prints, fast colors.

A. CREECH.

Marriages.

[illegible] Bobbitt, Mr. Albert Lee to Miss Frances L. Sanders.

By the same on the 27 ult. Mr. J. M. Pat[illegible] of Miss M. H. Pope.

Married—In the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday, N. C. at 7 o'clock, A. M. Wednesday Aug. 25th, by Rev. L. P. Crawford, Mr. John Addison Hedrick, to Miss Maggie May Young.

Married—On N. C. August 12th 1875, by Rev. M. L. Wood, James B. Patterson to Miss Maggie B., daughter of Mrs. Mary Brown.

At the Merchant's Hotel, in Winston, on Tuesday evening, by Rev. J. E. Heitman, Dr. James Hamden Reg to Miss Mollie Folger, all of Salem.

In the Main Hat Church, in Winston, on the [illegible] by Rev. J. E. Heitman, Mr. John [illegible] to Miss Mary V. Miller.

Deaths.

Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines must be paid for at the rate of ten cents per line. Count the lines and send the money to the office. In this way [illegible] may know the amount to enclose in letters of remittance subject to the same rule.

Died near Goldsboro, August 14th, McKinnie Lewis, infant son of A. E. and V. M. Aycock, aged two years. Among [illegible] was the death upon [illegible] [illegible] cause too may be noted. First, [illegible] Black, which in a word other-wise neglect, that death has all seasons for his own—he ye therefore ready! Secondly, I counsel the future world with a [illegible] attractive power. "He cannot come to me, but I can go to him."

E. A. YATES.

Brother Nathaniel Mason Alston was born in Chatham co. N. C., August 8th 1838, and died in hope of Heaven in the town of Pittsboro, July 7th 1875. His parents were devoted members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, his father being the head of a large family to connect himself with any church. Mason reaped the advantages of parental piety in the early training which impressed his life through manhood's years. As a man he was a true specimen of nobility, generous to a fault, warm in his sympathies, and kind in his intercourse with men. As a husband and father he was faithful and affectionate. As a christian firm in his faith, devoted to the church and loyal to his King. If he swerved from the path of duty under the pressure of strong temptation, like the ships tossed by the fierce winds and waves of the ocean he soon felt the helsman's power, and, obedient to his guide, returned to the proper course again, and at last, dropped his anchor in the peaceful harbor of Heaven.

Brother Alston's sickness was painful, and of several weeks continuance, but he bore it all with a patience that astonished those who witnessed his sufferings. Once he so far recovered as to be able to walk to his store, and look after his business, but he was suddenly stricken down again, to find relief only in death, which he ardently longed for, as the end of his sufferings, and the beginning of a blissful immortality. I saw him as he entered the valley, and the dark shadows gathered around him. He left no fear. Resting on the promises of a faithful Lord he quietly passed away in certain hope of salvation through Jesus' blood.

May his prayers be heard, and this affliction be sanctified to the good of his sorrowing family and friends

W. H. MOORE

Letters and Funds.

D Brock sell $2. Rev B May J L. Midyette for Mrs H B Everitt 2.20 Rev T P Ricaud, paper sent. W T Johnson Rev J Tillett for B Y Brumbell 4 2.20. E F Paschall 2.20. Mrs J Joyner sell 2.20. Miss R Stokes sell 2.20. Prof H C Dean 2.20 Rev W C Norman for subscribers 3.20, Rev L E Stacy for subscribers 1.10. Prof Wright sell 2.20. Rev G H Phillips for nine 6.66 V Allen for sell 2.20 R J Sapp 2 24. Rev J Willson for J B Webb 2.20. J V Rouerts paper continued. Rev J G Simpson for N Edwards 2.20. N W Ayer & Son 2 R Cole sell 2.20. J T Thomas M separ sell 2.20. E W Brown Rev Dr Burkhead for M L Wood for J Sikes leather 2.20. W G Adams Rev D J Brent for Miss Maggie Means 2.20 J S Ragsdale paper sup regularly. J R Davidson sell 2.20. Rev R L Abernethy Rev H D Lee papers sent P H Walker 4 for 8.80 Pentmall & Co W sprinkle A Sessoms Jas A Hawkins corrected Rev J Johnson or J H Newman 2.20. Rev H H Gibbons for Mrs M E Hobbs 2.20. Hymans & Dancy W M Jones Rev I W Griffin paper sent and changed, G Heflon Rev A S Black Rev L L Hendren paper sent P E Hines sell 1.35. Rev B Craven Rev V A Sharpe paper sent. Rev S R Trawick Rev A A Boshamer paper has not been paid for—we continue it. M Durham sell 2.20 M K Perry sell 1. Rev J W Scott for E S Y Goodson 2.20. Rev J R Brooks was not named to A D Betts H Coxton Mrs M J Cox 2.20

Appointments.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.

4TH. ROUND—IN PART.

Carthage, Mt Carmel,	Sept.	18-19
Montgomery, Zoar,	"	25-26
Cabarrus Poplar Spring,	Oct.	2- 3
Lincolnton, Poplar Spring,	"	9-10
Cumberland, Rockfish,	"	16-17
" Dec. Hebron,	"	23-24

Camp meetings will be held in connection with the Quarterly Meetings on Carthage, Montgomery and Cabarrus circuits.

Brethren in the ministry are invited to attend.

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.

4TH ROUND.

Alamance Phillips Chapel	Sept.	4- 5
Durham,	"	11-12
C. Hill & H. River,	"	18-19
Pittsboro Mt Vernon,	"	25-26
Deep River Maroney's,	Oct.	2- 3
Yanceyville Prospect,	"	9-10
Leasburg,	"	30-31
Person Bailey's,	Nov.	6- 7
Flat River Pleasant Green,	"	13-14
Hillsboro sta.	"	20-21

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.

4TH ROUND.

Kenansville, Wesley Chapel,	Sept.	18-19
Cokesbury Halls,	"	25-26
Magnolia Salem	Oct.	2- 3
Onslow, Tabernacle,	"	8-10
Topsail, Rocky Point,	"	16-17
Whiteville, Smith,	"	23-24
Bladen, Windsor, and Cape Fear Miss.	"	30-31
Wilmington Front Street.	Nov.	6- 7
Smithville,	"	13-14
Clinton, McKee,	"	20-21
Elizabeth, Wayman,	"	27 28
Wilmington 5th st.	"	30

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C

NEWBERN DISTRICT.

4TH ROUND.

Kinston,	Sept	4- 5
Beaufort,	"	11-12
Straits,	"	18-19
Lenoir, Edwards Chapel,	"	25-26
Newberne,	Oct.	2- 3
James, at Lee's Mon. & Tues,	"	4- 5
Outerest, at Harlowe's,	"	9-10
Wayne at Fremont, (Del of Ch'rch)	"	16-17
Craven, Wed. & Thurs.	"	20-21
Snow Hill, Snow Hill.	"	23-24
Neuse & S. Creek, Aurora.	"	30-31
Mt Olive, a. m. Mt. Olive,	Nov.	6- 7
Wilson	"	13-14
Goldsboro,	"	20-21

E. A. YATES, P. E
Beaufort N C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Upper Kinnekeet,	Aug.	3rd
Lower Kinnekeet,	"	4th
Cape,	"	5th
Trent,	"	6th
Hatteras,	"	7- 8
Ocracoke,	Aug.	11, 12, 13, 14, 15
Portsmouth,	"	17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22
Columbia at Gumo Neck.	Aug.	28-29
Bath at Bethlehem,	Sept.	4- 5
Warren,	"	11-12

WILLIAM CROSS.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.

THIRD ROUND.

Salisbury circuit, Providence.	Aug.	7- 8
Iredell circuit, Snow Creek (C.M.)	"	13-17
Statesville circuit,	"	20-22
Alexander ct. Rocky Springs (C.M.)	"	27-31
Wilkes circuit,	Sept.	1- 5

Camp meetings at Snow Creek and at Rocky Springs in connection with the Quarterly The camp meeting at Smith Grove, Mocksville circuit, will commence on Friday before the 4th Sunday in Aug. and continue 5 days.

D. R. BRITON, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Mt. Pleasant,	Aug.	7- 8
Albemarle and Stanley	"	14-15
Ansonville. ct	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.

4TH ROUND.

Lincoln, Stanley Creek (C M)	Sep.	18-19
Dallas, Shiloh (C M)	"	25-26
Double Shoals, Union (C M)	Oct.	2- 3
South Fork, Wesley Chapel (C M)	"	9-10
Cherry Mt. Rock Spring (C M)	"	9-10
Shelby station,	"	13-14
Shelby ct. Sharon (C M)	"	16 17
Rutherford, Piegah	"	23-24
Marion,	"	27-28
Morganton,	"	30-31
Lenoir,	Nov.	6- 7
Happy Home,	"	13-14
Newton, Concord	"	20 21
Rock Spring,	"	27-28

Camp meetings will begin Friday evening and close on Wednesday morning. Let the ministers and Stewards labor earnestly to bring up all the finances. Three-fourths of the ecclesiastical year has passed away and only about one-fourth of our salaries has been paid! Dear Brethren, shall those who preach the gospel to you be sent away unpaid? God's blessings will be in proportion to your liberality in His service.

L. S. BURKHEAD, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.

3RD ROUND.

Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	Aug	7- 8
Davidson, Midway,	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	4- 5
Stokes, Palmyra,	"	11-12

A Camp meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.

4TH ROUND, Q. M.

Raleigh at Person st,	Sept.	4-- 5
Granville at Bethel,	"	11-12
Louisburg station,	"	18-19
Tar River at Franklinton,	"	25--26
Henderson at Henderson,	Oct.	2- 3
Rolesville at Rolesville,	"	9-10
R. M. and Nashville,	"	16--17
Gary,	"	23-24
Smithfield,	"	30-31
Youngsville,	Nov.	6-- 7
Raleigh Edenton st,	"	13-14

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, August 31, 1875.

REMARKS.

Business continues quiet. Meats and sugars are very firm.

COTTON.

Transactions in the staple yesterday very light. Low middlings 14¼

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7@8.50.
CORN 100@100
CORN MEAL—100@110
BACON, N. C. sog round, 10.
" " hams 16@18
BULK C. R. sides, 13 to 14
" shoulders, 10 to 11
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western tierces, 17@19
" Kegs, 16@17@17 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 20
" Fair Rio, 20@21
SYRUP, common, 60.
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.
CHEESE, Cream, 18@19.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00
SUGAR A, 11 1-2.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 10@11
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 6@8.
" dry, 13@15
TALLOW, 7@8
POTATOES, sweet 90
" Irish, $1.00@$1.25.
OATS, shelled, 70
" sheaf, $1.00.
FODDER, old, $1.50
HAY, N. C. baled, none, $1.25@1.80
CHICKENS, grown, 25@30
" young, 20@30
EGGS, 18@20
BUTTER, country, 25@30
FISH, Mullets, $7.50.
" Cut Herrings, 5@6
" Mackerel, new family, $1 7.00
BEESWAX, 25.
RAGS, 2
BEEF on foot, 6@8.
" dressed prime, 9@10.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MAY, DICK & NASH, President. H. K ELLISON, Vice Presidents. G. WHITE, Secretary. J. D. MCILVAIN, Assistant Secretary.

Old Dominion INSURANCE CO.

1113 MAIN ST., RICHMOND, VA.

Cash Assets over - - - $325,000.00
$10,000 Deposit in North Carolina.

Lawrence & Winston,

GENERAL AGENTS,

RALEIGH, N. C

Sept 1 8w.

DISSOLUTION

The firm of WYATT, BINGHAM & CO. has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, L. R. WYATT having withdrawn.

All debts against the late firm of WYATT, BINGHAM & CO., will be settled as they come due. All indebted to the late firm will please come forward and make settlement.

B. F. BINGHAM & CO.

"NEWS" BUILDING, No. 6, MARTIN STREET

Raleigh, N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 26, 1874.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased the entire interest of MR. L. R WYATT, we shall continue the wholesale and retail

GROCERY, COTTON

AND

COMMISSION BUSINESS.

At the Old Stand.

And will have at all times a large assortment of GROCERIES, BAGGING and TIES, SALT, NAILS, FLOUR, BACON, ETC.

Which will be sold at the lowest market prices, and we will be glad to see our friends and customers. Thankful for past favors, we hope to meet a continuance of the same.

R. L. BINGHAM & CO.

sept. 1-tf.

TARRANT'S SELTZER APERIENT

The King of the Body is the brain; the stomach its main support; the nerves its messengers; the bowels, the kidneys and the pores its safeguards. Indigestion and biliousness prevail among these attaches of the great organ, and to bring them back to their duty, there is nothing like the regulating, purifying, invigorating, cooling operation of

Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient,

It reinvigorates the system and restores to health both the body and the mind. Sold by all Druggists.

sept 1-2t.

Teachers of Music who have given Clarke's New Method for the Piano Forte an examination, unhesitatingly pronounce it the best. The work is meeting with a deservedly large sale. Sent by mail for $3.75. Published by Lee & Walker, Philadelphia. 14.

JUST PUBLISHED.

!! THE SHINING RIVER!!

A NEW SABBATH SCHOOL SONG BOOK

By H. S. & W. O. Perkins.

PRICE 35 CENTS. $30 PER HUNDRED

"Rest in Them" "What 'mas may say." "Wandering Child." "What are these." "Watchman awake!" are specimens of the titles of the beautiful new hymns, to sweet new melodies.

!! THE HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR !!

By L. O. EMERSON and W. S. TILDEN.

PRICE $1.00. $9.00 PER DOZEN.

The HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR is similar in general design to the very popular "HOUR OF SINGING," which has been almost universally used in High School. The present work is in no way inferior to its predecessor, and is entirely fresh and new.

THE SONG MONARCH.

PRICE 75 CENTS. $7.50 PER DOZEN.

By H. R. PALMER, assisted by L. O. EMERSON.

Do not think of teaching a Singing School without using this attractive, popular and useful book.

Specimen copies sent, post-paid, retail price,

OLIVER DITSON & CO., C. H. DITSON & CO., Boston. 711 B'dway, New York.

Sept 1-tf.

REDUCTION OF FARE.

On and after this date the fare of the Wynne & Co's line of Omnibuses is reduced to 25 cts. per passenger from the depot to the Hotels or any other points in the city limits.

Sept 1 1w.

WANTED.

A lady teacher of experience, to take charge of a small private school in the country. Required to teach Higher English, Music and Latin.

Address, immediately.

B. W BROWN,
Greenville, N. C.

sept 1-3w.

EARLY FALL TRADE

1875.

THEY HAVE COME,

Those beautiful New Fall Style Hats,

Silk Hats, Soft Hats,

High and Medium Crown, and a good stock of WOOL HATS.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

FRESH SUPPLY OF BLEACHED and Unbleached Domestics.

8-4, 9-4, 10-4, 11-4 and 12-4 Sheeting.

Plaid Homespuns and Gingham, Black and Grey Calicoes, Ladies Neck Ties and Ruchings, Linen Collars and Cuff, and a very large assortment of Hamburg Edgings Cotton Trimmings.

These goods have been purchased within a week—and are in store and for sale at prices which will command the Trade.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER.

Sept 1.tf

FALL 1875. FALL.

We announce late arrivals of Banfield's unrivaled Gaiters, for gentlemen. New styles for Fall and Winter.

BALLOU'S FRENCH YOKE

shirts, which are so deservedly popular. New pattern just received.

8,000 YARDS

Bleached and Unbleached Shirtings, Sheeting and Drilling, just received and offered at our usually small advance on cost.

GENTS' LINEN COLLARS,

Latest makes for Fall just received.

WE ARE OFFERING OUR

Stock of Summer Goods very low. Those calling soon can secure bargains.

WE WILL OPEN IN A FEW

Days new Fall prints of the newest designs.

TO ARRIVE AND EXPECTED DAILY

A full line Black Alpacas and Mohairs of the best quality.

PETTY & JONES,
20 Fayetteville street.

sept 1-tf.

TO ORGAN STUDENTS.

CLARKE'S IMPROVED SCHOOL FOR THE PARLOR ORGAN

The only work in which explanations are given of the nature and compass of the different Stops, and of the manner of combining them.

BY

HUGH A. CLARKE,

PROFESSOR OF MUSIC AND HARMONY IN THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA.

AND

Author of "Clarke's New Method for the Piano-Forte."

Just issued. Sent by mail, price $2.50.

Lee & Walker, 922 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

Sept 1-1y:eow.

A. G. LEE. ED. H. LEE. CLE R. LEE

A STRICTLY COMMISSION HOUSE,

A. G. LEE & Sons.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Cotton is our Specialty.

We can always obtain the highest market price, and ask our friends who find it inconvenient to accompany their cotton to the market to try us. We can beat New York in the nett proceeds of your cotton.

When you bring your cotton to market yourself give us a chance at it. We have orders to fill and can pay the VERY HIGHEST market price for it. Be sure to call and see us before you sell.

We are the Agents for

The CELEBRATED COTTON PRESS, the best in the United.

A. G. LEE & SONS.
P. O. Box 222, Raleigh, N. C.

sep 1-tf

COTTON TIES,

Something New, But Old !

We have now the agency for the sale of the "Providence Pieced Cotton Tie," in towns along the R. & Air-Line Railroad to Fayetteville along the R. & D. Railroad to Goldsboro; thence to Weldon and Beaufort and along the R. & G. Railroad to Weldon, and are now offering this Tie at 6 1-2 cents per pound in car load lots, delivering in any depot in our section.

This Tie is newly done over, put up into bundles same size and weight as the Arrow Tie and are the Arrow buckle. Each broken one is neatly mended with two rivals, which makes it doubly strong.

Most parties who used them last season say they much prefer them to new ones considering the difference in cost.

All orders for shipments within the next two weeks can get Sixty days, they paying freight on arrival and deducting same from bill when due.

Orders from merchants and large dealers respectfully solicited.

A. G. LEE & SONS, Agts.,
Raleigh, N. C.

sept 1-tf.

The Best Household Oil in the World!!

C. WEST & SONS' ALADDIN SECURITY OIL.

Warranted 150 Degrees Fire Test.

Endorsed by the Fire Insurance Companies.

☞ Read the following certificate, selected from many others:

HOWARD FIRE INS. CO. OF BALTIMORE, December 23, '74.

Messrs C. West & Sons: Gentlemen—Having used the various oils sold in this city for illumination purposes, I take pleasure in recommending your "Aladdin Security" as the safest and best ever used in our household.

Yours, truly,
(Signed) ANDREW REESE, Pres't.

☞ IT WILL NOT EXPLODE.

Ask your Storekeeper for it

Wholesale Depot: C. WEST & SONS, 113, 115 W Lombard street, Baltimore

Sep. 1-6m.

Important Results Pleasantly Achieved.

Although the days of irrational medication are happily passing away, and intelligent physicians have ceased to mes ure the supposed efficacy of a remedy by the violence of its effects, there still linger among the older practitioners a few of those prediections in favor of "heroic" treatment, which it would be lucky for their patients if they had abandoned. One of these is a fondness for administering drastic purgative, such as blue pill, calomel, jalap and castor oil. A contrast of the effects of these drenching drugs with the mild and benedicent operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is the very best argument that can be adduced against the wisdom of such destructive treatment. The old fashioned cathartics convulse the stomach, and relax the bowels so abruptly and copiously as to weaken them. Hostetter's Bitters, on the contrary, never gripe the intestines but produce a laxative effect resembling the action of nature. At the same time they remove the cause of constipation, by arousing the dormant liver to secrete the bile necessary to the regular performance of the excretive function, and enable the stomach to thoroughly digest the food. Indigestion and biliousness having been thus overcome, a regular habit of body is the necessary consequence, which the occasional subsequent use of the Bitters renders permanent. Every disagreeable symptom which, in the absence of perfect digestion and evacuation, harrasses the system, vanishes under the influence of the great intestinal stomachic and alterative. Health and vigor are the blessings that follow its use.

Sept 1. 1-m

A New Musical Era!!

ALL CAN LEARN TO SING.

The most Natural and Easy system of Music yet discovered; learned in one-fourth the time of any other.

TEMPLE HARP.

A New Music Book upon above system, for Choirs, &c.

CRYSTAL GEMS.

For Sabbath Schools, same system. Specimen pages mailed free. TEACHERS wanted as AGENTS.

MILLERS' BIBLE & PUBLISHING HOUSE,
Nos. 1101 & 1101 Samson St., Philadelphia.

Aug 4-3m.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The session begins Sept. 2nd, 1875.

Tuition $40 to $60 for ten months.

Board $10 to $12 per month.

A reception fall will be given for all expenses clothing and books excepted, for $20 for five months in the regular cause; and for 80 dollars in the Preparatory

We have accommodation for twenty-five to furnish their rooms, and board themselves. In this the cost for five months is not over 50 dollars. Young men of limited means are invited to correspond with the President.

B. CRAVEN, Pres.
P O. Trinity College, N. C.

July 21.3m.

SCHOOL BOOKS

Of all descriptions constantly kept on hand at the lowest cash prices.

L. BRANSON,
Raleigh, N. C.

N. C. ALMANACS FOR 1876

Now in course of preparation. Advertisements taken at reasonable rates. Send in your orders early.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

NEWS DEPOT—TAKE NOTICE

I am supplying all the best Newspapers and periodicals at the publishers' subscription rates. You can subscribe for 12 months, 6 months, or even one month.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

Give me a trial before purchasing elsewhere.

L. BRANSON, Raleigh, N. C.

aug 25-tf

AGENTS WANTED for Dr. March's Great Work, NIGHT SCENES IN THE BIBLE, and a magnificent NEW BOOK just from Press. Address, J. C. McCURDY & CO., Philadelphia, Pa. aug 26.3m

JOHN J. FRAY'S

English, Classical and Mathematical School, 14 miles S. E. of Raleigh and 4 miles from Clayton, a station on N. C. R. R. The seventeenth session begins Monday Sept. 13th 1875. Prepares boys and girls for College, or the active duties of life. Good fare, including fuel, lights and washing (no extras) University of Va., Rev. Messrs. Jos. Cross and Dr. Smith, former patrons. For circulars containing particulars &c.

JOHN J. FRAY,
A. T MIAL,
Raleigh N. C.

or

aug. 25-2 m.

SITUATION WANTED.

A regular graduate, who has had experience in teaching, desires a situation in town or country, where he can establish a permanent school of high grade.

Apply to

W. C. B.
Winston, N. C.

aug 26 1t.

OXFORD FEMALE ACADEMY.

The Trustees desire to engage some suitable person to take charge of this Institution.

The Premises, a large Academy and 5 commodious Residence with excellent garden, &c, are in good repair, and are pleasantly located in the most desirable part of the town.

Oxford has been long proverbial for good society, good works, and good health, and in these respects is believed to be unsurpassed.

Communications addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

J. S. ANIS,
Pres't, B'd. Trustees.

aug 25-4t.

AGENTS WANTED for the best selling book ever published. Send for circulars and our extra terms to Agents. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Phila., Pa. aug 25-4t.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,

Ashland Va.,

Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction, a high grade of scholarship, under best religious influences, in a refined community and at a station remarkable for its extraordinary health fulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and thirty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year. For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A. M. D. D. Pres't.

Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Sec'y.

Aug 1-6 w.

TYSON & JONES

Carriage Builders,

CARTHAGE, N. C.

Having recently increased our Facilities for Manufacturing, we are prepared to furnish Vehicles of the BEST QUALITY on short notice, and at comparatively low prices. Vehicles shipped at Sanford, Raleigh and Graham R. R. via Raleigh to any part of the State.

We feel confident that, with the close attention we give the business, together with the materials used, the skilled workman employed, and the many conveniences we have for manufacturing FIRST CLASS WORK, no house in the country can excel us in STYLE, FINISH, DURABILITY AND

Low Prices.

☞ We manufacture and keep constantly on hand Harness of the Best Quality.

☞ Repairing neatly Done at Short Notice. Send for Circular.

Jul 21 1-y

"Will have a Million Readers."

CANVASSERS WANTED FOR

"Around the Tea Table."

(Illustrated.)

By REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

The most popular "Agents' Book" ever issued from the Press SOLD ONLY BY SUBSCRIPTION.

Co-operative ill & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Aug 11 $4

Price, Twenty five Cents.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

NINETY-EIGHTH EDITION.

Containing a complete list of all the towns in the United States, the Territories and the Dominion of Canada, having a population greater than 5,000 according to the last census, together with the names of the newspapers having the largest local circulation in each of the places named. Also, a catalogue of newspapers which are recommended to advertisers as giving greatest value in proportion to prices charged.—Also, all newspapers in the United States and Canada printing over 5,000 copies each issue. Also, all the Religious, Agricultural Scientific and Mechanical, Medical, Masonic, Juvenile, Educational, Commercial Insurance, Real Estate, Law, Sporting, Musical, Fashion, and other special class journals; very complete lists. Together with a complete list of over 300 German papers printed in the United States. Also, an essay upon advertising; many tables of rates, showing the cost of advertising in various newspapers, and everything which a beginner in advertising would like to know.

Address GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.,
41 Park Row, New York.

aug 25- 3m.

THE HOME SCHOOL OF

MRS. JOSEPH S. JONES.

For Girls and small Boys,

Warren County, N. C.

Opens August 2nd 1875. Located near Shocco and Jones, White Sulphur Springs.

Board, Session of five months $ 40.00
Washing, 5.00

TUITION.

English Branches $ 10.00
Latin and French (each) 5.00
Music—(Piano) 10.00

Post Office, Ridgeway N. C. to and from which place parties will be conveyed free of charge if due notice is given.

References is made to Rev. Messrs. W. H. Rabbitt, J. P. Moore, S. D. Adams and the Editors of the ADVOCATE.

aug 25-4t.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

:o:

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by

Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S

NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight.

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The Painless Restoring of Sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision. 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, Running or Watery Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or Imperfect vision from the effects of Inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Mydesopsia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision; 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the loss of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate benficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,500 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man, who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you the note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old.

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Cyrtis' PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

R. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio, wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1868: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatty, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years."

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my utter astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLUSTRATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE

Children's Column

THE BOYS.

There come the boys! O, dear, the noise!
The whole house feels the racket;
Behind the knee of Christie's pants,
And weep over Bertie's jacket!

Oh never mind, if eyes keep bright,
And limbs grow straight and limber;
We can't have the tree's whole bark
Then full of unsound timber.

Save boys the tops and marbles still!
The floor, Oh, was made for them!
And I must stretch the hammers,
For I know the boys who ride them!

Look well as you descend the stairs,
Lest tacks and pins be scattered
By ghostly boys—that is, no noise
Is ever heard when their noise is wanted.

The very chairs are tied in pairs
And made to prance and caper;
What swords are whittled out of sticks!
What brave hats made of paper!

The dinner bell peals loud and well,
To tell the workman's coming;
And then the rush of "steam-car trains"
Sets all our ears a-humming.

Hoy oh I say, "What shall I do
With boys these children quiet?"
If I could find a good receipt,
I certainly should try it.

But what to do with these wild boys
And all their din and clatter
Is really quite a grave affair—
No laughing, trifling matter.

"Boys will be boys"—but not for long;
Ah, could we hear aroud us
Fits thought—how very soon our Boys
Will learn to do without us.

How soon but half deep voiced men
Will gravely call us "Mother,"
Or, as he's stretching empty hands
From this world to the other.

More gently should we chide the noise,
And when night quells the racket,
Stitch in but loving thoughts and prayer
While mending pants and jacket!

—Mrs. Julia A. Carney, in New Covenant.

BIBLE ENIGMA BY E. B. HOWARD.

It is composed of 21 letters.

My 1st was the husband of Joanna.
" 2nd 8th and 21th the country to which the ships of Solomon traded.
" 3rd and 9th a town where David took refuge from Saul.
" 4th 10th 22d and 27th a place in Bashan where king Og and his forces were destroyed.
" 5th and 25th, a river on whose banks Daniel had a future vision.
" 6th and 12th, the place where Christ raised to life a widow's only son.
" 7th and 20th, Paul's amanuensis in writing his epistle to the Romans.
" 11th a Syrian word signifying father.
" 13th the place where Joseph was sold to the Ishmaelites.
" 14th 16th and 20th, a giant who was slain by Abishai.
" 15th what Christ made from water in Cana
" 17th and 18th, a place where, in answer to Samson's petition, water sprang up to relieve his thirst.
" 19th, the birth place of Saul, king of Israel.
" 21st, a stringed instrument of music.
" 23rd, a symbo of subjection and servitude.
" 24th a word derived from a Hebrew word signifying vain.
" 26th the wife of Zededee.

The whole is one of [illegible] wise to them that labor and are heavy laden.

BIBLE ENIGMA BY E. M. POST.

Its 1st begins the name of the father of David.

Its 2nd begins the name of the prophet who had the vision of the valley of dry bones.

Its 3rd begins the name of the first man who was chosen a Nazarite for life.

Its fourth begins the name of the man whom David slew.

Its fifth begins the name of the king who had seven sons hanged.

ENIGMA BY FLETCHER H. JONES.

My 1st begins the name of a brother of Bernice.
" 2d one whom Nebuchadnezzar consulted whither he should first besiege Rabbath or Jernsalem.
" 3d a son of Beer and a prophet of the Lord.
" 4th the son of Jothan king of Judah.
" 5th the third son of Jacob, by Leah.
" 6th the country where Philip was tetrarch in our Saviour's time.
" 7th a king that married 11 wives by whom he had 20 sons and 16 daughters.

The initial and final letters of the above form the names of two kings of Judah.

Neglected Children.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

I have known a family of dear little children, clothed in purple and fine linen and faring, like the man in the parable, sumptuously every day, who were almost as badly off as Lazarus in the same. They were wholly under the care and influence of illiterate, vulgar and unprincipled servants, their mother being too much engaged with company, friends and benevolent enterprises to do more than give them a kiss once or twice a day, and sometimes when they vexed her, a scolding or a slap. The mother, a brilliant and educated and most fascinating lady. By and by she is ashamed of her children, who are boors, unpolished, unmannerly and ungrammatical. What wonder? They were neglected, and nothing else could have been expected. Seven times one are seven. You cannot make it nine, to save your life.

Some mothers neglect their children through the care they take of their outward appearance. Come what will, they must have so many little frocks, and so many ruffled aprons, so many pies and cakes too, on the table and so much luxury in the furnishing and adorning their homes. Somebody and something must be put out, and trained nurse and it is very likely to be the little Kitty or Johnny, who is, after all, the occasion of the parents' greatest pride and anxiety. It is a terrible thing though, when you recline sit down and think about it, that a child living, breathing, sentient, and immortal, should ever be considered as merely a clothes-pole or a centre-piece for vain display!

The class who upon the whole get the least notice taken of them and are oftenest snubbed and hurt, are the boys. The ordinary, common-place ones, I mean, who are especially brilliant in nothing, and who are at the awkward, obtrusive age, when their feet and hands are big, and they seem to have a talent for forever being in the way. Their very faces have lost the sweetness of babyhood; and have not gained the meaning of manhood. Nobody has much patience with them, and the house is so much stiller when they are out of it, that even mother does not ask where they are when they slink out of sight, perhaps, after supper, God help them! Many a boy might be saved from a period of wild and reckless dissipation if only there was somebody who could see the better part of him, and care enough for it to endure the rougher outside and to help him along. There are plenty of neglected boys who wear good warm clothes and have shoes on their feet. Is there one that we know? If so, let us take compassion on him.—Christian Union.

Playing Dog.

Our three year-old youngster insists on our stopping the pen, and playing dog. It seems to be her model idea of sport. All that she demands is that we get down on our hands and knees and advance rapidly, with a bark not natural to our human species. It being a moderate demand, we undertake to gratify it, and succeed as well as could be expected. We thought at the time how many are engaged unwittingly in this game of playing dog. There are so many men after each other in all occupations and professions, with sharp teeth and threatening bark, that it seems as if all the spite and enmity of men were being unkemelled: merchants after merchants, clergymen after clergymen, doctors after doctors, politicians after politicians. They are doing what our little girl demanded of us. They are "playing dog"—They bite and devour each other. They get on the track, and run down their game. Sometimes it is the great mastiff after the small rat terrier. Then it is little poodles after a great Newfoundland. If men want to go a-hunting why do they not go after that which ought to be hunted. There are all the foxes of human deceit, and the roaring lions of infernal cruelty and hate that ought to be pursued. Whistle up all your dogs for this chase. Keep them in the leash till the right moment comes, and then, with clap of hand, and stamp of foot, and halloo of voice, set them on the black brood of death. When there are so many horned and hoofed and tusked enemies of God and man to be [illegible] and brought to grief, there is not much use in seeing me that men should spend their time "playing dog."—Christian at Work.

Rural and Domestic.

Thirty-five Acres or Eight?

A writer in the State Journal relates the following incident:

Some years since, when I was stopping at a house in Haywood county, N. C., I had some conversation with the proprietor. He told me that he had under cultivation in corn thirty-five acres, and said that he did not expect to obtain more than three hundred bushels. I observed that the greater portion of his land, though naturally fertile, was hilly, and had evidently been very imperfectly cultivated. After dinner I took a walk to look at a native grape vine. I found it near his stable, situated in a piece of bottom on the creek, of about eight acres. Some corn was looking well on the part near the stable, but fourfifths of the ground seemed chiefly covered by weeds. He said that the land was very rich, a large part of it inclined to be wet, and that having so much land to tend he had not been able to work it enough to keep the weeds under, and that he had been obliged to give up the greater part of it. I said to him: "Suppose you were to cut a ditch through the center of it, and dry it, then throw your surplus manure from the stable on such parts as would derive most benefit from its application, have you any doubt but that this piece would yield you forty bushels to the acre?" He answered that he had no doubt of it. "Then," I added, "you would get more corn on this lot than you look for on your entire farm, and with perhaps not more than one-fourth of the labor: for as this land lies level and is free from stumps, etc., you could cultivate it with great ease. The rest of your land you might let stand in grass, with some small grain." Every acre of his land would produce fine crops of clover, orchard grass or timothy.

RECEIPT FOR FIG PICKLES.—Pluck ripe, but not full ripe figs, stems on. Put in a jar; sprinkle salt—one half pound to a peck of fruit. Pour boiling water sufficient to cover figs, then let it stand twelve hours. Then drain in a colander. If too salt, rinse with fresh water. Fill jars with the fruit: on the figs pour hot, boiling vinegar, that has had added to it a pound of sugar to the gallon, and boiled. Put sticks of cinnamon and some cloves in the jar.

POMARO CATSUP.—Boil till soft one peck of full ripe tomatoes cut up into small pieces. Then strain through a sieve, leaving behind the skins and seed only. Take of mace, allspice and cloves each a tablespoonful; salt and red pepper to one's taste; tie up in a rag, and then place it in the strained tomatoes: then boil slowly till it thickens, stirring occasionally meanwhile. When thick remove from the fire, add one and a half teacups of strong vinegar, bottle closely, and lay bottles on the sides in a cool place. An onion cut up and tied in the bag of spices will please onion lovers.

A NEW POTATO DISEASE has made its appearance in England. The Cottage Gardener, London, describes it as a fungus which attacks the vine when not more than six inches high. The seed tuber dies and becomes a mass of rottenness; the young tubers are consequently arrested in their growth, and the haulm withers and decays. The disease has only been discovered in the gardens of the Royal Horticultural Society at Chiswick, and attacks only American varieties. The disease is similar to and possibly identical with a "potato blight" which sometimes, though rarely, attacks whole fields of potatoes in western New York under circumstances which give no definite idea as to its cause. It does not spread from one field to another, rarely reappears the second year, and spares some varieties in the same field while destroying others. We have found it worse on the Peachblow potato, but it rarely does much in a neighborhood, though individual farmers may suffer severely.

CAROLINA CENTRAL ACADEMY.

ANSONVILLE, N. C.

CHEAPEST SCHOOL OF ITS GRADE IN THE CAROLINAS.

The Fall Session of this Institution begins MONDAY, SEPT. 6th, 1875. The Session MONDAY JAN. 31st, 1876.

[illegible]
Rev. N. H. CobbA.M., University of N. C.
Rev. J. J. McLENDON, Graduate So. Bap. Theological Seminary.
HENRY W. RUFFIN (Shorter & Graves' School)
A. J. ALLEN (Business Commercial College)

TERMS PER SESSION OF 20 WEEKS:

Board, including furnished room, washing, fuel and light, with tuition in Academic department, $85 to $95, with tuition in Preparatory department, $70 00
Do., with tuition in Primary department, 75 00
Short-hand Reporting by an experienced Phonographer, extra, 25 00
Telegraphing by a practical operator, extra 20 00
Instrumental [illegible] 20 00
Printing and [illegible] to Students in Academical department, 2 50
Boarders furnish their own lights, fuel, and the use of all in public of the session.
Each Boarder is required to furnish his own sheets, pillow-cases and towels.
Tuition due and payable in advance.
For further information address either
Rev. D. J. McLENDON, Ansonville, N. C., or
Rev. N. H. CobbD.D., Charleston, S. C. [illegible] Sept. to July 28 1876.

TO THE PUBLIC.

[illegible] Proprietor's Interest in the Business [illegible] Stand

LARGE AND

FULL STORE

[illegible] Stand

NO. 5 MARTIN STREET, where I shall be pleased to see my many friends and patrons, promising them as to always as cheap as they can be had in this market.

Grateful for past favors, and hoping to merit continuance of the same,

Truly, respectfully,

J. D. WHITAKER.

may 17-tf. Raleigh, Feb 22, '57.

THE NEEDLE

COTTON GIN.

The Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation on cotton of the Southern States. I beg to say first premium
In the gin I exhibit at the compress its [illegible]
A report from one of our [illegible]
Gave 11 bales, and " That during the ginning season it ginned 178 bales of cotton. In South Ca-
[illegible]
[illegible] gin of the same size ginned daily weighing 500 lbs. in forty-five minutes. From many other reports the best is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. in 8 minutes in 45 minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run little open air through, eight bales of [illegible] ginned and little seed put out, not [illegible] the cotton or injuring the needles.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

July 1 tf

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you OTHER STATE AGE

PRICE, 50 CENTS PER BOX, or sent to any parts of the United States, for One Dollar per Box—Three Boxes are prepaid and can only be had of the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed.

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

26 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in The Christian Advocate. mar 31-1y

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE,

MURFREESBORO, N. C.

Next session begins Sept. 27th, 1875. $158 will pay for Board and Literary tuition during one year in the collegiate department: $148 in the Academic. Send for catalogue to

W. G. STARR,
aug 25 2w Murfreesboro, N. C.

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I will most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to favor Mr. Temple my successor also with, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him.

I will still keep on sale the celebrated Pasture for the same bad bag. LYNN ADAMS

march 17-6 m

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and are among the best now made. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as the exclusive use of the very best materials and the most thorough workmanship will permit. The principle plendid and compass, and the piano-preserving power of the scale especially, unite in the unanimous verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. The DURABILITY of our instruments is fully established by over sixty school and colleges in the South, selling over 300 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufactures of Cabinet and Parlor Organs, prices from $50 to $600. A liberal discount to Clergymen and Sabbath schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $75 to $250, always on hand.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 600 Southerners, who have bought and are using the Stieff Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF,
Warerooms, No. 9 North Liberty street,
Baltimore, Md.

Factories, 84 & 86 Camden st. and 45 & 47 Perry st
Dec 16 1ym

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDRE

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Boots and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Hats and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties in Season's paper Linen Cuff and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cashs' Ruffings, and Ploatings, Laces, Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Alpacas, Poplins and Figured Lustre, White Piques, Mul Muslins, Check & Marlins, Nainsook and Lisle Lawns, Corset Jeans, Crashes and Linens.

HATS HATS HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Our Stock is complete in this line. Misses and Ladies Gaiters and Slippers, for themselves. Our brands which also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

Your numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
54 Hayward st. Raleigh, N. C.

mch 17-tf.

SUI GENERIS.

PALMAM QUI MERUIT FERAT

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED Judged UNAPPROACHED
in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA; 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded anything in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellences as to command a like rank with them.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at all the Great Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been two in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers are LABOR compensated for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES Important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of two instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, Organs sold for cash or for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for them.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14 1 year.

A NICE LOT OF HAMS JUST RECEIVED from Western N. C., and for sale especially for table use by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

250 BUSHELS WHITE SPRING OAT FOR sale by

A. G. LEE & SONS.

A LOT OF FRESH MOUNTAIN BUTTER in kits. Call and examine at

A. G. LEE & SONS.

apl 14 1s.

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

I still belong manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give as large a bale of cotton as any other gin. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary N. C.

June 16-tf.

DUNSTON & VALENTINE,

Fashionable Barbers,

Under the Raleigh National Bank. LEFT HAND DOOR as you enter the basement, and the neatest shop in the city.

N. O. DUNSTON, C. H. DUNSTON J. P. VALENTINE.

June 4t.

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9 24 P. M	5.55 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	9.32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury.....	7.15 "	8.51 "
" Greensboro'....	3.01 A. M.	10.55 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.30 "	1.20 "
" Barkville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond...	2.22 P. M.	5.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond....	1.58 P. M	5.05 A. M
" Barkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.35 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.52 "	1.7 P. M.
" Greensboro'....	2.10 A. M	8.25 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	6.16 "
" Air Line J'nct'n	5.35 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlo'te....	6.30 A M	8.30 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

Leave Greensboro'....	3.00 A M	Arrive 2.40 A M
" Co. Shops.....	4.51 "	Leave 12.35 "
" Raleigh.....	8.25 "	9.10 P. M
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.30 A M	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'..... 4.31 P. M.
Arrive at Salem..... 6.15 "
Leave Salem..... 8.40 A. M
Arrive Greensboro..... 10.3

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 8.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train, making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Time of ticket-office as on the other routes.

Through tickets to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sunday's Lightning Accommodation Train leaves Salem at 9.00 A. M., arrive at Barkville 12.45 P. M., leave Barkville 1.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 5.35 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Passengers can have arrangements to advertise their business on this company's cards, please call as above. For further information address

S. L. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro N. C.

T. M. R. TALBOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.
On and after Friday, May 22d, 1874 (Sunday excepted) the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, and connecting trains will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.05 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	2.25 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.55 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.40 P. M

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.45 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.35 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	7.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	4.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and N. Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, and from all points South and Southwest.

Mail at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayw ood and Fayetteville.

A. E. ANDREWS,
Tech. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct 25th, 1875.

On and after Monday, Oct 25 the Mail train on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.25 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.30 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford	10.25 A. M.
Leaves sanford,	11.00 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at Raleigh with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North and South.

Freight Train will run as heretofore.

Through Freight Contracts can be made with the Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE SUPT. OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	1 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.35 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and landings on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.00 A M on Mondays Wednesdays and Fridays

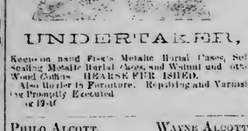
S. G. GRIST,
Supt Transportation

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall.

RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fine's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. BURNSIDE FIRE ISHOE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the state, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Venison Hams, Onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit, Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, Wilkie, Buckwheat Stock and Black Peas, White and Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make PINE MOUNTAIN BEER a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We have made the necessary arrangement with our Norfolk house to furnish the BEST OYSTERS that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches
OF
Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.
LATE OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.
BY HIS SONS
James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.
A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in morocco gilt edge, $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F. L. REID, Louisburg, N. C. or JAS W. REID, Westwood N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET, SQUARE, Raleigh N. C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning the thanks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past ten years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and believe we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in exchanging our friends all the advantage gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to call especial attention to our select stock of Canned Goods and Goods bought direct from the Factories and delivered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have on hand to-day:

2,000 lbs. Java Coffees,
10 Mats do do Java,
10 bbls. Sugar,
10 bbls Extra Sugar,
10 Bbls B & Y Yellow Sugar,
25 bbls Demerara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
1 Package Dried Beef,
1 " Sugar Cured Beef,
50 " Beaver Leather,
10 Cases O. shirts,
20 " Brandy Peaches,
2,000 Yds. Bagging,
Cotton Ties,
Iron Bale Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
20 Cases Farmer's Crackers,
10 " Soda Crackers,
Cases Factory and Dairy Cheese,
Boxes W. P. and G. D. Tea Cups,
3 Kegs Burton Horse and Mule Shoes,
2 Bbls Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
5 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
10 Bbls Laundry and Toilet Soaps,

We solicit special consignments to country and near-by merchants, and invite an examination of our stock before purchasing elsewhere.

Terms Cash or Prompt Time.

LEACH BROS

L. B. WYATT. B. L. BINGHAM.

Wyatt, Bingham & Co.

Wholesale and Retail Grocers,

COTTON FACTORS

AND GENERAL

Commission Merchants,

No. 4 Market St. and No. 5 Market Exchange,

RALEIGH, N. C.

We tender our many thanks to our several customers and friends for their liberal patronage, and hope to merit a continuance of the same by our strict personal and prompt attention to our business, and by offering to them in our large and well selected stock of

BOOTS, SHOES, HATS and CAPS,

Staple Dry Goods,
Cotton Yarns,
Sheetings,
Alamance Plaids, and several merchandize,

all of which we guarantee to be as recommended, and to sell at the lowest prices.

OUR GROCERY DEPARTMENT

is complete, and we make PRICE a specialty and guarantee the lowest prices at retail and wholesale, also the quality to be equal or superior to any offered in the market for the price.

BARGING and TIES, SALT and NAILS

always on hand and offered at the lowest mark et prices.

Consignments solicited, which will receive our prompt and personal attention, and the best prices obtained.

jan 2-1y P. F. PESCUD, Jr.

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by
POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.
70,000 NOW IN USE!
Simple, Strong, Durable, Economical and Safe.

Manufacturers also of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Iron Fronts, Shutters, Doors, Cotton Gins, Presses, Feed Mills, Pulleys, Hangers, Boxes, Gearing, Shafting, Paint, White Lead &c. Oil Mill Machinery, Refining and Bleaching Oils, Soap Works, &c. Also Machine Moulding and Brass Work of all kinds. Manufactured to order. Send for Illustrated Pamphlet, Circulars, &c.

mch 24-6m.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, Wheat, Rye, Corn, Cornmeal, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Turpentine Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c, &c.

Dec. 25-6

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Academies, Factories, Court-houses, Fire Alarms, Farms, &c. Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue and Price List sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati, O.
apr 14 12m

1875. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Mile's and Graff's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square.
oct 7-1y

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK. President.
D. P. FACKLER. Actuary.

WM. M. COLE, Secretary
DANIEL AYRES, M.D., LL.D., Med. Director.

POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!

The BROOKLYN LIFE is the only Company in America which guarantees

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES.

In case a Policy is forfeited for nonpayment of Premium

THE BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for JUDGMENT on INVESTMENT, ECONOMY OF MANAGEMENT, AND CARE IN THE SELECTION OF RISKS—upon which elements of administration the security of a Life Insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and in a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the Companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully see for this important safeguard. IT WILL BE FOUND IN THE BROOKLYN LIFE

WM. LITTLE, M.D., MEDICAL EXAMINER

A. W. LAWRENCE,

General Agent for North Carolina,
Office at Raleigh.

may 18-tf

MOSELEY'S CONFECTIONERY

RALEIGH, N. C.

Is the Place to Buy

French and Plain Candies,

Foreign and Domestic Fruits,

RAISINS, NUTS, etc.,

Fine Cigars, Smoking Tobacco, Chewing Tobacco, Fine Cut Chewing Tobacco,

Fancy Good. Childrens Toys,

Carriages for the Little Folks,

CROQUET SET,

BASE BALLS AND BATS.

Marbles, Tops, and Kites,

All at MOSELEY'S

INSURE AGAINST FIRE!

In PESCUD & SON'S Agency, Raleigh, N. C.

Money and time saved to those who insure through us in the following strong and prompt Companies, viz: Home, N. Y. Georgia Home, N. C. Home, City Fire, Richmond, New Orleans, Amazon, Atlas, Hartford, Atlantic, New York, Firemans Fund, Cal., Penn of Philadelphia, Franklin of Philadelphia.

Extra inducements offered to all who want Insurance on Cotton and Tobacco Factories, Mills, Gins, Farm property and dwellings and country stores.—Send for a blank application, instructions and terms to Pescud & Son Raleigh, N. C.

P. F. PESCUD. F. P. PESCUD, Jr.

jan 20-tf

J. G. WILLIAMS, Pres. S. C. WHITE, Cashier,
W. S. PRIMROSE, Assist Cashier.

NORTH CAROLINA State National Bank.

RALEIGH.

Deposits Received

SPECIAL CARE AND ATTENTION GIVEN TO

COLLECTIONS.

COLLECTIONS MADE IN THIS, AND
ALL THE SOUTHERN STATES
At Cost, and remitted for in Eastern Exchange, at the Lowest Market Rates.

dec 8 12

ESTABLISHED 1816.

CHAS. SIMON & SONS,

66 NORTH HOWARD ST., BALTIMORE, MD.

Dealers in

FOREIGN & DOMESTIC DRY GOODS,

would call special attention to their splendid stock of Dress Goods, Linen Goods, Embroideries, Laces, and Hosiery, the best assortment of Mourning Goods in the city.

SAMPLES SENT FREE!

All orders amounting to $20.00 or over, will be sent free of freight charges by Express, but parties whose orders are not accompanied by the money, and having their goods sent C. O. D., must pay for return of the money.

J. C. S. LUMSDEN,

Manufacturer and Dealer in

TIN AND SHEET IRON WARE,

Stoves, &c., in Great Variety.

THE STONEWALL is the Largest, Heaviest and Best Cook Stove in the Market.

Tin Roofing, Guttering & Pipes a Specialty. Fayetteville St., opp. the Market House.

oct 14 12m RALEIGH N. C.

FURNITURE

W. H. Morris & Co

No 3 Fayetteville Street.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealer in all kinds of furniture, such as Walnut Chamber Sets, Cottage Chamber Sets, Parlor Sets, Dining Room Sets, Bedsteads, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Washstands, Tables, Chairs, Sofas, Lounges, Spring Beds of various patterns, Cribs and Cradles in great variety of styles, patterns and prices. Wood and Marble top centre tables &c.

ALSO

keeps constantly on hand and make to order all kind of Matt

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Babbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 35. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, September 8, 1875. | Whole No. 1,073.

Selected Poetry.

For the Aged.

[A hymn, before unpublished, composed by the late author of 'Just as I am,' at the ripe age of eighty-eight years, and the year of great suffering. She gave the hymn to a friend when she wrote it, to a dear friend who had so many aged relatives, and desired its publication in the Sunday at Home.]

Art thou weary and dreary?
Hast sorrow once possessed?
Art thou weak and weary?
Longing to be at rest?
Hope in God, for I will raise thee
Strength shall be as thy day;
Only on me rely;
Only trust me, and cry
Comfort I will convey.

Art thou sick, and sad, and lonely?
Are friends all passed away?
Only one remains to thee?
Lift up thy heart and pray.
Call upon me in the day of trouble,
I will hear and answer thee;
Cast on me thy care,
Only look to me in prayer,
Thou shalt my glory see.

Art thou young, and fair, and joyous?
Is life's sun bright and gay?
Are thy companions many?
Is all thy path decked with flowers?
Oh, remember, life is fleeting,
Youth will quickly pass away;
Time is on the wing,
Death will soon thee bring
To the realms of endless day.

Art thou poor, despised, forsaken?
Thy days in sorrow spending?
Is thy head bowed down with anguish?
Are thy friends unkind and cold?
Lift thy head, for I am coming
To thy aid right speedily;
Raise the fainting knee,
Thou shalt my salvation see,
Thou shalt be my own in me.

Yes, I come to thee in sickness,
And in sorrow I draw near,
And in pain I visit thee,
And in anguish I appear.
Thou shalt find my love all precious,
More than life or health can be;
Trust in me alone,
Thou shalt have me for thine own,
Thou shalt live big life in me.

Thou shalt be my own forever,
I will never thee forsake,
Though the world may frown upon thee,
Though thy friends thy love forsake,
Though all human help shall fail thee,
Though all human power be vain,
Though all human love
Pass away like night's dark shade,
Thou shalt never love in vain.

Thou shalt be my own forever,
Thou shalt be my own in me,
Thou shalt live big life in me,
Thou shalt my salvation see,
Thou shalt my glory see,
Thou shalt be my own forever,
I will never thee forsake.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Brother Smith and Brother Jones,

Dear Brothers: Brother Jones: Good morning." Brother Smith: I am glad to see you. I should be expected for the many things to consider. Well, what has happened, I hope nothing more than common. I have a little surplus, you talk so. I have one of the most liberal congregations in the county.—The crop last year, did not turn out a premium of twenty-five dollars. Bro. Smith. I made a good crop only. You see so many things to come out after the crop is laid by that it amounts to very little. I believe it is a fact that the whole community is ruin. Times certainly are hard.

Well, Bro. Jones, I will not question. Bro. Jones. Did you realize from your crop last year?"

"Why, my expenses were paid, I had as much as I thought I ought to bring. Bro. Brown, who has a nice plantation, and a good head about such things, thought I ought to have seventeen thousand. I think I overshot the mark; but I hoped he might be right after seeing a great deal and losing a quantity of sleep and having a thousand and things to look after besides, I sold the crop off my hands, and received fifteen thousand and five hundred. That was fifteen hundred more than Bro. Brown and all the rest thought I would make. It was a great disappointment; but I think Christians ought to hope for the best even if times do look hard.

I am sorry you were disappointed, Brother Jones, but I don't think you have any cause to complain. I do not suppose you have done worse than other men in the county, who cleared as much as that."

"Why, I do not mean to complain. My trust is in Providence.—But, you know, you know, that 'all things work together for good to them that love God.' But then, I have so many expenses.—Provisions are higher than they ever were before, and hard to get at that. Cotton is low; last year this time it was at a premium of twenty-five dollars, and now it is only twenty above the par. My property is insured for a large amount, and my life for fifteen thousand, and besides all this, I am annually about twenty-five dollars tax on moneys and otherwise invested. I tell you, Brother Smith, it is a great trial of faith when times are so hard as they are. We must try, however, to bear our crosses with a meek and resigned spirit."

I am glad I met with you, Brother Jones. I am trying to raise the balance of what we owe on our parsonage, and I hope you will help us with your influence. We must have a home for our preacher, you know. We have to raise about five hundred dollars more to raise, and that is due already How much will you give?"

"I am sorry, Bro. Smith, very sorry; but almost any other time would have suited me better than this morning, and besides we ought to be very careful not to encourage extravagance in our preachers. Preachers are human, you know, like the rest of us, and if the brethren don't mind they will encourage them to be too extravagant, and so to forget their particular work of preaching the gospel. The fact of the business is, Bro. Smith, preachers now a days are very different from what they used to be in the times of the apostles. You remember, I reckon, where, in the gospel according to St. Matthew, they were commanded to 'provide neither gold, nor silver, nor brass in their purses;' yes, and that is not all. The Lord went on to say, nor 'scrip for your journey, neither two coats, neither shoes, nor yet staves.' I just tell you it never will do, Bro. Smith!"

"Excuse me for interrupting you, Bro. Jones, but you didn't quote all of that last verse. The last part is, 'for the workman is worthy of his meat.'"

"Thank you, Bro. Smith, yes sir, well you see, as I was going on to say, times are very different from what they used to be. The workman must not have too many hindrances or he will not be able to work. The preachers ought not to be encouraged to think so much about temporalities. Their work is about spiritual things, and they ought to be exemplars for us, to show us how to lay up 'treasures in heaven.' They ought to go forward and trust in Providence. That is what the good Book tells us, and if the preachers don't deny themselves, they ought not to complain of others."

"Well, Brother Jones, you must remember that times are very different from what they used to be, and for that very reason you must not measure the wants of the church to day by the provisional arrangements made in the days of the apostles. You are worth more to day pecuniarily than the whole body of the Christian church at the time you speak. It was needful in those days to go and preach the gospel, and without any purse, too. The church was financially poor, but nevertheless the gospel had to be preached. The news of salvation had to be spread under the special plan prescribed by the Saviour. There is a great deal of wealth in the church, and she must use it for God. But, coming back to the question, how much will you give me for the parsonage?"

"O yes! the parsonage, I was about to forget. It is very hard to pay for so many different things. A body hardly knows when he has paid and when he has not. There is the preacher's salary of seven or eight hundred dollars; and then I think our Bishops might be a little more economical; then comes the Conference collection, and the missionary collection, and the colleges, and a host of other things besides. Dear me, it is really appalling, it is overwhelming, and I am afraid the church is going to ruin.—There is great extravagance somewhere."

"I suppose, then, Bro. Jones, you mean to say you will not pay anything for the parsonage?"

"O yes, well, I reckon I ought to give something. I am always willing to do my part. Here are ninety-three cents. Hope you may be successful in raising the whole amount.—As I am in a sort of a hurry, good morning, Bro. Smith."

"Good morning, Bro. Jones."

SEXTUS.

Drudgery of Literature.

I would rather serve in a shop—rather scour floors—rather nurse children, than undergo these tremendous and interminable disputes, and this unwomanly publicity. I am now chained to a desk, eight, ten, twelve hours a day at mere drudgery. All my thoughts of writing are for hard money. But for these dear ties I should never write another line, but go out in some situation as other destitute women do. Since I have become a professed authoress, woe is me! A washerwoman hath a better trade. I write merely for remuneration, and would rather scour floors if I could get as much by that healthier, more respectable and more feminine employment. I myself hate all my doings, and consider the being forced to this drudgery as the greatest misery that life can afford. But it is my wretched fate, and must be undergone—so long at least, as my father is spared to me. If I should have the misfortune to lose him I will go quietly to the workhouse, and never write another line—a far preferable destiny. No woman's constitution can stand the wear and tear of all this anxiety. It killed poor Mrs. Hemans, and will, if not avert d, kill me.—Miss Mitford

Love not pleasure; love God. This is the everlasting yea wherein all contradiction is solved; wherein whoso walks and works, it is well with him.

Is God Self Moved?

The true answer to the above question is found in the very nature of God, and in the express teachings of Scripture. All our thoughts of God receive their hue from the place we give Him in our minds. He is not such a one as we are. He is sovereign, supreme, Lord of all, consulting no one, needing the help of no one, acting wholly after the counsel of His own will, and doing all His pleasure in heaven and in earth.

It is evident that all the divine plans, formed before the worlds were made, must have originated wholly with and from God. PAUL traces the purpose of grace to the good pleasure of God's will, and there he leaves the whole matter. (Eph. i. 5-9.) There was no fitness in going farther. The truth required him to stop just where he did.

Creation could not have been its own cause. It was not in existence when Jehovah gave the command, and it stood forth. The truth in this matter is well understood in heaven, where they sing, "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honor and power: for Thou hast created all things, and for Thy pleasure they are and were created." (Rev. iv. 11.)

The Word of God teaches that the Most High takes the poor from the dunghill and sets him among princes; that He has mercy on whom He will have mercy, that He often rides divine things from the wise and prudent, and yet reveals them unto babes. To this God is self-moved. Our Blessed Saviour so teaches: "Even so, Father, because it seemed good in Thy sight." (Matt. xi. 25; Luke x. 21.)

Human pride rises up and utters great swelling words of vanity, and talks of its might and wisdom: but Jehovah comes forth with counsel and reproof, and says: "I do not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy name's sake," and, lest there should be some remaining uncertainty in the minds of men. He repeats: "Not for your sakes do I this, saith the Lord God, be it known unto you: be ashamed and confounded for your own ways." (Ezek. xxxvi. 22, 32.) God is determined that no flesh shall glory in His presence.

In short, all divine acts are from God's own self, and good men are in the habit of asking Him to find cause for His action in His own nature. DAVID says: "Do Thou for me, O God the Lord, for Thy name's sake: because Thy mercy is good, deliver Thou me. (P. cix. 21.) So also the weeping prophet: "O Lord, though our iniquities testify against us, do Thou it for Thy name's sake." (Jer. xiv. 7.)

If God withholds deserved punishment, He does it because He is self-moved so to act. "For my name's sake will I defer mine anger, and for my praise will I refrain for thee, that I cut thee not off." (Isa xlviii. 9.)

If He pardons iniquity, He teaches us to pray: "For Thy name's sake, O Lord, pardon mine iniquity, for it is great.' (Ps. xxv. 11.) If He remembers not the sins of our youth and our transgressions, it is because He remembers us according to His mercy for His goodness' sake. (Ps. xxv. 7.) So in like manner He cancels all our sins: "I, even I, am He that blotteth out thy transgressions for mine own sake, and will not remember thy sins.' (Isa. xliii. 25.)

For the same cause He purifies us from sin: "Deliver us, and purge away our sins, for Thy name's sake.' (Ps. lxxix. 9.) For the same cause God raises us from our death in sin, and gives us life and animation in His cause and work, and delivers us from our afflictions: "Quicken me, O Lord, for Thy name's sake, for Thy righteousness' sake bring my soul out of trouble.' (Ps. cxliii. 11.)

In like manner and for like cause God trains and elevates and sanctifies His people: "Behold, I have refined thee, but not with silver; I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction. For mine own sake, even for mine own sake, will I do it' (Isa. xlviii. 10. 11.) For the same cause God leads His people in the ways of truth and piety. (Ps. xxiii 3; xxxi. 3.) In like manner and for like cause God stands by His people to the last. Beautifully does the son of ELKANAH say: "The Lord will not forsake His people for His great name's sake.' (1 Sam. xii. 22.) In this way the salvation of His people is made sure. (Ps. vi. 4; xxxi. 16; cvi. 8.) Nor is there any other way of knowing that the covenant is sure, and the promise unfailing.

True, this doctrine is very humbling. It puts the creature in the dust. But that is his right place. It also gives us hope. On none can we depend if not on God. He is enough. In Him are all fulness and all riches. Let us give Him the glory due to His holy name. (Ps. cxv. 1.)

Arguments drawn from God's nature and glory are the best arguments to use in prayer, and the best supports in the day of trial: "I, the Lord, change not; therefore ye are not consumed."—Wm. S. Plumer, D D.

Conversation and Conversationalists

The first rate talker is neither pedantic nor superficial. His language is not stiff nor professional, but is not slovenly nor too familiar. He has regard, in his talk, both to his subject and to his company; and tries to be plain without being shallow, to interest his audience without paying them the doubtful compliment of expounding first principles. He does not always, however, avoid the danger of monopolizing the conversation, or of turning dialogue into monologue. Coleridge, one of the wonderful talkers England has produced, spoke by the hour to an admiring or wearied circle, and was disposed, at last, almost to resent a word timidly put in by a questioning listener. Macaulay, atalker of immense mental wealth, acquired the same monopolizing habit, and often poured out his extraordinarystores in one continuous stream: though, as Sydney Smith observed, he had occasionally his "brilliant flashes of silence." Carlyle, also, is or at least was, a talker of the first magnitude, having at one time, as Christopher North said of him, "mounted the throne of Coleridge." His "Latter Day Pamphlets," we have been assured, were spoken before they were written and published, and it is well known that "true Thomas," as his friends sometimes call him, very frequently forgets the silence which he calls golden, and vehemently resorts to the current silver of speech.

Speaking of the conversational powers and habits of certain great authors, we are reminded that the greatest of our poets seems to have been ready and skillful in conversation. In his encounters of wit with Ben Johnson at the Mermaid, Shakspeare's greatest contemporary, Lord Bacon, who has told us that "speaking makes a ready man," seems to have been excellent inconversation. He did not, indeed could not, hide that wealth of mind, with which he was so wondrously endowed. Dryden, also, was in his club—a favorite coffee-house—a conversational king. "Glorious John" talked in a style worth of his talents and reputation, and wielded thereby a literary sceptre over a host of willing subjects. His great successor on the political throne, Pope, could be very brilliant in company as well as with his pen; but he was too artificial in his style and habits to excel in that frank expression of genial thought that marks the true conversationalist. Addison, the 'Atticus of Pope, completely failed as a public speaker, and seems to have been oftener dumb than eloquent in general society.

But Addison's successor, Dr. Johnson, great with his pen, was perhaps still greater with his tongue. Indeed, Johnson, by universal admission, was the foremost talker of his day, and he intensely enjoyed the high colloquial art in which he excelled. In the renowned Literary Club, of which he was the chief ornament, he ruled with something like despotic conversational sway. Burke alone could meet him with any prospect of success on the field of argument. That illustrious Irishman seems to have been as great in the club as he was in the House of Commons. He certainly inspired the surly yet kindly lexicographer with salutary respect. It was when dwelling with ordinary members of the club, none of them mean men in their day, that Johnson's conversational superiority appeared, and enabled him to reign without a rival near his throne. How easily could he upset in a discussion poor Boswell, or Goldsmith, still poorer in a conversational point of view, and at whom Garlick launched the terribley humorous line—

"Who wrote like an angel, but talked like a poor poll!"

Leisure Hours.

Practical Value of Faith.

If, as the great English moralist said, that which exalts the future, and disengages man's mind from being engrossed in the present, serves to elevate man to the true dignity of his nature; how great the practical value of a faith, in whose far reaching visions, time dwindles into a speck, and eternity becomes the paramount object of man's anxieties and hopes, where truth is made more valuable than all things, to be bought at all risks, while truth is not to be sold for the world.—And the prevalent selfishness which lies at the basis of that mechanical and utilitarian spirit of which we have spoken, is sorely rebuked by the very thought of a divine Redeemer, who, moved by no selfish aims, but in disinterested kindness, compassionately visits, and by the sacrifice of himself ransoms his envenomed foes; and whose gospel makes all mankind my brethren in a common sin, doom, and ransom; and bids me freely give to my fellow-man what I most freely received.—Wm. R. Williams.

Croaky croquet players abound in the West since the recent heavy rains.

Paul's Thorn.

BY REV. T. P. BRIGGS.

There are many persons who would be pleased to know what that "thorn in the flesh" was. But after all it is much more important to know how he got rid of it or how he managed it and learned to endure it, than to know precisely what the affliction was.

Whether it was a mental, moral or physical infirmity we cannot say; all we need to know about it is revealed. We know that it was some severe and vexing trial. His faith and patience were sorely tried by it. It was also an affliction of which Satan had special control as he did in Job's trials and Peter's sifting. Like a thorn in the flesh it constantly irritated and gave him pain. It was Satan's own messenger to buffet him and if possible to dishearten and discourage him. Paul was aware that Satan had to do with the trial. He therefore wisely carried it to God in prayer,—to one who has invited us to cast all our cares upon him.

Again and again did he pray over the matter till his cry was answered. But he was not answered in the way he asked. Paul prayed that this vexing messenger might depart from him. But Christ did not deem it best to grant that request but he assured his tried disciple that "his grace should be sufficient for him." He reminded him that divine strength was developed and manifested in human weakness. It was quite probable that Paul supposed that his affliction would hinder his usefulness and therefore for the sake of the cause he loved above all else he desired its removal. But he was taught that God was well able to use even this infirmity as an occasion of manifesting his special grace and power. This was enough for the Christian soldier. If the cause of Christ would not suffer, he was content.

Let us then follow Paul as he followed Christ.

If, after suitable prayer, our special trials are not removed, let us gird up our hearts and hope till the end. Every true disciple must be tested and disciplined in some way to keep him humble and make him useful. What our personal trials shall be is not for us to decide. That we may rise above them and even rejoice in them we see is possible to an all confiding trust in Christ.

Praying Always.

Nehemiah had only a moment in which to pray, when Artaxerxes asked him "For what dost thou make request?" It would not do to delay an answer to the inquiry of the Persian despot, neither could the terrified He brew turn aside to engage in his accustomed supplications to the living and true God. He must reply immediately to the question of the King, but at the same time he dared not reply without seeking the wisdom that is from above. "So I prayed," he says, "to the God of heaven." He did not bend his knee, nor were his lips seen to move; but he prayed the effectual fervent prayer of the righteous man that availeth much.

Here then we have a striking and instructive illustration of the power and value of ejaculatory prayer, which means prayer that darts up to the throne and heart of our loving Father, as an arrow from the bow, or as a javelin from the hand. It is not needful to meet with an assembly of Christians in order to pray; nor is it necessary to turn aside to the privacy of one's own room; but on the sidewalk, in the place of business, in the social circle, in the hum of conversation, in the round of household duties, the praise or the desires of a child of God may dart up in the name of Jesus, and call forth an instant response in largest blessings to the soul.

It is important, however, to remember that we can never know the sweetness of this dart-like or ejaculatory prayer unless we live in the habitual and unclouded enjoyment of fellowship with the Father and with his Son. Then we will breathe the atmosphere of prayer, and every petition darted up to God will be in the power of the eternal Spirit. A very brief prayer unnoticed by man rebuilt the walls of Jerusalem.—The Truth.

Charity.

The little that I have seen in the world and know of the history of mankind, teaches me to look upon their errors in sorrow, not in anger. When I take the history of one poor heart that has sinned and suffered, and represent to myself the struggles and temptation it passed through—the brief pulsation of joy; the tears of regret; the feebleness of purpose; the scorn of the world that has little charity; the desolation of the soul's sanctuary, and threatening voice within; health gone; happiness gone—I would fain leave the erring soul of my fellow man with Him from whose hand it came.—Chalmers.

Piety and Physic.

It is, of course, very well known that some of the best physicians, living or dead, have been eminent for their piety; and, happily, the day has long since passed when the study of medicine is the gateway to materialism, or infidelity. It is equally well known, however, that much of the ostensible piety manifest among medicrl men is of that spurious kind which, like the thin coating of precious ore over metal that is base, needs but a rude touch to expose the counterfeit.

Piety is basely used (all men of sound sense admit) as a lever in many of the avocations of life, and, of course, there is to be found this spurious piety among the representatives of physic, as well as among those who represent the varied callings of life.

Physicians are very frequently charged with putting money in their purse, by a skillful use of the various offices existing in every church, and this profitable piety is sufficiently familiar, in these days, to be as easily recognized, as that which is pure and undefiled.

But it is not fair, that medical men should thus be specially charged with the use of this the most despicable of all cloaks for covering speculation and profitable manoeuvering. Strange as it may appear, the most remarkable manifestations of piety and physic are those so constantly seen in the advertisements of (those organs of piety) the so-called religious newspapers. With a very few exceptions, it is almost impossible to examine a single issue of these organs of piety without finding that they seek a large portion of their revenue by presenting to their readers the claims of almost every spurious combination of physic. If these combinations were what they are represented to be, one could only smile at the thrift of the pious publishers, in thus blending the profits possible from physic and theology; but when it is notorious to all men (not imbeciles) that the advertisements of such medicines are as criminally false, as are the deceptions practiced in the medicinal compounds advertised, every one of fair sense and sound judgment does something else than smile at such a display; he feels that such piety is fully as bad as such physic.

That the secular newspapers should recklessly publish the falsehoods and false claims of every charlatan who is able to pay for space, wherein to trumpet forth the wholesale virtues of his nostrums, is contemptible enough and despicable enough; but that the organs of piety, a part at least of whose duty is to publish the truth, should, for profit, publish admitted lies; should sell their space; their influence; their character; their power of upholding the right and their duty of uprooting the wrong; this is, indeed, a union of spurious piety and spurious physic, from which honest men turn away with surprise, condemnation, and regret. All decent men condemn the advertising of quack medicines by secular papers, though these sheets do not, of course, aspire or claim to represent the higher planes of morality; but that the organs of piety should be offering spurious physic, should sell themselves for a price, and for so small a price, brings up the two old stories so familiar in their columns; the story of the garden of Gethsemane, wherein one who was so trusted betrayed his friends and guide for a few pieces of silver; and the story of Him who ejected from the temple those who bought and sold therein; declaring that the space consecrated to Him should be devoted to His services, but that it had been made a den for thieves.

This important, and it is hoped very practical, subject will be discussed in another issue.—Am. Med. Weekly.

Religion and Health.

[From a sermon by Rev. S. W. FOLIANDE.]

Genuine religion has a tendency to promote temporal and physical well-being. We say genuine religion, for there are religions which engender emotions and stimulate conduct most pernicious to all true physical conditions.—religions so perfectly formal and heartless that their influences for good are never realized, and religions so marked by superstition that their influence is alike deleterious to soul and body! But genuine religion, controlling as it will the whole emotional and physical nature, is conducive to the most perfect well-being. 'A merry heart doeth good like a medicine' says Solomon. There are mental passions which are physical poisons. Envy, malevolence, revenge, pride, with all their selfish sisterhood; ennui, remorse, undue anxiety and care, fretfulness and impatience—all these tend to a prostration of the physical energies. Sin works destruction. It is not work, but worry, that kills men. There are more suicides and murderers—men and women who shorten their own lives and wear out the lives of others. than the common law recognizes. But true religion, regulating the spirit and temper of men, ending the dominion of selfishness and malevolence and filling the heart with trustfulness and peace, giving self-control and hopefulness, love and joy, which are more than medicines to the soul, adds to the worth and length of life.

Milton's Daily Life.

Milton lived in a small house in London, or in the country, in Buckinghamshire. Of all consolations, work is the most fortifying and the most healthy, because it solaces a man, not by bringing him ease, but by requiring effort. Every morning he had a chapter of the Bible read to him in Hebrew, and remained for some time in silence grave, in order to meditate on what he had heard. He never went to a place of worship. Independent in religion as in all else, he was sufficient to himself. He studied till midday; then, after an hour's exercise, he played the organ or bass violin. Then he resumed his studies till six, and in the evening enjoyed the society of his friends. When any one came to visit him, he was usually found in a room hung with old green hangings, seated in an arm-chair, and dressed quietly in black. He had been very beautiful in his youth, and his English cheeks, once delicate as a young girl's, retained their color almost to the end.

Few men have done such honor to their kind. Amidst so many trials (a scrivener caused him to lose $10,000; at the Restoration he was refused payment of $10,000 due him from the excise office; his house was burned in the great fire; when he died he only left $7,500, including the produce of his library), a pure and lofty joy, altogether worthy of him, had been granted to him; the poet, buried under the Puritan, had reappeared more sublime than ever, to give to Christianity a second Homer.—Taine.

How Much was he Worth?

It is but seldom that a whole nation feels the terrible power of a financial pressure as it is now felt throughout our land. Even the rich men feel poor, and often know not what may be their condition to-morrow. In such a time there is much significance in the question heading this paragraph; but how much more terribly significant the questions sometimes asked when a wealthy man is laid upon his death-bed!

"How much was he worth?" we ask. And the angels might reply. "Worth? He wasn't worth anything. His money was worth something. His body is worth something as a source of fertility to the soil. But he wasn't worth anything." So we vary the question: "Yes, but how much did he leave?" "Oh, leave?" it might be answered: "Yes, I will tell you. He had houses, lots, bonds, stocks, gold, notes, merchandise, farms. And he—great God! he left them all. He carried nothing with him. Naked and destitute came he into the world, and as naked and destitute did he go the way whence he came. He carried nothing; neither land, nor money, nor yet did he carry with him the blessing of the poor. He left all,—he carried nothing away with him." But his neighbor has died; a man who was not known on 'Change, nor in the tax-list. "And what has he left?' we may perhaps, curiously ask. "Left! he has left nothing; but he has taken much with him. He has gone to heaven laden with the blessings and gratitude of the poor, of the helpless, of the young, of the aged, of the widow, of the friendless, of thoses whom he, by his counsels, and his acts, and his prayers, had blessed; of those whose poverty he had relieved, whose ignorance he had enlightened, whose darkness he had dispelled, whose bodies and whose souls he had fed." When Wilberforce died, Daniel O'Connell said: "He has gone to heaven bearing a million broken fetters in his hand." Happy he, whatever he may leave, or may not leave, on earth, who goes thus freighted into the other world.

The Chafty Architect.

It is recorded of an architect of the name of Cnidius that having built a watch tower for the king of Egypt, to warn mariners from certain dangerous rocks, he caused his own name to be engraved on a certain stone in the wall, and then having covered it with plaster, he inscribed on the outside, in golden letters, the name of the king, as though the thing were done for his glory. He was cunning enough to know that the waves ere long would wash away the coat of plastering, and that then his own name would appear, and his memory be handed down to successive generations. How many there are, who, while affecting to seek only the glory of God and his church, are really seeking whatever is calculated to gratify self-love. Could the outer-coat, as it were, of their pretences be removed, we should see them, as they really are, desirous not of God's glory, but of their own.—Illustration of Truth.

Clippings at Random,

The present week is the culmination of the Saratoga season. The oldest residents say that never in their experience has the village been so crowded. What a queer commentary on the hardness of the times! In the evenings the piazzas of the great hotels are now begining to show a diminished attendance. Some of the old habitues who came for comfort and health will hang on far into September, but the fashionable world will hie away to other scenes of triumph or disappointment, as the fickle goddess may decree.

MASONRY IN ITALY.—At a banquet which followed the consecration of a new lodge, the Alexandria, at Manchester, England, recently, the Worshipful Master, in responding for his own health, referred to the Pope's denunciations of Masonry, and said there were now nearly two hundred Italian lodges and about ten thousand Masons working under the Grand Orient including some of the most distinguished men in Italy. The Freemasonry of Italy was identical with that of England, and its recognition by the Grand Master, he said, was a complete answer to the heated vituperations of the Pope.

SUDDEN DEATH OF A KENTUCKY BLASPHEMER.—A man named Louis Burke, who lived at Burkesville, in this county a few days ago indulged in very blasphemous language because his crops had been destroyed by high water. He cursed God for having his crops destroyed last year by heat and drouth, and for destroying them this year by flood, and concluded his blasphemy of the Creator with the expression; "God damn him!" His tongue clove to the roof of his mouth, and he died the next night, never uttering another word.—Virginia Paper.

Funnygraphs.

It doesn't take long for a man with a small mind to make it up.

A rain of terror—the wide spread storms among the Western gain crops.

All honest men will bear watching. It is the rascals who can not stand it.

The only men who don't get out of patients in warm weather—the doctors.

A new definition of an old maid is—a woman who has been made for a long time.

You can't speak in a balloon without having high words, but it is death to fall out.

A western editor returned a tailor's bill, endorsed, "Declined; handwriting illegible."

A Saratoga belle writes home: 'It is horrid here—not a man in town worth over $15,000.'

'I have bought my first last,' was the remark of a cobbler when he set up busines for himself.

Ought a baker to be considered a needy loafer because he is frequently seen kneading a loaf?

A tourist who was asked in what part of Switzerland he felt the heat the most, replied, 'When I was going to Berne.'

A western paper has this personal item: 'Those who know nice old Mr. Wilson of this place will regret to hear that he was assaulted in a brutal manner last week, but was not killed.'

A lady living near Troy has a piece of soap supposed to be a hundred years old. Isn't it astonishing how long some people can keep soap in the house and never feel the slightest temptation to use it.

'Man,' says Victor Hugo, 'was the conundrum of the eighteenth century: woman is the conundrum of the nineteenth century.' We can't guess her, but we'll never give her up—no, never!—Columbia (S. C.) Union Herald.

The most attentive man to business on record was he who wrote on his shop door: 'Gone to bury my wife; return in half an hour.' He was no relation to the lawyer who put upon his office door: "Be back in five minutes,' and returned only after a pleasure trip of three weeks.

A Presbyterian minister, while marrying a couple of his rustic parishioners, felt exceedingly disconcerted on his asking the bridegroom if he were willing to take the woman for his wedded wife, by his scratching his head and saying, 'Ay, I'm wullin', but I'd rather hae her sister.'

"Why should Washington's birthday be celebrated any more than mine?" asked a bachelor school-master of one of his class. A pause of several seconds' duration succeeded the question. When it was again asked, a bright little fellow held up his hand and said: "I know; because you have no children, and he is the father of his country."

DR. BOWDICH suggests that habitual inebriates should be deprived of suffrage and the privilege of holding office. If enforced, what a change in office high and low would follow!

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B Bobbitt, R. T. Gray Esq. } Editors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2 00
SIX MONTHS, " " 1 05
If payment be delayed six months, 2 50

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 8, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Decision of the Courts.

Any person who takes a paper regularly from the Post Office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. If a person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether it is taken from the office or not. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the Post Office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Sunday Preaching.

There is a growing desire on the part of country charges to have Sunday preaching, and on those circuits where there are several churches it greatly taxes the ingenuity of the preachers in charge to so arrange their appointments as to meet the wishes of their congregations in this particular. The desire for Sunday preaching is an excusable one, as on that day there are no demands of business of a secular nature—the mind is disposed toward reflection upon holy things, and the heart of the true believer yearns for instruction from the pulpit. To satisfy these wants, the preacher usually arranges for preaching at two or three places, at one in the morning, at another in the afternoon, and at a third at night. These preaching places are in many cases, at some distance from each other, requiring much and tedious travel, worrying to both the preacher and his faithful horse. To preach at these several seasons, with the body in indifferent condition, requires an effort which is in most cases exhausting to mind and body and hastens the decline and inefficiency of both. There are but few men possessed of such strength of body and vigor of mind that they can preach three fresh, vigorous and effective sermons in one day, traveling ten, fifteen or twenty miles in the intervals. Is it not because of the exhausted condition of the preacher, induced by tiresome travel and continuous preaching, that sermons so frequently lack power and are without any marked effect upon the congregation? The spirit of the preacher may be willing—his devotion to his work unquestioned and unquestionable, his desire for the salvation of souls evident; but when he rises in the pulpit with head and limbs aching from previous effort and travel, his body covered with dust or benumbed by cold, it is no wonder that his preaching is mechanical and wanting in effect. There have been instances in which men have preached incessantly and with as much efficiency in their later as in their earlier efforts; but such instances are rare and out of the ordinary course of nature. Wesley and Whitfield, Asbury and Bascom, and some others were such men, but all men are not Wesleys and Whitfields, Asburys and Bascoms.

Would it not be well if the congregations on a circuit would more willingly sacrifice some of their business cares and evince a disposition to attend more regularly and in larger numbers upon the week-day appointments for preaching, thus distributing the labors of the preacher over a week, instead of concentrating them, to a great extent, in the short space of a Sabbath day?

It would not be necessary to omit services at every preaching place. The congregation would be greatly benefited by engaging in prayer-meetings, class-meetings, love-feasts and services of song, in all of which there is spirituality of the deepest and most refreshing kind. If the preacher could not attend, there are, or should be, in every congregation those who can lead in the worship—devout men and women, not necessarily persons of education and a high order of talent, but men and women of deep christian experience and fervid piety If such meetings were more frequently held, great good would come upon the church in the way of increased piety and the development of talent. We throw out these suggestions, merely as such, hoping that others may consider of their utility, and furnish us with their views. We may revert to the subject again.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting for Person Street Station was held last Saturday and Sunday. Rev. J. P. Moore was present and preached with his usual force and ability. On Sunday night he preached at Edenton Street Church, and Rev. S. Pool at Person Street.

The Power of Prayer.

The Bible is replete with the most remarkable instances of answers to prayer. The careful reader of the Scriptures can but be impressed with this fact. We mention some examples recorded for the encouragement of God's people. Jacob wrestles and prays, and prevails with Christ—Esau's mind is wonderfully turned from the revengeful purpose he had harbered for twenty years. Moses prays—Amelek is discomfited. Joshua prays—Achan is discovered. Hannah prays—Samuel is born. David prays—Ahithophel hangs himself.—Asa prays—a victory is gained. Jehoshaphat cries to God—God turns away his foes. Isaiah and Hezekiah pray—one hundred and eighty five thousand Assyrians are dead in twelve hours. Daniel prays—the lions are muzzeled. Mordecai and Esther fast—Haman is hanged on his own gallows in three days. Ezra prays at Ahavia—God answers. Nehemiah darts a prayer—the King's heart is softened in a minute. Elijah prays—a drought of three years succeeds. Elijah prays—rain descends. Elisha prays—Jordan is divided. The church prays ardently, —Peter is delivered by an angel.—Can any, after meditating upon these examples, and many others not enumerated, fail to be impressed with the power of prayer? Can any professing Christianity hope to grow in grace, and be eternally happy hereafter, without earnest self-consecration in prayer?

Dead, Yet Living.

The Cedar is said to be the most useful when dead. It is the most productive tree when its days are numbered. There is no timber like it. Firm in the grain, and capable of the finest polish, the tooth of no insect will touch it, and time itself can hardly destroy it. Diffusing a perpetual fragrance through the chambers where it is placed, the worm will not corrode the book which it protects, nor the moth corrupt the garment which it guards. All but immortal itself, it transfers its amaranthine qualities to the objects around it. Every Christian is useful in his life, but the goodly cedars are the most useful afterwards. Luther is dead, but the Reformation lives. Knox, Melville and Henderson are dead, but Scotland still retains a Sabbath and a Christian peasantry, a Bible in every house, and a school in every parish. Bunyan is dead, but his bright spirit still walks the earth in its Pilgrim's Progress. Baxter is dead, but souls are quickened by the Saints' Rest. Cooper is dead, but the "Golden Apples" are still as fresh as when newly gathered in the "Silver basket of the Olney Hymns." Elhot is dead, but the Missionary enterprise is young. John Wesley is dead, but the itinerancy lives, and who can count the thousands who have been saved through grace by the good influences he put to work while living! Howard is dead, but modern philosophy is only commencing its career. Raikes is dead, but the Sunday school work goes on. The Apostle Paul is dead, but the blessed gospel truths which he promulgated are still able to make us wise unto salvation.

Many of our preachers are earnestly working to circulate the Advocate and are meeting with great success. On the other hand, there are a goodly number who are well wishers, and even speak in terms of high commendation of the paper, but seldom ever send us a subscriber. Do brethren, try and send us a few subscribers.—It will do you, your people, and the editors good. Make the effort at your next appointment. We never called upon a congregation publicly for subscribers, but that some persons responded to our call. You will generally find some in the congregation who do not even know that the Advocate is in existence.

A Good Offer.

We propose to send the Advocate to new subscribers from this issue until the first of January 1876 for 60 cents, postage paid.

Clubs of 10 subscribers will receive the Advocate from now until 1st of January 1876, postage paid, at 50 cents for each subscriber We want a reliable person in every community to act as agent. Will our preachers, itinerant and local, call attention to this announcement and urge upon the people to avail themselves of this excellent offer?

We make this proposition for the purpose of putting the Advocate into the hands of persons who have heretofore not taken it, feeling assured that when once they become acquainted with it, they will not deny themselves the pleasure and benefit of its continued visits. A thousand new subscribers ought to be obtained at these rates. We await responses to our offer.

The new Methodist Church building, formerly called Lebanon, on the Salisbury circuit, Rev. T. L. Triplett, pastor, will be dedicated on the first Sabbath in October, by Rev. B Craven, D. D, LL D.

Rev. D. Culbreth, writing from Craven circuit, says: "Our week of prayer began at Asbury, Craven circuit, on the 8th of August, and meetings were continued until 22d August. They were well attended by the people and official members, and resulted in eight accessions to the church. Rev. D. W. Porter and myself reached there on the 9th. I left on the 12th and he remained until the close."

Editorial Notes

Rev. Dr. Fuller, the belligerant editor of the Atlanta Advocate (M. E Church) is a man of work In a recent number of his paper he says:

After preaching three times on Sunday, administering the sacraments of baptism and the Lord's Supper, attending Quarterly Conference on Monday night, writing over four columns of editorial, and attending to sundry other office, ecclesiastical, and domestic affairs, the editor left on Wednesday afternoon for Tennessee, to enjoy the services of the Knoxville District Conference.

Rev. Dr. Deems, of the N. C. Conference, in charge of the church of the Strangers, New York, was in attendance upon the Sunday School Reunion at Chattanqua Lake and was called upon for a speech of welcome to President Grant who was also present. The remarks were appropriate and eloquent, and the papers say 'electrified the whole audience.' When the Dr. resumed his seat, President Grant arose, went to him, shook his hand cordially and thanked him for his words of welcome and counsel.

Bishop Marvin, we are pleased to learn, has appointed Rev. L. S. Burkhead, D. D., to the pastoral charge of Edenton Street Station, Raleigh, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the election of Rev. A. W. Mangum to a Professorship in the N. C. University. The many friends of Dr. Burkhead in this city will extend to him a most hearty welcome. He is expected to reach Raleigh some time during the present week.

Rev. R. G. Barrett, as will be seen from the following official notice, has been appointed Presiding Elder of the Shelby District in place of Dr. Burkhead, removed to Raleigh:

Rev. R. G. Barrett: From and after Sep. 1st prox., you are released from the Lincoln circuit, and from the same date you will take charge of the Shelby District, N. C. Conference.
Helena, M. T. Aug. 12, 1875. E. M. MARVIN.

Rev. J. T. Harris, we learn has been appointed to the Lincoln circuit, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the removal of Bro. Barrett to the District, and Rev. N. G. Whittington to supply the place of Bro. Harris on the Marion circuit.

Rev. L. S. Burkhead, D. D.

MESSRS EDITORS:

The 3rd Quarterly Meeting for this, Morganton Circuit, was this day held at Mt. Pleasant Camp ground, at which, the following preamble and resolutions, were unanimously adopted by the Quarterly Conference.

WHEREAS, We learn from Dr. Burkhead, that he has been ordered by the Bishop to take charge of Edenton Street Church in the city of Raleigh—and that pursuant to this order his administration on the Shelby District will cease on the 1st of September, Therefore Resolved, that we avail ourselves of this opportunity to express our high appreciation of Dr. Burkhead's distinguished ability as a preacher of the gospel, and of his fidelity as a presiding officer of the Church, and we hereby record our admiration of his firmness, and courage in defending both the doctrines and honor of the Church.

Resolved 2nd, that while we believe it to be our duty as loyal Methodists, to submit without murmur or complaint to consistuted authority whatever we may think of the policy pursued—yet we cannot refrain from expressing in behalf of our people, our profound regret at the necessity, which has caused the removal from among us of a man who has done so much for the advancement of our Church interests—and that we send after him, to his new post of duty, our prayers for his success—commending him to the confidence and sympathy of those who are to receive his ministrations.

Resolved, That the foregoing preamble and resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Quarterly Conference, and that a copy be sent to the Raleigh Christian Advocate for publication.

W. B. AVERY,—Secretary.

Read "Bro. Smith and Bro. Jones," on our first page. We trust that we may hear from "Sextus" often. We are pleased with the dialogue and its moral, and feel assured our readers will be, also.

UNAPPRECIATIVE.—Brother Price of the Holston Methodist, who has a remorseless way of puncturing whatever he thinks a bubble, discloses his prosaic turn of mind in the following paragraph: "Dr. Rosser writes a great deal about his revival angel's wispering in his ear. We would love to know what he means; indeed we wish he would write and talk more soberly. Such statements seem to have the twang of superstition; they are at least too poetical for this practical age'.—S. C. Advocate.

Here is the description of a newly invented clerical extinguisher:—"A candidate for a vacant vicarage in England announces an invention of his own which may prove to be useful It is a peculiar arrangement of the pulpit, with a clock to give warning. When, at the end of a half hour, the clock sounds an alarm, if the preacher does not conclude within three minutes, down comes the pulpit with the parson and the rest of the appendages."

Revival Intelligence.

Rev. G. W. Hardison writes from Straits, under date of Aug. 27th:

"Please say to the lovers of Zion that the Lord has blessed us with a revival of his work His kingdom came not merely in word, but in power. Eight have professed to know God as a pardoning God. Several backsliders have been reclaimed, and the church has been greatly strengthened. There are many who are still seeking the pearl of great price. Seven have joined our church. To God be all the glory!"

Rev. W. H. Watkins, writing from Columbia circuit, says:

"Please say to the lovers of Zion, and especially to the brethren who have traveled the Columbia circuit, that the Lord has granted us a special visitation of mercy at Wesley Chapel church, Alligator, commencing on the 15th inst. We conducted a week's meetings at this place which resulted in the following good: 12 professed faith in Christ; 15 joined the church; membership revived. Had but little ministerial help. Rev. Mr. Magott preached for us twice. But we had good help in the way of good singing. Have better singing here than at any other church on the circuit. All the praise to God!"

Rev. J. F. Smoot writing from Princeton under date of September 2d, says:

"We have just closed a very interesting little meeting at this place—protracted from our last Quarterly Meeting. Our P. E preached with usual ability and power Saturday and Sunday, but left us by the evening train. I continued the services through the week till Saturday. The meetings were lively, the large congregations were attentive and serious, several souls were converted and some reclaimed. Having appointed services Sunday morning, I came down in good time, and preached to a full house, but the interest had somewhat abated. Bro. R. A. Willis came over from his meeting and preached Sunday night. His sermon was pertinent and powerful, but the congregation seemed hard. The prayer meeting Monday morning was pleasant. At night I tried again to preach, but the revival had collapsed. Bro. A. J. Finlayson was with us Tuesday night and preached earnestly to a large congregation. The penitents that had been at the altar came forward, but the singing soon flagged. The meeting had lost its spirit. Bro. Willis was with us again last night and delivered God's message with such point and power that everything ought to have been converted; but "the great congregation" was unmoved. Alas! that a scorn was not humbled before God by that sermon: but the preacher shall have his reward, and the Master will be glorified. The Lord have mercy upon the impenitent! Nine professed, and six joined the church—others may join. The Church was blessed."

Bro. F. D. Koonce, writing from Richlands, under date of Aug. 23d, says:

"With this day was brought to a close our protracted meeting, running through nine consecutive days, which was held at the Richland's M. E. Church, South, of Kenansville circuit.

Rev. R. M. Brown, of Topsail circuit, was with us the first two days, and presented the truths of the gospel with great force, zeal and efficiency, in three sermons delivered by him.

Rev. G. C. Garriss, the pastor in charge of Kenansville circuit, having been appointed to supply the work in the absence of our beloved brother, Rev. Joseph B Martin, who was relieved early in the year on account of physical prostration, was on hand a portion of the time, rendering effective service in the cause so dear to his heart and receiving sixty two members into the church militant.

Rev W. N. Conoley, local preacher, pronounced thirteen sermons, some of which were the most powerful and truly pathetic discourses that we ever heard from the pulpit.

The church membership at Richlands had need of the revival influence, and under the ministrations and fervid preaching of Bro Conoley, was mightily strengthened and revived. The results of the meeting were most glorious Tuesday night and Friday night particularly witnessed such scenes of glorification of Christ and rejoicings in the Holy Ghost as were never displayed in that Church before.

Bro. Conoley's splendid talents, joined to solid piety and genuine humility, his zealous devetion to the interests of his calling, his sublime appeals to the unconverted; his majestic influence over the minds and hearts of his congregations, and his great love of Methodism have endeared him to our people very much; and if the Master shall spare his life and preserve his health, we believe his capacity for usefulness, as one of the most brilliant ministers of our church, cannot be excelled. One of the admirable features in Bro. Conoley's sermons is that he does not seem desirous of preaching specially to please his congregations; but his chief objects appear to be to call sinners to repentance and to a knowledge of the Truth; to establish the church in the most Holy Faith, and to confirm the hopes of all true believers.

Unquestionably no man could preach with such wonderful power as he has done, nor could such happy results be attained in our midst, unless the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit be with him.

To those be all glory and honor, dominion and power, now and forever. Amen."

Greensboro District Conference.

The Greensboro District Conference met in the Methodist Church in High Point, N. C., at 10½ A. M., Thursday, Aug. 12th, 1875, and was opened with religious services conducted by Rev N. H. D. Wilson, D. D., Chairman—assisted by Rev. W. H. Bobbitt.

O. W. Carr was elected Secretary, and later Prof. W. F. Alderman, Assistant Secretary.

Seven pastors and sixteen laymen were present at the opening session; and during the sessions of the Conference, which closed on Saturday evening following, the whole number of members in attendance reached forty-one.

Prof. Reid, of the University, and Rev. P. H. Dalton of the Presbyterian Church, were introduced to the Conference.

Committees were appointed on each of the subjects specified in the discipline for the special consideration of District Conferences, viz: "State of the Church," "Missions," "Sunday Schools and Education generally," and "Finances;" also on "Boundaries," "Means to promote the usefulness of Districts Conferences," and "Public Worship." Extracts from the reports of some of these committees will be found below.

Reports were made from all the charges in the District, and much information elicited by questions from the presiding officer and others, together with remarks from the laymen of the different charges.

The spiritual condition of the church in the District may be considered fair and where Prayermeetings and Classmeetings are regularly held —good. We believe the latter is true of our church generally. Let them not be neglected.

For special information as to the different church enterprises in the District, see reports below—nearly all of which were amply and ably discussed—and nearly every one unanimously adopted; although some unpleasant truths are plainly stated in some of them.

The use of the houses of worship of the Presbyterian and the Baptist Churches was cordially tendered the Conference: and it was intended to make the religious services a prominent feature of the occasion—but the indisposition of several of the ministers, together with the continued showers of rain daily, interfered much with both preaching and hearing the word—and consequently the meeting was not protracted beyond Sunday night.

The writer is not an advocate of the too common custom, by correspondents, of lauding special sermons, prayers, songs, speeches &c.—too often even when there is really no unusual merit where most praise is bestowed. It is enough to state simply, that (if no special mention is made of the spendid performance of the lovely organist, the perfection of the chords and tones of the instrument, the manufacturer's name, the seraphic melody of the divinely beautiful and accomplished Misses Sopeano—the magnificent voice of Mr. Bass, the eloquent prayer of Bro. This, the electrifying exhortation of young Bro. That, or the overwingly grand sermon of the graceful and talented Rev. So. and So. (don't think they were present.)—the chair did its duty—the audience joined in and helped—the singing was with the spirit, and it is hoped that the earnest efforts of the good brethren who preached the word of life, were not in vain.

As to the speeches made—inasmuch as the secretary got the floor but once—and his one minute's speech was claimed by the "other side"—and as he further thinks there was at least one more of similar merit, except in length—he must be pardoned for only saying that most of the speeches were "to the point." and showed that the hearts of the brethren are getting into the work. May the importance of the church enterprises not only reach the hearts of all our people, but go deep down into their pockets!

The genial face of the Senior editor of the Advocate was pleasant to look upon, and the claims of the paper were not overlooked, nor its "light hid under a bushel."

Rev. V. A. Sharpe, agent of Trinity College, gave encouraging accounts of his work.

The following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, The District Conference at its session held at Lexington in the year 1874, passed a resolution appointing a Committe to provide for the establishment of a High School to be especially under the patronage and supervision of this District Conference, and

WHEREAS, No steps have heretofore been taken to accomplish this declared purpose, and

WHEREAS, Our brother R. P. Troy has established at Pleasant Garden, Guilford County a school for the education of boys and girls, in the branches usually taught in Academies and High Schools, and offers his school as the District High School for Greensboro District. Therefore Resolved, 1st, That this District Conference does hereby adopt the Pleasant Garden Academy as the District High School for Greensboro District.

Resolved, 2nd, That we commend it to the support and patronage of the public and especially to the members of the M. E. Church, South, in Greensboro District.

Resolved, 3rd, That the Presiding officer of this Conference appoint a visiting committee of three to attend and witness the examinations of this school.

W. C. DOUB.
B. CRAVEN.

EDUCATION.

Education, universal in extent and equal to the highest culture of the times, is essential to the progress and maintenance of the Church of God; it is not only an elementary and social privilege, a human excellence permitted but not enjoined by divine authority; but it is emphatically the great conditioning status of society that must largely determine the social, civil and religious condition of the people in all time to come. It is the imperative duty of the church to provide all proper means for the liberal education of her children; to provide within her own direction and control, the most ample means for thorough christian culture, adequate to all the demands of literatnre, Theology, Science and Art. An ignorant church cannot fulfil the mission of the Gospel dispensation and a church that receives her culture exclusively from exterior sources cannot long continue to exist. Not only does duty impel us to action in this matter; but it is a shame for Methodist people to be inferior to others in any good thing. We must educate. Our people are generally able to give their children a practical education; and very many have ample means to furnish the very best collegiate instruction the country affords. We believe that the church that neglects or refuses to recognize and use the ennobling, elevating and vitalizing power of education, must inevitably fail in the work God has assigned it, and will not receive the anointing unction of the Holy Ghost.

We regret to say it, but facts compel us to declare, that the Greensboro District is greatly deficient in education. The ignorance in this, one of the most fertile and prosperous portions of the State, is astounding and alarming. Large numbers of white people, both the old and the young, cannot read; and many who can read, have so little culture, that their ability even to read is practically of little avail. This District, in the very shadow of two great Institutions that belong to the church, has very few graduates; and unless there is greater activity and zeal, the time may come when this section of country will show a decided inferiority.

Specially do we regard it as the duty of this District to show a decided liberality to Trinity College and Greensboro Female College. The church is struggling hard to put both on a safe basis, and make them efficient in the greatest usefulness and that they may be the pride and blessing of the country and the age.

G. F. COLLEGE

In our opinion this comes as near the best ideal of a Female College as is at present attainable. It is a great Institution, and if rightly sustained, will do the noblest work for the church and the public generally. But the College must be sustained both by increased patronage and liberal contributions. There are enough young ladies in this District that ought to be in college and might be there, to fill Greensboro Female College to overflowing. A large debt hangs over the Institution; this debt must be paid and the church must do it. A fair proportion for the district would be $12.000, and this would be less than $3 per member, a sum that could easily be given in one year.

Therefore, Resolved, 1st, That we most heartily endorse Greensboro Female College as worthy the patronage of the whole country.

2nd, That in our opinion the prices now charged, are as low as good instruction, good board, and first class accommodations, can be afforded, and at no similar place can the same advantages be had for less money.

3rd, That we will use all proper efforts to increase the patronage, until the utmost capacity of accommodation is attained.

4th, That we pledge ourselves and the District to raise as soon as possible, at least ten thousand dollars toward paying off the debt, and that we endorse the plan of the Agent, and will assist him in carrying it out in this District.

Resolved, That the Agent of G. F. College be directed to send to each charge on the District, the amount to be raised by each, the assessments to be made on the ratio of the contingent fund.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

We are pleased to learn that in the opinion of the Treasurer of the College, and the Agent, only about $4,000 more will be necessary to pay all expenses for the new building, repairing the old and refurnishing the whole Institution. Therefore,

Resolved, 1st, That we endorse the College fully, and urge our people and the public generally to send their sons to the Institution. It is worthy to receive them. It furnishes every thing desirable at very low rates.

2nd, That we will use the utmost exertions to raise $1000 of the $4000 yet needed, during the present year, so that the debt may be paid, and the Agent may be employed in other work.

B. CRAVEN.
W. C. DOUB.
F. C. ROBBINS.
R. P. TROY.
L. E. STACY.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved 1. That we heartily endorse the Raleigh Christian Advocate as a valuable church paper, contributing much to the good of the church and the public generally.

2. That we urge our people to subscribe for the Advocate, and to labor zealously that it may be in every Methodist family in the District.

3. That we request the preachers to bring the claims of the Advocate before their congregations and make all proper efforts to secure subscribers.

B. CRAVEN,
P. L. HERMAN,
JNO. W. LEWIS.

O. W. Carr, W. C. Doub, L. C. Hanes and V. Allen were elected delegates to the next Annual Conference, and J. S. Ragsdale, F. C. Robbins and J. A. Leach were elected alternates.

Winston was selected as the place for holding next District Conference.

The citizens of the village vied with each other in their kindness to the members of the Conference and visitors—and the writer is ready to vote for High Point, should he be at the next District Conference.

Resolutions of thanks to the citizens of High Point for the elegant and ample entertainment provided—to the Presbyterian and Baptist congregations for tender of houses of worship, and to the authorities of the R. & D. R. R for courtesies to the delegates, were unanimously adopted.

Minutes were then read and approved—and the Conference adjourned sine die with the benediction.

O. W. CARR.
Sec'y

Religious Brevities.

Rev. Cornelius Springer, a venerable minister of the Protestant Methodist Church, died near Zanesville, O., August 16th aged eighty five years.

A Waldensian colony of six or seven families, consisting in all of about sixty persons, have gone to South-western Missouri, with a view of making that their future home. Others are to follow.

Mr. D. L. Moody and family are now stopping at the old home, in Northfield, Mass, where they hope to rest for a couple of months. Mr. Sankey is at his home in Pennsylvania. The plan of Messrs, Moody and Sankey for their fall campaign has not yet been definitely arranged.

Rev. Willis Nazrey, the Bishop of the British Methodist Episcopal Church (colored) in Canada, died at Shelburne, Nova Scotia, on Sunday, August 22. The deceased was well known throughout Western Ontario, Canada, and was highly respected by the colored population of the country

Our Canadian exchanges announce that in Montreal a promising young French Canadian Roman Catholic, studying for the priesthood of the Church of Rome, has renounced his connection with Rome, and embraced the scriptural faith of Protestantism. In a letter addressed to the Roman Catholic Bishop of Montreal he expresses his abhorence of the Church, of Rome, and his joy in the light that has dawned upon his sould.

The following is taken from a letter written by an American resident of Costa Rico:

In July a number of Jesuits entered the Republic of Costa Rica from Guatemala, whence they had been expelled. When they arrived within ten miles of the capital they were ordered to stop. Congress finally voted them $1 500 for their immediate wants, and ordered them to leave the county.

Droll in expression, bnt grand in sentiment, were the words of the Rev. Z. Bradford, in his last illness, when, suddenly checking the tears wrung from him by the prospect of separating from his young children, he said, "This will never do; I am not going sniveling into heaven."

Dr. Gerhard Uhlhorn closes his able discourses on "Representations of the Life of Jesus," with the remark that "the best defense of the life of Jesus is the life of a Christian in whom Jesus lives."

Funeral of Mayor J. H. Separk,

On Tuesday of last week the funeral ceremonies of the late Mayor Separk were attended by one of the largest throngs ever gathered in the city to pay respect to the memory of the dead. The Military Companies, the Board of Aldermen, and several organizations of which he was a member, attended the services in a body, besides a large concourse of citizens. Rev. A. W. Mangum, in response to a dispatch, reached the city on Tuesday morning and preached an eloquent and touching sermon at the Edenton Street Church.

Pursuant to a call, a large mass meeting of the citizens of Raleigh, embracing all classes of business men, was held at Metropolitan Hall on Monday night to express sentiments of respect to the memory of Mayor Separk and sympathy with the family of the deceased.

On motion, Major R. S. Tucker was called to the Chair, and R. W. Belo, Esq, was requested to act as Secretary.

On motion, the following gentlemen were appointed to draft resolutions suitable to the occasion:

Messrs C M Busbee, J B Neathery, J C R Little, Peter Flemming, J P H Russ, J R Williams and J G Williams, which Committee reported the following, which were unanimously adopted, after earnest and eloquent eulogistic remarks on the deceased by Messrs C M Busbee, Thomas C Fuller, Jos B Batchelor, N B Broughton, E R Stamps, Richard H Battle, Jr., and J A Leach, of Thomasville:

Almighty God in His Providence has removed from earth Joseph H. Separk, Mayor of the city of Raleigh, and it is becoming, that we his fellow-citizens and friends should give public expression of our appreciation of him as a man and as chief magistrate of our city, and our sense of sorrow at his death. Therefore Resolved, That in the death of Joseph H. Separk, the city of Raleigh has lost a faithful and vigilant public officer, one fearless but just in the discharge of his official duties, and who, in all his various relations in life, has proven himself beyond reproach, unselfish, impartial, and thoroughly imbued with a deep interest for the public weal.

Resolved, That this community has lost an upright, high minded and christian citizen, who had secured the confidence of the public by his own intrinsic merit, and who by his life and character reflected honor not only upon his fellow mechanics of the city of Raleigh but upon each and every class of its citizens.

Resolved, That we tender to his afflicted family the assurance of our profound sympathy in this hour of their bereavement.

Resolved, That as citizens of Raleigh we close our places of business between the hours of 3 and 6 p. m. to morrow.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting transmit a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased and a copy be furnished the city press for publication.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Ice is selling in Wilmington at 1 cent a pound.

Durham is to have a military company soon.

A 1,600 pound hog from Warrenton will be on exhibition at the State Fair.

Charlotte is to have a new hotel, to be built by A. B. Davidson, Esq., fronting 198 feet on Trade Street, and 171 on Tryon Street.

The North Carolina Agricultural Fair will be held at Raleigh Oct. 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16th.

The young men of Oxford, says the Leader, propose at no distant day to give negro minstrel entertainments. Can't they do something else more profitable?

The residence of Mr. John B. Smith, in Goldsboro' has been bought for a Methodist parsonage.

Four of the escaped penitentiary convicts were captured at Wilson and returned to the penitentiary.

J. W. Watson, of Raleigh, will soon establish a branch photographic gallery at Goldsboro'.

Goldsboro' has three good schools—one male, one female, and the other mixed.

Hon. Jefferson Davis has been invited to deliver the address at the Salisbury fair.

By the death of Thos. W. Dewey, Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Chapter of North Carolina, that office now devolves upon Col. Thos. S. Kenan, of Wilson, D. G. H. P.

The citizens of Goldsboro' are disgusted by the midnight drilling of negroes in that place.

Thirty or forty workmen have been placed at work on the Sound Turnpike from Wilmington.

It is thought that the University at Chapel Hill will open with at least 90 matriculates—a good beginning.

The ladies of Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, held a bouquet festival last week which was largely attended and resulted satisfactorily.

There are eleven prisoners in Robeson county jail Lockleir ALIAS Rat Johnson who shot Jim Dial about a year ago has been arrested and confined in the jail.

The first bale of cotton for this year, sold in Fayetteville, came from Robeson county and brought 13½ cents per pound.

Mr. J. W. Purdie, at Harrison's Creek, Bladen co., has erected a large three story building designed for grist-mill, rice-cleaning, cotton-gin and cotton-factory. The water power is said to be excellent.

Mrs. Chastine Martin, living in the upper part of Bladen county, gave birth in August to triplets—two girls and one boy. About two years ago she was blessed with twins. So says a correspondent of the Robesonian.

The coach shop of Messrs. Hewetson & Bro., in Durham, was recently destroyed by fire; loss $1200, no insurance. A liberal subscription was made by the good people of the town to assist the young men in rebuilding.

$87,151.55 is the amount of tax Mecklenburg has to pay this year. Her taxable property foots up $8,685,561,00.

The Greensboro' Patriot says: "The Greensboro' Female College has opened with the largest number of boarders present since the war, and yet the girls still come daily."

The Board of Commissioners of Greensboro' are turning their attention to the establishment of a city cemetery.

The cane presented to Gov. Vance by the Jewish youth of Wilmington and stolen from him at Greensboro', has been found in a pawn-broker's shop in New York City.

The store of Mr. S. W. Holleman at Grange Factory was recently destroyed by fire involving a loss of about $7,000, about half of which was covered by insurance.

A lady in this State has received a letter from Miss Jennie Patterson, the lady reader, who emphatically denies the report that she has gone on the stage—She engaged in an amateur performance with some of the best ladies in Mobile and that taste even, of the green room, she says "was enough to satisfy her forever."

Messrs. A. T. and T. F. Davidson, Maj. Erwin and Col. David Coleman have been retained for the defence of young Strange who killed Mr. Murray recently.

Baby carriages on Front street, Wilmington, are voted a nuisance by ladies for pedestrians, and the STAR calls for an ordinance to prevent it.

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY—15TH ANNUAL FAIR. We return thanks to Major John C. Winder, Secretary and Superintendent, for complimentary tickets to the Fifteenth Annual Fair of the N. C. Agricultural Society, to begin near this city on the 12th October and close on the 16th.

The approaching Fair promises to be most interesting. A large attendance is expected and the exhibition of stock will be extensive. The Society is to be congratulated upon securing the services of Maj. Winder, who is omnipotent to render the Fair a success in every particular. We trust that the people of a flocking hither of the people of the State to the end that the Agricultural Society will be encouraged in its efforts to advance the industrial resources of the State.

While Mr. E. N. Peterson, of Wilkes was absent from home Monday night some dastardly person effected entrance into his house where there were only two ladies. They were very much frightened and upon striking a match the burglar jumped out of the window, says the News.

The Christian Advocate

PUBLISHED IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING. TERMS $2 20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

All our traveling and local preachers in the bounds of the Carolina Conference are our authorized agents, and any person sending us ten subscribers, for one year, will receive the paper free.

Our Correspondents.

All communications for publication should be carefully written on one side of the sheet. All letters on business should be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

Money, all amounts should be sent in Registered letters, Post Office order or check. The cost of a Post Office order can be deducted from the amount. If money is sent otherwise than as above directed it will be at the sender's risk.

Personal.

Rev. Charles Elliott, the distinguished Methodist divine of South Carolina, furnishes a letter to the Wilmington STAR in reference to that excellent institution, the Asylum at Raleigh.

Rev. M. L. Eagle has removed with his family to Jacksonville, N. C. He succeeds the present Superintendent of the Asylum, but will retire as soon as a successor can be found. His removal will be quite a loss to that institution.

Miss Mary Bayard Clarke writes the history of the State Agricultural Fair.

Col. A. M. Scales, member of Congress from the Greensboro' District, has appointed Ralph Brackmann Cadet at the Naval School at Annapolis, Md.

Andy Johnson, who was on the Democratic ticket in 1865, for Vice President, has spoken for the governorship of Kansas.

Hon. Thos. Ross, of Kansas, a printer by trade, served his term in the U. S. Senate, went back to Kansas, and is now publishing the printing office of the Lawrence Republican.

LIST OF NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Attention to the advertisement of Hymans & Dancy, Commission Merchants, Norfolk, Va. They are a reliable firm, and have dealt with Carolinians and Virginians in the commercial circles.

The Buffalo Lithia Springs are attracting their health giving properties by physicians and others. The Springs are situated in Mecklenburg county, Va. and are a property of Mr. Goode, the proprietor. Liberal arrangements to furnish families with the water of the Springs by the barrel or otherwise as may be desired. See advertisement.

We call special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Wainright, Williams & Hood, successors to Mr. J. D. Whitaker. The gentlemen who compose the firm are well known to possess extensive qualifications. We must commend these gentlemen to our readers, and especially to those who speak for them a carefully conducted mercantile business. They have on hand a full assortment of staple and fancy groceries at bottom figures.

Read the advertisement of the Murfreesboro Female College, Rev. W. G. Starr, President. This is a Methodist College, is well and well conducted. Bro. Starr is experienced and competent to conduct such institutions.

The Origin of the Georgia Troubles—Crops.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, writing from Macon, Ga., under date of the 14th inst., says:

"The political fight is over and nobody hurt.

"The ground and water were cool, the whole country quiet and sober, originating in the plantation negroes and through a few counties, and of these a few negroes.

"Governor Green, Prince Rivers, Speaker Gleaton, &c., are charged by the negroes with the bottom of it all. The Democratic leaders were negroes, Joe Morris of Macon, Grady Harris, of Washington, and the world have resulted would be the murder of a few whites and many negroes, and something more outrageous. The absurdity was a conspiracy of the whites was apparent to need no argument, and they evidently knew it. The larger number of them were the ringleaders irled and were willing to fun. There will be no more secretly.

"There has been comparatively little excitement. The negroes are not armed, and the whites have no influence and the whites have control of power to be alarmed at the threats of crazy ones may attempt the interior of the interior district they were not likely to succeed.

"A letter was found from a white man which indicated that the negroes were connected with the plot, but I cannot believe that this was the case, and I incline to the view already presented that the leading negroes, led by that class of the Yankees who seems to have a chronic quarrel with Prince Rivers—have concocted parties. All is quiet and there is nothing to do.

"The crops in Middle and Upper Georgia are looking good. The people are in better heart than for several years gone by. The wheat crop is good; oats better than for a long time, and cotton more promising than I have ever seen it. The trade from Georgia is thriving.

"General Joe Morris, the leader in the attempted insurrection is a full blooded African, and was owned by Col. Hobert Morrison, of Macon. Two or three years ago he began to assert authority over the negroes in his neighborhood, and while maintaining a correspondence of couriers supported himself by a common school.

General News.

The Methodist Episcopal church building fund is being erected in Greenville, Tenn. is the Seventh in that town.

Sam Smith has offered a reward of $500 for the murderer of Joseph Morris the leader in the late disturbance in Georgia.

The Jubilee singers have sent home five hundred pounds sterling, as the first instalment of their new series of concerts in England.

The marriage of Fenwick Hall, Saybrook, to students from the Hampton College, Virginia, to the guests say they are the best in the institution.

The Register reports the result of the census of New Orleans—whites 115, 721; colored 47, total 203,365. This is an increase of 17,000 over the census of 1870. Population of the whole State—whites 401,361; colored 364, an excess of colored over whites 1,000, and a total increase of 128,000 over the census of 1870.

The wealth of the United States averages $870 per person.

There were frost in Illinois and Iowa on the 4th inst., but much damage to the corn is not apprehended.

The watch factory at Elgin, Illinois, has begun to turn out three thousand new watches for the spring market.

The Federal Council of Switzerland has issued a circular for the suppression of convents and Sisters of Charity.

The Government has employed a temporary rate of our army, to complete the Mississippi and river defences for that locality.

The Northern Pacific railroad has been completed to the boundaries of the corporation, at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars.

The Board of Prof. Gammel, formerly of Baylor University, Texas, has an income of $10,000 per annum. She has just inherited property which is estimated at $20,000, and will be a much persecuted woman.

The Bank of California at San Francisco, lately, liabilities several millions. A run was panic ensued.

Sterling, Ahrens & Co, the largest sugar dealers in the United States, have failed, with liabilities over two millions.

There are thirty thousand pupils in the common schools in Sweden studying horticulture.

Vermont is happy with a debt of only 167,500, and with enough in the treasury to cover that amount, and a sinking fund of $164,932 more.

The Khedive of Egypt has decreed that hereafter the calendar used by Christian nations will be used in that country instead of the Mohammedan.

The Indian Territory has a school fund of about $4,000,000. There were, in the year 1874, about 2,500 children in the schools of the Cherokee Nation.

A resolution was introduced into the Connecticut House of Representatives, to amend the State constitution so as to forever prohibit any State grant to sectarian institutions. The Democratic members of the house voted almost as a unit in favor of the expressed wishes of the Roman Catholics.

The Washington internal revenue department has received a bid offering to pay twenty-one hundred dollars per month for the privilege of printing the stamps free. It is supposed that this company expects to be indemnified by the advertisement which it gets by printing its name and business on the stamps.

The wife of Garibaldi died in Rome on 25th ult.

Marriages.

Married by Rev. W. S. Black, on the 2nd Sept 1875, Mr. S. J. Veach and Miss Martha Rhodes, all of Rapides co. N. C.

By the same, on the same day, Mr. J. M. McEntee of Wilmington and Miss M. E. Horn of Magnolia N. C.

Deaths.

☞Obituary notices of twenty lines are inserted without charge. The excess over twenty lines of minor words is charged for at the rate of 10 cents per line. Count the lines and allow nine words to the line. In this way you may always know the amount to enclose Resolutions of respect are subject to the same rule.☜

Little Minnie E. Gattis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs W. A. Gattis of this city, died at High Point N. C August 27th, aged 2 years and 6 months. On Saturday morning the bereaved and heart broken parent, returned home with the lifeless body of their darling angel. At 4 o'c ock the funeral was preached by the writer at their residence, and at 5 o'clock Minnie was numbered with the inhabitants of "Oakwood Cemetery." We buried her as one of God's precious Jewels, that shall be gathered as such, when the angels shall "sing a happy harvest home" The best encomium for children is — OBEDIENCE — KINDNESS— GENTLENESS —SWEETNESS All these little Minnie possessed in the highest degree. Death's untimely frost nipping this beautiful flower so early has brought clouds of sorrow over the hearts of the dear parents. But may they remember that every cloud has its silver lining—yea lined with the rich promises of God —and may this act of Providence bind them stronger to God and his cause—and elicit brighter hopes for reunion in Heaven.

N. M. JURNEY.

Raleigh, N. C. Sep 1st, 1875.
Biblical Recorder please copy.

Died in Smithfield August 23d, Lucy Stephen, youngest child of Stephen Sneed, d. d. Aged two years two months and ten days.

"Of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Daily News and Memphis, Tenn. papers please copy.

Sweet little Frank Edward, infant son of Jas. A and Mary Sella Williamson, died at Waverly, Caswell county, on the 3rd day of August, age 3 months and 10 days.

"Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Thou art gone in thy beauty
Thou sweet angel child
By sorrow unblighted
By sin undefiled.

Like the dove to the ark
Thou hast fled to thy rest
From the wild sea of life
To the home of the blest."

H.

Died in Richmond county, near Laurinburg N. C. Miss Jannette McKinzie. She was born Oct. 11th 1821, and died July 12th 1875. She joined the M. E. Church in 1840. Her life was a long confession one. She demonstrated in an eminent degree that the grace of God can sustain in the midst of the changes and trials which fall to the lot of man. She died of dropsy. She was sick a long time, but her faith failed not. She endured with patience him who is invisible." She has left to her friends the legacy of a good example and a spotless life. She has secured the reward of the good in Heaven. May all her friends come to share it with her.

T. W. G.

Brother James Purdie Richardson was born Feb. 12th 1833, and died June 27th 1875.

Brother Richardson was brought up under circumstances peculiarly advantageous. His father Purdie Richardson was a patriarch of Christianity, generally, and a Methodist of the old school. While he gave his influence for the advancement of goodness, over all with whom he came in contact, he gave especial attention to the spiritual culture of his children. James Purdie his second son, the subject of this obituary, was of a pious bent of mind from childhood; and being encouraged by all the influences of home, he gave himself to the Lord early in life. He attached himself to the M. E. Church, South, when he was yet but a boy. His life was consistent and useful. His habit of mind was cheerful and social. He was punctual in attendance upon the ordinances of the church. He was happily married in his 27th year. He was an affectionate husband, and a kind father. He provided as far as practicable for the spiritual as well as the temporal wants of his family. He left a wife and four interesting children to mourn their irreparable loss; though they mourn not as those who mourn without hope."

MAX H. HOYLE.

Letters and Funds.

N W Ayer & Son, for adv $16.50, Rev R G Barrett, Rev J J Carden paper sent Rev T L Triplett paper sent, J McKay, C P Tanner H Gillian paper continued and sent, Thos F Goodo. Rev W M Robey, Rev D Culbreth, Rev T J Gattis paper sent, W H Robbins sent 2.20, Rev Dr Burkhead, W B Avery, Miss M G Reeves corrected, Jno Winder, P G Ennis, A G Headen for Mrs S Headen 2.20 sent 2.20, Rev M H Hoyle, Hymans & Dancy, W H Sadler for adv 7. S P Tharp paper continued Rev W H Watkins for E Leigh 2.20, W G Nelson 2.20, H Alexander 2.20, P H Turner sent 2.20, W F Alderman 43.0 W Carr, Rev D R Bruton, Rev J T Harris paper changed, F A Bishop sent 1. Rev W Harris sent 2. S P Douglas, Rev E W Thomuson for John Shaw 2.20, Geo T Jones sent 4.20, T F Goode for adv 48, Rev L E Suey papers continued, Rev Dr Closs, G W Hardison, J L Wriston, Rev M Foy for Mrs A Barnes 2.20. S H Smith Rev D May sent 1.10. Rev W G Norman for J F Manly 2.20 Miss Annie Presson paper has been regularly sent, Rev T H Edwards too late for this issue, Rev Dr Burkhead. Rev J J Renn.

Appointments.

SALISBURY DISTRICT.
FOURTH ROUND.

Statesville ct	Sept.	11-12
Salisbury station	"	18-19
Salesville station	"	25-26
Yadkinville ct	Oct.	2- 3
Mocksville ct	"	9-10
Mocksville ct	"	16-17
Alexander ct	"	23-24
Surry ct & Sanraton Miss.	"	30 31
Mt Airy station	Nov.	6- 7
Wilkes ct	"	13-14
Salisbury ct	"	20-21
Iredell ct	"	27-28

D. R. BRITON, P. E.
Statesville, N. C.

WASHINGTON DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND IN PART.

Tarboro,	Sept.	18-19
Washington,	"	25-26
Cape Hatteras. Sept. 30 & Oct. 1, 2, 3, 4 & 5
Portsmouth & Ocracoke, Oct 7, 8, 9, 10 11 & 12
Matteuuskeet,	Oct.	16-17
Bath,	"	23-24
Plymouth & Jamesville,	"	30-31
Columbia,	Nov.	6- 7
Williamston,	"	13-14
Warren,	"	20-21
Roanoke,	"	27-28

The brethren of Cape Hatteras will please meet me at Swan Quarter the 28th of Sept. prepared to take me across the Sound the 29th, and the Preacher in charge will arrange for me to preach and administer the communion at all of the five appointments on his circuit.

The Preacher in charge of Portsmouth and Ocracoke will arrange for me to divide the six days allotted to that charge between Portsmouth and Ocracoke as he may think best so that I may preach and administer the communion at both places. The brethren of that charge will be relied upon to return me to Swan Quarter or some point on Mattemuskeet.

WILLIAM CLOSS, P. E.

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT.
4TH. ROUND—IN PART.

Carthage, Mt. Carmel,	Sept.	18-19
Montgomery, Zoar,	"	26-27
Uwharrie Poplar Spring,	Oct.	3- 4
Jonesboro,' Poplar Spring,	"	9-10
Cumberland, Rockfish,	"	16-17
Pee Dee, Hebron,	"	23-24

Camp meetings will be held in connection with the Quarterly Meetings on Carthage, Montgomery and Uwharrie circuits.

Brethren in the ministry are invited to attend.

S. D. ADAMS, P. E.
Carthage N. C.

HILLSBORO DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Alamance Phillips Chapel	Sept.	4- 5
Durham,	"	11-12
G. Hill & H. River,	"	18-19
Pittsboro Mt Vernon,	"	25-26
Deep River Maroney's,	Oct.	2- 3
Yanceyville Prospect,	"	9-10
Leasburg,	"	30-31
Person Bailey's,	Nov.	6- 7
Flat River Pleasant Green,	"	13-14
Hillsboro sta.	"	20-21

L. L. HENDREN, P. E.
Chapel Hill N. C.

WILMINGTON DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Kennaville, Wesley Chapel,	Sept.	18-19
Cokesbury, Halls,	"	25-26
Magnolia, Salem	Oct.	2- 3
Onslow, Tabernacle,	"	8-10
Topsail, Rocky Point,	"	16-17
Whiteville, Shiloh,	"	23-24
Bladen, and Cape Fear Miss. } Windsor,	"	30-31
Wilmington Front Street,	Nov.	6- 7
Smithville,	"	13-14
Clinton, McGee,	"	20-21
Elizabeth, Wayman,	"	27-28
Wilmington 5th st.	"	30

W. S. BLACK, P. E.
Magnolia N. C

NEWBERN DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Kinston,	Sept	4- 5
Beaufort,	"	11-12
Straits,	"	18-19
Lenoir, Edwards Chapel,	"	25-26
Newberne,	Oct.	2- 3
Jones, at Lee's Mon. & Tues,	"	4- 5
Oartret, at Harlowe's,	"	9-10
Wayne, at Frem'st, (Ded of Ch'rch)	"	16-17
Craven, Weil, & Thurs.	"	20-21
Snow Hill, Snow Hill.	"	23-24
Neuse & S. Creek. Aurora.	"	30-31
Mt Olive, as Mt. Olive,	Nov.	6- 7
Wilson	"	13-14
Goldsboro.	"	20-21

E. A. YATES, P. E
Beaufort N C.

CHARLOTTE DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Mt. Pleasant,	Aug.	7- 8
Albemare and Stanley }	"	14-15
Ansonville, ct	"	21-22

J. S. NELSON, P. E.
Monroe, N. C.

SHELBY DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND.

Lincoln, Stanley Creek (C M)	Sep.	18-19
Dallas, Shiloh (C M)	"	25-26
Double Shoals, Union (C M)	Oct,	2- 3
South Fork, Wesley Chapel (C M)	"	9-10
Cherry Mt. Rock Spring (C M)	"	9-10
Shelby station,	"	13-14
Shelby ct. Sharon (C M)	"	16 17
Rutherford, Pisgah	"	23-24
Marion,	"	27-28
Morganton,	"	30-31
Lenoir,	Nov.	6- 7
Happy Home,	"	13-14
Newton, Concord	"	20-21
Rock Spring,	"	27-28

Camp-meetings. will begin FrNay evening and close on Wednesday morning. Let the Ministers and Stewards labor earnestly to bring up all the finances. Three-fourths of the ecclesiastical year has passed away and only about one-fourth of our salaries has been paid: Dear Brethren, shall those who preach the gospel to you be sent away unpaid? God's blessing will be in proportion to your faithfulness in His service.

R. G. BARRETT, P. E.
Shelby, N. C.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT.
3RD ROUND.

Randolph, Pleasant Hill,	Aug	7- 8
Davidson, Midway,	"	21-22
South Guilford, Pleasant Garden,	"	28-29
Forsyth, Clemmonsville,	Sep.	4- 5
Stokes, Palmyra,	"	11-12

A Camp-meeting will be held at Pleasant Garden in connection with the Quarterly Meeting beginning on Friday evening the 27th.

The District Conference will be held at High Point beginning on Thursday morning August the 12th at 10 o'clock in the Methodist Church. Ministers and Laymen invited to attend both the District Conference and Camp-meeting.

N. H. D. WILSON, P. E.
Greensboro, N. C.

RALEIGH DISTRICT.
4TH ROUND, Q. M.

Raleigh at Person st,	Sept.	4- 5
Granville at Bethel,	"	11-12
Louisburg station,	"	18-19
Tar River at Franklinton,	"	25-26
Henderson at Henderson,	Oct.	2- 3
Rolesville at Rolesville,	"	9-10
R. M. and Nashville,	"	16-17
Cary,	"	23-24
Smithfield,	"	30-31
Youngsville,	Nov.	6- 7
Raleigh Edenton st,	"	13-14

J. P. MOORE, P. E.
Warrenton, N. C

COMMERCIAL REPORT.

WHOLESALE CASH PRICES.

Office of CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, August 31, 1875.

REMARKS.

Business greatly improved. Country produce offered in quantities; especially in exchange for groceries.

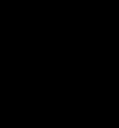
COTTON.

One hundred fifty bales exchanged hands at firm prices. We quote. Low middlings 13cts middling 13¼.

General Market.

FLOUR, North Carolina $7@8.50.
CORN 75
CORN MEAL—100
BACON, N. C. hog rouud, 14.
" " hams 16 1-2
BULK C. R. sides, 13 to 14
" shoulders, 10 to 11
LARD, North Carolina, none.
" Western tierces, 17 1-2@
" " kegs, 16 1-2@17 1-2
COFFEE, Prime Rio, 24
" Fair Rio, 20@24
SYRUP, common, 37 1-2
MOLASSES, Cuba, 50.
SALT $2.25.
CHEESE, Cream, 18 1-2.
" Factory, 17.
" Dairy, none.
NAILS, on basis for 10d, $4.00.
SUGAR A, 11 1-2.
" Extra C, 11 1-4.
" Yellow, 10@11
LEATHER, Sole 27 1-2@30
HIDES, green, 7@8.
" dry, 13 1-2
TALLOW, 10@
POTATOES, sweet 100
" Irish, $1.00@$1.25.
OATS, shelled, 60
" sheaf, $1.00
FODDER, old, $1.50
HAY, N. C. bales, 1.00

BRINLY PLOWS



BEST AND CHEAPEST IN USE.
Have taken over 350 Premiums at Fairs throughout the South. Send for illustrated Catalogue with Price List, and certificates of planters whom use them. SOLE MANUFACTURERS:
BRINLY, HILES & BARRY, Louisville, Ky.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WESLEYAN FEMALE COLLEGE,
MURFREESBORO, N C.

Next session begins Sept. 27th, 1875. $158 will pay for Board and Literary tuition during one year in the collegiate department: $148 in the Academic. Send for catalogue to
W. G. STARR.
Murfreesboro, N. C.

THE BUFFALO LITHIA WATERS FOR SALE.

The claim is made with entire confidence for these waters that as a curative agaus of many forms of CHRONIC DISEASE they have no superior among the medicinal waters of the WORLD. Especially and emphatically is this claim made for them in the peculiar DISEASES OF WOMEN, in AFFECTIONS of the KIDNEYS and BLADDER, and in derangements of the DIGESTIVE and BILIARY ORGANS. In GOUT and RHEUMATISM, dependent on URIC ACID in the blood, they have given the most marked and decided relief. In CHRONIC, INTERMITTENT, and REMMITTENT FEVER, and all diseases attributable to miasmatic influence they act often like a charm. In SCROFULA they have given a degree of relief which might well induce sufferers from that disease to give it a trial. They are used with advantage throughout the whole year—equally in cold as in warm weather.

The claim thus made for these waters is vouched for by some of the MOST DISTINGUISHED MEDICAL MEN OF THE COUNTRY, both North and South, as well as by numerous reported case from the most unquestionable sources.

Testimonials sent to any address on application. These waters are put up in case of one dozen half-gallon bottles, at $6 per case.

THOMAS F. GOODE,
Proprietor Buffalo Lithia Springs,
Mecklenburg county Va.

Sept 8 1-m 1y.

NEW FIRM

The undersigned have this day formed a co partnership under the firm name of Wainright, Williams & Hood.

and having purchased the stock and goodwill of J. D. WHITAKER, they will continue the GROCERY and COMMISSION business at

FARMER'S EXCHANGE,
No. 4 Martin Street,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Our Stock will consist of

Bacon,
Flour,
Molasses,
Coffee,
Sugars,
Lard,
Salt,
Bagging,
and Tier,

And all other goods in the Grocery line with Staple Dry Goods, Shoes, etc. Having superior facilities for buying, and a small expense account, we guarantee the lowest prices. Consignments of Cotton and produce generally, solicited, to the sale of which our best efforts will be devoted.

Patronage of our friends respectfully solicited.

GEO. H. WAINRIGHT, Granville.
(late with Williamson, Upch & Thomas.)
MID. T. WILLIAMS, Chatham.
WM. H. HOOD, Johnston.
Raleigh, Sept. 1, 1875.

Having sold my stock of Groceries to Messrs. Wainright, Williams & Hood, I take pleasure in recommending them to my friends and late customers, as entirely worthy of confidence and patronage.

For the present, I may be found at the old stand, and hope all those indebted to the late firm of Thompson & Whitaker and to myself, will call and settle as soon as possible.

J. D. WHITAKER.

Raleigh, Sept 8-tf

DISSOLUTION.

The firm of WYATT, BINGHAM & CO. has this day been dissolved by mutual consent, L. R. WYATT having withdrawn.

All debts against the late firm of WYATT, BINGHAM & Co., will be settled as they come due. All indebted to the late firm will please come forward and make settlement.

B. L. BINGHAM & CO.

"NEWS" BUILDING, No. 6, MARTIN STREET
Raleigh, N. C.
Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 26, 1874.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased the entire interest of Ma. L. R WYATT, we shall continue the wholesale and retail

GROCERY, COTTON
AND COMMISSION BUSINESS,
At the Old Stand.

And will have at all times a large assortment of

GROCERIES, BAGGING and TIES,
SALT, NAILS,
FLOUR,
BACON,
ETC.

Which will be sold at the lowest market prices, and we will be glad to see our friends and customers. Thankful for past favors, we hope to meet a continuance of the same.

B. L. BINGHAM & CO.

sept. 1-tf.

MAJ. BEN. H. MAGN, President. H. K ELLYSON, Vice President. R. C. WYNNE, Secretary. J. D. MCINTOSH, Assistant Secretary.

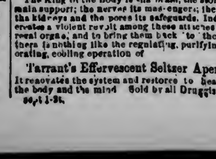
Old Dominion
INSURANCE CO.

1113 MAIN ST., RICHMOND, VA.

Cash Assets over - - - $325,000.00
$10.000 Deposit in North Carolina.

Lawrence & Winston,
GENERAL AGENTS,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Sept 1-6w.



The King of the Body is the brain; the stomach its main support; the nerves its messengers; the bowels, the kidneys and the pores its safeguards. Indigestion creates a violent revolt among these attendants of the vital organs, and to bring them back to their duty, there is nothing like the regulating, purifying, invigorating, cooling operation of Tarrant's Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

It renovates the system and restores to health both the body and the mind Sold by all Druggists.

sep 1-3t.

HYMANS & DANCY,
Cotton Commission Merchants,
NORFOLK, VA.

Respectfully solicit consignments of Cotton. Shippers who consign to us will be afforded every facility.
☞ BAGGING and TIES furnished at lowest rates.

GET THE BEST. PRICE REDUCED.

HALL'S SELF FEEDING COTTON GIN.

The following are some of the reasons why HALL'S GINS are superior to all others:

1st. It is most economical; it requires the attendance of no experienced ginner, and dispenses with the labor of one hand.

2d. It will pick more Cotton in a given length of time than any other Gin in use.

3d. It never BREAKS THE ROLL, thereby losing no time, and making a more even and better sample.

4th. It will run longer without whetting or sharpening; the Self-Feeder will not carry to the Saws any hard substances that will injure them, such as rocks, nails, sticks, hard unmatured balls, &c, which also render the danger from FIRE much less.

5th. It picks the seed cleaner than any other Gin in use, thereby making a larger yield.

We have in our possession the result of a test in which one pound of Lint Cotton was produced from two pounds, seven and one-half ounces of Seed Cotton. These Gins are perfect and complete in every particular, and are made to run at high speed. They can be found in almost any section in North Carolina where Cotton is grown.

Price $5 per Saw. Send for Circular.
HYMANS & DANCY,
Sept 8-1m. General Agents for North Carolina and Virginia.

SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, &c.

TRINITY COLLEGE.

The session begins Sept. 2nd, 1875.
Tuition $40 to $60 for ten months.
Board $10 to $12 per month.
A receipt in full will be given for all expenses clothing and books excepted, for $90 for five months in the regular course; and for 50 dollars in the Preparatory.

We have accommodation for twenty-five to furnish their rooms, and board themselves. In this the cost for five months is not over 50 dollars. Young men of limited means are invited to correspond with the President.

B. CRAVEN Pres.
P. D. Trinity College, N. C.

July 21 3m.

THE HOME SCHOOL OF MRS. JOSEPH S. JONES.
For Girls and small Boys,
Warren County, N. C.

Opens August 2nd 1875. Located near Shocco and Jones, White Sulphur Springs.

Board, Session of five months	$ 40.00
Washing,	5.00
TUITION.
English Branches	$ 10.00
Latin and French (each)	5.00
Music—(Piano)	10.00

Post Office, Ridgeway N. C. to and from which place pupils will be conveyed free of charge if due notice is given.

Reference is made to Rev. Mess. W. H. Robbitt, J. P. Moore, S. D. Adams and the Editors of the ADVOCATE.

aug 25-4t.

ROCK SPRING SEMINARY.
Male and Female.
D. Matt Thompson, A. M. Principal.

The next term opens August 11th 1875. Instruction thorough.

Board per month,	$8.00
Tuition, "	$1.00 to $4.00

Location:—Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C. ten miles north of Iron Station. "Carolina Central R. R." This section is noted for good health, quiet, and morality.

Advantages:—Low price of Board and tion, healthy and moral location.

For Circular &c. address the Principal.
Denver, Lincoln Co. N. C.

July 21-2m.

WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,
STAUNTON VA.

Will begin its twenty sixth Annual session, September 8th, 1875. Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D. D. President, with an able corps of twenty three Teachers and Officers.

Modern Languages taught and spoken in the College by a European Teacher. Music by seven Professors and Teachers, among whom are two of the most cultivated Teachers of vocal music in the South.

This is one of the healthiest situates in the world. Those who come here from the South with feeble constitutions, chills, and climatic diseases, are entirely restored.

Buildings elegant—fanned by the purest breezes, and commanding the most magnificent rural and mountain scenery, making it one of the most delightful college homes in the Union.

The past Session in the second was attended by pupils from seventeen different States.

Great economy and simplicity in dress are required. A simple uniform is worn. No unnecessary expenses allowed and none made without express instructions from Parents. Strict economy practiced to keep all expenses of pupils within the lowest possible amount.

From Bishop D. S. Doggett, D. D.

The Wesleyan Female Institute, located in Staunton, Virginia, under the Presidency of Rev. W. A. Harris, is, in my judgment, one of the best institutions, for young ladies, in the South. I have occasion to know and appreciate its value by the advantages enjoyed by one of my daughters, as a pupil there. Its course of study is ample; its Faculty accomplished, and its instructions both solid and elegant. Its personal accomodations are all that can be desired for health and comfort, or taste.

D. S DOGGETT.

[From Bishop E. M. Marvin, D. D.]

The Wesleyan Female Institute is an honor to the Church. Instruction is thorough. All classes stand high. Its music advantages are offered of very high order. The most talented Professors are employed, and neither pains nor expenses are spared to make this department eminent.

TERMS FOR THE ENTIRE COLLEGIATE YEAR.

Board and Tuition in the Collegiate Course, including Ancient Languages, $180. Music and other extras moderate.

For catalogue, address
REV. W. A. HARRIS, President.
Staunton, Va.,

July 21-2m.

DAVENPORT FEMALE COLLEGE,
Lenoir, N. C.

The Fall Session for 1875 will open on Monday 30th August.

Expenses range from $100 to $150 per session. This includes everything for which we are responsible, and we can guarantee that no bill with us shall exceed $300 a year.

Davenport offers all the substantial advantages to be found at other Female Colleges, and we refer with pride to the generous patronage we are receiving as the very best public testimonial of real merit.

Young ladies board in the Institution under the immediate care of the President.

Bills must be paid one half in advance, the other promptly at the end of the Session.

No deviation from this rule can be allowed except by previous contract. Address.

REV. W. M. LOBEY, Pres.

July 7-3m

THOMASVILLE FEMALE COLLEGE.

DAVIDSON CO., N. C., ON N. C. R. R.

Established in 1849—chartered in 1866 — Large, finely adapted brick building, in thorough repair. Grounds extensive and beautiful—new and handsome furniture, instruments, &c. Full and carefully arranged course, taught by seven able, earnest and successful teachers. Location accessible, beautiful and proverbially healthful. Board and English Tuition $15 and $16 per month. Next session begins August 30th 1875. For Catalogue address,
H. W. REINHART,
July 21 tf. Principal.

Kenmore University High School.
Amherst C. H., Va.

Preparatory to the University of Va. H. A. Strode, (Math. M-dalist U. Va.,) Principal and Instructor in Mathematics. H. C. Brook, B. Lit., U. Va., (recently Asst Prof. Latin, U. Va.,) Instructor in Greek, Latin, French and German. This is one of the leading high schools of Virginia, and presents many advantages incomparable with those of others. Course embraces Gymnastics and Horsemanship. New session begins Sept. 15, 1875. For Catalogue, address the Principal,

July 21 3-m

!!THE HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR!!
By L. O. EMERSON and W. S. TILDEN.
PRICE $1.00. $9.00 PER DOZEN.

The HIGH SCHOOL CHOIR is similar in general design to the very popular "HOUR OF SINGING," which has been almost universally used in High School. The present work is in no way inferior to its predecessor, and is entirely fresh and new.

Teachers of Music who have given Clarke's New Method for the Piano Forte an examination, unhesitatingly pronounce it the best. The work is meeting with a deservedly large sale. Sent by mail for $3.75 Published by Lee & Walker, Philadelphia. 1t.

STEAM POWER.

The Celebrated
Shapley Steam Engine.
By a patented process,
It is Absolutely free of danger from fire.

It is endorsed by all the leading machinists in the United States.

Prices lower than any first class engine in the country.

Engines can be seen at our store. Sizes —3, 5, 8 and 12 Horse Power.

We are agents for the
ROWLAND COTTON GIN,
and have in store the most complete and largest stock in N. C. of Hardware, Sash, Doors, &c.

Prices guaranteed lower than the lowest.
Write for circular and prices.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
Fisher Building,
Raleigh, N. C

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Spectacles Rendered Useless.

Save Your Eyes,
RESTORE YOUR SIGHT,
THROW AWAY YOUR SPECTACLES.

Old Eyes Made New.

All diseases of the Eye successfully treated by
Dr. J. BALL & CO.'S
NEW PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Read for yourself and Restore your Sight

Spectacles and Surgical Operations rendered useless. The inestimable Blessing of sight is made perpetual by the use of the new PATENT IMPROVED IVORY EYE CUPS.

Many of our most eminent physicians, oculists, students and divines have had their sight permanently Restored for life, and cured of the following diseases:

1. Impaired Vision; 2. Presbyopia, or Far-sightedness, or Dimness of Vision, commonly called Blurring, 3. Asthenopia, or Weak Eyes; 4. Epiphora, running or Weak Eyes; 5. Sore Eyes—specially treated with the Eye Cups—cure guaranteed; 6. Weakness of the Retina, or Optic Nerve; 7. Ophthalmia, or Inflammation of the Eye and its appendages, or imperfect vision from the effects of inflammation; 8. Photophobia, or Intolerance of Light; 9. Overworked Eyes; 10. Mydesopsia—moving specks or floating bodies before the eyes; 11. Amaurosis, or Obscurity of Vision, 12. Cataracts; Partial Blindness; the best of Sight.

Any one can use the IVORY EYE CUPS without the aid of doctor or medicine so as to receive immediate beneficial results and never wear spectacles; or, if using now, to lay them aside forever. We guarantee a cure in every case where the directions are followed, or will refund the money.

2,309 CERTIFICATES OF CURE

from honest Farmers, Mechanics and Merchants—some of them the most eminent leading professional and business men, and women of education and refinement, in our country—can be found at our office.

Under date of March 29 Hon. Horace Greely, of the New York Tribune, writes: "J. Ball, of our city, is a conscientious and responsible man, who is incapable of intentional deception or imposition."

Prof W. Merrick, of Lexington, Ky., wrote, April 24th, 1869: "Without my spectacles I pen you this note, after using the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS thirteen days, and this Morning perused the entire contents of a daily newspaper, and all with the unassisted eye.

"Truly am I grateful for your noble invention. May Heaven bless and preserve you. I have been using spectacles twenty years; I am seventy years old."

Truly yours, PROF. W. MERRICK."

Rev. Joseph Smith, Malden, Mass., cured of Partial Blindness of 18 years' standing, in one minute, by the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS.

E. C. Ellis, late Mayor of Dayton, Ohio wrote us, Nov. 15th, 1869: "I have tested the PATENT IVORY EYE CUPS, and I am satisfied they are good. I am pleased with them. They are the greatest invention of the age."

Wm. Beatly, M. D., Salvisa Ky., writes: "Thanks to you for the greatest of all inventions, my sight is fully restored, after being almost entirely blind for 26 years.

Alex. R. Wyeth, M. D., Atchison, Pa., writes: After total blindness of my left eye for four years, by paralysis of the optic nerve, to my astonishment your PATENT EYE CUPS restored my eyesight permanently in three minutes."

All persons wishing for full particulars, certificates of cures, prices, &c., will please send their address to us, and we will send our pamphlet on the ILLS TREATED PHYSIOLOGY AND ANATOMY OF THE EYESIGHT of one hundred pages, free of charge, by return mail Write to Dr. J. Ball & Co. P. O. Box 957. No 91 Liberty Street, New York City, N. Y.

For the worse cases of MYOPIA or NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS use our NEW PATENT MYOPIC ATTACHMENTS, applied to the IVORY EYE CUPS Has proved a certain cure for this disease.

Send for pamphlets and certificates—free. Waste no more money

Children's Column.

Chickens

"I didn't!" says Chip. "You did!" says Peep. "How do you know?—you were fast asleep." "I was under Mammy's wing. Stretching my legs like anything, When all of a sudden I turned around, For close beside me I heard a sound— A little tip, and a little tap." "O-lie de-dee! You'd had a nap. And when you were only half-a-wake, Heard an icicle somewhere break." "What's an icicle?" "I don't know; Answer I'm sh-sh on ice and snow. Something that isn't as good as meal, That drops down on you and makes you squeal."

"Oh, oh! how Rooster tales, I beg! And think you didn't come out of an egg! I tell you I heard the old shell break, And the first small noise you ever could make; And Mammy croodled, and puffed her breast, And pushed us further out of the nest, Just to make room enough for you; And there's your shell—I say it's true!" Chip looked over his shoulder then, And there it lay by the old gray hen— Half an egg shell, chipped and brown, And he was a ball of yellow down, Gleam and chipper, and smart and spry, With the pertest bill and the blackest eye. "Well!" said he, with a little pork, "That is a wonderful piece of work! Peep, you silly! don't you see That shell isn't nearly as big as me? Whatever you say, Miss, I declare I never, never, could get in there!" "You did!" says Peep. "I didn't!" says Chip; With that he gave her a horrid nip And Peep began to dance and peck, And Chip stuck out his wings and neck, They pranced, and stuck, and capered about, Their feet turned in and their wings spread out, As ugly as two small chicks could be, Till Mother Dorking turned to see. She cackled and clucked and called in vain— And they went with might and main— Till at last, the old hen used her beak, And Peep and Chip, with many a squeak, Staggered off on either side, With a very hurry-skip and stride. "Quite beautiful manners," said Mother Hen, "Worry—discard the story told my ears, Of naughtiness and the two-legs that don't have wings, Nor learners nor comers—he, wee chee! things! Such's the way they fight and talk For what—I scorn a mutiny stalk, Blue, does it mat-e, I'd like to know, Where you come from, or where you go? Keep your temper and earn your bread, I can't scratch worms if I'm fighting head. I won't have quarrels—I will have peace; I clucked out cuickens, so don't be geese!" Chip scratched his ear with his yellow claw, The meekest chicken that ever you saw; And Peep in her feathers carried our egg, And said to herself, 'that be eats an egg!' And said to herself, 'that he eats an egg!'

—Rose Terry Cooke, St. Nicholas

For the Children's Column.

About 536 years before Christ, Cyrus permitted the Jews to return to Jerusalem. Over 42,000 of them gladly went.

When they got there, they gave over 533,000 dollars to rebuild the Temple.

That was over 12 dollars for each man, woman and child.

These Jews were not rich. They had but few slaves—only 1 for every six persons. They had but few beasts of burden—only 1 for every 5 persons. They finished the Temple in 20 years.

These facts are given in Ezra's book, though he went up 78 years later.

Other Jews returned to Jerusalem with Ezra and carried a present to the Lord's House, worth 975.000 dollars.

King Artaxerxes gave them an order on his treasurers for 150.000 dollars, and for 900 bush. wheat, 750 gal. oil, and 750 gal. wine. This was to keep up the Temple Worship.

QUESTIONS.

How long did Nehemiah and the other Jews take to build the wall?

What family worked faithfully on the wall, although their head men did not?

What did Ezra go at when Nehemiah was made Governor in his place?

A. D. BETTS.

Answers.

Jezebel is mentioned as having painted, in 2d Kings 9th chap. 30th v.

Joseph G. Nelson, Fletcher B. Jones, J. W. Howard.

It is said in Isaiah 6 chap. 2d verse, that angels have wings and how many.

J G Nelson, Fletcher B. Jones.

Job's three friends, Eliphaz, Bildad and Zophar sat with him seven days and seven nights and spake not a word unto him. Job 2d chap. 13th v. J G Nelson, Edwin W Foust, T C W Boshamer, Laura Davis, F. B. Jones, J. W. Howard.

The words "my days are swifter than a post" are found in Job 9th ch. 25th v. J G Nelson, T C W Boshamer, F. B. Jones.

The Lord buried Moses in a valley in the land of Moab. Dent. 34th chap 6 th v. J G Nelson, F. B. Jones.

God shall shoot at them with an arrow. 64th Psalm 7th verse. J G Nelson, F. B. Jones.

There were more than 120.000 people in Nineveh who could not discern between their right and left hands. Edwin W. Foust, T. C. W. Boshamer. J. W. Howard.

Goliath had a coat of mail that weighed 5000 shekels. 1st Sam. 17th ch. 5th v. Jos. G. Nelson, T. C. W. Boshamer.

Phebe was Paul's sister Romans. 16th chap. 1st v. J G Nelson, Laura Davis, F. B. Jones.

The words "in the day of prosperity be joyful, but in the day of adversity consider," are found in Ecclesiastes 7th chap. 14th v. J G Nelson, F. B. Jones.

Hezekiah cut off the gold from the doors of the temple and gave it to the king of Assyria. 2d Kings 18th chap. 16th v. T C W Boshamer.

In 27th chap. of Deut is found the word 'cursed' 12 times, each verse ending with 'Amen.' T C W Boshamer, I. T. W. Davis, F. B. Jones.

David reigned over Judah 7 years and 6 months. 2d Sam. 2 chap. 11 v. T G W Boshamer, Laura Davis Saul had three sons, Jonathan, Ishui and Melchishua. 1st Sam 14th. 49 v. T. C. W. Boshamer, Laura Davis, F. B. Jones, J. W. Howard.

The letters eatkymeykonpo nouynadeantrfoem, form the sentence "Take my yoke upon you and learn of me." Math, 11th ch. 29 v. T. C. W. Boshamer.

Edwin W. Foust and J. W. Boshamer send the following answer to enigma by Addie Clegg: Its 1st is Israel; its 2, Sinai; its 33, Rachel; its 4th, Alpha; its 5th Eunice; its 6th Leviticus; its 7th Ithamir; its 8th Talitha cumi; its 9th Emlor; its 10th Stephen. Its whole is "Israelites, a great nation."

Questions.

Edwin M. Foust asks where the following sentence is found:

"For so nsed the young men to do." (The other question you send has been asked and answered before.)

T. C. W. Boshamer asks who was Ahasuerus' queen and what was done to her.

Joseph G. Nelson asks who is mentioned in the Bible as having sold his birth-right. Also, who removed Maachah from being queen.

Fletcher B Jones asks how far from Bothlehem were the shepherds, when the angels appeared bringing the good tidings that Christ was born. Also where was Paul born and why did he call himself a Roman. Also, what King is mentioned in the following verses, and where are they found: "Behold, he shall come up as clouds; and his chariots shall be as a whirlwind: his horses are swifter than eagles. Woe unto us, we are spoiled."

ENIGMA BY F. B. JONES.

My 1st begins the name of one of Job's friends who visited him in distress.
" 2d a King of Israel who reigned about 2 months and was murdered by his servant.
" 3d a famous orator among the Jews.
" 4th the name of Hezekiah's queen.
" 5th a seller of purple dye who lived at Philippi.
" 6th the chief director of the Kohathites in the wilderness.
" 7th David's faithful friend.
" 8th Son and successor of Sennacherib.
" 9th a famous province between the rivers Tigris and Euphrates.

The whole is a city of Judah. South of Jerusalem.

The Poor Drunkard.

O, I have sometimes looked at a bright, beautiful boy and my flesh has crept within me at the thought that there was a bare possibility he might become a drunkard.

I was once playing with a beautiful boy in the city of Norwich, Connecticut; I was carrying him to and fro on my back, both of us enjoying ourselves exceedingly; for I loved him, and I think he loved me During our play I said to him:

"Harry, will you go down with me to the side of the stone wall?"

"O, yes!" was his cheerful reply.

We went together, and saw a man lying listlessly there, quite drunk. his face upturned to the bright blue sky; the sunshine as that warmed and illuminated us lay upon his porous, greasy face; the pure morning wind kissed his parched lips, and passed away poisoned; the very swine looking more noble than he, for they were fulfilling the purpose of their being. As I looked upon the poor, degraded man, and then looked upon that child, with his bright brow, his beautiful blue eye, his rosy cheeks, his pretty teeth, and ruby lips, the perfect picture of life and peace—as I looked upon the man, and then upon the child, and felt his little hand convulsively twitching in mine, and saw his little lips grow white, and his eyes dim, gazing upon the poor drunkard—then did I pray to God to give me an everlasting, increasing capacity to hate with a burning hatred any instrumentality that could make such a thing of a being once as fair as that little child.—John B. Gough.

MESMERIZING A COCK.—An experiment which it may amuse the boys to repeat has been described by several correspondents to a popular science journal. Place a cock upon a table or board, and, holding his wings close down to his sides, let a second person bend down his head until his back touches the board on which he lies, and draw a line of white chalk straight out from the point of his beak. This done, the bird may be released from all restraint and he will not stir so much as a feather. "Nay further," writes one, "you may clap your hands or shout close to him without rousing him from his lethargy, from which, however, he will ultimately recover." Another experimenter writes: "I have seen a row of fowls rendered quite senseless by drawing a chalk line (beginning at the top of the beak) slowly across a table, and I have myself successfully performed the experiment.—The birds are simply mesmerized."

Important Results Pleasantly Achieved.

Although the days of irrational medication are happily passing away, and intelligent physicians have ceased to measure the supposed efficacy of a remedy by the violence of its effects, there still linger among the older practitioners a few of those predilections in favor of "heroic" treatment, which it would be lucky for their patients if they had abandoned. One of these is a fondness for administering drastic purgatives, such as blue pill, calomel, jalap and castor oil. A contrast of the effects of these drenching drugs with the mild and beneficent operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is the very best argument that can be adduced against the wisdom of such destructive treatment. The old fashioned cathartics convulse the whole system, and relax the bowels so rapidly and copiously as to weaken them. Host tter's Bitters, on the contrary, never gripe the intestines but produces laxative effect resembling the action of nature. At the same time they remove the cause of constipation, by arousing the dormant liver to secrete the bile necessary to the regular performance of the excretive function, and so enable the stomach to thoroughly digest the food. Indigestion and biliousness having been thus overcome, a regular habit of body is the necessary consequence, which the occasional subsequent use of the Bitters re ders permanent. Every disagreeable symptom which, in the absence of proper digestion and evacuation, surrounds the system, vanishes under the influence of the great natural tonic, and with them disappear the many other blessings that follow its use.

Sept 1. 1 m

TO THE PUBLIC.

Having purchased Mr. Thompson's interest in the business I shall continue to keep a

LARGE AND

FULL STORE

of Goods belonging to a first-class Grocery Store, at the old Stand

NO. 4 MARTIN STREET, where I shall be pleased to see many friends and patrons, promising them goods always as cheap as they can be had in this market.

Grateful for past patronage, and hoping to merit continuance of the same,

I am, respectfully.

J. D. WHITAKER.

Raleigh, F b 23 '57

mar 17-tf.

THE NEEDLE

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums In the gin house it has eclipsed its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our Sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "This ginning season it ginned 728 bales of cotton" In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs in forty five minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 500 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circl Condenser was run in the open air throughout, which boxes of paper or manches and nails were put all out setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

daily 1-tf

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, - - - - - N. C,

This Company has closed its third year in a prosperous and GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home institution.
It has ample Capital and Reserves
It pays its loss promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand & in Bank,	$ 8 421 53
Cash in hands of Agents,	4,854 00
Stock Notes,	45,671 00
Real Estates Mortgage,	29,986 67
Loaned on Collaterals,	7,647 63
Due for premiums,	3,791 68
Interest due and accrued,	944 28
	$130,397 19

LIABILITIES:

All liabilities including full re-
Insurance Reserved,	$18,481 51
Surplus,	111,816 38
	$130,297 .9

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
R. F. LONG, Secretary.

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

GEO. W. WYNNE,
T. H. YANCEY,
J. W. LEE.

RALEIGH, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest an Insume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payments.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf GEO. W. WYNNE

DYSPEPSIA RADICALLY CURED,

with its attendant ills, viz: Asthma, Bronchitis, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, other Mental disorders, Spinal diseases, &c. Female diseases. Dissenorrhoea and incidents of ages from 12 to 51 Eradication of hereditary diseases, Scrofula and Consumption. Is certainly cured. Guaranteed the eradication of secondary and Mercurial disease, have devoted thirty years to the Mucous membranes, Glands and Nerves. Apply at his farm in Person Co., or by letter including stamp to

A. J. THANTON, M. D.
Milton, N. C

Aug 11-4w

OXFORD FEMALE ACADEMY.

The Trustees desire to engage some suitable person to take charge of this Institution.

The Premises, a large Academy and a commodious Residence with excellent garden, &c. are in good repair, and are pleasantly located in the most desirable part of the town.

Oxford has been long favorbild for good society, good works, and good health, and in those respects is believed to be unsurpassed.

Communications addressed to the undersigned will receive prompt attention.

J. S. AMIS,
Pres't. Bd. Trustees.

aug 25-tf.

JOHN J FRAY'S

English, Classical and Mathematical School,

14 miles S. E. of Raleigh and 4 miles from Clayton, a station on N. C. R. R. The seventeenth session begins, Monday Sept. 13th 1875. Prepares boys and girls for College, or the active duties of life. Good board including fuel, lights and washing (no extra) only $13 50 per month. Refers to the faculty of the University of Va Rev R T. Hicks and to any of former patrons For circulars containing particulars &c Address

JOHN J. FRAY,
or A. F. MIAL,
Raleigh N. C.

aug. 25-2 m.

AGENTS WANTED for the selling book ever published. Send for circulars and our extra terms to Agents. NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Phila., Pa.

Aug 25-4t.

AGENTS WANTED for Dr. March's Great Work, NIGHT SCENES IN THE BIBLE, and a magnificent NEW BOOK just from Press. Address, J. C. McCURDY & CO., Philadelphia, Pa

aug 25-3m

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than of all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N. Y.

July 28-12m.

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full took of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

feb 1 tf

I respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to give me a call. Remember the number, 5 Martin St. Next door to Lynn Adams' old stand.

LYNN ADAMS

march 4 6 m

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDRE

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Bows and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Cashs' Ruffling, and Finishings, Ladie Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jackanets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Piqute, Mul Muslins, Check'd Muslins, Nansook and Linen Lawns, Corset Jeans, Cambries and Linens.

HATS. HATS. HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Our Stock is complete in this line. Miles and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

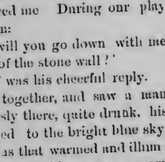
To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the best that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
34 Fayetteville st. Raleigh N

mch 17-tf.

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED Yet UNAPPROACHED in capacity and excellence by any others. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT VIENNA, 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at International Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LABOR DOMestic for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Exterior and Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly payments; or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14 1 year.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,

Ashland Va.,

Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction a high standard of scholarship, under best religious influences. In a refined community and at a location remarkable for its extraordinary health fulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and thirty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A M. D. D. Pres't.
or
Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Sec'y

Aug 11-6 w.

A New Musical Era!!

ALL CAN LEARN TO SING.

The most Magical and Easy system of Music yet discovered; learned in one fourth the time of any other.

TEMPLE HARP.

A New Musical Book upon above system for Choirs & Conventions.

CRYSTAL GEMS.

For Sabbath Schools—a new system Sunscribers every where. TEACHERS wanted as AGENTS.

MULLER BLAKE PUBLISHING HOUSE,
No. 1 and 3 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia
Aug 4 4m.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT,
102 and 104 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

Is still being manufactured at Cary, N. C., under my own supervision, and warranted to give satisfaction or no pay. Orders promptly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M. SORRELL,
Cary, N. C.

June 16-tf.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c. Spec. 20 1-t.

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.
In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte,	9 24 P. M	8.55 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	9.32 "	9.09 "
" Salisbury,	11.18 "	10.55 "
" Greensboro',	3.06 A. M.	1.19 P. M.
" Danville,	6.20 "	4.50 "
" Dundee,	6.30 "	5.07 "
" Burkville,	11.35 "	8.47 "
Arrive at Richmond,	2.25 P. M.

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond,	1.38 P. M.	5.08 A. M.
" Burkville,	4.52 "	8.30 "
" Dundee,	10.34 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville,	10.39 "	1.19 P. M.
" Greensboro,	2.15 A. M.	5.58 "
" Salisbury,	5.27 "	8.16 "
" Air-Line Junct'n	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlotte,	9.08 A. M.	9.53 "

GOING WEST

STATIONS.	MAIL.
Leave Greensboro',	8.00 A. M.	Arrive 2.10 A. M.
" Co. Shops,	4.31 "	Leave 12.35 "
" Raleigh,	8.33 "	Arrive 8.40 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11.30 A. M	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro',	4.39 P. M.
Arrive at Salem,	8.15 "
Leave Salem,	8.40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro,	12.05 "

Passenger trains leaving Raleigh at 8.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond a 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 43 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above.

For further information address

S. K. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent,
Greensboro, N. C.

E. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	2.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	6.30 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	7.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	4.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.40 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

A. H. ANDREWS,
Gen. Sup't.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, Oct 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	6.55 "
Train leaves Sanford,	6.40 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.20 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Train leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Sanford,	10.25 A. M.
Leaves Sanford,	11.00 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	4.5 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at R & L. with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points South North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad to and from Fayetteville and all points on Western Railroad.

A. H. ANDREWS,
Supt Railroads.

OFFICE OF TEAM-BOATING,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., dec. 1st, 1875.

On and after the date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7.15 P. M.
No. 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON.
No. 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Land Legs on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin at 7.00 A. M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays

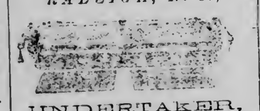
E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall.

RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases and Walnut and other Wood Coffins HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing promptly Executed

apr 19-tf

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Green Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Venison Hams, onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, White Blackeye, Stock and Black Peas, White and Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make FINE MOUNTAIN BEEF a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We have made the necessary arrangement with our Norfolk house to furnish the BEST OYSTERS that market can supply.

As in thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted in every county to sell the best selling subscription book ever published. Address, with stamp, E. C. ABBEY, Buffalo, N. Y.

may 5-1y.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in Morocco, gilt edge, $3.00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents wanted to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F L REID, Louisburg N. C. or JAS W REID, Wentworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET SQUARE, Raleigh N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning the kind patronage during the past ten years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of the Ohio river, while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in our giving our friends all the advantage gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Groceries and Bonts bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store

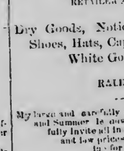
5 Hhds. Hav. Sugar,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls E C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B & Yellow Sugar,
20 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Spice,
10 " " shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
100 lbs. G. O. and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Cloths,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
2,000 Yds. Bagging,
600 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
6 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
1,000 W P. and G. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burden Horse and Mule Shoes,
50 " Horse Shoe Nails,
20 Dozen Best Axes,
5 " Assortment Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps,
We offer our retail customers in country and near-by merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and competition

LEACH BROS

oct 7-12 m

THE JAS. LEFFEL

Double Turbine Water Wheel,



Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,
Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and safe in action.

Manufacturers, also, of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Casting for Cotton Mills, Flour, Paper, Saw, Lead and Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and other Pressing &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine mainly Gearing. Are Hardened & every best finish. Send for circulars.

mch 24-6m.

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and testimonials from all parts of the world. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as the same grade of instruments can be sold for, and on more favorable terms than any other first class piano. The principal artists and composers, and the piano-purchasing public of the South especially, unite in the unanimous verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. The DURABILITY of our instruments is fully established by over sixty years' test of their merits in this section, as by over 800 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufacturers of Cabinet and Parlor Organs at prices from $50 to $999. A liberal discount to Clergymen and Sabbath schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $150 to $200, always on hand.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 900 Southerners, who have bought and are using the Stieff Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF,
Warerooms, No. 9 North Liberty street,
Baltimore, Md

Factories, 84 & 86 Chandler st. and 45 & 47 Perry st
dec 16-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURTS GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bright and need these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them.—For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Also Miles and Gray's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS! PRINTS! PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled

Respectfully, JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square
oct 7-1y.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, $3 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to all parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

924 North Third street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

mar 31-1y

DUNSTON & VALENTINE,

Fashionable Barbers,

Under the Raleigh National Bank. LEFT HAND DOOR as you enter the basement, and the neatest shop in the city.

N. O. DUNSTON, C. H. DUNSTON J. P. VALENTINE.

June 2-tf.

PROGRESS THE WATCHWORD

Merit and Success Hand in Hand.

BROOKLYN LIFE

INSURANCE COMPANY,

NO. 141 BROADWAY.

NEW YORK.

Assets- - - -$1,500,000.00!!

CHRISTIAN W. BOUCK. President.
D. F

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 36. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, September 15, 1875. | Whole No. 1,074.

Selected Poetry.

A SONG OF SOLACE.

[illegible] wounded my heart,
[illegible] Love makest me smart;
[illegible] Saviour—and I,
[illegible] Lily.

[illegible] me sore;
[illegible] me no more
[illegible] I see
[illegible] for me.

[illegible] painful lover,
[illegible]
[illegible] shall show
[illegible] deals blow upon

[illegible] gives patience, too,
[illegible] than my dear."
[illegible] swell on the breeze
[illegible] down on the keys.

[illegible] the blow and the pain,
[illegible] heaven attain;
[illegible] on the bare floor avail
[illegible] out the chaff with his flail:

[illegible] storms with pain;
[illegible] sunshine on rain.
[illegible] thy spirit shall lay,
[illegible] murmur, then pray.
—From the German.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

Sunday School Convention.

A Sunday school Convention appointed by the Newbern District Conference of the Methodist Church met in Beaufort, July 8th, 1875, and was opened with religious services conducted by Rev. James Willson.

On motion of Rev. E. A. Yates, Rev. J. P. Simpson was called to the chair, and Rev. J. P. Simpson was appointed Secretary.

Rev. J. P. Simpson offered a resolution that the Convention organize a Sunday School Association for the District, the consideration of which was postponed.

Rev. F. H. Wood, the delegates were called and the names of Delegates present were as follows:

Beaufort—Rev. J. H. Wheeler, Rev. John Rumley, Daniel Hoskell and E. Simpson.

Newbern—Rev. F. H. Grainger and W. Gaskins.

Trent—Rev. James Wilson. Lay Delegates: Richard Bay, W. C. Fields, [illegible].

Swift Creek—Rev. W. C. Gaskins. Lay Delegates: James Pigott and [illegible].

Pleasant Grove—Rev. G. W. Hardin.

Kinston—Rev. R. A. Willis.

Core Creek—Rev. F. H. Wood.

Pollocksville—F. A. Woodard, T. A. Bell and R. H. Winstead.

Jones Circuit—Rev. N. A. Hooker.

Hyde Circuit—Rev. J. P. Simpson. Lay Delegates: Charles Jordan and [illegible].

Washington—Rev. James Mahoney.—Lay Delegate: Wm. Arendell, James [illegible].

Communications of Rev. E. A. Yates, Rev. James Wilson, Wheeler and Winstead were appointed a committee on Worship.

The business of the District Association was then taken up and discussed, during which the Convention adjourned to meet at 4 P. M.

Friday Afternoon, 4 P. M.

The Convention was opened with prayer by Rev. [illegible] conducted by Rev. [illegible]. The minutes of the session were read and approved.

The report of a District Sunday School Association was again taken up and a resolution offered by Rev [illegible] was passed.

On motion the Secretary was requested to read a paper containing [illegible] for the government of [illegible] which paper was read by the committee of three brethren J. P. Simpson, E. A. Yates and W. [illegible], with the request that they report their action to morrow, [illegible].

The Convention then adjourned to meet on Friday morning.

Friday Morning, July 9th.

The Convention met and was opened with religious services conducted by W. M. Bobby.

The minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

The Committee on Constitution reported a Constitution for the Association which was read by sections, when an amendment was adopted, and it was as follows:

ART. I.

This Conference shall be called the Newbern District Sunday school Convention, the object of which is to promote the efficiency and success of the Sunday school in said District.

ART. II.

The officers of this Conference shall consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer.

ART. III.

The membership of this Conference shall consist of the ministers both traveling and local in this District—the Superintendents of the Sunday schools of our church in the District, and of two members from each Sunday school in the District, one of whom may be a female; and who shall be elected by the schools to which they respectively belong.

ART. IV.

The officers of this Conference shall be elected annually by ballot.

ART. V.

The President of the Conference shall preside at the annual meetings, and upon the opening of the session shall deliver an address to the Conference on some subject in accord with the object and design of the Sunday school Conference.

ART. VI.

The Vice President shall, in the absence of the President, preside and perform all the duties required by the President.

ART. VII.

The Secretary shall keep a record of the proceedings of the Conference and serve or publish all notices required for the promotion of the objects of the Conference.

ART. VIII.

The Treasurer shall keep all funds entrusted to his care—pay them out by the order of the Conference signed by the President and make due account of the same at the annual meeting of the Conference.

ART. IX.

All the members of this Conference are expected to attend punctually all the appointments of the Conference, and it shall be deemed a breach of good faith for any member to neglect such meeting without a good or lawful excuse, or to leave the meeting when assembled without permission of the Conference.

On motion the Convention adjourned for Divine service conducted by Rev James Willson.

Friday Afternoon, 2½ P. M.

Convention opened with prayer by brother Webb.

On motion the election of officers of the Conference was taken up and the following were elected for the ensuing year:

President, W F Kornegay; Vice President, William Arendell; Treasurer, W C Fields; Secretary, F A Wood.

On motion of brother H F Grainger a committee of three was appointed to draft rules of order for the government of the Conference.

The following committee, brothers H F Grainger, E A Yates, R A Willis was appointed to draft such rules.

On motion the Convention adjourned and the Conference came to order.

W. C Gaskon, Pres.

James P. Simpson, Sec.

Friday Afternoon, 2½ P. M.

The Conference was called to order by W F Kornegay, President.

Rev. J P Simpson offered the following resolution:

Whereas, The religious services of our Sunday schools are in many instances irregularly and unprofitably conducted, and whereas, it is highly important and necessary to usefulness that the religious services of our Sunday school should be regular, uniform and impressive; therefore Resolved 1st, That this S. S. Conference appoint a committee of three members of this Conference to prepare a manual for opening and closing the services of the Sunday school—that this manual shall consist of Scripture readings, prayers, the Apostles Creed and the Ten Commandments.

Pending the consideration of this resolution the Conference adjourned.

Saturday Morning.

Conference met this morning at nine o'clock.

Rev F H Wood offered an amendment to the resolution of Brother Simpson that a committee of one be appointed to draft each manual—which amendment was adopted—and on motion the resolution as amended passed.

On motion of Rev F H Wood, Rev J P Simpson was appointed to prepare said manual and the Secretary was requested to notify him of this resolution.

The committee on order of business submitted the following report:

Order of Business.

After the usual religious services the following order of business shall be observed:

1. The delivery of the President's address, if it suits his convenience at that time.

2. Appointment of a committee of three on Credentials.

3. Appointment of committees if any are necessary.

4. Reception of reports from the various Sabbath schools on the District, touching their statistics and condition.

5. Reception of Report of Committees.

6. Miscellaneous business.

7. Annual election of officers.

8. Fixing time and place of holding next annual meeting.

On motion, Snow Hill, Green county, was selected as the place, and 2nd Thursday of August 1876, the time for holding the next session of the Conference.

On motion of Rev. F. H. Wood, the thanks of the Conference were tendered the people of Beaufort for their kindness and hospitality.

On motion the Conference adjourned to meet again at Snow Hill on second Thursday of August, 1876.

W. F. Kornegay, Pres.

F. A Woodard, Sec.

For the Advocate.

Discussion with a Heukelite.

Messrs Editors: By your permission, according to promise, I will give to the readers of the Advocate the 2nd proposition discussed by Rev. F. A. Schmidt and myself, and a sketch of the discussion, viz: "In the Lord's Supper in communion with bread and wine, are the body and blood of Christ, and that the words of Christ in this institution are to be understood literally, or as they read."

Mr. Schmidt in the affirmative—myself in the negative. The discussion on the above proposition lasted three days.—We made two speeches each day—each speech one honr long. Mr. Schmidt labored hard to show that the true natural body and blood of Christ, as born of the Virgin Mary, crucified etc., are distributed in the bread and wine, and received by the communicant "not by faith but by the mouth." And strange to say, after taking the above position, he admitted that the eating of the flesh, and drinking the blood of Christ, as mentioned in the gospel of John 6th chapter, was a spiritual eating and drinking, thereby in our judgment surrendering the point in discussion.

Again, while contending for the literal meaning of the words "this is my body, this is my blood," he used the words "with, in and under," which are not found in connection with the words used in the supper, as given us in the Bible. Hence he deviated from his own position. Further, he tried to carry his point in endeavoring to show, that the body of Christ existed in more places than one at the same time, which he failed to do. Finally, like Luther at Marburg when pressed by Zunglius and others, on the same subject, he threw himself on the words "this is my body, this is my blood." First, we showed that Mr. Schmidt was not consistent with himself, for while he contended that the words of Christ used in the supper are to be understood as they read, yet he used the words with in, and under, (which are also found in his confessional books) which are not found any where in the Bible, in connection with the institution of the Lord's Supper. We further showed, that his position was contrary to a principle in philosophy; which teaches that two material bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time; therefore as the body of Christ as born of the Virgin Mary was a material body, and as bread is a material substance, it follows as a consequence, that the two cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Hence his position is false. Again we showed, that the position of Mr. Schmidt was contrary to our five corporal senses, for we can neither see, smell, hear, taste nor feel flesh nor blood in the bread and wine, as used in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. We also showed, that there was no evidence in the Bible, that the material body of Christ as born of the Virgin Mary was ever in two places at the same time; consequently his body could not be in the bread, nor his blood in the wine at different places, at the same time. We further showed from the language used by Christ in the institution of the supper "do this in remembrance of me," that His material body and blood are not in the sacrament, His absence being implied in the quotation above beyond donbt. Webster says; "remembrance means the retaining or having in mind an idea which had been previously received, or an idea which had been previously received from an object when present and which recurs to the mind afterwards without the presence of its object."

We futher argued, that the bread and wine, in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, represent the body and blood of Christ, as broken and shed for our redemption, which we eat, and drink only after a heavenly, and spiritual manner by faith, on the ground that the language used in Luke and 1st Cor. 11th chapter, is highly figurative, while the language used elsewhere, in connection with the same subject is not contrary thereto. We further argued, that inasmuch as the Lord's Supper has been instituted in the place of the Passover, and the Passover was not the action of the Lord passing over every house, but a token and pledge of that action; so in regard to the sacrament, it is not the embodiment of the corporal body and blood of Christ, but a sign and seal of the covenant of grace. We also showed, that Mr. Schmidt entangled himself by admitting, that the eating and drinking mentioned in the gospel by John, 6th chapter, was a spiritual eating and drinking by faith. We argued that if the eating and drinking mentioned in the gospel by John, as above stated was a spiritual eating and drinking by faith as we admit, it then follows as a consequence, that the eating and drinking in the Lord's Supper must be of a spiritual character by faith, as the same body and blood are spoken of in both places. Having given only a few of the points and arguments used by us on the above proposition we close.

Fraternally,

Daniel May.

Newton, N. C Sept. 2nd 1875.

P. S. In my next I will give you a sketch on the third proposition viz: "There is but one baptism in the christian church [illegible]."

By the request of brother S. Bridges, of the Baptist Church, the Biblical Recorder will please copy the above, and also the communication by the same writer, published in the last week's issue of the Advocate, and oblige

Yours &c.

D. M.

For the Advocate.

Notes from Montana

Messrs Editors: Now that our Conference is over, and believing that you and your numerous readers would like to hear from our Church in these ends of the earth, I take the liberty of offering you this communication. I am prompted to do so from many considerations.

Our Conference convened in this city July 29th. Bishop Marvin was in his place as usual and opened the Conference with his very impressive and solemn manner.

All the preachers and lay delegates of this part of the Denver Conference were present and all seemed to be in good spirits. The reports as rendered by each preacher were highly gratifying to the Bishop, who planned and has had the chief management of our church in Montana from its origin. The Colorado part of our Conference was not present, the distance being so great, over 1200 miles; but they were fully represented by Bishop Marvin. Our church has had a hard struggle in this country, but the Bishop thinks our establishment is now no longer a matter of doubt, the sky is clearing and all promises well.

The Bishop preached every night, during the week, also Sunday morning and night. He was never more highly appreciated by any people and consequently he never preached with greater power or with more acceptability than while with us. He spent three weeks in Montana, the first in Helena, the second in Deer Lodge City where he got our church out of debt and leaving the people happy returned to Helena and spent another Sunday with us. There was a small debt on our church; he raised the money to pay that and we can go on our way rejoicing free from debt; he also dedicated a church eight miles from here and freed that from debt. We have a fine church building at this place 60x40 ft. with basement of the same size 12 ft. pitch. The audience room is splendid, will seat about 400 persons.

I came to this station by the earnest solicitations of Bishop Marvin, and was never so much surprised as I was to find so new a country, so far advanced in material wealth and appliances. I have never met a more highly intellectual and refined people in any part of the States than we have in this city and country. We have not as yet gotten a headway in our educational interests; but by the 1st of November we will have our public school building completed at a cost of over $20,000; so you see we will not lag behind in point of educational facilities. Quite all the people seem to be well to do, many are rich and some are very rich. All commenced in this country very poor 10 years ago. We are greatly in want of a R. R. and it is hoped we will have one in 2 years; then we will find convenient market for the almost inexaustible products of this country; every thing brought in or sent out has to be freighted from 148 to 465 miles, and yet this is a place of wonderful trade..

I do not know the number of stores in this city. We have two clothing stores each carrying a stock of from $150 000 to $200.000. Bro. J. R. Boyce and son, of our church, are dry goods merchants and they sell every season over $2500 in spool cotton alone: they have a stock of about $65.000 and there are others who have larger stores.

There is nothing to eat, drink, use or wear that cannot be bought here.

They cannot grow corn here to do any good but the product of small grain is wonderful. The lowest estimate for wheat and oats per average acre is 40 bushels; one hundred and two bushels have been cleared but that is not common; but a yield of 60 and 75 is common.

Stock raising is a great and convenient business; do not have to feed summer or winter. All graze their stock, except such as they use, and only feed their teams in the winter, never in the summer. The thousands of acres of rich grazing land belong to every body; every man can have a home in this country if he wants it. A great many are settling down here for life, and even a number of the miners have taken up land.

The people in this country live more abundantly than in any country where I have ever lived. The mining interests are paying well, and the mines are thought to be inexhanstible for multiplied years to come.

Mining is an uncertain business, yet miners will work for gold.

One of my members sent 4 bars of silver from the silver mining mills that weighed 400 lbs. worth $20 per lb., and it seems incredible to tell you how much metal is shipped from Montana each year. After one gets here any one may with proper care and attention do well; quite all that came here poor 10 years ago, have accumulated considerable fortunes, both in money and in stock, but all of course do not succeed.

I am very much pleased with my situation, am confident that I may under God do well in the ministry in this country, and although we are over 4000 miles apart, yet how quickly I went to my old Conference in N. C. one day last week. Bishop Marvin was with me in my study reading and answering his letters when to my delight he handed me two letters to read, one from Bro. L. S. Burkhead who wrote from Shelby, N. C.; the other from Bro. J. P. Moore who wrote from Oxford where we lived in 1868. Oh, how I want to see my friends and brethren in the N. C. Conference! this pleasure may never be granted me and my wife; but thank God we have a good hope of a happy meeting over the River, when we shall meet to part no more and ever rest under the shade of the trees of life. Our dear friends and brethren, the immortal N F. Reid and Wm. Barringer, have gone before us and are waiting.

This leaves us all well and happy in the prospect of doing and getting good.

We all send greeting to the brethren of N. C. Conference and to all who may see this.

Yours Fraternally,

W. Harris.

Helena, M. T., Aug. 1875.

Sensational Oratory.

It is nothing new. We are not afraid of it. Stagnation is worse than sensationalism.—Why should one preach at all? For mere form's sake, to meet the demands of a weekly service and to secure his stipend, or for effect, immediate and thorough? The best pleaders and preachers have ever been sensational—not preaching for that purpose of being sensational, but preaching the truth in the freshest, breeziest way they could; and if sensation followed they were not afraid of it. When Paul preached he created such a sensation that "the whole city was moved"—a fact which we have no doubt some good Christians think the one dark blot on the Apostle's preaching. When Chrysostom, the golden mouthed, preached, his audience broke into rapturous outbursts of applause. And why shouldn't they? Is not Bible truth the grandest, the most soul-stirring truth that ever was represented? Does any thing reach deeper? Why should not its preaching stir people up as nothing else? When Canon Melville was in his prime, and his Golden Lectures drew so many thousands, no listener of those days can well have forgotten the sensational effect of breath-drawing on the part of the people when the grand climacteric of a paragraph was reached, so that the hushed expectants could breathe freely again, and prepare for a fresh start—

> "From man to man,
> A swift electric shiver ran;
> And with a hushing sound compressed,
> A sigh shrunk back in every breast."

When Cicero concluded, the Romans said: "What a splendid oration!" When Demosthenes ceased, the Greeks were so wrought up that they said: "Come, let us fight Philip!" Dr. Croly tells how the commons listened to Pitt, so thrilled as to be "deeply silent," and then became excited to involuntary bursts of admiration. So we read Madame de Sevigne's account of Bourdaloue's funeral discourse in 1687, when the sensation was so intense as almost to smother respiration —"D'une telle sorte qu'on ne respirait pas.' This was a long time ago, but we hope that the race of Bourdalone is not extinct.

Surely, all the enthusiasm, all the sensation, does not belong to Congress and Parliament and the court room. The word of God is the repository of ecclesiastical truth—the grandest, the most wonderful truth the world has ever known; and he who utters it with genuine earnestness, realizing its importance, need not be surprised if he create a sensation; he may well be anxious if his words produce no visible effect. But the truth uttered in earnestness, in simplicity, will create a sensation; seed sown will as surely bring forth fruit as that his promises will never fail of perfect fulfillment.—Christian at Work.

DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND.

The Story of a Poor Mute and What She was Taught.

A writer in the Christian Union thus describes a visit to Laura Bridgman, Dr. Howe's pupil, born blind, deaf and dumb, at her home near the institute for the blind at South Boston. If any one supposes that by reason of her deprivation she is queer or awkward in person or manners, he is altogether in error. There is nothing at all singular in her appearance. When I entered the parlor a member of the family with whom she lives was playing on the piano, and close beside her, on a low seat, there was a very slight, very erect, quiet, self-possessed looking girl, who seemed to be listening to the music, while her hands were busy over some crocheting or similar work. She would have been taken for a guest who was nimbly fashioning some pretty article while being entertained with music. The expression of her face was bright and interesting, and one watching her satisfied look would have been slow to believe that she did not hear. The green shade over her eyes indicated that she was one of the blind. She had on a brown dress, a blue ribbon at the neck, a gold ring and chain, and a watch or locket in her belt—a neat lady attired, genteel, ladylike person looking about thirty-five, though her age is really not far from forty-four, with soft, brown hair, smooth and fine, a well shaped head, fair complexion and handsome features. That was Laura. Dr. Howe spoke of her as "comely and refined in form and attitude, graceful in motion and positively handsome in features," and of her "expressive face," which, indeed, in sensibility and intelligence, is above instead of below the average.

As soon as the information was conveyed to her that she had a visitor from her native State who knew people in the town where her nearest kindred live, she came swiftly across the room, leaving her work on the center table as she passed it, and grasped my hand, laughing with the eagerness of a child. Then she sat down face to face with the lady who has charge of her, and commenced an animated conversation, by the manual alphabet, easily understood by one who has practiced it; but the sleight-of-hand by which the fingers of the friendly hostess, manipulating on Laura's slender wrists, communicated with that living consciousness in there without one perfect sense except to taste and touch, was something mysterious, inscrutable, to my duller sense. Yet that the communication was definite, quick, incisive, so to speak, was manifest enough, for Laura's face beamed, and she was all alert. Partly by the letters and partly by signs she said a great deal to me. She "ought to be at home to be company for mother," she said; and once or twice she fashioned the word "mam-ma" very distinctly with her lips. With regard to this vocal expression, Dr. Howe says: "She has attained such facility for talking in the manual alphabet that I regret that I did not try to teach her to speak by vocal organs or regular speech." She asked if I knew a member of her family now dead, and said: "That was a long year after Carl died." She seemed brimming over with things to tell me, and wanted me to know about her teaching some of the blind girls to sew, which is a part of her daily employment in the school near by, and which she takes great pride in, threading the needles and making her pupils pick out their work if it is not done nicely. She is a good seamstress herself, does fancy work, and can run a sewing machine.

Next, she caught hold of my hand and led me up two flights of stairs to her room to show me her things, but the first movement was to take me to the window, where she patted on the glass and signified that I should see what a pleasant prospect there was from it. And there she, who had never seen or heard, waited by my side in great content while I looked and listened. The sky was blue, with white clouds floating over it, and birds were singing. It was a perfect April day, but she could get no consciousness of it except in the softness of the air. Yet her face was radiant, and she stood there as though she both saw and heard. I wish I could bring before all those who are discontented with their lot, repining because God has withheld something from them or taken something away, the cheerful face of this girl who has so little, but accepts it as if she had all; who has never seen a human countenance or heard a human voice; who in the infinite glory and beauty of this outward world has no part, shut in by herself in that silent, dark, unchanging, awful loneliness. Finally she took out a sheet of paper, pressed it down on her French writing-board, examined the point of her pencil, and wrote her autograph: "God is love and truth. L. N. Bridgman." And then from her needle-case and spool-box she produced a cambric needle and fine cotton, and showed me how she threaded a needle, which was done by holding the eye against the tip of her tongue, the exquisite nicety of touch in her tongue guiding her to pass the thread through. It was done in an instant, though it seemed impossible to do it at all, and then she presented me the threaded needle triumphantly, having secured it by slipping a knot.

Lot's Wife.

"Remember Lot's wife." Remember her fate. With the destruction of Sodom she was destroyed. Suddenly, in the instant of her looking back—awfully, eternally—her sin found her out.

And now, my brethren, I ask: Are any of you still in the devoted city? in and of the world which God hath cursed, and concerning which he hath said: Go forth—tarry not! Oh, let me beseech you, escape for your lives. Let nothing keep you. Even now the merciful Savior may be calling in his appliances of grace—even now the flame may be casting its crest over your devoted heads, and you must dwell within its everlasting burnings. The time draws on when you must either be in Christ, or lost to him forever. This is your day of grace. God grant you may not wail endlessly, fruitlessly, over its remembrance. Hasten, brethren—flee to the sinner's only refuge—flee to that side, wounded, pierced cleft, to take you in. If you live and die rejecting Christ, he says your guilt is greater than that of Sodom and Gomorrah, and your destruction will be a more fearful and awful one.

And you who have come out, and are making your way to the city of refuge, persevere, seek this last, best grace—the perseverance that God crowns. Onward—forward—upward—waver not—tamper not with the smallest sin. You have begun in the spirit—remember, you may end in the flesh. You may find it hard to keep pressing onward—into a higher, keener, lonelier region—hard to be crucifying the flesh with all its affections and lusts, and all this for a reward unseen—hard to bear up when doubts and fears are many and trials heavy, and the memory of sin harrowing and consolations small; but still onward. To go back is perdition. Remember that Christ's finger points to this pillar of salt, hard by the gate of Zoar. The devil will follow you up to the gate—the flesh will rebel. You have need to watch and fast and pray—pray that God will not suffer you to fall from him—for any desires of your own—for any revilings of men—for any fear of death—to fall from him. Remember that not angels only, but he speedeth you on your way. He goeth with you—before you—in you. Onward still, and you shall come up to the mountain in the strength of him who fasted and was tempted, and was more than conqueror. Simon Simon,—Satan hath desired to have thee, that he may sift thee as wheat; but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not. Here is our peril and our safeguard. And if ever your hearts faint, and your resolves waver, and your eyes wander, and your feet go near to falling, then, when you are dejected and tempted, and scarce able to stand, appeal to his human sympathy. And to sustain the vigor of your appeal, think on this lenten lesson:

> "Once gain the mountain-top, and thou art free;
> Till then, who rest presume; who turn to look are lost."

Remember Lot's wife—how, after all those years of God's leadings, she perished at the very door of safety—how she looked back once, and never looked forward again.—From a Sermon in the Literary Churchman.

Rev. J. W. Burke, assistant Editor of the Southern Christian Advocate has been on a visit to the North, and in the last number of his paper gives an account of his trip. An episode in the way of a railroad collision will cause him to remember his travels. He says:

Between Long Branch and Philadelphia, we had a terrible railroad collision and smash up, and it is a mercy that we were not all killed. I was on the Express train, which was running thirty miles an hour, when we ran into the rear of a freight train, near New Lisbon, N. J. Two cars were literally smashed to splinters, and nobody seriously hurt. The engineer and firemen jumped off, and saved their lives. I happened to be in the rear car of the Express train, and escaped without loss of life or limb, but minus my satchel and umbrella, which I failed to recover up to the time I left. My trunk I got next day at Philadelphia, but fear the other will be a total loss. But I thank God that I came off so well. As we wandered around looking at the wreck, a gentleman invited a few of us to his hospitable house, and gave us a good supper. We proposed to pay, but he refused. Here is an example of genuine New Jersey hospitality. May the Lord bless him, for "we were strangers and he took us in."

Beverage for Horses.

The papers tell us of a sportsman who a few days ago gave brandy to his horse in order to get it up to proper speed for the race. The stimulus was said to have worked well. Can it be that alcohol, having ruined the human race, is about to invade the brute creation, and that horses, in order to improve their speed, and oxen, in order to augment their draught, and hunting-dogs, in order to endure fatigue, are to have intoxicating stimulant? O spare the brutes! Do not let us have drunken horses, and oxen with delirium tremens, and dogs staggering to their kennel. We do not doubt that temporary strength might be given to beasts of burden by these artificial means, but the stock would depreciate. Neither man nor beast can endure alcoholic captivity.

"No danger," you say, "that animals will become "habituated to this evil." Be not mistaken. Let it once be generally found out, as it will be, that strong drink will give unnatural strength to our dumb animals, farmers and sportsmen will be employing such aid; horses and cattle will learn to like it as well as the human race, to whom intoxicating liquors are at first repulsive, have learned to want it; and horses will neigh for it as for water, and the dog will bark in excitement at the sight of a demijohn. Heaven spare the brutes from this threatened invasion.—Christian at Work.

Death.—We shall come down to the time when we shall have but ten days left, then nine days, eight days, seven days, six days, five days, four days, three days, two days, one day. Then hours; three hours, two hours, one hour. Then only minutes left; five minutes, four minutes, three minutes, two minutes, one miunte. Then only seconds left; three seconds, two seconds, one second. Gone! The chapter of life ended! The book closed! The pulse at rest! The feet through with the journey! The hands closed from all work! No word on the lip. No breath on the nostril.—The muscles still. The lungs still. The tongue still. The nerves still. All still. You might put the stethroscope to the breast, and hear no sound. You might put a speaking trumpet to the ear, but could not break the deafness. No motion. No throb. No life.—Still! Still! Still!

Fun.

Grant smokes so much he can't dispense with his stovepipe.

A Boston murderer, in consequence of his poor health, wants his execution delayed.

A new fashion has just been started in Pennsylvania. A woman there has hanged herself with her corset.

A Mount Bethel township farmer cut open an old hornet's nest, just to examine the inside arrangement. He says he thinks he will be able to see his barn in about two weeks.

A newly-married couple have precipitately fled from Savin Rock, where they had gone a summering, because the fact leaked out that the husband took a portion of his wife's hair oil by mistake for cough medicine one night.

A Scotch minister, who was famed for his dryness in the pulpit, called on one of his aged hearers, and as usual partook of a cup of tea. He remarked to the guid wife that her teapot ran very slowly. "Deed, ay," quo' the guid wife, "it's like yersel; it has an unco bad delivery."

Keeping Poultry in Orchards.—Some farmers make it a practice to keep their poultry in their orchards from early spring until cold weather sets in; and they find that it pays for so doing. A picket fence should be built around the orchard, high enough to prevent their flying over, with suitable building placed in one corner of the yard to shelter them at night. Thus situated, the poultry will thrive and prosper, keeping themselves in good condition, and the increase of eggs will be greatly augmented and their usefulness enhanced to their owners at least, on account of the myriads of insects and worms they destroy, and which will more than repay the cost and labor of building the fence. By keeping them enclosed in this manner, a large number of fowls may be retained in the orchard, and the continual scratching which is done by them, will prove advantageous both to the soil and trees themselves.—Colonial Farmer.

To make a very pretty medley picture, cut flowers and sprays of buds and leaves from the colored plates in floral catalogues, and gum them tastily on white or delicately tinted card board, in the form of a wreath or bouquet. A rustic frame makes a very satisfactory picture of it.—Floral Cabinet.

The Haven dispatch says that President B. Noyes, of the American Life and trust Company has been arrested for a violation of the statute in refusing to allow the Insurance commissioner access to the company's books.

The last mechanical triumph was moving a brick wall fourteen inches thick, sixty-five feet high and sixty feet long, in New York, some twenty inches without disturbing a brick.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev J B Bobbitt, } Editors.
R. T Gray, Esq., }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.50
SIX MONTHS, " " " 1.35
If payment be delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 15, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

Misrepresentation.

The great fraternal camp-meeting at Round Lake did not soften the temper and change the tone of all the Northern people who attended upon its exercises. Nor did it break the force of wilful misrepresentation so rife among those of the Bishop Haven school. Zion's Herald contains the following from a correspondent who attended the late Round Lake Camp-meeting. He places the Methodist Church, South, in a false light before the readers of that journal:

"Since returning from Round Lake, I have had an interview with another laborer in our South Carolina work (I call not names, lest such reports should enhance the embarrassments of their work). He says the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has within it the principle of decay. They utterly neglected the colored people. The poor whites they never did seek to elevate. They have given up class-meetings and probation of a full membership, and, though they report a great increase, it is a great social organization rather than a Church of Christ.

"And how can God be with a people who neither enter into the work of elevating and Christianizing the degraded, nor suffer those who have entered it to have a place at their altars?"

It is astonishing that any man of ordinary intelligence with a moderate share of perception and piety, could undertake to create the impression that the Methodist Church, South, is in any sense losing its moral power. We do not say that our people are doing all that they might do to advance the cause of Christ, but it is quite true that our church was never more prosperous, and marks of decay are nowhere visible except to those who advocate the doctrine of disintegration and absorption. As a Church we have ever cared for the poor and the destitute. The colored people who were numbered in our church by the thousands before the war, have left us and placed themselves under the guardianship of the Northern church. If left to themselves they would have remained with us, but they were advised to "come back to the mother church," and are told that our people were their enemies. They were deceived and decoyed away from us. Some have come back to us, and others desire to do so. We are ever ready to instruct them in the excellent doctrines of God's holy truth.

Rev. Dr. Burkhead, the newly appointed pastor of Edenton Street Church, occupied his pulpit last Sabbath. He preached an able sermon in the morning on the subject of faith, and it was listened to with profound attention by the large and appreciative audience present. The discourse at night was a continuation of the same subject. The doctor enters upon his work fully imbued with the spirit of the Master, ready to labor for the good of the church and the salvation of souls. He leaves one of the best Districts in the Conference, where the people had learned to love him and appreciate his valuable services, and with great reluctance they yield to the authority of the Bishop in removing him. His successor, Rev. R. G. Barrett, is faithful and true to all the interests of the church, and will, no doubt, receive a cordial welcome from the people of the District. The church in Raleigh, under the wise counsel and faithful and evangelical preaching of Dr. Burkhead, will under God we trust, be greatly blessed and increased in numbers and power for good.

We have been much gratified at the responses to the proposition we made two weeks ago and which is also contained in this issue of the Advocate. We have received several clubs of subscribers and are assured that we shall receive still more. This is a proposition on which we ought to have a thousand new subscribers, and we trust that others will emulate the good example of those who have responded to our offer. Among those who have sent clubs are Bros. L. W. Crawford, C. C. Dodson, R. S. Webb and Dr. Jones, President of Greensboro' Female College, who sent us the names of several young ladies at the College who desired the ADVOCATE, on our terms, for the balance of the year.

President Jones, of Greensboro Female College, in a business note to us, conveys the gratifying information that the College has opened well and more young ladies are expected to matriculate. We are glad to learn, too, that the health of Dr Jones has improved greatly since his severe attack of illness during the summer.

We are pleased to learn that Bishop Paine is greatly improved in health. He is still feeble, but he is gaining strength so as to lead his friends to believe that he will soon be able to resume his labors in the Master's vine yard.

Children at Home.

This is the title of an article recently published in the New Orleans Christian Advocate. We read it with a special relish and present it in part to our readers, as containing much that is valuable in the home circle.—The writer introduces his subject by saying that a house in which there are no children is desolate, whatever may be its spacious halls and rich upholstery. Grown people may move there in mirth and revelry, or live in quiet and orderly state. Everything may be kept prime and neat, with no traces of the disorder and abandon of young life, but there is a painful void in the home circle if no children are there. The parental relation, it is further maintained, is a most important condition of our education. It is a relation which reaches out in its development of moral and spiritual things. The trial of patience, and the responsibility which grows out of that relation in the proper training of the children. They have a more vivid recollection, and keener appreciation of many declarations of Scripture that bear directly upon this relation. For example—"if ye being evil, know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask Him."

Again—"He that spared not his own son but delivered him up for us all, &c." The richness and pathos in the case of the parable of the prodigal son is cited as peculiarly adapted to parents.

But the following reflections, which we give in the writer's own words should not only be remembered but acted upon by all who have the care and responsibility of training children:

"The home is the school of the children in it. Their characters are formed there, there they take their departure for a career of virtue and usefulness, or for a course of vice, and to be the pests of society. Outside influences for evil are to be counteracted by the training in the family. Here, and effectually nowhere else, can they be fortified against the temptations which await them in the world. Neither secular nor Sunday schools can be intrusted with the work which must be done by the parents at home. Religion, morals, industry, neatness, practicalness, self-help, good manners, must all be taught in the house and in the childhood period. Herein parents should have no need of priests or dancing-masters. The home circle and the fireside should be the schoolroom for piety and politeness.

There is no a 'equate substitute for a good home, and to the young there is no privation more calamitous. In some families there is a tyranny that rebounds after awhile, and the children are the worse for it. Cunning, duplicity and falsehood are fostered, and filial love and reverence are destroyed. In other households there is anarchy. The children run riot with excess of license, and are an annoyance to parents and guests. The broken chairs, the torn curtains, dirt and general disorder show the lack of all restraint. It is a positive trial to visit houses where the children govern the parents. The visitor feels embarrassment for the good, easy going, slip-shod, over-indulgent mother in her futile endeavors to quiet the chronic rumpus, and to secure temporary peace. Surely there is a more excellent way. Government there must be; obedience must be exacted, and in well-ordered homes the children are olive plants, green and beautiful and beautifying, and not nettles and stinging cactus.

We think of the model household as having in it not a lone child kept as in a bandbox, but a group of merry, romping, loving boys and girls, from the elder ones blooming into their teens to the little bud that is the care and pet of all. They are not to be too neat in their every-day clothes, and there are looseness and comfort in their array rather than any affectation of expense and style. And this bunch of little folk is instinct with the spirit of obedience and deference to the parental will, with no trace of painful fear, but with every element of sunshine and gladness in it. Obedience, rightly implanted, brings in its train truth, honor, candor and conscience.

About the rod and its use we cannot enter at large. The things we have indicated must be secured somehow, and generally they can be without much use of the classic birch. We have no quarrel with Solomon, but he turned out badly himself, and his children were not models. As a rule, the whipping should be done before the child is ten years old, and not much need be done after the sixth year. More children have been spoiled and ruined by harsh and injudicious use of the rod than have been saved by its wise application. Since we have been living in a large city, with close neighbors, we have rarely been free from the annoying screams and cries of whipped children. It is a nuisance, an evil, a barbarous cruelty throughout the world that needs to be abated. A parent irate, frenzied with anger, belaboring a helpless and ill-instructed child, ought to be indicted for felony. The rod may be good in some cases, but few parents have the wisdom, grace and patience to use it aright. Firmness, love, prayerfulness and self control will be more effective than the harsher course with the average child."

Subscribe for the ADVOCATE. Price, $2 20 per annum, postage paid.

Good Feeling.

It is a cheering sign of coming good to the State that such good feeling prevails among the members of the Constitutional Convention now in session in this city. Prior to the organization, party spirit of course ran high as each party struggled for the mastery; but since the Convention has been organized and the business proceeds, there is, so far, manifested a disposition to ignore partisan bitterness, and to observe moderation in debate, and courtesy in social intercourse. It is perhaps better that the two parties are so evenly balanced in numbers and strength. Wise counsel is more apt to prevail and prudent and salutary changes in our organic law are more apt to be made,—or, rather, proposed to the people to whom the work of the Convention is to be submitted for their approval or rejection. If either party should have been largely in the ascendant, it would no doubt have grown drunk with its power and in its madness have attempted rash and sweeping changes, bearing more the impress of party spirit than of calm feeling and patriotic aims. As it is, there can be little, or no, wild and extreme legislation; for there is not only an opposite party of almost equal strength to hold in check, but there are enough calm and sensible men in the controlling party to restrain the rashly disposed.

A Good Offer.

We propose to send the Advocate to new subscribers from this issue until the first of January 1876 for 60 cents, postage paid.

Clubs of 10 subscribers will receive the Advocate from now until 1st of January 1876, postage paid, at 50 cents for each subscriber We want a reliable person in every community to act as agent. Will our preachers, itinerant and local, call attention to this announcement and urge upon the people to avail themselves of this excellent offer?

We make this proposition for the purpose of putting the Advocate into the hands of persons who have heretofore not taken it, feeling assured that when once they become acquainted with it, they will not deny themselves the pleasure and benefit of its continued visits. A thousand new subscribers ought to be obtained at these rates. We await responses to our offer.

Pleasant Grove Camp-Meeting.

The regular exercises commenced Saturday night before 5th Sabbath in Aug., and closed Tuesday morning.—We had prepared the way by spending one day in the interest of the Sunday schools. It was the time of closing the regular summer session. All the schools were organized to close at that time, and have vacation through the revival season.

The day was spent repeating religious speeches and dialogues, with singing, followed by stirring appeals by Revs. Messrs Betts, Culbreth, Lee and Pepper. Thus we closed the day with a high state of religious enjoyment, with the young people thoroughly identified with and interested in the exercises.

With such a beginning and a corps of preachers consisting of Revs. Betts, Culbreth, Ellington, Greening, Lee, Patterson, Pepper and Plyler led by Nelson (the working P. E. as he is called) and all partaking of his spirit, it is scarcely necessary to say the result was great, and nothing but the want of time prevented its being grand. About 40 professed conversion. The great majority were Sunday school Scholars. 33 joined the church. Such was the influence, that every person present at the last service bowed to ask the prayers of the Church.

Yours in Christ,

T. H. EDWARDS.

Sept. 2nd, 1875.

Rev. J. E. Thompson has been holding a series of interesting meetings on his circuit. The meeting at Cary which was conducted for about two weeks, was attended with good results. There were several conversions and the church was greatly revived.

METHODIST.—The camp-meeting at Old Bethel Church in Cabarrus county, says the Monroe Enquirer, was quite a pleasant meeting and resulted in the conversion of several persons Revs. Nelson, Greening, Brent, Thomas, Abernethy, Jordan and Edwards were in attendance.

Rev. M. C. Thomas, assisted by Rev. O.J. Brent, D.R.Bruton and J. F.Butt has been conducting an interest ing religious meeting at Centre church, two and a half miles from town, for the last week. The meeting has so far resulted in between fifteen and twenty conversions, and fourteen accessions to the church.—Concord Register.

Rev. C. C. Dodson writes from Pittsboro, under date of Sept. 6th: "We are having a glorious meeting at Chatham Church. Up to this time we have had about 60 converts, nearly all of them grown men and women; husband and wife, in some instances going to the altar, hand in hand. I am indebted to Bros. I. N. Mann and M. Johnson for valuable services."

Rev. Dr. J. D. Blackwell, Presiding Elder of the Lynchburg District, M. E. Church, South, has been troubled for some time with an affection which is aggravated by preaching, and his physicians advise him to desist from pulpit labor for a while.

Revival Intelligence.

Rev. W. C. Norman, writes: "During the past few weeks we have had some interesting and profitable meetings on the Wentworth circuit; up to this time there have been between 30 and 40 conversions.

Rev. T. B. Reeks, writing under date of Sept. 9th, says:

We have just closed a meeting at Andrew Chapel of several days continuance. We had a glorious work 10 or 12 persons professed to have found the pearl of great price, and we left a number of mourners at the altar; and whereas that church had been out of order for a number of years, nothing doing except what the preacher could do once a month, we think we will be able to establish regular meetings for prayer and also a Sabbath School.

Rev. L L. Nash writing from Washington, says:

"I write to say that the Lord has blessed us with a gracious revival at Bath. I commenced a meeting there on the 3rd Sunday in this month, and continued it twelve days. The Church was greatly revived, and fourteen souls were converted to God, and joined the church.

I never saw a deeper work of grace. The weather was unfavorable, but the church was crowded to its utmost capacity at every service, and every body seemed profoundly interested. It was indeed encouraging to see people who had held some sort of religious opinion, awakened to the stern reality that they had never been converted, crying for mercy at the throne of grace, until they could say.

"My God is reconciled
His pardoning voice I hear,
He owns me for his child,
I will no longer fear."

What a blessing it is that even in the midst of clashing creeds, and rigid dogmatism, the poor and unlettered sinner, may go directly to him who can "Resolve the doubts that tears his anxious breast," and know for himself that he is born of God. The general condition of my charge is good, I am expecting an out pouring of the spirit at other places. There is great scarcity of money with us; but thanks to him who sends the sunshine and the shower, crops are looking well, and I am hopeful that all the interests of our beloved Zion will prosper.

REV. R.S. WEBB writing to us under date of Sept 4th says:

"On the 5th Sunday in August we commenced a meeting at Lebanon, and left it still going on yesterday, as it was necessary for us to leave to attend our camp-meeting, which commences at Phillips Chapel, this day. We had a very interesting meeting, the Church greatly revived, a goodly number of penitents, five professions and six accessions to the church.

Lebanon was formerly attached to the old Orange or Hillsboro circuit, but owing to its weakness in numbers and financial ability was left out of any circuit for several years. Three years ago last Conference it was put into the Alamance circuit, and I have been serving them during the week; except giving them a fifth Sunday occasionally.

The success of this church as a week day appointment is really gratifying. It is growing in every sense of the word. I write these facts to encourage the brethren not to despise "small places" or "the day of small things."

Concentration is right, and ought to be encouraged, provided the 'centre is not too far from the circumference.

"The wilderness and the solitary place shall be glad for them; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose."

Rev. P. F. W. Stanley, writing from Dallas circuit, says:

"I wish to say to the lovers of Zion that the good Lord is tilll reviving his work on my charge. I held a meeting in the town of Dallas, embracing the third Sabbath in this month, and closed Tuesday night following. The church was very much revived. Religion has been at a low ebb for some length of time in this place. There has not been a revival of religion there since the war, but I think at this meeting the church was strengthened. There were some 8 or 10 penitents at the altar, but no conversions. Six persons connected themselves with our church, others, I think, will soon. I look for a gracious time at this place before this ecclesiastical year closes.

On last Thursday I closed a meeting of several days length at Concord, resulting in the conversion of sixteen souls, and ten additions to our church. This was a time of great spiritual power. The church seemed to be greatly revived.

During the 11 o'clock service on Monday, I never witnessed a happier time. Christians of all denominations were rejoicing and weeping, penitents were crying for mercy; and I saw sinners shake and tremble. In fact I dont believe there were any who did not shed tears. The congregations through the week were very large.

On Thursday I read the general rules of our church, and received 9 persons into full connection; this too was a profitable service.

We still look for greater results. May the great Head of the Church still bless us in our humble efforts to win souls to Christ! Brethren, don't forget to pray for me.

To God be all the glory, both now and forever. Amen.

Letter From Dr. Burkhead.

MESSRS EDITORS: You will please remove my name from the appointments of Shelby District, and print instead thereof R. G. Barrett, P. E.

The P. E. no longer expresses my official relation to the church. These letters, at the end of my name, failed out last night at midnight. I was at Mt. Pleasant camp-meeting—a camp-ground on the boundary line between the Lenoir and Morganton circuits.—We had worked hard until 11 o'clock, P. M., taken a cup of coffee, kindly prepared for us at that unseasonable hour by sister Johnson and returned to the "Preacher's Tent." I filled my pipe with some of W. T. Blackwell & Co.'s "genuine Durham Smoking Tobacco," took a seat between Bros. Ervin and Ivey, and puffed away till my Presiding Eldership vanished into thin air; and then retired to bed and fell into sweet slumbers. This morning I am simply L. S. Burkhead. The P. E is gone. My mind runs back through all the actions of my life and through all the labors of that life on the Shelby District; and while I may have made some mistakes, I do not see how I could have done better, and feel that I have a conscience void of offense towards God and towards all the ministers and laymen on the Shelby District. I do not mean that I have pleased everybody; but I do feel that I have done my duty. I do feel that God and good men will approve, and hence I am really happy. "God hath been my refuge and strength—a very present help in trouble." No man ever exercised the authority of P. E. over a nobler, purer, and more devoted and loyal set of Itinerants, than the preachers of Shelby District.

Dear Brethren, accept my grateful thanks for your uniform kindness to me. You have stood by me with counsels and prayers in every hard fought field and rejoiced in every victory won in the cause of the blessed Master. May God reward you a thousand fold. Rev. R. G. Barrett—a good and true man—is now the P. E. of the District. I need not ask you to stand by him, as you have stood by me; for I know you to be loyal Methodists and Christian gentlemen, and there is not one of you who would not die for the cause of the God-man as that cause is embedded in the Doctrines and Discipline of our church. I leave the District with kind feelings for all the ministers, traveling and local, and for all the laymen and noble women of the District; and with an earnest prayer for the success of the good cause in all the future. Dear brethren, kind sisters, pray for me and for the success of the cause of God in Raleigh.

What a wonderful thing is our Itinerant system of church operations! How like a well-drilled army, we itinerants march from point to point in obedience to orders from our chief pastors—that God's truth may be spread abroad! Away out in Montana, our chief officer—Bishop Marvin—issues an order—a three-fold order. This order directs L. S. Burkhead to Raleigh, and to turn over the Big Letters—P. E—with all they mean, to R. G. Barrett, of Lincoln ct. R. G. Barrett, to take charge of the District, and turn over the Lincoln ct. to J. T. Harris, and J. T. Harris to take charge of Lincoln ct. and turn over the Marion ct. to N. G. Whittington. No matter how many sacrifices this order may necessitate, it must be promptly obeyed, or there will be confusion, or rebellion in the army.

In this case there will be sacrifices; but no rebellion, no confusion. We do not forget Rule 3d, Section 6th, chapter 3rd, page 84 of the Discipline.

A word or two in reference to "The Great Camp-Meeting"—Rock Spring, Lincoln county.

Bro. Robey left Monday. The meeting continued till Wednesday morning. Good order was maintained from 3 o'clock, P. M. Sunday, until the close of the meeting. God was with us from the very hour order was restored. About 50 souls were converted. All the glory of their salvation be given to God! Much praise is due the 128 Tent-Holders, the Sheriff of the county and his Deputy Mr. Dellinger, who marched to the front and suppressed the disorder. May God bless them all! May their children's children cherish the memory of this noble deed!

"BALL'S CREEK."

I could not attend this camp meeting. I learn they had good order and a successful meeting. Hope Bro. May will give us an account of it.

"Harper's Chapel"—Lenoir circuit. Our third quarterly meeting was continued 6 days. A great meeting; 33 conversions; some of them most remarkable. Messrs Harper, Gwyn & Co. closed their Factory that the operatives might attend the exercises at the chapel. They did this without solicitation from us. May God reward them!

Mt. Pleasant Camp Meeting. Here, as I have already stated, my official relation to the District expired. A good meeting, several conversions. I do not know the number.

Toil on beloved brethren—and may we meet in Heaven. I desire a kingdom near yours in that eternal world of light and glory!

L. S. BURKHEAD.

Shelby District, Sept. 1st, 1875.

Mr. T. B. Hyland, of Philadelphia proposes to furnish an abundant supply of water for Charlotte by means of an artesian well at a cost of 12 to $15,000.

The Race for Wealth.

In this world we have many temptations—temptations which try our very souls—which beguile us from the right way and we fall! Then again we meet with temptations which not only appear to us harmless, but are even gilded with golden tints—bright and beautiful to dream of. Among these the race for wealth is the most easily yielded to—the very thought of which is grasped with a tenacity that proves we have entered the race with a determination to win—with a forgetfulness of every good desire which we may hitherto have had;—caring for nothing—thinking of nothing but the treasure for which we seek: burdening our hearts so that we hear the wail of the widow and orphans with indifference.—What care we? the pangs of poverty are unknown to us;—we have not time to give it a thought and must swim—no matter who sinks so we grasp the beautiful yellow gold which is to buy us friends, luxuries, happiness—in fact everything we can wish for in this life, save a conscience void of offense,—and after that,—but why think of it? there is ample time for serious reflections when our garners are full—our barns well filled and we have eaten and been merry.—Little thinking that the words "this night shall thy soul be required of thee" may have been spoken, and are even now being borne by the angel of death unto us;—while we—in pleasant anticipations are preparing to visit the theatre, ball-room or some place of fashionable note where wealth abounds,—not heeding in our eagerness the whispers of eternity which are sounding in our ears—but walking onward to eternal ruin!

We yield readily to the influences that surround us, and work with a will in the accumulation of wealth, not seemingly aware of the evil we commit and for which we are held accountable.

"Seek ye first the kingdom of Heaven and all these things shall be added unto you:"—"these things"—the things which He knows we need; not a sparrow falls to the ground without his notice; we being of more worth will not be neglected.

Then why this sighing, this wishing, never ceasing desire for gold—this always going never ending race for wealth?

God, in his infinite wisdom, has placed us here in this beautiful world for something more than workers for that which "thieves break through and steal," and which if we gain and then lose our souls, what profit is it to us?

W. H. S.

High Point, N. C.

The Death Kiss

Woman's love, is there anything like it? A Canadian's wife has just died in Raleigh, and he has taken her to Canada to bury her under the native sod. She died in a land of strangers, but she left behind her the name of a devoted wife. It was love in death. He saw her sinking fast, he knew it, she knew it—it was consumption. He nursed her like a little child the great strong man, and there they were in the room together the night she died. She wanted to see out, to gaze once more at the world outside, but he entreated her against it, and told her that to take her up would make her worse, but she told him she was dying anyway, and he lifted her tenderly in his arms and walked with her about the room, holding her to his breast and showing her this object and that, pointing out every pleasant thing, and she kissing him with every breath till the last breath had gone, and the kiss died cold on his cheek. Woman's love! When God made man, he put all heaven in a woman's love, and told him to win it, and be worthy of it.—TOM EVANS IN Vicksburg Herald.

The Convention.

We doubt whether the meeting of any Convention or Legislature in North Carolina has ever excited more interest than that of the Convention which assembled last week, in Raleigh. Political issues had entered into the campaign which preceded it and there had been a fierce contest between the two parties for the control of the Convention. When the returns of the election were made the Democrats counted 60 members, the Republicans 58; leaving two Independents whose status was not certainly known. By the death of Gov. Graham the Democratic strength was reduced, and there was great doubt as to which party would have the co-operation of the Independents with whom the balance of power rested. With the aid of one of the independents the Democrats would have a majority of one; with the aid of both, the Republicans would have the same majority. In this state of affairs intense interest was manifested.

A large number of persons from all parts of the State had gathered here to witness the organization of the Convention, and long before the hour appointed for the assembling, the corridors and stairways of the Capitol were filled with a dense throng awaiting the opening of the doors to the hall of the House of Commons.

Precisely at 12 o'clock, Hon. Thos. Settle, an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, called the delegates to order and ordered a call of the roll. It was the first time in the history of the State, it is said, that all the living members of a body had been present at its assembling. Judge Settle said:

"At the request of Chief Justice Pearson, Associate Justices Reade, Rodman and Bynum, and Secretary of State, Dr. Howerton, the only persons, except myself, authorized by the act calling a Convention of the people of North Carolina to call the delegates to order, and to administer the oath prescribed by the act, I am here to-day to perform the duties prescribed by the Act.

I will now call the counties of the State in their alphabetical order, and the delegates elect will, when their counties are called, present their certificates of election. In calling the roll, administering the oath and superintending the subscribing of same, as each delegate is required to do, I shall need some assistance. I therefore request the delegates from Person, Anson, Granville and New Hanover, Messrs. Cunningham, Bennett, Young and French, to take their seats at the clerk's desk, and render me such assistance as I may ask."

During the presentation of the certificates of election, Mr. Tourgee, of Guilford, offered the following protest:

We, the undersigned delegates elected to the Convention, protest against the validity of the oath prescribed in the acts of the General Assembly calling this Convention, as being beyond the power of any Legislature to impose, contrary to the political history, usages and precedents heretofore acknowledged and acted upon for forty years by both political parties in this State, subversive of the rights, and derogatory to the dignity of the people of the State. Signed by Tourgee, Bryan, Davis, French, Albertson, McCabe, Munden, Jordan, Mabson, S H Manning, Thorne, Nowell, Dickson, Massey, Wilcox, Carey, Woodfin, B F Jones, Crosby, Wheeler, Justice, Bullock, Dockery, Hinnant.

When the call for the County of Robeson was made, two sets of delegates offered credentials—Messrs Sinclair and McEachin having certificates of election from the Sheriff, and Messrs Norment and McNeill having certificates from the County Commissioners. Judge Settle who had examined the certificates of other delegates before admitting them to seats, said that the Convention was probably aware that there was a difficulty pending in regard to the delegates from Robeson and that in the interest of peace and harmony he would postpone the examination of their certificates, and his decision until after the 'organization' of the Convention. (As it afterward appeared, the term 'organization' was unintentionally used by Judge Settle, and he only meant, as he said, to postpone his decision until all the other delegates had been sworn in; as it was probable there would be some discussion over the matter.)

Mr. Turner objected to such proceeding and asked why should a delegate holding the certificate of the sheriff of his county be passed over.

Judge Settle said that he had plainly stated his reason, that he had no prejudice in the matter but adopted this course simply in the interests of peace and harmony; that this was his decision, and ordered the Clerk to proceed with the call.

Mr. Turner still objected and insisted that it was the duty of the Justice to swear them in now.

Judge Settle—"I have decided other wise and the Clerk will proceed with the call."

Mr. Turner—"I appeal from the decision

Judge Settle—"there is no one to appeal to."

Mr. Manning of Chatham, said that his honor (Judge Settle) having decided that he would disregard trivial irregularites in the certificates, and his party having received that statement in good faith did not object to the certificates of several who had been sworn in, which they would have done had they known that his Honor intended to vary from his decison.

Mr. Clingman desired to know if a decision would be rendered before the organization of the Convention.

Judge Settle said he would decide the question before he left the chair and before the organization of the Convention

Mr Bennett gave notice that he would object to certain delegates when the certificates were presented.

The roll was proceeded with and at the close, Judge Settle rendered his decision that the regularly elected members, Messrs McEachin and Sinclair, were entitled to their seats.

Objection to the office-holders were then withdrawn and all sworn in.

Judge Settle said the next business in order was the election of a President of the Convention.

Mr. Albertson nominated Hon. O. H. Dockery of Richmond.

Mr. Reid nominated Hon. Edward Ransom of Tyrell.

The first ballot resulted as follows:

For Hon. E. Ransom.—Messrs. Alison, Altman, Anderson of Clay, Anderson of Madison, Avery, Bennett, Bingham Bunn, Byrd, Carter, Clingman, Coleman, Cooper, Cowell, Cunningham, Dobson, Durham, Everett, Faison, Farrier, George, Green, Harrington, Hassel, Henderson, Jarvis, Jones of Caldwell, King of Pitt, Kirby, Love, Manning of Chatham, Marshall, McCorkle, McEachin, Morehead, Motz, Neal, Nicholson, Price, Redwine, Reid, Robbins; Roberts of Davidson, Roberts of Gates, Rumly, Scott of Onslow, Shepperd, Shober, Sinclair, Singletary, Spake, Stallings Strowd, Summers, Turner, Vaughan, Watts, Wilson, Withers,—59.

For Hon. O. H. Dockery—Messrs. Albertson, Badger, Barringer, Bateman, Barrow, Bean, Bell, Black, Bliven, Blocker, Bowman, Boyd, Bullock, Bnxton, Bryan, Carey, Chamberlain, Crosby, Davis, Dickson, Dula, Faircloth, French, Goodwin, Grantham, Hampton, Hinnant, Hodge, Hoffman, Holton, Horton, Jones, of Yadkin, Jordan, Justice, Kerr, King of Lenoir, Lehman, Lowe, Mabson, Manix, Manning of New Hanover, Massey, McCabe, McCanliss, McDonald, Munden, Nowell, O'Hara, Page, Scott of Jones, Smyth, Taylor, Thorne, Tourgee, Wheeler, Wilcox, Woodfin and Young.—58

Mr. Dockery voted for Mr. Wheeler. Mr. Ransom voted for Hon. D. S. Reid. A second ballot was taken with the same result, when on motion of Mr. Ransom the Convention adjourned till 10 o'clock on Tuesday.

SECOND DAY.

On Tuesday the voting for President was resumed. Twelve additional ballots were had without securing an election; upon the 14th ballot, Mr. Ransom said:

"This balloting has gone on long enough. I have not sought this position; I do not desire it. I have cast my vote twice to defeat myself. The people seem to demand that this body be organized. I have made every effort to procure a compromise; I now cast my vote for Edward Ransom, the delegate from Tyrrell county, let the consequences be what they will."

The vote was then announced by His Honor Judge Settle, adding "Hon Edward Ransom, having received a majority of the votes cast, I here by declare him elected to the Presidency of this Convention, and I appoint Messrs. Cunningham of Person, and French of New Hanover to coudnct the President to the Chair.

President Ransom on taking the Chair said:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I regret exceedingly the lack of language to express my gratitude. I did not desire this position; I deprecated it. I doubted my ability to properly discharge its duties, but I understood the object of the Convention to be, to consider such amendments to the Constitution as shall meet the approbation of the people, and as the presiding officer of this body my earnest aim shall be to discharge my duties with that impartiality and fairness as may not only be acceptable to my fellow members, but redound to the interests of our good old commonwealth.

I now declare this Convention duly organized and ready for the transaction of business." The Convention adjourned till Wednesday.

THIRD DAY.

On Wednesday, after the call of the roll, the first business was the completion of the organization. Johnstone Jones, Esq., of Wake, was nominated for Secretary of the Convention, by the Democrats: and W. R. Richardson, of Wake, by the Republicans. The former was elected and qualified. Col. Wash Hardy was elected Assistant Secretary over John Shultz of Forsyth. Mr. John H. Hill was elected Door Keeper over Mr. Peter Hughes, of Anson. J. P. Norton of McDowell was elected Assistant Door Keeper, opposed by J. H. Jones (col'd) of Wake.

Mr. Tourgee made a motion that the Convention adjourn sine die. The yeas and nays were ordered and the result was, in the affirmative 58, in the negative, 59;—the Democrats voting soundly 'no' and the Republicans 'aye.' Messrs Wilcox and Woodfin did not vote.

Mr. Badger introduced an ordinance providing for the removal of the disabilities of ex-Gov. Holden. Placed on calendar.

After the appointment of a committee of five to draft rules of order for the government of the Convention Mr. Turner of Orange, announced the death of his colleague, the Hon. W. A. Graham and paid a handsome tribute to the distinguished dead. He offered the following resolutions:

Resolved, That this Convention has learned with deep sensibility the information of the death of Hon. William Alexander Graham, a delegate from the county of Orange, and we deplore his death as a heavy and irreparable public misfortune; that as a mark of respect, unanimously entertained by this Convention for the memory of the deceased, and for his long, valuable and distinting uished services in the public councils of the State and nation, the members and officers of this Convention, from a sincere desire of showing every mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, do go into mourning for him for one month.

Resolved, That the President of this Convention be requested to communicate these proceedings to the widow and family of the deceased, tendering to them the sympathies of this Convention in their sore bereavement.

Resolved, That as an additional mark of respect to the deceased, the Convention do now adjourn."

Gen. Barringer, of Mecklenburg, followed Mr. Turner in a brief but excellent speech in which he referred in handsome words to the virtues of the deceased.

Mr. Dockery moved that these resolutions be postponed until Thursday at 10 o'clock to enable members to pay proper respect to the memory of their deceased colleague. Adopted.

FOURTH DAY.

On Thursday Mr. Price, of Davie, offered a resolution of inquiry of the committee on Privileges and Elections whether or not R. C. Badger, the delegate from Wake, L. J. Young, from Granville, Jno. S. Mannix and Lehman, from Craven, and J. Q. A. Bryant, of Wilkes, are United States officers, and if such be the case why should not their seats be declared vacant.

On motion of Mr. Durham, Peter Hughes, Esq., of Alamance who had been nominated on Wednesday by Mr. Tourgee for Principal Door Keeper, was unanimously elected to the position of assistant Door Keeper.

At 12 o'clock the resolutions of respect to the memory of Hon. W. A. Graham were called up and read. Eulogies were delivered by Messrs Dockery Clingman, O Hara (col'd), Smyth, (col'd), Tourgee, Crosby (col'd), Chamberlain, Thorne and Robbins. The vote on the resolutions was taken standing and in silence. During the day, the flag on the Capitol was displayed at half-mast in honor of Gov. Graham.

NORTH CAROLINA.

The tobacco crop in Orange, says the RECORDER, is ripening finely.

The Duplin Record has been moved to Goldsboro.

Two cases of small-pox have been developed in Wilmington.

A steam laundry has been started at Charlotte. The next thing will be an importation of Chinese to run it.

A negro preacher in Cherokee county told a number of negroes that the only way to protect themselves from a negro man who was thought to be a witch, was to kill and bury him in a mud-hole. They acted upon his advice, dragged him from his bed at midnight, cut his throat and buried him in a mine shaft.

The new school building in Monroe is in process of erection. It will be a three story building in the shape of a cross, with a frontage of 80 feet and extending to the rear about 70 feet. It will be well ventilated and warmed and contains suitable rooms for all needed purposes. It will be completed about the middle of October.

Two years ago Polkton boasted of one house, while it is now an incorporated town of enterprising citizens, six stores, two steam-saw-mills, a hotel, drug store, flourishing school and many comfortable and tasty dwellings. Two Churches, Methodist and Baptist, are in course of erection.

The Wilmington Journal says: We learn that last night a week ago, Mrs. Williams, wife of a man employed on the Belvidere farm in Brunswick, eloped with a young negro boy named Sisson Herrick, about fifteen years of age. They had an ox cart which carried them the effects to Riverside, where, under assumed name, they took the boat for Fayetteville. They have not been heard from since. We hope they never will. The woman is white.

THE Bank of Mecklenburg, paid out a statement in the Observer last week, showing that the assets of the Bank were $23,421,23, and the liabilities $20,[illegible]. This statement will show that the stockholders will be likely to get nearly [illegible] per cent of their claims. Then comes any number of contingent claims which may, or may not swell the dividend of creditors to fifty or sixty per cent. The Observer says that the [illegible] is far from being satisfactory to the creditors of that institution.

Weldon NEWS: The cause of Martin L. Burnett, of Enfield, against W. & W. R. R. Company, action for damages for forfeiture of contract, removed from county to Warren—was decided at present Term of the Court held in latter county, the jury giving $[illegible] damages and $10,000 consequential damages. The verdict was set aside by the Judge, and the case will probably go to the Supreme Court.

The Christian Advocate

...LISHED IN THE CITY OF RA... EVERY WEDNESDAY MORN... TERMS $2 20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

...ing sad vacant preachers in the bounds ...olina Conference are our authorized ... person sending us ten subscribers, for ... receive the paper free.

our Correspondents.

...s for publication should be carefully ...ort one side of the sheet. All letters ... to be addressed to the Editor.

How to Remit.

...r, all amounts should be sent in ...ft, postoffice order or check. The cost ...ion either order can be deducted ...ount. If money is sent otherwise ...it will be at the sender's risk.

TABLE OF NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

...ewell. ...ewell. ...ers until next week for ... High School has well ...ent teachers. ...ell to read the ...ular column, headed ...sers. Grimes & Meyer ...d flowers at extremely ...

...ention of our readers to ...D. E. Everitt, who has ...ed in this city for the ...cing Dentistry. Dr. ...to be one of the best ...State. He succeeds Dr. ...s retired from the prac...

Personal.

...Governor, the President of ...Convention now in ...ce of Virginia, though ...State at an early age.

...of Baltimore, grand-...erson, wife of Jerome ...t aside his wife at ...ther the great Napoleon, ...me King of Wurten-...recently to Miss El... of Boston.

...ador, of the United ...returned to this State, ...years.

Mr. Jno. W. Dunham, Raleigh Daily News, has ...ved by a visit to the ...

...of Mecklenburg, ...ut a brief but ex... which he referred in ... the virtues of the ... ...loved that these res... ...ued until Thursday ...ible members to ...t to the memory of ...eorge. Adopted.

...Day. ...ter the end of the ...ss was the com... ...nation John... ...Wake, was nom... ...the Conven... ...ents and W. R. ...by the Repub... ...was elected and ...Brady was ...city over dolu... ...Mr. John H. ...kept over ...Vernon. J. ...was elected ...opposed by ...Wake.

...ention that ...eighth size ... ...was ordered and ...the alternative 75; ...the Democrats ...the Republicans ...and Woodlin.

...had an ordi... ...the removal of ...ex Gov. Holden.

...rection of a commit... ...rules of order for ...the Convention. ...announced the ...the Hon. W. A. ...a convenient category ...Guard. He offered ...motions.

...Convention has ...possibly the m... ...ident Hon. Wil... ...Orator, a delegate ...at Chicago, and we ...a heavy and ir... ...nation that ...

...President of this ...last) to communi... ...ings to the widow ...deceased, tendering ...ttitudes of this Con... ...bereavement.

...as an additional ...the deceased, the ...ad whereas,

Children's Column

Whosoever.

There were children on the floor.
Coming little verses o'er.

"Which word, all the Bible through,
Do you love best?" queried She.

"I like Faith the best," said one;
"Jesus is my word alone."

"I like Hope," and "I like Love,"
"I like Heaven, our home above."

"I love more small than all the rest:
I Like Whose ever best.

"Whosoever—that means all—Even I, who am so small."

"Whosoever!" Ah! I see;
That's the word for you and me.

"Whosoever will" may come—
Find a pardon and a home.

Answers.

Answer to F B Jones' question is found in Ezekiel 17th chap. 3d verse. In this fable, Nebudchadnezzar is represented as a great eagle: the highest branches represent King Jehoiachin. J W Howard.

The sun was commanded to go back 10 degrees as a sign that Hezekiah's prayer was answered. J W Howard, F B Jones.

Shangar slew 600 Phillistines with an ox goad. J W Howard.

David was born 1085 years before Christ Laura Davis.

There were in Nineveh more than six score thousand persons who could not discern between their right and left hands. Pattie and Alice Peebles.

Job's friends sat with him seven days and nights without speaking a word. Pattie and Alice Peebles.

Saul had four sons, Jonathan, Abinadab, Melchisua and Ishbosheth. Pattie and Alice Peebles.

Goliath had a coat that weighed 5,000 shekels. Pattie and Alice Peebles.

Alice and Pattie Peebles give the same answer that was given last week to the Enigma proposed by Addie Clegg, to wit: "Israelites."

Questions.

T J W Davis asks where the following sentence is found: "Who hath woe? who hath sorrow? who hath contentions? who hath babbling? who hath wounds without cause? who hath redness of eyes?" (The other questions have been before asked and answered.)

Laura Davis asks how long did Moses remain in the Desert or Wilderness. Also, where the following sentence is found: "They prevented me in the day of my calamity, but the Lord was my stay."

Fletcher B Jones asks where in the Bible is the first falsehood recorded and who was its author. Also, who said "let me die the death of the righteous and let my last end be like his," and where it is found.

J W Howard asks where is the following prophecy found and by whom was it made: "And he shall be a wild man: his hands will be against every man and every man's hand against him."

ENIGMA BY ALICE AND PATTIE PEEBLES.

My 1st the father of Isaac.
" 2d the man to whom Abraham gave sheep and oxen.
" 3d a son of Soloman.
" 4th the father of Ahab.
" 5th the son of Jeroboam.

The whole is the name of the first high priest.

ENIGMA BY F. B. JONES.

1st. In what city did our Saviour dwell? 2d. Where was Paul when he wrote his letter to the Hebrews? 3d. In and around what city did our Saviour labor the best part of his private life? 4th. Who was sent to bring back the prophet Urijah from Egypt that he might be murdered? 5th. In whose stead was Queen Esther chosen? 6th. At what place were the Phillistines encamped when Goliath assaulted the Hebrew host? 7th. Who made the brazen pillars, sea lavers &c., of the Temple?

The initials of the above names form the name of a city of Assyria.

A Riddle Story.

"Tell me another story, Nan," Pleaded a sleepy voice from the lounge in the corner.

"I do believe there is nothing more to tell, Floy. My tongue is tired. I have told you all the bear stories and all the fairy stories—'The Rat that Sat in the Oven,' 'Jack and the Bean-Stalk,' 'London Bridge'—and everything else that I know, since lamp light."

"Tell me one of your very own, then, Nan, please. You are knitting to-night, and it won't bother you to talk, will it?"

"Well, once there was a very steady and persevering maiden who set out to count six billions. She lived in a tall Gothic castle, with the picture of a ship rocking on the sea, in the tower. It seemed a very imposing castle to grandma when she was a little child. I have heard her say that she used to spend hours gazing upon it then, and that was long after the maiden began to count.

"Perhaps you think it was a very silly task for the maiden to undertake; but she managed to be very useful in the world, notwithstanding that she kept on counting aloud, steadily through all the hours of the day and night. She made the dark old castle seem a cheerful, lively place, and it seemed to do people good just to look at it as they went by.

"Well, the maiden counted on and on, and the years went by, and the people to whom her face had been familiar dropped away one after another, and little children grew up to men and women, and by and by she became very old, although she held her good looks wonderfully, and people even said that she grew handsomer as she grew older.

"I am not going to tell you, Floy, how many years it took her to count five billions; but she had achieved that when I first saw her cheerful face looking from an upper window of her castle, under the tower.

"I soon learned to love her very much. She was very intimately associated with grandma at that time, and is until this day. I think there is a good prospect of her living to finish her sixth billion.

"And now I shall not tell you another story until you tell me who the old lady is. You may ask grandma to help you find out, and I will tell you that you have seen the ancient maiden yourself; and that sometimes when you sleep at grandma's, if you lean out of bed and listen you will hear her counting cheerfully on in the dark. I have sometimes thought that her voice is strongest in the night."

No symptom of interest or approval came from the lounge where Floy lay; and when Nan stopped talking she heard a faint snore. So she concluded that this riddle story was not so interesting as "Jack and the Bean Stalk," or "The Rat that Sat in the Oven," which she is very often obliged to tell over three times apiece in one evening.—Anna Boynton, in Youth's Companion.

Rural and Domestic.

WHY CATTLE REQUIRE SALT.—We know why the animal craves salt, and why it ultimately falls into disease if salt is for a time withheld. Upwards of half the saline matter of the blood, (57 per cent.), consists of common salt; and as this is partly discharged every day through the skin and kidneys, the necessity of continued supplies of it to the body becomes sufficiently obvious. The bile also contains soda as a special and indispensable constituent, and so do all the cartilages of the body. Therefore, if the supply of salt be stinted, neither will the bile be able properly to assist the digestion, nor the cartilages be built up again as they naturally waste.

And when we consider it to be a fact, that without salt man would miserably perish; as among horrible punishments entailing certain death, that of feeding culprits on saltless food is said to have prevailed in barbarous times, we may become partially convinced, at least, of the necessity of feeding salt to our stock—that it is one of the necessaries as well as one of the luxuries of life for man and beast: and it should be profusely provided at short intervals, in proper places, if it cannot be kept by them continually, so that each and every animal may satisfy the demands of his nature. Then it shall not be said of us, that while our pudding is well seasoned and salted, our stock are allowed to suffer for want of the same ingredient, which is as truly necessary for their food as for ours.—PROF JOHNSON, in Mk. Farmer.

REMNANTS OF ROAST BEEF.—Take off with a sharp knife all the meat from the bones. If there are a few nice slices, reserve them, if most convenient to be eaten cold. Chop the rest fine in a tray. Take cold gravy, without the fat, and put into a spider to heat. If you have not this, some of the stock, or water in which the meat has been boiled. When it boils up sprinkle in salt, and put in the minced meat; cover it and let it stand upon the fire long enough to heat throughly, then stir in a small piece of butter. Toast bread and lay in the dish, and put the meat over it. The common error in heating over meat, sliced or minced, is the putting it into a cold spider, with too much fat, and cooking it a long time. This makes it oily and tasteless. Almost all meats, when cooked a second time, should be done very quick. The goodness of these dishes depends much upon their being served hot.

SUGAR BEETS FOR FATTENING SWINE.—Jonathan Talcott gives a statement in the Boston Cultivator of a experiment performed on a Suffolk pig where sugar beets were largely employed for fattening. The animal was about a year old, and the feeding on boiled sugar beets, tops and roots, began on the 16th of August and was continued three times a day until the 1st of October, after which ground feed was given, consisting of two parts of corn and one of oats, three times a day, till the animal was slaughtered, the meal being mixed with cold water. The result was on the 16th of August, when the sugar beet feeding was begun, that the weight was 360 pounds; September 1ts 390 pounds; October 1st 460 pounds; November 1st 520. This is the substance of the statement given by which we perceive that the increase the last of August, when fed on boiled sugar beets, was at the rate of two pounds per day; the rate increases on the same food continued through September. When fed on ground corn and oats, made into cold slop, the grain for the next fifty days was less than a pound and a half a day.—Exchange.

Charcoal has been discovered to be a cure for burns. By laying a piece of cold charcoal upon a burn, the pain subsides immediately. By leaving the charcoal on one hour, the wound is healed, as has been demonstrated on several occasions. The remedy is cheap and simple, and deserves a trial.

Take a slip of paper and cut children's names, then place the papers around the apples when they begin to color, and in a week or two Mamie, Jamie, Johnnie, or Susie appears on the apples in large red letters. These picked and barreled by themselves, bring fancy prices for the New York Christmas market.

How few housekeepers know that the expressed juice of the garlic is an everlasting cement for broken china, glassware, and the like, leaving no mark of fracture, if neatly done.

Important Results Pleasantly Achieved.

Although the days of irrational medication are happily passing away, and intelligent physicians have ceased to measure the supposed efficacy of a remedy by the virulence of its effects, there still linger among the older practitioners a few of those pernicious in favor of "heroic" treatment, which it would be lucky for their patients if they had abandoned. One of these is a fondness for administering drastic purgative, such as blue pill, calomel, jalap and castor oil. A contrast to the effects of these drenching dirges with the mild and beneficent operation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is the very best argument that can be adduced against the wisdom of such destructive treatment. The old fashioned cathartics convulse the stomach, and relax the bowels so suddenly and copiously as to weaken them. Hostetter's Bitters, on the contrary, never gripe the intestines but produces a laxative effect resembling the action of nature. At the same time they remove the cause of constipation, by arousing the dormant liver to secrete the bile necessary to the regular performance of the excretive function, and enable the stomach to thoroughly digest the food. Indigestion and biliousness having been thus overcome, a regular habit of body, is the necessary consequence, which the occasional subsequent use of the Bitters renders permanent. Every disagreeable symptom which, in the absence of perfect digestion and evacuation, harrasses the system, vanishes under the influence of the great national tonic and alterative. Health and vigor are certain blessings that follow its use.

Sept 1, 1 m

THE NEEDLE

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle this now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by its successful operation—competing at many of the Southern fairs and bearing away first premiums.

In the gin house it has eclipse its most successful record at fairs

A report from one of our sixty circle Condenser Gins in Georgia, says: "That during the ginning season it ginned 725 bales of cotton." In South Carolina a gin of the same size ginned a bale weighing 519 lbs. in three minutes. From many other reports the fact is pretty well established that a fifty circle will gin a 400 bale in sixty-five minutes. At the Wilmington N. C. Fair a forty circle ginned 100 lbs. seed cotton in six minutes yielding 36 pounds of lint.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which boxes of paper, matches and nails were put with out selting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hard ware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

July 1-tf

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company.

OF

WARRENTON, - - - - - N. C.,

This Company has closed its third year in a condition of GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home institution,
It has ample Capital and Reserves
It pays its loss promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand and in Bank,	$ 8 421 53
Cash in hands of Agents,	4,854 66
Stock Notes,	15,870 00
Real Estates Mortgage,	19,918 57
Loaned on Collateral's,	7,647 65
Due for premiums,	5,720 65
Interest due and accrued,	944 88
	$180,997 19

LIABILITIES:

All liabilities including full reinsurance Reserved,	$15,480 61
Surplus,	111,516 58
	$130,997 .9

WM. S. DAVIS, President.
B. F. LONG, Secretary.

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

GEO. W. WYNNE,
T. B. YANCEY,
J. W. LEE.

RALEIGH, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest an Jassume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to make immediate payment.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf GEO. W. WYNNE.

JOHN J. FRAY'S

English, Classical and Mathematical School,

11 miles S. E. of Raleigh and 4 miles from Clayton, a station on N. C. R. R. The seventeenth session begins Monday Sept. 13th 1875. Prepares boys and girls for College, or the active duties of life. Good board including fuel, lights and washing (no extras) only $12 50 per month. Refers to the faculty of the University of Va. Rev. R. T. Bisko and to any of former patrons. For circulars containing particulars &c. Address,

JOHN J. FRAY,
or A. T. MIAL,
Raleigh N. C.

aug. 25-2 m.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An Illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N. Y.

July 28-12m.

NEW FIRM

The undersigned have this day formed a co partnership under the firm name of Wainright. Williams & Hood.

and having purchased the stock and good will of J. D. WHITAKER, they will continue the GROCERY and COMMISSION business at

FARMER'S EXCHANGE,

No. 4 Martin Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Our Stock will consist of

Bacon,
Flour,
Molasses,
Coffee,
Sugars,
Lard,
Salt,
Bagging,
and Ties,

And all other goods in the Grocery line with Staple Dry Goods, Shoes, etc. Having superior facilities for buying, and a small expense account, we guarantee the lowest prices. Consignments of Cotton and produce generally, solicited, to the sale of which our best efforts will be devoted.

Patronage of our friends respectfully solicited.

GEO. H. WAINRIGHT, Greenville.
Late with Williamson, Dyer & Thomas.
MILTON T. WILLIAMS, Chatham.
WM. H. HOOD, Johnston.

Raleigh, Sept. 1, 1875.

Having sold my stock of Groceries to Messrs. Wainright, Williams & Hood, I take pleasure in recommending them to my friends and late customers, as entirely worthy of confidence and patronage.

For the present, I may be found at the old stand and hope all those indebted to the late firm of Thompson & Whitaker and to myself, will call and settle as soon as possible.

J. D. WHITAKER.

Raleigh, Sept 8-tf

A. H TEMPLE.

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to continue Mr. Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him.

I will still keep my office, as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS.

march17 6- m

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best fitting and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Bows and Silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts. Hamburg Edgings and Insertions, Curls' Ruffling, and Flutings, Ladies' Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yokes and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black Alpacas.

Corded Jackonets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Plaque, Mul Muslins, Checked Muslins, Nainsook and Lin n Lawns, Corsett Jeans, Canvrics and Linens.

HATS. HATS. HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap.

BOOTS AND SHOES

Our Stock is complete in this line. Misses and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Other brands which also give satisfaction.

To Country Merchants who buy in the City, we would say give us a call and we will sell goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we again return our thanks for past favors and as our stock is much larger than ever before, we feel confident that we are prepared to do for them all that can be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
54 Fayetteville St. Raleigh, N

mch 17-tf.

SUI GENERIS.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED Yielded UNAPPROACHED

in capacity and excellence by any other. Awarded

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS

AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR AT

VIENNA: 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extraordinary excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at Industrial Expositions, in America as well as Europe. Out of hundreds there have not been six in all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians, in both hemispheres, to be unrivaled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Beware of LOUDLY PRETENTIOUS for selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. New Solo and Combination Stops. Superb Cases and other designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of two instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, Organs sold for cash or for monthly or quarterly payments, or rented until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 14 1 year.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,

Ashland Va.,

Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction a high grade of scholarship, under best religious influence, in a refined community and at a location remarkable for its extraordinary healthfulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and Forty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year. For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A. M. D. D. Pres't.
or
Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Sec'y

Aug 11-6 w.

A New Musical Era!!

ALL CAN LEARN TO SING.

The most Natural and Easy system of Music yet discovered; learned in one-fourth the time of any other.

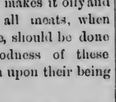
TEMPLE HARP.

A New Music Book upon above system for Choirs &c.

CRYSTAL GEMS.

For Sabbath-Schools, any system. Specimen pages mailed free. TEACHERS wanted as AGENTS

MULLER BIBLE PUBLISHING HOUSE,
No. 1 B & 1101 Sansom St., Philadelphia
Aug 4-3m.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, Chimes, etc. Fully Warranted.

Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT.

102 to 108 East Second St., Cincinnati.

apr 14-12m

THE CARY COTTON GIN.

I still build and manufactured at Cary, N. C., improved in some respect and warranted to give satisfaction or no pay if properly put to work. Those desiring further information send for Circular, &c. to

W. M SORRELL,
Cary, N.C.

June 16-tf.

Williams & Haywood,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL DEALERS IN

Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Dye Stuffs, Perfumery,

Fancy Articles, Garden Seeds, Fine Teas, Spices, Flavoring Extracts.

CIGARS, CHEWING TOBACCO &C.

Keep constantly on hand, at lowest market prices, White Lead, Putty, Kerosene Oil, Linseed Oil, Lamp Oil, Tanner's Oil, Window Glass, Varnish, &c., &c.

Dec. 23 t-f

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE, RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

In effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH.

STATIONS.	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Charlotte.....	9.24 P. M	8.55 A. M.
" Air-Line J'nct'n	2.32 "	6.30 "
" Salisbury.....	11.58 "	8.34 "
" Greensboro'....	3.09 A. M	10.55 "
" Danville.....	6.20 "	1.12 P. M.
" Dundee.....	6.34 "	1.26 "
" Burkville.....	11.35 "	6.07 "
Arrive at Richmond..	7.22 P. M.	8.47 "

GOING SOUTH.

STATIONS	MAIL.	EXPRESS.
Leave Richmond.....	1.38 P. M	5.08 A. M.
" Burkville.....	4.52 "	8.35 "
" Dundee.....	10.38 "	1.14 P. M.
" Danville.....	10.52 "	1.27 P. M.
" Greensboro ...	2.15 A. M.	3.58 "
" Salisbury.....	5.27 "	6.16 "
" Air-Line J'nct'n	7.55 "	8.25 "
Arrive at Charlo,'te..	8.03 A M	8.33 "

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS. MAIL.

Leave Greensboro'.	3.09 A. M.	Arrive 2.10 A. M
" Co. Shops....	4.33 "	Leave 12.38 "
" Raleigh.....	8.25 "	" 8.10 P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro	11.30 A M	Leave 5.00 "

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro'.....	4.32 P. M.
Arrive at Salem.....	6.10 "
Leave Salem.....	8.40 A. M
Arrive Greensboro.....	10.08 "

Passenger train leaving Raleigh at 8.10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound train; making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Price of Tickets same as via other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Sundays Lynchburg Accommodation leave Richmond a 9.00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12.40 P. M., leave Burkeville 4.35 A. M., arrive at Richmond 7.55 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers best have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

T. M. R. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Gen'l Superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 22nd, 1874, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad, will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Leave Raleigh,	9.35 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	3.50 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	9.30 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh,	3.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon,	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon,	2.2 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2.45 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line Steamers to Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and Northwest, and with Petersburg Railroad via Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hayward and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

RALEIGH & AUGUSTA AIR-LINE RAILROAD.

SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE,
Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 27th, 1873.

On and after Monday, October 27th, 1873, trains on the R. & A. A. L. Road will run daily, (Sundays excepted,) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN.

Trains leaves Raleigh,	4.00 P. M.
Arrives at Selma,	6.25 "
Trains leave Selma,	6.40 A. M
Arrives at Raleigh,	9.25 "

FREIGHT TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh,	5.15 A. M.
Arrives at Selma	10.30 A. M.
Leaves Selma,	12.40 P. M
Arrives at Raleigh	3.50 P. M.

Mail Train makes close connection at R. & G. with the Raleigh and Gaston Railroad, to and from all points North.

And at Sanford with the Western Railroad, to and from Fayetteville and points on Western Railroad.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Superintendent.

OFFICE PEPT. OF TRANSPORTATION,
Seaboard & Roanoke R. R. Co.,
Portsmouth, Va., Jan. 1st, 1875.

On and after this date, trains of this Road will leave Weldon daily, Sundays excepted, as follows:

Mail train at	4 P. M.
No. 1 Freight train at	4 A. M.
No. 2 Freight train at	8 A. M.

ARRIVE AT PORTSMOUTH.

Mail train at	7 15 P. M.
No 1 Freight at	12 00 NOON.
No 2 Freight at	4 00 P. M.

Freight trains have a passenger car attached.

Steamer for Edenton, Plymouth and Loublin on Blackwater and Chowan Rivers leave Franklin on Tuesdays A. M. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

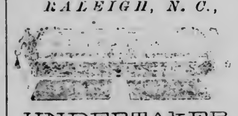
E. G. GHIO,
Supt. Transportation.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,



UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metalic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metalic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSE FURNISHED.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

ap 19-tf

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our House second to none. We guarantee satisfaction in price, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the state, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Venison Hams, Onions, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit Meal, Oats, Shucks, Hay, Fodder, White, Black-eye Stock and Black Peas, White and Mixed Beans, &c.

Will make FINE MOUNTAIN BEEF a specialty, to be received daily as soon as the weather will permit.—We have made the necessary arrangements with our Norfolk house to furnish the BEST OYSTERS that market can supply.

Again thanking you most heartily for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, we are determined, by adopting the experience of those that have been successful in business, and knowing that "Success is Merit," to deserve your increased patronage.

oct 7-12m

$5 TO $20 per day! Agents wanted! All either sex, young or old, making more money at work for us in their spare moments, or all the time, than at anything else. Particulars free. Address G. Stinson & Co., Portland, Maine.

April 15-12m

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in Morocco, gilt edge $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents allowed to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F. L. REID, Leasburg, N. C.
or JAS. W. REID, Westworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET SQUARE, Raleigh N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning the ks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past few years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in closing out our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

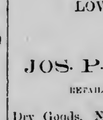
We have now in store

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls. A C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
25 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
60 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
Lot Bbls. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Oysters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
150 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
9 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W. P. and B. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burdon Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
25 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
150 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer especial inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and correspondence.

Oct 7 12-m LEACH BROS

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,



Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,

Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.

Manufacturers also of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machinery, Gearing for Cotton Mills, Flour, Paint, White Lead and Oil Mill Machinery, Hydraulic and Screw Presses, &c. Shafting, Pulleys and Hangers a specialty. Machine Moulding and Forging promptly Executed. Send for Circulars.

mch 24-6m.

STIEFF

GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT

PIANOS

Have received upwards of FIFTY FIRST PREMIUMS and are among the best now made. Every instrument fully warranted for five years. Prices as low as the exclusive use of the very best materials and the most thorough workmanship will permit. The principal public and private schools and the clergymen all over the south especially, unite in the unanimous verdict of the superiority of the STIEFF PIANO. The UPRIGHT is one of our instruments is fully established by over sixty school and colleges in the South, selling over 300 of our Pianos.

Sole Wholesale Agents for several of the principal manufacturers of Cabinet and Parlor Organs; prices from $55 to $699. A liberal discount to Clergymen and Sabbath schools.

A large assortment of second-hand Pianos at prices ranging from $75 to $200, always on hand.

Send for Illustrated Catalogue, containing names of over 600 Southerners, who have bought and are using the Stieff Piano.

CHARLES M. STIEFF,
Warerooms, No. 9 North Liberty street.
Baltimore, Md
Factories, 84 & 86 Camden st. and 45 & 47 Perry st

Dec 16-12m

1875. SPRING STOCK. 1875.

NEW GOODS! GOOD QUALITY!!

LOW PRICES!!!

JOS. P. GULLEY,

RETAILER AND JOBBER OF

Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Trunks, Valises, White Goods, &c., &c.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

My large and carefully selected stock for the Spring and Summer is now in store, and I respectfully invite all in search of good goods and low prices, to call and examine for themselves.

BURT'S GAITERS and BOOTS FOR GENTS.

To those who have bought and used these goods we need only to say that we have a full line of them. For durability and neatness of fit they are unexcelled.

Miss Mele's and Graf's hand made shoes for the Ladies.

PRINTS!
PRINTS!
PRINTS!

A large stock of the latest patterns, at prices that cannot be excelled

Respectfully,
JOSEPH P. GULLEY,
Corner Fayetteville and Market Square

oct 7-1y.

PLEIS' FIT POWDERS.

These Powders have been tested by over 40,000 cases for the cure of Fits (Epilepsy), Spasms, Convulsions, St. Vitus' Dance, Neuralgia, and all Nervous Affections, some over 40 years' standing.

When you ORDER STATE AGE.

PRICE, $3 CENTS PER BOX; or sent to any parts of the United States for One Dollar per Box.—These Powders are prepared and sold only by the proprietor, to whom all orders must be addressed,

JOHN M. PLEIS, Jr.,

36 North Third Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please mention that you saw this advertisement in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

mar 31-1y

DUNSTON & VALENTINE,

Fashionable Barbers,

Under the Raleigh National Bank. LEFT HAND DOOR as you enter the basement, and the neatest shop in the city.

N. G. DUNSTON, C. H. DUNSTON J. P. VALENTINE

June 4tf.

A NEW BOOK.

Life, Sermons, and Speeches

OF

Rev. N. F. Reid, D. D.

LATE OF THE

NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE.

BY HIS SONS

James W. and Frank L. Reid.

A handsome volume of 536 pages.

A fine Steel Engraving of Dr. Reid in each copy.

NOW READY FOR DELIVERY.

BE SURE TO GET A COPY.

Price in Morocco, gilt edge $3 00.
" " Cloth, 2 00.

Agents allowed to whom liberal commissions will be made. Single copies sent by mail, postage paid, on receipt of retail price.

Address, REV F. L. REID, Leasburg, N. C.
or JAS. W. REID, Westworth N. C.

G. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH-EAST CORNER MARKET SQUARE, Raleigh N C

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card and returning the ks to the readers of the ADVOCATE for their very liberal patronage during the past few years, and offer them the largest and best bought stock of groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we have succeeded in bringing other goods equally low and in closing out our friends all the advantages gained thereby to counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We wish to invite especial attention to our select stock of staple Shoes and Boots bought direct from the Factories and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have now in store

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A Sugar,
10 Bbls. A C Sugar,
10 Bbls. B F Yellow Sugar,
25 Bbls Demarara,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
60 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
Lot Bbls. G. D and Sole Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Oysters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
6,000 lbs. Ties,
150 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Assorted Shot,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Forrester's Crackers,
9 " Soda Crackers,
60 Boxes Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W. P. and B. D. Gun Caps,
1 Kegs Burdon Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
25 Dozen Best Axes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
150 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We offer especial inducements to country and nearby merchants, and invite an examination of our stock and correspondence.

Oct 7 12-m LEACH BROS

THE JAS. LEFFEL Double Turbine Water Wheel,

Manufactured by

POOLE & HUNT,

Baltimore, Md.

7,000 NOW IN USE!

Simple, Strong, Durable, always reliable and satisfactory.

Manufacturers also of Portable & Stationary Engines, Steam Boilers, Saw & Grist Mills, Mining Machin

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Bobbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.—No. 37. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, September 22, 1875. | Whole No. 1,075.

Selected Poetry.

When we Grow Old.

[illegible] time when we grow old.
[illegible] sunset down the sea,
[illegible] and the night wind cold,
[illegible] ring, sad and chilling;
[illegible] locks are gray
[illegible] we're fast fading,
[illegible] best time behold
[illegible] weary drift away,
[illegible] coral say,
[illegible] time when we grow old.

[illegible] time when joyous hearts,
[illegible] has leaped the laughing

[illegible] save memory,
[illegible] his dungeon chain.
[illegible] dawn of day
[illegible] passed away.
[illegible] into darkness rolled;
[illegible] embers warm and gray,
[illegible] in whisper say,
[illegible] when we grow old.

[illegible] manhood's prime [illegible] the mist of years,
[illegible] like a dream,
[illegible] away in silent tears;
[illegible] is dark;
[illegible] the Spark
[illegible] to lines of gold,
[illegible] clear and steady ray,
[illegible] lingering, say,
[illegible] when we grow old.

[illegible] when laughing spring
[illegible] cease to be,
[illegible] autumn robe,
[illegible] destroy;
[illegible] the slope,
[illegible] Hope,
[illegible] be beheld—
[illegible] with fairer light,
[illegible] whisper through the

[illegible] time when we grow old.
—Selected.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

SOME METHODISTS.

[illegible] S. C. District Conference for 1875.

[illegible] conference convened in Flor[illegible] last month (August) and [illegible] me to the same place [illegible] time. I attended several of [illegible]—having which it struck [illegible] perhaps there were persons in [illegible] who would feel even [illegible] being there than [illegible] independent; not in the pro[illegible] so much as in the personnel [illegible] the proceedings were [illegible] the usual routine way as [illegible] in the Discipline, and in [illegible] did not differ much from [illegible] the District Conferences in [illegible] Carolina. In glancing at a [illegible] assemblage your eye naturally [illegible] on the presiding officer.—[illegible] Elder of the Marion [illegible] South Carolina Conference, [illegible] Church South, is Rev. W. C. [illegible] Marion. Bro. Power we [illegible] to be about 44 years old, [illegible] medium height, straight [illegible] not any extra flesh. He wears [illegible] buttoned frock coat which [illegible] up to the throat, his hair is [illegible] long, and is fine as silk, [illegible] color;—we were not [illegible] to see the color of his [illegible] as they are dark grey, his [illegible] well developed and time [illegible] spared of some of the extra [illegible] on the head. We noticed that [illegible] suspended from a silk guard [illegible] a pair of gold spectacles [illegible] occasionally used in refer[illegible] to the papers on the table [illegible] Bro. Power's voice was clear and his [illegible] was very fine. In conducting [illegible] business his eye was quick and he [illegible] to give it great dispatch with [illegible] himself and without embarr[illegible] to others. He is said to be [illegible] of preaching many, long and [illegible] sermons, seldom getting to[illegible] over the occasion, and car[illegible] the interest of his hearers to [illegible] point. So much for the pre[illegible] officer. The Secretary was [illegible] A. J. Stokes, with W. A. Brun[illegible] Assistant. The proceedings [illegible] written up as the work pro[illegible] and we have rarely seen secreta[illegible] who were so efficient. In look[illegible] around the Conference for notable [illegible] our eyes fell on the following: [illegible] Hattie McLenahan, formerly a [illegible] of the South Carolina Con[illegible], but now retired from his ac[illegible] in the field and passing a [illegible] age while waiting for the [illegible] to come. I did not hear [illegible] speak, but his watchful eye took [illegible] business as it passed along, [illegible] was evidently watching the [illegible] of his beloved church with [illegible] interest. Occasionally his snow [illegible] head would bow as if in re[illegible] or to breathe a silent prayer [illegible] blessings on his brethren. Twice [illegible] presiding officer called the Con[illegible] to prayer, as some special in[illegible] of the church made it appear [illegible] that special prayer should [illegible], and the responses of Bro. [illegible] were deep and fervent. [illegible] the opposite side of the church [illegible] a tall, spare, grey headed man, [illegible] bushy eye brows, sharp face, [illegible] eyes, rather long nose and dress[illegible] with the utmost neatness; straight, [illegible] and wiry, might be written of [illegible] appearance. He must be over 70 [illegible], but he is reading without [illegible] spectacles and speaks oc[illegible], in a voice weak and very [illegible] to be gaining, but increasing in [illegible] and power as he warms up with his subject. This is another old veteran of the cross and former itinerant in the Conference, Rev. Allen Hanby of Florence, a model of determined energy in the service of his Master. He preaches whenever the opportunity offers and he is physically able, and cannot keep away from revivals if he hears of one within any reasonable distance of his home. For forty-nine years he has declared the gospel of salvation to dying men, and is still declaring it with all the powers of a wide awake soul. Not far from him is Rev. W. W. Jones of Mullins, S. C., a long time a member of the Conference. Bro. Jones is solidly set up in a good square, well wearing body, with plenty of room for his lungs and brain to act, the aforesaid brain being thatched with a head of thick curling hair. His forte as a preacher is said to be in his ability to control the feelings of his audience at all times, making them laugh, cry or shout almost at pleasure. His mouth is wide and filled with strong teeth, his jaw square and the whole impress of the man is that he has a stern, determined character, and an inflexible will. The face is bronzed with constant exposure to Southern suns of summer and colds of winter, for he is an itinerant of the most itinerating kind, constantly at work and looking as if his frame of bronze would never wear out. Moreover he is said to be a rigid disciplinarian. The following anecdote floated to my ears in words about like these. Last summer Bro. Jones had occasion to bring to trial a certain member of the church, and he was found guilty and expelled. He walked out into the yard in front of the church raving mad, and raising his voice said, "I have got 12 bales of cotton at home and I would give 8 of them for a chance to whip old Jones." Bro. Jones was busy in the church and did not hear the remark but during the week following it was brought to his ears by one of those well meaning persons who always like to tell pleasant things. About two weeks afterward in a narrow road in quite a retired place, the young man met "old Jones" quietly plodding along to an appointment. "Stop a moment," said Bro. Jones, "I understand that you said on the day of the trial that you had twelve bales of cotton at home and you would give eight of them for a chance to whip old Jones; now young man get down from your horse and you can have the chance for two BALES." The young man tried to equivocate, to deny and so forth, and finally pushed his horse by Bro. Jones and was soon out of sight, saving his cotton, his credit and perhaps his skin and bones. "Old Jones," as the people call him when they use pet names, is said to be one of the most holy and prayerful of men and perhaps in this case took the most effectual plan for meeting a hard case. We do not quote this to show that he is a "striker," quite the contrary, he is said to be long suffering and merciful.

I am exceeding the ordinary limits of a letter and must close, without even referring to the body of young ministers and noble laymen who composed this Conference. As visitors, were Dr. J. H. Carlisle, Pres. of Wofford College; Dr. S. B. Jones, Pres. of Columbia Female College; Dr. H. A. C. Walker, Agent of Wofford College; all of whom I heard speak. As I met them again the next week at the Sumter District Conference I will try to describe them when I write of that.—Who was it wanted your correspondents to sign their real names? To oblige him I sign mine.

Yours lovingly,
WM. SEWALL.

Growing Old

It is the solemn thought connected with middle life, that life's last business is begun in earnest; and it is then, midway between the cradle and the grave, that a man begins to marvel that he let the days of youth go by so half-enjoyed. It is the pensive autumn feeling; it is the sensation of half sadness that we experience when the longest day of the year is past, and every day that follows is shorter, and the light fainter, and the feebler shadows tell that nature is hastening with gigantic footsteps to her winter grave. So does man look back upon his youth. When the first gray hairs become visible, when the unwelcome truth fastens itself upon the mind, that a man is no longer going up hill, but down, and that the sun is always westering, he looks back on things behind. When we were children, we thought as children. But now there lies before us manhood, with its earnest work, and then old age, and then the grave, and then home. There is a second youth for man, better and holier than the first, if he will look on, and not look back.—F. W. Robertson.

If every time conscience was wronged it sighed, and every time reason was perverted it uttered complaints, no one could live for the moaning which would fill his own soul.

For the Advocate.

The Anxious Seat.

The idea of christian obligation and duty conveys to our mind that of desire and of anxiety. The mind of men, alienated and bewildered by sin, needs instruction in its progress from darkness to soul—sustaining and purifying light. Hence the Apostle says in reference to the author of light and love, "Whom we preach, warning every man, and teaching every man in all wisdom." And I have been surprised to hear men professing to be ministers of the gospel, who were brought to reflection under the preached word, and professed conversion in the midst of rejoicing brethren in the house of God, speaking against the "anxious seat." If they felt convicting and convincing influences in God's house, and felt the joy of pardoned sins while bowing in humble submission at the "anxious seat," why disclaim against it as a place unsuitable to a penitent, inquiring soul?

I was at a protracted meeting on one occasion, and there sat an aged preacher looking on as if he had nothing to do in the enlightenment of distressed, inquiring penitents on the front seats. He didn't like the "anxious seat!" He was a man of decided ability, urged sinners to renounce their sins and fly to the outstretched arms of Mercy. If a spirit of inquiry was awakened by his preaching he did not believe in the propriety of manifesting penitential sorrow at the "anxious seat." If he thought it wrong for returning sinners to occupy the front seats of churches while seeking to know the will of God concerning them, why didn't he as a teacher inform those to whom he preached on which seat or corner of the house God was most likely to meet with them? Why didn't he tell those to whom he preached on which seat of the church, the front, middle, or back one, the light and consolation they sought could most easily be found? If neither seat in the church was the right place, and the prayers and instructions of pious ones around them was a draw-back to their progress toward light and love, why didn't he so teach? If it was not essential to a bewildered mind in its search for renovating light to receive instruction from those competent to impart it, why didn't he urge the importance of penitents, as soon as convinced of sin, of leaving the house of God for the shade of an apple tree in a corner of a fence; or for an old log away down in some dismal woo's, where the christian advice and guidance of pious brethren could not annoy them? What would anti-anxious seat preachers have done had they been at Philippi when the foundations of the prison were shaken, and the doors flew open as Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises to God, at midnight?

Would they have told that convinced and anxious soul that inquired "what must I do to be saved?" "Sir, we dont approve of so much manifested concern, nor do we think it right in you to occupy such an humble, anxious position as you do? Or would they, like God's inspired teachers did do, have given him the needed information?

OXONIAN.

Give Him his Hire.

We commend the following, from the pen of the Rev. J. G. Holland, D. D., to all our readers:

If a man is fit to preach, he is worth wages: If he is worth wages, they should be paid with all the business regularity that is demanded and enforced in business life. There is no man in the community who works harder for the money he receives than the faithful minister. There is no man—in whose work the community is interested—to whom regular wages, that shall not cost him a thought, are so important. Of what possible use in a pulpit can any man be whose weeks are frittered away in mean cares and dirty economies? Every month, or every quarter-day, every pastor should be sure that there will be placed in his hands, as his just wages, money enough to pay all his expenses. Then, without a sense of special obligation to anybody, he can preach the truth with freedom, and prepare for his public ministrations without distraction. Nothing more cruel to a pastor, or more disastrous to his work, can be done to force upon him a feeling of dependence upon the charities of his flock. The office of such a man does not rise in dignity above that of a court-fool. He is the creature of the popular whim, and a preacher without influence, to those who do not respect him or his office sufficiently to pay him the wages due to a man who devotes his life to them. Manliness cannot live in such a man, except it be in torture—a torture endured simply because there are others who depend upon the charities doled out to him.

Use Made of a Pack of Cards.

The Rev. Dr. S. J. Wilson writes from Chester, Eng., to the Presbyterian Banner:

"Concerning a house in Bridge Street, Chresty, in his history of Chester, tells the following: 'In the year 1558, Dr. Cole, Dean of St. Paul's, came to Chester on his way to Ireland, entrusted with a commission from Queen Mary for prosecuting the Protestants in that part of the kingdom. The commissioner stopped one night in this house on his way, then a noted inn, called the Blue Posts, and kept by a Mrs. Mottershed, where he was visited by the mayor, to whom, in the course of conversation, he communicated his errand, taking out a leather box from his cloak bag, and saying in a tone of exultation, "Here is what will lash the heretics of Ireland." This announcement was overheard by the landlady, who had a brother in Dublin, and whilst the commissioner was complimenting his worship down stairs, the good woman opened the box and taking out the commission placed in its stead a pack of cards, with the knave of clubs uppermost. The unsuspecting doctor packed up the box again, and with its far different contents proceeded on his journey. On his arrival at the Castle of Dublin, the precious box was presented to the Lord Depnty and the privy Council, who, on opening it found, in place of the commission, the pack of cards, prefaced with the significant knave of clubs. The surprise of the assembly was of course great, and the doctor's, perhaps, the greatest of all. He was not slack in his protestations that this was not the commission he had received, and was entirely ignorant how it had disappeared "Let us have another commission," said the Deputy, and forthwith the amazed and chagrined commissioner returned to court for the purpose, but before he could return to Ireland, Queen Mary (Bloody Mary) died, and Elizabeth, her successor, rewarded Mrs. Mottershed with a pension of forty pounds sterling a year during her life.' This is the only instance I have ever heard of in which Providence had used a pack of cards for good. My observation of cards on shipboard and elsewhere would lead me to suppose that the knave of clubs is uppermost in every pack."

The end of the Day.

COME, for thy day, thy vested day, is closing,
With all its joy and sun;
Bright, loving hours have pass'd thee by, unheeded;
Thy work on earth undone—
And all thy race unrun.

Folly and pleasure hast thou still been chasing
With the world's giddy throng,
Beauty and love have been, thy golden idols;
And thou hast rush'd along,
Still list'ning to their song!

Sorrow and weeping thou hast cast behind thee—
For what were tears to thee?
Life was not life without the smile and sunshine;
Only in revelry
Did wisdom seem to be.

Unclasp, O man, the syren hand of pleasure;
Let the gay folly go!
A few quick years will bring the unwelcome ending!
Then whither dost thou go—
To endless joy, or woe?

Clasp a far truer hand a kinder, stronger,
Of Him, the crucified;
Let in a deeper love into thy spirit,
The love of Him who died,
And now is glorified!

Social Birds.

It is wonderful how the birds love thh companionship of men. Even the Indian recognizes this liking, and puts up his gourd shell for the purple martin; the colored man of the South in like manner sets up a calabash, while in our villages are seen martin houses, often evincing taste in their construction. But the American swallows formerly kept aloof from men, and in the far west the martin still, as of old, builds in hollow trees. Some of our migratory birds are seen with us in the winter. This is explained, I think, by the agricultural habits of men.—Wherever agriculture flonrishes, so will insects, and the fields of the husbandman are thus attractive to the birds who come thither with their sweet voices and good deeds. Now this fact does, I think, in time greatly modify the migration impulse. The blue-bird is a frequent visitor of our gardens in winter, though not in large numbers. He now finds his food in the larvæ of those insects which are the pests of the farm; and it is pleasant to watch him peeping aronnd palings and under ledges and rails for this food.—Selected.

Sparks that will Kindle.

ALL is hollow where the heart bears not a part, and all is peril where principle is not a guide.

ADVICE which, like the snow, softly falls, dwells the longer upon, and sinks the deeper into the mind.

IF you would pass innocent through a difficult world, keep within rules.—Let your life be open, your eye single, your walk in the broad light of day.

THE whole external life of a people is their language. However profoundly their habits of thought may be modified, their language is at once sensibly affected by them.

North and South—A Prophetic View.

BY THE LATE BISHOP CAPERS.

ANDERSON, S. C. Feb. 25, 1854.

C. B. DU PRE, Esq.—My Dear Brother:—Upon my return home yesterday from an extended tour of official duty, I find your letter of January 9th, which is now open before me. You now understand why you have not been answered sooner.

The subject matter of your letter requires careful consideration, and no mere ad captandum response. Were the subject just opened to my mind, I would not attempt to give you a reply without careful deliebration. You are right in supposing that these matters have been resting heavily upon my mind and heart for the past twenty years. God alone knows how anxiously I have revolved them, and the real suffering I have endured in consequence of evil forebodings which in spite of my resolution take possession of my spirit.

In order that I may properly answer you, let me see if the following questions will not embrace the subject matter of your letter—at any rate, the gist of it:

First—You ask, Do I consider the existence of the institution of slavery as the one great impediment in the way of a cordial union of the two branches of the Methodist Church in the United States?

Second.—Do I consider the institution of slavery so well established and so necessary a feature of the economy of the Southern States as to warrant the conclusion that it is, and will remain, a permanent feature of our civilization?

These are indeed grave subjects for reflection, and call for the exercise of a degree of philosophic penetration which I fear is not sufficiently mine to convince one, even if I had the leisure and you the patience to follow me in an extended argument. This cannot be for many reasons, but for none more appreciable just now than the fact that I am just home after an absence of many weeks, and your letter, my dear friend, is only one of the several which claim my consideration. My answers to the questions above must, therefore, be as devoid of argument as possible.

To the first I answer that I do consider the institution of slavery as recognized in the M. E. Church, South, as the chief, the great central difficulty in the way of a cordial fraternal relation between the two great branches of Methodism in the United States. There may be other obstacles in the way, but I regard them as mere collateral issues, springing altogether from the want of agreement upon some compromise of this slavery question such as some of us, North and South, endeavored to make in the General Conference of 1844.

Slavery out of the way, there would remain no real, sensible cause of separation between the two churches as organizations, but they would in time come together by a law of moral affiinity and unite hands and hearts in the great work which God in his providence designed the Methodist Church to accomplish in America. I can understand and do fully appreciate, as you evidently do not, the conscientious scruples of our Northern brethren upon this slavery question. I knew before the division of the Church, and yet am honored with the friendship of, as good and as pure Christian ministers among them as are to be found in any church organization—men who are actuated by the clearest convictions of their consciences in regarding the institutions of slavery as a grievous sin.

My dear Charles, when we desire to discover the real truth of any matter, especially of such as we are directly interested in, we must first place our minds in a negative state. This will require a long time with some temperaments. We must not look at a subject we are disposed to prejudge through a contracted pupil. We must discern, it we do, that there is a defect in our vision or in the position we occupy which is likely to make an object appear white when in reality it is black.

I would to God this divison wall between the Church North and South was broken down, and we could be united as formerly in the glorious work of our Master, for which our church economy is so well adapted in meeting the tastes and genius of the mass of our American citizens. You may rest assured of one thing: if the Master sees that his work is hindered by this estrangement of this laborers, he will remove the cause in his own good way and time.

I am not of those boasting spirits who are ready to condemn all others, and yet can see no fault in themselves; hence, I do not regard the stuff you hear of from so called theorists, who declare that there is an irreconcilable hostility between the Puritan and the descendants of the English gentry and the French Huguenots. All this, to one who has travelled, as often as I have, from local prejudices is the veriest nonsense. Yea, and wicked vanity. Bring the Puritan, the English gentry, and the Huguenot under the influence of the grace of God, and the devil whispers no more of such folly.

I pass to your second question. I do not consider the institution of slavery, or any other institution of mere human origin, so necessary a feature of social life as to challenge the providences of God. But suppose I take a more worldly view of your inquiry.

I am, and have been for some time, assured in my mind that the mission of African slavery has been accomplished in America, and that the institution in the United States will soon cease to exist. I form my conclusion from the progress of events in the civilized world, and the wonderful developments of Christianity within this century. The politico-economic view of this question has been well taken by Mr. Fox in the exhaustive debate upon the question of emancipation before the British Parliament. No unprejudiced mind can follow that debate and fail to recognize the finger of God indicating to man his duty, and urging him to act in direct opposition to his personal interests. An institution so long grafted upon the body politic of a nation, such as Great Britain, could have been overthrown in no other way than by the mysterious workings of Providence.

It is simply ridiculous to charge the New England Abolitionists with having originated the idea of Negro slavery, and with having inaugurated the agitation of emancipation. Certainly, no educated person would so charge, unless he was appealing to human passion upon the hustings. African slavery originated in man's natural cupidity, and was an institution of Great Britain's before there was a New England known in America. Emancipation came first to be discussed in England as an advanced idea of Christian civilization, and can be distinctly traced to the most evangelical of the Christian Church in England. Such, at any rate, is my view of this whole matter, in this, my sixty fourth year, after having examined the question in every way it presented itself to my mind. So far, then, from regarding the institution as permanent, I do not recognize the first feature of genuine vitality in it. How it is to transpire, whether by a gradual system of emancipation, fixed in our organic law by amendments, or whether in the storm of revolution, I know not; but as sure as I am now writing to you, my dear brother, the institution of slavery in these United States is doomed. I do not think that any candid student of history, or any unbiased observer of events as they are now transpiring, can resist this conclusion.

Why, man alive, there is now abroad in our land the very spirit which, if encouraged, will lead to overthrow of the institution in the wreck and the awful ruin of revolution. My opportunity for observation in the South and West for the past ten years assures me that unless our madcap politicians adopt some more conciliatory positon and compromise their extreme partizan views, the two great parties of principles, fixed in State economy, will be lost in sectional bitterness, and an early Presidential election secure the triumph of the Abolition party. This will bring about secession on the part of those States who are unwilling to compromise the pride of abstract rights, and then—I shudder at the thought—a bloody revolution, accompanied by the material ruin of the South. Slavery, if this comes to pass, will be abolished by the decree of a military tribunal, and the pride of my people fearfully humbled before God.

This is an awful picture for me even to suggest, but, as I contemplate it, my soul sickens within me. Repel it as I may; banish it from my mind as a mere fancy; yet it grows upon me as a hideous reality, which may a merciful God spare me the pain of realizing!

Since the death of Mr. Calhoun there seems not to be a statesman left in the South of sufficient power to control the storm, which his State's Right theory has provoked. The public men seem to me to be either the satellites of opinions, or mere local luminaries, reflecting the wild and weird light of passion. No one seems disposed to compromise any opinion, prejudice or fancy, because all are wild with doctrine of rights. Well, an individual may exercise the right of self-destruction, unless his friends or the magistrates question this right, and assure him that there are no absolute and unqualified rights which can be unselfishly exercised.

I am much pleased with the course of the Hon. Wm W. Boyce, the member in Congress from your district. There is a calmness and philosophic cast about his speeches, which is indeed refreshing. God of mercy grant us more of such men. But why, pray, be troubled? There is one "more glorious and excellent than the mountains of prey," the Lord, our God, whose mercy endureth for ever. What ever may come to pass let us consider it as the Lord's providence; recognize it as such, and praise His holy name, whether we abide in afflictions or are blessed with prosperity.

And, now, my dear Charles, I must ask your indulgence for a letter not more extended. I write to you in the candor of one who is your friend, as he was your father's, and my opinions, let them be what they may, are given you in the sincerity with which I would advise my own son. You are about embarking in public life, and I consider it a good sign to find you so candid in seeking the advice of those who are more experienced in life. Oh! how I long to see our young men discharging the duties of citizenship to the whole country, in the spirit of broad and liberal patriotism, remote from the mere influence of partizan prejudice or personal gain.

May God bless you and prosper you; commit your ways fully to him, and he will direct your judgment.

Remember me affectionately to all the family. Very truly yours,

[Signed] W. CAPERS.

The above very remarkable letter appears in the New York Methodist of last week, and we transfer it heartily to our columns. It was furnished to the editor of that journal by the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Deems, pastor of the Church of the Strangers, in New York city. To authenticate this wonderful document, the editor adds the following letter of C. B. Du Pre, Esq.:

CLINTON, S. C, Aug. 16, 1875.

REV. C. F. DEEMS—Dear Sir.—In 1854 the writer, then comparatively a young man about entering life, wrote, at the suggestion of his friends, to the lamented Bishop Capers, asking his advice and opinion as to matters of a public character which at that time were occupying the minds of our leading public men. His answer, I frankly confess to you, was so much in conflict with the pervading spirit of the populace that I could not fully appreciate it, and laid it away among my papers as a one-sided view of Church and State affairs. Recently, in overlooking my papers, I came across the letter, which I now regard, in the light of experiences sad and bitter, as one of the most remarkable papers I have ever read. It is needless for me to say to you that I prize it above all other communications in my possession, and intend it as a legacy to my son.

Thinking that the deep spirit of true Christian piety which pervades this letter, and the utterances of one who was so much beloved by those who knew him, may be of service in these days, I send you herewith a copy of the letter, asking that it be published in the New York Methodist or other Church paper. It seems now to me that the great and good Bishop must have been more than humanly inspired to have taken so clear and prophetic a view of the then future.

C. B. DU PRE.

Christian Courtesy.

A correspondent of the Christian at Work gives the following: "While riding in the cars one day with one hitherto chiefly known to me by his reputation as a benevolent Christian gentleman, and of whom I had been conversing with a friend an hour before concerning his unselfish nature and quiet watchful care for others' comfort, I was not surprised, though forcibly impressed, with what seemed to me a very beautiful exhibition of one of these very characteristics.

"Near him he observed a man sitting apparently in a very heavy sleep. In the band of his hat was a railroad ticket marked Smithtown, a station a few miles beyond his own destination. On rising to leave the train, he tapped a man on the shoulder who sat near his sleeping fellow, and asked him if he was going as far as Smithtown. He replied that he was. 'Then,' said he, 'will you wake this man when you get there? He seems to be in a very sound sleep, and is likely to be carried by his station.' 'All right,' was the response, and the good man passed out, unconscious perhaps how beautifully he had illustrated the spirit of true benevolence, as well as leaving behind him the sweet smelling fragrance of a kind act which cannot soon be forgotten by his fellowtraveller, though all unknown to the sleeping recipient.

"All honor to the man who gives gifts of money and influence; he has his reward. But a thousandfold more to the man who, neglecting not these, despises not small things; verily, he shall have his reward. In many a character there are records of noble deeds begotten of generous impulses, but such frequently lack the fine touches which are to it as light and shade are to a picture, harmonizers and beautifiers of the whole."

The city fathers of Greensboro' are hard on loafers, and have determined to put a stop to idleness, &c. Recent ordinances declare

1st. That all persons lounging around the market house and streets, having no ostensible business, are declared a nuisance, and shall be brought before the Mayor and punished at his discretion.

2nd. That playing of marbles upon the streets, public squares, or sidewalks, is declared a nuisance, and all offenders shall be brought before the Mayor and punished at his discretion.

Scientific.

THE CRUSTACEANS OF THE CAVES OF KENTUCKY AND INDIANA.—Mr. S. I. Smith has made a short report on the crustacean life of these caves. He finds that there is a remarkable similarity between the blind species of the caves and those living in adjacent waters or even as far north as Lake Superior, and thinks it most probable that the cave species have been derived from these recent forms. They have been changed only so far as is necessary to adapt them to their surroundings.

VELOCITY OF STORMS.—The United States weather maps, for 1875, show that the greatest progress of a storm-centre in one day occurred on the 22d of February, being 1,280 miles, or over 53 miles per hour; and the least velocity occurred on the 21st of August, being 228 miles, 9½ miles per hour. During every month of the year the velocity was greater between 4:35 P. M and 11 P. M. than during any other hours in the 24. The reasons for this have not been very satisfactorily made ont; but, as the maximum velocity is near 7 P. M., when the temperatnre of the day is declining most rapidly, this change of temperature may be the inducing cause.

CAVE DWELLINGS IN KENTUCKY.—Prof. F. W. Putnam, who succeeds the lamented Wyman as Curator of the Peabody Museum, of Harvard, has been making some very interesting discoveries in the cave of Kentucky. He finds that these caves were used as places of at least temporary residence. Throughont one of the principal avenues of Salt Cave, for several miles, were traced the ancient fire-places, both for hearths and lights. For the latter purpose small piles of stones were made, with a hole in the centre of the pile to receive the bundle of dried fagots. Bundles of these fagots, tied up with twisted bark, were found in several places. On the dry soil of the floor, some three miles from the entrance, were found the imprints of sandled feet, and a large number of cast-off sandles were found, neatly made of finely braided and twisted leaves and rushes.

RATE OF GROWTH OF CORALS.—Prof. Joseph LeConte has published the results of some observations on the rate of growth of certain corals in the Gulf of Mexico. On a small reef, a few miles from Fort Jefferson, Tortugas, the coral prongs were very near the surface, and for a distance of from one to three inches the tips were dead. The lower limit of death was a perfectly horizontal plane. The mean level of the ocean varies at Key West during different portions of the year. During high water the living parts of the coral grow upward; when the water falls the tips are exposed and killed. Starting with January, at the lowest mean level, there is a constant increase in level until the month of September, the difference being eighty-three hundredths feet or about ten inches. The dead tips thus measure the growth of coral during the period of high water, or for ten and a half months. The annual growth is not far from three and a half inches.

Grass Planted by Grasshoppers.

A curious fact connected with the grasshopper raid in Western Missouri is, that wherever pastures have been destroyed by the insects, new varieties of grass, which never before have been seen in the localities, have sprung up. The principal species is a green bunch-grass of luxuriant growth, covering ground formerly yielding nothing but blue grass. Cattle eat the new species with avidity. It is conjectured that the seed was brought to the region and deposited by the grasshopper swarm which laid their eggs there last fall. Some definite explanation of the phenomenon would be very interesting since it is not known where the grass originally grew or what may be expected of it, if its growth continues, in the future. The grasshoppers may prove a blessing yet.—Selected.

BEST FORM FOR FRUIT-TREES.—The majority of a convention of German promologists expressed a decided preference for the pyramidal form for fruit trees. The advantages claimed for it are the minimum of shade, greater strength, avoidance of severe wounding of the tree, production of better fruit, and at the same time fewer disadvantages from storms, weight of snow, excess of fruit, theft, etc.

STEWED ONIONS.—Boil two or three large Spanish onions till very soft; then put them in the oven in a dish with a little butter; bake till brown; baste and turn, and then put them in your dish; dredge flour over the butter left in the dish; add some hot milk.—Stir well. Boil it up with a little catchup and seasoning, and then pour it over the onions.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE—Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Hobbitt, } Editors.
R. T. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE, POSTAGE PAID, $2.20
SIX MONTHS, " " 1.35
If not paid for in advance at the expiration of six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 22, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

The revival fire is burning brightly in many of our charges. The Church is being greatly blessed and scores of souls are being converted to God.

All our fall session of our schools have opened well—and students continue to arrive. The educational interests of our Conference were never more encouraging than at present.

Rev. Dr. Hicks, of the Florida Conference, against whom grave charges were recently brought, has been tried according to the law of the church, resulting in the complete vindication of the accused.

Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, the faithful and successful agent of Trinity College, passed through Raleigh last week en route for Chapel Hill. He is succeeding admirably with the plan heretofore announced. He has promised some account of his labors for publication in the ADVOCATE

We regret to learn that Dr. Haygood has resigned his position of Sunday school Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The cause of his resignation will appear in our next. Dr. Haygood has done his work well, and the whole church will regret his resignation Rev. W. G. E. Cunninggin, D. D., of the Holston Conference, has been elected to fill the vacancy.

We are gratified to learn that the Fall session of Trinity College has opened with a larger number of students than any previous session since the war.

Decision of the Courts.

Any person who takes a paper regularly from the Post Office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. If a person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether it is taken from the office or not. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the Post Office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The State Fair.

The approaching State Fair promises to be one of unusual interest.—One very objectionable feature, especially to all lovers of good morals, has been dispensed with. We are informed by Maj. Winder, the very efficient Secretary, that no gambling of any kind will be allowed on the grounds. This will certainly be gratifying intelligence to many of our readers. A large number of our best citizens have been deterred from attending the Fair for the past few years because they could not endorse the spirit of gambling, or encourage immorality and vice so extensively practiced by persons from all sections of the country. This year the great Agricultural Fair of the Old North State will get rid of the odium heretofore attached to it, by refusing any licensed gambling saloons within the enclosure of the grounds.

We call upon the farmers and mechanics of the State to lay aside all prejudice growing out of former impressions that the main purpose of the Fair has been diverted to other uses. You owe it to yourselves and to your children to do what you can to advance the agricultural and mechanical interests of your own native State.—Send in your stock and articles of produce for exhibition. Let the many new and useful inventions of North Carolina be represented at her Annual Fair.

The ladies too have much to do in making the Fair a success. Let them from all parts of the State be represented in person or by something on exhibition in Floral Hall. Let it be decorated and beautified as on no former occasion.

A CERTAIN brother here in Virginia, of sly humor, has been hoaxing Dr. Poisal. The Episcopal Methodist says:

"Within the last ten days a prominent member of the Virginia Conference stated that four-fifths of that Conference were decidedly with the friends of Fraternity."

That "prominent member" squeezed his eyes into a merry twinkle yesterday when telling his joke on the fraternal Doctor, adding. "Certainly, we are for fraternity, if they will take their cattle out of our clover, first."

Let's put up the gaps and then be neighborly.—Richmond Advocate.

Friendship--Grumblers

It is not always the case that the conduct of mankind is marked with true friendship towards those whom they esteem most highly. Many a time they discover defects of the most glaring character in their most intimate friends, and for fear of wounding their feelings, or of giving offence, they do not tell them of their faults. One of the most beautiful exhibitions of true friendship is faithfulness—No one can be true to his friend who does not tell him frankly, and in kindness, of what he conceives to be wrong in him, either as regards his private or public character. "If a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual restore such a one in the spirit of meekness." Not only is this scriptural test applied to those who are socially upon the most intimate terms, but it is far reaching into society. Man is a social being—he was formed for society. Society involves the fact of reciprocal influence, and whatever is important to any one member of the society must and should affect more or less interest in such society. Hence with anxious and profound interest should we regard the present happiness and future destiny of those with whom we mingle. In an important sense we are our "brother's keeper."

No one who is seeking light will cherish bad feelings for his friend who will have the manliness and courage to remind him of his foibles and short comings. All have them in a greater or less degree. Many of the truest and best of earth owe much of their success in life to the guardianship of faithful friends. On the other hand, many, who possess elements of success and true greatness, have attained no distinction in the peculiar sphere for which nature has endowed them, because the defects and weak points in their characters have not been pointed out to them.

We are painfully aware of the fact however, that there are persons to be found in all the departments of life who are so self-opinionated that they cannot be made to see any error in all their acts. The most delicate allusion to any unfortunate habit, faulty pronunciation, bad logic, or rhetoric, or what is worse still, bad theology, gives mortal offence. But this class is the exception to the general rule, and few are willing to admit that they belong to it. They are useless in society, and in the church they clog the wheels of her prosperity, in so far as their influence extends.

But there is another class of persons, more numerous, and far more detrimental to the best interest of society than we are accustomed to think. We refer to that class of people who are always finding fault with others. They are restless, sour, bitter, and in some instances vindictive. There is a natural impulse in every good person to shun them. They never speak a pleasant word nor perform a good deed—and if a smile should once in a great while venture to light up the countenance, it becomes disgusted with its own effort and retires in shame. Some of this class, by some means, find their way into the Church. As in everything else they find nothing in the Church to please them.—The prayer meetings are too long or too short. The preacher is too fashionable in his dress, or he is too careless. His sermons are too dry and argumentative, or they are too nice and rhetorical. He receives too much pay, or he talks too much about money. In short, they are chronic grumblers on all occasions and on all subjects.—They are to be pitied, perhaps more than to be blamed. It may, after all, be a constitutional weakness with them. About all we can do is to bear with them and pray that the number may not be increased. Never make for yourselves the character of a grumbler, but remember that the highest type of friendship is to point out the defects as well as the good qualities in those we esteem and love.

A Good Offer.

We propose to send the Advocate to new subscribers from this issue, for the period of four months, for 60 cents, postage paid.

Clubs of 10 subscribers will receive the Advocate for the same period, postage paid, at 50 cents for each subscriber. We want a reliable person in every community to act as agent. Will our preachers, itinerant and local, call attention to this announcement and urge upon the people to avail themselves of this excellent offer?

We make this proposition for the purpose of putting the Advocate into the hands of persons who have heretofore not taken it, feeling assured that when once they become acquainted with it, they will not deny themselves the pleasure and benefit of its continued visits. A thousand new subscribers ought to be obtained at these rates. We await responses to our offer.

In addition to those named last week, Miss Mollie Puett, Rev. J. J Renn, and Rev. J. P. Minish have sent us clubs of subscribers, under our recent proposition, while many have subscribed singly. We are greatly encouraged at the result of our appeal. "Let the ball roll on."

By reason of the large increase in our list of subscribers, we have been unable to furnish some of them with "back numbers" from the 1st of September, but this omission will be compensated for at the end of the term.

Editorial Itemizing.

Rev. Dr. Deems, of the Church of the Strangers, N. Y., will deliver the address at the opening of Vanderbilt University, Nashville. We trust the Institution may be as successful in every respect as we are sure the inaugural address will be.

The revival spirit is breathing upon the Church in all directions. We notice that the Richmond Advocate has reports, from many charges, of protracted meetings, revivals, conversions and accessions to the Church.

Rev. Dr. Rosser, the "old man eloquent," listened to the whisperings of his "revival angel" and is engaged in a meeting at Alexandria, Va. It would be an unusual thing if a revival did not follow his preaching He and his "angel" seldom part company.

Rev Dr. Granbarry preached his farewell sermon at Broad Street Church, Richmond to a large congregation on Sunday the 12th inst. Appropriate remarks were made by Bishop Doggett, and Dr. Hoge, of the Presbyterian Church. The preachers on the Richmond District presented him with a handsome Bible.

Mrs. Lambuth, wife of Rev. J W Lambuth, one of our missionaries in China, has been spending a few days in Richmond, says the Advocate. On Sunday she addressed the Centenary Sunday School, and spoke at the Monthly Sunday-school meeting in the afternoon. At night she addressed a very large congregation at Trinity Church.

Mr Beecher has been spending the summer at the Twin Mountain House, a noted resort up in the North. He preached every Sunday, and immense crowds attended from different points to hear and see the man who is of all men in the world the most notorious at present. The proprietors of the Hotel have found it a great "wind fall" to them in the way of money-making. It was reported that they paid Mr. B. $50 for every Sunday's service, and that he, seeing that they were realizing so much from the large number of visitors every Sunday, demanded $200 a day. They refused to pay: Beecher said he would leave the place. They retorted by saying that they would sue him for a breach of contract and he replied that they ought to know that a man who had had such successful experience in law suits as he had, would not fear the suit which they threatened. The proprietors of the hotel say the report is unfounded.

We render our acknowledgments to Prof. Mangum for an invitation to the reopening of the University of North Carolina which took place last week. We learn that the exercises were very interesting and touching. Rev. Dr. Hooper, who was a student at Chapel Hill more then 70 years ago, offered the opening prayer. The opening ode was sung to the air of "Coronation," and was composed by Mr. W. A Betts, son of Rev. A. D. Betts, who, says Mrs Spencer in a letter to the News, "graduated at Chapel Hill more than 20 years ago and married one of the prettiest girls in Chapel Hill during his Senior vacation." Gov. Brogden delivered an excellent address and was followed by Gov. Vance and Hon W. H. Battle. Prof Mangum with graceful prefatory remarks touching the author, read the closing hymn composed by Mrs Cornelia Phillips Spencer, which was sung to the air of "Old Hundred" accompanied by the Salisbury Brass Band. A large number of persons were in attendance, among them many distinguished alumni of the University.

Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt, son of Commodore Vanderbilt who so graciously endowed the University which bears his name, visited Nashville with his daughter and a small party, week before last. They were highly pleased with the grounds and buildings of the "Vanderbilt," and before leaving Mr. Vanderbilt directed Bishop McTyeire to draw on him for a thousand dollars to purchase a particular and valuable set of books which the Library needed. It is thought that the Commodore will be present at the opening of the University on the 1st of October, and we would not be surprised to hear of his making another handsome and princely donation to the institution. With his millions to draw upon, he could very easily add another half million to that which he has already given. His munificence past and (we believe) to come, will erect for him "a monument more lasting than brass" in the affections and gratitude of the church and people whom he has favored. His magnificent fortune will descend to and be spent by his posterity in a few years—his stately ships will soon rot upon the seas which they now so proudly plow—his railroads will wear away and lose their importance and prosperity when his controlling hand and brain cease their work; but the Institution which he has founded and which we believe will be still more liberally endowed by him, will perpetuate his name and memory as long as our civilization continues.

WE HAVE received from the author, Mr. H. C. Wyatt, 920 Main Street, Richmond, Va., a pretty song entitled "Father's Hair is Turning Gray." The piece can be had by addressing Mr. Wyatt, as above.

Fraternity.

The Central Methodist has the following to say upon this subject:

We have been classed with the non fraternal. Why? Is it because we want to secure fraternity as we did our wife—after a reasonable amount of good honest courting, in which the past, the present, and the future, were carefully considered? If so, put us down on the other side. We want no fraternity that is not based upon principle, and actuated by mutual regard and friendship. Upon these conditions we would be fraternal with every church in the land, and with every individual Christian.

We like the word "fraternity." It sounds well, looks well, and means well; but there is another word which we like equally well—"consistency." It sounds well, looks well, means well and acts well. Hence, as we are judged by our actions, consistency is the more important of the two. But those "gushing" brethren who seem over lose sight of the latter and think of only the former. It don't take much religion to make some people shout.

A Change, and How it was Made.

MESSRS EDITORS: The following will explain why I am in Lincolnton:

"REV. J. T. HARRISS: You are released from your present charge from and after the first day of Sept. prox., from which date you will take charge of Lincolnton circuit.

Helena, M. T., Aug 12th, 1875.
E. M. MARVIN."

As a true Methodist itinerant preacher, I could but obey the order. No one could have been more surprised than myself, when I first learned of my removal. No preacher in the Conference was more attached to his people, and no one could regret more to part with them. This parting took place at Nebo camp-meeting. This was an occasion of mingled sadness and joy; sad because friends must part and joyous because friends there met and the Lord blessed and saved. In some respects this camp meeting was a very remarkable occasion.—Aside from the conversion of about 20 souls, the baptism of a large number of infants and adults and a gracious outpouring of the Spirit, it was one of peculiar interest. The first service was conducted by Dr. Burkehead, our former Presiding Elder. He preached us a glowing sermon, gave us much good counsel and bade us good bye, to leave on the night train for his new home. If you could have seen the shaking of hands and shedding of tears of a large congregation, you might have judged how the people and preachers in this section not only admire but love him May the Lord give him success in Raleigh as He has among us!

Our new Presiding Elder, Rev. R. G. Barrett, was on the ground and was received with open arms. He showed himself in Conference, pulpit and altar, fully qualified for the high and responsible position to which he has been appointed. in him we saw the Bishop had found the right man. If his career as Presiding Elder shall be marked with the success and popularity of the beginning, it will in deed be brilliant and eminently useful.—My successor, Rev N G Whittington, was also present to take charge of the interesting work I was leaving. I shall never forget the day when I and my wife stood in the altar at Nebo camp ground and received the hands of a large concourse of weeping friends and brethren of Marion circuit to bid them an affectionate farewell. The warm, gushing esteem between pastor and people is truly glorious. For this much it is indeed a luxury to be a preacher of the Gospel. My reception on the Lincolnton circuit has been open and cordial. Matters are moving on here as if nothing had happened. The character and fidelity of this people needs no encomium from me I expect to bring up a good report to Conference.

To those I have left behind and those I find here, I pray for the peace and blessings of the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Yours affectionately,
J. T. HARRISS.

Lincolnton, N. C, Sept. 15.

To the Preachers and Members on Shelby District

DEAR BRETHREN: We have just completed the 3d round of Quarterly Meetings, and are now ready to enter upon the 4th. Dr. Burkhead left the District in a lively condition; his removal is universally regretted, and his place is hard to fill; but we are determined to do all we can to advance the work, and with the help of God, and the sympathy and prayers of the brethren, we look, and hope and pray for glorious success. Will the ministers please call the special attention of every congregation to the note appended to the appointments, and read that note, if necessary, from their pulpits? and also, instruct every Recording Steward to bring his Steward's Book to the 4th Quarterly Meeting? We must have the statistics.

Will the Chairman of the Board of Finance please send us the "blanks" and "envelopes" ordered by the Conference? If he will send them to me at Lincolnton, I will distribute them to the ministers of this District.

Yours, &c.,
R. G. BARRETT.

Lincolnton, Sept. 14th 1875.

DEAN Stanley will soon place a memorial of the brothers John and Charles Wesley in Westminster Abbey, at his own expense.

Revival Intelligence

Rev. C. C. Dodson writes that the meeting closed at Chatham Church with 70 conversions. On the 13th inst. a meeting was commenced at Pleasant Hill with 16 penitents and 5 conversions the first day, with a powerful influence on the whole congregation." He adds in the spirit of a faithful worker, "Look for more subscribers to the ADVOCATE soon"

Rev. J. P. Simpson writes from Snow Hill under date of 13th inst: "The work of God has been greatly revived in our church in this place. Twenty nine (mostly adult) persons have joined our church ten of them are heads of families Revs. D Hardy and Samuel Ormond kindly assisted in the meeting for a few days."

Rev P. F. W Stamey, writes from Pinhook: "I am now holding a meeting at Lineberger's Factory, commencing last Sabbath evening. Great seriousness is manifested. Up to this date, 7th inst. there have been five conversions and three accessions to the church. There are several penitents still unconverted, and we look for still greater results." On the 9th inst. Bro. Stamey writes that the meeting at Lineberger's closed on Thursday night, there having been 23 conversions and 17 accessions to the church. About 15 penitents were left at the altar. Having no ministerial help, he was much fatigued and was compelled to close the meeting.

Rev. X Ray, writing from Trinity College, under date of Sept. 10th says: "Our camp meeting at Pleasant Garden, South Guilford circuit, commenced on Friday night the 27th of Aug. and closed on Thursday morning following. We had ten regular tent-holders who came with a bountiful supply and distributed it with christian liberality. We had delightful weather and good help in the ministry, viz, Rev. N. H. D. Wilson, D D. Presiding Elder, Rev. C H. Phillips, Rev. J. A. Cunninggim, Rev W. H. Bobbitt, Rev. Capers Norman, and Bros. Peel and Cartlandt of the Friend's Church. The church members were considerably revived Thirty five professed faith in Christ and 22 joined the church."

Rev. L. J. Holden writes from Rocky Mount under date of Sept. 9th. "We have had a glorious time since my last letter. We closed at Mount Zion with 36 conversions and 27 accessions. We held a meeting at Bethlehem and Sharon, resulting in about 25 conversions. We closed a meeting last Monday at Mt. Pleasant resulting in 10 conversions and 37 accessions. The old members tell us that it was the best meeting they ever held. While God has been sending rain upon his material world, clouds big with mercy have overshadowed us and showers of rich grace have been poured out upon desert places and have made them blossom as the rose. May God still continue his blessings upon us."

Rev J. F. Craven writing from Randolph circuit says: "The Lord has been with us, graciously reviving his work. Sixty souls have been converted and fifty persons have joined our church. We have held seven protracted meetings and the Lord has blessed us at every place Dr. York helped to hold up the Cross at Asheboro and Union Factory. He is a tower of strength wherever he goes. Bro. Herman preached for us at Hopewell. Dr. Wilson was with us at Pleasant Hill on the Sabbath. Dr. Craven helped us at Prospect on the Sabbath. May the Lord bless them! I am trying to stir up the Randolph people to serve God, take religious papers and send their children to school.' These are high and noble aims, Bro. Craven. May your efforts be crowned with a glorious success.

Rev. M. H. Hoyle writes from Wadesboro under date of Sept. 10th, and says:

"Allow me to say to the lovers of our Zion, that the Lord has greatly refreshed us in the Lilesville circuit. We had a protracted meeting at Olivet church, from the 5th Sunday in May, which resulted in thirteen conversions and seven accessions to our church. Others, perhaps, will join with us. It was more especially a revival in the church. The membership was greatly refreshed. Also, the brethren of other denominations who joined with us in the labors of the meeting were refreshed and comforted.

Bro. J. H Guinn, of the Wadesboro circuit, and Rev. Bro. Waddill, of the Baptist church, each spent a day with us, laboring acceptably, and rendering an assistance which none but a pastor, charged with the weight of souls, can appreciate.

The sacrament of the Lord's supper on the last Sabbath of the meeting, was a feast of fat things to us. I never saw so large a proportion of a congregation commune before. "Bless the Lord, O my soul!"

Rev. I F. Keerans writes under date of Sept. 10th. and says:

"You may say to the lovers of Zion, that the Lord has revived his work on the Montgomery circuit. Our camp-meeting in connection with our 3rd Quarterly Meeting was held at Eleazer, which commenced on the 21st of Aug. and closed on the 27th, with most gratifying results. Bro. S. D. Adams, our efficient P. E., was with us and labored not only faithfully, but successfully. Also, Bros. G. W. Faison, D. C. Phillips, and L. H. Gibbons of the N. C. Conference. Bros. E Craven and J Ballard of the local ranks, all seem to labor for the good of souls, and not without success. We had at this meeting fifty conversions, and thirty accessions to the church. This was a grand time indeed. The church was most signally blessed. It seemed to be a universal outpouring of the holy spirit upon the entire congregation. Some of the most prominent heads of families outside of the church were converted, and are now identified with our Lord and Zion. Almost all classes were the subjects of this revival.

Also, we have just closed an interesting protracted meeting of four days continuance at Mt Olivet in our new church. This was one of profit to the community. Two conversions, and three joined the church Several penitents were left at the altar crying for mercy, but we were compelled to go elsewhere. We were assisted by Bros. E C Craven and F. Coffin, who worked faithfully and successfully.

Rev. W. B. Manuss writes from Siloam under date of Sept. 11th:

"I held a protracted meeting at New Hope which embraced the 4th and 5th Sundays in Aug, resulting in the accession of 17 members to the church, 8 by baptism, 1 by letter and 8 on profession of faith. The Church was very much revived. On Tuesday, the 4th day of the meeting, we held a love feast which was the best that we ever had the privilege to attend An unusual number of the good sisters arose and spoke right out for their saviour and resumed their seats, rejoicing in his love

I was assisted by brothers James Needham, Wm. F. Needham, Jesse M. Needham, local ministers of this circuit, and William Berry, local minister of the Madison circuit.

It is enough to say of these brethren, that they all did their duty. I closed a protracted meeting at Ebenezer which commenced last Sunday and continued till Thursday night.

Rev. I. W. Avent writing from Cumberland circuit under date of Sept. 12th says:

"We have had some very gracious seasons of grace on our work,—we commenced a protracted meeting at the Camp Ground on Friday, of the week of prayer, and closed on Tuesday following which resulted in 8 conversions and 10 additions to the church. Bro. Thompson, from Fayetteville station, was with us two days and rendered us very efficient service On Saturday the 21st of August we commenced a meeting at Howard's (which was taken into the circuit last year as a preaching place.)

The meeting lasted nine days. The Lord was with us in mighty power, and gave us a good time, more than 20 professed to find peace in believing. We organized a class of twenty two members, five of whom were old members from other places, and 'not done taking in yet.' Four of the young converts told me they would join our church when I come again. Bro. McBride, a Presbyterian minister, was with us and preached three very effectual sermons for us, for which we are thankful. I consider Methodism planted there, certain. We have a very eligible lot of land given to us with the deed securing it to the M. E Church, South, on which to build a church, and by this time, I suppose, a sufficient amount is subscribed to build it. Thank God for success! All glory to His name.

Religious Brevities.

The Detroit Conference of the M. E. Church passed resolutions requesting the General Conference to make the presiding eldership elective. Also the Cincinnati and Central German Conferences.

In South Carolina the Reformed Episcopal Church has organized six societies among the colored people.

The Cincinnati, Detroit and Central German Conferences M. E. Church, by resolution, requested the General Conference to adopt equal lay representation in the General and Annual Conferences.

Rev. W. Walker, of the Northern Methodist Church, reports to the Atlanta Methodist Advocate, a revival at Townsville, Granville co. N. C. at which there were sixteen conversions and sixteen accessions.

A protest against Ritualism has been presented to the Archbishop of Canterbury from the county of Kent, signed by two thousand communicants Among these are ten peers, five peers' sons, four baronets and eighty-one magistrates.

It is estimated that six hundred persons have professed conversion recently in the great revival in Roanoke county, Va.

The Swedenborgian convention proposes to again distribute the works of Emanuel Swedenborg, free of price, among the Protestant clergy of the country.

The General Conference of the Evangelical Association (Albright Methodists) meets in Philadelphia. October 14. The meetings are quadrennial, and it is proposed to extend the intervals between the meetings to five years.

Out of sixty-four rectors in the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland, it is found that the salaries of thirty five were below $1,000 a year; some receive $600, and some as low as $200.

The Waldensian mission in Italy received 180 communicants during the past year, and has 367 candidates under instruction. It has 33 churches, and employs 97 agents, of whom 23 are pastors of congregations. The annual report speaks of marked increase of spiritual life in Sicily and in some towns of northern Italy.

Among the many preachers in attendance at Wesley Grove camp meeting, says the Episcopal Methodist, but few, if any, preached with more effect than Rev. Dr. Clark. His sermon from the text, "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation," left a profound impression upon the large audience in attendance.

Rev. Dr. Phillip Schaff, of New York, was present at the meeting of the council of the British branch of the Evangelical Alliance, June 16, and announced the contemplated biennial meeting of the American branch in Pittsburg next autumn. The receipts of the British Alliance from July 1, 1874, to May 31, 1875, were £1,468.

Recent Publications.

MASONIC JOURNAL: A Masonic and Family Weekly. E. A. Wilson, Editor and Proprietor.

The first number of this new candidate for public favor and especially for that of the Masonic fraternity, has been received. It is an eight page journal, neatly printed and well filled with the best reading matter. We congratulate Bro. Wilson on his new paper and wish him success.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE: J. B. Lippincott's & Co. Publishers, Phila. $4 a year.

This Magazine for October presents a striking variety of the most attractive features. It opens with an interesting illustrated article by E. C. Bruce, entitled "Wanderings with Virgil." This is followed by another illustrated sketch, "The Ocklawaha in May" by Sidney Lanier, the poet, being descriptive of a beautiful river in Florida. These are followed by "Spiritualism and Jurisprudence," by Francis Wharton L L. D. of the Boston University: "The Comet a-Pasture" from the French: "A Conspiracy," by Christian Reid the popular North Carolina writer; "In the Pineland" by Robert Wilson, an account of life and scenes in the pine district of North Carolina: "A Day in Chinatown:" "The Truth about Madama Rattazzi: A description of "Bon Marche" the largest retail store in the world, the great shopping place of Paris; "The atonement of Leam Dundas" and "The Comrades," two powerful stories. Margaret J. Preston, Emma Lazarus, E. Kearsley and F. A. Hillard contribute the poetry to this number. The number concludes with "Monthly Gossip" and "Literature of the Day."

The Convention.

This body is vigorously at work in the face of frequently recurring motions for adjournment SINE DIE. Nothing of special interest has occurred beyond the introduction of ordinances for the amendment of the constitution. A great many of these have been introduced, besides resolutions of various characters.. Apparently, every delegate has promised or intimated to his constituents that he would introduce some particular ordinance, and the result is an immense number of resolutions and ordinances which will go no further than the committees to which they are referred. No discussion of great moment or of special interest has taken place, but it is expected that there will be interesting debates upon various subjects when they come properly before the convention for action.

The following are some of the many ordinances and resolutions that have been introduced:

By Mr. Henderson, amending Art. 6, of Constitution. Prohibits males in poorhouse from voting.

By same, amending Art. 9. Relates to separate schools for the races.

By same, amendment art. 8. Forbids railroads from issuing free passes to members of Legislature and other State or municipal officers.

By Mr. Byrd, resolutions in reference to Clerks of Superior Courts. Makes term two years.

By same, resolution referring to Art. 4, Sec. 29. Makes term of Solicitors two years.

Cy same, resolution amending Art. 4, Sec. 26. Makes term of Judges four years.

By Mr. Anderson, of Clay, ordinance relating to farming out or employing convicts in Penitentiary.

By Mr. Price, resolution requesting Committee on Privileges and Elections to inquire whether the contestants in the Robeson county case are not members of the Legislature.

By Mr. Avery, ordinance amending Art. 4. Strikes out Sec. 9.

By Mr. Durham, resolution declaring that Art. 7 ought to be abrogated. Leaves county governments to legislative action.

By Mr. Spake, ordinance amending Art. 14. Relates to religious qualification for office

By Mr. Dockery, a resolution of enquiry as to whether Josiah Turner, Esq., is eligible to a seat in this Convention, from the fact of having sent a challenge in violation of the existing Constitution.

By Mr. Carter, an ordinance to amend Sec. 31. Art. 4, relating to filling vacancies named in said article, providing for appointments by the Governor, unless otherwise provided for.

By Mr. Kerr, an ordinance to prescribe an oath for members of the Legislature.

By Mr. Rumley, an ordinance to prohibit counties. cities, &c., from contracting debts, prohibits the Legislature form authorizing them to do so.

Mr. Badger, a resolution of instruction to Committee on Privileges and Elections, enquiring whether that part of the act calling a Convention requiring the same qualifications as members of the Legislature is binding. Placed on calendar.

By Mr. Watts, an ordinance to reduce the number of State Senators to 25. Referred.

By Mr. Blocker, an ordinance to amend sec. 1, art. 3. relating to calling a Convention. Referred.

By Mr. Allison, an ordinance to amend sec. 3, art. 2, providing that State Senators alternate as to time of going out of office, one half to go out at a time.

By same, an ordinance to amend sec. 25, art. 2, to bill to originate within ten days of the adjournment of each session of the Legislature. Referred.

By Mr. Cooper, an ordinance relating to art. 3, proposing an amendment relating to the salaries of state officers, requiring the same. Referred.

By Mr. Wheeler: An ordinance relating to the Homestead a fee simple estate. The Judicial Committee reported that all restrictions in the Convention act, provided any interference with the present homestead law.)

By Mr. Bennet: An ordinance to restore to Anson the representatives in General Assembly of which it was deprived by the Convention of 1835.

By Mr. Singletary: An ordinance providing the election of Solicitors by the General Assembly.

By Mr. Anderson: A resolution to give Justices of Peace jurisdiction in actions of replevin.

By Mr Badger: thy requests An ordinance to amend sec. 4, article 9, giving school fund to the education of the children of the State.

By Mr. Redwine: An ordinance to amend art 4, to divest superior court clerks of the Probate matters, and create a Probate Judge.

By Mr. Spake: An ordinance to amend sec. 5, art 6 in relation to religious qualifications for office.

By Mr. Shepherd: An ordinance to give the county of Pamlico a representative in the lower house of the General Assembly.

By Mr. Scott, of Onslow: An ordinance to amend art 4, striking out 2 and 4, &c., in relation to the assessment of the Judiciary.

The first ordinance passed was one regulating the per diem of the Legislature—making it $6 for officers and $4 for members, for the period of 160 days, and for special session of 40 days—after that length of time $2 per day.

An ordinance reducing the number of Supreme Court Judges from five to three passed its third reading on Saturday.

A CHANGE AND ITS CREDIT.—The new postal cards of much better material and finish than those first issued, will soon be furnished to the public. It is said that the credit for the improvement in the new cards belongs to a citizen of Raleigh,—Mr. N. W. Woodruff, of Julius Lewis & Co. Some time ago while writing on one of the old cards, whose porosity is notorious, he accidentally caught in the blotter-like surface and with a scratch and a splutter, spattered the ink over the card and in rubbing books and papers. In a fit of impatience and disgust, he immediately addressed a note to the Post master General telling him that if the postal card was intended by the Government for a "blotter" it was an eminent success; but if for writing purposes, then it was both a failure and a fraud. The letter passed through the various offices of the Post Office Department at Washington and was sent, with comments, to the contractor who were to furnish the new cards. He "acknowledged the corn," and promised that the defects should be remedied and they have been.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Greensboro Patriot: Judge Settle is on a trip to Iowa.—C. W. Osborne is arranging a party to go bloodshing at Beaufort.—The old Albright House is being remodeled by R M. Rose.—New Lodge of Good Templars was organized last Friday, by S. J. Fall of Raleigh.—Horse back riding is the favorite recreation with Greensboro ladies now.—The oldest citizen of Greensboro, David Scott, Sr, died on the 11th inst, of paralysis, aged 78.—The "tonsorial shop" of the Patriot has been enlarged by the addition of a barred from the Osage Indian Agency.—The Superior Court of Guilford sent five persons to the Penitentiary.—The Patriot, hurried by a late fire in Greensboro, urges the necessity of a good fire engine for the town.—J. Anderson, foreman of the blacksmith shop at Company Shops is a native of Scotland. Twenty-seven years ago, he and his wife made such arrangements to come to this country, but his wife's mother became sick and the daughter found it necessary to remain and nurse her. Mr. Anderson came to this country where he has been ever since, until recently when he went to Scotland after his wife. The mother died a few months ago, the daughter having nursed her tenderly for nearly two years. Mr. Anderson and wife have just returned to Company Shops. A son born a few months after his wife left Scotland has been in this country several years.

A new daily (evening) paper and the control of Messrs James and Price, will be commenced in Wilmington about the 1st of October.

New middling cotton was selling in Charlotte last week at 13 to 13½ cents a pound.

The Hickory Press says: "On a farm this county (Caldwell) realized $200 per acre for his tobacco last year, on the same ground planted in corn would not have exceeded $40 per acre.

Says the Goldsboro Messenger: "The rust and rot have greatly damaged crops in this section. Cotton is opening very fast. From all reports it is probable that an average crop will be made.

The Charlotte Observer has a private letter informs that Tom Burke, who was convicted of the robbery at Rutherford Court House and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, has escaped from Rutherford jail.

A King's Mountain telegram to the Richmond Dispatch, dated 18th inst, says: At Gaston Gold Mine, on Saturday night a party of white and black became involved in a dispute over a game of cards, arising from a division of money, During the melee one negro named Burton became enraged, knocked down a white man named Hall and threatened to shoot him. He was, however, knocked down by the white man before serious damage was done. One negro then rushed into the crowd of some twenty persons and have been marching up and down the public roads between here and the mines swearing they will kill some one—that they mean war. They are still marching to night.

Maj. Wm. Patterson will represent Orange county last Thursday, the vacancy in the County Commissioners occasioned by the death of Gen. Lee. His majority was 703—a gain over Graham in the August election of 379.

The Christian Advocate

SOLD IN THE CITY OF RALEIGH EVERY WEDNESDAY MORNING. TERMS $2 20 POSTAGE PAID.

Our Agents.

...ers pursuants to the bounds ...ct ...ence are our authorized ...ents. ...aten subscribers, for ...o paper free.

Our Correspondents.

...communications should be carefully ...ss to the Sheet. All letters ...ess to the Editor.

...ters to be Brief.

...ll articles should be carefully ...ten, and short. The most ...ful are to be selected ...ference to send other ...ers under a fictitious ...

ADVERTISEMENTS.

...ABIT ...

... - Consumption

... Premiums—

... Medical Dis...

...

...

Children's Column

Dewdrops.

Beautiful dewdrops,
Sparkling and gay,
Morning's pure diadem
Crowning the day!

Glistening dewdrops,
Tears of the night,
Dried by the Day-King,
Exhaling in light!

Drops of pure nectar
To leaf and to flower,
Giving them strength for The noon's sultry hour.

Thanks, lovely dewdrops,
Ere ye depart—
Thanks for the freshness
Brought to my heart.

Answers.

Esau sold his birth-right to Jacob.
Georgian B Wynne, T C W Boshamer, J W Howard, J R Howard.

Vashti was Ahasuerns' queen.—Georgian B Wynne, J R Howard.

Asa king over Judah removed his mother Maachah from being queen because she made an idol in a grove. He burnt it by the brook Kedron. 1st Kings 15th chap. 13th verse. T C W Boshamer, J R Howard.

Paul was born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia. Acts 22d chap. 3d verse. He called himself a Roman because he was free born. It was unlawful to scourge a Roman citizen. T C W Boshamer, J R Howard.

Behold he shall come up as clouds and his chariots shall be as a whirlwind: his horses are swifter than eagles. Wo unto us! for we are spoiled. Jeremiah 4th chap. 13th v. T C W Boshamer, J W Howard, J R Howard.

The sun went back 10 degrees for a sign of the promise that Hezekiah's days should be lengthened 15 years. Isaiah 38th chap. 7th and 8th verses. T C W Boshamer.

The wall of Jerusalem was rebuilt in 52 days. Nehemiah 6th chap. 15th v. J R Howard.

David was born 1085 years before Christ, and was king over Judah for seven years. J R Howard.

J. R. and J. W. Howard send the following answer to Enigma proposed by E. B. Jones:

Its first is Bildad; its 2d is Elah; its 3d is Titus; its 4th is Hepzibah; its 5th is Lydia; its 6th is Eleazar; its 7th is Hushai; its 8th is Esar-haddon; its 9th is Mesopotamia. Its whole is Bethlehem.

"Enquirer's" wish will be gratified provided the selection is in our opinion suitable.—Eds.

Questions.

Georgian B Wynne asks what Judge of Israel had thirty sons and thirty daughters? Also, who first used butter?

T. C. W. Boshamer asks where is found the following: "My days are like a shadow that declineth, and I am withered like grass." Also what prophet was put in a dungeon, why, and what is said of it?

Jane E. Anders wishes to know where the prophet Habakkuk was praying when he heard the speech of the Lord and was afraid. Also what he prayed for, and the place whence, it is said, the Lord and Holy One came to meet him.

J W Howard asks what prophet fainted and where an account of it is given.

ENIGMA BY F. B. JONES.

My 1st begins the name of the brother of Martha and Mary.

My 2d, 5th, 8th, 11th, 13th, 21st and 27th form the name of the youngest son of Joseph.

My 3d, 9th, 15th, 19th, and 26th form the name of a noted evangelist.

My 4th begins the name of a daughter of Saul.

My 6th and 12th, a celebrated goddess of the heathen.

My 7th and 23d, fourth son of Aaron.

My 10th, 16th, 20th and 25th a famed artificer.

My 14th begins the name of one whom Paul almost persuaded to be a christian.

My 17th and 28th, a wall and tower of Jerusalem.

My 18th begins the name of one who succeeded Felix in the government of Judea.

My 22d begins the name of a dangh of Bethuel.

My 24th begins the name of a noted Pharisee.

My 29th begins the name of the son of Abinadab.

My 30th begins the name of a son of Cloethas.

The whole is a sentence of eight words found in the book of Numbers.

The Exact Truth.

Two young masons were building a brick wall—the front wall of a high house. One of them, in placing a brick, discovered that it was a little thicker on one side than on other.

His companion advised him to throw it out. "It will make your wall untrue, Ben," said he.

"Pooh!" answered Ben: "what difference will such a trifle as that make? You're too particular."

"My mother," replied he "taught me that 'truth is truth,' and ever so little an untruth is a lie, and a lie is no trifle."

'Oh,' said Ben, 'that's all very well; but I am not lying, and have no intention of doing so.'

'Very true, but you make your wall tell a lie; and I have somewhere read that a lie in one's work is like a lie in his character, it will show itself sooner or later and bring harm, if not ruin.'

'I'll risk it, in this case,' answered Ben; and he worked away, laying more bricks, and carrying the wall up higher, till the close of the day, when they quit work and went home.

The next morning they went to resume their work, when, behold, the lie had wrought out the result of all lies! The wall getting a little slant from the untrue brick, had got more and more untrue as it got higher, and at last, in the night, had toppled over, obliging the masons to do all their work over again.

Just so with ever so little an untruth in your character; it grows more and more untrue if you permit it to remain, till it brings sorrow and ruin. Tell, act and live the exact truth always.—Selected

Speak Correctly

Boys and girls should learn to speak correctly while they are children, for it will be hard to correct wrong habits after they become older.

The other day a little girl asked: "Shall you go to morrer?" The answer was, "I dunno." How much better to pronounce the words correctly, and say 'to morrow' and 'don't know. Never say 'sech fine apples.' 'Jest as lives' is another improper expression. 'You should say just as lief.' And don't say 'I ain't.' There is no such word as ain't in the English language. You should say I'm not, or it isn't.

I heard a boy say: "I never saw seech figgers." That was very bad pronunciation. Another said: "I can holler louder than you;" but a bright little fellow replied: "I don't think I can hollow at all, though I can halloo so as to be heard a quarter of a mile."

Now, children, try hard to speak properly, and never use such words as these: To-morrer, Dunno, Sech, Ain't Holler, Figgers.

There is one mistake that almost everybody makes in saying "He don't." It is well enough to say, "I don't" or "They don't," but it should be, "He doesn't."

A MAN said his son had a well-stored mind, but the neighbors never could find where he stored it.

Rural and Domestic.

Sod Fences.

With the increasing cost of fencing material, it becomes a more interesting question to the farmer. How can I economically build new and repair old fences? A western man suggests the use of sods, and writes: "In England and Ireland they have the 'sod fence.' I have seen it in this country occasionally, but I think if our farmers knew its practical merits we should see it oftener. Only dig two ditches two feet apart, three feet wide, and two feet deep; throw the dirt from ditches on the space between, beat it down till it has some hardness, and give it enough slant to prevent 'caving,' and you have a fence for a lifetime. In most cases here we need no turf or 'whin-bushes' as they do, for in a year the bank will be covered by a luxuriant growth of blackberry bushes, answering every purpose.—Even where timber is plenty, we can make this fence cheaper than almost any other"—Phrenological Journal.

"Gilt Edged" Butter.

There are at least two dairymen and butter makers in the neighborhood of Philadelphia who always sell their butter at one dollar a pound, and cannot supply all who desire to be their customers. One of these attributes his success to three points, good food for his cows, uniform temperature of 58 degrees in the milk room, and neatness, cleanliness and dainty nicety at every step from the moment the milk is obtained until the dollar is paid for the pound of butter. He feeds his cows often, and not much at a time, on white clover and early mown weadow hay, which he cuts fine, moistens and mixes with corn meal and wheaten shorts. Pastures and meadows are kept quite free from weeds. The milk room is kept at a temperature of 58 degrees by flowing spring water. "As good butter can be made without water as with, but the milk and cream must be kept at all times at little below 60 degrees." The other important point—cleanliness—he secures by keeping the milk house free from all unpleasant surroundings, allowing no milk to sour upon the floor of the room or to decompose in the crevices of the milk pans, churns or other utensils. The above is descriptive of the care with which the costliest Philadelphia butter is made, but the ordinary article sold in our markets at half the prices is not much inferior in quality, thanks to the tidy habits of the housewives in Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A handful of quicklime, mixed in four ounces of linseed oil and boiled to a good thickness, makes, when spread on plates and hardened, a glue which can be used in the ordinary way, but will resist fire.

If you are stung by a bee or wasp, wet some cut tobacco and lay it on the sting. In five minutes it is cured.

A. BAUM.

Professional Butcher,

Wilmington St., Opposite East End Market.

Having the fattest beeves that ever got upon the ground, and stocked beef such as seen in his shop. Orders for Mountain stock weekly filled by his agents. The best and choicest meats to be had in this Market, butchered in first-class style, are sold you at apl 26-tf BAUM'S.

Important Results Pleasantly Achieved.

Although the days of irrational medication are rapidly passing away, and intelligent patronage bestowed to secure the supposed cures of a remedy by the evidence of its effects, there still linger among the community a few who heed the ill-considered advice of the "practitioners a few doors from the corner," and by ill-timed experiments with "Bitters" of their own, or those of the "Doctor" kind, jeopardize health and life, when a single trial would be sufficient to convince them that they had abandoned the only remedy which is a reliable and thoroughly safe Tonic Alterative and Purgative, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Those who have been cured by this great medicine, and have been restored to health and happiness, are its best friends, and their voluntary testimonials are the most reliable evidence of its virtues. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a specific for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Fever and Ague, Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles, Nervousness, Debility, and all diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver or Bowels. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers generally. Beware of counterfeits, imitations and refills. See that you get the genuine article, with our name blown in the bottle, and our private Government Stamp over the cork.

HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE NEEDLE

COTTON GIN.

The American Needle Gin now enters upon its sixth year. During the past season its reputation has been widely extended by the successful operation of many hundreds of the Needle Gins in the cotton fields of the South-west, and bearing away first premiums. In the gin house it has eclipsed the most successful ever tried at fairs.

A report from one of our Sixty-three Customers

Gins to Georgia, says: "That distinguishing ginning season is gloried The bales of cotton," in South Carolina, rolls a cut of the same 714 gins to a bale weighing 500 lbs. in forty-five minutes. From many other reports we feel is pretty well established that fifty circle will gin a 600 bale in sixty hours. At the Mississippi A. & M. Fair a large circle ginned 50 lbs. per hour, and at another a yield of 66 pounds of lint was ginned in an hour.

At the State Fair of South Carolina, held at Columbia, in December last, a Thirty Circle Condenser was run in the open air through which boxes of paper matches and nails were put with out setting fire to the cotton or injuring the needle.

Send for circular to

T. H. BRIGGS & SONS,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Dealers in Hardware, Sash, Doors and Blinds, Paints Oils and Glass, Wagon and Buggy Material.

July 7-tf

OLD NORTH STATE

FIRE

Insurance Company,

OF

WARRENTON, - - - - - N. C.,

This Company has closed its third year in a condition of GREAT PROSPERITY, and entered upon its fourth year under the MOST PROMISING AUSPICES.

It deserves the liberal patronage which it is receiving because

It is a home Institution.
It has ample Capital and Reserves.
It pays its loss promptly.

ASSETS.

Cash in hand and in Bank	$ 8,621 51
Cash in hands of Agents	4,974 00
Stock Notes	15,670 00
Real Estate Mortgage	99,998 99
Loaned on Collaters's	7,647 63
Due for premiums	3,720 63
Interest due and accrued	944 26
	$130,297 19

LIABILITIES:

All liabilities including full re-Insurance Reserved	$18,485 81
Surplus	111,811 38
	$130,297 .9

WM. S DAVIS, President.
R. F. LONG, Secretary.

THE FIRM OF WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

GEO. W. WYNNE.
T. H. YANCEY.
J. W. LEE.

RALEIGH, June 15th, 1875.

HAVING PURCHASED THE interest as I assume the liabilities of the late firm of WYNNE, YANCEY & CO., I would request all those indebted to come forward and make immediate payment.

Thankful for the patronage so liberally bestowed upon the late firm I trust by personal attention to merit the same.

June 23-tf GEO. W. WYNNE.

JOHN J. FRAY'S

English, Classical and Mathematical School,

14 miles S. E. of Raleigh and 4 miles from Clayton, a station on N. C. R. R. The seventeenth session begins Monday Sept. 13th 1875. Prepares boys and girls for College, or the active duties of life. Good board including fuel, lights and washing (no extras) only $12 50 per month. Refers to the faculty of the University of Va Rev H. T. Blake and to any of former patrons For circulars containing particulars &c. Address,

JOHN J. FRAY,
or A. T. MISS,
Raleigh N. C.

aug. 25-2 m.

THE MENEELY BELL FOUNDRY.

BELLS for Churches, Academies, Factories, etc., of which more have been made at this establishment than at all the other foundries in the country combined. All Bells warranted. An Illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to

MENEELY & CO.,
West Troy, N.Y.

July 28-12m.

NEW FIRM

The undersigned have this day formed a co partnership under the firm name of

Wainright, Williams & Hood,

and having purchased the stock and goodwill of J. D. WHITAKER, they will continue the GROCERY and COMMISSION business at

FARMER'S EXCHANGE,

No. 4 Martin Street,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Our Stock will consist of

Bacon,
Flour,
Molasses
Coffee,
Sugars,
Lard
Salt,
Bagging,
and Ties,

And all other goods in the Grocery line with Staple Dry Goods, Shoes, etc. Having superior facilities for buying, and a small expense account, we guarantee prices the lowest prices. Consignments of Cotton and produce generally, solicited, to the sale of which our best efforts will be devoted.

Patronage of our friends respectfully solicited.

GEO H WAINRIGHT, Greenville.
Late with Williamson, Elph & Thomas.
MIII T WILLIAMS, Chatham.
Wm B. HOOD, Johnston.

Raleigh, Sept. 1, 1875.

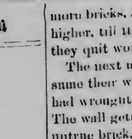
Having sold my stock of Groceries to Messrs. Wainright, Williams & Hood, I take pleasure in recommending them to my friends and late customers, as entirely worthy of confidence and patronage.

For the present, I may be found at the old stand and hope all those indebted to the late firm of Thompson & Whitaker and to myself, will call and settle as soon as possible.

J. D. WHITAKER.

Raleigh, Sept 6-tf

FASHIONS and GOLD COIN PRESENTS!



Smith's "Instant Dress Elevator."

315

Smith's Illustrated Pattern Bazaar

Fashionable Manner. It draws all the fullness to the back, making the skirt straight front." It saves more than Two Thirds its Cost. It can be changed from One Dress to another. Price, 45 cents each. Mailed.

No. 315. This Costume wins the admiration of all. It is one of those styles that is sure to please, especially as it is appropriate for any material, and requires less goods to make than any other suit of equal beauty. It is one of the leading costumes of our city. The stout lady will find it possesses just the secret charm that improves her figure, while the slight or perfect form may feel they were never so advantageously attired. The waist is the regular tablier shape; the overskirt is draped to form a wide ruffle each side of the sash, which may be of the same, or ribbon. Requires 16 yards of 27-inch goods for entire suit. No. of waist, 3731; pattern, with cloth model, 25 cts. No. of overskirt, 3724; pattern, with cloth model, 25 cts. No. of underskirt, 3725; pattern, with cloth model, 50 cts.

Mailed on receipt of price.

OR the Patterns and Cloth Models of the ENTIRE SUIT will be GIVEN FREE as PREMIUM to any person who sends $1.15, in use, as one year's subscription to the "PATTERN BAZAAR."

A. BURDETTE SMITH'S

Monthly "World of Fashion,"

FINE ARTS and POLITE Literature.

Single Copies 25 Cents.

Subscription Price, $2 a year, post-paid, including a premium of Two Dollars' worth of patterns free to each subscriber.

We send our CERTIFICATES for this amount upon receipt of subscription. TWO of our DRESS ELEVATORS will be given IN PLACE of One Dollar's worth of Patterns, if desired.

The "MONTHLY WORLD OF FASHION," the very finest, most beautiful, attractive magazine to be found in this country, and every person who begins with taking it, will NEVER discontinue it while it is published.

$4,500.00 in Gold Coin to Give Away!

We will give $2,000.00 in GOLD COIN to 655 persons who send us the largest number of subscribers to our "World of Fashion," at $2 each, before March 5th, 1876.

As follows: To the Getter-up of the Largest Club	$300.00 in Gold Coin.

2d Largest Club	200.00 in Gold Coin.
3d Largest Club	150.00 in Gold Coin.
4th Largest Club	130.00 in Gold Coin.
5th Largest Club	110.00 in Gold Coin.
6th Largest Club	100.00 in Gold Coin.
7th Largest Club	75.00 in Gold Coin.
8th Largest Club	50.00 in Gold Coin.
9th Largest Club	35.00 in Gold Coin.
10th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.
11th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.

and so on to the 65th Largest Club.

We will give $2,500.00 in GOLD COIN to 133 persons who send us the largest number of subscribers to our "Bazaar," at $1.10 each, before March 1, 1876.

As follows: To the Getter-up of the Largest Club	$300.00 in Gold Coin.

2d Largest Club	200.00 in Gold Coin.
3d Largest Club	150.00 in Gold Coin.
4th Largest Club	125.00 in Gold Coin.
5th Largest Club	100.00 in Gold Coin.
6th Largest Club	75.00 in Gold Coin.
7th Largest Club	50.00 in Gold Coin.
8th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.
9th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.
10th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.
11th Largest Club	25.00 in Gold Coin.

and so on to the 133d largest Club.

YOU get a premium for every subscriber you send us, AND every subscriber gets a premium.

BOTH of these Gold Coin Presents offers will be found at full length in the September Number, besides the names and P. O. addresses of 102 persons to whom we have just paid $2,135.00 in Gold, according to our previous offers. You can write to one or all of them, and they will tell you that we do exactly as we promise.

YOUR BEST way is to send your own subscription to either of our Magazines, when you will get the first number and your Certificates of Premiums, which you can show, and at once begin getting subscribers, or send 25 cents for one copy. Send Stamp for Fashion Catalogue.

A. BURDETTE SMITH,
P. O. Box 5055. 914 Broadway, New-York City.

NEW SPRING GOODS JUST ARRIVED

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail

DEALERS IN

READY MADE CLOTHING

For MEN, YOUTHS and CHILDREN.

Latest Styles and Prices Low.

The celebrated MANHATTEN WHITE SHIRTS, which are acknowledged the best Goods and most perfect Fit that is made. A full line constantly on hand.

Gents and Ladies Hose, Gloves, Suspenders, Handkerchief, Neckties, Bows and silk Scarfs. The latest novelties of the Season paper Linen Cuffs and Collars Ladies Leather Belts, Bonnet Ribbons and Innerlinings, Crape Rufflings, and Flutings, Ladie Neck Ruffs and Collars, Stamped Yoke and Bands, &c.

DOMESTIC AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

PRINTS, PRINTS, PRINTS.

Black A'paras.

Corded Jackanets, Striped and Figured Lawns, White Pique, Mul Muslin, Check Nainsooks, Nansook and Lisle Lawns, Corset Jeans, Canvas and Linens

HATS HATS HATS

Newest Styles and Cheap

BOOTS AND SHOES

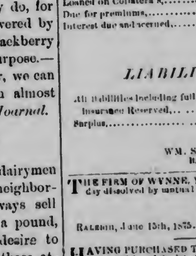
Our Stock is complete in this line. Ladies and Taylor's Goods just in and speak for themselves. Close prices always and satisfaction.

To Every Merchant who buys in the City, we would say also as a card—we sell soft goods for cash as cheap as any House in the City, or this side of Baltimore and New York.

To our numerous friends and patrons we gratefully return our thanks for past favors, and by our stock, to be much larger and more full, we feel confident that we are prepared to do the business to be done in this city.

D. S. WAITT & BRO.,
Sept 17-tf

SUI GENERIS.



MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS.

UNEQUALED decided UNAPPROACHED critically.

THREE HIGHEST MEDALS AND DIPLOMA OF HONOR, At VIENNA; 1873; PARIS, 1867.

ONLY American Organs ever awarded any medal in Europe, or which present such extensive and satisfactory excellence as to command a wide sale there.

ALWAYS awarded highest premiums at International Expositions, in America as well as abroad. Out of hundreds there have been none as all where any other organs have been preferred.

BEST Declared by Eminent Musicians in both hemispheres, to be unrivalled. See TESTIMONIAL CIRCULAR, with opinions of more than One Thousand (sent free).

INSIST on having a Mason & Hamlin. Do not take any other. Dealers get LARGER commissions by selling inferior organs, and for this reason often try very hard to sell something else.

NEW STYLES with most important improvements ever made. Very Rich and Combination Stops. Superb Etagere and other Cases of new designs.

PIANO-HARP CABINET ORGAN An exquisite combination of these instruments.

EASY PAYMENTS, for monthly or quarterly Payments, if so wanted until rent pays for the organ.

CATALOGUES Organs sold for cash or sent free upon application. Prices, Circulars, and Circulars, with full particulars, free. Address MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., 154 Tremont Street, BOSTON; 25 Union Square, NEW YORK; or 80 & 82 Adams St., CHICAGO.

apl 13-1 year.

A. H. TEMPLE,

(Successor to Lynn Adams,)

Grocer, Cotton Factor

AND

Commission Merchant.

Nos. 5 Martin St. and 5 Exchange Place.

Having succeeded to the business of Mr. Lynn Adams, I am prepared to offer to the public the best inducements in my line and respectfully ask a continuance of the trade hitherto given Mr. Adams promising to give satisfaction in all cases

In addition to my regular line of goods, I have on hand a full lock of the

STINSON WOOL HATS,

made in Wake county, and adapted especially to the farmer's use.

I have just returned from the North where I purchased a full line of choice groceries and am now daily adding to my stock. I promise those who may favor me with their custom to give them as good bargains as they can get elsewhere.

A. H. TEMPLE.

I will most respectfully ask my former patrons and friends to transfer Mr. Temple my successor, who will, I am assured, give satisfaction to all who deal with him

I will still keep my office, as Cotton Factor in the same building.

LYNN ADAMS.

march17 6-m

SCHEDULES.

PIEDMONT AIR-LINE RAILWAY.

RICHMOND & DANVILLE RICHMOND & DANVILLE R. W., N. C. DIVISION, and NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. W.

CONDENSED TIME-TABLE.

To take effect on and after Wednesday, June 23, 1875.

GOING NORTH

STATIONS.	Mail.		Express.
Leave Charlotte	2 24	P. M.	5 55	A. M.
" Air-Line Junct'n	2 32	"	6 01	"
" Salisbury	3 55	"	7 34	"
" Greensboro	5 00	A. M.	10 55	"
" Danville	6 53	"	1 12	P. M.
" Dundee	7 26	"	1 39	"
" Burkeville	11 35	"	6 07	"
Arrive at Richmond	2 22	P. M.	8 47	"

GOING SOUTH

STATIONS.	Mail.		Express.
Leave Richmond	1 58	P. M.	5 08	A. M.
" Burkeville	4 52	"	8 35	"
" Dundee	9 33	"	1 14	P. M.
" Danville	10 20	"	1 57	"
" Greensboro	2 45	A. M.	5 25	"
" Salisbury	7 07	"	8 16	"
" Air-Line Junct'n	8 25	"	9 35	"
Arrive at Charlotte	8 40	A. M.	9 50	"

GOING EAST. GOING WEST

STATIONS.	Mail.		Mail.
Leave Greensboro'	3 04	A. M.	Arrive 2 10	A. M.
" Co. Shops	4 17	"	leave 1 58	"
" Raleigh	8 51	"	8 10	P. M.
Arrive at Goldsboro'	11 30	A. M.	Leave 5 00	"

NORTH WESTERN N. C. R. R.

(SALEM BRANCH.)

Leave Greensboro	4 30 P. M.
Arrive at Salem	6 35 "
Leave Salem	8 40 A. M.
Arrive at Greensboro	10 45 "

Passenger trains leaving Raleigh at 8 10 P. M. connects at Greensboro' with the Northern bound trains, making the quickest time to all Northern cities. Same of Tickets same as by other routes.

Trains to and from points East of Greensboro connect at Greensboro with Mail Trains to or from points North or South.

Two trains daily, both ways.

On Salem Branch express accommodation leave Raleigh at 8 00 A. M., arrive at Burkeville 12 45 P. M.; leave Burkeville 4 45 A. M., arrive at Raleigh 10 45 A. M.

No Change of Cars between Charlotte and Richmond, 282 Miles.

Papers that have arrangements to advertise the Schedule of this company will please print as above. For further information address

S. E. ALLEN,
Gen'l Ticket Agent.
Greensboro, N. C.

P. M. E. TALCOTT,
Engineer & Genl superintendent.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

RALEIGH & GASTON RAILROAD CO.

On and after Friday, May 28rd, 1875, trains on the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad will run daily (Sunday excepted) as follows:

MAIL TRAIN

Leave Raleigh	9.35 A. M.
Arrive at Weldon	3.30 P. M.
Leave Weldon	3.50 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	8.15 P. M.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.

Leaves Raleigh	8.15 A. M.
Arrives at Weldon	5.15 P. M.
Leaves Weldon	2.2 A. M.
Arrives at Raleigh	2 15 P. M.

Mail train makes close connection at Weldon, with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad and Bay Line steamers via Baltimore, to and from all points North, West and N. Portwest, and with Petersburg Railroad to Petersburg, Richmond and Washington City, to and from all points North and Northwest.

And at Raleigh with the North Carolina Railroad to and from all points South and Southwest, and with the Raleigh & Augusta Air Line to Hamlet and Fayetteville.

A. B. ANDREWS,
Gen. Supt.

FROM

HENRY J. BROWN,

Opposite Masonic Hall,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

UNDERTAKER,

Keeps on hand Fisk's Metallic Burial Cases, Self-Sealing Metallic Burial Cases, and Walnut and other Wood Coffins. HEARSES FOR HIRE.

Also Dealer in Furniture. Repairing Cane and Varnishing Promptly Executed.

ug 19-tf

THE ONLY ICE CREAM SALOON in the city is MOSELEY'S.

Ice Cream and Water Ices made to order at MOSELEY'S.

Strawberries and Ice Cream at MOSELEY'S.

Soda and Mineral Waters at MOSELEY'S.

It's the place to get cool. July 7-tf

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE,

Ashland Va.,

Offers, at lowest rates, the advantages of thorough instruction, a high grade of scholarship, under best religious influence, in a remarkably healthful location remarkable for its extraordinary health fulness and accessibility.

Two hundred and thirty dollars will pay all necessary expenses for the entire scholastic year. For catalogue and further particulars address

Rev'd James A. Duncan, A. M. D. D. Pres't.
or
Rev. Alexander G. Brown, Secty

Aug 11-6 w.

WANTED.

A lady teacher of experience, to take charge of a small private school in the country. Required to teach Organ, English, music and Latin.

Address, immediately

B. W. BROWN,
Greenville, N. C.

sept 1-3w,

H. T. LEACH, N. Y. M. T. LEACH

Leach Brothers,

WHOLESALE GROCERS

AND

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

SOUTH EAST CORNER MARKET SQUARE, Raleigh, N. C.

Again we take great pleasure in presenting our card to the readers of the ADVOCATE and returning our thanks to our friends for their very liberal patronage during the past ten years, and offer them at the largest and best bought stock of Groceries ever offered in any market south of Baltimore, and while just now Bacons, Sugars and Lard are very scarce and high, we have made extra effort and feel sure we shall succeed in bringing other goods equally low and in end giving our friends all the advantage of a declining counter balance any advance in the few goods named.

We also wish to invite special attention to our select stock of Wines and Brandies and Rock bought direct from the Fortunes and offered here AT FIRST PROFITS.

We have on hand at factory

5,000 lbs. Rio Coffees,
10 Mats old Gov. Java,
10 Bbls. A sugar,
10 Bbls. [illegible]
10 Bbls. [illegible] Meal,
25 Bbls Pearl Grits,
20 Boxes Bulk Sides,
10 " " Shoulders,
50 Kegs English Soda,
Lot Calfs, B. D and Side Leather,
100 Sides Upper Leather,
50 " Harness Leather,
100 Cases Oysters,
50 " Brandy Peaches,
5,000 Yds. Bagging,
5,000 lbs. Ties,
100 Bbls. Super Flour,
100 Bags Wheat in Mail,
50 Bbls Extra Flour,
50 Cases Farmers' Crackers,
10 " Soda Crackers,
10 Bbls Factory and Dairy Cheese,
6,000 W. P. and G. D. corn Caps,
4 Kegs Barbour Horse and Mule Shoes,
200 lbs. Horse Shoe Nails,
50 Cases Rice Cakes,
50 Boxes Adamantine Candles,
100 Boxes Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

We also request all customers to country and near by merchants, to call and examine our stock and lay in their supplies.

Thankful for liberal patronage during the past we hope by close attention to business and low prices to merit a continuance of the same.

LEACH BROS

Oct 7-12m

PHILO ALCOTT. WAYNE ALCOTT.

Excelsior Grocery

AND

COMMISSION HOUSE.

LOOK TO YOUR INTERESTS! MONEY SAVED IS MONEY MADE!

We buy our Goods for CASH!

We are now prepared to fill orders for any goods usually found in a First Class Family Grocery. For price and quality we defy competition.

Having increased capital and facilities, we intend to make our department to none. We guarantee satisfaction in prices, quality and promptness.

We have made the necessary arrangements with our friends in the Western part of the State, so that we are almost daily receiving on consignment, Chickens, Turkeys, Ducks, Geese, Eggs, Butter, North Carolina Hams, Shoulders and Sides, Beef Hams, Vegetables, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit and Meal, Corn, Cornmeal, Corn, Irish Potatoes, Dried Fruit and Meal, Hominy

Raleigh Christian Advocate.

Robbitt & Gray, Publishers. | Published in the Interests of Methodism in North Carolina. | $2.20 Per Annum, in Advance.

Vol. XXI.---No. 38. | Raleigh, N. C., Wednesday, September 29, 1875. | Whole No. 1,076.

Selected Poetry.

Bright-Bloom.

THEODORE C. GILBERT.

Communicated.

For the Advocate.

SOME METHODISTS.

[illegible] Conference, S. C. Conference, M. E. Church, South.

[illegible] much pleased with [illegible] heard and pro[illegible] possible, where I was [illegible] nice room at the [illegible] Mr. Robert Peck, [illegible] the County, North [illegible] experience] [illegible] as [illegible] Thursday evening and [illegible] was preached [illegible] O Wilson of [illegible] age and interested [illegible] came, to the [illegible] P. E. had de[illegible] only two days for [illegible] consequently it was [illegible] Friday morning before it [illegible] Rev. J. O. [illegible] to preside, and I [illegible] young brother ful[illegible] the position to the [illegible] of every one. The busi[illegible] conducted in the most reg[illegible] and in strict accordance [illegible] statutary rules; a thing [illegible] neglected in religious [illegible] to take a look at the [illegible] Preacher in charge, [illegible] the President, [illegible] quite a young man, not [illegible] thirty years, is tall [illegible] nicely built up, has blue [illegible] very straight, has a [illegible] development, a [illegible] but not very strong. [illegible] very word distinctly, is [illegible] easy in his manners, gen[illegible] bears out of his eyes. [illegible] quick to take a point of [illegible] is that most useful faculty [illegible] officer, the ability to [illegible] struggling motion of [illegible] state a concise terms [illegible] and present it for ac[illegible] wonder that there was a [illegible] vote of thanks to him, from [illegible] and everybody who [illegible] things done well?

[illegible] preached the most ef[illegible] I heard at Conference [illegible] take up some par[illegible] Florence, for they are [illegible] before and around the [illegible] A. C. Walker, D. D., [illegible] Wofford College. Brother [illegible] be called a small man [illegible] nothing of that medium [illegible] combines elasticity with [illegible] His hair curls down upon [illegible] his beard and hair are [illegible] gray. But though comparatively [illegible] he seems to be a [illegible] faith and devotion to the [illegible] Master whose gospel he [illegible] preached for the last forty-seven [illegible] years. Bro. Walker [illegible] the circuit on horseback, and [illegible] horseback ever since, and [illegible] seemed was to be made [illegible] by lines. I came near [illegible] a word [illegible] he has been, or [illegible] nothing, "on a very high [illegible] How could he join [illegible] horseback? Well, just [illegible] He was converted in pri[illegible] and rode to church one Sunday [illegible] unite if the opportunity [illegible] The preacher did not ex[illegible] and he mounted his [illegible] rode sadly away. Just as [illegible] at a fork of the road the [illegible] another person overtook [illegible] preacher asked what made [illegible] and said. He told the [illegible] few words, when the [illegible] took out his class book, [illegible] church, and admitted him [illegible] once as they sat on their [illegible] clasping the hand of fellow[illegible] telling him go and serve [illegible] rejoicing evermore. He [illegible] see his own words "there [illegible] a time when I would [illegible] consecrated labors in my Master's [illegible] the Archangel." As the [illegible] of Wofford College he is doing good work. He raised one thousand dollars in Thomasville during the Conference. [A hint to the District Conferences for North Carolina next year. Raise at least $1,000 each to be divided amongst our Colleges.] But we must pass on.

J. H. Carlisle, LL. D., President of Wofford College, is a large, strongly built man, about six feet two inches high, slightly stooped and slightly bald. He has a towering forehead, fine eyes, large mouth, and speaks with a strong, finely modulated voice, capable of being heard at long distances. He is not a preacher, but a fine classical speaker, and astonishes one suddenly as some fine thought or argument is presented in his bold and striking manner. He is evidently a hard student, as well as a careful observer of mankind. I heard him at both the Conferences and wish space would permit me to give from my notes a sketch or two.

Do not confound him with Rev. J. E. Carlisle, the Secretary of this Conference, who sits at the right of the President. The latter is the nephew of Dr. Carlisle, stationed at Cheraw, a fine rising preacher, one of the young set of the S. C. Conference, destined, if life is spared, to do great good in that body.

Leaning back near the west window, where the breeze comes in this sultry morning, apparently deeply interested in the proceedings, marking every passing person and event with his keen eye is the Rev. S. B Jones, President of Columbia Female College. He is apparently fifty years old, his hair is iron gray and getting thin. His frame is compact, rather above the medium size and height, and he looks like an intelligent cavalier, easily preserved gentleman of ease.—Yet they say he is one of the hardest working men in the State; as a preacher he stands well up on the roll of the distinguished, and as a teacher and president unexcelled. We heard his speeches on education and his description of the labors endured in re-establishing the College, and he made a fine impression. Let us pass on.

Now here is another Jones and another Smith, Rev. Simpson Jones, an old war horse for many, many years, now supernumerary, but hopes to be effective next year. Rev. Alexander Coke Smith, of Columbia, a fine preacher and worthy man. And the man who is managing, stationing, directing and making everybody comfortable is the P. C. of Timmonsville circuit, whose name is so well known in all the border counties of N. C. that I have only to say to his friends that Rev Wesley L Pegues is well and doing abundant work to give them joy.

Then here is Lewis M. Hamer, the revivalist, sitting there as calm and stoical as the traditionary American Indian, and yet it takes but a spark to make him blaze, and sparkle with a fire that is a terror to sinners and a comfort to God's people. Perhaps one of the most remarkable men here, in his station, is a local preacher whose father moved from Wayne Co., N. C., Rev. Makenzie Mozingo. Some years ago when the Adventists, under the lead of P. G. Bowman, took off several bodies of Methodists in this section, Bro Mozingo threw himself forward to stem the tide. He succeeded in saving some, and after long prayer and consideration of the subject, came to the conclusion that the only way to save the body of the members was to tear down the old barn of a church and build a new one of the very best kind. Accordingly he went to work trying to enlist the members in the cause; did not succeed; and, to make a long story short, by his unaided labor, built a large fine building, laid off and fenced the grave yard adjoining, and a better country church cannot be found. Painted in the best manner throughout, with blinds, carpets, sofa, chairs, fine Bible and hymn book, he turned it over to the preacher in charge complete in every respect and ready to be dedicated to God as a "perfect offering." All honor below and above to Rev. Makenzie Mozingo of Darlington Circuit! Must I stop? I had not gotten to the Sunday school doings and I wanted to say a hundred things "right thar," but farewell from your Loving friend,

WM. SEWELL.

Mr. Phillip Phillips, now in Australia, and the originator of the solo singing which Mr. Sankey and others are using so successfully, has arranged to visit India, and is expected in Calcutta about the first of December where he is to give a number of "song services" in the aid of a new Methodist tabernacle in Calcutta. Mr. Phillips is himself engaged in erecting a large preaching hall in a neglected part of New York, but he has generously offered to place his entire earnings in India at the disposal of the friends of the Calcutta enterprise.

The strength of man increases with the knowledge of his weakness.

For the Advocate.

Discussion with a Heakelite.

MESSRS EDITORS: Please allow me to give to the readers of the ADVOCATE the third proposition discussed by Rev. F. A. Schmidt and myself, July Saturday 17th and Monday 19th and a sketch of the debate, viz: "There is but one baptism in the Christian Church now." Rev. Schmidt in the affirmative—myself in the negative. My opponent set out by defining baptism to be a combination of water and the Holy Ghost, and that water and the Spirit thus combined were not to be put asunder, and according to his statements, in connection with his books, aside from baptism as above constituted there is no salvation, and yet in his defence he admitted that some believed before they were baptised—so you see that while he contended as above stated that water and the Spirit constituted the one baptism to which he and his church hold, yet in his admission he contradicted his own definition of what he understands to be the only baptism in the church of God now. Hence he yielded the point in discussion in despite of himself which placed him in a position that all of his after efforts were fruitless. In fact he reminded us of a certain wheel wright who hung up his sign, over his door, in flaming capitals, viz: "All sorts of turning and twisting done here." We took the ground that there are two baptisms in the church of God now, viz: baptism by water in the name of the Holy Trinity, and the baptism of the Holy Ghost, and that, by the former, persons are admitted into the visible kingdom of Christ, and, by the latter, into the invisible kingdom, and that the two are not inseperably connected together in the salvation of a soul, but that a person may receive christian baptism in the name of the Holy Trinity and thereby become a member of the Church and yet not be baptized by the Holy Ghost, and as a consequence not be a member of the invisible Church without which no man can be a child of God. So according to our position we showed that persons might be baptized by water in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, and yet not be christians, which is doubtless the case with thousands, and we have no doubt (notwithstanding Mr. Schmidt and his church teach that there is but one baptism and through that persons are saved) but that there are (judging from what we have seen and heard) many in his own church. We also showed that according to our position persons might be baptized with the Holy Ghost and thereby be made members of the invisible Church without water baptism. We admitted that persons might receive both baptisms in conjunction—but that that depended upon the proper exercise of faith on the part of the subject. So you see either one may precede the other which is in accordance with the Bible as we showed in the following instances, viz: Acts 8: 16 and 17, "For as yet he was fallen upon none of them, only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus. Then laid they their hands on them and they received the Holy Ghost." In the above quotation the Samaritans are referred to of whom it is said they gave heed to the things preached by Philip and were baptized by water in the name of the Lord Jesus, and afterwards received the Holy Ghost—which abundantly sustains our position. 1st Cor. 12th and 13th, "For by one spirit, are we all baptized into one body, whoth r we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one spirit." In the above we evidently have the baptism of the Holy Spirit set forth entirely disconnected with water—hence our case is clearly sustained that there are two baptisms in the church now. John 3d 5th. "Except a man be born of water and of the spirit he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." The above quotation teaches most clearly that there are two baptisms; viz: one of water, and one of the Spirit, and the 6th, 7th and 8th verses of the above named chapter teach the same—for in them it is evidently taught that there is a baptism of the Spirit distinct from water baptism. Mark 16th, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned." This text shows most clearly that the stress is not laid upon water baptism, but upon that of the Spirit—for without faith a man will be damned whether he is baptized by water or not. Acts 10:47 and 48, "Can any man forbid water that these should not be baptized, which have received the Holy Ghost as well as we. And he commanded them to be baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus." In the above we have two baptisms taught for the receiving of the Holy Ghost is synonymous with being baptized by Him. Acts 9:17 and 18. "And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house and putting his hands on him said brother Saul the Lord even Jesus that appeared unto thee in the way as thou comest hath sent me that thou might est receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost. And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales, and he received sight forthwith, and arose and was baptized."

In the quotation above it is evident that Saul received the Holy Ghost before he was baptized. The thief on the cross and other instances were brought forward in vindication of our position.

Yours Fraternally,

DANIEL MAY.

P. S. In our next we will give you our last proposition, and a sketch of the discussion thereon, viz: "Confession and Absolution as taught in our confessional books."

By the request of brother S. Bridges, of the Baptist church, the Biblical Recorder will please copy and oblige.

Yours &c. D. M.

Purity and Truth.

Here is a thought beautifully expressed by 'H. H.' in the Independent, a thought which will tend to sustain our faith in man and woman, although the many men and women falling have left room for distrust to grow up in our minds:

Purity and truth, loyalty and decency are not dead, though our old ready and unquestioning faith in them, our assumption beforehand of their nearness and reality, has been slain. Human nature has a life lease of virtues all its own and inalienable. Men will come of age every year who are brave and will not lie; who are clean handed, and need not skulk; who are loyal, and will not change. Maidens will grow up every year into women who are pure and can not do evil; who are delicate minded, and can not breathe in the air of a coarse and vulgar approach; who are as faithful as fond, and as fond as faithful. So long as the earth stands, thank God, there will be such men, there will be such women, and they shall become the father and mothers of other such men and women, and homes shall continue, and hearths remain sacred, and graves be deserving of honor throughout the land.

The Ninety and Nine.

SUNG BY MR. SANKEY IN GREAT BRITAIN.

There were ninety and nine that safely lay
In the shelter of the fold.
But one was out on the hills away,
Far off from the gates of gold.
Away on the mountains wild and bare,
Away from the tender Shepherd's care.

"Lord, thou hast here thy ninety and nine;
Are they not enough for thee?"
But the Shepherd made answer: "This one is mine
Has wandered away from me;
And although the road be rough and steep,
I go to the desert to find my sheep."

But none of the ransomed ever knew
How deep were the waters crossed;
Nor how dark was the night that the Lord passed through
Ere he found his sheep that was lost.
Out in the desert he heard its cry—
Sick, and helpless, and ready to die.

"Lord, whence are those blood drops all the way,
That mark out the mountain's track?"
"They were shed for one who had gone astray Ere the shepherd could bring him back."
"Lord, whence are thy hands so rent and torn?"
"They are pierced to-night by many a thorn."

And all thro' the mountains, thunder-riven,
And up from the rocky steep,
There rose a cry to the gate of heaven,
"Rejoice! I have found my sheep!"
And the angels echoed around the throne—
"Rejoice, for the Lord brings back his own!"

Mimicking a Preacher.

In the days of Whitfield, when hundreds were converted, by his preaching, "lewd men of the baser sort" loved to indulge in ridicule of religion, making sport of the earnest preacher. A merry band of carousers gathered, one evening, in an inn in Yorkshire, and cracked many a joke over their cups. At length one of them, to add to the merriment, proposed to take off Whitefield's preaching. He was a famous mimic, and could reproduce to perfection the gestures and tones, even the words of the preacher.

A Bible was brought, he mounted the table for a pulpit, and turned the leaves of the holy book for a text. His eyes fell on the words, "Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

The company laughed and applauded his wonderful imitation of the tones and manner of the great preacher; but soon their laughter ceased. They looked up in surprise and terror, for the speaker seemed terribly in earnest. His words were solemn and took hold of their consciences, and his appeals startled their fears. A profound silence spread over the bar room. The Spirit of God was too strong for the mimic, John Thorpe. The mock sermon was the means of his conversion, and he went away from his scene of merriment to begin a new life.

Buy not, sell not where self-respect is bartered, for that once lost, the main-spring of honor is rusted and decayed.

The Pulpit.

Able Ministers.

Very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.—First Chronicles ix. 13

God's work requires able men. Power must be applied adequate to the resistance. It is not so in the realm of moral influences and exertions? To repress the evil propensities of the young and to train them into goodness, to allure the wanderer from the paths of vice, to win the human soul to holiness and to God, is no easy task. Mind is more difficult to operate upon than matter—more mysterious and less certainly calculable. The sculptor may take the rough block of marble and cut out of it the form and features of a man—there is no resistance. But to descend into the human quarry to bring up the animate block of filth and pollution, and shape it into the form and similitude of a man after Christ's own heart—needs ability. The open sea of argument may be passed, conviction may be secured, but the rocks and shoals, and shifting channels of passion, disposition and habit remain. Our work is not like that of a gardener, who simply takes the young plant to train and nurture. It is like that of a nurse, who takes the sickly child, battles with disease, endeavors to restore health, and under every disadvantage labors to introduce it to happy life and useful work. Human depravity is the real root of the difficulty experienced in all attempts to persuade men to virtue and godliness. The power of the Holy Ghost, exercised in man's restoration and sanctification, is absolutely necessary. In the effectuation of this, not ignorance, feebleness and incapacity are required in the human agents employed, but "very able men," who are acquainted with man's nature, with the moral disease, with the grand remedy which the grace and mercy of God has provided, and who possess skill to apply it to the varied forms and phases assumed by the deadly malady. This work is worthy of the consecration of the noblest powers, for it contemplates the noblest ends. They are the ends of Christian benevolence—compassionating those who are sunk in degradation, descending to the lowest depths to lift the sinner to purity and heaven. They would promote the highest good and impart the greatest blessings. Their aims are not confined to time and earth, but to fill all time and eternity with priceless trophies. Beneath the shadow of a Savior's cross, with his love burning in the heart, with the word of command ringing in the ear, no ability, however great, seems too great to consecrate to his service. Consider what illustrious examples there have been in the world. Believing that the Son of God in human flesh became the sacrifice for sin, and that the Holy Ghost works in the hearts of men, they carried the glad news to a sick and dying world. Apostles, martyrs, ministers and saints from the noble army of "very able men," who lived and used their ability in the Lord's service. But, says some young preacher, as the deeds of these "able men" are recounted: "What achievements have I won? Where is my success?" What do you mean, my young brother, by achievements and success? Kings and grandees have not doffed their plumes before you; bells and bonfires have not spread your fame; the great congregation has not burdened you with acclamations, approbation and praise; you have not ushered in a Pentecost; sinners do not sway and fall at the sound of your voice, nor has every battle been a triumph. Is that the pitiful wailing that leaps over the noisy precincts of your heart, that sits pictured on your brow? My brother, you are worshiping the unknown god of success. You entered the service to work! You must, therefore, do it, and God will take care of the results. "O!" says another, "if I could but preach as a certain D. D. preaches I would be satisfied." If you would copy Christ it would be far better. Still I would remind you, for your encouragement, that that certain D. D. once could not say the alphabet! From the manager to Calvary, from Calvary to the crown—step by step, my brother. The old philosopher, while gazing intently at the stars, found himself suddenly precipitated into a treacherous well. While you aim at high things—elevated position—look well to the groundwork—look out for the wells. It is so in æsthetics. The sculptor does not turn out a statue fit for park or museum out of his first block, nor does the young artist take his first brush and pigment and dash off a Madonna. In the church there is work for all. Very few men are qualified to fill all the various positions. But if we cannot all be a Wesley or a Bascom, let us not despair; we may be a Carvosso or a John Newton. If we cannot fill a city pulpit, we can stand on the rude log rostrum in the backwoods, and preach Christ crucified. Therefore, my young brethren in the service, we may be "very able men" in that department. Let us ever keep before our mind's eye the precious fact that "the pearl of great price," whether inclosed in a bundle of homespun or carefully wrapped in broadcloth, is of the same value to our Master. With these thoughts as a precedent, let us work on, and soon ampler opportunities will be afforded us—avenues of access and palms of success will be ours. Let us tread our way unostentatiously through the labyrinths of obscurity and present subordination, firmly grasping the paternal hand of God, and sing ever:

"Heavenly Ord blessed thought,
Old words with heavenly rapture fraught;
Whate'er I do where'er I be,
Still 'tis God's hand that leads me."

This work promises the most splendid rewards. Not, perhaps, the reward of a sounding fame or a growing fortune; yet it is a rich reward. To know that our heavenly Father smiles approvingly upon us is no small solace and reward amidst the arduousness of the work. But this is only an installment. When the evening of life comes, and our work is done, we shall go home to rest. Yes, the chariot and horsemen shall descend, we shall mount up, the pearly gates shall flash back, and we shall go "sweeping through the gates, washed in the blood of the Lamb." And when he shall come again in his glory he will give the full reward. O, the joyful coronation amidst the plaudits of all heaven! Great ability or small, if faithfully employed, will receive the crowning encomium of the Master: "Well done, good and faithful servant." O that Methodism count could her able men by thousands! May God raise them up.

C.

Rochester, August 17, 1875.

Jesus Christ.

Who is the amazing figure of purity, of wisdom, of dignity, of calm and balanced courage, that amid the rank growths of contemporary unwisdom and superstition stands up in such immeasurable superiority not above his generation only, but above all generations? Who is this that, in the incredibly short space of three years, regenerated and redeemed a rapidly dying out and corrupting race? Who is it that—not from a throne or a war horse, or from some literary pedestal of honor—but from a gibbet, has ruled over eighteen centuries, has transformed a world decaying under Roman Cæsarism into the fresh young and vigorous life that characterizes modern Christendom, and has even forced from the lips of the most advanced critics and philosophers of our own day such confessions as these, almost identical with the language of Mr. John Stuart Mill?

"The teaching of Jesus carried morality to the sublimest point attained, or even attainable, by humanity. The influence of his spiritual religion has been rendered doubly great by the unparalleled purity and elevation of his own character. Surpassing in his sublime simplicity and earnestness the moral grandeur of Chakyamouni, and putting to the blush the sometimes sullied, though generally admirable, teaching of Socrates and Plato, and the whole round of Greek philosophers, he presented the rare spectacle of a life, so far as we can estimate it, uniformly noble and consistent with his own lofty principles, so that the 'imitation of Christ' has become almost the final word in the preaching of his religion, and must continue to be one of the most powerful elements of its permanence."

Such acknowledgments appear to us to concede almost all that we could desire, and we feel strongly inclined to ask pardon of our author for every hard word we have said of him. After all, "Thou O Galilean, hast conquered!" If this much can be said, if this absolutely amazing moral historical miracle can be honestly allowed, we feel the most entire confidence that a little farther reflection will not permit our author to stop where he now is. Jesus of Nazareth is, assuredly, either a great deal more or a great deal less than the words just quoted claim for him. His pretensions were clear. He did not aim merely to found a new moral philosophy, or to add one new link to the ever-lengthening chain of ethical speculation. He claimed to found a religion—a thing which alone can bring the highest morals home to the poor, to the slaves, to the vast uneducated and uncivilized masses of mankind.—Edinburgh Review.

In March, 1867, the Patriarch of the Coptic Church made a bonfire of Bibles and other books in Osioot, Upper Egypt, thinking thus to put a stop to the circulation of the Scriptures and the evangelistic work. That bonfire excited curiosity and advertised the books. Since that time 16,731 volumes of the Scriptures and religious educational books have been sold in that part of Egypt, and $2,282 been received for them.

The Span of Life

Some philosophers have divided the three score and ten years allotted to human life into ten periods of seven years each, and have given us the following summary of existence, viz:

Seven years in childhood's sport and play, 7.

Seven years in school from day to day, 14.

Seven years at trade or college life, 21

Seven years to find a place and wife, 28.

Seven years to pleasure's follies given, 35.

Seven years to business hardly driven, 42.

Seven years for some wild goose-chase, 49.

Seven years for wealth and bootless race, 56.

Seven years for hoarding for your heir, 63.

Seven years in weakness, pain, and care, 70.

Then die and go—you should know where.

It is also said that the constituents of the human body are entirely changed, and the whole physical man altogether renewed, during each of these septennial periods. The termination of each septenory, is called a climacteric; and these have been supposed to be critical periods, attended with some change in body, health or fortune; and that when each is fairly passed there is a reasonable prospect of life until the next one is reached.—This has been more particularly and generally remarked with regard to the seventh climacteric, (7 times 7), when the 50th year of age is entered upon.

The age of 63 (9 times 7) is termed the grand climacteric, because it is the multiple of 7 by the last, or highest, digit, (9), and because it is the highest or last, climacterical period beyond which there is any promise or assurance of life.

Tides of Grace.

Tides of grace as opportunity are to be taken at the flood. The Pentecost sun went down on a Church born in a day. Not here lies the wonder, but in this, rather that we think it wonderful; that we see so few times of rapid ingathering and large godward movements of men which can at all compare with it. Some, thank God, have been seen. Would you have more? Then, note these two things: that ten days of steadfast, expectant prayer, in which every believing soul took part, preceded Pentecost; and that it was when the Church had first been filled with heavenly assurance, joy, and praise, the testimony of her first preacher won the hearts of thousands. Lessons! These are the lessons: The Spirit works when we beg him to work; and the ingathering to the Church holds ever a strict proportion to the life of the Church. Christians are the fountain, fed from Christ, out of which dead souls around are to be quickened; but not till they run to him. As we would have the world converted, let us see also the Church overrunning with life.—J. O. Dyke, D. D.

The Reward.

In Belgium the Government annually gives medals for notable instances of heroism and philanthropy. The papers mention that some of the most remarkable cases lately have been among children. The first class medal, a large one of gold, was given to a boy twelve years of age. Some children were at play, and one of them overturned a kerosene lamp and set them on fire. The brave boy dashed in and put out the flames, though he was dreadfully burned in doing so. The sight of his scarred face brought tears to the eyes of the Queen and Princesses as they took him by the hand and cheered him amid the vast crowd present on the occasion. Some of our children turning to Christ may be compelled to bear reproach when they try to save their comrades from death. But Christ will give them, amid the plaudits of millions, not merely a medal, but a crown of eternal glory. And, instead of a face scarred with wounds, however bravely won, they shall shine like the sun, in the glory of Christ forever.

The Sun.

Professor Rudolph, in a lengthy paper on the sun, says:

"A molten or white hot mass 856,000 miles in diameter, equalling in bulk 1,260,000 worlds like our own, having a surrounding ocean of gas on fire 50,000 miles deep, tongues of flame darting upward more than 50 000 miles, volcanic forces that hurl into the solar atmosphere luminous matter to the height of 160,000 miles, drawing to itself all the worlds belonging to our family of plants, and holding them all in their proper places—attracting with such superior force the millions of solid and gray masses that are wandering in the fathomless abyss that they rush helplessly toward him and fall into his fiery embrace. And thus he continues his sublime and restless march through his mighty orbit, having a period of more than 18,000,000 years."

Liszt's Playing.

One lady of rank, at whose house he was spending the evening, committed the extreme indiscretion of asking him to play, a violation of all rules of etiquette among great musical artists. He had been enchanting her guests with his divine music in the earlier part of the evening, and had just come in from supper, when she preferred her request. "Madame, j'ai mange tres peu," was his answer ("Madame, I have eaten very little"), and, with this implication of having played out the worth of his supper, he left the house. His contradictory elements only prove him to be what he is at the piano—half-demon, half angel. If his mood happens to be a gloomy one, his fingers fly about as if he had a demoniac imp at the end of each one. His playing becomes almost infernal in its wild passionate power, and he looks furtively at his audience with a malicious expression of delight and triumph, watching the effect he produces. This is his demon side. At other times he will play with the deepest pathos, touching the keys so caressingly, so tenderly, so weepingly, that I've seen men listen with the tears running down their cheeks. And yet, when he rises from the piano, not a sound is heard. He is too great to be applauded. He does not need it. He merely walks quietly away from the instrument, waiting until some one recovers breath or self-possession enough to speak, and then perhaps the first break in the silence will be a long, deep-drawn sigh, and "How grand!" spoken in an undertone of awe.—Scribner for October.

The Inventor of the Wheelbarrow.

It takes a great man to do a little thing sometimes.

Who do you think invented that very simple thing called the wheelbarrow? Why, no less a man than Leonardo da Vinci.

And who was he?

He was a musician, poet, painter, architect, sculptor, physiologist, engineer, natural historian, botanist, and inventor, all in one. He wasn't a "Jack at all trades and good at none," either. He was a real master of many arts, and a practical worker besides.

When did he live?

Somewhere about the time that Columbus discovered America.

And where was he born?

In that beautiful city of Florence, in Italy,

Perhaps some of you may feel a little better acquainted with him when I tell you that it was Leonard da Vinci who painted one of the grandest pictures in the world, "The Last Supper," a picture that has been copied many times, and engraved in several styles, so that almost every one has an idea of the arrangement and position at table of the figures of our Lord and his disciples; though I am told that, without seeing the painting itself, no one can form a notion of how grand and beautiful it is.

And only to think of the thousands of poor, hard-working Americans who really own, in their wheelbarrow, an original "work" of Leonardo da Vinci! St. Nicholas.

A CITY UNDER THE SEA.—In the latter end of the last century old Port Royal disappeared beneath the waves in an earthquake, leaving no other memorial behind than these few patches of reefs. In calm and clear evenings, when there is not a ripple on the glassy surface of the sea, you may look down into fifteen fathoms of water and see submerged houses, towers, and churches, with sharks swimming quietly in and out of the open windows of their belfries. The work of centuries was destroyed in a few moments by one single convulsive throb of the thin film on which man has lived and speculated for ages past. An American diving company, instigated in their enterprise by tales of untold wealth buried beneath the sea by this sudden shock, rescued no treasures but the big bell suspended still in the bell tower, and donated the same to the museum of the Island, where it may be seen with many puzzling inscriptions upon it which nobody has as yet been able to decipher. —Buffalo Courier.

The bones of George Fox and Rowland Hill are shortly to be removed to other resting-places. Hill's remains, now beneath the pulpit in Surrey chapel, are to be removed to Christ church, Rev. Newman Hall's new place of worship. The removal of the remains of Fox is necessitated by the proposed erection of a board school on part of the Quaker's burying ground on Bunhill Fields. Bunhill Fields burying ground is the well-known "Dissenters' Westminster Abbey." It contains the graves of Bunyan, Watts and many other worthies not of the Established Church.

To a heart that is full of joy, all it sees is joyful; but to a sad heart, all is sad. Change of heart is the greatest change.

The Christian Advocate.

OFFICE - Corner of Dawson & Hargett Sts

THE ORGAN
OF THE
NORTH CAROLINA CONFERENCE
OF THE
M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

Rev. J. B. Babbitt, D. D. } Editors.
Wm. Gray, Esq. }

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION:

ONE COPY, IN ADVANCE, IF PAID, $2.20
" " " " 1.35
If not paid for delayed six months, 2.70

All letters on business with this office should be addressed to the Editors of the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

RALEIGH, N. C., SEPTEMBER 29, 1875.

The Cross (X) Mark is to remind you that your subscription has expired. Let all renew promptly.

THE Kentucky Conference met last Wednesday at Maysville.

A REVIVAL of unusual interest and power is in progress in our church at Durham under the direction of the pastor, Rev. J. J. Renn.

WE trust our preachers will endeavor to place a copy of the Advocate in the hands of all young converts without delay. They will need its influence.

THE Conferences of the Northern Methodist Church are voting in favor of making the Presiding Eldership elective. The Detroit Conference gave a vote of 149 in favor of the measure to 11 against.

In the obituary notice last week of Mrs Eliza B. Arrington, wife of Wm H. Arrington, Esq., of Halifax, her maiden name was given as Miss Eliza Blanch Collin, whereas it should have been Miss Eliza Blanch Collier. The printer asks pardon for the mistake.

GREAT crowds attended the services of the revivalists, Moody and Sankey, during their recent meeting at Northfield, Mass. The papers state that the audience was so large on several occasions that Mr. Moody stood on the church steps to address the people on the great subject of salvation through Christ.

WE are indebted to Wm. Alderman, Secretary of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, for a complimentary ticket to the Thirteenth Annual Fair to be held in Fayetteville on Nov. 16th, 17th, 18th and 19th. The County Fair in Cumberland has usually been a success, well conducted and well attended, and we trust the Society will "live long and prosper."

THE last General Conference made it obligatory upon local preachers to report in writing the extent and result of their labors to the fourth quarterly Conference. This requirement will tend to bring out before the proper tribunal the extent of the labors of our brethren in the local ranks. Many of them are rendering valuable service in the church, and it is proper that they should report the result of their labors.

Rev. V. A. Sharpe, the agent for Trinity College, passed through the city on Saturday last en route for Franklinton. He proposes to spend some time on the Tar River circuit in the interest of the College. As usual he is in good spirits and full of work. He informs us that during a most interesting revival at Madison, where he has been laboring in connection with the pastor, Rev. L. E. Stacy, Mr. Fletcher Reid, a son of the lamented Dr. N. F. Reid, was among the happy converts.

WE are indebted to H. E. T. Manning, Esq., Secretary of the Roanoke and Tar River Agricultural Society for a complimentary ticket to the Fair to be held at Weldon on the 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th of October. The premiums are larger than have ever before been presented to competitors, the Fair is usually well conducted under the charge of efficient and obliging officers, and we wish the coming "Exposition" all manner of success.

A Good Offer.

We propose to send the Advocate to new subscribers from this issue, for the period of four months, for 60 cents, postage paid

Clubs of 10 subscribers will receive the Advocate for the same period, postage paid, at 50 cents for each subscriber. We want a reliable person in every community to act as agent. Will our preachers, itinerant and local, call attention to this announcement and urge upon the people to avail themselves of this excellent offer?

We make this proposition for the purpose of putting the Advocate into the hands of persons who have heretofore not taken it, feeling assured that when once they become acquainted with it, they will not deny themselves the pleasure and benefit of its continued visits. A thousand new subscribers ought to be obtained at these rates. We await responses to our offer.

The British Wesleyan Conference Plan of Services, printed and sent out to preachers and Circuits a week previous to the session, includes this year four hundred appointments. They are not only for the larger places, but also for the smaller ones in the vicinity of the Conference. Forty ministers are to conduct open-air services.

Taking Care of Them.

It is cause for thanksgiving and praise to God that so many of our pastoral charges are passing through refreshing seasons of grace. In many respects the present Conference year has been marked by special and powerful visitations of God's convicting and saving power. The number of conversions and accessions to the Church, within our bounds, thus far, have been unusually large. Among that number are many aged persons. Heads of families have been reached, and altars of prayer have been erected. The great question with our pastors and people should be: how shall these young converts, the lambs of the flock, be taken care of? Every possible good influence should be brought to bear upon them. They will have much to encounter and many temptations to endure. They will need counsel and advice from those of experience and years in grace. In order to become useful and intelligent Christians they will need instruction. The Bible is replete with information suited to all classes. This is the source of instruction above all others the most important. Next to a careful study of the Bible is private prayer. No one can live in favor with God, and enjoy the life, power and excellency of the knowledge of Christ who wilfully neglects this duty.—Prayer is the Christian's vital breath, and as long as they live should Christians pray. Next to these duties we would recommend the reading of our Methodist literature. Let the preachers place copies of our Discipline, hymn book, and a good religious paper in the hands of all the young converts. If any are too poor to buy them, aid should be sought from those who have means. This can be done by the preachers or collectors privately. There are other books which they will need, such as Wesley's Sermons and Clark's Commentary.—But these are more expensive and of necessity many will not be able to supply themselves with copies of them. Our people do not read enough. They are not sufficiently posted in the doctrine, polity and movements of the church. To inaugurate a change in this respect, let the young converts be urged to form the habit of reading at once. It is a reflection upon the intelligence of a communicant in our Church to say, 'I have neither a hymn book, a Discipline, nor a religious paper.' Yet if interrogated, thousands would be compelled to give just such an answer. The present membership of our Church are not as well informed, as a general thing, in the doctrines of our Church as our fathers were. We have grown in numbers and influence, but not in doctrine and knowledge of Church history.

The State Fair.

In our last we congratulated the people of North Carolina upon the prospects of having an Agricultural Fair suited to the views and tastes of the better class of our population.—The getting rid of licensed gambling establishments we regarded a sufficient cause for congratulation. To our surprise, however, we noticed the day after our paper went to press, the following in the Daily Sentinel, which, if correct, presents the whole thing in a different light from what we had understood. Here is the paragraph to which we refer:

"Racing will, it is said, be a prominent feature at our approaching State Fair. Horses that have won $20,000 purses will, it is said, be here. We hope this is so, for racing is the great attraction to a large majority of the visitors."

If this is an expression of the views and purposes of those who have the management of the State Fair under their control, then we were too full in our endorsement. We had supposed that there would be what is termed "trials of speed," which in common parlance can only mean racing. We did not doubt but there would be persons in attendance upon the State Fair who would be attracted more by those things which are strictly worthy in their character, and even some who would regard any Fair a failure without racing, although there might be thousands of the most useful articles on exhibition from all the departments of life. But while this is so we did not, for a moment, suppose that the good people of North Carolina would suffer a great institution, like our State Fair, to be wrested from them by the thoughtless and worldly minded, by failing to do their duty in the premises. Horse racing, where there is betting by parties, is one of the most fascinating and ruinous species of gambling. We are opposed to anything of the kind, and we believe those who have control of our Agricultural Fairs should forbid, not only licensed gambling and swindling machines, but horse racing also. If they will not do this, then let those who have the good of the people of the State at heart determine not to surrender to the few, but to see to it that the main purposes of a State Fair shall be preserved, and thereby enhance the prosperity and perpetuate the dignity of a great Commonwealth. The right men can be found to correct these errors. Public sentiment is against these evils and they cannot long have an existence at our Fairs. They are gradually giving away. Each succeeding year removes some objectionable feature. Horse racing still remains, which can but be distasteful to good morals and the best interests of society. We trust that the various departments of industrial pursuits will be so represented as to be attractive to the multitude.

How to Get Rich.

From the above heading one might suppose that we are about to proceed to lay open the mysteries of money making and suggest infallible rules whose observance will ensure the rapid accumulation of worldly goods. But we propose nothing of the sort: we have never been inducted far into the said mysteries, and have made so little money that our views would pass for as little worth as did the writings of Horace Greely touching what he 'knew about farming.' 'Poor Richard's maxims, if observed, are plain and simple enough to satisfy people, who like picayune practices, as to how money can be made and hoarded. Generally industry, zeal, hard work, thrift and economy will bring prosperity in worldly concerns. Beyond this, no certain rules can be laid down; if there are such they have not been revealed to us.

But there is both a distinction and difference between the means and the manner of money making—between the appliances and the mode of applying them, in the pursuit of wealth. It is of this we write. A man's efforts to get rich are laudable, but the way in which he makes them may be despicable and mean from a moral point of view—his business may be honorable but the mode in which he conducts it may be dishonorable. A thousand men may take the same road to fortune and reach it at the same time, but there may be a vast difference in the manner in which each deports himself on the route, and the feelings with which each contemplates what he has gained. Five hundred may walk uprightly in the way, watchful of their own interests but careful of the rights and feelings of others—measuring their conduct by the requirements of the Divine and human law, assisting weak and fallen comrades, and remembering that they have a character and reputation to sustain as well as riches to win. The other five hundred may go in the same route but present a far different demeanor elbowing their neighbors, shoving them out of place, trampling upon toes, exhibiting meanness in little, despicable acts, picking pockets as well as robbing treasuries, —winning the goal by selfishness and villainy. In every neighborhood you will see these different characters

This mode of getting rich may succeed, but it is a dearly bought success. To rise on the ruins of a neighbor's fortunes can give little satisfaction—to outstrip a comrade in a race by casting impediments and entanglements to trip him on the course, may enable a man to reach the goal first, but it is a mean and empty victory which can gain for him the elation of a triumph no more than it can the plaudits of lookers on: to get rich by grovelling littleness and narrow selfishness is to merit the contempt of one's self, and certainly to receive that of others.

There is another way of getting rich which is as foolish and almost as despicable as the one just noticed.—There he waxes rich at the expense of others' rights and convenience here at his own. To acquire riches for their own sake, without reference to the comforts which they bring or the power to do good which they confer, is among the highest of human follies. To undergo willingly, and when necessity does not require it, the life of a drudge—to live the miserable life of a miser—to deny one's self the conveniences, comforts and moderate pleasures of life—to stint and almost starve one's family in order to win a possible fortune (which may not be won at all and which, if won, has not the power to yield all the reward one expects)—all this is sheer folly and sin. This inordinate, miserly love of money, for itself alone, begets an scrupulousness in the means of acquiring it and contracts the soul into such a narrow space that the higher virtues can not find a place therein. Economy is right and laudable, but niggardliness is to be despised. To deny one's self a decent house and decent furniture and live in squalor—to refuse the wife and children the presentable clothing they need and let them go in tatters and faded gowns—to keep the boys and girls from school and College and let them grow up ignorant and unattured, all for the barren object of hoarding a few petty thousands, is not the way Heaven intended men should get rich. The world is full of comfortsand pleasures, gradest in price according to men's fortunes, which can be had without extravagance and to forego which is false economy and wretchedness.

Decision of the Courts.

Any person who takes a paper regularly from the Post Office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay. If a person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether it is taken from the office or not. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the Post Office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud

The Protestant Episcopal Churches of Hayti, heretofore connected with the Board of Missions of this country, have held a general convocation under the direction of Bishop Holley, and adopted a Constitution, by which they are given the name of the Orthodox Apostolic Church.

Calm Deception.

The Examiner and Chronicle, a Baptist paper, deliberately makes the following statement in reference to immersion. The writer is not only deluded himself, but with the dignity and assurance of Infinity Himself, boldly asserts that the whole world, outside of the Baptist Church, is wrong on the subject of Baptism. He is more to be pitied than censured for giving utterance to such sentiments. He would have all men believe that conversion and regeneration are useless unless they be followed by immersion. Here is the paragraph:

"We say with calmness, we know that we are in accord with the Scriptures, as to the mode and subjects of baptism. We are just as fully convinced that immersion only is baptism, and that only those who are born again are fit subjects for it, as we are that the Bible is the word of God. Therefore no 'higher-life' can be valuable or Scriptural, as we read, which does not incline a man to obey the Master in these things."

Anonymous.

The Western Methodist has this to say in reference to this source of annoyance with all editors of religious Journals. Read it and profit by its suggestion:

"It is surprising how many correspondents write, and fail to sign their names! Here are business letters, letters conveying Church news letters discussing doctrinal and practical topics, letters containing obituaries, marriage notices, etc., etc., and no one's name signed to them, or at best a fictitious name—possibly the initials of a name! Sometimes, failure to sign the name is but an inadvertence—sometimes it is caused by ignorance of its necessity. We cannot publish unless we have the name of the writer. "Why did you not insert the revival notice I sent you?' Because you did not sign your name to it. "Why did not my wife's obituary appear?' Because the manuscript was anonymous. "Why was not my daughter's marriage notice published?" Because the editor did not have the evidence to satisfy him that the marriage notice sent him was not a hoax—there was no voucher—no witness. And so on to the end of a long chapter. We beg brethren when they write anything for publication, to accompany it with the name of the writer. The editor must have the name: but it need not be given to the public."

Some Remarks on my Visit to the District Conferences in South Carolina.

On the subject of Sunday schools the Conferences seemed to agree that greater effort should be made to keep them going during winter; that schools should be opened at every available place; that Union schools (so called) which are generally anti-Methodist, should not be countenanced. That COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONFERENCES were doing a great deal of good and could not be dispensed with where in operation and must be organized where not. That our own Sunday-school system is working well as to our lesson papers, magazine and periodicals though not meeting all cases, were the best we could safely operate with. That the cultivation of a missionary spirit in the Sunday schools was very much to be desired and labored for, and that the pastors ought to preach more on the subject. At the Sumter Conference a Sunday-school mass meeting was held which was addressed by several powerful speakers, among whom was Rev. A. Coke Smith of Columbia who made a splendid speech with good effect. This divine seems to be one of the rising men of the S. C. Conference. May he long continue upward.

The missionary grounds were carefully considered and it appeared to me that there was a disposition to plant the feet of Methodist missionaries wherever the ground would hold them. In former years this Conference was noted for its home missions. The care exhibited in examining the missions was so different from the haste in passing them over which I have several times seen, that it struck me with peculiar force.

One of the most affecting incidents I have ever seen was at Timmonsville; some brother introduced the name of Rev. Allen McConnaughie, and stated that both himself and wife were lying helpless in their old age, near the point of death and yet lingering on with a flickering vitality. This minister has served the people of North and South Carolina for over half a century in the ministry. A series of resolutions of condolence were drawn up, passed unanimously and an official copy ordered to be transmitted to the dying brother. Then after remarks by several of the members, the President called to prayer and the whole congregation knelt and prayed for the dying Christians. There was hardly a dry eye in the house and the scene altogether was touching, but cannot be described on paper.

Altogether I came to the conclusion that South Carolina has some wide awake Methodists in her borders, that education of every kind they are striving to reach and keep on top of the advancing wave. That they are a hard working, hard faring, hard loving set, and that there is no fear that when the old ones pass off the "busy stage of life" there will not be others duly qualified to carry forward the work to completion and the battle to victory.

Yours lovingly,

WM. SEWELL.

In compatible.

I never could understand how a christian could occupy his time and money and soil in producing so useless a crop as tobacco.

I cannot see how any christian can be willing to spend ten dollars a year for tobacco, while he pays only five for religious purposes

It certainly shocks some people to see a preacher preaching purity and spitting tobacco juice in the same pulpit

But the last thing I ever thought of was a preacher trafficing on tobacco!

If Paul had met one, he would have told Timothy that man was "greedy of filthy lucre."

HIS WEEK DAY PRAYER.

"Lord enlighten and strengthen me for the duties of this day. Help me to select the best commercial centers for introducing my brand. Direct me in choosing the most liberal and industrious agents. Incline every where to appreciate my tobacco, that I may lead men to sell houses for their wives, and short seasons for themselves, and that many thousands of dollars may be spent for tobacco, and little, if any, to be used in sending thy gospel to the Heathen Amen"

A. D. BETTS.

MESSRS EDITORS: Allow me once more to call up the pure minds of the brethren in regard to Trinity College. This has been a hard year, all agree, but it is hoped that the incoming and beautiful crop will bring relief, and thus this important institution [illegible]

If [illegible] could be had, [illegible] could be met. But if these amounts—small to individuals and yet largein the aggregate—are kept back, serious damage is done to this interest

Will brethren appreciate this, and stir themselves at once to forward the amounts they owe?—Do let us hear from you. "Write us a letter" at least.

And whether you have subscribed or not, do brother, come to our help. We need your contribution to this church enterprise in the N. C. Conference.

Send any amount whatever now.

V. A. SHARPE, Agt. T. C.
Thomasville, N. C.

Resignation of the Sunday-School Secretary, and Election of his Successor

At a meeting of the Book committee at the Publishing House, Sept. 14, 1875, the Chairman laid before the Committee the following communication:

OXFORD, GA., Sept. 10, 1875.

Rev. R. A. Young, D. D., Chairman of the Book Committee—Dear Brother:—I have to day received a note from Dr. W. H. Morgan, Secretary of the Book Committee, dated Sept. 7, embodying the following resolution, adopted by the Book Committee, at a meeting held at the Publishing House in Nashville, Aug. 30:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this Committee that Rev. A. G. Haygood, S. S. S., should reside in this city, and should have an office in the Publishing House.

I beg herewith to tender my resignation as Sunday school Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to take effect Jan. 1, 1876, or as soon thereafter as the Bishop (see Journal of the General Conference of 1870) shall appoint my successor.

I am very truly and respectfully

Your brother,

ATTICUS G. HAYGOOD.

On motion the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Rev. A. G. Haygood, D. D., has sent in his resignation as Sunday-school Secretary, to take effect Jan. 1, 1876; therefore be it

Resolved 1. That the Book Committee receive, and reluctantly accept the same. To the eminent ability of Dr. Haygood, and his diligence in labor, we bear hearty testimony; and we believe the whole Church will unite with us in this sentiment

Resolved 2. That the Book Committee abides in the conviction that the interests of the Sunday-school Department, and the editing of its periodicals, require the editor to be convenient to the business, and in easy and constant communication with the Publishing House, if not with other Connectional interests; and the Committee express their profound regret that one who has shown such acknowledged fitness for the various and difficult duties of the Sunday-school Secretaryship, feels constrained, for any cause, to remove his residence and office from Nashville, Tenn., to Oxford, Ga.

Resolved 3. That according to the direction of the General Conference—(Journal of 1874, p. 565) a Sunday-school Secretary be elected to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Dr. Haygood Whereupon, the Rev. W. G. E. Cunnyngham, D. D., of the Holston Conference, was unanimously elected, by ballot, as Sunday-school Secretary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

W. H. MORGAN, Sec.

COMPLIMENTARY.—At the recent Quarterly Conference held for Shelby Station, the members of that body passed substantially the following resolutions:

RESOLVED, That while we deeply regret the necessity laid upon Bishop Marvin to remove Rev. L. S. Burkhead, D. D., from the Shelby District as its Presiding Elder, and place him in charge of the Edenton Street M. E. Church in Raleigh, yet as loyal Methodists, we cheerfully acquiesce in this measure.

RESOLVED 2nd, That we take this occasion to express our high appreciation of Dr. Burkhead's pulpit ability and his unswerving fidelity in conducting the spiritual interests of the Church in such a way as seemed best calculated to promote her most lasting prosperity.

Cardinal Gaspared Grassellini, who was born at Palermo in 1796, and elevated to the Cardinate in 1856, died September 17.

News from the Churches.

Rev. H. H. Gibbons, writing from Franklinton, says: "I closed a meeting of great interest last Thursday at Sarepta. There were fourteen converts to unite with them. Sunday school scholars. I want to say that the Sunday-school at that place is very large, over a hundred scholars, and in a community where we have very few members and they for the most part poor. They need books and I are not able to furnish them. Please ask the Sunday-schools in Raleigh, or any other place, to send any old books that they may have which have been read and put aside, to Pitt school. They will be glad to get them. If sent to me at this place I will deliver them."

Rev G. C. Gurris, writes from Kinnsville circuit: "Bro W. N. Conoley and myself had a very interesting meeting at Hallsville, commencing on the 3d Sunday in August, and continuing one week. The community was generally interested and the house filled with anxious listeners and seekers. We added ten to the church, all professing faith. Bro. Conoley did yeoman service, his sermons were all very good and effective, full of the faith necessary to awaken sinners, as well as to encourage the weary."

Rev. N. G. Whittington, writing from Marion, says:

We closed a camp-meeting at Nebo on the Marion circuit, the 7th of September, which was a great refreshing time. Twenty professed faith in Christ and ten gave their names to the church. Five adults and twelve children were baptized by sprinkling. Bro. Barrett, our new P. E., was with us, preaching with fervor and zeal. He has made a fine impression on the minds of the people both as a preacher and presiding officer. The preachers with us were Bros Barrett, York, Hartsell, Harris, Crisp, Ervin, J. D. and J. B. Carpenter, Dosser and Culer."

